(17)—Joint owners — Separate leases by different co-sharers of lands in their exclusive possession—Right of one lessee to have joint possession with another—Right to partition—Equity.—The owners of an ejmali mehal severally leased out lands in the exclusive possession of each to different lessees. One of the lessees, having obtained his lease on the bona fide belief that the land covered by it belonged in its entirety to his lessor, reclaimed and improved it and was then sued by the other for joint possession. Held—that it would be inequitable to give the plaintiff the relief he asked for and his proper remedy was to bring a suit for partition. SYED ALI v. NAJAB ALI, 11 C.W.N. 143.

Possession—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

(18)—Suit for proprietary possession where tenant sets up under-proprietary rights against proprietor—Declaratory suit.—In 1893, the plaintiff attempted to eject the defendants from certain land, by means of a notice of ejectment. The defendants objected to the notice on the ground that they were under-proprieters, not tenants of the lands and the notice was cancelled on May 9th, 1893. In March 1905, the plaintiff brought a suit for proprietary possession of the said land. Held, that the suit for proprietary possession was not maintainable. The proper course for a proprietor, against whom a person alleged to be a tenant sets up a claim to under-proprietary right, is to sue for a declaration. RAJA MUMTAZ ALI KHAN v. SARJU SINGH, 9 O.C. 292, (2 O.C. 79, 4 O.C. 314, 25 A. 1, P.C., 3 O.C. 105, R.)

(19)—Delivery of possession, necessity for, under Hindu Law.—Under the Hindu Law, delivery of possession is not essential to complete the title of a purchaser for value. NARAIN CHUNDER CHUCKERBUTTY v. DATARAM ROY, 8 C. 597, F.B.=10 C.L.R. 241. [R., 6 M. 404, U.B.R. 1897–1901, Vol. II, 573, 21 P.L.R. 1901.]

(20)—Necessity of transfer of possession to complete alienation—Custom of Bengal and of Bombay differs.—The custom of Bengal and of Bombay differs as to the necessity of possession to constitute a complete mortgage or gift, and a sale of land in the Bombay Presidency stands on the same footing, through established usage, as the other two contracts with which the ancient authorities link it. [N.B.—The Hindu Law upon the necessity of transfer of possession for the creation of a valid title is elaborately discussed by West, J.] LALUBHAI SURCHAND v. BAI AMRIT, 2 B. 299 = P.J. 1880, 57, [R., 6 B. 645.]

(21)—Refusal to amend decree for possession—High Court's powers of revision—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 206, 622.—The refusal of a Subordinate Judge to amend his predecessor's decree for possession of land from which by mistake an order for mesne profits had been omitted and which is at variance with the judgment, amounts to its acting illegally and with material irregularity in the exercise of its jurisdiction, within the meaning of s. 622 of the Civ. Pro. Code, and its order would be subject to revision by the High Court under that section. BALMAKUND v. SHEO JATAN LAL, 6 A. 125 = A.W.N. 1882, 60. [F., 11 O. C. 208.]

(22)—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 335, 622—Resistance to execution of decree—Revision.—An order under s. 335 directing that possession be delivered to the execution purchaser is subject to revisional interference by the High

Possession—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

Court under s. 622 of the Civ. Pro. Code, SHEORAJ SINGH v. BANWARI DAS, 6 A. 172 = A.W.N. 1884, 16. (7 B. 341, F.B., F.)

(23)—Declaratory suit—Proprietary right—Enquiry into possession.—The plaintiffs sued for a declaratory decree for the proprietary right to the land, alleging that they had always had possession, and that the entry in the settlement records of the names of both parties as owning the land in equal shares was erroneous. —The lower Courts founded their judgments solely on the settlement records and refused to go into the question of possession. Held that the procedure was defective. The question of possession should have been enquired into, as the plaintiffs alleged possession and sued for a declaration of right without consequential relief; and as the question of possession was vital in adjudicating on the issue of right, there was no reason for refusing to enquire into that question. Moreover, the very object of the suit being to modify the settlement records, there was no meaning in basing the judgment on such records. MEHR DAD v. CHOWA, 48 P. R. 1873.

(24)—Claim for exclusive possession—Right to joint possession proved—Relief should not be given where property was in possession of lessees.—In a suit for exclusive possession, it would be open to the Court to give a decree for joint possession; but to this, the plaintiff is not entitled as a matter of right. Where the land claimed is in possession of lessees, it would not be proper to pass such a decree. In re PURUVALA PERUMALA CHETTY, M.W.N. 1912, 1116.

(25)—Local investigation—Party's knowledge that investigation was careless—Going to trial thereupon—Request for opportunity to give fresh evidence—Evidence—Onus—Dried up bheels, jungle lands—Reformed lands—Proof of plaintiff's title—Onus, shifting of, to defendant—Wasteland—Adverse possession.—A litigant, who is a party to a local investigation and knows that such investigation has been carelessly and badly carried out, and, notwithstanding this, is content to go to trial upon it, cannot reasonably ask at the last moment for an opportunity to give fresh evidence, because it is found that the evidence on which he willingly relied is worthless. Generally, the onus is on the plaintiff to prove that he has been in possession of a disputed area within 12 years before the institution of the suit. In cases of dried up bheels, re-formations of diluviated lands not brought under the plough and land covered with jungle, the plaintiffs must prove his title (9 C. 744, 12 C.L.R. 257, Rel. on) If he succeeds in doing so and proves that the land probably remained unfit for occupation until a period within 12 years of suit the onus is shifted on to the defendant to prove that the plaintiff has not been in possession within that period. Where a tract of land with a defined boundary has been claimed throughout a person as owner and acts of ownership have been done on various portions of it, such acts may be accepted as evidence of the possession of the whole tract. (9 M. 285, Rel.on.) In the case of waste lands, what is necessary for a person claiming by adverse possession to show is that he has all along claimed the lands as his own and treated them as such, and it is not necessary on his part to prove that he has been exercising acts of possession over every inch of the land adversely to the opposite party. SHIDDHESWARI DASIA v. SHASHI BUSHAN CHOWDHURY, 16 Ind. Cas. 39.

Possession—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(26)—Possessory title—Suit for recovery of land—Right of suit against person having no title.—A person, who has merely a possessory title to land, is entitled to decree for possession against a person who has no title. NEELAGARA LINGAMMA v. KINNAHAL HAMPIAH, 17 Ind. Cas. 167.

(27)—Act X of 1859, ss. 6, 7—Right of occupancy—Leases for fixed terms.—There is nothing in the mere fact of a tenant having been in possession for over 12 years under a series of pottas each for a fixed term only, which gives him a right of occupancy under Act X of 1859. DAMANULLA SIRKAR v. MAMUDI NASHIO, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 178=11 W.R. 556.

(27)—Settlement—Long possession.—Long possession itself does not give a title to settlement if the parties asking for the settlement do not comply with the requirements of law. GOLAK CHANDRA CHOWDHRY v. ALI MOLLAH, 8 B.L.R. 528, Note.

Wrongful—of a deceased person's estate, procedure under Act XIX of 1841 on complaint regarding—See ACT XIX OF 1841, ss. 1, 3, 4, 138 P.R. 1906=116 P.L.R. 1908.

Suit by the Dharmakartha of a temple to recover—Of temple property—See ACT XX OF 1863, s. 12, 17 M. 143.

Right of person to sub-soil of road—Land when not used as public road, owner's right to claim—Of—See BEN, ACT III OF 1864, s. 10, 20 C. 732.

See BEN, ACT VIII OF 1869, s. 27, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 628=2 Ind. Jur. N. S. 112=7 W. R. 186.

Action of ejectment not under s. 9, Specific Relief Act—Whether plaintiff entitled to decree for on account of previous possession—See BEN, ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 35, sub-secs. (1) and (2), 13 C.L.J. 649.

Suit for rent on ground of—Maintainability—See BEN, ACT VIII OF 1885, s. 149, 8 C.W. N. 248.

Character of adverse possession—Doctrine of constructive possession—Evidence of—Presumption that possession goes with title—See BEN, ACT XV OF 1891, s. 4, 6 Ind. Cas. 392.

See BOM, ACT III OF 1876, s. 4, cl. 2, 18 B. 46.

Possession—continued.—1.—General—continued.

See C.P. ACT XVII OF 1889, s. 42, 7 C.P.L. R. 101.

See ALLUVION—FORMATION OF CHURS OR ISLANDS, 9 C.W.N. 111.

See APPELLATE COURT—OBJECTIONS FIRST TAKEN IN APPEAL, 3 B.L.R. App. 28.

See BAILMENT, 5 B.L.R. 31=14 W. R. 303.

No claim for declaration of title or for—Maintainability of suit—Suit for removal of boundary marks—See BOUNDARY, A.W.N. 1884, 4.

Orchard land—Possession of planter of trees—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 2 Agra 361.

Agreement for sale—Vendee put in possession subsequently ejected by vendors—Sale not completed—Suit by vendee for possession and injunction—Similar suit by vendors—Subsequent suit by vendee for specific performance—Omission to set up grounds of defence—Res judicata—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 11, O. II, r. 2, 24 M. 491=6 C.W.N. 17, P.C.

Right to joint possession—Nature of right—Decree for joint possession—Res judicata—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 11, O. II, rr. 1, 2, O. XXI, r. 35, 11 Ind. Cas. 87.

Decree for—Partition proceedings while suit pending and before execution result of—Succession suit for declaring that judgment-debtors' interest in parent estate passed by partition proceedings to another estate—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 47, 20 C. 260.

Resistance by outsider to delivery of, to decree-holder—Order for delivery of, to decree-holder—Inherent power of Court—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 151, O. XXI, rr. 97, 98, 99, 6 Ind. Cas. 120=14 C.W.N. 836.

Relinquishment of a portion of claim—Contract for sale—First suit for possession and damages—Second suit for specific performance and completion—Identity of Cause of action—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, 6 C.W. N. 17, P.C.=24 M. 491.

Contract to sell—Decree for specific performance—Failure of suit for possession—Subsequent suit for recovery of amount paid—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, 24 M. 27=10 M.L.J. 217.

Prior decree for possession of immoveable property—Subsequent mesne profits not claimed in plaint and not provided for in decree—Subsequent suit for recovery of such mesne profits not barred—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, s. 47, 11 M.L.J. 332.

Claim for—Transformation into one for redemption—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. VI, r. 17, 167 P.W.R. 1911.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, r. 2, 18 B. 690.

Possession—continued.—1.—General—continued.

Suit for recovery of joint possession—Form of decree—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, r. 35, 8 A.L.J. 1312.

Application for delivery of—Under decree—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, rr. 58, 99, 14 A. 417=A.W.N. 1892, 51.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, r. 96, 21 A. 269=A.W.N. 1899, 56.

Land in the occupancy of a raiyat—Symbolical possession—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, rr. 96, 97, 99, 103, 1 C.W.N. 343.

See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s. 108, Exception 1, 11 B. 704.

Of goods by person other than owner—Title—See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s. 108, Exception 1, 12 B.L.R. 42=20 W.R. 467.

When may be conversion—See CONVERSION, 12 Bom. L.R. 316=5 Ind. Cas. 457.

Suit for possession of property pledged in usufructuary mortgage—See CO-SHARERS—SUIT BY CO-SHARERS, 2 Hay 155.

Suit for specific performance of contract of sale and for delivery of—Court fee—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, cls. 5, 10, 14 C.L.J. 159.

Suit for—After foreclosure—Valuation—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, cl. 9, 1 C.L.R. 473.

Magistrate—Finding as to—See CRIM. PRO. CODE, 1872, s. 530, 5 B. 387.

Dispute as to land—Civil Court's decree for possession—Effect—Duty of Magistrate—See CRIM. PRO. CODE, 1898, s. 145, 5 C.W.N. 563.

Suit for, of land, proof of, for twenty years by claimant—Onus on the Crown to prove subsisting title—Adverse—Proof of, if necessary—See CROWN, 7 M.L.T. 128.

See CUSTOM—PUNJAB—ADOPTION, 96 P. R. 1893.

See DAMAGES—MISCELLANEOUS, 6 M. 426.

Person out of—Right to ask merely for injunction—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—GENERAL, 7 M.L.T. 311=20 M. L.J. 306=5 Ind. Cas. 630=33 M. 452.

Suit for declaration that an adoption was invalid dismissed as time-barred—Whether plaintiff can get a decree for possession—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—GENERAL, 8 A.L.J. 1101.

Suit for declaration of exclusive possession of land—Court competent to grant a decree for joint—and thereupon an order for the demolition of a wall built upon such land by some of joint owners—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—GENERAL, A.W.N. 1900, 196.

Possession—continued.—1.—General—continued.

Suit by person in—For declaration of title—Neither party proving title—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—DECLARATION OF TITLE, 20 B. 798.

Purchaser in execution of decree for money—Decree for sale on mortgage, suit for declaration in respect of—Specific Relief Act I of 1877, s. 42—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—DECLARATION OF TITLE, 18 A. 320=A.W.N. 1896, 86.

Declaration of title—Possession for statutory period, not sufficient ground for declaration—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—DECLARATION OF TITLE, 6 M.H.C. 420.

See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—DECLARATION OF TITLE, 20 C. 834, P.C.=20 I.A. 99, 5 A. 345, F.B.

Specific Relief Act, s. 42—Withdrawing claim for—Decree for declaration alone—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—SUITS CONCERNING DOCUMENTS, 14 M. 267=1 M.L.J. 227.

See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—MISCELLANEOUS, 12 C. 291.

Possession—Title—Right of person in possession to sue in ejectment—See DECREE—GENERAL, 11 Ind. Cas. 537.

Suit for possession of immoveable property—See DECREE—ALTERATION OR AMENDMENT OF DECREE, 6 A. 30=A.W.N. 1883, 215.

Suit for recovery of possession of land—Decree—See DECREE—DECREE FORM OF, 1 B.L.R. O.C. 1.

See DECREE—DECREE FORM OF, 7 C. 414=9 C.L.R. 76.

See DILUVION, 6 C. 725=8 C.L.R. 90.

Partition wall—Ownership—What constitutes dispossession—See EASEMENT, 31 M. 528=5 M.L.T. 136=19 M.L.J. 309=4 Ind. Cas. 619.

Suit for—Admission or denial of ownership—Shifting of onus—See EJECTMENT, SUIT FOR, 14 C.L.J. 175.

Survey Map—Title—See EVIDENCE—MAPS, 9 C.L.R. 305.

See EVIDENCE—MISCELLANEOUS, 24 A. 294=A.W.N. 1902, 45.

See FOREIGN COURT, JUDGMENT OF, 20 M. 112=7 M.L.J. 76.

Registered deed of gift—Delivery of, under registered deed of gift—Transfer of Property Act, s. 123—See GIFT, 5 O.C. 89.

Guzara land suit for of—Estate for life—Grant for maintenance in perpetuity, how to be construed—See GUZRA LAND, 7 O.C. 90.

Prima facie evidence of title—See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 5 W.R. 69, P.C.

Possession—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION, 14 B.L.R. 307=23 W.R. 131.

Gift—Hindu Law—Creation of trusts—See HINDU LAW—GIFT, 17 B. 486.

With one of the donees—Declaration by donor, effect of—See HINDU LAW—GIFT, 7 B. 452.

Registration of gift deed not equivalent to—See HINDU LAW—GIFT, 7 B. 131.

Possession of brothers and sisters in native families—Presumption—See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 20 A. 182=A.W.N. 1898, 19.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 1 I.A. 9.

Water course—Right to protect possession against trespasser—See INCORPOREAL RIGHTS, 7 M.L.T. 352=6 Ind. Cas. 266=20 M.L.J. 803.

Right of co-sharers of joint property to joint possession—See JOINT PROPERTY, 33 C. 1201.

Suit for possession—Plaint property situated in different districts—Place in which suit to be instituted—Misjoinder of causes of action—See JURISDICTION—CAUSES OF JURISDICTION, A.W.N. 1885, 125.

See JURISDICTION—JURISDICTION OF FOUDARY COURT, 3 W.R. 45, P.C.=7 M.I. A. 283.

Transfer of holding by occupancy—Tenant—Suit for cancelling transfer—Ejectment—Jurisdiction of Civil and Revenue Courts—See JURISDICTION OF REVENUE COURTS, A.W.N. 1885, 271.

Registration of name under Land Registration Act—Whether equivalent to—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—GENERAL, 10 Ind. Cas. 363.

Suit for ejectment—Plea of permanent right of occupancy—Long—on uniform rent, effect of—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—EJECTMENT, 16 M. 131.

Suit for—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—EJECTMENT, 2 C.L.R. 209.

Mere long, of homestead land insufficient to justify presumption of permanent grant—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—NATURE OF TENANCY, 25 C. 896.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—NATURE OF TENANCY, 5 C.W.N. 801.

Lease—Lessor refusing to register lease-deed—Suit by lessee to enforce registration and for possession—Maintainability—Admissibility of deed in evidence—See LEASE—GENERAL, A.W.N. 1885, 329.

Possession under erroneous order—Limitation—See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 2 B.L.R.A.C. 173.

Possession—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

Suit for by mortgagor to recover—Limitation—Reg. II of 1802—See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 2 M.H.C. 382.

Decree-holder given formal possession—Actual possession remaining with judgment-debtor—Decree holder's right to bring fresh suit within 12 years—See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 10 Ind. Cas. 319.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, 1 M.H.C. 85.

Possession, meaning of—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, 6 C.W.N. 601.

Suit by vendee or auction-purchaser for—Limitation—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, art. 144, 70 P.L.R. 1910=8 Ind. Cas. 236.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 2, 6, 7, 8, 9, 22, 24, 25, 40, 48, 49, 132, 144, 118, 120, 3 M.H.C. 111.

Meaning of "physical possession"—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 8 Ind. Cas. 603.

Suit for pre-emption—Terminus a quo—Date of registration or date of getting—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, A.W.N. 1887, 235.

Actual—Meaning of—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 65 P.R. 1883.

Nature of—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 24 A. 17, P.C.=5 C.W.N. 888=28 I.A. 248.

"Physical possession," meaning of—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 10 and 120, 20 A. 315, F.B.=A.W.N. 1898, 61.

Suit for money by mortgagee disturbed in possession limitation for—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 97, 116, 120, 21 M. 242=8 M.L.J. 81.

Whether possession obtained in execution of a decree subsequently set aside is "Wrongful possession"—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 109, 120, 3 C.L.J. 182.

Suit for proprietary—Of immoveable property—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 113, 144, A.W.N. 1886, 96.

Suit for possession incidentally requiring setting aside of adoption—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 118, 17 A. 167=A.W.N. 1895, 36.

Suit for declaration of right to office of Dharmakarta of temple and—Of property attached to it—Prescription—Hereditary right—Right to possession dependent on right to office—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 120, 124 and 144, 26 M. 113.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 135, 3 Agra 103.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 181, 3 B. 433.

Possession—continued.—1.—General—continued.

Nature of, sufficient to support gift—Presumption of, in favour of title when arises—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT, 13 O. C. 347=8 Ind. Cas. 717.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT, 5 B. 238.

A wakif must divest himself of, in order to constitute a valid wakf—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF, 2 N.L.R. 158.

Lease—Death of lessee during period of lease—Suit for—Against lessee's heirs—Jurisdiction of Mamlatdar—See MAMLATDAR, JURISDICTION OF, 21 B. 738.

Joint possession under decree of Civil Court—Taking of produce by one of the parties, not a dispossession within Mamlatdar's jurisdiction—Suit for account or partition, proper remedy between joint-owners—See MAMLATDAR, JURISDICTION OF, 21 B. 777.

See MESNE PROFITS—MODE OF ASSESSMENT, 5 W.R. 127, P.C.=2 M.I.A. 113.

Mortgage of moveable property—Delivery of—of moveable property to mortgagee—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 6 O.C. 230.

See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 4 O.C. 347, 25 M. 537.

See MORTGAGE—MISCELLANEOUS, 23 A. 338=A.W.N. 1901, 95.

Hypothecation without—Subsequent hypothecation with possession—Priority—See MOVEABLE PROPERTY, 2 C.P.L.R. 108.

Of by debtor—Presumption—See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS—PROMISSORY NOTES—MISCELLANEOUS, 29 C. 334=29 I.A. 43=6 C. W.N. 401.

Evidence of ownership—Presumption arising from—See OWNERSHIP, 14 C. 740=14 I.A. 101 P.C.

Necessary parties to a suit for constructive possession—See PARTIES TO SUITS—GENERAL, 2 C.W.N. 229.

Mortgagees' suits concerning—Mortgage by agent—Suit for possession—See PARTIES TO SUITS—GENERAL, 2 Agra 407.

Police Officer incompetent to make judicial enquiry about possession—See POLICE OFFICER, 18 C. 349, P.C.=18 I.A. 27.

Survey records—Evidentiary value in suit for possession—See POSSESSION—EVIDENCE OF POSSESSION AND TITLE, 7 C.L.R. 269.

See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 21 C. 479.

Registered Conveyance—Unregistered Conveyance with possession—Priority—Notice—See REGISTRATION, 7 C. 753=10 C.L.R. 129.

Prior unregistered document, possession under, notice to subsequent registered mortgagee—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 50, 9 B. 427.

Possession—continued.—1.—General—concluded.

Suit for—Accretion—See BEN. REG. XI OF 1825, s. 4, 11 C.L.J. 148=5 Ind. Cas. 723.

Uninterrupted possession—Thirty years—Prescriptive title—See BOM. REG. V OF 1827, ch. I, s. 1, cl. (i), 1 B. 286.

Claims to recover—and mesne profits, distant claims—See RELINQUISHMENT OF CLAIMS, 19 C. 615.

Suit for—See RENT, 13 W.R. 18, P.C.=13 M.I.A. 270.

Decree ordering possession and mesne profits—Execution application for both reliefs—Omission to grant one relief whether bar to subsequent application in respect of it—See RES JUDICATA—RES JUDICATA IN EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS, 24 M. 681=11 M.L. J. 313.

Right of occupancy—Long possession—Burden of proof—Landlord and tenant—See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY—ACQUISITION OF RIGHT, 11 M. 77.

As intruder—Right of intruder to hold house of absconding raiyat—See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY—ACQUISITION OF RIGHT, 1 Agra 9.

Formal delivery of, effect of, on judgment-debtor and against his co-sharer—See SALE—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—GENERAL, 3 A.L.J. 659=A.W.N. 1906, 278.

See SERVICE TENURE, 7 C. 697=9 C.L.R. 233.

Transfer of possession, necessary to constitute a valid settlement under the Mahomedan Law, —See SETTLEMENT—GENERAL, 6 Bom. L.R. 263.

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, s. 42, 14 A. 512=A.W.N. 1892, 80.

Decree for—passed by mamlatdar—Ouster of third person in possession—See SUPERINTENDENCE OF HIGH COURT, 21 B. 775.

Presumption of, from evidence of title—Waste lands—See TITLE, 5 C.L.R. 481.

See TITLE, 10 M.I.A. 47.

Hypothecation of property without possession—Incomplete title—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY, 1 Agra 286.

Suit against trespasser by person dispossessed—Right to recover on the strength of previous possession—See TRESPASSER, 11 Ind. Cas. 279.

—2.—Adverse Possession.

See BURDEN OF PROOF—LIMITATION AND ADVERSE POSSESSION.

See—LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 143, 144.

(1)—Of property recognised by law.—It is of the essence of the title by adverse possession that it must relate to some property which is recognized by law. JETHABHAI v. NATHABHAI, 6 Bom. L.R. 428=28 B. 399. [D., 10 Bom. L.R. 1128=33 B. 116.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(2)—Adverse possession—Elements of.—Adverse possession means possession by a person holding the land on his own behalf of some person other than the true owner having a right to immediate possession. There ought to be nothing equivocal in a possession which is relied upon as a bar. BALKRISHNA v. GOVIND, 4 Bom. L.R. 312=26 B. 617.

(3)—What constitutes—Permanent case—Government—Payment of rent by Government—Government denying title of lessor.—To constitute a title of adverse possession, the possession required to be proved must be adequate in continuity, in publicity and in extent, and it is displaced by evidence of partial possession by the party against whom the title by adverse possession is claimed. To prove ownership of an unenclosed piece of land, acts of ownership in one part may be presumed to be acts of ownership over the whole unless there are circumstances rebutting that presumption. B, the owner of the land in dispute, gave it under a permanent lease to J, who assigned the lease to plaintiff on the 7th December, 1888, Government having held the land, through the Custom officials, as tenants had gone on paying rent first to J, and then to plaintiff from 1872 to 1891. After 1891, Government denied his and set up their own title to the land and refused to pay rent. The plaintiff, therefore, filed this suit to recover possession of the land with rent and mesne profits from Government. Government claimed the land as their own and pleaded that the rent was paid till 1891, through mistake by the Custom officials without the consent or knowledge of Government: Held, (1) that the admission of Government that they had paid rent for some years to the plaintiff was sufficient in law to raise a prima facie presumption of title in his favour and to throw the onus of proving that the land belonged to them and that they had paid the rent under a mistake, upon Government; (2) that if the Custom officials had authority to take and hold possessions of land for Customs service on behalf of Government, their authority to bind Government by payment of rent for that land followed as a matter of course and it was not open to Government to claim the benefit of the former and repudiate the latter. VITHALDAS v. SECRETARY OF STATE, 4 Bom. L.R. 28=26 B. 410. [R., 6 C.L.J. 735; F., 35 C. 961, 12 C.W.N. 127.]

(4)—Nature of — How to be established—Constructive possession, doctrine of, not applicable to wrong-doer.—In order to prove title to land by adverse possession, it is not sufficient to show that some acts of possession have been done, but the possession must be adequate in continuity, in publicity and in extent of area, to establish that it is possession adverse to the competitor and to take the title out of the true owner. The adverse possession to be effective must be actual, visible, exclusive, hostile and continuous for the statutory period. The doctrine of constructive possession applies only in favour of a rightful owner, and must not, as a rule, be extended in favour of a wrong-doer, whose possession must be confined to the land of which he is actually in occupation. BARODA PROSAD ROY CHOWDHRY v. ANNODA MOHAN ROY, 6 Ind. Cas. 359. (7 C.L.J. 114, 12 C.W.N. 273, 3 M.L.T. 212, 27 C. 843, P.C. 27 I.A. 136, 4 C.W.N. 597, 35 C. 961, 12 C.W.N. 127, 6 C.L.J. 735, R.)

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(5) — Acts constituting adverse possession—Legal origin to the Acts.—The Acts required by law to constitute a title by adverse possession must be of an unequivocal character, and must be such that no legal origin can be ascribed to them. YESU v. FUL CHAND, 4 Bom. L.R. 964.

(6)—Adverse possession—Conduct.—A plea of title by adverse possession cannot be made good by a few acts of asserted proprietorship, and in the face of the fact that the party who makes that plea permitted the owner to appear in the Khwats as proprietor. PHUNDO v. BHISHWA DAS, A.W.N. 1883, 246.

(7) — Possession first permissive — Adverse possession—Nature of evidence required.—Where occupation of land is originally permissive, evidence is required to make out that it has been changed into adverse possession. And the possession must be proved to have been adverse for a period of twelve years before suit. WAHEE-OD-DEEN v. JHUNGORE, 2 N.W.P. 16.

(8)—Failure to prove specific alleged title—Title by adverse possession—Distinct and clear declaration of title.—To enable the plaintiff, who has failed to prove a specific alleged title, to succeed upon the ground of adverse possession for twelve years, it must be distinctly shown that the latter title was also distinctly and clearly raised in the Court of first instance. KRISHNA CHURN BAISACK v. PROTAB CHUNDER SARMA, 7 C. 560. (2 C. 418, R.)

(9)—Adverse possession — Ineffective possession—Assertion of title—To the knowledge of the owner.—Where the possession is of an ineffective nature, supposing that its character could be improved by an assertion of title, it is necessary for the party so in possession to prove that the owner had knowledge of such assertion. An "openly avowed claim" means a claim which may be said to have come to the knowledge of the true owner. MALLA VEERANNA v. MALLA CHELAMAYYA, M.W.N. 1912, 68=13 Ind. Cas. 467.

(10)—Adverse possession, whether there was or was not, mixed question of law and fact—Civ. Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), s. 100—Continuity of "possession."—The determination of a lower appellate Court whether not there was adverse possession, is one of mixed law and fact, and it is open to the High Court in second appeal to determine whether or not, on the findings as to possession at which the lower appellate Court arrived, it would be correct to hold as a legal conclusion that adverse possession has been established. There must be continuity of possession so as to make the possession adverse. SHOOKOR MALLIK v. BEHARI LAL, 11 Ind. Cas. 185.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(11)—Adverse possession—Vacant land—Encroachment—Nature of user.—A bit of land which was of no use happened to be of use for various temporary purposes to an adjoining landholder and he accordingly used it for more than 12 years. He built a privy and sheds for cows, goats, etc. He contended that such user amounted to adverse possession. Held that user of this sort was insufficient to give a title to the land by adverse possession. In this country, such a user excites no particular attention. It is neither meant to denote, nor understood as denoting—on the one side or the other—a claim to the ownership of the land. Where such and no more is the case, it would be altogether wrong to hold that a claim to title by adverse possession has been made out. FRAMJI CURSETJI v. GOCULDAS MADHOWJI, 16 B. 338. [F., 21 M. 53, 11 Bom. L.R. 1087=33 B. 712=4 Ind. Cas. 244; R., 91 P.R. 1901=113 P.L.R. 1901, 32 C. 287, 8 Ind. Cas. 708.]

(12)—Possession for 12 years—Title.—As between private owners contesting inter se the title to lands, the law has established a limitation of 12 years; after that time it declares not simply that the remedy is barred, but that the title is extinct in favour of the possessor. RAJA BARADAKANT ROY BAHADUR v. PRANKRISHNA PAROI, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 343=12 W.R. 192. (7 W.R. 21, R.) [R., 1 B. 286, 1 B. 592.]

(13)—Declaration of title—Plaint—Issues.—A declaration of title may be made on the strength merely of 12 years' adverse possession. (6 M.H.C. 420, Diss.; 20 W.R. 104, F.) Where such a declaration is sought, the 12 years' adverse possession must be distinctly stated in the plaint, or set out in the issues. SHIRO KUMARI DEBI v. GOVIND SHAW TANTI, 2 C. 418. [F., 7 C. 560; D., 14 C. 592; R., 31 M. 531=4 M.L.T. 344.]

(14)—Judgment-debtor in possession of property for more than 12 years—Adverse possession.—When a judgment-debtor remains in possession of property for more than 12 years, he has a title by adverse possession. Such title by adverse possession is capable of being attached. SUJA HOSSEIN v. MONOHUR DAS, 24 C. 244.

(15)—Right to land—Adverse possession for more than 12 years.—If adverse possession had been enjoyed for nearly thirteen years, non claim does not only bar a suit but gives an absolute title. On that title, the party may not only insist by way of defence but he may put it forward as a positive title and claim to have it recorded. KURIM KHAN v. BAHADUR KHAN, 48 P.R. 1872.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(16)—Adverse possession—Hereditary office—Inference—Commissioner, Kumaon Division, power of—Second Appeal.—The defendant had been receiving the entire profits of a hereditary office for upwards of 12 years and had also been performing all the duties connected with that office: Held, that under the circumstances the legitimate inference was that the defendant was in adverse possession. Held, also, that the commissioner of Kumaon Division as a Court of second appeal was not competent to go behind the finding of fact of the Court of first appeal. DHARMA NAND v. KHEMA, 3 Ind. Cas. 8.

(17)—Two trespassers—Possession for 12 years—One claiming through the other.—If the period of possession of a trespasser and his predecessor in title, who was also a trespasser, extends over a period of 12 years, he acquires an absolute title to the property of which he has been thus in possession. BALU RAM v. BANKE BIHARI LAL, 3 A.L.J. 424=A.W.N. 1906, 184. (24 A. 157, R.) [F., 3 A.L.J. 775=A.W.N. 1906, 364; R., 29 A. 52, 9 O.C. 230.]

(18)—By successive trespassers—Tacking of various periods of adverse possession—Succession by sale as to possessory interest of one trespasser by another.—Held, that a person, who was in possession of the property as a trespasser, is entitled to tack on to the period of his possession the period of the possession as trespasser of his predecessor in title through whom he claims. NAGESHAR v. SHEO MANGAL, 9 O.C. 230. (9 O.C. 161, 20 W.R. 114, R.)

(19)—Adverse possession—Enjoyment—Period more than twelve years—Acquisition of title.—If a plaintiff has put a buttress and has been in possession and enjoyment thereof for more than twelve years, he must be deemed to have a title, and not merely an easement, to the site covered by the buttress, by adverse possession. RAVUTU ADINARAYANAMMA v. SAHUKARA SYED MURTUZA SAHEB, 8 M.L.T. 282=7 Ind. Cas. 571.

(20)—Forcible possession by wrong-doer—Fraud of lawful owner—Jurisdiction—Power of Civil Court to interfere with vested rights—Prescription—Title created by adverse possession.—A mere wrong-doer, who has forcibly taken possession of another man's property, is not entitled to withhold that property from its lawful owner upon the ground, of a fraud which has in no way affected his own status or position. Civil Courts have no power to interfere with the vested rights of parties, merely by way of penalty, unless they are authorized to do so by some positive legislative enactment. Adverse possession for a period of more than 12 years is by itself sufficient to create a title. RAM SAHOY SINGH v. KOOLDEEP SINGH, 15 W.R. 80. [R., 1 B. 286.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(21)—Suit to recover land—Hostile possession.—In a suit by V against N to recover certain lands attached to two villages of which he became proprietor in 1857, where it was found that N had been in possession for upwards of 50 years before date of suit, held that N's possession was hostile and that the suit was, therefore, barred by the Statute of Limitations. CHANDRA CHODANGHI v. TIMMAIYA, 2 M.H. C. 391.

(22)—Settlement—Payment of arrears of revenue—Adverse possession.—Because settlement of the property was made with the defendants in consequence of their having paid up the arrears of revenue, it does not follow that, by reason of that simple fact, their possession was adverse sufficient to reckon limitation. BHEEMA v. PAHLAD, 2 Agra, 38.

(23)—Possession lawful under a lease—Whether adverse—Acceptance of new lease—Effect—Lease declared void—Effect—Implied surrender.—In the case of surrender implied by law from the acceptance of a new lease, a condition ought also to be understood as implied by law making void the surrender in case the new lease should be made void. There can be no adverse possession and a consequent title by prescription, if the possession would be lawful and under a lease. KERALA VARMA VALIA RAJA v. MAYANKUTTY, 8 M.L.T. 309. (15 M. 166, F.)

(24)—Alluvial land—Adverse possession, commencement of—Proof of ownership—Proof of possession.—Possession of alluvial land can commence directly the land is in existence, and does not date from the time at which it becomes culturable. Any proved act of ownership would be sufficient to show possession. In the present case, however, the Judge had found as a fact that the plaintiff did not show possession at any time within twelve years; in fact, that he had not shown any possession at all, whilst the defendant was and always had been in possession of the disputed chur; and with this finding no interference was possible by the High Court in special appeal. LUCKHEE DEBIA CHOWDHRAIN v. THE COLLECTOR OF MYMENSINGH, 7 W.R. 231. [R., 2 B. 19.]

(25)—Decree against owner—Attachment of property in execution—Running of time in favour of trespasser not arrested by attachment—Adverse possession.—When a trespasser is holding the property adversely to the owner, the attachment of the property by a person who has got a decree against the owner, does not arrest the running of time in favour of the trespasser. SEETHARAMI REDDI v. VENKU REDDI, 11 M. L.J. 344.

(26)—Possession of over twelve years under prior valid unregistered sale, effect of, on rights

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

under subsequent registered hypothecation—Registration Act (III of 1877), s. 50.—Rights created under a registered hypothecation bond might be affected not only by lapse of time as between creditor and debtor, but also by possession of the hypothecated property for the required statutory period, by a third person on a claim inconsistent with the rights of both the creditor and the debtor, as in the case of such possession held by a purchaser under a prior valid unregistered sale of the land; nor does s. 50 of the Registration Act in any way interfere with the operation and effect of the established principles of limitation and prescription governing such cases. NALLAMUTHU PILLAI v. BETHA NAICKAN, 23 M. 37. [R., 26 M. 72 = 12 M.L.J. 410.]

(27)—Burden of proof.—The onus of proving a title by adverse possession for the statutory period lies on him who alleges it. The possession required to be proved must be adequate in continuity, in publicity and in extent to show that it is possession adverse to the competitor. RADHAMONI v. COLLECTOR OF KHULNA, 2 Bom. L.R. 592 = 27 C. 943, P.C. = 27 I.A. 136 = 4 C.W.N. 597 = 7 Sar. 714. [F., 13 C. 397, 3 C.L.J. 316; R., 26 B. 410 = 4 Bom. L.R. 28, 28 B. 94 = 5 Bom. L.R. 708, 10 C.W.N. 343, 6 C.L.J. 735 = 12 C.W.N. 127.]

(28)—Evidence—Proof.—Possession to be adverse must be shown to be continuous, public and adequate to the circumstances of the case. In the case of a joint family consisting of three brothers, where no partition was proved, the mere fact that two of the brothers went to live in a neighbouring village would not make the possession of the third, who continued to live in the same village, necessarily adverse. As between brothers, when no partition is proved, the adverse possession of one must be proved by very satisfactory evidence. JAGJIVANDAS v. BAI AMBA, 3 Bom. L.R. 47 = 25 B. 362.

(29)—Onus of proving adverse possession—Presumption.—The onus of proving adverse possession lies on the party who alleges it. The Courts are loth to convert a possession, which commenced lawfully, into a wrongful and adverse possession. GANPATRAM v. SHIVPRASAD, 4 Bom. L.R. 355.

(30)—Adverse possession—Burden of proving possession within 12 years—Landlord and tenant—Pleadings—Denial of title.—Plaintiffs sued for possession alleging that the defendants were their tenants. The defendants pleaded that they were not the plaintiffs' tenants and that they had been in adverse possession for more than 12 years prior to the institution of the suit.—Held, that in the circumstances the plaintiffs were bound to prove not only title but also their proprietary possession within twelve years prior to the suit. BRIJLAL SAHU v. RAMESHAR SAHU, 9 Ind. Cas. 812. (A.W.N. 1901, 188, A.W.N. 1882, 40, R.)

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(31)—Suit for possession—Defendant admitted and found to be in possession for over twelve years—Burden of proof.—Where, in a suit for possession, the defendant pleads limitation and adverse possession (and it is admitted and found that he was in possession for more than twelve years) and denies the title of the plaintiff, the burden lies on the plaintiff to show that he has a title to the property in question and that such title subsisted at the date of the suit. MUSAFIR RAI v. MUSAMMAT LAGAN BARTA KUAR, 2 A.L.J. 62 = A.W.N. 1905, 14. (A.W.N. 1894, 167, F.)

(32)—Adverse possession—Allegation that defendant was in possession as agent of plaintiff—Burden of proof.—When a party sought to obtain possession of certain property, denominated a Muddud-mash, against a defendant whose adverse possession had existed from 1761, upon the allegation that the defendant was in such possession as agent of plaintiff, the Judicial Committee held that the proof of such agency lay on the plaintiff; the balance of evidence being in favour of the defendant's right to possession, the circumstance of his having registered himself as owner in 1797, without any opposition or subsequent claim to register on the part of the plaintiff, and having continued in undisturbed possession from that period, was conclusive as against the claim set up by plaintiff. MEER USUDOOLLAH v. BEEBY IMAMAN, 5 W.R.P.C. 26 = 1 Suther. 46 = 1 Sar. 89 = 1 M.I.A. 19.

(33)—Limitation—Adverse possession—Partition suit—Family property sold to stranger—Purchaser in possession—Sale not by registered instrument—Dispossession of family within 12 years prior to suit—Onus of proof—Failure to prove—Perfection of purchaser's title.—Where immoveable property was sold to the defendant, and such sale was not supported by a registered instrument, and where the plaintiff, in a partition suit, claimed such property to belong to the family and to be liable for partition: Held, that it lay on the plaintiff to prove that the family was dispossessed within 12 years prior to the suit, and that, plaintiff having failed to do so, the defendant's title was perfected by limitation. VUGAMUDI SUBRAMMA REDDI v. VUGAMUDI RAMACHANDRA REDDI, 9 M.L.T. 476.

(34)—Adverse possession—Onus probandi—Claim for a share in undivided ancestral property—Mutation in favour of plaintiffs—Abandonment of inheritance.—The plaintiffs sued for possession of one-third of the lands in dispute as their share in the joint ancestral property inherited by them from their deceased father and brother. The defendants pleaded adverse possession and that the deceased had abandoned their rights in the property in dispute. The abandonment by the deceased father and brother of the plaintiffs pleaded by the defendants was not established. On the death of the father, the lands were mutated in the names of the plaintiffs and their deceased brother who died subsequently. It was not till 1891 that mutations adverse to the plaintiffs took place. Held, that the onus of proving adverse possession lay on the defendants, and they had failed to prove it for the period prior to 1891. SAHIB DAD KHAN v. AKBAR KHAN, 62 P.L.R. 1902. (61 P.R. 1870, 118 P.R. 1889; 116 P.R. 1900, F.)

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(35)—Joint property—Adverse possession by one co-sharer.—As the possession of one co-sharer is the possession of all in the case of joint property, a co-sharer, setting up adverse possession, is bound to prove that the other co-sharers were excluded more than 12 years ago, or that they abandoned their rights: and the co-sharer out of possession need not make out that the family lived as a joint Hindu family or that he received his share of the joint income. DAS AND HUKMAN v. MAYA DAS, 118 P.R. 1889. [R., 30 P.R. 1901, 120 P.R. 1908.]

(36)—Possession of lambardar.—Where it is not proved that a lambardar is in possession as agent of a co-sharer, his possession cannot be considered as permissive but must be held to be adverse. SHEODAYAL SINGH v. BHAGIRATH SINGH, 13 C.P.L.R. 99. (2 C.P.L.R. 171, Cons.; 11 C.P.L.R. 30, 17 A. 423, R.) [Exps. 5 N.L.R. 41.]

(37)—Shamilat land, Implied transfer of—Shamilat land is joint undivided property and the possession of one co-sharer is not, in the absence of special circumstances, adverse against the other co-sharers.—In determining the question whether shamilat land passed to the vendee on a sale of malik rights, one point of importance is the area and value of shamilat as compared with maliki land. When the shamilat land was of no great value and the sale included jumla haquq dakhili wa khariji, mai jumla haquq bisuadari. Held, that a transfer of share in shamilat was implied by the sale. AHMAD v. KARORI MAL, 4 P.L.R. 1907 = 49 P.W.R. 1907.

(38)—By a tenant-in-common—Exclusive receipt of profits—Presumption.—To constitute an adverse possession as between tenants-in-common, there must be an exclusion or an ouster. Exclusive receipt of profits by one tenant-in-common continuously for a long period would be sufficient evidence to presume an actual ouster of the other tenant-in-common. GANGADHAR v. PARASHARAM, 7 Bom. L.R. 252 = 29 B. 300. [R., 11 Bom. L.R. 51 = 33 B. 317.]

(39)—Tenants-in-common—Ouster—Acts of exclusive occupation.—The question of adverse possession between tenants in-common depends, not on a severance of the tenancy-in-common by partition, but on exclusive occupation by one co-tenant amounting to ouster of the other. Two brothers G and D owned a property jointly. In execution of a decree against D, the property was sold and purchased by V, who, in taking possession of it, was obstructed by G. V sued to remove the obstruction and obtained a partition decree on the 29th November, 1886; and subsequently obtained symbolical possession of the property on the 11th December, 1895. Meanwhile, on the 4th October, 1894, G sold the property to defendant and placed him in possession. The assignee of V then sued the defendant on the 4th October, 1906, to recover possession of the property from him. His claim was resisted by a plea of adverse possession. Held, negating the contention. (1) that to entitle the defendant to add to the period of his own adverse possession (which was admittedly less than twelve years before the date of suit) the period of G's possession, it must be shown that the latter's possession was also adverse; (2) that G's possession could not become adverse to V so long as the decree for partition was alive and capable of execution as against G. AMRITA RAVJI RAO v. SHIRDHAR NARAYAN OKE, 11 Bom. L.R. 51=33 B. 317=1 Ind. Cas. 322.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(40)—Joint holders — Adverse possession.—Where a holding was entered at the settlement as the joint property of the parties and it was recorded that they were entitled to equal rights, possession by one of the parties cannot be regarded as adverse as against the other. NIZAMUDDIN v. GAHIA, 61 P.R. 1870. [R., 62 P.L.R. 1902.]

(41)—Suit for profits of sir land appertaining to an undivided mahal—Adverse possession.—Plaintiff, as a co-sharer in an undivided mahal, sued to recover a share of the profits of some sir land, appertaining to the mahal and in the occupation of the defendant for more than twelve years. It was found that the plaintiff and his predecessors in title had been respectively in receipt of his and their share of the profits of the mahal, with the exception of the sir land in dispute, for more than twelve years before suit; and the defendant had not at any time repudiated the title of the plaintiff or his predecessors to the enjoyment of the sir land or set up any adverse title. Held, the mahal being undivided, the defendant's possession of the sir land must be regarded as a possession not only on his own account but also on account of his co-sharers, including plaintiff, and therefore, not hostile; and plaintiff's suit not barred. RAJ BAHADUR v. BHARAT SINGH, A.W.N. 1905, 15=27 A. 348=2 A.L.J. 110.

(42)—Absentees — Adverse possession—Entry of absentees' name in Collector's records.—The mere entry in the Collector's records of the names of absentees in respect of certain shares cannot alter the nature of possession adversely held by the other co-sharers. DOORJUN v. CHAINA, 2 N.W.P. 43. [R., 3 A. 458.]

(43)—Joint Hindu family—Adverse possession.—In the case of a joint undivided Hindu family, the possession of one member or more cannot be adverse in regard to a member who was absent for years; the possession of one is possession of the others; adverse possession never commences in such cases unless there be peculiar circumstances altering the "status" of the family. LALLA v. JEYCOPAL, 49 P.R. 1870.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(44)—Possession—One co-sharer—Joint property—Whether adverse possession.—Exclusive possession of a co-owner of property which originally had been joint does not per se amount to adverse possession as against his co-sharers. Where one of the two sisters remained in possession of the father's property for twenty-one years and the other did not "participate in possession," held that that only did not make her possession adverse. PARBATI v. RAM PRASAD, 5 A.L.J. 511=A.W.N. 1908, 239. (1 C.L.R. 364, 3 C.W.N. 774, R.)

(45)—Ancestral property, possession of—When title against co-sharer.—The fact that a person is in possession of ancestral property is good evidence of title against a co-sharer, if such possession is shown to be exclusive and inconsistent with the co-sharer's having any right to the property claimed. TEKAIT HURRO NARAIN SINGH v. BOYKUNT NARAIN SINGH, 14 W.R. 51.

(46)—Adverse possession — Abandonment — Absentee co-sharer.—The father and uncle of the plaintiff were shown as absentee owners in 1851, at which Settlement it was recorded that, if absentees returned, they could re-claim their land. This entry was not repeated at the last Settlement of 1885, but the names of the plaintiff and his uncle continued to be shown up to the date of the suit. The plaintiff claimed to take his own share in the land as well as his uncle's. The persons holding land of the absentees in a sale-deed executed in 1890 agreed with the vendee, that, if the absentees returned and claimed their shares, they would make up the deficiency by giving other land out of their own share. The defendants pleaded that the plaintiff's claim was barred by adverse possession of the defendants and the abandonment by the plaintiff and his predecessors. Held, that there was no abandonment on the part of the plaintiff or his predecessors or adverse possession on the part of the defendants. TABA v. KALA, 146 P.L.R. 1903. (118 P.R. 1889, 18 P.R. 1888, 84 P.R. 1888, 180 P.R. 1888, 141 P.R. 1883, 104 P.R. 1889, 118 P.R. 1893, 109 P.R. 1892, 121 P.R. 1884 and 30 P.R. 1901, R.)

(47)—Adverse possession set up by co-sharers — Onus of proof—Abandonment.—Held, that, ordinarily, in the case of property held in common, the possession of a co-sharer is the possession of all. In a case, in which co-sharers set up a title adverse to a co-sharer, it lies upon them to show at what time their possession became adverse or that there was clear and definite abandonment with intention. HAJI v. GOHNA, 39 P.L.R. 1906.

(48)—Adverse possession—Co-sharers—Abandonment—Punjab Courts Act (XVIII of 1884), s. 70 (1) (b)—Revision—Civil cases—Question of fact.—The defendants in a suit for possession of land pleaded abandonment and adverse possession, and the pleas were disallowed by the Original and the Appellate Courts, and the claim was decreed. On revision, held, that, the question of abandonment being a question of fact in the case, no revision was competent under s. 70 (1) (b) of the Punjab Courts Act, and as regards the adverse possession, the land being part of a joint holding, the possession of the defendants was prima facie possession of all the co-sharers. An overt act on the part of the defendants evidencing an intention to hold adversely to the plaintiffs was not established in the case and the pleas were rightly disallowed. ATRA v. RAM KISHEN, 102 P.L.R. 1909=154 P.W.R. 1909.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(49)—Possession by co-sharer—Adverse possession.—Possession of a plot of land by a co-sharer would not be adverse against the other sharers not in actual possession, unless the latter asserted or claimed some right in the land and that right was denied by the sharer in possession. SHURFUNISSA BIBEE CHOWDHRAIN v. KYLASH CHUNDER GUNGOPADHYA, 25 W.R. 53. [H., 5 L.B.R. 112.]

(50)—Adverse possession between joint owners.—Many acts which would be clearly adverse and might amount to dispossession as between a stranger and the true owner of land, would, between joint owners, naturally bear a different construction. MAHOMED ALI KHAN v. KHAJA ABDUL GUNNY, 9 C. 744, F.B.=12 C.L.R. 257. [R., 19 C. 253, P.C. 12 C.W.N. 127=6 C.L.J. 735.]

(51)—Purchase of joint family property without notice—Suit by members of family for possession—Adverse possession—Lease by limited owner—Refund of purchase money.—A person purchased portions of the property of a joint family, without notice that there were contested rights and in the belief that the vendor was entitled to sell or grant a muurosee lease; and the representatives of the family afterwards sued the representatives of the purchaser to recover possession, on the ground that there was no valid ground under the Hindu Law for the making of a miras pottah as to a portion of the property in suit made by a widow of one of the three original owners, who were brothers, and that the pottah was not good, beyond her own lifetime; but the purchaser's representatives claimed to hold adversely, both in respect of the widow's lease and in respect of the share of one of three brothers, which their predecessor in title had purchased: Held, that, as the widow who had made the lease was not the widow or heir of the brother whose share defendants held, the possession held by her during all this time must be considered as an adverse possession, and the reversioner was now barred by limitation; and that, in respect of the other two portions, not so barred, the plaintiffs could get back possession of it only by repaying the amount of the money laid out on the purchase by the defendants' predecessor in title. RAKHAL CHUNDER ROY CHOWDHRY v. GOPAL KRISHTO SEN, 23 W.R. 368.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(52)—Adverse possession—Reversioner—Possession of property by stranger.—After the death of the last male holder, his mother inherited all the properties and enjoyed the same. After her death, the sister of the last male holder took possession of the properties and enjoyed the same for over 12 years. Subsequent to her death the defendant, a collateral heir of the last male holder, entered into possession of the properties. The plaintiffs who were the co-heirs with the defendant of the last male holder sued for their share of the properties. Held that the suit was barred by limitation as the possession of the defendant's predecessor was adverse to the plaintiffs and as the cause of action accrued on the mother's death. Possession of property must always be attributed to a right to the property of the largest possible kind on the part of the person possessing it, until it be shown either that the possessory right really is in another person and that the present enjoyment is by his permission, or that the possession although of right, is so under some limited right to the property. BIRESSUR BANERJEE v. ONOODA CHURN BANERJEE, 3 W.R. 12.

(53)—By a co-parcener.—Where there has been no exclusion of any of the co-parceners from use and enjoyment of the property for the period of limitation, a co-parcener cannot successfully set up a case of adverse possession of the property on the strength of mere paper assertions not brought home to the knowledge of the other co-parceners. ANANDRAO v. VASANTRAO, 9 Bom. L.R. 595=5 C.L.J. 338=11 C.W.N. 478=2 M.L.T. 151=17 M.L.J. 184. [Appl., 10 Bom. L.R. 778.]

(54)—Awards—Bengal Regulations VII of 1822, IX of 1825, and IX of 1833—Adverse possession.—Act XIII of 1848 is limited to awards made by Collectors under Bengal Regulations VII of 1822, IX of 1825, and IX of 1833, which gives to the revenue authorities judicial power to determine questions of possession, and the right of appeal from such award is subjected to three years' limitation. The general rule, that the possession of one member of a joint Hindu family is the possession of all other members, does not apply where the party claiming has been clearly excluded from the family. In such a case, the possession is adverse, and under the general law of limitation the time will run from such adverse possession. JOWALA BUKSH v. DHARUM SINGH, 10 M.L.A. 511=2 Sar. 189.

(55)—Hindu law—Succession—Possession of one sharer in absence of another—Adverse possession—Limitation.—Possession is prima facie proof of title; but in a case where two brothers were members of the same family, and admittedly succeeded to equal shares in the estate, the mere fact of one brother being absent on service or for any other reason, and the home-staying brother being in possession for himself and as trustee for his absent brother, would not deprive the latter of his rights of inheritance, unless it be clearly shown that the possession of the brother staying at home was adverse to the absent brother. MUSSAMAT WOOZEERUN v. NOORUL JAN, 9 W.R. 98. [Appr., 13 W. R. F.B. 74.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(56) — Hindu Law—Joint family—Portions of family property in occupation of different members for convenience—Adverse possession—Limitation.—Where, from motives of convenience, the members of a joint Hindu family reside on different portions of the family property, one of the members taking charge of one shop to carry on trade there, and another taking charge of another with a similar object, any member cannot be allowed to plead adverse possession and limitation after the lapse of 12 years and exclude his brother from participating in the profits of the shop. SOOKH LALL BHOOWALA v. GOOLZAR BHOOWALA, 14 W.R. 228. [Dist., 22 W.R. 9; R., 10 B.H.C. 444.]

(57) — Adverse possession—Limitation.—The possession of one co-parcener is the possession of all, and is, therefore, not inconsistent with the rights of the other co-parceners. Limitation, while it cures the defect of title on the strength of which possession was maintained, cannot operate to give the holder a title which he never claimed. A person holding in the character of mortgagee may, by dint of possession, render unimpeachable a title which at the outset was defective; but his acquired right is co-extensive with his claim, and he cannot on the strength of it go further and claim to be absolute proprietor. If a man claims an estate for life and that is consistent with his possession, the law will not, upon the mere fact of possession, adjudge him to be in under a higher right of a larger estate. RAJYALAKSHMI v. SURYANARAYANA, 3 M.L.J. 100.

(58) — Adverse possession—Joint family against individual members.—Where lands, granted to one of the two brothers of a joint Hindu family, were held by the joint family adversely to the individual interest of the grantee and his son, held that the grantee and his son had lost their rights. VASUDEVA PADHI KHADANGA GARU v. MAGUNI DEVAN BAKSHI MAHAPATRULU GARU, 24 M. 387 = 6 C.W.N. 545 = 28 I.A. 81 = 3 Bom. L.R. 303, P.C. = 7 Sar. 819. [R., 6 Bom. L.R. 925.]

(59) — Hindu Law—Adverse possession of a Hindu woman—Nature of adverseness—Presumption.—Where the possession of a Hindu woman is said to be adverse to the widow of her deceased son, the last male owner, the question to be decided would be what was her animus possidendi? Did she assert an absolute title in herself or did she claim to hold as the heiress of her son? The latter would be the ordinary presumption in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, and if she held as heiress of her son, on her death the person entitled to succeed would be her son's heir and not the heirs to her stridhanam property. In re PRATTIPATI SESHAYYA, 11 M.L.T. 261 = M.W.N. 1912, 515 = 15 Ind. Cas. 404.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(60) — Adverse possession by a Hindu widow—Possession of mother to be reckoned as possession on behalf of her son when son incompetent to manage his affairs—Reversioner not entitled to sue for possession during the lifetime of the mother.—One, G, the owner of certain property, died in 1869 leaving a widow S, a son R, and daughter-in-law, R's wife; R, and his wife died in 1874. It was found from the evidence that, after the death of G, S took possession of the property inasmuch as R, was a fool and unable to manage his affairs. He was unfit to work and therefore, lived with his mother and did nothing. Held, that, under the circumstances, it should be presumed that S intended to hold the property on behalf of her son, and that she could not be considered to have held adversely to her son. Held, further, that in any case because S, had remained in possession only for five years after the death of G, and had subsequently on the death of her son R, come to possess the property as mother, her possession could not be considered adverse to the reversioner, since the reversioner could not sue for the possession of the property as long as she was alive. BHAGWANDAS v. ISHAR DAT, 11 Ind. Cas. 93.

(61) — Hindu Law—Alienation by widow—Suit by remote reversioner when maintainable.—A suit to set aside an alienation alleged to have been illegally made by a Hindu widow of property belonging to her deceased husband, should be brought by the next reversioner and not by a remote one. But the latter has been allowed to maintain such a suit, when the nearer reversioner was acting fraudulently and in collusion with the widow and the purchaser from her or where he has disclaimed or renounced all right, or has consented to and authorised the suit. In a suit by a remote reversioner, the nearer reversioners, having been made parties to the suit by order of the Court, represented that they had consented to forego their rights in favour of the plaintiff, such suit may be considered as one brought by a person who, by the express declaration of those having prior right, was entitled to maintain it by reason of their consent and of their relinquishment in the plaintiff's favour of their right of suit. Where the widow's possession was prima facie not adverse, such possession must be presumed, unless otherwise shown to have continued a possession of the same character as formerly. AMMUR SINGH v. MURDUN SINGH, 2 N.W.P. 31.

(62) — Act VIII of 1859, s. 2—Res judicata—Reversioner suing in representative character

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

and in his own right.—A Hindu widow who had transferred to her granddaughter by agreement certain land of which she was a life-tenant, subsequently sued to have that agreement set aside. She died while the suit was in the appellate stage, and the next reversioner, one D, was allowed to carry on the appeal on her behalf on his own application to the Court to be made kaem-mukam of the widow. The agreement was upheld in its integrity and the possession of the grantee was maintained. D, as next reversioner, afterwards sued to recover possession of that very land. Held that D was not bound to disclose his whole claim when he represented the widow, as the causes of action in the two cases were very different; that s. 2 of Act VIII of 1859 was no bar to the subsequent suit as the reversioner was not in a position to introduce any pleas arising out of a new state of facts not existing or before the Court, when the former suit was instituted and decided in the first Court. DEORANEL KOOWAR v. MUSSAMUT INDURJEET KOOWAR, 12 W.R. 234. (10 W.R. 426=2 B.L.R. A.C. 102, D.)

(63)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 2—Decree for possession of land but not executed—Second suit for possession—Fresh cause of action—Adverse possession.—Plaintiffs had previously sued for the land, the subject-matter of the present suit then in possession of the defendants and got a decree on the ground that the land was theirs and the possession of the defendants permissive. It appeared that the decree was never executed. One act of positive possession since the decree was set forth by the plaintiffs to the effect that they had removed the wood of one of the trees that fell down. But they failed to establish this allegation and it was held that to let a second suit be brought on identically the same grounds is contrary to s. 2 of the Code, in the absence of a distinct and fresh cause of action. BUTA v. JOWAHIRA, 56 P.R. 1875. [R., 93 P.R. 1879.]

(64)—Possession adverse to plaintiff for over 12 years—Interruption by dispossession of defendant under decree of Civil Court in favour of third person effect of, on time for adverse, possession running in favour of defendant.—Plaintiffs were out of possession of the land since 1881 and the defendant had been in possession of it adversely to plaintiff, from 1881 up to the time of the present suit in October 1895 with the exception of a period of three years (from April 1892 to April 1895) during which he was ousted from possession in execution of a decree obtained against him by a third person. On the decree, however, being reversed by the High Court defendant was restored to possession in April 1895. Held that the plaintiffs' suit was barred by the adverse possession of the defendant. The wrongful possession that had been given by the Court to a third person did not (after such possession had been restored to the defendant) during its continuance, prevent the statute of limitation from running against the plaintiffs and in favour of the defendant. The erroneous decree against the defendant and his ouster from possession thereunder could not prejudice the defendant or put him in a worse position than he would have occupied, had the erroneous decree not been passed at all. DAGDU v. KALU, 22 B. 733. [R., 28 M. 338.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(65)—Possession of mother as guardian of her minor son after death of last male owner, nature of.—Where the properties of the last male owner vested, on his death, in his son, who was a minor at the time under the custody and guardianship of his mother, her possession of the properties must be taken to have been on behalf of the minor, and not adverse to him. Possession is never to be considered adverse, if it can be referred to any lawful authority. SREERAMULU NAIDU v. ANDALAMMAL, 17 M.L.J. 14=30 M. 145.

(66)—Actual or constructive—When time runs—Joint holding—Absence of one co-sharer—Long silence and inaction—Abandonment—Adverse possession—Arts. 142, 144, Limitation Act (1877).—Possession may be either actual or constructive. While either kind of possession exists in the proprietor, time does not begin to run against him. Where one co-sharer holds the share of another co-sharer, who had simply ceased to hold actual possession, the holder's possession implies constructive possession by the proprietor. Where the absentee has "abandoned" possession, the co-sharer's possession of the renouncing person's share will not be possession on behalf of the latter. Long silence and inaction may be evidence of abandonment. Where A sued to recover certain shares in a joint holding from B, who was absent and whose ancestors also had been absent from the village for a very long period, and it was alleged that B returned to the village lately and took possession of the shares, the right to which had become extinct and lapsed in favour of A through long dispossession, held, the long silence and inaction of B and his ancestors, may be evidence of abandonment, and the possession of B and his ancestors ceased when they left the village and ceased to take share of the profits, and that, the rights of B having become extinct at the end of the twelve years, A had a right to sue for possession. SHAHZADA SURAYA JAH v. AZIM, 29 P.R. 1910=17 P.W. R. 1910=5 Ind. Cas. 888=61 P.L.R. 1910.

(67)—Title by long possession—Possession for 12 years—Unexecuted decree—Limitation.—A obtained a decree for possession against B, and notwithstanding that decree, B remained in wholly undisturbed possession for 12 years, without acknowledgment of A's title; B was considered as having acquired a good title by his 12 years' possession, A's decree obtained intermediately having become null and void under s. 20. Act XIV of 1859. The principle adopted in this country appears to be that the period of possession which is sufficient to bar the remedy is also sufficient to transfer the right. AMIRUNNISSA BEGUM v. UMAR KHAN, 8 B. L.R. 540 = 17 W.R. 119. [F., 3 C. 224; R., 1 B. 592, 25 A. 35 = A.W.N. 1902, 175.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(68)—One of several reversioners taking possession of whole property—Suit by other reversioners for their shares after twelve years—Limitation.—In 1871 there was a litigation between two brothers and widows of two brothers predeceased, with the result that the widows were given their husbands' shares to be held for life for their maintenance, and that these shares were to pass to the two surviving brothers upon the death of the widows in equal shares. Upon the death of the widows one of the two brothers got into exclusive possession of the shares allotted to the widows: Held, that this title became adverse to the other brother from the death of the widows, and the suit by the other brother beyond twelve years of the widow's death was barred by time. GANPAT SINGH v. MUS-SAI SINGH, 6 Ind. Cas. 695.

(69)—Suit for possession—Limitation—Adverse possession—Limitation Act, art. 144.—Where, in a suit for possession, the question of limitation is raised, the point to be considered is, not whether the plaintiff has been in possession for twelve years before the institution of the suit, but whether the defendant had been in adverse possession against the plaintiff. It must be shown by the defendant that he has had possession of the property adversely to the plaintiff for twelve years. MOTAR v. DIPPA, A.W.N. 1882, 40.

(70)—Suit to recover property inherited from father—Adverse possession—Life estate—Limitation.—In a suit brought by A against S to recover certain property which she inherited from her father and which had been taken possession of by S during the lifetime of A's mother, where it was not shown that A's mother was in possession at any time within twelve years before the suit, and the death of A's mother had taken place within twelve years before suit, held that, until the death of her mother, A's alleged cause of action did not arise, and that her right not being derived from or through her mother, the period of limitation could not be considered as having been running against her from the commencement of the adverse possession in her mother's lifetime, and that the suit was therefore not barred. C. ATCHAMMA v. SUBBARAYUDU, 5 M.H.C. 428. [R., 13 M. 512.]

(71)—Reg. V of 1827, s. 1—Limitation Acts XIV of 1859 and IX of 1871—Adverse possession—Remedy—Title.—S. 1 of Reg. V of 1827 required 30 years' adverse possession of another, to extinguish the proprietor's title. Limitation Act XIV of 1859, not affecting the Regulation, barred the remedy of the proprietor without extinguishing his title, in case of adverse possession of another for 12 years. So, if the latter happened to lose his possession and the proprietor to regain it, unless he sued within 6 months under s. 15 of the Act, he must fail in any suit to eject the proprietor (10 B.H.C. 290, R.)—Limitation Act IX of 1871 expressly repealing the Regulation (s. 2), not only barred the remedy of the proprietor, but also extinguished his title (s. 29) on adverse possession by another for 12 years. RAMBHAT AGNIHOTRI v. THE COLLECTOR OF POONA, 1 B. 592. (1 M. H.C. 85, 89, R.) [R., 14 B. 222, 15 B. 299, 21 A. 204.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(72)—Limitation Act before 1871, on adverse possession binding the female heir.—Under the law of limitation, as it stood before Act IX of 1871, came into operation, an adverse possession, which bound the female heir, bound also the reversioner; and the latter got no fresh cause of action in regard to the estate of the ancestor at the time of the death of the female heir. MOHIMA CHUNDER ROY CHOWDHURI v. GOURI NATH DEY CHOWDHURI, 2 C.W.N. 162.

(73)—Possession taken with permission of minor, under agreement excluding minor's adverse possession—Future rights—Limitation.—The plaintiff, proprietor of half the well and lands was 15 years of age in 1857 when he was sued by the fathers of the present defendants, the proprietors of the other half of the well, for revenue due on the plaintiff's moiety of the well. The parties entered into a raznamah to the effect that the fathers of the defendants abandoned their claim on the plaintiff for the money in consideration of his having given them his share in the well and land. The above agreement was ratified by the Deputy Commissioner on 26th August, 1857. Held that as it was of the essence of the agreement that defendants should henceforth be the sole owners of the half of the well that had theretofore belonged to the plaintiff, the possession of the defendants became adverse to the plaintiff on the date of the agreement. This being so the plaintiff had 12 years under cl. 12, s. 1, Act XIV of 1859, within which to bring his suit for the property. As the 12 years had expired before the suit was instituted, it was held that it was barred. PATHAN v. SHEIKH AHMED, 34 P.R. 1872.

(74)—Limitation—Adverse possession ripening into ownership—Nature of—Constructive possession—Wrong doer—Dispossession—Adverse possession of part not adverse possession of the whole—Evidence Act, s. 114.—(a) The adverse possession, which under the Limitation Act ripens into ownership, must be actual, exclusive, and continuous for more than 12 years. (b) A trespasser is not entitled to have constructive possession presumed in his favour. (c) A trespasser by virtue of an adverse possession of a part cannot be deemed to be in adverse possession of the whole. (d) A plaintiff, who bases his title on adverse possession for more than 12 years, must prove an actual, continuous, exclusive and adverse possession for more than 12 years. The law relating to presumptions is not intended to enable a wrong-doer to turn it to his own account, hence a wrong-doer cannot be allowed to call in aid the provisions of s. 114, Evidence Act. ZAHURAN v. RAHIM, 8 A.L.J. 247.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(75)—Possession under erroneous order—Limitation.—Possession under an erroneous order of a Magistrate does not constitute such bona fide possession as will prevent the law of limitation from running. MOOKTAKASHI v. LUCKEE, 2 Ind. Jur. O S. 4.

(76) Immoveable property—Adverse possession—Rights, transfer of—Limitation—Lease—Compromise by lessee—Lessor no party—Validity of compromise—Cause of action—Ijaradar—Dispossession—Zemindar, how affected.—A new period of limitation cannot begin to run by the mere circumstance of a transfer of rights or supposed rights, after adverse possession of immoveable property for a period of more than 12 years. [Not F, 29 A. 593=4 A.L.J. 726=A.W.N. 1907, 185; F, 9 C.L.R. 347.] A lessor is not bound, by a compromise by which the lessee relinquished the land and to which the lessor was no party. Such a compromise does not create any cause of action on the part of the lessor or any person holding under him. The zemindar or owner is bound by the dispossession suffered by his ijaradar. BRINDABUN CHUNDER SIRCAR CHOWDHRY v. BHOPAL CHUNDER BISWAS, 17 W.R. 377.

(77)—Reg. XI of 1825—Temporary lease—Dispossession—Limitation—Permanent Settlement—Alluvion.—Limitation would not count against a party during the term that he was out of possession under temporary leases. Where a lessee receives a malikana allowance from the Revenue authorities during the period he held these lands on lease, such receipt would have the effect of not barring the right to a Permanent Settlement of any party, who is entitled thereto under the law relating to alluvial lands. Regulation XI of 1825 only recognises one mode of determining the claims of parties to the accreted lands. That mode is to regard the land as the right of that party to whose estate the land is an accretion. CALLY CHUNDER CHOWDHRY v. MONIKURNIKA CHOWDHRAIN, W.R. 1834, 149. [F, 18 W.R. 198, Cons, 22 W.R. 520.]

(78)—Limitation Act XV of 1877, sch. II, art. 144—Adverse possession, circumstances and acts necessary to constitute.—Where the defendant who was the brother of the plaintiff happened to be using as a backyard a few square yards of vacant house site land, to which plaintiff had title, it was held there was nothing under the circumstances, sufficient to constitute adverse possession by the defendant as against the plaintiff, especially because the parties were brothers and the land in question was situate between their houses. CHOCKA LINGA NAICKEN v. MUTHUSAMI NAICKEN, 21 M. 53.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(79)—Sales in execution of decree pendente lite—Decree against judgment-debtor void against purchaser—Purchasers at sheriff's sales—Execution creditor—Suppression of mortgage—Limitation.—Where, pending a suit, the property of a defendant is seized and sold in execution of a decree against him, the purchaser has a right to be heard for the protection of his own interest, and will not be bound by the decree against the judgment-debtor. In fact, the Court will treat it as inoperative and void against him. Purchasers at sheriff's sales cannot be bound to take notice of a suit against the execution-debtor in a Court which had no jurisdiction over them, or over or in respect of the lands purchased by them which were the subject-matter of the suit, except by consent of the execution-debtor. The consent of the execution-debtor, on which the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court was founded, cannot enlarge the jurisdiction and powers of the Court, or the operation of its decree as regards third parties. An execution creditor who, in the execution department, by petition suppresses all mention of his own mortgage, and probably thereby induces the defendants to become purchasers, and who, as attorney or representative of the execution debtor gets the benefit of the defendants' purchase-money, has no pretence whatever for claiming any allowance for the time occupied by him in the prosecution of the suit for foreclosure of the mortgages the existence of which he had concealed from the defendants. SREEMUTY ANUND MOYEE DOSSEE v. DHURUNDRO CHUNDER MOOKERJEE, 1 W.R. 103. [Affirmed, 8 B.L.R. 122, P.C.=14 M. I. A. 101=16 W.R. P.C. 19.]

(80)—Possession for a brief period under decree—Limitation.—The plaintiff had been out of possession for a long time, but obtained a brief possession for a few weeks under a decree, which was subsequently set aside or modified so as to give it, no effect against persons, who were, in fact, the persons in possession at the time; held, that such brief possession of the plaintiff would not entitle him to reckon limitation from that time. DEGUMBERY DOSSEE v. RAJAH ANNUNDNATH ROY, W.R. 1864, 43. [R, 28 M. 338.]

(81)—Permissive possession, conversion of—Cause of action—Limitation Act XIV of 1859.—Possession of land by a party which was permissive in its origin, when it is converted into an adverse one by his setting up an absolute title to it and suing the tenant for rent, becomes wrongful and gives a cause of action to the owner of the land. And the Limitation Act (XIV of 1859) never begins to run until there has been a cause of action. KHURUCKDHARE SINGH v. REWAT LALL SINGH, 12 W.R. 167. (8 W.R. 385, D.) [F, 6 C. 311=1 C.L.R. 188].

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(82)—Limitation Act XV of 1877, arts. 142, 144 — Dispossession — Adverse possession — Animus revertendi.—Plaintiffs, descendants of certain co-sharers in a joint khata, who have been absent for 80 years in 1865 and 107 years in 1891-92, sued in 1906 to recover their shares. Defendants pleaded adverse possession. In 1877, the predecessors in title of the plaintiffs sued the defendants for a declaration that they were co-sharers of the land in dispute, the cause of action alleged being that they, the defendants, hoodwinked the Patwari by telling him that defendants were the owners of the land, that plaintiffs had no share and that their names should be kept out of the girdawaris. Defendants were in exclusive possession since then. Held, that the conduct of the defendants, which led to the suit of 1877, amounted to an overt act of dispossession and denial of title, and so set limitation running, and that the defendants' possession had become adverse, though ordinarily the possession of one sharer is the possession of his co-sharers. (23 P.R. 1890, P.C., 109 P.R. 1892, 30 P.R. 1901, 118 P.R. 1893, 189 P.R. 1889, R.). Where plaintiffs, who were absent for over a century, and who did not take any share in the management of the land or participate in the profits, though they lived very near, their reviving antiquated claims in 1877 is not even prima facie proof that all the 100 years, they or their fathers cherished any animus revertendi. NAND SINGH v. NATHA SINGH AND JHANDA SINGH, 86 P.R. 1909 = 134 P.W. R. 1909 = 3 Ind. Cas 611.

(83)—Limitation—Possession adverse to real owner—Effect of such possession for more than twelve years as against true owner.—Plaintiff had been transported for life. In the year after his conviction, his wife executed an usufructuary mortgage in favour of her brother. A few years later, a similar mortgage was executed by her in favour of a third person, the consideration being the promise on the latter's part to pay off the former mortgage and an additional advance then made. Within twelve years of institution of the present suit, the said third person assigned his mortgage to the defendant. Plaintiff's suit was for possession of the property on payment of the additional advance stated above. Plaintiff contended that the usufructuary mortgage made by his wife was made without authority and was not binding on him. Held, that, as before the institution of the suit, more than twelve years' possession had been enjoyed under the first instrument executed by the wife, the plaintiff's right to impeach it was lost and the suit was barred by limitation. MAMMUNHI v. GRI SHAM BHATTA, 7 M.L.J. 11.

(84)—Limitation — Service inam — Adverse possession by one branch of grantee's family to the exclusion of another branch—Possession for more than twelve years—Bar of limitation.—Suit for partition—The suit lands and certain other lands were originally granted as mirasi inam attached to the office of kurnam of a village. At the commencement of the last century, the duties of the office of kurnam were discharged by two persons, the descendants of the original grantee. The inam lands were also divided and held in shares by the said persons. After their death, the lands were held and the duties performed by their representatives. The working kurnam of one branch having died, no steps were taken by the Zemindar to appoint a successor to him, but the lands in his possession continued to be enjoyed by his legal representatives as private property without doing any service whatever. After the lapse of several years, the plaintiff, the descendant of the other branch, sued for partition and possession of lands enjoyed by the defendant as his private property. Held that, as the Zemindar made no attempt to re-attach the lands to the office of kurnam, the possession of the lands became adverse both to the Zemindar and to the co-kurnam on the death of the last working kurnam of that branch, and the suit, having been brought more than twelve years after the death of the last working kurnam, was barred by limitation. VENKATARAZU v. NARAYANAMURTHY, 7 M.L.J. 54.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(85)—Alienation by qualified owner—Adverse possession — Limitation—Each of several widows or daughters represents the inheritance, so that the alienation by one renders the possession of the alienee after her death adverse to the others, and if they neglect to sue for twelve years and become barred, the reversioner is also barred. The principle appears to be that the possession is that of a trespasser against all persons representing the inheritance other than the alienor, when the possession is that of a trespasser against a Hindu widow who represents the inheritance; such possession is adverse not only against her but also against the reversion. RAGAVA v. SAMBASIVA, 1 M.L.J. 392.

(86)—Limitation Act, sch. II, art. 144—Limitation—Lease—Possession derived from a lessee not necessarily adverse as against the lessor.—Held that possession acquired during the continuance of a lease will not ordinarily be adverse possession as against the lessor, until at any rate, such time as the lessor becomes entitled to possession. THAMMAN PANDE v. THE MAHARAJA OF VIZIANAGRAM, A.W.N. 1907, 185 = 4 A.L.J. 726 = 29 A. 593. (27 A. 395, 13 C. 101, 10 W.R. 15, 9 C. 367, 10 C. 577, 23 C. 863, F.; 4 C. 327, R.; 14 W.R. 395, 17 W.R. 377, 9 C.L.R. 347, 26 C. 460, Not F.)

(87)—Adverse possession—Suit for possession on basis of purchase in Court auction—Symbolical possession—Limitation.—Plaintiff purchased the jenn right of first defendant in the suit property in a Court auction. In execution thereof he was resisted by third defendant's predecessor-in-title and the Court held that he was not entitled to actual possession. He brought the present suit more than twelve years thereafter. Held, that the suit was barred. In re RAMA MOOTHAN, 9 Ind. Cas. 271 = 9 M.L.T. 359.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(88)—Adverse possession—Limitation Act XIV of 1859; Act IX of 1871; Act XV of 1877.—When a widow who has inherited certain property from her husband is dispossessed of the property on the ground that the property was transferred to the husband conditionally and that there should be a retransfer to the grantor, the resumption by the grantor would be an act done in enforcement of an adverse title against the widow and the reversioner under Act XIV of 1859. If the reversioner's title were barred by Act XIV of 1859, it could not be revived either by Act IX of 1871 or Act XV of 1877 under which the death of the female on whose death the reversioner becomes an estate vested in possession is the date from which time begins to run against the right of the reversioner to sue. RAJAH OF BOBBILI v. BHANAYAMMI, 4 M.L.J. 192.

(89)—Jungle waste lands, not incapable of possession—Plea of limitation by adverse possession—Plaintiff's cause of action, commencement of.—On remand by the High Court for trying the point of limitation, the Sudder Ameen found that the land in dispute had been lying waste for 40 or 50 years and had not been in the possession of the plaintiff, and his suit was therefore barred. The High Court was of opinion that the above conclusion was not warranted upon the finding, because though the land may be a jungle it may still have been in the possession of some one. As a fact, however, the jungle in this case was not in the possession of either the plaintiff or the defendant as ascertained and reported by the local Amin. Plaintiff was thus not barred by any adverse possession; and inasmuch as, until there was adverse possession, there was no cause of action, the suit would not be barred unless it was instituted beyond twelve years from the date when adverse possession was taken, and, since it was clear that no acts of ownership were exercised by either party in respect to the land, the subject of this litigation, until a very recent period preceding the institution of this suit, there was no ground for holding that the plaintiff's remedy was lost by his failure to sue within twelve years from the date of his cause of action. ESHAN CHUNDER RAI v. KALI COOMAR RAI, 2 W.R. 135.

(90)—Lease by joint co-sharers—Suit between lessees—Adverse possession—Limitation.—Where, in a suit between the lessees of two out of four joint co-sharers, the plaintiff and the defendant both assert the exclusive holdings of their respective lessors, held that the defendants' possession and enjoyment of the lands in dispute for 12 years prior to suit, if proved, would bar the claim of the plaintiff to hold under one of the joint co-sharers. JUNGLEE SHIKDAR v. BAMASOONDREE, 1 W.R. 202.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(91)—Beng. Reg. III of 1793, s. 15—Beng. Reg. II of 1805—Question of title—Fraud—Limitation.—The Bengal Regulations of Limitation (Reg. III of 1793, s. 15 and Reg. II of 1805) held conclusive, in a question of title, where adverse possession had been held for more than twelve years and the fraud alleged, as taking the case out of the Regulations, was not proved. RAJAH DUNDIAL SINGH v. RAJAH ANUND KISHWAR SINGH, 1 M.I.A. 482 = 1 Sar. 142.

(92)—Adverse possession—Easement—Limitation Act, 1877, s. 26.—User as a right of way up the ladder, one end of which rests on the property of another and along the platform which overhangs it.—Held, that a user for less than twenty, but for more than twelve, years, as a right of way up a certain ladder, one end of which rests on the land of the defendant and along the platform which overhangs it, was not sufficient to establish a right of easement or title by adverse possession. SHARAF HUSAIN v. ROM KISHEN DAS, 68 P.R. 1899 = 5 P.L.R. 1900, Notes of Judgments. (3 B. 174, F.)

(93)—Limitation Act, art. 144—Suit for possession of immoveable property—Adverse possession—Burden of proof.—In a suit for possession of his share of certain immoveable property left by the plaintiff's paternal grandfather, the plaintiff being incompetent to inherit under his personal law, as his father predeceased his grandfather, based his claim on a testamentary document, under which his title, together with that of the defendants, came into being more than a quarter of a century before suit, but did not prove any possession, either actual or constructive. Held, that the burden of proving that his claim was not time barred being on him, and he having failed to prove joint possession, the suit was barred under art. 144, Limitation Act. DIN MUHAMMAD v. MEER BAKHSI, 30 P.R. 1902. (116 P.R. 1900, 97 P.R. 1890, R.)

(94)—Limitation—Adverse possession—Possession granted for during prohibit service—Cessation of prohibit service—Whether renders possession adverse.—Where the defendant was let into possession of the suit land on condition of his doing prohibit service, and the defendant pleaded that he ceased to perform prohibit service, from a period to twelve years before the institution of the suit. Held, that the mere cessation of service was not sufficient to make defendant's possession adverse. N. S. NARAYANASAMI AIYER v. VATHIAR RAMA AIYER, 7 Ind. Cas. 252 = 8 M.L.T. 280. (23 B. 604, R.)

(95)—Limitation—Adverse possession—Necessity for finding whether defendant's possession was adverse or derivative—Failure to account for origin of possession—Legal presumption—Derivative possession.—In a suit for possession of property, where defendant sets up the plea of adverse possession, it is not enough for the Court simply to find against defendant and for plaintiff. The Court should find how long the defendant was in possession, and, if for over the statutory period, whether the possession was only derivative. Without a definite conclusion on these points, no finding should be recorded on the question of limitation in plaintiff's favour. The mere failure of the defendant to prove the origin of his possession does not give rise to a legal presumption that his possession was only derivative. It is a question in each case on the facts, whether, having failed to prove the origin of his possession, the defendant may be deemed to have come into possession under the plaintiff or under persons who got into possession from the plaintiff. ERANHIKKAL KUNHIMMACHA v. THOPPIL PUDIA VITIL, 8 Ind. Cas. 596.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(96)—Self-acquisition by member of tarwad—Adverse possession—Limitation.—Though the self-acquired properties of members of a tarwad become merged in the tarwad property, on their death, when a member, who is in possession of such properties, sets up an independent title to them, his possession becomes hostile to the tarwad and limitation begins to run from that time. KANARA PANIKER v. RYRAPPA PANIKER, 3 M. 212. [R., 32 M. 351, 19 M.L.J. 350.]

(97)—Landlord and tenant—Non-payment of rent—Limitation.—Where proof exists of the relation of landlord and tenant, the tenants in possession must show that this relation was put an end to at such a period anterior to the suit, as would entitle him to rely on his possession for 12 years as adverse to the landlord. [R., 23 B. 602.] The mere non-payment of rent to landlords, for over 12 years, by the tenants does not destroy the rights of the landlords as such. TIRUCHURNA PERUMAL NADEN v. SANGUVIEN, 3 M. 118. [R., 23 B. 602, U.B.R. 1892-1896, Vol. 11, 363, 15 C.P.L.R. 9]

(98)—Landlord and tenant—Suit for possession—Limitation—Adverse possession.—In a suit for possession of land brought against a tenant who is really a trespasser, the defendant merely by alleging tenancy in his written statement, does not preclude himself from setting up the defence of the law of limitation. DINOMONEY DABEA v. DOORGAPERSAD MOZOOMDAR, 12 B.L.R. 274 = 21 W.R. 70. [F., 7 B. 96, 8 C.L.J. 557; Rel. on, 7 C.W.N. 294; Expl., 9 M. 244; R., 27 B. 515 = 5 Bom. L.R. 274; D., 31 C. 397.]

(99)—Landlord and tenant—Limitation—Adverse possession—Estoppel.—In a suit for ejectment and mesne-profits on the allegation that the term of the temporary leases under which defendants had been in possession had expired, where defendants pleaded that they had held the land in mokarrari for generations and that an ancestor of the plaintiffs had confirmed their mokuriare rights by the grant of a pottah. Held that, if defendants could prove that they had held for more than 12 years previous to the institution of the suit under a mokurrari tenure to the knowledge of the plaintiffs, the suit would be barred by limitation. The judgment of a Moonsiff's Court (confirmed by the lower appellate Court) in a suit for arrears of rent, as to the validity of the same leases which plaintiff there set up, and of the same mokurrari pottah which defendants then brought into Court, was not conclusive evidence in the present case; for though an inferior Court has jurisdiction to try every matter which is necessary for the adjudication of the point in contest before it, its decision is not final as regards other facts not in contest before it. TAKAETNI GOWRA KUMARI v. THE BENGAL COAL COMPANY, 12 B.L.R. 282, Note = 13 W.R. 129. [Affirmed, 19 W.R. 252; R., 14 C. 323; D., 7 B. 96.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(100)—Landlord and tenant—Limitation—Adverse possession.—Where a landlord seeks to obtain khas possession, the tenant is at liberty to plead limitation in bar, if he has been in occupation under a title like that of a by-howladar for a period of more than 12 years. RUTTONMONEE DABEE v. KOMALAKANTH MOOKERJEE, 12 B.L.R. 283, Note = 12 W.R. 364. [D., 18 W.R. 443.]

(101)—Suit by landlord against tenant—Limitation.—The possession of a tenant cannot be adverse to the title of his landlord. So, limitation cannot be applied in a suit by the landlord against the tenant. SHRISTEEDHUR MOZOOMDAR CHOWDHREE v. KALIKANT, 1 W.R. 171. [R., 7 W.R. 395.]

(102)—Claims hostile to each other—Landlord and tenant—Receipt of rent—Creation of relationship—Dispossession.—Possession of property by one party cannot be adverse to another within the meaning of the Limitation Act, unless the claims of the parties are hostile and adverse to each other. (12 C. 484, F.) Acceptance of rent by the landlord creates the relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties, and until that relationship is legally determined, the landlord cannot dispossess the tenant. CHAITAN SINGH v. SADHARI MONIM, 5 C.L.J. 62. [R., 36 C. 675 = 9 C.L.J. 523; D., 8 C.L.J. 557.]

(103)—Landlord and tenant—Possession with tenant holding on without paying rent, not adverse possession.—In this suit brought for possession of land claimed by the plaintiff, as owner, the District Judge, having found that the plaintiff occupied the property as tenant of the defendants until 1865, was wrong in holding that such possession subsequent to 1865 became adverse and that the defendants should have sued in ejectment before the end of 1877, which they did not do, and that therefore in 1878 plaintiff acquired ownership by possession. Mere non-payment of rent for over twelve years could not constitute adverse possession sufficient to give the plaintiff a title

Possession—continued.— 2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

as against the defendants, his landlords. TATIA v. SADASHIV, 7 B. 40. [R., 18 B. 256, U. B. R. 1892-1896, Vol. II, 363, 22 B. 893, 7 C.L.J. 202, 7 C.L.J. 615.]

(104)—Rent suit—Failure of plaintiff—Subsequent suit for confirmation of possession—Possession of tenant—Possession of landlord.—The failure of the landlord in a rent suit is no bar to the maintenance of a subsequent action for confirmation of possession. The possession of a tenant is, in the eye of law, the possession of his landlord. GHRISH CHUNDER ROY v. BHUGWAN CHUNDER ROY, 13 W.R. 191.

(105)—Omission to obtain registration of title—Reg. XXVI of 1802—Rent Recovery Act VIII of 1865 (Madras)—Omission to collect rent—Adverse possession—Limitation.—Neither the fact that an inamdar had not obtained registration of title under Reg. XXVI of 1802, under the registered landlord, and therefore could not enforce acceptance of patta, nor the fact that he did not collect rent for more than twelve years, could make the possession of the tenant adverse to the landlord. Registration gives the inamdar a complete title on which to enforce acceptance of patta. SRINIVASARAGAVA AIYANGAR v. MUTTUSAMI PADEYACHI, 20 M. 6.

(106)—Adverse possession—Holding under intermediate tenant—Cause of action—The possession of a person, A, holding land under plaintiff's tenant is not adverse to plaintiff. Whether there was or was not an intermediate tenant, or whether the rent was paid to the plaintiff himself, the presumption is, until the contrary is shown, that so long as A holds, he continues to hold, as he had before, under the plaintiff. If in setting up a title to any portion of the property, he obtains a decree against the plaintiffs alleged tenant, this gives the plaintiff a cause of action against. BUNGS-RAJ BHOOKTA GHATWAL v. MOHUNT MEGH LALL POOREE GOSSAIN, 20 W.R. 398.

(107)—Suit to recover land under lease—Defendant pleading mahtran, tenure, competent to set up limitation by adverse possession—In this suit to recover land under a lease, the defendant claimed the land as his mahtran tenure, on which he had planted an orchard and built a house. He likewise pleaded an adverse possession of more than 12 years. Reversing the decision of the first Court, the Principal Sudder Ameen held that the mere taking of possession of deserted land and planting a few trees there did not give any right to plead limitation, and that the plaintiff's title was good, whilst the defendant's was not established. The High Court reversed the above decision of the lower appellate Court on the ground that the defendant, as a hostile claimant alleging a proprietary right, and endeavouring to prove it, would, by a twelve years' occupation, become entitled to set up a plea of limitation. OOPENDRONATH ROY v. KALEE CHURN ROY, 8 W.R. 394.

Possession—continued.— 2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(108)—Right of occupancy—Land liable to assessment—Abandonment—Occupation by landlord—Lease.—Where the occupants of certain jummai homestead land, declared liable to assessment, abandoned it owing to certain criminal proceedings, and the land becoming vacant, came into the khas possession of the landlord who leased it out to others who held possession paying rent for more than twelve years and were then ousted by the original occupants who claimed the land rent free, held in a suit by the lessees to recover the land, that they were entitled to recover. MONEEROOD-DEEN MOJOOMDAR v. PARBUTTY CHURN GHOSE, 15 W.R. 121.

(109)—Lease for tenant's life—Possession by tenant's heirs after his death—Nature of possession—Suit by landlord to recover possession—Limitation.—The suit land was leased to X in 1840 for his life. After his death in 1871, his heirs continued to be in possession of the land, but they did not pay any rent to the landlord, or obtain a fresh lease of the land from him. In a suit brought in 1888 by the landlord to eject the defendants, the latter pleaded limitation. Held that the possession of the defendants after the death of the life tenant, the original lessee, was not that of trespassers, though they did not occupy the land as tenants. Their possession was only permissive and not adverse until they expressly set up a title of ownership in the property. This they had not done in this case and so the claim was not barred. KRISHNAJI RAMACHANDRA v. ANTAJI PANDURANG, 18 B. 256 [Overruled, 22 B. 893; F., 24 B. 504; R., 20 B. 759, U.B. R. 1892-1896, Vol. II, 363; D., 31 M. 163=18 M.L.J. 26=3 M.L.T. 256.]

(110 & 111)—Miras lease—Suit for possession against Mirasdar—Limitation.—Where the defendant (mirasdar) pleads limitation to a suit for possession against him, held that, in computing the time, the period of possession by the lessor should not be added to the time during which the defendant had been holding under his miras lease, the latter period not being in continuation of the former. The holding of the proprietor is quite a different thing from the holding of the lessee. DHUN MONEE CHOWDHRAIN v. GOLAM KASOM, 23 W.R. 331.

(112)—Encroachment—Rent-free landholder.—A rent-free holder encroaching on adjoining land, and enjoying it rent free and adversely to zamindari right for more than twelve years; Held that he cannot be dispossessed of it, nor assessed with rent for it. BHAGOUTEE CHARUN v. BABOO SHIVA PERSHAD, 1 Agra Rev. 38.

(113)—Order of Magistrate set aside by Civil Court—Possession under, order of no avail against plea of limitation.—The order of the Magistrate that retained the plaintiff in the present suit in possession, was, with all its effects, extinguished by the decision of a subsequent civil suit instituted to set aside that order. That suit was to recover through the Civil Court possession on proof of title and that Court found that, not only had the party who had been victorious before the Magistrate no title, but that the title, as well as the possession of the other side had been clearly proved, both at and before the time of the Magistrate's order, which therefore was no proof in the present case of the plaintiff's possession in 1864. The High Court reversed the judgment of the Principal Sudder Ameen who held that the plaintiff had recovered possession by the Criminal Court and that therefore limitation did not apply and the Principal Sudder Ameen was directed to find whether there was any other evidence on the record whereby the plaintiff could escape from the plea of limitation. FIRINGEE SAHOO v. SHAM MANJHEE, 8 W.R. 373. [R., 28 M. 338.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(114)—Possession of tenant—Adverse possession—Payment of rent by tenant to stranger—Limitation.—In December 1853, certain lands were let by the plaintiff to B under a kabuliat, by the terms of which the lease expired in December 1863. In March 1875, less than twelve years from the expiration of such lease, the plaintiff brought a suit for possession against B and the talookdars of the estate of which the lands in dispute formed part. The latter alleged that the lakheraj title, of the plaintiff was invalid; that although no proceedings, as required by the rent law, had been taken to invalidate the plaintiff's title, they the talookdars, had resumed possession of the land by receiving the rents from B from 1859, and that the suit was barred by reason of their possession since that date. Held that the suit was not barred, inasmuch as nothing had occurred to determine the tenancy which existed between the plaintiff and B, and that the possession of the latter was in law the plaintiff's possession. PARBUTTI DASSEE v. RAM CHAND BHUTTACHARJEE, 3 C.L.R. 576.

(115)—By a tenant of his limited interest.—A partial interest in land may be lost as well as the whole interest. Though adverse possession for twelve years of a limited interest may be a good plea to a suit for ejectment, it is good only to the extent of that interest. The nature and effect of possession must depend upon the nature and extent of the rights asserted by the oral conduct or express declaration of the person relying on it. There can, therefore, be no acquisition by adverse possession of an absolute title when it is found that nothing but a limited interest has been asserted. YAMUNABAI v. DHONDI, 5 Bom. L.R. 186. [R., 2 C.L.J. 125.]

(116)—Landlord and tenant—Adverse decision under Act IV of 1840 against tenant—Zemindar how far bound.—Semle:—Where a Zemindar lets his estate in farm for a term of years, and so delegates the whole of his rights, privileges and immunities to another person, who thereupon becomes to that extent his representative, an adverse decision under Act IV of 1840, whether under s. 2 or s. 4 of the Act, to which the former had been a party, would be binding on the Zemindar. LEKHRAJ ROY v. THE COURT OF WARDS, 14 W.R. 395. [F., 9 C.L.R. 347; R., 4 A.L.J. 726 = A.W.N. 1907, 185 = 29 A. 593.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(117)—Possession by tenant—Character of tenure—Recital in decree.—Possession by a tenant does not in itself lead to any inference as to the character of the tenure; the fact of his having occupied the land and paid rent for 12 years and even for 20 years being equally consistent with his being a tenant-at-will, a farmer or a mokurruredar. Held, also, that the defendants would not be bound by the recital in a decree in a suit not between the parties to the present suit. SHIU DAYAL PURI v. THAKUR MAHABIR PRASAD, 2 B.L.R. App. 8 = 10 W.R. 477. [F., 3 B.L.R.A.C. 312 = 12 W.R. 217; R., 7 B.L.R. 211; D., 11 W.R. 465.]

(118)—Possession by tenant, when becomes adverse to landlord—Non-payment of rent, effect of.—Mere non-payment of rent by tenants for more than twelve years cannot by itself create any adverse title as against the landlord. In the absence of any assertion of a distinct and different claim by the tenants, the presumption will be that they have continued in possession as such, and, even where a person claiming under a permanent lease has been asserting an adverse title, limitation would not run unless he has done so to the knowledge of the landlord. GANGABAI v. KALAPA DARI MUKRYA, 9 B. 419. [F., 15 B. 704; R., 23 B. 602, 27 B. 43 = 4 Bom. L.R. 721, 5 Bom. L.R. 186, 27 B. 515, 8 O.C. 61; D., 18 B. 433, 22 B. 893.]

(119)—Possession of defendant alleged to be in tenant right—Burden of proof—Acknowledgment after limitation period—When it is not shown that the defendant's possession began as of a tenant and it is not proved that the plaintiff received any rent from the defendant during twelve years prior to the filing of the suit, the plaintiff's suit for possession must be dismissed; for, the defendant's possession must be presumed to be that of an owner and adverse to the plaintiff. Acknowledgment of plaintiff's title by writing, when made after the expiry of the period of limitation, or not signed by the defendant, does not save limitation. BEHARI v. SADHO MAL, 73 P.L.R. 1906

(120)—Landlord and tenant—House in abadi.—The fact that the tenant built a house in the abadi of a village and occupied it for over twelve years, is not sufficient to establish a title against a zamindar by adverse possession. JAIKISHAN SINGH v. MOTI CHAND, 3 A.L.J. 627 = A.W.N. 1906, 258. (1 A.L.J. 479, D.)

(121)—Decree establishing under-proprietary right of person, entitling him to sub-settlement

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

—Adverse possession—Act XV of 1877 (Limitation).—Where a decree of Court establishes the sub-proprietary right of a person, thereby entitling him either to a settlement or sub-settlement, it gives a start to adverse possession as against the whole world including any one claiming to be a taluqdar or superior proprietor of the same estate. The talukdar's suit, therefore, brought more than twelve years from the date of such decree, will be barred. IMDAD HUSAIN v. AZIZ-UN-NIZZA, 6 M.L.J. 43 P.C. = 23 C. 483 = 23 I.A. 8 = 6 Sar. 669.

(122)—Adverse possession against tenant where adverse to landlord—Tenant holding over when dispossessed—Right of landlord to sue trespasser—Limitation.—When there is a current lease, and the tenant is dispossessed by a third party, time does not commence to run against the landlord until the expiration of the lease. (9 C. 367, 13 C. 101, F.) But, when the lease has expired and the tenant is holding over with the landlord's consent, and the possession of such third party is adequate in continuity, in publicity and in extent so as to show that it is possession adverse to the landlord, the latter is not precluded from determining the tenancy and suing the trespasser in ejectment, and his right to sue will be barred after 12 years of such possession. KISAH-WAR NATH SAHAI DEV v. KALI SANKAR SAHAI, 10 C.W.N. 343. (4 C.W.N. 597, R.) [F., 2 Ind. Cas. 168]

(123)—Landlord and tenant—Adverse possession.—Where an ijaradar under one zemindar A has also some land under another zemindar B, his possession of A's land cannot afterwards be pleaded as adverse to A, unless it was brought to A's notice that there was a claim of adverse possession, and that the ijaradar was holding adversely to him under some one else. NOWAB SYUD AZIM ALI KHAN BAHADUR v. SURUSSUTTY DEBIA, 23 W.R. 93.

(124)—Ijara to putneedar—Omission to collect rent—Adverse possession.—A putneedar, as ijaradar under a lakherajdar, cannot, by omitting to collect rent, cause adverse possession to grow up on his part or his successors against the lakherajdar. DOOP SINGH ROY v. BINO-DE BEHAREE SHAHA, 20 W.R. 315.

(125)—Suit for possession by purchaser at mortgage-sale—Adverse possession by patnidar.—In a suit for khas possession of certain lands by the purchaser thereof in execution of a mortgage-decree, against the patnidar of such lands who subsequently purchased the same at an auction-sale by the sheriff, held that the latter's possession as patnidar only could not be considered as adverse to the former who claimed the superior interest. KASUMUN-NISSA BIBEE v. NILRATNA BOSE, 8 C. 79 = 9 C.L.R. 173 = 10 C.L.R. 113.

(126)—Suit for possession—Mokurreredar—Limitation.—A suit for confirmation of possession by a declaration of the right of the plaintiff to collect rents for the lands in dispute from the defendant, as mokurreredar, is barred, where the defendant has been in possession for 30 years and pleads a right also as owner. SYUDOONNISSA BEGAM v. MUSSAMUT KUM-UROONISSA, 1 W.R. 80.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(127)—Possession—Admission of tenancy—Adverse possession.—Where there is an admission of tenancy and no finding to the contrary, there can be no adverse possession, even though the plaintiff has not had khas possession for twelve years. BABOO DOOLEE CHUND v. SHAM BEHAREE SINGH, 24 W.R. 113.

(128)—Isumnuvissee papers, evidentiary value of—Suit for assessment of land held in excess by ghatwal—Act X of 1859, ss. 15, 16—Protection from fresh assessment.—This was a suit to recover possession of several beeghas of cultivated and uncultivated land and tanks. The right to eject was based on the ground that the defendant was in possession of the land of which the plaintiff was putneedar, and that the plaintiff had given the defendant notice to come in and deliver a pottah, and take a kubooleut within 15 days, but that the defendant had refused to do so. It was alleged in the plaint that the lands were held by the defendant without any right, under the pretence that they were a portion of the ghatwalee tenure. The defendant set up a title as ghatwal to the whole mouzah in which the land was situated, saying that, with the exception of a few beeghas which he claimed as ancestral rent-free land, it had been held as hereditary service land from the time of the Permanent Settlement. He also asserted that the plaintiff's suit was barred by limitation. In the evidence produced by the plaintiff, there were three isumnuvissee papers which were returns by police officers to a Magistrate, and there was no satisfactory proof as to the source of the information contained in these papers, and they were therefore rejected on the ground of not constituting proper and sufficient evidence. The contention of the defendant that he had been holding the lands at a uniform rate of rent from the time of the Permanent Settlement was upheld. The case of the defendant that the rent was always being paid in respect of the whole of the lands was supportable by obvious presumptions and the evidence to oppose it was of little or no value. The High Court, therefore, found in favour of the defendant that the whole of the lands had been held at a fixed rent for upwards of 60 years, and was of opinion that as he had thus held the lands at the same rent for more than 20 years, he must be presumed to have held them at that rent from the time of the Permanent Settlement; and, therefore, by the provisions of ss. 3 and 15 of Act X, the rent of the lands could not be enhanced whether the defendant be regarded as a "ryot" within the meaning of ss. 3 and 4, or "the person possessing a permanent transferable interest intermediate between the proprietor of the estate and the ryot" within the meaning of ss. 15 & 16

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

of the Act. MR. JAMES ERSKINE v. THE GOVERNMENT, 8 W.R. 232. (5 W.R. P.C. 1, F.) [Affirmed on appeal, 16 W.R. 29, P.C.=8 R.L.R. 504; R., 34 C. 753=5 C.L.J. 583=12 C.W.N. 193.]

(129)—Tenant holding adjoining lands without landlord's knowledge—No adverse possession.—Where a tenant ploughs up the lands adjoining and around his holding and thus without his landlords's knowledge holds land in excess of that leased to him, he cannot be said to have adverse possession of those lands. JUGARAJ SINGH v. RATAN, 1 C.P.L.R. 37. [R., 16 C.P.L.R. 36.]

(130)—Adverse possession—Tenant's possession of land not let to him without landlord's knowledge—No adverse possession—No acquisition of right in such land.—When a tenant takes into his holding land which was not been let to him and holds it under color of his tenancy, his possession cannot be said to be adverse, nor would he acquire right of occupancy in land so held without the landlord's knowledge. BHAU PATIL v. SADOO TELEE, 1 C.P.L.R. 58.

(131)—Enjoyment of fruits of trees with permission of owner—No adverse possession—Suit for possession—No plea of limitation.—Where the fruits of trees are enjoyed with the consent of the Malguzar, there cannot be any adverse possession and consequently a plea of limitation cannot be permitted in a suit by the Malguzar to recover possession of the property. DURGA PATEL v. ATMARAM POWAR, 3 C.P.L.R. 160. [R., 4 N.L.R. 104, 7 C.P.L.R. 7.]

(132)—Cultivation by tenant of one village of land of another village without landlord's knowledge—No adverse possession against landlord of other village.—If a resident of one village cultivates land situate in another village without the landlord's knowledge, the land is not in the adverse possession of the landlord of the former village. MADHO RAO NARAYEN v. MOHKAM-CHAND, 4 C.P.L.R. 51.

(133)—Land belonging to Patwari holding—When possession becomes adverse to Patwari—Possession of land belonging to a village patwari holding becomes adverse to a Patwari only from the date of his appointment as Patwari. SEETARAM BRAHMIN v. RAMBHAOO PATWARI, 10 C.P.L.R. 78.

(134)—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 23—Limitation—Adverse possession—Cultivated and uncultivated lands—Landlord and tenant—Ghatwals.—Suit for reversal of survey award demarcating certain lands as ghatwali and as held under the Government. Held that, in such a suit, adverse possession and limitation can be pleaded by the Government and the ghatwal (Trevor and Norman JJ., dissenting.)—Adverse possession may be pleaded to bar a claim as regards uncultivated lands in the same manner and to the same extent as regards cultivated lands. WATSON v.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

GOVERNMENT, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 182=3 W.R. 73. [F., 8 W.R. 343, 11 W.R. 267, 16 W.R. 102, 5 C.L.R. 481, 31 C. 397, 9 C.W.N. 111; D., 11 W.R. 283.]

(135)—Real owner minor—Completion of title by adverseness—True owner recovering possession by inducing trespasser's tenant to attorn to him—Landlord and tenant—Estoppel—Hindu Law—Inheritance—Sudras—Illegitimate son—Marriage—Custom.—Title by adverse possession cannot be completed against a minor before the end of three years after the minor comes of age. A true owner of property is not estopped from recovering possession of his property by inducing the trespasser's tenant in possession to attorn to him, nor is such tenant, who had not been let into possession by the trespasser or his predecessor-in-interest, estopped from denying the trespasser's title. The illegitimate son of a Sudra by "an unmarried Sudra woman" is entitled to a share of the family property, if the concubinage was continuous and if the connection was not incestuous or adulterous or in violation of or forbidden by law. But the offspring of a connection forbidden by the customary law of the parties has no right of inheritance to the property of his father. ANNAYAN v. CHINNAN alias MUNI VENKATA CHETTY, 5 Ind. Cas. 84=7 M.L.T. 140=20 M.L.J. 355=33 M. 366.

(136)—Adverse possession against a vatan-dar.—The adverse possession commenced in the lifetime of one vatandar avails as against the subsequent vatandar and will not be stopped by his minority at the death of such preceding vatandar. RAMA v. SHAMRAO, 7 Bom. L.R. 135.

(137)—Of service lands.—Where lands are held on service, the fact that no service was performed will not of itself make the holding adverse. KOMARGOWDA v. BHIMAJI, 1 Bom. L.R. 61=223 B. 602. [R., 11 C.W.N. 655.]

(138)—Trust to pay debts of testator—Executor—Adverse possession—Limitation.—An executor holding an estate in trust to pay the profits in certain defined shares to the heirs of the testator, cannot plead adverse possession against them. RANEE KHAJOORUNNISSA v. MUSSAMAT ROHEEMONNISSA, 17 W.R. 190.

(139)—Adverse possession—Abandonment of land for 40 years without arranging for payment of revenue—Trust—Entry in the record of rights that land should be given back—Effect.—Where the plaintiffs left their land (without making any arrangement as to payment of the revenue) and the defendants were in possession for 40 years, and the plaintiffs failed to show that they had anything to do either with the land or its profits during the 40 years the defendants were in possession, held, the plaintiff's suit was barred by limitation. (109 P.R. 1892, 118 P.R. 1893, R.) An entry in the wajib-ul-arz, that the plaintiffs can take the land back when they return and want it, does not create a trust in their favour. DHAN SINGH v. HAR NARAIN, 85 P.R. 1909 = 135 P.W.R. 1909 = 3 Ind. Cas. 599. (2 A. 493, 4 A. 187, 141 P.R. 1883, 30 P.R. 1901, F.) [R., 29 P.R. 1910.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(140)—Ss. 63, 64, Act II of 1882 (Trusts)—Trust property title to of persons acquiring possession thereof and appropriating the same to their own use.—No trustee can acquire trust property by possession adverse to the trust. BHITTO KUNWAR v. KESHO PERSHAD MISSER, 1 C.W.N. 265, P.C. = 19 A. 277 = 24 I. A. 10 = 7 Sar. 131.

(141)—Possession of temple property by the shevaks as servants of the idol, whether could be adverse to rights of hereditary manager.—Plaintiff, the hereditary manager of a temple, sued to eject, from a piece of the temple land, the defendants who were the shevaks or ministering priests for the idol of the temple. It was contended for the defendant that though they acquired possession or detention of the land in dispute as servants or representatives of the deity, yet, by reason of long occupation and user, they had acquired a quasi proprietary title as against the plaintiff; but it was held that, having come in as servants or representatives of the deity, they could not, by mere wish or volition, change the nature of their possession if possession it amounted to at all. They held such possession, however, for the deity on whose behalf plaintiff also was holding property as hereditary manager of the temple. In the ideal personage of the deity, the rights of both parties concurred, and possession by the one therefore could not really be adverse to the other so as to give rise to a title by prescription. MULJI BHULABHAI v. MANOHAR GANESH, 12 B. 322. [R., 27 B. 43.]

(142)—Manager and trustee on behalf of temple idol—Shevaks or revotaries of temple—Right to management or to custody of temple land, as against manager.—Question was raised in this case as to the competency of the defendant as trustee and manager of the temple to erect a booth or booths on the portion of the court-yard of the temple mentioned in the plaint. The use of this very portion of the court-yard was in litigation previously, wherein the Courts had concluded that the yard should be left to remain open and unincumbered by any shops, booths or other similar erections. Relying on the above, the lower Court had decided against the right of the defendant to put up such structures, and the High Court confirmed such decision. GANPATRAV MANOHAR v. ANOPRAM BECHAR, 12 B. 325, Note = P.J. 1879, 361.

(143)—By an agent or manager—Overt act.—In order to entitle a person who originally comes into possession of property in the character of manager or agent to succeed on a title by wrongful detention it is necessary that he must prove, First that he gave notice of his adverse holding to the owner or that he set up his adverse title to his knowledge, Secondly that he dealt with the property after that as his own.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

In other words, the repudiation of the former capacity as manager or agent must be followed by wrongful taking or unlawful detention which means some active assertion of an adverse right. Mere repudiation to the knowledge of the owner will not do unless it is accompanied by some overt act. RAGHUNATHJI v. VIRJIVANDAS, 7 Bom. L.R. 836.

(144)—Invalid grant of property by wife during husband's absence—Grantee's title perfect by twelve years' possession—Property held on another's behalf—Denial of that other's title, effect of—Possession, wrongful and commencing in a 'just cause.'—The holder of a mourasi grant, from a woman, of the property of her absent husband, mistakenly supposed to be dead, though the grant was in excess of the wife's limited powers, was not in the position of a lessee, and could acquire, as against the husband (the true owner of the property) a perfect title thereto by twelve years' possession. One who holds possession on behalf of another, does not, by a mere denial of that other's title, make his possession adverse, so as to give himself the benefit of the Statute of Limitation. The Indian law of limitation and prescription has not made the sound distinction between cases where the possession begins by wrong, and where it commences in a 'just cause,' although under a defective title. It is not the province of Courts to qualify the express and deliberate Enactments of the Legislature. Adverse possession includes possession by a person holding the land, on his own behalf, of some person other than the true owner, the true owner having a right to immediate possession. If, by this adverse possession, the Statute is set running for 12 years, then the title of the true owner is extinguished and the person in possession becomes the owner. BEJOY CHUNDER BANERJEE v. KALLY PROSONNO MOOKERJEE, 4 C. 327. [F., 1 A. L. J. 725 = A.W.N. (1905) 4 = 27 A. 395; Appl., 20 A. 482; R., 16 B. 722, 21 B. 793, 23 B. 137, 26 B. 617, 27 B. 43 = 4 Bom. L.R. 721. 4 Bom. L.R. 312, 5 Bom. L.R. 186, 11 C.W.N. 527 = 5 C.L.J. 208 = 34 C. 358, 29 A. 593 = A.W.N. 1907, 185 = 4 A.L.J. 726, 30 A. 119 = A.W.N. 1908, 25 = 5 A.L.J. 85 = 3 M.L.T. 125.]

(145)—Adverse possession against mortgagee not necessarily adverse against mortgagor.—Possession, which may be adverse to the mortgagee, is not necessarily adverse to the mortgagor, for the reason that possession adverse to the mortgagors can only arise after the mortgagor has become entitled to immediate possession. Nor can the substitution of the names, by the Revenue authorities, without any statutory authority, affect the title of the owner or constitute adverse possession against him. MUHAMMAD HUSSAIN v. MULCHAND, A.W.N. 1905, 4 = 27 A. 395. (18 B. 51, 4 C. 327, R.)

(146)—Mortgage—Extinguishment of mortgagor's right by adverse possession of a stranger

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

—Position of mortgagee — Whether title by adverse possession subject to mortgagee's claim to enforce sale.—The acquisition of title to land by prescription is not affected by the existence of a mortgage at the commencement of the adverse possession. Though there may be cases in which a person claiming to have acquired a title by prescription would acquire it subject to an existing mortgage, yet, where the mortgagor is dispossessed and his title disputed and another person obtains possession of the estate, the possession of the new holder becomes adverse to both the mortgagor and the mortgagee, and the mortgagee's cause of action arises against new holder on the date on which the latter obtains such adverse possession of the mortgaged estate. RAMASAWMI CHETTI v. PONNA PADAYACHI, 9 Ind. Cas. 28=9 M.L.T. 264. (33 C. 1015, 10 C.W.N. 904, 8 Ind. Cas. 264, M.W.N. 1900, 633, 8 M.L.T. 377; Diss., 2 M. 226, W.R. 1864, 375, 7 M.I.A. 323, 4 W.R. 37, 2 N.W.P. 223, 5 A. 1, 9 I.A. 99, Rel. on.)

(147) — Mortgage — Adverse possession while period of redemption running.—An equity of redemption in common with other equitable estates in land is capable of being extinguished by the operation of the statute of limitation. It may, in the case of an usufructuary mortgage, be extinguished by adverse possession on the part of a stranger, while the mortgagee continues in possession and the period of redemption is still running, as, for instance, where the stranger received rent from the mortgagee in possession for more than 12 years as against the owner of the equity of redemption. LALLA KHANHOO LAL v. MUSAMAT MANKI BIBI, 6 C.W.N. 601. (12 B.H.C. 180, 2 M. 226, 18 B. 51, 14 B. 176, 7 M. 26, 20 M. 305, 21 M. 153, 16 B. 197, R.)

(148) — Adverse possession — Mortgagor and mortgagee — Right to immediate possession — Time runs from date of — Sale or mortgage of entire interest — Prescriptive title — Time when begins to run.—Plaintiff sued in 1905 to recover by sale of the mortgaged property the amount due under a simple mortgage executed in 1871 in his favour by the grand-father of Defendants 1 and 2. The property was purchased by a stranger in Court auction held in execution of a money-decree obtained against the mortgagor after the execution of the mortgage, and the purchaser entered into possession of the property in 1873, so that at the time when the present suit was brought, the mortgagor's right to the property became, by adverse possession, extinguished. It was contended that the plaintiff's rights also became extinguished. Held, that the plaintiff's mortgage right did not become extinguished. Time does not begin to run against the mortgagee until the right of entry had accrued. Adverse possession begins to run against the true owner when the true owner has the immediate right to possession. (33 C. 1015, 8 M.L.T. 377, Appr.; 9 M.L.T. 264, Not

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

F.; 7 M.I.A. 323, 23 M. 37, D.; W.R. 1864, 375, R.; 14 M.I.A. 101, 4 C. 327, 12 C. 414, 14 M.I. A. 144, 2 M. 226, 25 A. 35, 2 N.W.P. 223, 5 A. 1, R.) The interest in immoveable property which is affected by adverse possession is the interest, and that interest only, which the person who was entitled to immediate possession at the time the adverse possession began, had at the time. A claim to immoveable property will not cause time to run against the true owner unless it is accompanied by possession; the term 'adverse possession' clearly implies that the person against whom adverse possession is exercised is a person who is entitled to demand possession at the moment the adverse possession begins. Where such a person has the entire interest when the adverse possession begins, he cannot, by afterwards transferring the whole interest, as by sale, or by transferring a part of the interest, as by mortgage, prevent the operation of prescription upon the entire interest, unless he also interrupts the possession which is adverse. If, however, while still in possession he transfers a part of his interest, the transferee will not be affected by the subsequent possession of a third party, if under his transfer he is not entitled to possession of the property. PARTHASARATHY NAIKEN v. LAKSHMANA NAICKEN, 9 M.L.T. 399=21 M.L.J. 467.

(149) — Mortgage of rent-free plot — Resumption — Settlement as mortgagee — Redemption — Adverse possession.—Where the settlement of a resumed rent-free plot belonging to the plaintiffs' ancestors was made with the defendant in the character of mortgagee, the defendant's possession would not be adverse to the plaintiffs, the mortgagors. RAM DIAL v. SHAH BAZKHAN, 1 Agra 15.

(150) — Mortgage — Equity of redemption, capable of being subject of adverse possession — Limitation — Res judicata.—The owner of the property, of which plaintiff sought possession, had mortgaged it before his death, leaving him surviving a daughter K, the mother of the plaintiff, and a daughter-in-law N, the widow of a deceased adopted son. A decree was obtained on the mortgage against N and the mortgaged house in 1856. N thereon sold the house to one R who satisfied the mortgage. The present appellant (defendant) claimed through this R, whose right, title and interest were purchased by him at a Court-sale in execution of a decree. Plaintiff's suit was held to be barred by adverse possession. In 1856, N the daughter-in-law of the original mortgagor was in possession of the equity of redemption adversely to his rightful heirs. The Court of first instance rightly held that R having derived his possession from N, his possession also continued to be adverse to that of the plaintiff from the time of his purchase. There can be adverse possession of the equity of redemption as against the true owner, and persons claiming under an adverse holder of the equity of redemption can protect themselves by such adverse possession.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

Further, in this case, the lower appellate Court had held that the decision in the previous redemption suit to which the original purchaser was a party was res judicata as against the defendant who claimed under such purchaser, but the High Court was of opinion that that view was not sustainable because the original purchaser was not a necessary party to that suit and was under no obligation to have made any defence therein. PUTTAPPA v. TIMMAJI, 14 B. 176. [F., 6 C.W.N. 601; Expl., 27 B. 43, 13 B. 51, 21 M. 153=8 M.L.J. 92, 5 Bom.L.R. 186; D., 21 B. 793, 25 M. 507.]

(151)—Suit for possession—Plea of mortgage found to be invalid—Adverse possession.—In a suit for possession, defendant pleaded a mortgage which was found to be invalid. Held that, though it is possible that a bad title can be cured by long possession, it was not so in this case. KISHEN SINGH v. THOOLA SINGH, 2 P.R. 1866.

(152)—Mortgage by trespasser—Mortgagee in possession for over 12 years—Prescriptive title complete.—A, a trespasser in respect of a certain fixed rate holding, mortgaged it to B in 1884. B remained in possession of the property ever since: Held, that the possession of B was equivalent to the possession of his mortgagor, and as he had been in possession for over 12 years, it must be held that A and B, had acquired a title by adverse possession. BENI MADHO SINGH v. DEBI SARAN DUBE, 10 Ind. Cas. 545.

(153)—Mortgage—Adverse possession of mortgaged property—Purchaser at a sale in execution of a mortgage-decree, position of.—Per Chamier, J. C.—Held, that the purchaser at a sale in execution of a mortgage-decree does not claim through or under the mortgagee. (22 B. 945, 30 M. 507, 30 A. 379, R.) Held, further, that ordinarily such a purchaser acquires the interest of the mortgagor as at the date of the mortgage. If, however, the mortgagee was entitled to possession, but was kept out of possession by a trespasser for more than 12 years, the interest of the trespasser will not be affected by a subsequent purchase at a sale in execution of a decree on the mortgage. Held, also, that, in the case of a simple mortgage when the mortgagee is not entitled to possession, 12 years adverse possession against the mortgagor would extinguish the security as regards the property held adversely to the mortgagor. Per Evans, A.J.C.—Held, that a person, who is in possession of mortgaged property adversely to the mortgagor, can assert his title as against the mortgagee from the date on which the mortgagee was entitled to take action on his mortgage-deed by suing for possession or sale. PRATAP BAHADUR SINGH v. MAHESHWAR BAKSH SINGH, 12 O.C. 45 (B.)=2 Ind. Cas. 57. (33 C. 1015, 7 M.I.A. 323, W.R. 1864, 375, 8 A. 86, 29 C. 518, 5 A. 1, 30 M. 426, 16 W.R. P.C. 33, R.)

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(154)—By a mortgagor—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), sch. II, art. 144—Mortgagor—Mortgagee in possession—Alienation from the mortgagee—Notice to mortgagor—Where a mortgagee in possession is dispossessed on grounds affecting only his right the dispossession of the mortgagee does not imperil or call in question any right of the mortgagor, and the mortgagor is not concerned or entitled to insist on being immediately restored to possession; and the possession taken is not adverse to him and cannot cause time to run against him. To give the mortgagor a right to insist on immediate possession, there must be an unequivocal ouster preventing the possession of the mortgagor from continuing altogether by leaving no room for doubt that the person taking possession does not profess to represent the mortgagor but to hold in spite of him. Possession must be in some way or other ostensibly adverse before it can cause limitation to run, and when there is no actual deprivation of any right, there must be a manifest and known assertion of a title incompatible with that of the disseizee. The adverse possession of a right may be entirely distinct from the adverse possession of tangible immoveable property; a right to sue in respect of the former arising possibly on open and avowed assertion or manifest adverse exercise of such right; while, the right to sue in respect of the possession can commence only when the possession itself (and not a mere claim to some minor right) becomes adverse to the rights of the person alleging title, which it cannot be as long as that person is not entitled to claim possession. Where there is no ouster or open or notorious act of taking possession, the person relying on his possession to defeat title, must show that it was of such a nature, and involved the exercise of rights so irreconcilable with those claimable by the plaintiff, as to give the plaintiff occasion to dispute that possession (or in other words, that it was such as to give a cause of action or right to sue for possession) throughout the twelve years next preceding the suit. Where a plaintiff has been in possession, and has been dispossessed, he must show possession and dispossession within twelve years, but where there is no allegation of original possession in the plaintiff lost by dispossession or discontinuance of possession, then the party relying on adverse possession to displace a proved or admitted title must show such adverse possession to have commenced and continued from twelve years prior to suit. TARUBAI v. VENKATRAO, 4 Bom. L.R. 721=27 B. 43. [R., 5 Bom. L.R. 186.]

(155)—Limitation Act, 1877, art. 144—Possession of usufructuary mortgage—Suit for possession of immoveable property—Burden of proof.—The possession of a usufructuary mortgagee is the possession of all the persons who have the right of redemption, i.e., of the persons entitled to the estate. It is only when, after redemption, possession is taken by some of the persons so entitled, that their possession becomes adverse as against the others. Where, therefore, some of the persons so entitled sued the others in possession for partition and for the possession of their share, held that the suit was not barred if brought within 12 years from the date on which the defendants redeemed and got possession of the property. [R., 9 O.C. 91.] In a suit for the possession of immoveable property, it is for the plaintiff to show, by some prima facie evidence, that he has a subsisting title not extinguished by the operation of limitation, before the defendant can be called upon to substantiate his plea of adverse possession. INAYAK HUSEN v. ALI HUSEN, 20 A. 182 = A.W.N. 1898, 19. (11 A. 431, 11 A. 193, R.) [R., U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 461, 105 P.R. 1901.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(156)—Usufructuary mortgage satisfied from usufruct—Mortgagor entitled only to his share—Possession of whole by one co-mortgagor adverse to others.—When one of several mortgagors redeems a mortgage by payment of the mortgage money and takes possession of the property, he steps into the shoes of the mortgagee as regards the shares of his co-mortgagors, and his possession over those shares can only be regarded as the possession of a mortgagee. Where, however, the mortgage is a usufructuary one and its amount satisfied out of the usufruct, each mortgagor can claim from the mortgagee only his individual share, and acquires no right to take possession of the shares of his co-mortgagors. Consequently, in such a case, when one of the co-mortgagors gets possession of the entire property he holds the shares of the others adversely to them. GOBARDHAN v. SUJAN, 16 A. 284 = A.W.N. 1894, 72. (7 A. 376, F.)

(157)—Deed of conveyance with undertaking to recovery—Lapse of period for re-payment—Person long in possession under deed, entitled to possession against hostile purchaser under fraudulent sale.—The plaintiff in this case sued for declaration of title to land in his possession, the right to which was menaced by the purchaser at a sale in execution of a decree for debt, obtained by one member of his vendor's family against another. On special appeal, it was objected that the transfer to the plaintiff effected only a mortgage, and not an out-and-out sale. It appeared, however, that the transfer to the plaintiff was absolute, subject only to an undertaking to recover on re-payment within a period which had long elapsed, and it was held that, although the plaintiff's vendor or his representative was entitled to redeem, yet the plaintiff was also certainly entitled to establish his right to possession against a hostile intruder whose claims were based on a fraudulent sale. MUSSAMUT TOMMUNNISSA v. MUSSAMUT NUJEEME BANOO, 8 W.R. 340.

(158)—As a bar to suit.—The property in suit was mortgaged on the 25th September 1855. In 1884, the plaintiff, then a minor, sued for redemption of the property claiming to be entitled as the adopted son of the mortgagor. The defendant then applied to be added as a party to the suit, inasmuch as he disputed the plaintiff's adoption and his right to redeem: but his application was rejected on the 10th August 1882. On the 14th of the same month, the defendant redeemed the mortgage out of Court and went into possession. The plaintiff's suit was subsequently dismissed. The plaintiff attained his majority in 1887. In 1901, he brought this suit to redeem and recover possession of his share in the property, as the adopted son of the mortgagor: Held, that the suit was barred by time, since the defendant from 1882 held the property adversely to the plaintiff. GANESH v. VITHAL, 6 Bom. L.R. 312.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(159)—Partition, Suit for—Omission of a mortgaged field from claim—Subsequent suit—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 7—Limitation—Separation in living and separation by partition.—In 1861, the plaintiff brought a general partition suit to recover his share of the family property in the possession of the first defendant, and omitted to ask for a field then in the possession of a mortgagee. The field was subsequently redeemed by the first defendant, who again mortgaged it to the second defendant. The plaintiff then brought the present suit to recover his share in the field. The first Court allowed the plaintiff's claim, but the District Judge in appeal threw it out, on the ground that it was barred both by s. 7 of the Civ. Pro. Code and by the law of limitation. The Judge based the latter finding on certain allegations made by the plaintiff in the general partition suit and in another suit brought by him against the first defendant and the then mortgagee of the field, from which allegations the Judge inferred a separation between the plaintiff and the first defendant. Held, in special appeal that the claim was not barred by s. 7 of the Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), because the mortgaged field was not available for an actual partition at the time of the former suit. Held, also, that the suit was not barred by limitation, because the possession of the first defendant or of his mortgagee, was not adverse to the plaintiff, the alleged separation being only a separation in living and not one by partition. The point for decision in such cases is, whether the former suit was one in which the plaintiff might have recovered precisely what he seeks to recover in the second, and where the former suit is one for an actual division of the property, the plaintiff need not ask for a declaration defining his right in property not then capable of division. NARAYAN BABAJI DABHOLKAR v. PANDURANG RAMACHANDRA DABHOLKAR, 12 B.H.C. 148. [F., 23 M. 608; R., 10 M.L.J. 141, 23 B. 597, 24 B. 128, 1 Bom. L.R. 620, 1 L.B.R. 7.]

(160)—Adverse possession—Denial of jenm right.—The mere denial, by the mortgagee in possession, or by the representative of the mortgagee in possession, of the mortgagor's right to the equity of redemption, is not, of itself, sufficient to convert such possession into adverse possession. MUSSAD v. THE COLLECTOR OF MALABAR, 10 M. 189. [R., 21 M. 153=8 M.L.J. 92, 27 B. 43.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(161)—Under a mistake-in-common—Possession under a mistake common to all parties—Adverse character of possession.—On 2nd October 1873, D, the widow of G, mortgaged with possession certain lands for Rs. 900 to defendant 1, husband of her daughter Rau. D died in 1882. Plaintiffs, as heirs of G, then put forth a claim to the property mortgaged. The dispute terminated by the plaintiff's executing a fresh mortgage on the 22nd June 1882, in favour of defendant 1 for Rs. 800, the latter having remitted Rs. 100 in their favour. Rau was aware of this mortgage and acquiesced in it. In 1889, however, Rau sold her equity of redemption to defendant 2, who in his turn paid off defendant 1. Plaintiffs then brought a suit for redemption based on the mortgage dated the 22nd June 1882:—Held, that plaintiffs were entitled to redeem the property, since Rau's claim to the equity of redemption had become barred. Though defendant 1's possession in its inception was not by virtue of a right derived from the plaintiffs still his possession was from the 22nd June 1882 under colour of a right derived from the plaintiffs and so adverse to Rau and to her knowledge. The fact that defendant 1 took possession under a mistake common to all as to Rau's rights did not make the possession any the less adverse to Rau. PURSHOTAM v. SAGAJI, 5 Bom. L. R. 674=28 B. 87.

(162)—Adverse possession.—The mere fact of certain weavers having been accustomed to stretch their weaving apparatus on the land of another does not of itself constitute such possession as can be considered adverse. But when the owners are resisted in taking possession for the statutory period, their right to recover it is barred. DEVI DITTA v. IDA, P.L.R. 1900, p. 142.

(163)—Headship of butchers, Hereditary office of—Right to inherit, Proof of—Adverse possession.—Claim, to the hereditary office of the headship of the butchers in the town of Ahmednaggur, dismissed, no satisfactory proof being shown of the right to inherit, and adverse possession of the office being had for more than thirty years. BABUN WULLAD RAJA KATIK v. DAVOOD WULLAD NUNNOO, 2 M.I.A. 479=1 Suther. 108=1 Sar. 221=6 W. R. P. C. 10.

(164)—Decree in suit for ejectment against Mahomedan father—Execution and delivery of symbolical possession as against father binding on sons living with father—Continued possession by sons, if adverse—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 263.—A, a Mahomedan, was the absolute owner of the house and land in dispute. A sold them to

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

G, the plaintiff's vendor. Plaintiff had sued and obtained a decree for possession against A and G, in execution of which he was placed in formal possession on the 6th of April, 1880, by the Court's officer under s. 263 of the Civ. Pro. Code of 1877, in the presence of A who made no objection. The present defendants were the sons of A who were living with him at the time of the execution proceedings and continued to do so even subsequent to his death. This suit to eject them was begun on the 4th April 1892 and the question arose, whether it was barred by limitation. The District Judge held that the proceedings by which plaintiff obtained possession from A did not affect the defendants, the sons of A who were then living in the house, as they were not parties to the suit which resulted in the execution proceedings of the 6th April 1880. The High Court disagreed from the District Judge and held that the possession which the plaintiff obtained through Court from A operated as well against his sons and other dependents as against himself. The defendants living with their father had no independent juridical possession of the premises. The case would have been different if the sons had been in independent possession of any part of the premises. They would then have been in the position of their parties whom neither the decree nor the formal possession given under it could have affected. PANDHARINATH v. MAHABUBKHAN, 21 B. 98.

(165)—Wakf—Well dedicated to public use looked after and managed founder's family—Proprietary right not lost after cessation of public use—Gift of some property by descendants of founder under an unregistered deed—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 91, 110—Admissibility of parol evidence to prove the factum of gift—Adverse possession—Revision—Material irregularity.—Where the property is dedicated to the use of the public, but the family of the founder of wakf look after it, they do not necessarily lose all rights to it, after its public use has completely ceased. Such property does not become res nullius which can be seized upon by any one minded to do so, but reverts to the original proprietor, on the cessation of its use by the public. S. 91, Evidence Act, excludes only the terms of a contract, grant or disposition of property, which have been reduced to writing, being proved by oral evidence, but the fact of the contract can be proved orally. (24 W.R. 425, F.) A defendant whose possession has been due to wrongful seizure, must prove twelve years' adverse possession. Plaintiff's previous possession gives him the right to recover from a trespasser, who has unlawfully evicted him within twelve years. (78 P.R. 1902, F.) Misapprehension of law, misapplication of legal principles, indefiniteness in some of the findings, and failure to consider the effect of prior peaceful possession as owner, amount to "material irregularities," justifying the interference of the Chief Court on revision. Mere tying of cattle and occasional uses of an open ground are not acts necessarily adverse to the owner; but if permanent occupation of any portion, to the exclusion of others for 12 years, is proved, a defendant may be entitled to keep so much to himself. BAWA NARAINGIR v. MIRAN BAKSH, 4 Ind. Cas. 314=18 P.W.R. 1909.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(166)—Adverse possession — Co-sharer — Muhammadan Law—Question of fact—Revision.—In a suit by a Mahomedan co-sharer, for possession of immoveable property, against a third person, who pleaded purchase from another co-sharer: Held, (1) that, having regard to the main allegation of the defence, which is, not that plaintiff and their mother never entered into possession, but that plaintiff's mother sold her share to the present petitioner—an allegation which has been held to be not proved, there was good ground for presuming that the petitioner's possession was not adverse. (89 P.R. 1888, 30 P.R. 1901, D.) The question whether an entry by one co-heir is an entry on behalf of all co-heirs or on behalf of the entering co-heir alone is a question of fact. FARID-UD DIN v. ALI HUSSAIN, 79 P.W.R. 1910=6 Ind. Cas. 1009. (97 P.R. 1890, 42 P.R. 1889, D.; 89 P.R. 1881, Diss.)

(167)—Zamindari village — Occupation by Government—Non-payment of rent—Adverse possession.—The occupation by Government of certain lands in a zamindari village without payment of rent to any one cannot be construed as possession adverse to the zamindar. DINO NATH MOOKERJEE v. BROJO COOMAR MULLICK, 25 W.R. 102.

(167-a)—Landlord—Possession by Government—Non-payment of rent—Limitation.—In a suit to recover a zamindari from an intermediate holder, the cause of action does not arise until Government who are in possession of lands began paying rent to defendants, and the possession of the Government without payment of rent could not be adverse to the plaintiff. When the Government never intended to remain in possession without payment of rent, the onus is on the defendant to prove his title as intermediate holder. DINO NATH MOOKERJEE v. BROJO COOMAR MULLICK, 25 W.R. 102, Note.

(168)—Wrongful taking possession of land by Government—Ijara from Government taken by true owner—Prescriptive title acquired by Government after twelve years—Lease.—Where the Government wrongfully took possession of certain land, and the true owner took an ijara from Government and held it for over 12 years, the Government was held to have acquired a prescriptive title to the land at the end of the period of the lease. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v. KRISHNAMONI GUPTA, 29 C. 518, P.C.=29 I.A. 104=6 C.W.N. 617=4 Bom. L.R. 537=8 Sar. 269. [F., 26 M. 410, 97 P.R. 1902=121 P.L.R. 1902, 9 C.W.N. 111; R., 27 B. 43=4 Bom. L.R. 721, 34 C. 753=5 C.L.J. 583=12 C.W.N. 193, 3 C.L.J. 316,

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

28 A. 760=A W.N. 1906, 234 = 3 A.L.J. 567, 35 C. 120=8 C.L.J. 245 =12 C.W.N. 16, 7 C.L.J. 414=12 C.W.N. 273=3 M.L.T. 212, 10 C.L.J. 527, 12 O.C. 45, 58.]

(169)—Enjoyment—Acts of ownership—Title by prescription.—Where the acts of enjoyment proved are acts of ownership done adversely to the Crown, if the adverse possession extends to more than sixty years, a title by prescription will be acquired. SIVASUBRAMANYA v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, 9 M. 285. [R., 15 M. 315, 6 Bom. L.R. 864; D., 21 M. 169=8 M.L.J. 117.]

(170)—Suit against Government for recovery of a tank—Acts constituting adverse possession—Enjoyment of fruits and flowers on the banks of the tank—Removal of silt from tank—Entry of tank in Settlement Register as poramboke—Effect of—Burden of proof.—The mere enjoyment of fruits and flowers on the banks of a tank and of fishery in the tank for even thirty and forty years will not, as against Government, indicate ownership as Government generally allows villagers such enjoyment in small villages, and the non-interference of Government with such enjoyment does not imply a denial of ownership of Government or abandonment by Government of its ownership. (28 M. 257, F.) The clearing of silt from a tank, and the construction of masonry sluices in it by a person, and the possession and enjoyment of the tank adversely to the Government for thirty or forty years, raise a presumption of ownership in favour of that person, and shift on to Government the burden of showing a title, or that it was in possession at some time within sixty years prior to suit. If the Government fails to prove that it was ever in possession of the tank, the person's possession should be presumed to have continued for more than the statutory period and to have established a title by prescription. The mere entry of the tank in the Paimash and Settlement Registers as Government poramboke is insufficient to prove that the tank is the property of Government. VENKATARAMA AIYAR v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, 5 Ind. Cas. 118=7 M. L.T. 139=20 M.L.J. 74. (14 C. 740, R.)

(171)—Land within 30 feet of Lahore City wall—Adverse possession—Right of Government.—The Sikh Government considered itself entitled to turn out the inhabitants of houses within 30 feet of the Lahore City wall from the site occupied by them. But the British Government which succeeded permitted the occupier to remain in occupation. It was thus clear that the British Government introduced a new law so to speak, namely, that of adverse possession. Thus the occupier of a house who might at one time have been turned out by the Government, became possessed in a manner which can only be taken to be adverse, there being nothing to show that his possession was permissive. With reference to the property in question in this suit, an order had been passed in 1855 by the then Deputy Commissioner, which, properly construed, meant the Government had no right to the house as well as the site, and since then, no assertion had ever been made by Government of its rights to control the alienation of the land until the present suit was brought. Held that this showed that the occupier of the house occupied the land on the same footing as that upon which he held the house, namely, adversely. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL v. SOWAYA RAM, 56 P.R. 1871.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(172)—Adverse possession by Government of permanently-settled estates.—The fact that the Government continues to receive the full revenue from the proprietor of a permanently-settled estate for the entire estate, does not preclude the Government from claiming title by adverse possession in respect of any portion thereof. KRISTO MONI GUPTA v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 3 C.W.N. 99.

(173)—Dishonesty in obtaining possession—Limitation—Government failing to take possession of Chur—Fordable river—Alluvial land—Reg. XI of 1825, s. 4.—The law of limitation in this country being express, dishonesty in obtaining possession will not prevent the possessor from availing himself of the provisions of that law. But the law cannot relieve him from the charge of dishonesty. If the Government does not take possession of a chur or dispose of it for a year or so, and during that time the channel between the island and the adjoining land becomes fordable, the right of Government to dispose of it would cease and it would become an increment to the tenure of the person holding the land most contiguous to it. KOWAR FOREST NARAIN ROY v. WATSON & CO., 5 W.R. 283. [R., 9 W.R. 259; D., 6 B.L.R. 343 = 14 W.R. 352.]

(174)—Ekabhogam mirasidar—Adverse possession—Ownership of Government poramboke.—The true test, in determining whether an Ekabhogam mirasidar of a certain village has acquired title by adverse possession over Government poramboke land situated in that village, is whether the acts done by him were beyond the customary rights of a mirasidar. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL v. VADAMALAI PILLAI, 3 M.L.J. 231.

(175)—Acquisition of title by adverse possession not made in plaint—Question not raised in issues—Proof title by prescription—Constructive possession, Doctrine of—Accretion.—Where no case of acquisition of title by adverse possession was made in the plaint, nor was the question raised directly or indirectly in any of the issues, the plaintiff ought not to be allowed to succeed upon such a case, which was not made in the plaint (8 C. 975, R.; 14 C. 592, Cited.) To prove title to land by adverse possession, it is not sufficient to show that some acts of possession have been done; for the possession required must be adequate in continuity, in publicity, and in extent to show that it is possession adverse to the competitor. (27 C. 943, F.) The doctrine of constructive possession applies only in favour of a rightful owner and must not, as a rule, be extended in favour of a wrong-doer, whose possession must be confined to land of which he is actually in possession. (27 C. 221, 24 C. 256, R. & F.; 29 C. 518, R.) Where land, which has been submerged, reforms and is identified as having formed part even by accretion of a particular estate, the owner of that estate is entitled to it. ANANDA HARI BASAK v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 3 C.L.J. 316. (2 I.A. 28, 14 B.L.R. 268, Appr.) [R., 12 C.W.N. 127 = 35 C. 961 = 6 C.L.J. 735.]

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(176)—Plea of adverse possession in the alternative of a specific title.—It is open to a party to allege a specific title and in the alternative, a title by 12 years' adverse possession. MAY VIN v. MA PU, 4 L.B.R. 238. (4 C. 699, F.) [R., 5 L.B.R. 82.]

(177)—Question of fact—Title—Jurisdiction of District Judge in appeal.—Where the plaintiff in a case claims title on the basis of adverse possession for more than twelve years, it was held that the question whether the possession alleged was of such a kind as to enable the plaintiff to acquire a title was a question of fact, and that the District Judge had jurisdiction to decide that question in appeal on the evidence. MUTHUSAWMY ASARI v. RAMASAWMY IYENGAR, 3 M.L.T. 299.

(178)—Adverse possession—Thirty years' possession—Proof of—Possession within 60 years by Crown—Onus of proof—Street—Dedication as highway—Proof.—Where a plaintiff has, by 30 years' possession, acquired a right to erect and retain certain pandals, the onus is shifted upon the Crown to show that it had possession within 60 years. Even if the property in the subsoil be in the temple, it is still possible that the streets are public streets, if they have been used by the public for the purpose of passing and re-passing, and that may be sufficient to raise the presumption of dedication of the street to the public for use as a highway. ALAGASINGA BHATTAR AYYAVARALANGARU v. TALUK BOARD, RAJAMUNDRY, 12 M.L.T. 159 = 16 Ind. Cas. 626.

(179)—Adverse possession, title by—Submerged land, possession during time it is out of water—Possession disturbed every year.—Plaintiffs claimed possession of certain land which was submerged during part of a year and was in possession of defendants during the other part. The defendants pleaded adverse possession. Held, that, during the time the land was submerged, the constructive possession was in the rightful owner, and a title by adverse possession could not be acquired by a trespasser. LOKNATH v. MANORATH RAM, 11 A.L.J. 68. (29 C. 518, Appl.)

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(180)—Adverse possession—Possession of one co-heir in the absence of others—Whether adverse.—A co-heir, in the absence of the other co-heirs, got possession of certain property left by a deceased Mubammadan: Held, that the possession of such co-heir was not adverse to the others unless an adverse title was asserted. CHAND KHAN v. ALI KHAN, 15 Ind. Cas. 292. (14 A. 193, R.)

(181)—Adverse possession—Limitation—Enjoyment of land for storing water—Evidence of title—Failure to assert right through Courts—Entry in Government registers, evidentiary value of—Orders of Survey Officers.—A Survey Officer's orders, if wrong, should be set aside in a suit brought within the time fixed by the Surveys and Boundaries Act. Effective occupation of land by a person for the statutory period and the non-assertion of a claim of right to it by any one else is both strong evidence of title in pursuance of which he first took possession and conclusive of his right to the land by prescription. It is enough for the person claiming the prescriptive right, even if he proves that the only use he made of the land was to store water therein. An entry in the Government survey account and the Government plan is strong evidence of title of the person in whose name the entry is made, only if it is accompanied by substantial acts of enjoyment. GOPALASWAMY CHETTY v. SECRETARY OF STATE, 16 Ind. Cas. 955.

(182)—Adverse possession—Plea of limitation—Onus on plaintiff to prove that his suit is within time—Auction-purchaser—Symbolical possession—Limitation to run from date of symbolical possession.—When a suit for possession is met by a plea of adverse possession during the limitation period, the question of limitation becomes a question of title and the plaintiff must first, prima facie, furnish proof of subsisting title at the date of the commencement of his suit, before the defendant is required to establish his adverse possession. (11 A. 438=A.W.N. 1889, 155, 20 A. 182, 28 A. 760=A.W.N. 1906, 234=3 A.L.J. 567, 2 A.L.J. 62=A.W.N. 1905, 14, Rel. on.) Where an auction-purchaser at a Court-sale has obtained symbolical possession, he or his assigns may sue the judgment-debtor for actual possession within 12 years from the date of obtaining such symbolical possession. MUSSAMAT SUNDAR v. SARESVATI, 17 Ind. Cas. 518. (25 B. 275, 25 B. 358, Rel.)

(183)—Possession of mortgagee not adverse—Mode of recording evidence—Supply of materials for repair of house, whether constitutes interruption of possession.—The possession of a mortgagee is not adverse. The evidence of each witness should be recorded separately and the evidence of a number of witnesses should not be mixed up together on the same sheet. The fact that the plaintiff supplied materials for the repair of a house does not constitute an interruption of defendant's possession. CHIRAGH SHAH v. GHUSEETA, 58 P.R. 1866.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

(184)—Default in payment of revenue—Lease or farm of land—Lessee's possession if adverse to the previous holder.—Plaintiff was a defaulter unable to pay the Government revenue on his share and consequently his puttee was leased out to the defendant for 15 years, i.e., to the close of the settlement. In the order conferring the lease, the Collector recorded, that, after the lapse of 15 years, plaintiff could recover and take possession of the puttee. Defendant also subsequently fell into arrear, and the puttee was leased out to another, but, after a time, was restored to the defendant. In the present suit for possession of land, defendant contended that since he obtained from Government the proprietary possession of the puttee, such possession was adverse to the plaintiff and consequently the suit was barred. Held that there was no adverse possession against the plaintiff and that he was entitled to recover. In the absence of any evidence that the plaintiff, the ex-proprietor, during the fifteen years of his ejection, committed any act by which he might have absolutely lost his rights, and in the absence of a competent authority declaring such rights absolutely lost and confiscated to Government, the ex-proprietor, at the close of the prescribed period, has an indisputable right to come to the Government or to a Court and claim his rights and his interests. SARFA-RAZ ALI v. ASID ALI, 63 P.R. 1875. [R., 41 P.R. 1881.]

(185)—Gift by Hindu widow—Suit for possession by daughter—Limitation—Adverse possession of donee.—In this case, the Courts below were held to be wrong in having decided that the present suit was barred by limitation. The right of the plaintiff to sue did not arise until the death of her mother, a widow holding on a life-tenure. It was not competent to the defendant, who admittedly held by virtue of a gift from the mother, to plead that his possession was adverse during her life-tenure. Further, the donor was merely a tenant for life and was incapable of conveying an interest larger than her own. MUSSAMAT JAI DEVI v. SHIB DAYAL, 15 P.R. 1879. [R., 125 P.R. 1881.]

(186)—Adverse possession—Mortgagee in possession—Adverse possession as regards mortgagee, effect of, upon rights of mortgagor.—A mortgagor who has transferred possession of the mortgaged land to the mortgagee, has no right to possession thereof until he has redeemed the mortgage. Hence the possession of a third party, though adverse as regards the mortgagee whom he has ousted, does not, when unaccompanied by further acts of aggression upon the mortgagor's rights, give any cause of action to the latter during the continuance of the mortgage, and, therefore, the burden of proving that his possession was adverse as against the mortgagor no less than as against the mortgagee rests upon such third party. (18 B. 51, F.) Held, upon the facts of the case, that defendants had failed to prove that their possession was adverse as against the plaintiff-mortgagor. KHANU MAL v. KHAN MUHAMMAD, 6 P.R. 1898.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

Of maliki and shamilat land—Plaintiff suing defendants for recovery of land of which their father and they themselves recorded as proprietors in 1868 and 1892—In 1868 plaintiff's fathers recorded as minors—Defendant entered as in possession on their behalf—No adverse possession by defendant—See ABANDONMENT OF TENURE, 97 P.W.R. 1908.

Plaintiff's name not finding a place in the register at the first settlement is not sufficient to prove adverse possession against or abandonment by him—See ABANDONMENT OF TENURE, 62 P.R. 1890.

Long absence does not impair rights of a co-sharer unless adverse title is set up—See ABANDONMENT OF TENURE, 84 P.R. 1888.

Common holding—Owner leaving his share in possession of co-sharer—Adverse possession, how established—See ABANDONMENT OF TENURE, 120 P.R. 1908=172 P.W.R. 1908=18 P.L.R. 1909=4 Ind. Cas. 912.

See ABSENTEE, 5 P.R. 1868, Rev., 7 P.R. 1868, Rev., 32 P.R. 1868, 46 P.R. 1872, 15 P.R. 1873, 46 P.R. 1875, 21 P.R. 1876, 54 P.R. 1876, 25 P.R. 1877.

See BEN. ACT XI OF 1859, ss. 11, 13, 54, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 446=12 W.R. 440.

Sale of share—Purchaser's right to eject person in adverse possession for over 12 years before sale—See BEN. ACT XI OF 1859, ss. 13, 54, 13 C.W.N. 407=1 Ind. Cas. 81.

Limited interest in land may be acquired by—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, 2 Ind. Cas. 148=14 C.W.N. 68.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 101, 102, Ch. X, 22 C. 244.

Character of—See BEN. ACT XV OF 1891, s. 4, 6 Ind. Cas. 392.

Appointment by Collector, of one of several co-parceners to officiate as patil—Presumption as to adverse possession—See BOM. ACT XI OF 1843, 1 B. 533, Note.

Can be successfully urged to defend possession acquired under an alienation made in contravention of s. 3 of the Bhagdari Act, 1862—See BOM. ACT V OF 1862, s. 3, 10 Bom. L.R. 1128=33 B. 116.

Plea of, cannot avail against the action taken by the Collector under s. 3 of the Bhagdaree and Narwadaree Act—See BOM. ACT V OF 1862 (Bhagdaree), s. 3, 4 Bom. L.R. 797, 6 Bom. L.R. 423=28 B. 399.

See BOM. ACT V OF 1862, s. 3, 23 B. 710.

See BUR. ACT II OF 1876, s. 7, L.B.R. 1893—1900, 3.

See C.P. ACT IX OF 1883, 2 C.P.L.R. 197.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

Title set up against Crown—Exclusive possession within a statutory period—Acts done on particular tracts of land, when evidence of enjoyment of whole—See MAD. ACT V OF 1882, s. 25, 9 Ind. Cas. 9.

See U. P. ACT XVIII OF 1873, s. 93 (h), A. W.N. 1891, 107.

See ALLUVION—FORMATION OF CHURS OR ISLANDS, 6 B.L.R. 261, Note=13 W.R. 366.

See ALLUVION—LAND INUNDATED AND RE-FORMED, 3 C. 796, P.C.=1 C.L.R. 259.

Assertion of absolute title by life-tenant—Estoppel—See BENAMI TRANSACTIONS—GENERAL, 7 Ind. Cas. 218.

Proof of title by plaintiff—Burden of proving—See BURDEN OF PROOF—POSSESSION AND PROOF OF TITLE, 5 A. 345, F.B.

See BURDEN OF PROOF—POSSESSION AND PROOF OF TITLE, 30 P.R. 1902.

Mere non-payment of rent for twelve years without any denial of the landlord's right, how far constitutes—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 11, 16 M.L.J. 35=29 M. 42.

Suit between tenants in common for partition—Exclusive possession of one tenant whether adverse possession—Limitation Act, XV of 1877, sch. II, arts. 142, 144—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, 21 M. 153=8 M.L.J. 92.

See CLAIMS TO PROPERTY ATTACHED, 18 B. 260.

See COMMON LAND, 105 P.R. 1901.

What amounts to, among co-owners—Non-receipt of profits—Effect—See CO-SHARERS—GENERAL, 9 Ind. Cas. 425.

Brother and sister—One heir managing property—Other heir minor—Whether—See CO-SHARERS—GENERAL, 10 Ind. Cas. 413.

By co-sharer—What amounts to—See CO-SHARERS—GENERAL, 73 P.W.R. 1912.

See CO-SHARERS—GENERAL, 31 C. 970=9 C.W.N. 32.

Mahomedan co-owners—One of them out of possession for twelve years—Co-owner in possession not recognising his title, effect of—Distinction from Hindu co-ownership—See CO-SHARERS—ENJOYMENT OF PROPERTY BY CO-SHARERS, 4 A.L.J. 473=A.W.N. 1907, 195.

Exclusive possession by one co-sharer in excess of his share—Right of other co-sharers to recover possession—See CO-SHARERS—ENJOYMENT OF PROPERTY BY CO-SHARERS, 14 C.P.L.R. 76.

See CO-SHARERS—ENJOYMENT OF PROPERTY BY CO-SHARERS, 13 C.P.L.R. 99, 5 N.W.P. 122.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

Co-owner in symbolical possession—Exclusive possession by other co-sharers, whether adverse—See CO-SHARERS—SUIT BY CO-SHARERS, 4 C.L.J. 254.

By lambardar not adverse—See CO-SHARERS—SUIT BY CO-SHARERS, 2 C.P.L.R. 171.

See CO-SHARERS—MISCELLANEOUS, 1 C.L.R. 155.

Of gifted property—See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—ALIENATION, 110 P.L.R. 1909=149 P.W.R. 1909.

Against nearest reversioner not adverse to remoter reversioner—Person having no immediate right to possession—Whether possession can be adverse against him—See CUSTOM—PUNJAB—ALIENATION, 9 Ind. Cas. 300, F.B.

Possession by widow of pre-deceased son—Whether adverse—See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB, INHERITANCE, 102 P.R. 1907.

Of debutter property—What amounts to—See DEBUTTER PROPERTY, 14 C.W.N. 889, P.C., 7 A.L.J. 791=12 Bom. L.R. 632=12 C.L.J. 110=8 M.L.T. 145=20 M.L.J. 624, 7 Ind. Cas. 240, 37 C. 885.

Of debutter land by mortgagee—See DEBUTTER PROPERTY, 3 Ind. Cas. 98.

See DEED—CONSTRUCTION OF DEEDS, 16 B. 172.

Plea of, first taken in Court of appeal, whether allowable—See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT, 6 C.L.J. 621.

Title by, cannot be acquired by lessee entering into possession under lease, against lessor pending term of lease—Conditions for acquiring such possession—Mere non-payment of rent whether creates adverse possession in lessee's favour—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 90, 7 C.L.J. 615.

See EVIDENCE ACT, s. 110, 11 A. 438.

See FISHERY, 3 C. 276=1 C.L.R. 592.

See GRANT—CONSTRUCTION, 12 B. 80.

See HEREDITARY OFFICE, 12 B.H.C. 172.

Necessity to prove—As against Government—See HILL, 28 M. 69.

Parlakimidi Zemindari under Court of Wards for more than 60 years—Utilization by Collector and other Government officials of Zemindari funds for improving maliahs—Acquiescence of Government in such official acts under mistake—Whether possession of maliahs by Zemindari amounted to—See HILL TRACTS, 9 C.W.N. 553, P.C.=28 M. 130=1 C.L.J. 460.

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 13 B. 160.

See HINDU LAW—CUSTOM, 21 B. 110.

Joint family—Possession of property by widow—Presumption—Adverse possession—See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, A.W.N. 1888, 133.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

One of two brothers in management and possession of entire property—Failure of the other to take possession of his share after requisition to do so—Claim whether barred as by adverse possession—See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 11 B. 365.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 1 Agra 162, 49 P.R. 1870.

See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE, 29 C. 664, P.C.=29 I.A. 132=6 C.W.N. 657.

Against life-tenant—Possessory title—True owner—See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONERS, 8 A.L.J. 849.

See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONERS, 5 M.L.J. 269=22 C. 445, P.C.=22 I.A. 25.

Property acquired by a female by—Stridhan—See HINDU LAW—STRIDHANAM, 7 A.L.J. 153=5 Ind. Cas. 207=32 A. 189.

Possession by transferee from widow under a compromise—Whether adverse—See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, 7 M.L.T. 340=20 M.L.J. 204.

Hindu Law—Female heir—Adverse possession—Reversioner's suit—Cause of action—Limitation—See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, B.L.R. Sup. 1008, F.B.=9 W.R. 505.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, A.W.N. 1887, 43, A.W.N. 1899, 95.

See INAM, 9 M.L.J. 141.

Of after-acquired property by undischarged insolvent—See INSOLVENCY—PROPERTY ACQUIRED AFTER VESTING ORDER, 8 C. 556=12 C.L.R. 253.

Assertion of limited interest—Whether can lead to acquisition by adverse possession of an absolute title—See JURISDICTION OF REVENUE COURTS, 7 C.L.J. 499=12 C.W.N. 636=35 C. 470.

Suit by co-sharer for profits against Lambardar—See LAMBARDAR, 2 A.L.J. 107=A.W.N. 1905, 36=27 A. 436.

See LAMBARDAR, A.W.N. 1881, 20.

Physical possession—Abridgment of title—Adverse possession—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—GENERAL, 10 Ind. Cas. 363.

Houses as appurtenant to holdings—When possession will become adverse—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—EJECTMENT, 3 A.L.J. 619=A.W.N. 1906, 243.

Acquisition of limited interest by—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—RELATIONSHIP OF LANDLORD AND TENANT, 3 Ind. Cas. 431.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—TENANT'S LIABILITY FOR RENT, 2 Agra 25.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—TENANT TO KEEP HOLDING DISTINCT, 9 C.L.R. 347.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

Tenant erecting temporary structures — Effect — See LANDLORD AND TENANT — MISCELLANEOUS, 8 Ind. Cas. 708.

Decree for possession against tenant and symbolical delivery thereunder—Continuance of tenant in possession, asserting permanent tenancy rights—Acquisition of permanent tenancy by adverse possession—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—MISCELLANEOUS, 9 C.W.N. 292.

As giving rise to permanent tenure can be pleaded — See LANDLORD AND TENANT — MISCELLANEOUS, 5 Bom. L.R. 274 = 27 B. 515.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—MISCELLANEOUS, 10 B. 112, 16 C. 806.

See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 2 M.L.J. 210.

Against mortgagor, effect of, on mortgagee — See LIMITATION — GENERAL, 10 C.W.N. 904 = 33 C. 1015.

Acquisition of limited interest by — See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 17 M.L.J. 469 = 3 M.L.T. 187.

See LIMITATION ACT—GENERAL, L.B.R. 1872—1892, 51.

Fishery right—Possession in exercise of common right not adverse—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 26, 15 C.W.N. 972 = 11 Ind. Cas. 180.

Mortgage—Receipt of rent for over 12 years — See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, 7 M. 26.

Right to hold temple office with lands attached, whether can be acquired by—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, 21 M. 278.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, 18 B. 507.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, art. 138, A.W.N. 1887, 92.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 14, 18 B. 244.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 91, 27 C. 156, P.C. = 26 I.A. 216 = 4 C.W.N. 274.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 91, 144, 17 B. 755.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 119, 43 P.L.R. 1904 = 3 P.R. 1904.

Tenants-in-common — Sharers under Mahomedan Law—Possession of one tenant-in-common not adverse in the absence of ouster, denial of title or abandonment—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 123, 127, 5 N.L.R. 41 = 2 Ind. Cas. 15.

Of profits alone without the office—Rights to beneficial enjoyment of property—Starting point—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 124, 20 M.L.J. 781 = 8 Ind. Cas. 998.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 124, 5 B. 437.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

Suit for emoluments of office—Declaratory decree obtained during period of—Effect—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 124, 8 Ind. Cas. 883 = 9 M.L.T. 171.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 132, 144, 1 B.L.R. S.N. 13 C.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 132, 144, 1 B.L.R. A.C. 114 = 10 W.R. 172.

Independent trespassers—Adverse possession — Limitation — See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 137, 142, 144, 7 A.L.J. 1184.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 139, 25 M. 507 = 12 M.L.J. 119.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 139, 148, 4 B.H.C. A.C. 155.

Against an adoptive mother, how far operative against an adopted son—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 140 and 141, 2 Bom. L.R. 411.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 141, 18 B. 216.

Against a reversioner, effect of, when complete against a Hindu widow, how far operative against the reversioner who is entitled to the estate—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 141, 2 Bom. L.R. 106.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 141, 142, 79 P.R. 1898.

By a grandmother against grandson, which is not adverse in its inception, does not become adverse merely by registration of her will—See LIMITATION ACT, art. 141, 3 Bom. L.R. 673.

Possession adverse to the female adverse to the reversioner—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 141, 142, 144, 41 P.R. 1903.

Against Hindu reversioner—Suit by more remote reversioners on death of such reversioner—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 144, 106 P.R. 1906 = 162 P.L.R. 1906.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 148, A.W.N. 1886, 152.

Mahomedan widow in possession of property in lieu of dower—Loss of possession by widow — Adverse possession by stranger—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER, A.W.N. 1908, 256 = 5 A.L.J. 715.

Mahomedan Law—Possessory lien for dower — Adverse possession—See MAHOMEDAN LAW — DOWER, A.W.N. 1893, 103.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT, A. W. N. 1884, 296.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—INHERITANCE, A. W. N. 1884, 171.

Wakf property—Acquisition of title by—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF, 7 A.L.J. 1095 = 8 Ind. Cas. 578.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

Office of Mutwalli—Adverse possession—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF, 3 Ind. Cas. 419=11 C.L.J. 304=14 C.W.N. 497=37 C. 263.

Where the enjoyment of a person in possession is not adverse to the owner of the property, the owner's right will not be barred by limitation—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF, 9 C.W.N. 625=2 A.L.J. 513=2 C.L.J. 179=27 A. 320=15 M.L.J. 261.

See MALABAR LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 14 M. 38.

See MALABAR LAW—MORTGAGE, 10 M. 189.

See MESNE PROFITS—MODE OF ASSESSMENT, 5 W. R. 127, P.C.=2 M.L.A. 113.

Against mortgagor—Suit by mortgagee—Limitation—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 9 Ind. Cas. 990.

Assertion of proprietary right by mortgagee, after fruitless foreclosure proceedings—Mutation in Revenue records in his favour—Whether he can start possession adverse to mortgagor—See MORTGAGE—FORECLOSURE, 90 P.L.R. 1908=65 P.R. 1908=113 P.W.R. 1908.

See MORTGAGE—FORECLOSURE, 8 B.L.R. 104, P.C.=16 W.R. P.C. 33=14 M.L.A. 144.

Mortgagee's possession not adverse to true owners—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 4 A.L.J. 787=A.W.N. 1908, 1=3 M.L.T. 132.

As between mortgagor and mortgagee—What constitutes—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 15 O.C. 39.

Mortgagor and mortgagee—Possession of mortgagee when adverse—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 9 C.W.N. 201=7 Bom. L.R. 1=2 A.L.J. 71, P.C.=1 C.L.J. 584=32 C. 296.

See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 161 P.R. 1889, 71 P.R. 1900.

Usufructuary mortgage—Ouster of mortgagees—See MORTGAGE—USUFRUCTUARY, A.W.N. 1908, 25=5 A.L.J. 85=3 M.L.T. 125=30 A. 119.

Mortgage—Sale of equity of redemption—Purchase by mortgagee and possession whether amounts to adverse possession against true owner of equity—See MORTGAGE—MISCELLANEOUS, 21 B. 793.

See OUDH SETTLEMENT, 8 A.L.J. 132, P.C.=9 M.L.T. 200=15 C.W.N. 273=21 M.L.J. 109=13 Bom. L.R. 75=9 Ind. Cas. 391=14 O. C. 95=33 A. 125=13 C.L.J. 63.

Partition—Land allotted to minor—Adult member remaining in possession—Nature of possession—See PARTITION—GENERAL, 9 M. L.T. 387=9 Ind. Cas. 505.

Defendant not himself in possession—Plea of—See PARTITION—GENERAL, 5 Ind. Cas. 325.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—continued.

Acts not necessarily amounting to—Rights of person in previous possession as against trespasser—See POSSESSION—ADVERSE POSSESSION, 4 Ind. Cas. 314=18 P.W.R. 1909.

Suit for possession on title by purchase—Title not proved—Title by adverse possession not being inferrible from plaint or issue—Effect—See POSSESSION—SUITS FOR POSSESSION, 4 M.L.T. 344.

Suit for possession—Plaintiffs alleging that defendants were tenants of other than suit lands and that by trespass they got suit land within 12 years before suit—Defendant's possession for more than 12 years proved—Effect—See POSSESSION—SUITS FOR POSSESSION, 8 C. L.J. 557.

Possession in the first instance permissive, and not adverse—Adverse possession subsequently set up—Burden of proof of—See POSSESSION—SUITS FOR POSSESSION, 5 M.L.T. 294=1 Ind. Cas. 806.

Declaration of title based on—Claim based on adverse possession not set up in the plaint—Practice—Pleadings—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, A.W.N. 1908, 277.

See MAD. REG. XXV OF 1802, s. 8, 3 M.H. C. 5.

Right to office of shebait may be extinguished by—See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT, 3 Ind. Cas. 408=11 C.L.J. 2.

Right to shebaitship—Acquired by more than 12 years—See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT, 19 C. 776.

See RES JUDICATA—PARTIES, 1 C.L.R. 531.

See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY—ACQUISITION OF RIGHT, 1 B.L.R. S.N. 25 A.

Suit by landlord to resume occupancy right on the death of the widow of tenant—Plea of adverse possession by person claiming through widow—See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY—MISCELLANEOUS, 60 P. R. 1908=109 P.W.R. 1908.

Tenant's possession when adverse—See SALE—GENERAL, 13 C.L.J. 660.

Rights of successive holders of hereditary and impartible estates, whether may be barred by—See SARANJAM, 12 Bom. L.R. 208=5 Ind. Cas. 965=34 B. 329.

See SETTLEMENT—EFFECT OF SETTLEMENT, 1 Agra 231.

Whether plea of title by, should be allowed though not raised in plaint—Test—See SUCCESSION ACT, 1865, ss. 2, 231, 12 C.L.J. 459=8 Ind. Cas. 41.

Management of temple by rotation among two branches of trustees—Discontinuance of possession by one branch—Adverse enjoyment by other—Extinction—See TEMPLE, 27 M. 192.

Possession—continued.—2.—Adverse Possession—concluded.

Suit by mortgagee—Decree under s. 86 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882)—Decree directing payment within a certain time and in default foreclosure—Default by mortgagor—Possession of mortgagee adverse—Second suit for redemption barred—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 86, 8 O.C. 33.

Of joint Hindu family property—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 6, 9 O.C. 55 B.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 123, 4 M.L.T. 327=19 M.L.J. 255=6 M.L.T. 166=3 Ind. Cas. 122.

Trust-deed turning out to be invalid—Adverse possession by trustee as against cestui que trust—Resulting trust in favour of settlor—Limitation—See TRUST, 13 Bom. L.R. 717.

Decisive factor in determining—See TRUST, M.W.N. 1912 445.

Collection of rents by settlor—Whether adverse to trustees—See TRUST, 10 M.L.T. 44.

Holder of missing person's estate—Possession—See TRUST, 2 Agra 78.

See TRUST, 6 M.L.J. 270, 9 M.L.J. 93.

See TRUSTEE, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 409=12 W. R. 319.

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER—MISCELLANEOUS, 1 Agra 110.

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, s. 42, A.W.N. 1887, 103.

—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title.

(1)—Question of fact—Evidence.—When a witness says that a party is in possession, that, in point of law, is admissible evidence of the fact that such party was in possession. Per Mitter, J.—A bare statement of a witness that A.B. was in possession unaccompanied by any information as to his means of knowledge, or as to the materials upon which he came to that conclusion, would be, even if it were admissible in law, evidence of a most unsatisfactory character. If the word 'possession' is understood in the sense of actual occupation—a fact directly cognizable by the senses,—there can be no doubt that the statement would be admissible, but if the word is to be understood in the sense of what is called in legal phraseology constructive possession, the witness must be considered to have been speaking not of a fact directly within his knowledge but of a conclusion based upon facts although the knowledge of those facts might have been actually derived from sensation, the primary source of all our knowledge. MANIRAM DEB v. DEBI CHARAN DEB, 4 B.L.R. F.B. 97=13 W.R. F.B. 42. [F., 8 Bom. L.R. 19=1 M.L.T. 63.]

(2)—Possession—Mixed question of fact and law—Statement by witness as to possession.—

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

A mere statement by a witness to the effect that a party is in possession is no evidence of possession. The question of possession is a mixed question of fact and law, which it is for the Court to determine. The evidence produced on the point must give the various acts of ownership which go to constitute possession, so that the Court might arrive at its own conclusion. ISHAN CHUNDER BEHARA v. RAM LOCHUN BEHARA, 9 W.R. 79.

(3)—Possession—Proof—Occasional visiting and use of house prima facie evidence of possession.—Where the question was whether the vendor of a house was in possession of it within 12 years before the commencement of the suit, and it was shown that he had, within the twelve years occasionally visited and made use of the house, held this was ample evidence of possession, unless it was shown that the party so claiming possession had come to the house in the capacity of a visitor, and not in his own right. UNUNTO RAM SEAL v. BROJO BULLUB SEAL, 11 W. R. 136.

(4)—Evidence not alluding to specific acts of ownership—Possession.—The High Court, in special appeal, held that evidence not alluding to specific acts of ownership, was not enough to prove possession. JAGABANDHU DAS GAJENDRA MAHAPATRA v. DINABANDHU DAS GAJENDRA MAHAPATRA, 2 B.L.R. App. 30.

(5)—Suit for possession—Assertion of title by plaintiff in previous proceedings—No objection raised by defendant—Presumption.—In a dispute as to who was the owner of certain land, where the evidence in the case showed that, whenever the question of ownership of the suit land was raised in previous proceedings before the Revenue Authorities, the plaintiff successfully asserted that it belonged to him, whereas the defendant, knowing that his title was not acknowledged, never raised any objection, held that the mere fact of the plaintiff failing to prove that he had taken any produce of the suit land did not show that the plaintiff was not in possession. BORDDO NATH MOKOOR v. DUMOYUNTEE DEBIA, 19 W.R. 245.

(6)—Mirasdar's title, proof of—Long possession.—The titles of mirasdars, both of those who once had but have lost their sanads and of those who never had such documents, may be proved by other evidence, and long possession is a strong element in such proof. A sanad is not indispensable to the proof of mirasi tenure. BABAJI AND NANAJI v. NARAYAN, 3 B. 340. [Appl. 18 B. 433; Cons., 1 Bom. L.R. 373; R., 15 B. 647, 25 C. 896, 5 Bom. L.R. 186.]

(7)—Survey records—Evidentiary value in suit for possession.—Where a person sues to recover possession of lands, the onus is upon him to show that he has been in possession and that he has a title in them. Certain alluvial lands were originally surveyed as appertaining to no permanently settled estate in 1863-1864. The predecessor-in-title of the plaintiff, subsequently in 1864, claimed them as appertaining to his estate. No objections being raised by any one to his claim, the survey authorities admitted it, and corrected their record accordingly. The plaintiff, in 1876, sued for recovery of possession of the land. Held, that although, ordinarily, the fact of the land of a certain village being measured by the Revenue Authorities as appurtenant to a certain estate is prima facie evidence of possession of that land at the time of the survey by the owner of such estate, and, in the absence of proof to the contrary, the title would follow the possession, yet, no presumption of possession or of title could arise in favour of the plaintiff upon the survey proceedings of 1863. If no possession ever followed it, the plaintiff would not be entitled to a decree. If, on the other hand, he was able to prove possession, it would be for the Court to decide whether the plaintiff could establish a title on it, either by reason of its being an accretion to his original estate, or a reformation of plaintiff's lands. KUSSESUR ROY v. JOGGODISHURI, 7 C.L.R. 269.

Possession—continued.---3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(8)—Evidence — Undisturbed possession — Registry in Government books.—Where the name of a person or his ancestor has always been entered in the Government books, and it is found that he has always paid the Government assessment in respect of certain villages, though that may not be evidence of title, it is very strong evidence of possession. DEVAJI GAYAGI v. GODABHAI GODBHAI, 2 B.L.R. P. C. 85=11 W.R.P.C. 35=2 Suth. 208. [F., 17 W.R. 346; R., 5 Bom. L.R. 956.]

(9)—Evidence of possession—Collector's books.—The Collector's books are intended only for the purposes of revenue: they are evidence neither of title nor possession. PANDURANG v. ANANT, 5 Bom. L.R. 956. KHAVAR SULTAN v. RUKHA SULTAN, 6 Bom. L.R. 983.

(10)—Chur lands—Suit for possession of—Evidence.—Where, in a suit for possession of chur lands, plaintiff alleging his possession for 10 years and subsequent dispossession by Government, the lower Court decreed the claim, relying on the strength of a map prepared by an Amin in another suit to which the defendant was no party, and rejecting the whole of the evidence which consisted of the depositions of Government officers, who, from year to year went to the land, measured it, surrounded it by pillars and exercised other acts of possession, held that the lower Court was wrong in having decreed possession to the plaintiff. It was pointed out to the lower Court that the decrees obtained by either party to which the other was no party, or the proceedings of the Revenue Authorities, should not be considered as binding, but should be treated as evidence to which the Court should give such weight as it thinks proper. The fact that the Government sent its public officers to the spot to have it measured and surrounded with pillars is the very best evidence of possession, whether the land was chur or cultivable—Per Jackson, J. (N.B.)—The case was, accordingly, remanded for re-trial according to the above directions. THE COLLECTOR OF FURREEDPORE v. KALLEE DOSS HAZRAH, 17 W.R. 195.

Possession—continued.---3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(11)—Possession, Suit for—Title—Evidence—Government revenue, receipts for—Evidentiary value.—In a suit for possession, if the plaintiff proves his possession for 30 years prior to the institution of the suit, he proves a title by prescription and is entitled to get from the Court a decree declaring his title to the suit property, notwithstanding any title that the defendant might set up to the contrary, however good that title may be. The possession of receipts for Government revenue is no proof or, at best, a very weak proof, of possession of property. LALLEE SINGH v. MUSSAMUT ARIT KOOR, 17 W.R. 490.

(12)—Evidence—Possession — Disturbance—Receipt of rent.—Receipt of rent is good evidence of possession, but does not necessarily follow in every case that a party in possession has been disturbed, because he cannot prove that he has collected rent in respect of a particular portion of the property. PUDAR BINDHOO MAHANTEE v. MOHESH CHUNDER SEN, 20 W.R. 183.

(13)—Non-payment of rent at any time, how far proof of exemption protected by limitation—Party claiming rent, burden of proof on—Permissive holdings, Zemindar's rights not affected by.—Where the holding has been merely permissive, it could not prejudice the right of the zemindar. The fact that no rent has ever been paid may be prima facie strong proof of a de facto exemption protected by limitation. The plaintiff claiming the land may be able to satisfy the Court that her remedy was not affected by lapse of time and that the land was held for service due and rendered to the zemindar, otherwise by the permission of the zemindar, but the onus of proving the above will always be upon the plaintiff. ALI BUX v. MUSUMAT ROOP KOOR, 2 N.W.P. 106.

(14)—Possessory suit—Rent decree—Evidence.—In a suit for rent filed against a registered tenant and another, a decree against the former is not binding evidence of possession in a subsequent suit for possession between them. HURRONATH BHUTTACHARJEE v. ROBERT HARNEY, 25 W.R. 23.

(15)—Suit to set aside decree—Possession—Title—Court's duty.—Where a plaintiff sues to set aside a decree and also to recover possession on the strength of his title, the question of title must be tried by the Court. TARINEE CHURN MUSADDEE v. JABAR ALI, 23 W.R. 21.

(16)—Act IV of 1840, decision in case under, no evidence respecting title—Issue regarding right to possession, proof of actual possession not necessary.—The decision passed, in an Act IV of 1840 case, cannot amount to any evidence of title one way or the other. A person subsequently suing to get rid of such a decision and to establish his right must prove his title before he can put his opponent to proof of his. Also, where the question for trial is not possession but a right to possession, it is not necessary for the plaintiff to prove khas possession, since he may possibly have a perfectly good title though he might never had any possession. GUDADHUR KOONDOO v. RAM KOONWAR BOSE, 6 W.R. 155.

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(17)—Error of law—Judgment omitting to mention evidence—Act IV of 1840—Possession—Presumption as to title.—Plaintiff sued for possession on the allegation of previous possession and dispossession. Defendant denied that plaintiff ever held the lands in suit at all, or was dispossessed, and pleaded limitation. The lower appellate Court found, "on the whole of the evidence," the allegation of plaintiff as to dispossession, as stated in the plaint, proved. In special appeal, the defendant contended that the lower Courts did not consider the plea of limitation in connection with a record of a case under Act IV of 1840, in which it was found that a certain embankment was in the possession of the defendant. Held, that by the expression "on the whole evidence" it should be judicially presumed that any and all evidence adduced by the defendant was fully considered and that there was not any error of law in the lower appellate Court not specifically mentioning and dwelling upon the fact in the Act IV record, that a certain embankment was in the possession of the defendant. Possession though not long would be sufficient to raise a presumption of title. PURANCHUNDER MOOKERJEE v. PROTAP NARAIN PAUL, 9 W.R. 120.

(18)—Decree for rent.—A decree for rent is no proof of actual possession. ABDOOL ALI v. ABDUL RUHMAN, 21 W.R. 429.

(19)—Registration under the Act—Evidence in suit for possession—Quære.—Whether, in a suit founded upon possession alone, or in which the relief sought depends solely upon possession, such registration ought not to be treated as prima facie evidence of actual possession at the date when the registration was effected? RAM BUSHAN MAHTO v. JUBLI MAHTO, 8 C. 853. [Expl., 9 C. 431; R., 23 C. 87, F.B.]

(20)—Evidence—Recital in decree between other parties—Possession by tenant.—A recital in a decree in a suit not between the parties to the present suit, or those under whom they claim, cannot be evidence to bind the defendants in the present suit. Possession by a tenant does not in itself lead to any inference as to the character of the tenure; the fact of his having occupied the land and paid rent for 12 years and even for 20 years being equally consistent with his being a tenant-at-will, a farmer or a mokurruredar. SHIU DAYAL

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

PURI v. THAKUR MAHABIR PRASAD, 2 B.L.R. App. 8=10 W.R. 477. [F., 3 B.L.R.A.C. 312=12 W.R. 217; R., 7 B.L.R. 211; D., 11 W.R. 465.]

(21)—Evidence of title—Presumption.—Possession is evidence of title, and is primarily exclusive. It is for him who impugns the exclusive title to show that the possession originated in some way which has preserved his own right, otherwise one must attribute a legal origin and the usual incidents to actual, continued and peaceable enjoyment. BASAPA v. BASAPA, 2 Bom. L.R. 410.

(22)—Possession, Effect of, in relation to title—Conveyance, Evidentiary value of.—Possession is a good title as against everybody who fails to prove one better. Hence, a person not in possession, cannot, without proof of title, turn another even though he may have no title, out of possession. Mere production of a conveyance will be of no avail. GEORGE CLARKE v. BINDABUN CHUNDER SIRCAR, W.R. F.B. 20 = Marsh. 75=1 Ind. Jur. O.S. 97=1 Hay 137.

(23)—Title by possession—Effect.—Possession is a good title against every one who cannot prove a better title. SOODUKHINA CHOWDHRAIN v. RAJ MOHUN BOSE, 11 W.R. 350.

(24)—Possession—Title—Proof of title.—If, in a suit for possession on the ground of trespass, the plaintiff fails to prove that the trespass alleged is true and that the defendant's possession commenced in wrong, he can succeed only on proving a distinctly superior title. ARUMUGAM CHETTY v. PERRIYANNAN SERVAI, 25 W.R. 81, P.C.

(25)—Ownership—Value of possession.—To recover possession a plaintiff must show a better right in himself to possession than is in the defendant. He may, within the period prescribed by the Limitation Act, show that, in a case where he is dispossessed, either by establishing title or by showing a prior legal possession entitling him to be restored to the same. Possession is prima facie proof of ownership: it is so because it is the sum of acts of ownership. This applies both to prior and to present possession. Possession has a two-fold value: it is evidence of ownership, and is itself the foundation of a right to possession. HARI v. DHONDI, 8 Bom. L.R. 96.

(26)—Possession a good defence against a mere wrong-doer.—Possession peaceably held entitles a person to recover without further proof of title as against a mere wrong-doer. BAI FATAN v. EMAD, 3 Bom. L. R. 246.

(27)—Proof of title—Presumption in favour of the man in possession.—Possession is in itself title in the absence of proof displacing the presumption that arises from possession. The man in possession starts with this presumption in his favour, and the maxim presumitur retro applies: and it is, therefore, for the other side to show, not only that the former's possession is not evidence of his title, but that the latter has a superior title. BHAGWAN SING v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE, 10 Bom. L.R. 571.

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(28)—Prior possession—Proof of title—Specific Relief Act, s. 9.—Possession in the absence of proof to the contrary is prima facie evidence of title. Prior possession is a ground on which as prima facie evidence of title, a plaintiff may recover possession in the absence of title set up by the defendant even though his suit does not fall within s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act. But it must be found not only that the plaintiff's prior possession was within 12 years of suit, but also that it was a juridical possession of the property claimed. If the possession is joint, it cannot be held juridical possession of the whole as against the person with whom it is jointly held. All that can be recovered on such joint possession will be joint possession and not exclusive possession; for as against the joint possessor the prior enjoyment would be prima facie evidence of title. RAJARAM v. NANCHAND, 5 Bom. L.R. 225.

(29)—Title — Dispossession — Wrong-doer — Suit to recover possession—Specific Relief Act (1 of 1877), s. 9.—A plaintiff who proves that while in peaceable possession he was dispossessed by the defendant wrongfully is entitled to recover because his previous possession is tantamount to his title as against a wrong-doer. A person in possession has a good title as against every stranger, and one who dispossesses him, having no title in himself is a wrong-doer and cannot defend himself by showing that the title is in some third person. In such cases proof of previous possession is, without more, evidence of the plaintiff's title to recover from the defendants who are proved to be wrong-doers. There is a difference between such a suit and a suit under s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877. In the former, the Court awards the claim only when it finds that the plaintiff had peaceable possession, before dispossession and that the defendant has no title and is a wrong doer, the plaintiff's previous possession being in law sufficient proof of his title; in the latter, the Court can only go into the question of dispossession within six months before suit and cannot enquire into the defendant's title. ALI v. PACHUBIBI, 5 Bom. L.R. 264.

(30)—Acquisition of possession.—For the purpose of going into possession of land, it is not necessary to walk over the whole of it; but it is enough where the lands are connected geographically to go on to one piece of the land in the name of the whole. HANMANTA v. MIR AJMODIN, 6 Bom. L.R. 1104.

(31)—Nuzool land—Houses and shops—Non-assertion of proprietary rights by Government—Local agency—Summary proceeding—Legality of—Regular suit.—Plaintiff had been in possession and enjoyment of two houses and ten shops (which were erected by his ancestor) for very many years from time previous to 1841 without any rent being demanded by Government and without any recognition whatsoever of rights either of the Government or of the public in the houses or the land on which they stood, at any time previous to 1865. The Revenue officials fixed certain sums of money as the prices of the houses, on the ground that they belonged to the nuzool fund, and issued a notice to the effect that if the price be not paid within a month, the houses would be sold. Held that the order can have no legal operation to the prejudice of the plaintiff, and that the Revenue Authorities ought to obtain from the Civil Courts an adjudication of those rights to the property before proceeding summarily. COLLECTOR OF BAREILLY v. GHASEE RAM, 1 Agra 260.

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(32)—Suit for redemption—Defendant pleading possession under sale—Long possession—Burden of proof.—In a suit for redemption of a mortgage, the plaintiff alleged in his plaint that a stale claim of upwards of 30 years, standing was lately purchased by the defendants from one of the sons of the original mortgagors. The defendants denied the mortgage insisting that the transaction was one of sale and that possession was held by them under a sale-deed which had been lost in 1857 during the mutiny, and that in the Collector's papers their names only appeared. Held that it was incumbent on the plaintiff who sought to disturb a possession of more than 30 years' duration, to show his title to do this and to prove that this possession was referable to a mortgage title and not to a title by purchase. Uninterrupted possession for a long period of time is sufficient prima facie proof of title. It is of the utmost consequence in India that the security which long possession affords should not be weakened. RAGHOO NATH RAI v. CHUNDOO LALL, 2 Agra 395.

(33)—Suit for possession of property—Twelve years' possession—Title.—In a suit to recover possession of land, anterior possession for 12 years of the land sought to be recovered does not dispense with the necessity which lies on the plaintiff to prove his title to the property. He is not on that fact alone entitled to be re-placed in possession of the property without regard to any right which may be alleged by the defendant. LAKHI KAMAR v. RAM DUTT CHOWDHRY, 3 B.L.R. App. 44.

(34)—Suit for possession—Plea of joint possession—Limitation—Long possession—Title—Evidence.—In a suit for confirmation of title and possession, the defendants pleaded that they were also jointly in possession with the plaintiffs, but failed to prove this allegation of joint possession. Held that the defendants could not then plead limitation. In a suit for confirmation of title and possession of certain property which was admittedly acquired about a century ago and of which the defendant claimed to be in joint possession, the plaintiff cannot be reasonably expected to prove the specific source from which the acquisition was made. The question of possession is the only material point in the case. Long possession is not only evidence of title, but in a case of this sort, it is a good and valid title by itself. RUNG LALL MISSER v. RAGHOOBUR SINGH, 9 W.R. 169. [D., 11 W.R. 550.]

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(35)—Possession—Presumption.—The only presumption which a Judge, as a matter of law is absolutely bound to make in favour of a person in possession, is that he is in lawful possession, for any purpose beyond this, possession is only evidence to be taken conjointly with the other evidence (if any) by which it is sought to establish or impugn the title. SELAM SHEIKH v. BAIRDONATH GHATAK, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 312=12 W.R. 217. [R., 9 B.H.C. 121.]

(36)—Possession and dispossession—Proof of title, onus of—Act X of 1859—Prescription or title by right of occupancy.—Possession is evidence of title, and if a plaintiff proves that he had possession, and that that possession has been forcibly disturbed by another person against his consent and without the intervention of a Court of law, he will have made out a prima facie title which it would be upon that other person to rebut. (9 W.R. 602, Appl.) A person who had obtained certain land by purchase from a zemindar subsequently confirmed by a pottah was dispossessed by the defendant claiming under a lease from the same landlord. She sued for recovery of possession, and the Court of first instance decreed her claim. But the lower appellate Court, holding that the pottah was not proved by the plaintiff, refused to go into the question of possession and dismissed the suit. Held that, even admitting for the sake of argument that the plaintiff had failed in proving the genuineness of the pottah propounded by her, it would have been still necessary for the lower appellate Court to enquire whether the plaintiff, or the party through whom she claimed, had been in possession of the property in dispute for such a length of time as would have been sufficient to create a title by prescription in her favour, or, at any rate, a title of occupancy under the provisions of Act X of 1859. AYESHA BEEBEE v. KANHYA MOLLAH, 12 W.R. 146.

(37)—Act XIV of 1859, s. 15—Possessory action—Burden of proof.—A party failing in a possessory action under s. 15, Act XIV of 1859, is bound to prove his title, even though he may have been in possession for three or four years previously. JHOOMUCK LALL SHAHA v. JAMES BURRELL, 21 W.R. 52.

(38)—Act XIV of 1859, s. 15—Scope and object—Dispossession by wrongful act.—S. 15 of Act XIV of 1859 does not in any way affect the general law on matters to which it relates. It was intended by that section solely to give a special remedy for a particular kind of grievance. Were it not for the advantages given by that Act, it might happen that a person in undisturbed possession of landed property might be turned out by a stranger, and might not be able to get it back again without invoking the assistance of a Court of Law; but if he did come into Court for the purpose of seeking to recover possession, the burden would be placed upon him to prove a prima facie title before the defendant can be called upon to say anything in defence of his own case. KALEE CHUNDER SEIN v. ADDOO SHAIKH, 9 W.R. 602. [R., 19 C. 544, F.B.; D., 11 W.R. 550.]

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(39)—Suit to recover possession of bramat land—Act XIV of 1859, s. 15.—Where the plaintiffs sued to recover possession of certain bramat lands by declaration of their title by purchase to those lands and for reversal of an order passed under s. 15, Act XIV of 1859 (by virtue of which the defendant dispossessed them of the same), held that, though the plaintiffs failed to prove their title-deeds, their title was yet sufficiently established by oral evidence of long possession prior to their dispossession by the defendant. RAMCHANDRA CHOWDHRI v. BRAJANATH SARMA, 3 B.L.R. App. 109.

(40)—Zemindar not competent to restrain persons of his officers—Ejectment of officers from houses—Onus of proof of title on zemindar.—A zemindar has no right to restrain the persons of his officers in case he thinks proper so to do, and the Court should hold him liable to more than merely nominal damages for such restraint in order to impress upon him the injustice of proceeding upon any supposed custom to the contrary. Where an officer of the zemindar has had long possession of, and lived in, a house appropriated to him according to the customs and usages in the East Indies, the Court can justly draw the inference from such possession that that is evidence of title. In the absence of any proof of the existence of a good title to the contrary in the zemindar, the title of his officer inferred from long possession should prevail. RAJAH PEDDA VENKATAPPA NAIDOO BAHADUR v. AROVALA ROODRAPA NAIDOO, 6 W.R. P.C. 13=2 M.I.A. 504=1 Suther 112=1 Sar. 224. [F., 9 W.R. 71; D., 8 W.R. 370.]

(41)—Person in possession, right of, to continue—Duty of opponent to disclose better title.—In this case, defendant was admittedly in possession and plaintiff who sought to oust him from possession was bound to prove a better title. The title produced by the plaintiff was his decree and if this be impugned by the defendant and proved to be collusive, the defendant, however bad his own title might be, would be entitled to remain in possession until some one disclosed a better title than he. It would be no answer to defendant's allegation of fraud to show that he was himself in no better position, because he, being in possession of the thing sought to be recovered, was, for the time, master of the situation, and could only be ejected on the strength of his assailants' title, and not on account of the weakness of his own right. GOPEE NATH DOSS v. DYANIDHEE SOONDURA MOHAPATTUR, 7 W.R. 485.

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(42)—Suit for damages for value of fruits, etc., taken by a wrong-doer from a garden, maintainability of—Possession and title, proof of.—Where a person brought a suit to recover the value of fruits and other crops taken away wrongfully, from the garden in his possession, by the defendants, held, that the plaintiff would be entitled to a decree for damages without proof of title, if it was found first, that he had been in possession from before and up to the date of the institution of the suit, and secondly, that the defendants had failed to make out a better title to the garden than the plaintiff. So, in this case, the plaintiff will be entitled to a decree, unless the defendants make out a better title; title need not be proved by the plaintiff. LEP SINGH KHASIA v. NIMAR KHASIA, 21 C. 244.

(43)—Settlement — Long possession.—Long possession itself does not give a title to settlement, if the parties asking for the settlement do not comply with the requirements of the law. GOLAK CHANDRA CHOWDHRY v. ALI MOLLAH, 8 B.L.R. 528, Note = 11 W. R. 378.

(44)—Suit to recover possession of immoveable property — Title and possession.—A plaintiff cannot ordinarily succeed in a suit to recover possession of immoveable property, merely by showing that the title to the property to which the defendant is in possession has accrued to him. Where a plaintiff seeks to recover possession upon a title recently acquired by him, it is not an invariable rule that he should prove the origin of his vendor's title and the documents on which it is founded; it is quite sufficient for him to give proof of long possession on the part of his vendor. Though possession alone could not be conclusive evidence of title, nor does it constitute title, still, long and undisturbed possession of the vendor, when positive evidence of title cannot be had, might in many cases be sufficient to constitute proof of title. JOYKISHEN MOOKERJEE v. RAJKISHEN MOOKERJEE, 12 W. R. 315.

(45)—Pre-emption — Long possession — Sale-deed set aside in first Court—Appeal—Result not known—Mutiny—Destruction of records.—The plaintiff claimed a right of pre-emption as sufee shurikh or partner in an estate purchased in 1853. The defendant alleged that the deed of 1853 was set aside, in a suit founded thereon brought by the plaintiff in 1855. This was admitted by the plaintiff, but he stated that the decree was reversed in appeal. Of this, there was no evidence, but it appeared that an appeal was preferred against that decision. The result of the appeal could not be known, inasmuch as the records of that time were burnt during the mutiny. The first Court gave him a decree on the ground of long possession as proprietor. The lower appellate Court reversed the decision on the ground that as the plaintiff's claim for pre-emption must stand or fall with the deed of 1853, and as this had been admittedly set aside by a decision in the Munsiff's Court in 1855, it was upon the plaintiff to show that that decision was reversed on appeal and as he failed to do so, it was unnecessary to enter into the question of his possession. Held, that under the circumstances of the case, the plaintiff was entitled to a decree on proof of long possession as proprietor. TUFANI SINGH v. MUSSAMAT DURGABAN, 4 B. L. R. App. 21.

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(46)—Suit for rent—Adverse possession—Relationship of landlord and tenant, non-existence of—Limitation.—Where there has been no occupation by the defendant as tenant to and under the title of the plaintiff as landlord, but an occupation by the defendant adverse and hostile to the title of the plaintiff in the lands in question: Held, that under such circumstances the plaintiff's suit for rent was barred by the law of limitation. KIRPA SHUNKUR v. PAL PANDEY, 1 Agra Rev. 47.

(47)—Purchase by a person for himself and as agent of another—Possession with other subsequent to purchase — Finding as title.—The question in this case was whether the property in suit was purchased by one W for himself or as agent and on behalf of the plaintiff. The lower Courts found that W was the plaintiff's agent, that subsequent to the purchase by W, plaintiff got possession and retained it for several years, and on such evidence of possession, the title was decided to be with the plaintiff. SYUD MAHOMED SHUMSOOL HOADA v. SYUD MOONEEROOL HUQ, 2 W. R. 41.

(48)—Possession—Plaintiff not in possession for 12 years—Evidence—Adverse possession.—If the plaintiff does not show possession within 12 years of suit, it does not follow that the defendant must have a verdict. Possession may be some evidence of title. But it must be weighed for the party proving that fact together with the other independent evidence adduced by that party, and it must be considered also with reference to how far the evidence adduced by the opposite party may tend to rebut it. The plea of adverse possession for more than 12 years is another point for adjudication in bar. GOPEENATH MOOKERJEE v. ISSUR CHUNDER BANERJEE, 9 W.R. 365.

(49)—Adverse possession — Presumption of independent title.—Long adverse possession of a defendant, admittedly for 10 or 11 years, in the face of a powerful Zemindar, without any opposition on his part, was in the absence of any evidence on the part of the plaintiff to prove his possession within 12 years, held to establish clearly the fact that the adverse possession of the defendant was that of a party with an independent title. DINOBUNDHOO SUHAYE v. THE COURT OF WARDS, 11 W.R. 347.

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(50)—Joint family Property—Presumption in favour of joint possession by members—Exclusive possession by some members, effect of, on presumption—Onus of proof on party setting up joint possession.—The family property in this case had been in the exclusive possession of the defendant's father. The original presumption in favour of the joint possession of joint family property was supplanted by another and totally different presumption by reason of the said exclusive possession, so that the plaintiff who set up joint possession was bound to make out that a new state of things had subsequently arisen by which he had been re-admitted to possession as a joint owner or had otherwise obtained a practical recognition of his right in that character. The evidence produced by the plaintiff in this case was loose and defective, and it having been met by a stronger body of evidence on the other side, the decree of the lower Court in favour of the plaintiff was reversed. TATYA v. ANAJI, 11 B. 220, Note (a) = P.J. 1883, 259. [F., 2 Bom. L.R. 410; R., 11 B. 216.]

(51)—Exclusive possession of property—Title by prescription—Onus of proof on party impugning exclusive title.—This was a suit for a portion of joint property alleged to have been left undivided at a general partition of the family. The defendant had exclusive possession of the plaintiff's property. It was held that the onus lay on the plaintiff, who impugned such exclusive title to prove that the possession originated in some way by which his right was preserved. The man who is out of possession must make out some prima facie title and some acknowledgment of it such that possession by his adversary is deprived of its ordinary effect through being held on a joint right or on one subordinate to the right set up. No such title and agreement having been made out in this case, plaintiff was held not entitled to the relief sought by him. VITHOBA v. NARAYAN, 11 B. 221, Note (b) = P.J. 1883, 262. [R., 11 B. 216.]

(52)—Enjoyment by one of two joint-owners, prima facie an exclusion of the other—Continuance of joint right, the necessity of positive evidence to make out.—When of two persons one is in enjoyment of property and the other has no enjoyment or possession, that is, prima facie an exclusion of the latter, there may be a contract or other jural relation between the parties which accounts for the sole possession, and makes it preserve instead of destroying the joint right; but, of such a state of things positive evidence is always required since otherwise possession continued even for centuries would afford no security to property. An enjoyment by agreement even after partition, by one for several would, of course, satisfy the test, but then, there must be evidence of the agreement to prevent the inference of exclusive possession. LACHIRAM v. UMA, 11 B. 221, Note = P.J. 1883, 285.

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(53)—Limitation—Adverse possession—Mortgage by owner—Redemption by person not entitled to property—Assertion of right.—L died in 1848, having in the previous year mortgaged the disputed property. After his death, F and his sister were recorded as proprietors. They were his grandchildren, the children of a son who died in his lifetime. After the record of their names as proprietors, F and his sister redeemed the mortgage in 1854 and afterwards sold the property to the defendant. Until the redemption of the mortgage in 1854, the actual possession was with the mortgagee. The Nankar allowance reserved by the original mortgagor was held by F and his sister. The plaintiff claimed as the son of L by another wife—Held, that these undisputed assertions of ownership by F and his sister sufficiently indicated an assertion of exclusive right to the mortgagor's right or equity of redemption adversely to the plaintiff's claim, and that the adverse right thus asserted having lasted for more than twelve years, the plaintiff's right of suit was barred by time. MUSSUMAT RUTTUN BEBEE v. MAKARUM ALI, 2 Agra 309.

(54)—Possession—Permission—Effect on title.—Long possession would not confer any title on the occupant, if it be proved that the possession was a permissive one. GUNGA DEEN CHOWDHRY v. HUR SAHAI SINGH, 3 Agra 261. See, also, TOOLSEERAM v. NAHUR SINGH, 3 Agra 271.

(55)—Occupied and unoccupied lands—Limitation.—For purposes of limitation, it is important to consider whether the disputed lands are occupied or uninhabited and uncultivated. Where the land has been occupied, the question of possession must properly be dealt with as distinct from that of title; but where no acts of ownership, by any person, could be proved to have been exercised over the land, the right to which is disputed, it would be often necessary to rely upon slight evidence of possession and, sometimes, possession of the adjoining land coupled with evidence of title, such as grants or leases, and under such circumstances the party, who has the title, might be presumed to have also the possession. MOHIMA CHUNDER DEY SIRCAR v. HURRO LALL SIRCAR, 3 C. 768 = 2 C.L.R. 364.

(56)—Conflicting evidence of possession—Presumption of title.—Where the evidence of possession, in a case where both the parties are trying to make out a title by twelve years' adverse possession, is conflicting and conclusive on neither side, the presumption that possession goes with the title may well be applied. DHARM SINGH v. HUR PERSHAD SINGH, 12 C. 38. (20 W.R. 25, F.) [F., 8 C.W.N. 876; Expl., 7 C. P.L.R. 12, 27 C. 25.]

(57)—Evidence of possession conflicting—Title, presumption of—Possession not necessarily the same as actual user—When presumption in favour of continuance of possession though in no sense a conclusive one arises.—Where the evidence of possession is strong on both sides and apparently equally balanced, preference should be given to the evidence on the side of the party with whom the title is found. But the principle does not apply where the evidence of possession is equally unworthy of reliance on either side. [R., 8 C.W.N. 876.] Possession is not necessarily the same thing as actual user. A presumption in favour of continuance of possession arises in a case in which a person has to prove possession of the disputed land within the statutory period of limitation, if there is anything special in the character of the land, e.g., when land is either permanently or temporarily incapable of actual enjoyment in any of the customary modes. Such a presumption is in no sense a conclusive one. THAKUR SINGH v. BHOGERAJ SINGH, 27 C. 25. (9 C. 744, R.) [R., 8 C.W.N. 876.]

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(58)—Title—Possession for twelve years.—A brought a suit under Act X of 1859 to recover arrears of rent re certain lands. B was made a party under s. 77; but A obtained a decree and ousted B. Thereupon B sued A in the Civil Court for possession and for the declaration of his rights to the lands, alleging that they were his Likheraj and Davatsa lands. Proof of long possession by B was established. The High Court, on special appeal, held that proof of twelve years' possession by B was sufficient. BISWANATH v. BRAJA MOHAN CHUCKERBUTTY, 1 B L.R.S.N.I. (c) = 10 W.R. 61. [D., 2 B.L.R. App. 8]

(59)—Suit for possession against tortfeasor by one who had possession without title.—A plaintiff, in a suit for possession brought more than six months after his dispossession, is not entitled to possession merely upon proof of previous possession short of possession for a statutory period of 12 years which can give a title by adverse possession. SHAMA CHURUN ROY v. ABDUL KABUR, 3 C.W.N. 158. (20 C. 834, D.; 17 C. 256, 9 C. 130, F.) [R., 26 C. 579.]

(60)—Acquisition of land by Railway Company—Right to compensation of party in possession—Onus on party setting up prior claim.—Where a Railway Company acquires land for public purposes, the person in possession of the land at the time of its acquisition would be prima facie entitled to the money paid for it by the Company, unless some one else showed that he had a prior claim. CHUNDEE CHURN CHATTERJEE v. BIDOO BUDDEN BANERJEE, 10 W.R. 48.

(61)—Land Acquisition Act (X of 1870), s. 15—Compensation for owners of houses and sites—Owners of houses entitled to compensation for sites also.—Assuming that possession of plots of land (on which houses appropriated under Act X of 1870 were situated) had been granted by the Zamindars to the builders to build thereon, and to hold so long as the building subsisted, the Zamindars would be entitled only to a reversionary interest in the land, an interest contingent on the owner of the buildings allowing them to fall into ruin. On the other hand, the owner at the time the property was taken for public purposes would be entitled to the bulk of the compensation awarded for the sites as he had possession of the sites on which the buildings stood. When there was no proof that any grant was ever made to the owner of the buildings, and he has held the land on which the buildings, had been built for upwards of twelve years, without paying any rent or acknowledging the title of the zamindars, he was entitled to the whole compensation allowed for the sites to the exclusion of the zamindars, and the mere fact that the sites were situated within the area of a permanently settled mahal was not sufficient to justify the presumption that the Zamindars made a limited grant to the original builders, or in other words, reserved to themselves reversionary rights in the sites. MAHANT GUR PARSHAD v. UMRAO SINGH, 7 N.W.P. 218.

Possession—continued.—3.—Evidence of Possession and Title—*ctd.

(62)—For a limited period by grandfather—Land—Ancestral property.—Mere possession for seven or eight years, by a grandfather, of land which it is not clear was his and which he abandons to his daughter, does not make the land ancestral property. MAUNG SHWE ON v. MAUNG SHWE NU, L.B.R. 1893-1900, 468.

Recovery of possession—Evidence of peaceable possession till dispossession—Proof of title, onus of—See BURDEN OF PROOF—LIMITATION AND ADVERSE POSSESSION, 7 C. 591 = 9 C.L. R. 164.

Decree of Civil Court re possession—Magistrate's duty to maintain possession—See CRIM. PRO. CODE, 1898, s. 145, 29 C. 208 = 6 C.W.N. 38.

Long, by alleged mortgages without recognition of mortgagor's claim—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss. 102, 110, U.B.R. 1897-1901, Vol. II, 409.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 110, U.B.R. 1897-1901, Vol. II, 416.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 110, U.B.R. 1902-03, Vol. II, Civil, Evidence, 7.

See EVIDENCE ACT, s. 110, L.B.R. 1872-1892, 474.

See FISHERY, W.R. 1864, 243.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 127, 11 B. 216.

Decree in possessory suit, if evidence of title—See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, s. 9, 15 C.L. J. 1.

See TITLE, 8 W.R. 386, 10 W.R. 61.

—4.—Nature of Possession.

(1)—Presumption as to possession.—When the evidence of possession is conflicting, the presumption is that possession follows title. BABU KASTURI SINGH v. RAJEUMAR BABU, 8 C.W.N. 876.

Possession—continued.—4.—Nature of Possession—continued.

(2)—Possession not always actual user—Presumption where actual enjoyment not possible—Nature of presumption.—Possession does not necessarily mean the same thing as actual user. When land has been shown to have been in a condition unfitting it for actual enjoyment in the usual modes, at such a time and under such circumstances that that state naturally would, and probably did, continue till within twelve years before suit, it may properly be presumed that it did so continue, and that the previous possession continued also, till the contrary is shown. Such a presumption is not conclusive, its bearing depending upon the circumstances of each particular case. MAHOMED ALI KHAN v. KHAJA ABDUL GUNNY, 9 C. 744=12 C.L.R. 257, F.B. [Appl., 9 C. 802; R., 24 C. 256, 26 C. 114, 12 C.W.N. 273, 27 C. 25, 105 P.R. 1901, 8 C.W.N. 876, 9 C.W.N. 111, 7 C.L.J. 414, 3 M.L.T. 212.]

(3)—Title—Nature of possessory title.—A Hindu died leaving a widow and a son and leaving also some property behind him. The widow's name was entered in respect of half the property left by the husband and the son's name in respect of the other half. Sometime after, the son also dying, the widow's name was entered in respect of the other half also. Afterwards, the widow made a gift of the half that stood in her name to plaintiff, a minor, and executed a registered deed of gift in his favour. But no mutation of names was effected and the widow remained in possession of the property given away for a number of years. Thereafter, she sold the property, which had been given to plaintiff, to the defendant who obtained possession. Plaintiff now sued defendant, to recover possession of the land. Held, the possession, which the widow had of the property, was one good against all the world except the true owner, who did not appear in this case at all; thus she had a right to dispose of the property in dispute, of which she had been in possession, in any manner she pleased as if she had an absolute and indefeasible title. (24 A. 157, R.) Having once disposed of the property in favour of the plaintiff, it was no longer in her power to sell the same property to defendants in derogation of the gift to plaintiff. The sale gave no title whatever to possession of the property or to eject the donee, the registration of the deed of gift in whose favour completed his title. PAHLWAN SINGH v. RAM BHAROSE, 27 A 169=1 A.L.J. 625=A.W.N. 1904, 222. (25 A 358, R.) [R., 29 A. 52=3 A.L.J. 775=A.W.N. 1906, 264.]

(4)—Possession—Title—Possession of the rightful owner—Intermediate possession of a wrong-doer—Relinquishment by wrong-doer of his possession.—Plaintiff sued to have it declared that the land in dispute belonged to him, alleging that defendant took wrongful possession. It was found that plaintiff's title was proved; and that the defendant had made no permanent use of it inconsistent with its being the plaintiff's land. Held (1) that the plaintiff was entitled to succeed. The proved circumstances of the case invited the application of the presumption that possession goes with the title; (20 W.R. 25, F.) (2) that the use by the defendant of the land was no evidence of adverse possession. Where a person enters upon the land of another and holds possession for a time, and then, without having acquired title under the statute, abandons possession, the rightful owner, on the abandonment, is in the same position in all respects as he was before the intrusion took place. GANAPATI AMBADAS v. RAGHUNATH ANANT, 11 Bom. L.R. 1087=4 Ind. Cas. 244=33 B. 712. (16 B. 388, F.)

Possession—continued.—4.—Nature of Possession—continued.

(5)—Possession of part is possession of whole—Presumption in favour of title—Trespasser's possession is confined to land actually occupied.—Held, that, as a general rule, possession of part is in law possession of the whole, if the whole is otherwise vacant. But constructive possession of this kind can only be presumed when there is a claim based upon title. Held further, that possession by a trespasser is confined to the land actually occupied by him. MAHESHWAR BAKSH SINGH v. HON'BLE RAJA PRATAP BAHADUR SINGH, 12 O.C. 58 B.=2 Ind. Cas. 63. (8 O.C. 177, 29 C. 518, 9 M. 285, 31 C. 397, R.)

(6)—S. 335, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882 (= O. XXI, r. 103, new Code)—Symbolical possession—Dispossession.—Symbolical possession does not amount to "dispossession" within the meaning of s. 335, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882. IBRAHIM MULLICK v. RAM JADU RAKSHIT, 30 C. 710. [R., 16 C.P.L.R. 107, 27 M. 67, F.B.; Expl. and D., 33 C. 487=3 C.L.J. 293.]

(7)—Symbolical.—The delivery in execution, of symbolical possession, as between parties to the suit, amounts to an actual transfer of possession from one party to the other. HIRACHAND v. BALA, 1 Bom. L.R. 48.

(8)—Execution proceedings—Symbolical possession, effect of.—Symbolical possession given in execution proceedings would operate as an actual transfer of possession as between the parties to the suit; but it has no such effect as against third persons that are not parties to the suit. RANJIT SINGH v. BUNWARI LAL SAHU, 10 C. 993. (5 C.L.R. 548, Expl.) [F., 1 Bom. L.R. 48; R., 21 B. 98.]

(9)—Symbolical possession—Effect as between judgment creditor and judgment debtor including their legal representatives—Suit for possession.—As between the judgment-creditor or his assigns on one side, and the judgment-debtor or his heirs on the other, symbolical possession under the execution of a decree is as good as actual possession to give the purchaser or his assigns the right to bring his suit for possession within twelve years from that date. MAHADEV v. PARASHRAM, 2 Bom. L.R. 1087.

Possession—continued.—4.—Nature of Possession—continued.

(10)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 224, person obtaining symbolical possession under, competent to subsequently sue for actual possession.—There is nothing in the law to prevent a person who has obtained merely the symbolical possession under s. 224 of Act VIII of 1859 from asking subsequently for actual possession of the land under s. 223, provided the terms of his decree warrant the giving of such possession. ROBSON AND CO. v. MR. MASEYK, 3 W.R. Mis. 2.

(11)—Limitation—Symbolical possession—Delivery—Revenue sale—Suit for actual possession.—The purchaser at a revenue sale, who is put in symbolical possession by the proclamation of the Collector, is entitled to sue for actual possession of the land within twelve years from the date of such symbolical possession. MOZUFFER WAHID v. ABDUS SAMAD, 6 C.L.R. 539. (5 C.L.R. 548, F.) [R., 6 C.L.J. 472.]

(12)—Suit by purchaser at execution-sale—Limitation—Execution of decree—Symbolical delivery of property to father—Suit by son for actual possession.—A suit by an auction-purchaser of the right, title and interest of the judgment debtor, for possession of the properties, will not be barred, if it is shown that the judgment-debtor was in possession within twelve years before suit. [R., 5 C.L.R. 548.] Where an auction-purchaser takes possession in the manner which the law provides, his proceedings are valid, and a suit by his son, after his death, will not be open to the objection that the purchaser, after his purchase, did not take the necessary steps for delivery of possession of the property in dispute to him by the Court. KOONJO MOHUN DASS v. NOBO COOMAR SHAHA, 4 C. 216. (19 W.R. 101, P.C. & 24 W.R. 418, R.)

(13)—Symbolical possession given under decree—Effect against claimant—Limitation.—Where only symbolical possession and not real possession is given under a decree, the decree-holder or purchaser would be entitled to count a fresh period of limitation from that date only as against the defendant from whom the possession was then formally taken, but not as against a third party, as, for instance, a person who preferred a claim to property attached under the decree and whose claim was disallowed. DOYANIDHI PANDA v. KELAI PANDA, 11 C.L.R. 395. (5 C. 584, F.B.=5 C.L.R. 548, D.) [F., 10 C. 993; R., 6 C.L.J. 472.]

(14)—Execution of decree—Symbolical possession of property—Limitation.—Symbolical possession of immoveable property in the occupation of ryots delivered, in execution of a decree, according to s. 224 of the old Civ. Pro. Code (of 1859) was equivalent, as against the defendant, to actual possession though of no avail as against third parties who are strangers to the proceedings. But if the defendant subsequently dispossesses the plaintiff by receiving the rents and profits, the plaintiffs will have

Possession—continued.—4—Nature of Possession—continued.

12 years from such dispossession to bring another suit. JUGGOBHUNDHU MUKERJEE v. RAM CHUNDER BYSACK, 5 C. 584=5 C.L.R. 548, (F.B.) [F., 6 C.L.R. 539, 7 C. 418, 16 C. 530, F.B.; D., 11 C.L.R. 395, 18 C. 520; Appl., 24 C. 715; Expl., 10 C. 993, 19 B. 620, 6 C.L.J. 472; R., 6 B. 650, 11 C. 93, 10 M. 17, 16 B. 722, 18 M. 405, 19 A. 499=A.W.N. 1897, 127, 25 B. 275, 27 M. 262, 9 C.W.N. 292.]

(15)—Land gradually re-formed on old sites—Identity of site how far can give title to former owner—Party in possession of land right of, to all increments.—When land washed away has been re-formed on two old sites, the identity of site cannot give any title, to the former owners of the two old sites to the lands re-formed in such old sites respectively; nor can such identity of site give any title to land gradually re-formed when it is formed by gradual accession partly to one estate and partly to another.—The person in possession of land is prima facie entitled to it and to all increments to it. It may be difficult to establish what portion of the re-formed land attached itself as an increment by gradual accretion to lands in the possession of, or belonging to the plaintiff. But the difficulty will not supersede the necessity of plaintiff letting in sufficient evidence to prove his case. In order to entitle himself to possession, plaintiff must show that the accretion or some part of it belonged to him or was an increment to land belonging to him. So, a mere finding that the accretion does not belong to the defendant, would not be sufficient ground for decreeing possession of it to the plaintiff. MUTHOORANATH MUZOOMDAR v. TARINEE CHURN SINGH, 8 W.R. 164. [R., 2 B. 19.]

(16)—Limitation Act (XV of 1877)—Possession of tenant possession of landlord—Adverse possession—Definition vis major—Constructive possession—Abandonment by trespasser, effect of—Owner obtaining lease from trespasser, effect of—Possession of the tenant is in law the possession of the landlord or superior proprietor, and it can make no difference whether the tenant be one who claims adversely to his landlord or not. In order to sustain a claim to land by limitation under the Indian Act (Act XV of 1877), there must be actual possession of a person claiming as of right by himself or by persons deriving title from him. If the possession comes to an end by vis major (e.g., submergence of the land), the constructive possession rests not with the trespassers, but with the true owners. If a person enters upon the land of another and holds possession for a time, and then, without having acquired a title under the statute, abandons possession, the rightful owner, on the abandonment, is in the same position in all respects as he was before the intrusion took place. Dispossession by vis major, has the same effect as voluntary abandonment. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v. KRISHNAMONI GUPTA, 29 C. 518. P.C.=29 I.A. 104=6 C.W.N. 617=4 Bom.

Possession—continued.—4.—Nature of Possession—continued.

L R. 537=8 Sar. 260. (6 C. 725, R.) [F., 26 M. 410, 97 P.R. 1902=121 P.L.R. 1902, 9 C.W.N. 111; R., 27 B. 43=4 Bom. L.R. 721, 31 C. 397, 9 C.W.N. 1061, 18 P.L.R. 1904, 2 C.L.J. 1, 3 C.L.J. 316, 23 A. 760=1906 A. W.N. 234=3 A.L.J. 567, 34 C. 753=5 C.L.J. 583=12 C.W.N. 193; R., 35 C. 120=8 C.L.J. 245=12 C.W.N. 16, 7 C.L.J. 414=12 C.W.N. 273=3 M.L.J. 212, 10 C.L.J. 527, 12 O.C. 45, 58.]

(17)—Landlord and Tenant—Acts indicative of possession varying according to nature of property—Waste land—Possession by fluctuating body of persons—Occupation by wrong-doer—Dispossession what constitutes.—Acts indicative of possession must vary according to the nature of the property over which possession is exercised. (3 W.R. 73, R.) In the case of bil or waste lands the cutting of grass and grazing of cattle are the ordinary acts by which possession is asserted. But, where the acts are being done by tenants on the waste lands of their landlords, the principle can only apply, if the acts done are such as to amount to an assertion of possession adverse to the landlords, and are not such acts which presumably are done with his permission or consent. Acts done at different times by a fluctuating body of persons do not amount to adverse possession. To constitute adverse possession, the possession must be adequate in continuity, publicity, and extent. (9 C. 698, 27 C. 943, P.C., F.) Possession or part occupation by a wrong-doer of a portion of the land only cannot be held to constitute constructive possession of the whole, so as to enable him to obtain thereby a title by limitation. (24 C. 256, 29 C. 518, P.C., F.) [Rel. on., 34 C. 753=5 C.L.J. 583=12 C.W.N. 193, 12 O.C. 58.] To constitute dispossession, there must, in every case, be positive acts which can be referred only to the intention of obtaining exclusive control, and which are not consistent with the purpose to which the owner intends to devote the land. WALI AHMED CHOWDHRY v. TOTA MEGH CHOWDHRY, 31 C. 397. [R., 35 C. 961=6 C.L.J. 735=12 C.W.N. 127.]

(18)—Proprietorship of land—Cultivation—Claims of real owner.—The mere fact of a person cultivating barren land for a period of years less than that prescribed by the law of limitation, will not of itself give him a title to the land, unless the land had been granted to him by some officer of Government. When the real owners come back within the statutory period and claim back the land their title must be affirmed, if found to be true. SHUJEWAL v. KURREM CHEND, 38 P.R. 1867.

(19)—Possession of Receiver, Nature of.—The possession of the Receiver is not adverse to the lease-holder, and could not be pleaded against him in any question of limitation. The possession of the Receiver is for the benefit of the parties in the suit. KARTIC NATH PANDY v. PEDMANUND SINGH, 11 C. 496. [Appl., 2 C.L.J. 602.]

Possession—continued.—4.—Nature of Possession—continued.

(20)—Suit for possession—Defendant claiming under conveyance—Decree declaring conveyance to be fraudulent—Limitation.—In a suit for possession of lands against the defendant who claimed under a deed conveying the property to him by way of endowment, the fact of the existence of a previous decree declaring the deed to be fraudulent must not be construed to have the effect of putting the plaintiff in possession. Whatever the decree may have been, the defendant's possession must not be construed as having ceased in consequence of it unless he were actually dispossessed. The fact that there is a decree against the defendant, does not prevent the statute of limitation from running against the plaintiff. SHAIKH MUKBOOL ALI v. SHEIKH WAJED HOSSEIN, 25 W.R. 249.

(21)—Decree for possession—Execution barred by time—Formal possession—Fresh suit—Limitation.—The plaintiff got a decree for possession of the land in dispute, declaring that he was to get possession on a butwarra being made. From the time of the decree, nothing whatever was done under it down to the time when the issuing of execution on the decree was long barred by time. The plaintiff then appeared before the Collector and applied to have a butwarra made. The Collector caused a butwarra to be made which was finally confirmed, and the plaintiff obtained merely formal possession. Held, that no fresh cause of action was given to him by the formal possession given under the butwarra. KISHORE SINGH v. GOBIND SINGH, 24 W.R. 33.

(22)—Butwarra proceedings, possession under, nature of—Crim. Pro. Code, 1872, s. 530.—The possession given by an ameen, in buiwarra proceedings, is possession as owner, and not as occupier, and hence, could not oust tenants holding lands previous to such delivery of possession. In re MODUN MOHUN, 4 C. 378. [R., 20 C. 285.]

(23)—Execution—Formal possession given by Court—Effect.—The formal possession given by a Civil Court under an execution operates, in point of law and fact as between the parties, as a complete transfer of possession from the one party to the other; though it would not be so as against third parties. LOKESUR KOER v. PURGUY ROY, 7 C. 418. (5 C. 584, F.) [Appl., 24 C. 715; R., 11 C. 93, 10 M. 17, 18 M. 405, 6 B. 650, 25 B. 275.]

(24)—Formal possession of property in execution of decree—Subsequent regular suit for actual possession—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 263 & 264.—A person, who has obtained a decree for immovable property in the occupancy of the judgment-debtor, and who, in execution of that decree, has taken mere formal possession of such property, is entitled to bring a fresh suit to compel the same judgment-debtor to deliver up the actual physical possession of the property. (Earlie authorities discussed.) SHAMA CHARAN CHATTERJEE v. MADHUB CHANDER MUKERJI, 11 C. 93. [F., 8 C.W.N. 49; Appr., 24 C. 715; R., 10 M. 53, 3 A.L.J. 504 = A.W.N. 1906, 213 = 28 A. 722; Appl., 5 A.L.J. 35, Note.]

Possession—continued.—4.—Nature of Possession—continued.

(25)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 264—Possession without certificate.—Without deciding the question whether an auction-purchaser who, without a certificate of sale, has been put in possession, could be lawfully ejected because he has not such a certificate, it was held that it was not incumbent on the Court under s. 264 of the Code, to put a purchaser into possession until he had his certificate of sale. TUKARAM v. SATVAJI KHANDUJI, 5 B. 206. [R., 6 B. 139, 7 B. 254, 12 B. 589.]

(26)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 224—Legal possession.—Under s. 224 of Act VIII of 1859, it is essential that all the requirements of that section should be carried out. Where, therefore, no copy of the hookoomnamah was fixed on any place on the land in dispute, the possession given to the decree-holder cannot be called a legal possession under that section. THE COURT OF WARDS v. BURRA LALL OOPENDRA NATH DEO, 15 W.R. 99.

(27)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 221—Legal receipt for possession—Actual receipt of rents—Priority.—Where it is found as a fact that the necessary formalities required by s. 224, Act VIII of 1859, were adhered to and completed, and that there is a legal receipt on record for possession, such facts found give such a right under a Civil Court decree as will prevail over one founded on mere actual receipt of rent. KHETTUR-NATH ROY v. DURBESH MOONSHEE, 9 W.R. 358. [Expl., 12 W.R. 62.]

(28)—Suit for khas possession against trespasser—Decree for possession—Legal possession—Act VIII of 1859, s. 223.—The plaintiff sued the defendant as trespasser and prayed for khas possession, the defendant set up an adverse title, and a decree was given against her for possession; Held that the possession decreed was such as the plaintiff sued for, that is, legal possession as provided by s. 223 of Act VIII of 1859. RAJ MUNGUL ROY v. SREEMUTTY ANUNDOMOYEE, 11 W.R. 63.

(29)—Farm made by Government on account of recusancy of settlement, duration and extent of.—The main question in this appeal was whether the defendant's possession, as Government farmer, should be disturbed because of a final decree having been got for settlement with another person as proprietor for the remaining period of the Government farm. The High Court was of opinion that the claim of proprietary right in cases of recusancy of settlement, cannot interfere with the farm made with another party on account of that recusancy, pending the period, and to the extent of the farm, and held that, until and unless it be decided that the defendant had no right to the farm which she held from Government, she could not be dispossessed of the farm till the expiry of the term of her farm from Government. AMEERONNISSA KHATOON v. MOULIE ABDUL ALI, 2 W.R. 136.

Possession—continued.—4.—Nature of Possession—continued.

(30)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 224—Formal possession given under section—Suit for possession—Limitation Act, 1859, s. 1, cl. 12—Possession under s. 224, Civ. Pro. Code, 1859 and also admitted—Limitation.—Where formal possession under s. 224, Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, is given to a person within twelve years of institution of a suit for possession, held that such possession was sufficient to save the plaintiff's claim from the operation of limitation. The plaintiff obtained a decree against the defendant for possession of a moiety of certain lands appertaining to a shamilat, and as the lands were held by ryots entitled to occupy them, possession was delivered under s. 224, Civ. Pro. Code. The plaintiff brought another suit against the defendant for possession of the remaining moiety, and while the suit was pending obtained an award under Act IV of 1840, after which the defendant's pleader appeared in Court and admitted that the only question remaining to be decided was that of costs. Held that, after this, limitation could not be pleaded against the plaintiff, and if the defendant continued to oppose the occupation of the property by the plaintiff's lessee, every such act of opposition could give the plaintiff a fresh cause of action. BINDULA SHINI DAS v. J.R. RENNY, 7 B.L.R. App. 20 = 15 W.R. 307. [R., 24 W.R. 418.]

(31)—Decree for possession—Symbolical possession—Actual possession not taken within twelve years—Limitation.—If a decree-holder entitled to possession under a decree obtains symbolical possession by the mere ceremony of going to the land and beating drum and posting bamboos, and then allows 12 years to run without taking any steps to get actual possession of the property, he loses his right to the property. PEAREE MOHUN PODDAR v. JUGOBUNDHOO SEN, 24 W.R. 418 [Diss., 4 C.L.R. 55 = 4 C. 870, 11 C. 93; R., 4 C. 216, 25 B. 275 = 2 Bom. L.R. 1021.]

(32)—Title maturing possession—Transfer—Continuity by transferee—Nature of possession—Mortgagors and mortgagees.—A person, whose title to property is maturing by adverse possession, could transfer it and the transferee is entitled to the benefit of such term. This rule will hold good only in cases where the interests of transferor and transferee are of an identical and similar nature and will not apply to a case where a mortgagee sets up adverse possession by adding the period of his mortgagor's possession to that of his own. DITEE v. DEVI DIAL, 189 P.R. 1889. [R., 86 P.R. 1909.]

(33)—Delivery of possession in execution of decree—Subsequent continuance in possession by judgment-debtor—Fresh execution of decree—

Possession—continued.—4.—Nature of Possession—continued.

Fresh suit for possession—Effect of formal possession given to decree-holder—Limitation.—When formal possession of immoveable property has been given according to law in execution of a decree, the subsequent continuance of the judgment-debtor in actual possession of the property cannot entitle the decree-holder to apply for a fresh delivery of possession in execution. He can only institute a fresh suit for possession of the property. Possession once obtained in accordance with the provisions of law even though not actual, would stop the acquirement of hostile right by adverse possession of more than twelve years. GOPAL DAS v. THAN SINGH, 4 A. 184 = A.W.N. 1882, 4. [F., 3 A.W.N. 1883, 192; R., 25 B. 275]

(34)—Distinction between constructive possession by rightful owner and that by wrong-doer—Limitation—Land emerging from a bhil—Presumption as to possession of owner.—Acts of possession by the rightful owner, over a part of any immoveable property may, in many cases, be evidence of de facto possession of the whole. But possession by a wrong-doer, over a part, except where there is close connection and interdependence between the part actually possessed and the whole of which it is claimed to be a part, must be confined to the part of which he is actually in possession. [F., 31 C. 397, 3 C.L.J. 316, 6 C.L.J. 735 = 12 C.W.N. 127, 7 C.L.J. 414 = 12 C.W.N. 273 = 3 M.L.T. 212; R., 34 C. 753 = 5 C.L.J. 583 = 12 C.W.N. 193; D., 6 C.L.J. 472.] Where lands emerge from a bhil, the possession of the owner is presumed to continue, until the contrary is shown, when such lands remain patit or waste, whether it be culturable or unculturable. MOHINI MOHAN ROY v. PROMOTHA NATH ROY, 24 C. 256 = 1 C.W.N. 304. (9 C. 744, 19 C. 660, R.)

(35)—Decree for possession—Plaintiff put in possession without intervention of Court—Dispossession—Subsequent suit for ejectment—Limitation.—Where the plaintiff described himself as having acquired, by a decree, a title to the property in suit and alleged that possession had been yielded to him by the party against whom the decree in his favour was passed, and that he had been dispossessed of that property by the defendant in the month preceding the institution of the suit, the lower Courts ought not to have dismissed his suit for possession based on subsequent ejectment as out of time, simply on the ground that the plaintiff is not shown to have been put in possession of the property in suit by the intervention of Court in execution of the decree. In such a case, the question for trial and determination is, whether the plaintiff obtained possession of the property and was thereafter wrongfully and illegally ejected therefrom by the defendant and the cause of action dates from the date of his dispossession and not the date of the decree. SALIG RAM v. MEHEEN LALL, 2 Agra 235.

Possession—continued.—4.—Nature of Possession—continued.

(36)—Possession—Limitation.—Where the lower Court considered possession "by proclamation of sale through the Sudder Ameen's Court" to amount to "possession" in a manner, through the Court, held that such imaginary possession was no possession at all, and could not prevent the operation of the law of limitation. MOONSHI JOWHER ALI v. RAMCHAND, 2 B.L.R. App. 29 = 24 W.R. 419, Note. [Cons., 24 W.R. 418.]

(37)—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), sch. II, art. 49—Time when detainer's possession becomes unlawful.—The suit, by a successful plaintiff in a suit for specific performance of a contract of sale in respect of moveable and immoveable property, for recovery of the moveable property covered by the contract, will be in time, if brought within three years from the date of the decree for specific performance, since it is from such date that the detention of the moveable property becomes unlawful. DHONDIBA KRISHNAJI PATEL v. RAMACHANDRA BHAGBAT, 5 B. 554.

(38)—Formal possession to decree-holder—Suit for possession—Limitation.—Formal possession given to a decree-holder in execution of his decree is sufficient to give him a fresh cause of action, and he or his assigns may sue to recover possession at any time within twelve years therefrom. It is immaterial that actual possession was not given and a party relying upon adverse possession could not take advantage of his possession previous to the date of such formal possession. UMBIKA CHURN GUPTA v. MADHUB GHOSAB, 4 C. 870 = 4 C.L.R. 55. [R., 11 C. 93, 25 B. 275 = 2 Bom. L.R. 1021.]

(39)—Act IV of 1840—Award by Criminal Courts—Suit for possession after 12 years—Maintainability of.—Where the plaintiff, without setting aside an adverse order of the Criminal Courts under Act IV of 1840, within 12 years, brings a suit for possession of a whole pond, the former order being adverse to the claim, held that his suit was not maintainable. MAHUNT GOPAL NATH v. ABDOL GHANEE, 1 Agra 120.

(40)—Purchase of land—Suit for possession—Decree—Non-execution within statutory period—Forcible possession taken by rightful owner without intervention of Court—Effect—S. 9, Specific Relief Act, 1877.—The defendant had obtained a decree for possession of land purchased by him from the plaintiff's father but took no steps to execute it within the statutory period. On the death of the plaintiff's father the defendant took forcible possession of the land from the plaintiff, (the legal representative of the vendor) without the intervention of the Court, the plaintiff being a minor at the time. The plaintiff, after attaining majority, instituted the present suit to recover possession of the land from the defendant. The lower appellate Court held that the defendant was a trespasser by reason of his having taken forcible possession without the Court's intervention, and that the plaintiff, as heir of the vendor against whom the decree was passed, was entitled to the land until evicted in due course of law. The defendant preferred a second appeal to the High Court. The High Court reversed the lower Appellate Court's decree and held that the defendant was entitled to possession. S. 9 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) provides for the summary removal of any one who dispossesses another, whether peaceably or otherwise than by due course of law; but subject to such provision, it cannot be held that, in India, the rightful owner dispossessing another is a trespasser, and that he must not (as under the English Law) rely, for the support of his possession, on the title vested in him. BANDU v. NABA, 15 B. 238. [F., 12 Bom. L.R. 957; Appr., 9 C.W.N. 1061.]

Possession—continued.—4.—Nature of Possession—continued.

(41)—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), sch. II, arts. 142 and 144—Possession—Discontinuance of possession—Waste land—Presumption of possession—Co-owner, possession of—Not adverse to other co-owners—Possession of one parcel.—In the case of land, which is waste and unfit for use, the presumption of law is that possession is with the rightful owner. (9 C. 744, F.B., F.) The law will never construe a possession tortious, unless from necessity, and it will consider every possession lawful, the commencement and continuance of which is not proved to be wrongful. (35 C. 961, F.) Therefore, where the plaintiffs and defendants are co-owners, and prima facie the possession of one co-owner is on behalf of all, the mere fact that the plaintiffs are unable to show that they exercised any overt act of ownership over the land in dispute within 12 years before suit, does not justify the inference that there has been a discontinuance of their possession, for they are entitled to rely upon the possession of their co-owners as their possession, till such time as the possession of the co-owners became hostile to them. Where there is nothing to show that all the disputed parcels of the land formed one property, the mere fact that the defendants dispossessed the plaintiffs of the first parcel, would not justify the inference that the acts of possession which they exercised over the parcels ought to be attributed to their character, not of co-owners, but trespassers. NARAYAN CHANDRA SINGHA v. BASANTA KUMARI DAS, 1 Ind. Cas. 252.

(42)—Joint possession—Well-water—Non-exercise of that right—Limitation.—Where the plaintiff had a right to the use of a well-water in common with others, his preferring not to use the water, or even his omission to pay his share of expenses, did not of itself destroy that right by mere non-exercise of it; but there should be some direct evidence of adverse enjoyment on the part of the defendants. BALI v. DNYANU, 2 Bom. L.R. 620.

Possession—continued.—4.—Nature of Possession—concluded.

(43)—Adverse possession—Co-sharers—Redemption of mortgage by one co-sharer—No exclusive title.—Possession taken by one of the co-sharers who redeemed a mortgage is not in itself inconsistent with the proprietary rights of the other co-sharers; such possession cannot become adverse until some exclusive title is set up. FAKI ABAS valad FAKI AHMED MULNAJI v. FAKI NURUDIN valad FAKI HOHIDIN MULNAJI, 16 B. 191 = P.J. 1891, 123. (11 B. 422, 11 B. 425, F.) [R., 20 B. 747, 26 B. 500 = 4 Bom. L.R. 178, 5 Bom. L.R. 355; D., 20 B. 557.]

(44)—Decree for possession—Joint decree-holders—Possession given to one.—Possession given to one of several joint holders of a decree must be held to be given on behalf of both. HARGOBIND DAS v. BARODA PRASAD DAS, 6 B.L.R. 614 = 15 W.R. 112.

(45)—Title-deeds, possession of, as between tenants-in-common.—When deeds relate to two or more portions of an estate or to an estate which is held by tenants-in-common if any one of the interested parties gets possession of the deeds, none of the other parties can get them from him; for no one can show a better title to have them than he has. This rule of law applies only where all the parties have equal rights. HUNSAJ v. BAI MONGHIBAI, 7 Bom. L.R. 622.

See BEN. ACT, VII OF 1876, s. 55, 9 C. 431 = 12 C.L.R. 12.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 47, 8 C.W.N. 49.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, rr. 46, 58, 59, 60, 61, 27 M. 67, F.B.

Application of doctrine of constructive possession to wrong-doers—Occupation by wrong-doer of portion of land, effect of—See DIGWARI TENURE, 5 C.L.J. 583 = 34 C. 753 = 12 C.W.N. 193.

Transfer of non-transferable holding—Continuance of—In the tenant—Suit for ejectment, maintainability of—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—EJECTMENT, 9 C.W.N. 379.

Possession of plaintiff if must have been physical possession—Possession through tenants—Ouster of tenants—Right of suit—See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, s. 9, 13 C.W.N. 303 = 1 Ind. Cas. 150.

Holder of missing person's estate—Possession—See TRUST, 2 Agra 78.

—5.—Proof of Possession.

See BURDEN OF PROOF—POSSESSION AND PROOF OF TITLE.

(1)—Possession—Prima facie evidence of title—Burden of proof.—Possession is prima facie evidence of title, and is primarily exclusive, and it is for him, who impugns this exclusive title, to show that the possession originated in a way

Possession—continued.—5.—Proof of Possession—concluded.

not to affect his own right. KRISHNA CHARYA v. LINGAWA, 20 B. 270. [R., 78 F.R. 1902 = 137 P.L.R. 1902.]

(2)—Allegation of forcible ouster—Burden of proving ouster first.—Where plaintiff alleges forcible ouster in a certain year, he is bound to prove such ouster before defendant need be called upon to prove anything. RAJARAM KALITA v. ROOPA KAGTEE KALITA, 13 W.R. 113.

(3)—Suit for possession—Utility of presumption arising from title.—Where there is evidence apparently strong on each side, in estimating the weight due to the evidence on both sides, the presumption which arises from title may in certain circumstances be regarded. But, if there be no credible evidence on plaintiff's side, no question of turning the balance of evidence by the weight of presumption as to title arises. LAXMAN v. MANGAL KHAN, 7 C.P.L. R. 12.

(4)—Proof of title by plaintiff—Burden of proving adverse possession.—In a suit for possession based on title, where the plaintiff proves title, the burden of proving adverse possession is upon the defendant. SARSUTI v. KUNJ BEHARI LAL, 5 A. 345, F B.

(5)—Receipt of rent—Evidentiary value.—In India, possession or receipt of rent by a person who pays the land revenue immediately to Government is prima facie evidence of an estate of inheritance in the case of an ordinary zemindary. The evidence is still stronger, if it be proved that the estate has passed, on one or more occasions, from ancestor to heir. There is no difference in this respect between a polliam and an ordinary zemindary. The only difference between a polliam or zemindary which is permanently settled and one that is not is that, in the former, the Government is precluded for ever from raising the revenue; and in the latter, the Government may or may not have that power. OOLAGAPPA CHETTY v. ARBUTHNOT, 14 B.L.R. 115, P.C. = 1 I.A. 268, 282 = 21 W.R. 358 = 3 Sar. 318.

—6.—Suits for Possession.

(1)—Valid title against all except rightful owner—Possessory title, heritable and transferable.—Possession is a valid title against any one except the rightful owner. (20 C. 834, 2 O.C. 3, 9 O.C. 273, R.) Further, such title would descend by inheritance to the heirs and is also transferable. WAZIR-UN-NISA BEGAM v. WAZIR ALI, 11 O. C. 337. (9 O.C. 161, 3 C. 224, R.)

(2)—Suit for possession against trespasser—Plaintiff's title, proof of.—Held, that possession is good title against all persons except the rightful owner, and entitles the possessor to maintain an action in ejectment against any person other than such owner, who dispossesses him. GOPAL v. SANT BAKSH, 2 O.C. 3. [R., 9 O.C. 161, 9 O.C. 273, 11 O.C. 337, 12 O.C. 129.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for possession—continued.

(3)—Suit for—Onus of proof—Nature of evidence to be adduced by either party—Title, proof of, effect of—Presumption of possession—Constructive possession—Survey map, value of, as evidence.—In respect of jungle and hilly land, possession must be presumed to be with the rightful owner. (9 C. 744, 19 C. 660, P.C., Relied on.) Plaintiff, in an action for ejectment, must not only prove his title, but also his possession, actual or constructive, within twelve years of suit. (12 M.L.A. 337, 8 M.L.A. 199, 9 C. 744, 16 C. 473, P.C., 17 C. 137, P.C., Relied on; 2 M. 10, R.) When plaintiff has established his title it is not necessary for the defendant to prove a better title, or establish that he has acquired a good title by adverse possession, which has extinguished the title of the plaintiff, but plaintiff must prove his possession also within 12 years. Nature of evidence required in such cases discussed. Revenue Survey Maps are evidence of title and possession. (30 C. 291, 22 C. 252, R.) They are not conclusive and may be shown to be wrong, but, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, they may be properly and judicially received in evidence as correct when made. The doctrine of constructive possession applies only in favour of the rightful owner, and must not, as rule, be extended to the wrong-doer, whose possession must be confined to land of which he is actually in possession. MIRZA SHAMSHER BAHADUR v. MUNSH KUNJI BEHARI LAL, 12 C.W. N. 273 = 3 M.L.T. 212 = 7 C.L.J. 114. (21 C. 256, 20 C. 518, 20 W.R. 25 R.)

(4)—Suit for possession—Cause of action—Dispossession—Whether plaintiff must prove possession and dispossession within 12 years.—The general rule of law is that, when a suit is for possession and the cause of action is dispossession, the plaintiff is bound to prove possession and dispossession within 12 years, or, in other words, the plaintiff must not only show that he has a title, but that he has a subsisting title, which he has not lost by the prescriptive sections of the Limitation Act. MA PYU v MA MAIN MU, 14 Bur. L.R. 200.

(5)—Possession is good title against trespasser—Suit for possession more than six months after dispossession.—Held, that a person who has been dispossessed can, as against a trespasser, succeed, on proof of prior possession alone, without showing title, even though he does not bring his suit within six months of the date of dispossession. RAM KUMAR v. PANHARI DAS, 12 O.C. 129 (B) = 2 Ind. Cas. 599. (2 O.C. 3, 26 M. 514, R.)

(6)—Possessory suit—Title—Possession.—In a suit to recover possession of land where plaintiff comes into Court, not on the ground simply of previous possession but on a distinct and definite title, and entirely fails to prove his case, he is not entitled to a decree even if there is evidence that he was long in possession in one capacity or another. RAMDHAN CHUKKERBUTTY v. SRIMATI KOMAL TARA, 3 B.L. R.A.C. 99, Note = 11 W.R. 301.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(7)—Suit for possession on mere possessory title—Ouster and continuance of possession till ouster, necessary—Trespasser, suit against—Burden of proof of ouster.—Where the plaintiff sues for possession, merely on the ground that his vendor had been in possession for some period within 12 years of the institution of the suit: Held, that the plaintiff is entitled to a decree, if he can prove a possessory title with himself or his vendor. But the possession on which the plaintiff relies must extend up to the date of ouster by the trespasser; that is to say, before a plaintiff can succeed on mere proof of possession, he must prove ouster. If the party sued entered into a possession peaceably, then his possession is just as good as that of the plaintiff. The burden of proving ouster lies on the plaintiff. SAWANJI v. MT CHINKI, 5 N.L.R. 33=2 Ind. Cas. 25. (12 C.P.L.R. 59, R. & F.)

(8)—Suit for possession—Onus.—A person seeking to recover possession of lands on the allegation that they are situate in his estate, is bound to prove his allegation. JOYCHUNDER CHUKERBUTTY v. JARACANT CHOWDRY, 1 W.R. 219.

(9)—Suit for possession and mesne profits—Plea of title—Adverse possession not pleaded—Proof of plaintiff's possession and dispossession.—If in a suit for possession and mesne profits, the defendants did not allege possession for 12 years and more, so as to bar the plaintiff, but stood upon their title, the Judge was wrong in dismissing the suit on the ground that possession and dispossession had not been specifically shown, even if it did not appear from his own judgment that these matters had been sufficiently proved. MAHOMED KHOSSAL v. LAL CHAND DOSS, 5 W.R. 228. [D., 8 W.R. 385.]

(10)—Suit for possession—Limitation—Proof of date of dispossession—Act VIII of 1859, s. 26.—A person suing to recover possession of lands is bound, under the provisions of s. 26, Act VIII of 1859, to give the date of dispossession as accurately as he can, especially in a case where one of the issues is whether the plaintiff has been in occupation of the lands within 12 years of suit. BOYDONATH SURMAH v. OJAN BIBEE, 11 W.R. 238.

(11)—Title—Evidence and proof—Presumption.—The ordinary presumption that possession goes with the title would be of no avail in the presence of clear evidence to the contrary, but where there is strong evidence of possession on one side opposed by evidence apparently strong also on the other side, the presumption may be made that possession was with the true owner. RUNJEET RAM PANDEY v. GOBURDHUN RAM PANDEY, 20 W.R. 25, P.C. [F., 12 C. 38, 8 C.W.N. 876, 7 C.L.J. 414=12 C.W.N. 273=3 M.L.T. 212, 6 Ind. Cas. 392; Appr., 19 C. 660, P.C., 11 Bom.L.R. 1087=33 B. 712, 218 P.L.R. 1911.]

(12)—Case good—Evidence false—Dismissal of suit—Practice.—In India, it would not be right, if the plaintiff has a good case, but has foolishly and wickedly relied in support of it upon false evidence, that the whole case should be dismissed. FULTOO MAHOMED v. HURDEB DOSS, 19 W.R. 107.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(13)—Suit for possession—Specific title and adverse possession.—Where a person claims generally the possession of land under some specific title, but coupled with a possession extending over twelve years, he is entitled to a decree on proof of his twelve years' adverse possession alone, which gives him a title of itself, whether he proves his specific title or not. But where a plaintiff sues for a decree, declaring himself to be the owner of property on the strength of some particular title, he must establish the title. GOLUCK CHUNDER MASANTA v. NUNDO COOMAR ROY, 4 C. 699=3 C.L.R. 450. (3 C. 224, F.; 11 W.R. 301, Not F.) [F. & R., 4 L.B.R. 238.]

(14)—Conflict between two wrong-doers.—In the case of a conflict between two wrong-doers, the person who is in possession of the property is entitled to be maintained in possession. USUF KHAN v. SARVAN, 13 A. 403=A.W.N. 1891, 141.

(15)—Title to property—Wrong-doer—Wrong doer's title, transfer of—Suit for recovery of possession of property.—Twelve years' continuous possession, by a wrong doer, not only extinguishes the title to the property of the rightful owner, but confers a good title upon the wrong-doer. [F., 4 C. 699=2 C.L.R. 450, 3 A. 435; R., 7 M. 26, 17 M. 34, 5 Bom L.R. 186.] A dispossessed person, suing for recovery of possession of property on the double ground of purchase and of a twelve years' possessory title is entitled to succeed on proof of possession, even though the purchase is not proved. A suit for possession is different from that for declaration of a particular title. Semble—The title of the wrong-doer can be transferred to a third person, while it is in course of acquisition and before it has been perfected by a twelve years' possession. GOSSAIN DASS CHUNDER v. ISSUR CHUNDER NATH, 3 C. 224. [R., 16 B. 722, 9 O.C. 161.]

(16)—Title—Possession—Evidence.—In this case, the Privy Council refused to disturb the possession the defendants admittedly had for upwards of ten years, the plaintiffs having failed to establish title of possession, so as to entitle them to obtain possession. Reviewing the whole of the proceedings, their Lordships observed that, if they had been sitting as a Court of first instance, they would have deemed it impossible upon such proof of title as the plaintiffs had given, to disturb an admitted possession of ten years; and it seemed to their Lordships that the High Court having originally treated the title of the plaintiffs as depending upon a release by the Judicial Commissioner, and finding that that release was not made out, fell back upon the proceedings of the Deputy Collector; and that they had not given sufficient consideration to the nature of the proceedings of the subordinate officer, and the manner in which they were dealt with by his official superiors. WISE v. BROJENDRO COOMAR ROY, 18 W.R. 91, P.C.=2 Suther. 619=4 Sar. 788.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(17)—Burden of proof—Wrongful ejectment—Suit to recover possession.—Where a person wrongfully ejected from a piece of land sued for possession thereof, but failed to establish his right to recover possession, the mere fact of his having been in possession is not a sufficient ground for putting him back. SHUSTEE DHUR MOZOOMDAR v. NUTEEJA BIBEE, 7 W.R. 36.

(18)—Of part of a village not—Of plaintiff lands.—Possession of a part of a village is not sufficient to justify a finding that the plaintiff is in possession of the land in suit though it is a part of the village. CHIDAMBARAM CHETTY v. RAMA CHETTY, 3 M.L.T. 313.

(19)—Suit for possession—Illegal dispossession.—A plaintiff who proves that he, and his father before him, had been in uninterrupted possession until he was illegally dispossessed, is entitled to come into the Civil Court, and to ask that possession should be restored. HUREEHUR PERSHAD DOSS PUBRAJ BIDYADHUR BHONIAH MOHAPATTUR v. BOLIE SETHEE, 24 W.R. 22.

(20)—Declaration—Right to possession—Ouster—Restoration.—Where a suit is brought to establish a certain right, but it is manifest that the suit is not properly one for a declaration and the object of the suit and the effect of the declaration would have been to put the plaintiff in possession of that from which he had been ousted, the case must be treated by the Court and argued upon the question of whether there is a right to possession. Where a person has been ousted from a possession which he held upon a good title by those who have shown none, the plaintiff has a right to the restoration of that possession. NARAYANASAMI MUDALI v. KUMARASAMI GURUKAL, 7 M.H.C. 267.

(21)—Confirmation of possession, suit for—When maintainable—Evidence of possession.—The legal principle which holds that no suit for confirmation of possession will lie, if possession, at the time of the institution of the suit is not shown, refers to cases where no possession of any kind is shown within a reasonable time before suit and not to cases where legal possession under a decree has been found. To hold that, in the latter cases, no suit would lie, would be to render a decree for possession wholly inoperative and a nullity. BEEGO ROY v. BAL MOKUND MISSER, 17 W.R. 421.

(22)—Suit for confirmation of possession—Onus on plaintiff.—A plaintiff suing merely for confirmation of possession of land should be made to prove that he was actually in possession. MUSSAMUT LATEEFOONISSA BIBEE v. SYUD RAJAOR RUHMAN, 8 W.R. 84.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(23)—Suit based on allegation of possession.—A suit based on allegation of possession ought to be dismissed at once, if the plaintiff be shown to be out of possession. SUKRAM v. KALA KAHAR, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 105.

(24)—Pleading—Suit for confirmation of possession when plaintiff not in possession—Survey Act (V of 1875, B.C.), ss. 40, 41, 62—Order in survey proceedings throwing disputed land within defendant's estate, effect of.—Where the case of the plaintiff, as made in the plaint, is that she has been all along in possession, and it is found that she has not been in possession, a decree for recovery of possession would be inconsistent with the suit. Where there had been a survey under Act V (B.C.) of 1875, and, by an order made in 1901, the boundary line between the estates of the plaintiff and the defendant had been maintained, which threw the land in suit into the defendant's estate, and the plaintiff sued for confirmation of possession on the allegation that she has been in possession from before the survey proceedings, and not on the allegation that she has obtained possession at a later date: Held, that the effect of the survey proceedings was that the plaintiff was out of possession and the defendant was in possession of the disputed land, and the decision in those proceedings, having under the Survey Act the effect of a decision of a Civil Court, is binding, and it is not, therefore, open to the plaintiff to now bring a suit for confirmation of possession. MUSSAMMAT RANI BISSESWARI KOER v. RAM PROTAB SINGH, 4 Ind. Cas. 547. (11 C.L.R. 443, 11 C.L.R. 451, D.)

(25)—Suit for possession—Proof of partial possession—Effect.—Where a suit for confirmation of possession is based upon an allegation of possession, the suit should be dismissed if the plaintiff's allegation of possession is wholly unfounded, but not if the plaintiff is found to be in possession of a portion of the lands in dispute. ROOPA KOONWAR v. JUGGOO LALL OPADHYA, 11 W.R. 257. See also RAM CHURN PATTUCK v. KOOR PANDEY, 10 W.R. 176, and BUSHEE-ROODDEEN v. DAL CHUND, 3 Agra 231.

(26)—Suit for confirmation of possession, under bill of sale—Onus of proof—Practice—Court's duty first to try plaintiff's case.—The plaintiff sued for confirmation of possession over certain lands under a bill of sale, by setting aside a bond in favour of one R. and a sale in execution of a decree of the Small Cause Court on that bond. The first Court found that the bill of sale was fraudulent and the plaintiff was not in possession and dismissed the suit. On appeal, the Judge, on an objection taken for the first time orally in his Court, held that the Small Cause Court had no jurisdiction to try the suit on a bond in which land was hypothecated as security, and without going into the plaintiff's case, gave him a decree. Held, that the Judge ought to have tried the plaintiff's case first and not the defendant's, that the plaintiff was first bound to prove his possession, and the genuineness of the bill of sale upon which his cause of action arose, and it was only after he had proved these, that the question of the jurisdiction of the Small Cause Court could arise. RASH BEHAREE ROY v. SHAIKH EZUD BAKSH, 11 W.R. 276.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(27)—Suit for confirmation of possession—No possession at the time of suit—Relief.—Where a plaintiff prays for confirmation of possession, and it appears that he is the rightful owner, and that he was not in possession at the time of suit, but was in possession at some previous time, his suit may be treated as a suit for recovery of possession. KASEE NATH MOOKERJEE v. MOHESH CHUNDER GOOPTO, 25 W.R. 168. [R., 1 C.L.J. 73 ; D., 4 C. 46.]

(28)—Suit by purchaser for confirmation of title and possession—Previous transfer pleaded by defendant—Duty of Court to inquire into transfer.—Plaintiff had instituted this action for the confirmation of his title and possession in a fractional share of a village purchased by him, and for setting aside certain conveyances under which the defendants claimed to hold it. The latter pleaded that the rights and interests in question had previously been transferred to a person who sold it to their vendor. On the ground that the conveyances to the defendants were genuine documents, and that they were in possession since their purchase, the lower appellate Court dismissed the suit of the plaintiff. Plaintiff urged on second appeal that the alleged transfer to the defendants was the foundation of their title and the lower appellate Court was wrong in having made no enquiry into it. The High Court accepted the ground as a good one and remanded the case to the lower appellate Court to try whether the alleged purchase on which the defendants' title depended was a genuine transaction or merely a colourable one. MUSSAMUT BHUGOBUTY v. BIKRAMAJEET SINGH, 8 W.R. 477.

(29)—Joint owners—Suit for confirmation of possession—Plaintiff found out of possession—Frame of suit.—A suit for confirmation of possession of property belonging jointly to plaintiff and defendant, where the plaintiff is found on his own showing to be out of possession, should be treated as a suit for recovery of possession. RASH DHAREE SINGH v. NUTHOONEE SINGH, 24 W.R. 301. [R., 1 C.L.J. 73.]

(30)—Suit for confirmation of possession—Plaintiff not in possession—Plaint bearing stamp sufficient to cover claim for possession.—Where the plaintiff sued for confirmation of possession, alleging that she applied to the Collector to register her name under the Land Registration Act in respect of certain property purchased by her at an auction-sale and that the defendant succeeded in getting her name registered with regard to it, and the prayer in the plaint was for an order declaring the title of the plaintiff and confirming her possession and for expunging the name of the defendant from the Collectorate register, and directing the registration of the plaintiff's name instead, and it was found that the plaintiff was out of possession and the suit was brought on a stamp sufficient to cover a suit for recovery of possession, held that the plaintiff, by setting up in her plaint that she had failed to obtain registration, admitted that she had been kept out of possession wrongfully, and by asking for the registration of her name she made a prayer to be put into possession, and that, though the plaint was erroneous in form, she should be given a decree for possession. CHAMPU DAI v. UMA DAI, 11 C.L.R. 451. (11 C.L.R. 443, F.)

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(31)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 246—Claim disallowed—Suit—Limitation—Act IX of 1871—Act XV of 1877—Suit for confirmation of possession—Plaintiff not in possession—Title established—Decree.—A claim to attached property was disallowed on the 25th July, 1876, under s. 246 of the Civ. Pro. Code, (Act VIII of 1859), and the suit by the unsuccessful claimant was brought on the 17th February, 1879. Held that the suit was within time, being governed by the Limitation Act, IX of 1871, under which the period of limitation for contesting an order under s. 246 of the Civ. Pro. Code, was 12 years, and by the Limitation Act XV of 1877, which came into operation in October 1879. Where, in a suit for confirmation of possession, it was quite apparent, on the face of the plaint, that although in form it was a suit for confirmation of possession, it was in substance a suit for recovery of possession and the plaintiff has established a title to the property, although he was out of possession, held that, under these circumstances, it would be extremely technical to dismiss the plaintiff's suit, merely because there was some defect in the form of the suit, and that the plaintiff should be given a decree for possession. AMIR HOSSEIN v. IMAMBANDI BEGUM, 11 C.L.R. 443. (16 W.R. 27, F.) [F., 11 C.L.R. 451.]

(32)—Suit for confirmation of possession—Change in form of suit—Suit for recovery of possession—Bona fides.—When a plaintiff has a bona fide case, which he has proved in substance, but not in form, there are circumstances, under which the Courts assist him. But, where a plaintiff put forward a distinct allegation of possession founded on a deed of sale, which is found by the Court to be false, this is not a case in which the general rule ought to be relaxed and the plaintiff assisted to establish a case which he did not originally put forward. TERIETPUT SINGH v. GOSSAIN INDERSAN DAS, 4 C. 46. (15 W.R. 286=16 W.R. 27 & 1 I.A. 192, D., on the ground that they were bona fide cases.) [R., 1 C.L.J. 73.]

(33)—Plaintiff stating in plaint to be in possession and praying merely for confirmation of the same—Dispossession found—Relief.—A plaintiff who, stating in his plaint that he is in possession, prays merely for confirmation of possession, will not be given a decree for recovery of possession, if it is found that he was dispossessed by the defendant before suit, and that he had no possession as stated in the plaint. FATIMA BIBEE v. AHAMAD BAKSH, 31 C. 319. [On appeal, 35 C. 271, P.C.=35 I.A. 67=12 C.W.N. 214=7 C.L.J. 122=10 Bcm.L.R. 51=18 M.L.J. 6.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(34)—Decree for confirmation of possession—Proof of title.—When a suit is brought for confirmation of possession under a certain title, the plaintiff is bound by the title which he sets up, though it is otherwise when he sues to recover immovable property from which he has been ousted. A decree for confirmation of possession cannot be executed so as to give to the plaintiff possession of anything of which he was not then in possession. UMBICA CHURN BANERJEE v. DIGUMBEREE DABEE, 12 W.R. 429. [R., 16 W.R. 218.]

(35)—Suit for possession—Plea of joint possession—Limitation—Long possession—Title—Evidence.—In a suit for confirmation of title and possession, the defendants pleaded that they were also jointly in possession with the plaintiffs, but failed to prove this allegation of joint possession. Held that the defendants could not then plead limitation. In a suit for confirmation of title and possession of certain property which was admittedly acquired about a century ago and of which the defendant claimed to be in joint possession, the plaintiff cannot be reasonably expected to prove the specific source from which the acquisition was made. The question of possession is the only material point in the case. Long possession is not only evidence of title, but in a case of this sort, it is a good and valid title by itself. RUNG LALL MISSER v. RAGHOOBUR SINGH, 9 W.R. 169. [D., 11 W.R. 550.]

(36)—Of land—Plaintiff already in possession—Form of suit.—Where, according to the evidence, plaintiff is still in possession of the land in suit: Held that he cannot sue for what he has already got, but should either sue for a declaratory decree or else for an injunction restraining the defendant from disturbing him. MAUNG LU GALE v. MAUNG KAN THA, L.B.R. 1893–1900, 641.

(37)—Suit for confirmation of possession—Onus of proof.—A plaintiff coming into Court for confirmation of possession is bound first of all to prove that he is in possession. SHEO SHRUN LALL v. CHUMUN LALL, 24 W.R. 220.

(38)—Confirmation of possession—Burden of proof.—A plaintiff who comes to Court alleging that he is in possession and that that possession has been threatened by the act of the defendant, and asking for confirmation of that possession is bound to prove that he is in possession. SANSAR ROY v. INDRASUN ROY, 25 W.R. 6.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(39)—Suit for possession, not barred by one year's limitation under s. 77 of Act X of 1859—Dismissal of previous rent case—School of law governing joint Hindu family, admission by ancestors of parties good evidence of.—The appellant, having attained a certificate under Act XX of 1841 for collecting the debts due to the estate of his maternal uncle, sued two of the tenants of the landed property belonging to the estate and obtained decrees, but, on appeal by the tenants, plaintiff's claim was dismissed. He then, alleging that he had been dispossessed by the defendants from the whole of the lands belonging to the share of his uncle, brought this suit for possession of the whole. Defendants pleaded that, as succession in the family was guided by the Mitakshara school of Hindu law, plaintiff, as the sister's son, had no right to the property in suit; that the decree by the appellate Judge in the previous suit for rents in which the defendant had intervened under s. 77 of Act X of 1859 was dated 7th November, 1861, and the present action of the plaintiff having been instituted more than one year after that date, the suit was barred by limitation. The lower Court dismissed the claim of the plaintiff on the ground that as succession in the family was governed by the law of the Mitakshara school, plaintiff had no right. On appeal to the High Court by the plaintiff, the respondent asked for the trial of the objection regarding the application of the one year's limitation mentioned in s. 77 of Act X of 1859. Held that s. 77 of the said Act X of 1859 does not contemplate that the effect of a decree for rent claimed from one or two of a number of tenants, awarded to an intervenor, should be considered as an estoppel to the right of the party cast to sue for the possession of the entire property, if he does not sue within a year of the decree in the rent case, though, from the nature of the case, the plaintiff may, when he sues in the Civil Court, have occasion to sue for his title to the whole estate, and not simply to recover his rents from a particular tenant or tenants. Though plaintiff was never in possession of any portion of the estate of his maternal uncle, yet he was in time from the death of the intervening widow whose demise it was that gave him a right to sue, since no cause of action can have arisen to the plaintiff before her death. On the point of the Mitakshara law governing the succession in the family, it was held that when the fact is not known by which school of Hindu law succession among those who have migrated from a different country is guided, it is to be presumed that the old law imported with the family still prevails, until the contrary is shown by the opposite party. But the plaintiff in this case had clearly established by the evidence of friends and relatives, that, in the family of the parties before the Court, in several cases where succession according to the Bengal law, was to go to one and according to the school of Mitakshara to another, the succession was according to the former or Bengal school. On these grounds the High Court decreed the appeal and awarded the claim of the plaintiff to the estates of his maternal uncle as asked, except the rents of the two jotes, his claim for which had been disallowed by the Judge in the previous rent suits. CHUNDRO SEEKHUR ROY v. NOBIN SOONDUR ROY, 2 W.R. 197. [F., 5 W.R. Act X, 87; R., 9 B. 198, F.B., 5 M.L.T. 169, 33 M. 342=20 M.L.J. 49=7 M.L.T. 17=5 Ind. Cas. 42.]

Possession—continued.

—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(40)—Possession—Suit for—Plaintiff proving enjoyment and wrongful dispossession—Defendant's title—Absence of proof of—Plaintiff entitled to decree.—Where a plaintiff made out that he was in possession of the land and afterwards wrongfully dispossessed by the defendant, the plaintiff would be entitled to a decree, unless the defendant is able to make out his title to the property. GOVINDA PADAYACHI v. DORAISWAMI PADAYACHI, 9 M.L.T. 409=9 Ind. Cas. 595.

(41)—Failure of plaintiff to prove title.—In a suit for possession, when the Court finds that the plaintiffs wholly failed to establish the title which they came into Court to establish or any other title under which they could recover against the defendants, the suit ought to be dismissed, although the defendants are trespassers and the plaintiffs had long prior possession. KEDAR NATH SANYAL v. RAJ NATH NEOGI, 3 C.W.N. 497.

(42)—Burden of proof—Wrongful ejectment—Suit to recover possession.—Where a person wrongfully ejected from a piece of land sued for possession thereof, but failed to establish his right to recover possession, the mere fact of his having been in possession is not a sufficient ground for putting him back. SHUSTEE DHUR MOZOOMDAR v. NUTEEJA BIBEE, 7 W.R. 36.

(43)—Possession—Evidence of title.—In a suit for possession of land, if a party who claims to hold the land by grant evidenced by a sanad fails to prove execution of the sanad, he is at liberty to prove the grant by other means. The presumption is that a lower Court has done its duty, neglect not being assumed at the suggestion of the appellant. RAJAH RASH BIHARI LAL SINGH v. NABAYI PADDAR, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 99=11 W.R. 465.

(43-a)—Lease—Suit for khas possession by landlord—Title set up by defendant—Onus of proof.—Where plaintiff, as landlord, sued for khas possession against a lessee, and the latter set up the title of a third party to defeat the plaintiff's admitted right as zemindar, held that the onus lay on the defendant to prove the title set up by him. BEHAREE SAHOO v. PURYAG MAHTOON, 23 W.R. 291. [F., 11 C.L.R. 476; R., 15 C. 89; Appl., 9 C.W.N. 144.]

Possession—continued.

—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(44)—Suit for possession—What plaintiff should prove.—Where plaintiff sues for possession, alleging that he was wrongfully dispossessed by the defendant, the plaintiff need not prove that he held the land free of rent. All that must be proved by him is that he was peacefully in possession of the holding and that he was wrongfully dispossessed by the defendant. NAGORE MONEE DEBIA v. SMITH 23 W.R. 291.

(45)—Suit to recover khas possession—Dispossession of defendant—Evidence—Onus of proof.—A suit to recover khas possession by dispossessing defendant must be dismissed, where plaintiff fails to prove his cause of action and the defendant adduces sufficient evidence to show that he is entitled to remain in possession. RAJAH RUN BAHADOOR SINGH v. KUNNO MANJHEE, 17 W.R. 194.

(46)—Suit for possession—Plea of limitation—Burden of proof.—In a suit for possession, the plaintiff is bound to show that his cause of action arose within twelve years before suit and that he has a subsisting title, and he is not bound to show that he has had undisturbed possession for twelve years before suit. KHODA NEWAZ CHOWDHRY v. BROJENDRO COOMOR ROY CHOWDHRY, 24 W.R. 417.

(47)—Suit for possession of property in hands of another—Allegation of title, nature of.—S. 9, Specific Relief Act, 1877.—The mere allegation that a claimant is entitled by law and custom to the gaddi of a temple is not a sufficient allegation of title. Something more than general allegations are requisite in the plaint where a claim is made to the possession of property which is in the possession of another person, always of course provided that the case is not one falling under s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act. RAM RAKH NATH v. SUNDAR NATH, 20 A. 299=A.W.N. 1898, 36.

(48)—Suit on allegation of dispossession—Manner of dispossession not essential—Decree for lands with specified boundaries—Mistake in plaint as to number of beegahs—Permission to plaintiff to file supplementary plaint.—This was a suit for cancellation of certain survey proceedings and recovery of possession of the lands, of which the plaintiff was alleged to have been dispossessed by the defendant in those proceedings. It was contended on appeal that, as the plaintiff stated his dispossession to be owing to the survey proceedings, and it appeared that the dispossession was not owing to those proceedings, he could not in his suit get a decree. But the High Court held that plaintiff was entitled to a decree. His suit was throughout one for possession of those lands, and it was immaterial in what manner he was dispossessed, so long as it was proved, as it had been, that he was really dispossessed by the defendant. It was also urged that the decree was bad, as having been passed for 44 beegahs where as only 36 beegahs were originally sued for, but, it was held that the difference was only owing to a difference in measurements between boundaries correctly given by the plaintiff and, as he had, in effect, got a decree for no lands, save what he originally sued for; his having by mistake called them 36 beegahs, when they were in fact 44 beeghs could not render it improper or irregular to give him a decree for the 44 beegahs contained within the boundaries originally given by him. RAJAH JOY MUNGUL SINGH v. RAJAH MOHENDAR NARAIN SINGH, 2 W.R. 154.

*Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(49)—Suit for possession—Limitation—Adjudication.—In a suit for possession where the plaintiff's title to the suit land is denied and the plea of limitation is set up, the Courts below are bound to determine one way or the other on the plaintiff's title and on the question of limitation; and cannot refrain from coming to any conclusion on the ground that there is some difficulty in ascertaining the boundaries. RAJ CHUNDER BHUTACHARJEE v. TRIPOORA DEBIA, 25 W.R. 77.

(50)—Khas possession of ijmalee lands—Boundaries not given—Decree—Form.—Where, in a suit to recover possession of a certain quantity of land on the strength of an ijmalee potah granted to plaintiff by the second party defendant, who, he alleged, was the proprietor of a 2 annas share of the talook within which the lands in dispute were admittedly situated, the plaintiff did not give the boundaries of the quantity of land claimed by him, but gives the boundaries of a large area of land, and after making certain deductions in favour of certain parties mentioned in the plaint he says that the quantity of land claimed by him was situated within those boundaries, and the contention of the defendant throughout was that the lands of the talook were ijmalee, and that the plaintiff was not entitled to obtain khas possession of any specific lands whatever, it would be incumbent on the Court, before giving a decree to the plaintiff, to ascertain the precise lands for which the suit is brought, and then to determine whether those lands appertain exclusively to the 2 annas share admittedly belonging to the second party defendant. KALEE KINKUR v. ISHAN CHUNDER, 20 W.R. 344.

(51)—Suit for possession—Boundaries—Ascertainment of plots claimed.—In a suit for possession, it is for the plaintiff to point out the precise plots of land for which he is suing, and there is no use in going into any general consideration of the question of boundaries until the precise plots claimed are accurately ascertained. GOOROO PERSHAD DUTT v. SREENATH BANERJEE, 15 W.R. 314.

(52)—Variance between title alleged and proved—Decree upon adverse possession not set up in plaint.—Where, in a suit for the recovery of land as being lakhiraj land, the title was found not proved, and the first Court held that the plaintiff was not entitled to a decree upon the strength of twelve years' adverse possession which he proved, on the ground of his not having set it up in the plaint and on the ground of no issue upon it having been raised, and the plaintiff got a decree upon the latter ground in the lower appellate Court, the High Court, on second appeal, confirmed it, as the defendant, having had express notice of the plaintiff's ground, did not object to it, nor desire to be allowed an opportunity to let in evidence to rebut it, and as he was therefore not prejudiced by the course adopted by the lower appellate Court. SUNDURI DASSEE v. MUDHOO CHUNDER SIRCAR, 14 C. 592. (21 W.R. 444, 2 C. 418, 8 C. 975 Disc.) [Cited. 3 C.L.J., 316; R., 6 C.L.J. 621.]

*Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(53)—Possession on title by purchase—Specific title alleged, not proved—Title by adverse possession not being inferable from plaint or issue—Limitation.—A declaration cannot be given on a title not distinctly stated in the plaint or the issues. (2 C. 418, F.) In a suit for possession based on title by purchase, if the specific title alleged is not proved, and if, on reading the issue with the plaint, it cannot be said that it raises the question of title based on 12 years' adverse possession, a declaration of the title on the strength of adverse possession for more than 12 years cannot be made. SOMASUNDARAM CHETTY v. VADIVELU PILLAI, 4 M.L.T. 344.

(54)—Title—Possession—Issues—Procedure.—A plaintiff may be entitled to a decree restoring him to possession on proof of 12 or 20 years' possession before suit, though he should fail in proving the specific title set up. When a suit has been based on a particular and specific title put forward by the plaintiff, and the defendant has also put forward a pedigree of the family supported by distinct evidence, directly at variance with the pedigrees put forward by the plaintiff, the Court cannot properly try the case or decide upon the questions between the parties without inquiring into the title alleged by the plaintiff as well as the question whether the plaintiff was, as he alleges, in possession for 20 years before the suit. Such a case cannot be deemed to have been sufficiently disposed of by the trial of the mere question of possession for a period of 12 or 20 years before the suit. MOULVIE ABDOLAH v. SHAHA MUJEESSODEEN, 16 W.R. 27. [F., 24 W.R. 301, 25 W.R. 168; R., 2 C. 418; D., 4 C. 46; 1 C.L.J. 73]

(55)—Suit for declaration—Application to amend plaint by adding prayer for possession—Rejection of application—Subsequent suit for possession.—Where in a suit for a declaratory decree, the plaintiff makes an application for the amendment of the plaint by adding a prayer for possession, and such application is refused, it is his duty to appeal against such refusal. He cannot acquiesce in such refusal, and bring a subsequent suit for possession. Stuart, C.J. SARSUTI v. KUNJ BEHARI LOL, 5 A. 345, F.B. [R., 14 B. 31.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(56)—Dispossession — Suit for recovering possession—Burden of proof of present title—Plaintiff whether bound to prove specific title alleged—Objection relating to stamp, whether admissible in respect of document admitted by lower Court.—Suit for recovery of possession on dispossession. In special appeal, the defendants contended that the plaintiff cannot succeed because his title was founded upon a deed of gift which was insufficiently stamped and unregistered. It was further contended that, if the instrument be not a deed of gift, but of transfer for consideration, it would be void as having been made for an immoral consideration. Held that the objection as to stamp was untenable because the penalty had already been levied and the document admitted in evidence by the lower Court. Plaintiff was further entitled to succeed upon facts found independently of the deed. Plaintiff sued to recover possession from the defendants, alleging a recent dispossession by them, otherwise than in due course of law, and proved a prior peaceable possession lawfully derived from the defendants, during which he assumed to act as owner. This was prima facie proof of ownership in the plaintiff, and was sufficient to throw upon the defendants, the burden of proving a present title to the land in themselves. This burden the defendants having failed to discharge, plaintiff was held entitled to succeed without proof of a specific title in himself based upon the deed of gift. SUDAMA v. KESHO, 102 P. R. 1879. [R., 26 P.R. 1882, 121 P.R. 1882, 51 P.R. 1904; D., 126 P.R. 1884, 116 P.R. 1888, 120 P.R. 1894.]

(57)—Possession, Suit for — Res judicata — Judgment inter partes in a previous suit, Admissibility of — Civ. Pro. Code, s. 13 — Recognition of claim—Evidence Act, s. 13—The respondents brought a suit against the appellants for possession of some lands in a village, on the allegation that they had acquired title to the land in suit as well as the other land of the village by adverse possession. They filed a judgment in a suit brought by their father for a declaration of his title to the lands of that village, the title being based upon mortgages alleged to have become irredeemable. The decision was that he was entitled to 22 bighas, and the rest of the claim was dismissed. In the course of that judgment, the Court recorded an opinion that the plaintiff was proved to be in possession of the whole land now in suit, but dismissed the claim except as to the 22 bighas on the ground that the plaintiff, though in possession, had not proved his title. The judgment was inter partes. Held, that the question of possession of the land, with regard to which the suit was dismissed, was not res judicata. A bare expression of opinion in a judgment upon a question of possession, which is not given effect to by the decree, is not a recognition of a right within the meaning of s. 13 of the Evidence Act and is not admissible in proof of possession, either at the date of the judgment or at any other time. MUSAMAT KARIMA BIBI v. SRI GOBIND, 7 O.C. 122.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(58)—Suit for possession—Possession at time of suit.—Where the plaintiff who alleged dispossession for three years prior to the institution of the suit, failed to prove it, but proved that he was entitled to the land at the time of the suit, held, that the plaintiff was entitled to a decree for possession, although he would not be entitled to wassilat from the date of alleged dispossession. MEER MOBARUCK KHAN v. SOOKBA SINDHOO BANERJEE, 13 W.R. 111.

(59)—Mesne profits—Necessity to establish title—Mere decree for possession.—Mesne profits cannot be recovered until title is established. A mere decree in a suit for possession in no degree shows that the plaintiff has any right to the mesne profits. ZUMURUDOONISSA v. RADHA CHURN GHUTTUCK, 9 W.R. 590.

(60)—Suit for possession — Limitation.—Where plaintiff sues for possession, and the defendant, being in possession under the order of a competent Court, pleads limitation, the latter is entitled to a clear finding on it before the question of title is taken up and inquired into. TARINEE KISHORE ACHARJ CHOWDRY v. NARAIN ACHARJ CHOWDRY, W.R. 1864, 142.

(61)—Reg. II of 1805, s. 3—Private claims to immoveable property—Allegation of fraud, force, etc.—Limitation.—The provision in s. 3, Reg. II of 1805, that the twelve years period of limitation did not apply to any private claims to immoveable property, if the person in possession had acquired the possession by violence, fraud or by any other unjust and dishonest means whatever, had to be construed with some strictness to avoid the large class of cases that could be set up by the mere allegation of fraud, &c., and the alleged fraudulent or forcible dispossession had to be clearly established. MAHARAJAH RAJENDAR KISHORE SINGH v. RAJAH SAHEB PERHLAD SEIN, 22 W.R. 165.

(62)—Dispossessed person, Suit by—Limitation.—A person complaining of dispossession will be barred by limitation, unless he can prove that he has not been out of possession for more than three years. GOBINDO CHUNDER MOULICK v. MUDHOOSOODUN MOULICK, 25 W.R. 550.

(63)—Suit for possession—Zamindar—Occupancy ryot—Limitation—Act VIII of 1869—Act X of 1859—Suit under Act VIII of 1869—Limitation—Burden of proof.—A suit to recover possession of property against the zamindar by establishment of title, (namely) right of occupancy and ancestral holding, is not cognizable under Act X of 1859, nor could it be treated as a suit under Act VIII of 1869. Such a suit would not be barred if brought within 12 years of dispossession. [R., 17 C. 926; D., 9 C. 280.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

Ordinarily, it is for the plaintiff to prove that his cause of action accrued within the time allowed by law. But in a suit for possession under Act VIII of 1869, where limitation is set up on the ground that the plaintiff had not filed his suit within one year from the date of an alleged relinquishment, the defendant will have to make out the plea if he relies upon his evidence of possession for more than one year to put the plaintiff out of Court. MUSSAMUT DHORJOBUTTY CHOWDHRAIN v. CHAMROO MUNDUL, 25 W.R. 217.

(64) — Suit for possession—Allegation of ouster—Admission—Limitation.—Where plaintiff sued for possession of a share in an estate alleging her dispossession thereof by the defendants, and that her deceased husband was undivided from his brother under whom the defendants claimed, and where the evidence in the case showed that the defendants had been in undisturbed possession for 11 years and 11 months and one day, and that the plaintiff's husband had, in two petitions presented to the Collector 24 and 27 years previous to the sale in favour of the defendants, stated, in most unequivocal terms, that he had separated from his brother and further prayed the Collector to make settlement with him separately from his brother, held, that the suit was time-barred, having been brought at the close of 12 years from the date of plaintiff's ouster and also because there was no reliable evidence let in by the plaintiff to show that the family was joint at any time within 12 years before the sale to the defendants. BHROMAR COOMAR DEBEE v. BANEE MADHUB BANERJEE, 17 W.R. 505.

(65) — Dismissal of declaratory suit—Subsequent suit for possession—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 7.—The dismissal of a declaratory suit on the ground that the plaintiff could sue for possession, does not bar a subsequent suit for possession. DARBO v. KESHO RAI, 2 A. 356, F.B. [F., 5 A. 345, F.B.; R., 14 B. 31.]

(66) — Possession, Suit for—Decree—Title.—A decree in a suit for possession is defective, unless it decides the question of title. GOBIND CHUNDER BABOO v. KHOSSAUL CHUNDER BABOO, 1 W.R. 208.

(67) — Possession for more than 12 years—Dispossession under a decree.—A party who has been in possession for more than 12 years cannot be dispossessed in execution of a decree to which he is not a party. BABOO GANESH LALL SINGH v. SHAIKH AHMEDOOLLAH, 5 W.R. 261. [Appr., 8 W.R. 333, 354; R., 8 W.R. 386, 12 W.R. 256.]

(68) — Suit for possession—Previous suit on the basis of possession without title, dismissal of—Subsequent dispossession—Effect of previous decree.—Defendants brought a suit in 1886 for a declaration of their title to, and to recover possession of, certain lands from the plaintiff. The suit was dismissed, defendants having failed in that suit to prove their title. Defendants subsequently dispossessed the plaintiff in 1890; and plaintiff instituted the present suit in 1896, but could not prove his title. Held, that the effect of the decree in the previous suit was to declare as against the present defendants, that plaintiff's possession was lawful, and such being the case, and the defendants being wrong-doers and having no title, the plaintiff in the present suit, on the basis of the decree in the previous suit and his previous lawful possession, is entitled to recover if the lands are the same. FAZLAR RAHMAN CHOWDHRY v. RAJ CHUNDER SEN, 5 C.W. N. 234. (20 C. 834, 3 C. 145, 3 C.W.N. 568, D.)

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(69) — Decree in favour of two or more persons—One decree-holder alone purchasing property in execution of decree and obtaining possession—Subsequent dispossession—Other decree holders, if necessary parties in suit for possession—Non-joinder.—Where a money-decree has been obtained by three persons and, in execution of the decree, the properties of the judgment-debtors have been sold, and one of the decree-holders, after having obtained leave to bid at the sale, has bought the properties in his own name and for himself alone and has obtained a sale certificate in his own name and has been put into possession of the properties by the Court, and is subsequently dispossessed of the same by the judgment-debtors, a suit by such decree-holder purchaser for recovery of possession of the properties is not bad for non-joinder of the other decree-holders as parties. ARUMUGAM CHETTI v. SUNDARARAJA AIYANGAR, 8 M. L.J. 3.

(70) — Decree for possession—Application for execution—Actual possession not taken—Formal possession given—Regular suit for lands decreed—Limitation.—Plaintiffs had obtained a decree for one-third of an estate in January, 1872. They had applied formally for execution of the decree and their application was made over to the Revenue authorities in order that the fields representing the plaintiffs' share might be divided off to them. This was duly done and an order was passed that the partition was completed and that effect should be given to it in the papers of the Patwari. Plaintiffs did not take actual possession of the fields allotted to them, but 'formal possession' having been awarded to them, their claim to the fields was subject to the limitation of twelve years commencing from the date of such formal possession. MUSST. KARIM NISSAN v. BASHO, 75 P.R. 1882.

(71) — Purchaser getting symbolical possession—Suit for actual possession.—An execution-purchaser getting formal possession has a right of suit for actual possession, as such formal possession, operates as a complete transfer of possession. KARAM BAKSH v. NAND LAL, 103 P.R. 1884.

(72) — Wrongful dispossession—Right of lawful owner against wrong doer and purchaser from him.—The lawful owner of property of which he has been wrongfully dispossessed can recover it, either from the original wrong-doer or from bona fide purchasers from the original wrong-doer. RAMSOONDER CHUCKERBUTTY v. BEKWITH, 1 W.R. 255.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(73)—Conveyance by person out of possession.—A lease or a transfer of property by a person out of possession is not ipso facto void. LOKE-NATH GHOSE v. JUGOBUNDHOO ROY, 1 C. 297. [R., 2 B. 299; Not F., 6 B. 380.]

(74)—Suit for possession—Plea of lekhraj—Onus of proof.—In a suit for possession of certain land, the plaintiff claiming it as the lekhraj of one T, purchased by him some years previously, the defence was that it was originally the lekhraj of R, from whom W, the father of T, held it as jummai land, that the defendant purchased it from R's heirs, continued W in his holding and eventually sued W for arrears of rent and sold the tenure in execution of the decree, purchasing it himself. The Court of first appeal decreed the suit on the ground that, even if plaintiff's purchase was made on a wrong declaration as to the nature of T's right, still as it was admitted that T held the property under some sort of legal right, plaintiff was entitled to possession by virtue of his purchase. Held that the above opinion was bad in law, and that the plaintiff was not entitled to a decree, he having failed to prove his case. JUGGUT CHUNDER CHOWDHRY v. ISSUR CHUNDER FOTADAR, 23 W.R. 60.

(75)—Mortgage decrees—Auction sales—Priority.—A purchaser in execution of a decree on a first mortgage of certain immoveable properties is not entitled to sue for possession against a prior auction purchaser in execution of a decree on a second mortgage of the same properties, for, he cannot be ousted until it is proved that the land is still liable for another debt, and then, only if he neglects or refuses to pay off that debt and allows another sale to take place. AJOODHYA PERSHAD v. MUSST. MORACHA KOOR, 25 W.R. 254. [R., 2 A. 698.]

(76)—Suit for khas possession, effect of dismissal of—Plaintiff not entitled to declaration of right to proprietary title.—The Court of first instance dismissed the suit for khas possession of the property purchased in execution of a decree finding in favour of certain claimants that had set up a title to it, and directed that the plaintiff should be given possession of proprietary title, or in other words, that he might receive rent from those who admitted tenancy. The lower appellate Court having reversed the latter portion of the decision of the first Court, the High Court held that the lower appellate Court was right because the plaintiff sued for khas possession and his suit ought to be decided upon the ground upon which he based it. GOPEE MOHUN GOSSAIN v. ISSUR CHUNDER BANERJEE, 2 W.R. 237.

(77)—Suit for possession by purchaser at revenue sale—Limitation, Calculation of.—In a suit for possession, by a purchaser at a sale for arrears of Government revenue, the period of limitation is to be counted only from the time of the purchase, because, as purchaser, he is entitled to recover the property free of all encumbrances and his cause of action arises only on the date of his purchase. NARAIN CHUNDER v. TAYLER, 4 C. 103=3 C.L.R. 151. [Appr., 22 C. 244.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(78)—Auction purchaser in Court-sale—Suit for possession—Limitation—Adverse possession.—Where no possession had been obtained by the auction purchaser or by his representatives, for a period of more than 12 years, held that a suit for possession was barred. It would not be necessary that there should be proof of actual possession in order to avoid limitation. Proof of possession by operation of law would be sufficient. MEHTAB KHAN v. MUHAMMAD ALI, A.W.N. 1882, 31.

(79)—Auction purchaser put in possession—Dispossession—Conditional vendee from judgment-debtor—Limitation.—If the defendants, having purchased and having been lawfully put in possession of the rights and interests of the judgment-debtors, have unlawfully dispossessed the plaintiff who is admittedly the conditional vendee of the property from the judgment-debtors and who was in possession of the property at the time of the defendants' purchase, the defendants being wrong-doers, the plaintiff's right to recover the land may be asserted against them within the ordinary time of limitation. SETH OODEY KURRUN v. CHAIT RAM, 2 Agra 125.

(80)—Cause of action—Decree for possession—Property in possession of Collector under attachment—Suit for khas possession on withdrawal of attachment.—The father-in-law of the plaintiff and his brother's son were living joint in food and estate. While so living, the plaintiff property was purchased with their joint funds in the name of the nephew. Subsequently, they separated in food only and the plaintiff's father-in-law died. The nephew having fraudulently and collusively obtained possession of the property, a suit was instituted against him, and a decree was passed for possession in favour of the plaintiff in respect of her husband's half-share in the property. As the property was then under attachment by the Collector by order of the Court under the provisions of Reg. V of 1812, s. 26 as modified by Reg. V of 1827, the plaintiff did not obtain khas possession of it. After the withdrawal of the attachment, the plaintiff brought the present suit for a declaration of her right in a share in the plaintiff property as specified in the prior decree. The defendant contended that the suit was barred by limitation. Held, that, as the property was attached by the Collector under the orders of the Court on account of disputes between the sharers, the possession of the Collector was not on behalf of the defendant only, but was on behalf of all the parties interested in the property. Consequently, plaintiff had a cause of action on the withdrawal of the attachment, and, as it was within twelve years, the suit was not barred by limitation. JEEBUNESSREE DABEE v. KRISTO MONEEDABEE, 22 W.R. 265.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(81)—Injunction—Prayer for injunction to quit—Prayer for possession.—A prayer for an injunction to the defendant to leave a house is really nothing more than a prayer for possession. NAGASAWMY AIYAR v. PERUMAL AIYAR, 13 M.L.J. 475.

(82)—Suit to recover possession of property—Possession, first permissive and not adverse—Adverse possession subsequently set up—Burden of proof—Wrong description of land given in the decree—Order passed for execution in respect of property claimed, reversal of—Application for restitution—Fresh suit for declaration and injunction—Whether ss. 43 and 244, Civ. Pro. Code, and s. 56 of the Specific Relief Act, any bar to such suit.—In 1889, the plaintiff and his father executed a nominal sale-deed in respect of family property in favour of the defendant and put him in possession thereunder. In 1901, plaintiff sued the defendant and obtained a decree for possession of his share in the property. But owing to some clerical error in the plaint, a wrong description of land, as survey No. 287-L was given in the decree. The District Munsiff, in spite of such error, allowed the plaintiff his share in the property claimed, i.e., in survey No. 287-S, but his order was reversed by the District Judge as survey No. 287-S was not found in the decree. Plaintiff then filed a fresh suit for declaration that such property belonged to him and for an injunction restraining the defendant from taking possession in restitution proceedings, and the defendant put in his application for restitution. The lower Court gave a decree in favour of the plaintiff as prayed for, but the District Judge dismissed the suit on the ground of limitation. Held, (i) that the possession of the defendant was, in the first instance, permissive and not adverse, and it lay on the defendant to show when his possession became adverse; and as no evidence was let in, the plea of limitation must fail; (ii) that s. 244, Civ. Pro. Code, is no bar to the suit; (iii) that s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code, is also no bar, as the plaintiff neither omitted to sue in respect of the suit land, nor intentionally relinquished it, there being only a clerical error in the description of it in the former suit; (iv) that, as the defendant's application for restitution was not pending when plaintiff filed his suit for injunction, neither cl. (a) nor cl. (b) of s. 56 of the Specific Relief Act can have any application, and that therefore s. 56 is no bar to the injunction sought by the plaintiff. THAKA NATARAJA AIYER v. KI SUBRAMANIA IYER, 5 M.L.T. 294=1 Ind. Cas. 806.

(83)—Specific Relief Act, I of 1877—Amendment Act, XII of 1891, s. 9—Suit to recover possession more than six months after dispossession—Possession is title against all but true owner—Plea of jus tertii by person in possession.—Suit to recover possession brought more than six months after dispossession. The question was whether, assuming that the plaintiff had no title to the suit property, he could maintain an action of ejectment on the strength of his prior possession. Held that as against a wrong-doer, prior possession of the plaintiff in an action of ejectment, is sufficient title, even if the suit be brought more than six months after the act of dispossession complained of and the wrong-doer cannot successfully resist by showing that the title and right to possession are in a third person. A plea of ius tertii is no defence unless the defendant can show that the act complained of was done by the authority of the true owner, and it is immaterial, however short or recent the plaintiff's possession was. Held also that the only effect of s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act is that if a summary suit be brought within the time prescribed by s. 9 of the Act, the plaintiff therein who was dispossessed otherwise than in due course of law will be entitled to be reinstated even if the defendant who thus dispossessed him be the true owner or a person authorized by or claiming under him, but a decree in such a suit will not have the force of res judicata on the question of title. NARAYANA ROW v. DHARMACHAR, 26 M. 514. (26 C. 579, Diss.) [R., 27 M. 262, 32 M. 86=5 M.L.T. 80, 1 Ind. Cas. 525, 12 O.C. 129; D., 29 A. 52=3 A.L.J. 775=A.W.N. 1906, 264.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(84)—Ejectment—Suit for possession by person dispossessed against person with better title—Onus—Specific Relief Act, s. 9.—If a suit not of the nature contemplated in s. 9, Specific Relief Act, for recovery of immovable property, after dispossession by the defendant, is to be successful the possession relied on must be of a proprietary character and of long duration. A plaintiff, not the real owner of the suit property but a mere temporary squatter, who was dispossessed under colour of title by the defendant, in whose name mutation was made by the Revenue authorities, cannot succeed by merely proving such previous possession but must also establish a title in himself to justify a decree for recovery of possession. TULLA v. GOPI, 51 P.R. 1904. (102 P.R. 1879, R.)

(85)—Suit for possession based on possessory title of plaintiff's predecessor—Plaintiffs never themselves in possession—Cause of action—Specific Relief Act, s. 9.—Plaintiffs sued, as heirs, to recover certain property, which had been in the possession of their deceased father, without any legal title, and was appropriated by their brother, to the exclusion of the plaintiffs, and purchased by the defendants in execution of a decree against him and was in the peaceable possession of the defendants for a little less than 12 years. Per Knox, J.—Held, that, inasmuch as the plaintiffs had never, at any time, been in possession of the property claimed by them, their suit would not lie. (24 A. 157, 26 M. 514, 27 A. 169, 12 A. 51, 20 C. 834, D.) Per Aikman, J. (Contra)—The plaintiffs' father having held a possessory title heritable and transferable—good as against all except the true owner, there was nothing to prevent his heirs bringing the present suit. SHRI GOPAL v. AYESHA BEGAM, A.W.N. 1906, 264=3 A.L.J. 775=29 A. 52. (13 A. 537, 24 A. 157, 27 A. 169, A.W.N. 1906, 184, 26 M. 514, 12 A. 51, R.)

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(86)—Act XIX of 1841, s. 18—Possession—Execution—Order of Judge, when final—Appeal.—For the purpose of settling actual possession, s. 18 of Act XIX of 1841, declares the Judge's decision to be final; but when questions arise in the execution of a decree or order passed on an application under the Act, then, that section does not apply and an appeal would lie. DHUNPUT OJHA v. MUSSUMAT OUDHA KOOR, 3 N.W.P. 151.

(87)—Possession—Summary suit—Acts XIX of 1841, X of 1851.—Where a summary suit is instituted to enforce a claim to possession of property, and the question in dispute necessarily involves the right, the claimant ought to be directed at once to proceed under Acts XIX and XX of 1841 and X of 1851, which do not determine the right, but only give possession to the prima facie heirs. ASHRUFFOODOWLAH AHMED HOSSEIN v. HYDER HOSSEIN KHAN, 7 W.R.P.C. 1=11 M.I.A. 94=1 Suther. 659=2 Sar. 223.

(88)—Suit for possession alleging ouster—Proof of anterior possession not sufficient—Onus on plaintiff to prove title—Act XIV of 1859, s. 15, possessory suit under.—Suit for recovering possession after ouster. The plaintiff had been distinctly held to have a bad title whilst the title of the defendant had not been entered into. Held that it was not competent to the person out of possession to oust the person in possession simply by proving anterior possession but that the former must prove a title. In such a case, the proper remedy is a necessary suit under s. 15 of Act XIV of 1859 brought within the proper time. MUSST. TUKROONISSA BEGUM v. MUSST. MOGUL JAN BEBEE, 8 W.R. 370.

(89)—Act XIV of 1859, s. 15—Possessory suit—Award under Act XXV of 1861, s. 318.—The object of s. 318 of the Crim. Pro. Code, Act XXV of 1861, is to maintain a party in possession temporarily at least, whether that possession is a wrongful one or not, while the object of s. 15 of Act XIV of 1859 is to restore to possession parties dispossessed otherwise than by due course of law; therefore, an award under s. 318 of the Crim. Pro. Code, is no bar to a possessory action under s. 15 of Act XIV of 1859. CHYTUN CHUNDER ROY v. BROJO KANT ROY, 20 W.R. 12. [Appl., 3 Bom. L. R. 919=26 B. 353; D., 7 C.L.J. 547=12 C.W. N. 696.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(90)—Suit for possession—S. 318, Crim. Pro. Code, 1861.—Laid down that s. 318, Crim. Pro. Code, implied not that any party, who can show in the Civil Court a possession prior to the Magistrate's award, would be entitled to have the award set aside, and to be put in possession; but only that the party out of possession must prove title. SHIB PERSAD ROY v. RUGHOO NATH SINGH, W.R. 1864, 295.

(91)—Dispossession of tenant—Crim. Pro. Code, 1861, s. 318.—Where the order of a Magistrate under s. 318, Crim. Pro. Code, 1861 dispossesses a tenant, he need not sue to have the order set aside for recovering possession. SREEMUTTY LUKHEE DEBEA CHOWDHRAIN v. GOOROO DOSS SEIN, W.R. 1864, Act X, Rul. 54.

(92)—Crim. Pro. Code, 1861, s. 318—Suit for possession by setting aside order under, not maintainable without reference to title.—To set aside the effect of order passed under s. 318, the plaintiff ought not to be permitted to sue for restoration of possession on the sole ground of previous possession without reference to title, for, when a person has been put in possession by a competent Court, the only remedy open to the opponent is to prove his right and title and to recover possession by a regular suit. RAJESSUREE DEBIA v. BRINDABUTTY DEBIA, 7 W.R. 212. [Cons., 9 C.L.R. 305.]

(93)—Possession—Evidence—Dispute as to possession between purchaser from heir and grantees from widows—Effect of decision of Magistrate—Putni—Dur-putni—Mokurruree right.—In a former suit by the appellant as purchaser from a person who became entitled to it as heir of a former proprietor, instituted on the death of the last survivor of the four widows left by such proprietor, to establish her mokurruree right to certain lands against certain persons who claimed under a grant from the widows of such proprietor, she obtained a decree establishing such rights as against the defendants in that suit. When she came to take out execution of her decree, the respondents, who had not previously intervened in the suit, objected to such execution on the ground that the lands in dispute formed a putnee tenure which had been sold in auction for arrears of rent due by S, the former proprietor and purchased in 1849 by K and H who had granted a dur-putnee of the same to the respondents. On this claim being so made, it was put in course of trial as a regular suit between the objectors (respondents) as plaintiffs, and the decree-holder (appellant) as defendant, and the lower Courts decided the suit in favour of the respondents. It appeared that in 1841, there was a proceeding before the Magistrate, in which the grantees of the dur-mokurruree right under the widows were plaintiffs, and S, the putneedar, was the defendant, in which the whole title and the respective rights of the parties, as they then stood, were gone into and investigated. As the result of that investigation, the Magistrate found in favour of the then plaintiffs that they were and had been in possession as dur-mokurrureedars under the widows; and he accordingly, by his order, quieted them in such possession, and remitted the putneedar to institute a suit in the Civil Court to enforce his claim. No such suit was brought. Held, that this proceeding of 1841 was conclusive of the present case, and that in 1841, the actual possession was clearly in the grantees of the widows and that it was in the highest degree improbable that the said grantees having established their possessory right against S, would, without a struggle, have allowed themselves to be turned out of possession by their relatives as purchasers of S's right; and that the possession of the grantees was obtained and continued under the widow's title, and was to be referred solely to the title which was now vested in the appellant, and that the right of the appellant could in no wise be affected by the acquisition of the title in 1849. SHEROOCOOMAREE DEBIA v. KESHUB CHUNDER BOSSOO, 18 W.R. 1, P.C.=2 Suther. 581.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(94)—Award under Act IV of 1840—Execution—Ejectment—Suit for possession.—In a suit for possession of certain lands with mesne profits, where the plaintiff alleged that the defendants, who set up a hereditary right to the lands in execution of an Act IV award given in their favour in respect of a small portion of the lands in suit, ousted him (plaintiff) from all the plaintiff lands, the Court must try the question of the hereditary nature of the tenure raised by the defendants, but must not dismiss the claim on the ground of the inability of the plaintiff to explain how he was ejected from the whole of the lands in dispute, while the award in favour of the defendants was only in respect of a small portion thereof. BHYRUBNATH SANDYAL v. HURRO SOONDERY DEBEA, 1 W.R. 32.

(95)—Boundaries—Jalkar lands—Onus probandi—Magistrate's award—Act IV of 1840.—In a case of disputed boundaries where one of the claimants is in possession by virtue of a Magistrate's order under Act IV of 1840, it lies on the party seeking to oust him, to show a better title to the land claimed. PARADAKANT ROY v. CHUNDER KUMAR ROY, 2 B.L.R.P.C. 1=12 M.I.A. 145=11 W.R.P.C. 1=2 Suther. 169=2 Sar. 403. [Rel. on, 9 C.L.R. 305; R., 19 C. 544, F.B.; D., 11 W.R. 566.]

(96)—Suit for possession and reversal of Act IV award—Suit for damages—Splitting of cause of action.—A suit for possession of land under title and reversal of an Act IV award need not imperatively include a claim for damages on account of the subsequently misappropriated materials of a house, as the subject-matter of each suit is perfectly distinct as to time and cause of action. KALEEKANT ROY CHOWDHRY v. HURO MOHINEE CHOWDHRAIN, 5 W.R. 128.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(97)—Possession, Suit for—Previous possession for eleven years—Jalkar—Attachment by Criminal Court under s. 146, Crim. Pro. Code (Act V of 1898).—A jalkar was attached by the Criminal Court, under s. 146, Crim. Pro. Code. The plaintiff brought this suit for recovery of possession and proved undisturbed and peaceable possession for eleven years before the attachment, and the defendant was proved not to have been in possession before the Magistrate's order: Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to maintain the possession which he had against all but the true owner; the defendant had not shown himself to be the true owner, and therefore, the plaintiff was entitled to a decree. SHAMA CHARAN ROY v. SURJA KANTA ACHARYA BAHADUR, 6 Ind. Cas. 806.

(98)—Crim. Pro. Code, s. 145—Magistrate's order—Possessory suit—Jurisdiction of Mamlatdar to entertain.—A Mamlatdar has jurisdiction to try a possessory suit and this jurisdiction is not taken away by the fact that a Magistrate has previously passed an order regarding the same property under s. 145 of the Crim. Pro. Code. NAGAPPA v. BADRUDIN, 3 Bom. L.R. 919=26 B. 353.

(99)—Dispute as to possession of immoveable property—Competency of Revenue and Civil Courts—Concurrent jurisdiction—Bombay Act V of 1864—Act VIII of 1859.—Although Bombay Act V of 1864 gives to Mamlatdars the power to hear and decide suits in regard to immediate possession, it does not follow that the Civil Courts have no power to decide suits of the same nature. Act VIII of 1859 declares that they shall have such jurisdiction. In such cases, Civil and Revenue Courts have concurrent jurisdiction. Ex parte NAGOVA kom JAKAN GAUDA, 3 B.H.C.A.C. 108. [R., 8 B.H.C.O.C. 185, 4 B. 168, 31 B. 86=8 Bom. L.R. 904; D., 1 B. 624.]

(100)—Possessory suit—Issues to be considered by Mamlatdar.—In a suit for possession filed in a Mamlatdar's Court, under Act III of 1876 (Bombay), the only issues which the Mamlatdar has to consider are:—(i) whether the plaintiff is in possession. (ii) whether the defendants obstructed or disturbed that possession, and (iii) whether such obstruction or disturbance was within six months before suit. BALAVANTRAO v. SPORT, 23 B. 761. [Appl., 25 B. 395=2 Bom. L.R. 1136.]

(101)—Possession, joint or exclusive—Frame of suit.—It cannot be affirmed as a general proposition of law that, whenever a party asks for recovery of property, on the allegation that he is exclusively entitled to possession thereof, his suit must necessarily be dismissed, if he proves that he is entitled to joint possession; but if he claims possession of a specific portion of a large area as representing his share, he cannot recover joint possession of the whole property upon failure to prove his exclusive title. SASTI CHARAN DE v. SARAJINI DEBYA, 10 C.L.J. 213=2 Ind. Cas. 492.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(102)—Suit for exclusive possession—Joint ownership—Decree.—If, in a suit by plaintiffs for exclusive possession, it is found that the property belongs to the litigant parties jointly, the Court can award a decree for joint possession. JAG RAM v. HANS RAJ, 17 P.R. 1893.

(103)—Purchasers of shares in joint property, right of, to recover possession.—Plaintiff sued to recover, from defendants joint possession of certain lands. Plaintiff claimed by purchase from the proprietors and the defendants were also purchasers from parties who bought from the plaintiff's vendors. The Judge of the first appellate Court found on the evidence that the estate of which plaintiff bought a portion was a joint undivided one, and that, therefore, the plaintiff was entitled to his share ijmalee with the other shareholders; but he decided against the plaintiff on the ground that he had not been able to prove that he had ever been dispossessed after getting possession. It was admitted by the Judge that the plaintiffs had purchased shares in joint property, and that they held possession of the lands, but he considered that they did so separately, not being aware of their ijmalee rights at the time; but the High Court held that it did not matter what position plaintiffs considered themselves to have occupied originally whilst in possession. It having been proved that they were in possession, they were entitled on establishing their right to recover possession whether that possession was originally joint or separate. RAJ-BULLUB SHAMINEE v. WARIS MAHOMED, 8 W.R. 450.

(104)—Suit for exclusive possession of property to which parties are entitled jointly—Form of decree.—One of two joint owners of immoveable property, having been forcibly ejected by the other from some land of which he was in possession through a tenant, brought a suit upon title to recover exclusive possession. Held, that, in such a suit, not being a suit under s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act, the plaintiff was not entitled to more than a declaration of his title to possession jointly with the defendant, and an injunction was also issued to the defendant prohibiting him from dealing with the land of which he was in possession to the prejudice of the plaintiff without the plaintiff's consent. RAM JATAN SHUKUL v. JAISAR SHUKUL, A.W.N. 1894, 166.

(105)—Practice—Suit for exclusive possession—Decree for joint possession.—It is competent to a Court in a suit in which the plaintiff claims exclusive possession of immoveable property to give a decree for joint possession thereof. RAM CHANDAR RAO v. MADHO RAO, A.W.N. 1891, 45. (17 C. 814, F.)

(106)—Co-sharers—Dispossession—Decree for joint possession.—Where a person who was in possession of property jointly with another, is illegally dispossessed from a portion of such property, he is entitled to be put back into the possession which he enjoyed before he was evicted. BHAIRON RAI v. SARAN RAI, 26 A. 588, F.B. = 1 A.L.J. 183 = A.W.N. 1904, 106. (A.W.N. 1901, 48, D.) [F., 27 A. 153 = A.W.N. 1904, 199 = 2 A.L.J. 481; R., A.W.N. 1905, 160, 4 C.L.J. 198; R. & D., 33 C. 1201; D., 27 A. 88 = 1 A.L.J. 488 = A.W.N. 1904, 194.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(107)—Suit for exclusive possession—Decree for joint possession—Practice.—Where plaintiff sued for exclusive possession of certain lands, and it was found that the lands belonged to him jointly with the defendant. Held, that the plaintiff could be given a decree for joint possession along with the defendant, to the extent of his interest. PICHINATHOO v. RAMASAMY NAICK, 6 Ind. Cas. 502 = 8 M.L.T. 57.

(108)—Hindu Law—Possession of a member of the family—Its nature.—A member of a joint Hindu family cannot say that he is in possession of any particular portion of the family property on his own account, his possession being only the possession of the family. COOVERJI HIRJI v. DEWSEY BHOJA, 17 B. 718. [R., 3 Bom. L.R. 322, 25 B. 478, 11 C.L.J. 61 = 14 C.W.N. 298.]

(109)—Suit for share in family property—Claimant out of possession—Question for decision.—In a suit for a share of joint family property, the claimant being out of possession, the question for decision is when did the possession of the defendant become adverse to the plaintiff or the person under whom he claims by purchase. RAM LAKHI v. DURGA CHARAN, 11 C. 580. [F., 12 M. 292.]

(110)—Possession—Evidence of title—Parties.—A suit for possession of certain property was instituted by the plaintiff against the heirs of A and some others on the grounds (1) that the property originally belonged to himself jointly with A and B, both of whom had died, (2) that the heirs of A had abandoned their share to him, and (3) that he was the heir of B. The suit was decreed, the Court having found that there was sufficient evidence of the abandonment of A's share and that the plaintiff was in fact the heir of B. On second appeal, it was contended that, as between the plaintiff and the principal defendants, the heirs of B, who had appeared, the plaintiff had not proved his title to possession of A's share. Held that, all parties who might be interested being before the Court, and the plaintiff having as between himself and the heirs of A shown himself entitled to his share, he was entitled also to recover possession of the whole property from the other defendants. UMBICA CHURN BHUTACHARJEE v. PROSONNO COOMAR SEN, 9 C.L.R. 365.

(111)—Donees from one of several joint owners—Suit for possession—Sustainability.—A suit by the donees under the deed of gift executed by one of two or more joint owners, for the recovery of the possession of property, is not sustainable, as it is not one for partition. Members of a tarward, who get certain property under a devise by somebody in their favour, take the property as tarward property. KUNHI MOIDIN v. KYPATTAMBU, 1 M.L.J. 739.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(112)—Suit for possession—Female plaintiff—Evidence—Undivided property—Suit for possession—Decree—Evidence—Property in possession of female's relations—Collection of rents—Presumption.—A female plaintiff suing to recover possession of certain property in the possession and enjoyment of the defendant must rely on the strength of her own rights, whatever they may be. She cannot succeed merely because it is the property of her husband who does not object to her recovering it. In cases where the matter in question is the right to undivided shares of property, it is incumbent on the Courts to see that a decree is not given against some only of the shareholders for the recovery of a share of the property, unless it is proved distinctly that those shareholders, and not any other shareholders, are in the enjoyment and possession of it, and interfering with the claimants' enjoyment thereof. In respect of property in the possession of a respectable female's relations, such as, her husband, brother or son who had been receiving the rents thereof, the presumption does not necessarily arise that their possession is possession on her behalf and not on theirs. KAFATOULLAH v. AZIRA BIBEE, 23 W.R. 264.

(113)—Suit for possession—Real and benami purchasers—Parties to suit.—In a suit to recover possession of property which was purchased by one party in the name of another, the real purchaser ought, by the rule of Courts of Equity, to be a co-plaintiff. Where this is not the case, a decree obtained by the plaintiff may be reversed on appeal, as the real purchaser, not having been a party, would not be bound by such decree. KULLY PRASANNO BOSE v. DINONATH MULLICK, 11 B.L.R. 56 = 19 W.R. 434. [R., 5 C.L.J. 102, 22 B. 672; Discussed, 10 C. 697.]

(114)—Suit to recover possession of property—Benami purchase.—A suit to recover possession of property which was purchased by a vakil from his client benami in the name of another, and which was never made over to that other, cannot be maintained in the name of the ostensible owner. FUZEENBUN BEBEE v. OMDAH BEBEE, 11 B.L.R. 60, Note = 10 W.R. 469.

(115)—Suit for possession—Plea of bona fide purchase for value—Onus of proof—Benamiee—Enquiry as to title—Vendor's name registered as exclusive owner—Vendor alone sued for rent.—Where in a suit to recover possession, the defendant pleads that he is a bona fide purchaser for value without notice of the plaintiff's title, the onus of making out that plea is upon him (the defendant). It is very doubtful whether the doctrine of bona fide purchaser for value can be introduced in this country for the purpose of defeating the vested rights of parties. The benamiee system which notoriously prevails in this country is not prohibited by law, except in certain specified cases; it is one of the recognized institutions of the land, and it would, therefore, be extremely dangerous to hold that a purchaser in this country has discharged himself of the onus which lies upon him by looking only to the apparent title. The mere fact that the name of the vendor alone has been registered in the Zamindar's books as the exclusive owner of the putnee, or that the vendor alone was sued by the Zamindar for the rent of the putnee, does not discharge the purchaser of the onus which lies upon him of showing that he is a bona fide purchaser for value without notice. BIBEE JEEBUNISSA v. UMUL CHUNDER CHACK-LANUVIS, 18 W.R. 151.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(116)—Purchase of house with one's own funds—Right to recover possession—Benami.—The purchaser, with his own funds, of a house, is entitled to recover possession of the same. CHINNA PAKKIRI NAGASWARAGARAN v. GOVINDASWAMI PILLAI, 8 M.L.T. 283 = 8 Ind. Cas. 283.

(117)—Mortgage—Covenant to give the mortgagee possession—Suit for possession after expiration of term.—Where a mortgagor covenanted to put the mortgagee in possession of the mortgaged property, but did not do so, and the mortgagee sued for possession after the expiry of the mortgage term, held that the mortgagor was precluded, by his breach of the mortgage contract, from objecting to the maintainability of the suit on the ground that it was brought after the expiration of the mortgage term. HAR SAHAI v. CHUNNI KUAR, 4 A. 14 = A.W. N. 1881, 105.

(118)—Act IX of 1859, property of rebel sold under, suit for possession on ground of foreclosure by mortgagee, subject to limitation of one year from date of seizure or sale.—In this case, the property in suit was claimed by a party suing under the allegation of having a mortgage lien on it. The property in question was sold as that of a rebel under the special laws, Act XXV of 1857 and Act IX of 1859. Admittedly, no suit was brought within one year to set aside the sale, but it was pressed by the opposite party that the property was sold with notice of mortgage and that only the rights and interests of the rebel were sold. It was further contended that s. 20 of Act IX of 1859 referred only to suits brought in the Special Court which administered that law but nothing therein prevented suits being brought to confirm civil rights such as those under a mortgage, in the ordinary Civil Courts, within the period of 12 years, the ordinary period of limitation recognised in such Courts. The High Court held that the suit was barred by limitation, and added that the plea of the petitioner as to there being a concurrent period of 12 years to sue in other Courts, was not borne out by any express or implied provision in s. 20, Act IX of 1859. GOBIND PANDEY v. HEEMUT BAHADUR, 6 W.R. 42.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(119)—Suit for possession of occupancy holding by usufructuary mortgagee—Jurisdiction of Civil and Revenue Courts.—A suit for possession of occupancy holdings by an usufructuary mortgagee of an occupancy tenant should be brought in a Civil Court and not in a Revenue Court. BINDESHRI RAI v. SADHO CHARAN RAI, 26 A. 591. (15 A. 219, R.; 26 A. 78, Disc.)

(120)—Suit for possession.—In a suit for possession, the plaintiff must establish his title to property in question. Hence, where the plaintiffs sued to obtain possession of property which their predecessors in title had purchased in execution of a decree for sale passed on a prior mortgage, and the defendants resisted the plaintiff's claim on the ground that they were the representatives of another purchaser of the same property sold in execution of a subsequent decree passed upon a subsequent mortgage, the prior mortgagee not being a party to the suit upon the subsequent mortgage and the subsequent mortgagee not having been impleaded in the first mortgagee's suit, held, that the plaintiff's title was not of such a character as to justify a Court in ousting the defendants. DARBARI MAL v. SHIAM DEI, 1 A.L.J. 90.

(121)—Limitation—Possession, suit for—Mortgagee purchaser—Formal possession—Period from which limitation runs—Third person in actual possession—Ouster.—In execution of a mortgage decree, the mortgagees purchased the property under mortgage on the 7th October, 1888, and took formal possession of it on the 17th February, 1890. The plaintiff, who bought the property from the auction-purchaser, brought a suit for possession on the 20th December, 1901, against the mortgagor and his vendees, who were not parties to the mortgage suit. Held, that the suit was barred by limitation, as the cause of action accrued when the mortgage security ceased on the 7th October, 1888. (16 W.R. 33, P.C., F.) In the case of a third person who had already purchased the property and obtained actual possession, delivery of possession, as against the judgment-debtor alone, cannot amount to an ouster of the person in possession. RAMJAN MAHOMED v. CHUNDER MOHAN ADITYA, 7 C.L.J. 640. (22 A. 269, F.; 4 C.W.N. 297, D.)

(122)—Suit for possession under a sale-deed—Sale declared invalid—Prayer for possession as mortgagee—Inconsistent reliefs—Pleading—Practice.—Plaintiff sued for possession on the strength of a sale from first defendant's son. The land sued for was already mortgaged to plaintiff by 1st defendant. The Court found that plaintiff's vendor had no title to convey the land to plaintiff. Plaintiff urged in second appeal that he may be allowed to remain in possession as mortgagee from first defendant: Held, that, as such a claim was inconsistent with the absolute right claimed in the plaint, plaintiff was not entitled to possession as mortgagee. KUMARASAMI CHETTY v. POOSARI SAKKA NAICK, 4 Ind. Cas. 37=20 M.L.J. 141.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(123)—Cause of action—Possession given by Court—Obstruction.—The plaintiff who was a usufructuary mortgagee of the suit land obtained a decree for possession, in execution of which he received possession formally through the Court Amin. When, in pursuance of this delivery of possession, he entered upon the land for the purpose of exercising his rights over it as possessory mortgagee, he was resisted by the defendant. Held that the plaintiff had a good cause of action against the defendant for instituting a suit for possession and mesne profits. UTTAM CHAND v. SHAIKH GHAZI UDDIN, A. W.N. 1883, 192. (4 A. 184=A.W.N. 1882, 4, F.)

(124)—Suit for possession of land—Burden of proof.—It is quite true that in many cases when a man proves a prima facie title by possession, or, as it is called, a possessory title, it is sufficient to put the defendant upon proof to show that he has any title better than the possessory title of the other side. But where plaintiff sues for possession alleging that some 70 years ago the ancestor of the defendants, who was then the proprietor, mortgaged the plaint land to the ancestor of the plaintiff and that owing to that mortgage not having been redeemed the plaintiff became possessor of the land and continued to hold it until he was dispossessed by the defendants, the plaintiff must fail, if he does not prove the mortgage on which he relies; and the mere admission of the defendants that the transaction originated in a mortgage does not shift the burden of proof upon the defendants. HANUMAN v. RAM CHARITTAR A.W.N. 1887, 51.

(125)—Zur-i-peshghee mortgage—Redemption—Suit for possession—Defendant in possession pleading his possession under different title—Limitation—Fraud.—Where plaintiff sued to recover possession of a certain land, alleging that it was given in zur-i-peshghee mortgage to the first defendant, who, it was alleged, opposed the plaintiff's re-entry after redemption, and it was found that the 2nd defendant, who claimed the land as Kharijee land of a different mouzah and who was in possession, was not identical with the mortgagees between whom and the 2nd defendant there was no collusion, held, that the suit was barred by limitation unless the plaintiff could show that he had been in possession within 12 years next preceding the date of suit. SYUD AKBAR HOSSEIN v. TOOLSEE RAM, 23 W.R. 17.

(126)—Suit by usufructuary mortgagee wrongfully dispossessed of land by holder of decree against his mortgagor.—The plaintiff respondent's father, as well as he himself in succession was usufructuary mortgagee in possession of the land. The decree obtained by the applicant

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(first defendant), Ma Shwe Ma, was that the second defendant, Nga Po Maung, should redeem the land from Nga Yan Bye, the father of the present plaintiff, Nga Chit U, and make it over to Ma Shwe Ma. All that the mortgagee, Nga Yan Bye, was required to do at the outset was to accept a certain sum for redemption from Nga Po Maung and to restore the land to him. It was then Ngo Po Maung's business under the decree to deliver the land to Ma Shwe Ma. Instead of having the decree of the Court executed in this way, the defendant Ma Shwe Ma has attached the land and ousted the mortgagee Chit U—a proceeding which was entirely unwarrantable and which the Court that allowed it in execution of decree should now be required to explain. The Courts below ought to have found out by examination of the parties what the actual state of affairs was, and to have adjudicated upon it, notwithstanding the erroneous frame of the suit and the practical difficulty now in adjusting matters, and the application for revision itself asked for alteration of the decree as one of the modes of relief sought. The plaint would be treated as amended into a suit for recovery of possession with mesne profits. MA SHWE MA v. MAUNG CHIT U, U.B.R. 1892 — 1896, Vol. II, 602.

(127)—Mortgage—Suit by mortgagee for possession—Mortgage-debt to be repaid by rent—Relation of parties—Limitation—Act VIII of 1869, s. 27.—Where a mortgagee claimed possession, alleging that, under the terms of the mortgage, he should repay himself the debt by taking the rent reserved during the term (the mortgage in this case being a zuri-peshgee lease), held that the limitation prescribed by s. 27, Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.), was not applicable to the case, the relation between the parties being different from that of landlord and tenant contemplated in the above section. PURIAG DUTT ROY v. FEKOO ROY, 19 W.R. 160. [F., 19 W.R. 431.]

(128)—Possession of mortgagee—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 230—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 332—Repealing of old law—Effect of procedure under new law—Proof in such proceedings.—The possession of the mortgagee under the mortgage is "possession on his own account" within the meaning of s. 230 of the Civ. Pro. Code (1859) and s. 332 of the Civ. Pro. Code (1877); he is, therefore, entitled, when dispossessed in execution of a decree against the mortgagor, to which he is not a party, to be restored to possession under s. 332 of the Civ. Pro. Code (1877). A person, dispossessed under the above circumstances, after the Civ. Pro. Code (1877) came into force, in pursuance of an order passed under the old Code, is entitled to be restored to possession under the provisions of the new Code. A person dispossessed under the above circumstances, need not, in seeking to be restored to possession, prove his title; it is enough if he proves his possession. SHAFI-UD-DIN v. LOCHAN SINGH, 2 A. 94. [Not F., 6 O.C. 110.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(129)—Suit by mortgagee to declare lien—Subsequent suit for possession.—Where a suit by a mortgagee, who purchased the mortgaged property in execution of a money-decree only, for a declaration of his lien over the property, against the defendant, who had purchased the same property in execution of another decree against the mortgagor, was dismissed on appeal by the High Court. Held by a Full Bench that a subsequent suit for possession of the property would not lie, that his first suit for declaration of lien was properly brought, and that such mortgagee was entitled to a review of the former judgment; and held by the Bench, before which the review came to be heard, that he was entitled to such review and to declaration of the lien. JONMENJOY MULLICK v. DASS-MONEY DASSEE, 8 C. 700.

(130)—Suit for possession into suit for redemption, Conversion of.—A suit based on fraud and fought out on the ground of fraud and dismissed in the first Court on the ground of there having been no fraud, cannot be converted, in the Appellate Court, into one for redemption. But under special circumstances, a suit for possession may be converted into a suit for redemption on the establishment of an existing mortgage. RAM DAS MONDAL v. INDROMONI DAS, 3 C.W.N. 325. [R., 5 C.L.J. 527, 5 C.L.J. 653.]

(131)—Possession with contract to sell—Re-sale.—A property was agreed to be sold to M and possession was given. M paid only a part of the consideration. So the document was not registered. Now the property was re-sold to A by a registered deed. A sued the vendor and M for possession. Held, the owner had a lien for the unpaid purchase-money on the property, and consequently A could not recover. MOIDIN v. AVARAN, 11 M. 263. [R., 16 M. 464, 29 M. 336.]

(132)—Different mortgage decrees on the same property—Right to possession determined by priority of purchase.—Where the same property is mortgaged to two persons on different dates, and the later mortgagee, suing on his mortgage and becoming purchaser, takes possession, and then the earlier mortgagee obtains a simple decree on his mortgage, purchases the same property in execution and sues the later mortgagee for possession, the later mortgagee, having first purchased the mortgagor's interest and having first obtained possession, is entitled to retain such possession as against the other, although his own right may be merely that of a trustee for the mortgagor and may be subject to the plaintiff's mortgage lien, if the latter takes proper proceedings to enforce it. DIRGOPAL LAL v. BOLAKEE, 5 C. 269. [R., 21 C. 116, 18 M. 500, 31 C. 737, 5 C.L.J. 527.]

(133)—Suit for possession between two rival mortgage decree-holders—Question for decision.—Where a certain property is mortgaged to two persons on the same date, both obtain decrees on their mortgages and one of them sells the property and becoming purchaser gets into possession, and the other, also becoming purchaser in execution, sues for possession, the question for decision is not one as to whose mortgage is prior but as to who has the prior right to possession. In such a case, the question of the priority of mortgage must be raised in a suit properly framed for the purpose. NANACK CHAND v. TELUCKDYE KOER, 5 C. 265 = 4 C. L. R. 358. [F., 26 M. 486; D., 12 C. 299, 7 O. C. 243, 32 C. 891 = 1 C.L.J. 371 = 9 C.W.N. 728; R., 21 C. 116, 5 C.L.J. 527, 18 M. 500, 24 C. 569, 10 M.L.J. 347 = 24 M. 171, 32 M. 485, 7 C.W.N. 11, 31 C. 737.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(134)—Ejectment—Wrongful dispossession—Jus tertii—Right of suit—Act XIV of 1859, s. 15.—Where the plaintiffs have been ousted by the defendants who have no title to the land in dispute, the latter cannot, in a suit to recover possession of the land, set up that somebody else other than the persons whom they ousted have or may have some title so as to defeat the claim of the plaintiffs to be restored to possession as against them. The fact that such a suit is not brought within the time limited by s. 15 of Act XIV of 1859 does not in any way affect the plaintiffs' right to a decree for possession. KUMUL DUTT v. MOHUN MALLA, 15 W.R. 278.

(135)—Decree declaring title and confirming possession—Fresh suit under Act X of 1859 necessary to remove person in possession.—In this special appeal it was urged that the Principal Sudder Ameen, when he found the plaintiff's title to the land proved, and the defendant's false, should have removed the latter from possession, or at all events should not have confirmed him in it. The High Court saw no reason to interfere in this matter; plaintiff who sued only for declaration of his title and confirmation of a possession which he alleged himself already to have, got all that he asked for; his title was declared, and his possession as talookdar confirmed; but, as he did not ask for khas possession or for the ejection of the defendant, who had been found by the Principal Sudder Ameen to be in actual possession of the land, he could not have that relief afforded him in the present suit. If plaintiff wished to evict him and enter upon khas possession of the property, he should bring a suit for the purpose under Act X of 1859. GUGUN CHUNDER GHOSE v. RAJ CHUNDER KUR, 8 W.R. 281.

(136)—Jurisdiction of Civil Court—Suit for possession—Ejectment—Mesne profits.—A suit for possession with mesne profits on the allegation that defendant, who had once been a tenant, was, notwithstanding the determination of his tenancy, holding on as a trespasser, does not lie under Act X of 1859. HARI NATH DAS v. SHEIK ASMAT ALI, 6 B.L.R. App. 118 = 15 W.R. 171.

(137)—Suit under Beng. Act X of 1859—Proof of title.—If a person, evicted without legal process from land in his occupation, sued for possession under Act X of 1859, he was bound to prove his title. MADUR KHAN v. WOOMA MOYEE DABEE, Marsh 389 = 2 Hay 434; SHUSTEE DHUR MOZUMDAR v. NUTEEJA BIBI, 7 W.R. 36.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(138)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 6—Act XIV of 1859, s. 15—Ordinary civil action—Evidence—Damages.—In an ordinary civil action not brought under the provisions of cl. 6, s. 23, Act X of 1859, or under s. 15, Act XIV of 1859, the plaintiff cannot obtain a decree for possession against the undisputed owner of the lands in dispute merely by proving his previous possession and dispossession, but he may claim damages for the value of crops taken away. RAM MOHUN DOSS v. JHUPPRAO DOSS, 14 W.R. 41. [Appl., 21 C. 244.]

(139)—Suit for possession—Shikmee talukdar.—A suit for possession may be brought by a shikmee talukdar under cl. 6, s. 23, Act X of 1859. RAJ CHUNDER SURMA GOSAIN v. ALI NEWAZ KHAN, W.R. 1864, Act X Rul., 133.

(140)—Suit by ejected tenant against adverse holder with title accrued prior to suit—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 6, if applicable—Jurisdiction.—This was a suit by a tenant who had been ejected by the defendants, who claimed under a lease from the zemindar who was also made a co-defendant. The plaintiff obtained a decree in the first Court. An intervenor, who claimed as purchaser under one of the defendants, appealed to a Principal Sudder Ameen who dismissed the suit on the ground that the suit was cognizable only by the Collector under Act X of 1859. But the High Court held that the plaintiff could not have instituted the present suit under Act X, and the lower Court was therefore wrong in having dismissed it. He could not, under cl. 6 of s. 23, Act X of 1859, have recovered possession of the lands as against the defendant, whose title as adverse holder had accrued prior to the institution of the suit. RUTTUN MOONEE DEBEA v. DHURMOMOYEE DASSEE, 2 W.R. Act X Rul. 9. [R., 14 W.R. 246, 15 W.R. 463; D., 17 W.R. 151.]

(141)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 6, suit to recover possession under—Points to be proved by plaintiff.—This suit which was one under cl. 6, s. 23 of Act X of 1859, should, by reason of s. 30 of the same Act, have been brought within one year from the date of the cause of action. The lower appellate Court had decided the suit in the plaintiff's favour on the insufficient ground that, because the plaintiff was admittedly in possession in 1255, and because the defendants did not prove the tenancy to have lapsed in 1257, the plaintiff might be inferred to have held on until ousted as alleged by him. The High Court was of opinion that the above reasons of the Judge were insufficient and unsatisfactory and held that the plaintiff must be called on to show when his cause of action commenced, when and how he was dispossessed, and whether his suit was instituted within the time prescribed by Act X of 1859, and, setting aside the decision of the Judge, remanded the case to him for a clear finding on the above points. RAM NARAIN SINGH v. SHEO PURSUN LAL, 4 W.R. Act X Rul. 24.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(142)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 6 and s. 25—Eviction.—S. 25, Act X of 1859, enacts that if a zemindar requires assistance to eject a cultivator not having a right of occupancy or a tenant after the determination of his tenancy, he shall make application to the Collector, who is thereby authorized to deal with the matter. If the ryot, upon the expiration of his tenancy, having no longer a legal right to hold the property, be required by the zemindar to quit, the zemindar is entitled to resume possession, and is moreover entitled to obtain possession by any legal peaceable means on the expiration of the tenancy. He is not allowed to eject by force or illegally, but is bound to apply to the Collector if he finds any legal impediments to his resuming his possession. To maintain a suit under cl. 6, s. 23, Act X of 1859, the plaintiff must show some right to be restored to his tenure. It is not to be assumed that he was in lawful possession, and therefore entitled to be restored to possession, because he was ejected without an application to the Collector under s. 25 of the Act. RUGHONUNDUN SINGH v. GOPAL SINGH, 1 W.R. 191.

(143)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 6—Suit under—Jurisdiction of Civil and Revenue Court.—A Revenue Court has no jurisdiction to entertain a suit instituted under cl. 6, s. 23, Act X of 1859, for recovering possession of land, in which the zemindar's servants were the nominal defendants, the real defendants not being shown to be in receipt of the rents, but setting up a different and independent right. Such a suit is cognizable only by the Civil Court. RAM DEHUL PANDEY v. KASHEE RAWUT, 14 W.R. 232.

(144)—Suit for possession—Ejectment—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 6—Jurisdiction.—A suit for possession of land from which (as stated in the plaint, the plaintiff was illegally ejected, but of which the plaintiff had never been in possession, the claim being based on a certain document alleged to be a genuine patta is cognizable by the ordinary Civil Court, and not by a Revenue Court under cl. 6, s. 23, Act X of 1859. JODOONATH GHOSE v. RANEE SOOKHMOYEE DOSSEE, 1 W.R. 201. [F., 2 Agra 181.]

(145)—Act X of 1859, s. 23, cl. 6—Suit for possession.—Where a ryot brought a suit under the provisions of cl. 6, s. 23, Act X of 1859, for possession, held that as the zemindar admitted tenancy at some time and the Judge had found that the tenure had lapsed, the onus was on the zemindar to show that the tenancy had been determined. The judgment of the lower

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

Court being meagre, the suit was remanded. SHEO PURSUN LALL v. BABOO RAM NARAIN SINGH, 1 W.R. 361.

(146)—Act X of 1859, s. 25—Civil Court—Jurisdiction—Possession—Mesne profits.—A suit for possession with mesne profits may be brought in a Civil Court. S. 25, Act X of 1859, does not prevent this. ROY OODIT NARAIN SINGH v. RAM SARUN ROY, 1 W.R. 221.

(147)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Suit for possession based upon title—Limitation.—S. 77, Act X of 1859, does not bar a suit by a plaintiff who has been shown, not to have been in the actual receipt and enjoyment of rents under s. 77. A suit for recovery of possession founded upon title may be brought by a person against whom a decision of the Revenue Court has been passed, subject to the ordinary law of limitation. BARO BIBEE v. MAHOMED ALI KAZI, 5 W.R. Act X Rul. 92. [Appr., 25 W. R. 550.]

(148)—Dismissal of proceedings before Collector—Subsequent Civil suit for confirmation of possession—Limitation Act, X of 1859, ss. 77, 140.—On special appeal in this suit, it was objected that the Courts below were wrong in having held the suit to be subject to the period of limitation prescribed by ss. 77 and 140 of Act X of 1859, and the High Court upheld the objection. The said sections were held to refer exclusively to cases where the Collector has before him one party who is admittedly a tenant of somebody and two other parties each of whom claims to be the landlord of the first. Such limitation, therefore, would have no application to the present suit brought for confirmation of possession of land which had been the subject of a previous suit by the plaintiffs before the Collector, to establish that the land was their own rent-free land, which the Collector, had dismissed confirming the then claim of the present defendants. SHAIKH KHAIRULLAH v. RAJ KISHEN MOOKERJEE, 2 W.R. Act X Rul., 95.

(149)—Act VIII B.C. of 1869, ss. 23, 27—Construction—Limitation.—The words "all suits to recover the occupancy of any land, farm, or tenure from which a ryot, farmer, or tenant has been illegally ejected by the person entitled to receive rent for the same," which appear in s. 27 of Act VIII of 1869 of the Bengal Code, bear the same meaning as the same words did bear or were interpreted to bear in s. 23 of Act X of 1859; and those words describe only possessory actions brought against persons entitled to receive rent, and do not describe or include suits in which the plaintiff sets out his title, and seeks to have his right declared, and possession given him in pursuance of that title. (7 W.R. 186, F.) The limitation of one year, which is prescribed by s. 27, Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.) applies only to simple cases of possessory action. NISTARINEE v. KALEE PERSHAD DOSS CHOWDHRY, 21 W.R. 53. [F., 23 W.R. 460, 9 C. 423; Appr., 21 W.R. 121; R., 17 C. 926.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(150)—Suit for possession—Question of title—Limitation—Bengal Act VIII of 1869, s. 27—A suit for the declaration of the plaintiff's title as the holder of a jote under the defendant by whom he was forcibly dispossessed, and for recovery of possession upon a claim of an occupancy right, the defendant denying his title (except to a small portion) and the occupancy right, was held to be one to try a bona fide question of title so as to be maintainable within 12 years from the date of the cause of action, and not to be barred by the one year's limitation under s. 27 of Bengal Act VIII of 1869. BASARUT ALI v. ALTAF HOSAIN, 14 C. 624. (12 C. 606, D.) [R., 17 C. 926, 8 C.W.N. 446 = 31 C. 647, F.B.]

(151)—Suit for possession of land by dispossessed occupancy ryot—Decree on ground of occupancy right, not claimed in plaint—Limitation—Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.), s. 27—Where a plaintiff, suing to recover possession of land as under a mourasi mokurari title and claiming mesne profits, fails to make out his claim, he cannot be awarded possession on the ground of occupancy right. (24 W.R. 444, R.) [D., 7 C.L.R. 103.] A suit by a mere occupancy ryot for the recovery of possession of land must be brought within a year, under s. 27 of Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.), from the date of dispossession by the zemindar. BRINDHABUN CHUNDER SIRCAR v. DHUNUNJOY NUSHKUR, 5 C. 246 = 4 C.L.R. 443. [D., 7 C.L.R. 103.]

(152)—Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.), s. 27—Limitation—Plaint—Possessory suit—When the Legislature passed Act VIII of 1869, they had before them the construction that had been judicially put upon cl. 6, s. 26, Act X of 1859. The period of limitation prescribed by Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, does not apply to all suits under that law which was not intended to cut down the remedy of ryots, farmers, and tenants, by reducing the period within which they would be entitled to bring a suit on their title. A plaintiff, who succeeds in proving the facts stated in his plaint as necessarily implying a right of occupancy, may succeed in a suit for possession, even though he does not prove the title on which he specifically relied. SURJOO PERSHAD v. KASHEE RAWUT, 21 W.R. 121. [F., 7 C.L.R. 103.]

(153)—Suit for—Title at the date of suit—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 167—Notice, proof of, service of—Notice, validity of—Order sheet of the proceedings, entries in, evidential value of—In a suit for recovery of possession, the plaintiff can succeed only on the title as it stood on the date of the institution of the suit. Until the notice has been properly served under s. 167 of the Bengal Tenancy Act upon the incumbrancer, the incumbrance subsists. It is obligatory on the purchaser to show that the notice under s. 167 had been served in the manner prescribed. The entries in the order-sheet are not prima facie evidence against the incumbrancer that the notice was served.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(7 C.L.J. 251, F.) The purchaser, who relies upon the service of notice, must prove it either by the production of the person who served the notice or by any other means recognized by law; and if a question arises as to the validity of the notice it must be shown that it was a valid notice and was signed by a competent officer as required by cl. (1) of s. 167 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. RADHAY KOER v. AJODHYA DAS, 7 C.L.J. 262. (29 C. 813, R.) [R., 36 C. 726 = 10 C.L.J. 189.]

(154)—Suit for possession—Suit by landlord against tenant—Limitation—A party admitting tenancy of lands, as alleged by plaintiff to be in a certain estate, cannot plead limitation successfully against his landlord. But where the plaintiff's case is that the lands are in the plaintiff's estate A and the defendant in no manner whatever admits that he is a tenant of any lands in plaintiff's estate A, defendant cannot, then, come under the rule which prohibits a tenant pleading limitation against his landlord. BRINDABUN CHUNDER CHUCKERBUTTY v. NUBO KISHEN DEY, 9 W.R. 378.

(155)—Tenant—Suit for possession against zemindar—Recognition of right as tenant—A tenant cannot sue the zemindar or any one who holds a title under the zemindar for possession until he has himself been recognized as tenant, or has been registered as such in the zemindar's sheristah. MOOKTA KESHEE DOSSIA v. PEAREE CHOWDHRAIN, 7 W.R. 158.

(156)—Defence, alternative—Possession either as a tenant or for more than 12 years—Adverse possession—It is open to the defendants, in the first place, to plead, that the lands were comprised in their tenancy and that consequently the plaintiffs were not entitled to recover possession, and, in the second place, to assert that if the tenancy was not established, as they had held possession for more than 12 years, the right of the plaintiffs to recover possession was extinguished by the law of limitation (21 W. R. 70, F.B., 12 B.L.R. 274, F.B., F.) when the case of the plaintiffs was that the defendants were tenants in respect of other lands not in dispute and that by act of trespass they came to occupy the disputed land within 12 years before suit, but it was proved that the defendants had been in occupation for more than 12 years, the title of the plaintiffs to recover possession by ejectment of the defendants was barred by limitation. The question is not one of adverse possession but of limitation. RAK-TOO SINGH v. SUDHRAM AHIR, 8 C.L.J. 557. (2 C.L.J. 125, F.)

(157)—Possessory suit—Ejectment—In a suit by a putneedar for a declaration of his rights, and to obtain khas possession, where it was found that the zemindar and ijardar had received rents from the defendants as jotedars: Held, that plaintiff had no right to treat defendants as trespassers, and sue for direct possession, and was not entitled to determine their tenancy without proceeding to do so in a legal manner. AMAR CHAND LAHATA v. KOOR HURENDRO NARAIN SINGH, 21 W.R. 237.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(158)—Sudden and recent ejectment—Suit to recover possession—Question for decision—Lakheraj title.—In a suit to recover possession, where the plaintiff alleges that, having been many years in possession, he was suddenly and wrongfully recently turned out of possession, all that he has to prove is that he was in possession, and had some right (of what kind so ever) to be in possession, at the time he was turned out, apart from any question of the validity or otherwise of the lakheraj title which the plaintiff sets up. BOODHA MUDHA v. SHAIKH KHYRAT ALI, 5 W.R. 269. [R., 8 W.R. 160; D., 15 W.R. 261.]

(159)—Suit based on one title—Proof of different title—Effect—Suit for declaration of title—Illegal remand—Act VIII of 1859, s. 354.—A plaintiff who sues on one title cannot be allowed to succeed on another and an entirely different title. Thus, where a plaintiff who sues for declaration of title, basing his claim on a kobala from a vendor, and forcible dispossession by defendant, fails to prove both, he cannot succeed by mere proof of long possession. [Appr., 12 W.R. 203, 24 W.R. 444; D., 24 W.R. 167.] Where in a suit for declaration of title, which was dismissed by the first Court on the ground that the purchase set up by the defendants was proved and the plaintiff's title not proved, the lower appellate Court, finding the purchase of the defendants was not satisfactorily proved, remanded the case for a finding on that issue, held that having regard to the terms of s. 354, Act VIII of 1859, the order of remand was illegal. HURO SOONDUREE DEBIA v. UNNOPOORNA DEBIA, 11 W.R. 550.

(160)—Suit for possession—Limitation.—Though a ryot cannot plead limitation adversely to his zemindar, two ryots can do so when contending between themselves as to the right of possession. RAM SOONDUR SURMAH v. WOOMA CHURN, 1 W.R. 265.

(161)—Dispute between purchasers—Intervenor—Effect—Onus.—Where, in a dispute between two purchasers as to their right and possession in a tank and garden, an intervenor was admitted to plead and assert his own rights, held that the admission of the intervenor entirely altered the nature of the suit and converted it into a regular rent-free resumption case in which the onus was wrongly thrown on the defendant by the intervenor. DOORGA PERSHAD NAIK v. DWARKANAUTH CHUCKERBUTTY, 1 W.R. 207.

(162)—Sale under agreement—Suit for possession—Right of putneedar of vendee.—The putneedar of the heir of a person who, under a written agreement, purchased a share of an estate (which was, however, forcibly retained possession of by the vendor) can sue to recover that property, although that person had not come into possession of it. BROJO LALL SINGH v. BABOO BULLUB SINGH, 1 W.R. 216.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(163)—Claim for possession—Adjudication.—Where the plaintiff comes forward with a claim to possession which has to be adjudicated upon, he is entitled to have a decision pronounced upon the claim, whether he can or cannot recover possession; and the mere determining the higher rent of the zemindar to the lands as forming a portion of his estate is no determination of the plaintiff's claim to be put in possession of the lands. GUNESH CHOONEE DASSEE v. MANIK LUSHKUR, 1 W.R. 336.

(164)—Evidence—Suit for possession—Pottah set up, but not proved.—In a possessory suit, plaintiff's failure to substantiate an alleged pottah does not preclude him from falling back upon other evidence. LUKHEE CHUNDER CHUCKERBUTTY v. RAMDHUN SHAHA, 15 W.R. 399.

(165)—Suit to exclude properties from butwarra and for maintenance of possession—Admission of plaintiff's possession—Plea of tenancy—Failure to prove tenancy—Effect.—In this case, the plaintiff prayed that certain properties which the defendant had caused to be included in a butwarra before the Collector should be excluded from the butwarra, and that the plaintiff's possession in respect of those properties should be maintained. Held that as the plaintiff's possession was admitted, and as the defendant failed to prove his plea, viz., that the plaintiff's possession was by way of tenancy under him, the plaintiff was entitled to a decree. BEPIN BEHAREE LUKHUN v. SHAIKH GHASOO, 11 W.R. 16.

(166)—Possessory suit—Possession of landholder.—Where, on a rent suit having been dismissed on the ground that defendant was not plaintiff's tenant, plaintiff sues her co-sharer and the same defendant to recover khas possession, the Court is not at liberty, on such a plaint, to find plaintiff entitled to possession as landlord, and so to get symbolical possession. NILA-BIBEE v. SONAIBIBEE, 21 W.R. 422.

(167)—Suit for recovery of possession of land—Title.—The defendant No. 1 being a tarkthugyi employed in the revenue administration, chose, for purposes of his own, to enter the holding in the name of his son Nga Po Chit in the map, and the plaintiff was introduced upon the holding as a tenant of the first defendant. In course of time the plaintiff, for purposes of his own, refused to pay rent, and asserted that he was himself the holder of this holding, having good reason to think that the defendant would try to avoid litigation, the fact, however, being that the plaintiff had never been more than a tenant under defendant No. 1. As a tenant who had been evicted after failure to pay rent, the plaintiff sued to recover possession of the holding without showing that he was dispossessed otherwise than by due course of law and without proving any right to possession. Held, that the weakness of defendant's title as between the defendants and the Government is no ground for decreeing the plaintiff's claim to recover possession. MAUNG SHWE THE v. MAUNG HNAN, L.B.R. 1893—1900, 232.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(168)—Nazul land in Oudh, Suit for possession of—Burden of proof—Lord Canning's Proclamation of 15th March, 1858, Effect of—Power-of-attorney signed by Deputy Collector for Deputy Commissioner, Presumption as to.—In a suit for possession of a plot of land in Fyzabad brought by the appellants against the respondents, the power-of-attorney filed by the Government pleader on behalf of the respondent No. 1 purported to have been signed by the Deputy Collector "for the Deputy Commissioner." The Settlement paper showed that the land was Nazul. Held, that in view of the general practice that in the absence of a Deputy Commissioner or a Collector from the Head Quarters of his district one of his subordinates does sign and has authority to sign papers and documents on his behalf, it must be presumed that the Deputy Collector had authority to sign for the Deputy Commissioner. Held, further, that having regard to Lord Canning's Proclamation of 15th March, 1858, which divested the proprietors of all the landed property in Oudh and transferred it and vested it in the British Government, it was for the appellants to prove that they claimed title to the land in suit through the Government. SAIYAD MAHOMMED HAIDAR v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 7 O.C. 65.

(169)—Lease—Suit for possession—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts—N.W.P. Rent Act, XVIII of 1873, s. 95 (n).—A suit to establish a lease of a village and obtain possession of the village is cognizable in a Civil Court, as such a suit is not one for the recovery of the occupancy land of which a tenant had been wrongfully dispossessed. CHAIT RAM v. HIRA, A.W.N. 1881, 54.

(170)—Suit to recover possession of land—Title.—In a suit to recover possession of certain lands under a mowrasi patta which had been lost, proof of ten years' possession alone by the plaintiff would not entitle him to recover possession of the land. He must prove the specific title set up by him. BHOLAI MANDAL v. JARIF GAZI, 3 B.L.R. App 93.

(171)—Suit for rent—Suit for possession from trespasser—Cause of action.—A suit to recover rent which treats the defendant, as a tenant, and a suit to recover possession, which treats him as a trespasser, are not suits for the same cause of action. KADIR BUKSH v. GOLAM ALI GOMASTAH, 9 W.R. 90.

(172)—Possession, suit for—Facts to be proved.—Where plaintiff sued for possession of a jote, alleging his dispossession thereof by the defendant, the Court held that the plaintiff need not prove that he was ousted on a particular date but that the real issue was whether or not the plaintiff was entitled to the jote in question and was kept therefrom by the defendant. CHUTTO SINGH v. BROJO LALL SINGH, 17 W.R. 501.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(173)—Mokurruree patta—Suit for possession—Abandonment—Evidence.—In a suit for possession of a tenure, plaintiff alleging that his father had held it on a mokurruree patta till his death, though the patta was found to be invalid, the plaintiff was held entitled to possession of the tenure, which admittedly was his father's, and which was not proved to have been ever abandoned by the plaintiff. KALEE COOMAR PATTUR v. KHETTUR NATH BAUG, 17 W.R. 47. [F., 7 C.L.R. 103.]

(174)—Suit for possession—Jote pottah—Declaratory decree—Ejectment—Act XIV of 1859, s. 15.—Plaintiff had a jote-pottah from the superior landlord for six parcels of land. One of these was in the occupation of the defendant. Plaintiff having taken possession of it, defendant brought a suit under s. 15, Act XIV of 1859, and in that suit he was declared entitled to possession. Plaintiff thereupon brought this suit to have his right to possession declared and confirmed. Held that, according to the pottah, plaintiff was entitled to possession of the land, unless the defendant was occupying by a title which saved him from being ejected. KALEE CHURN PAL v. RAJ COOMAR CHUCKERBUTTY, 24 W.R. 316.

(175)—Auction purchaser—Occupancy ryot—Suit for possession.—A person suing for possession by right of auction purchase is entitled to get rid of the defendant's occupancy, unless the defendant can show that he comes within the privileged class. CHYTUN KRISTO BISWAS v. JUGGURNATH BYSACK, 25 W.R. 90.

(176)—Pottah and kubooleut—Omission to deliver pottah—Right to claim kuas possession.—Where in a case in which the pottah and kubooleut executed between the parties are in force, the person bound to deliver the pottah did not do so, he could not be permitted to maintain a suit for khas possession by taking advantage of his own breach of contract. AZEEZOODDEEN KHAN v. GUJDHUR LALL HULWAI, 18 W.R. 437.

(177)—Possession as tenant—Rights of tenant—Lessee.—The fact that a person has possession of certain immoveable property as tenant for a term of years cannot create any right in his favour to retain such possession as against one who is a lessee from the proprietor of the property. NAZIR LUSHKUR v. GOLAPOODEEN LUSHKUR, 14 W.R. 410.

(178)—Suit for possession—Declaration of title—Defendant in possession—Admission by plaintiff—Limitation.—In a suit for confirmation of possession by declaration of title, the plaintiff is bound to make out his title, it being insufficient for him to show that possession was with him. Held further that, as regards a portion of the land which was admittedly in the possession of the defendant, an admission by the plaintiff that the defendant held such possession as his tenant could not avoid the plea of limitation. SHAIK OZEER ALI v. SHAIK MUKBOOL ALI, 19 W.R. 282. [F., 21 W.R. 79.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(179)—Possession—Question as to character of possession—Proof.—Where plaintiff's possession is admitted, and the only question is as to the character of the possession, the lower Court is wrong in dismissing a case, because the copy of a kobala filed by plaintiff is found to contain signatures as of subscribing witnesses which had been added to the original deed. KULTOO MAHOMED v. HURDEB DOSS, 19 W.R. 107.

(180)—Khast tenure—Plea against Mokurrureedar—Burden of proof—Possession.—A person, who sets up khast tenure as against the admitted mokurrureedar is entitled to possession of every beega of land in the village, unless the party cultivating the same can show a good title as against him. RAM NIRAJUN BHUT v. RAM NATH SINGH, 22 W.R. 447.

(181)—Power of ryot to question authority of Jumma Nuvis.—A tenant is incompetent to dispute the authority of the Jumma Nuvis of a zemindar to grant a hukumnama, when the zemindar himself does not do so on being impleaded as a defendant. HUR GOBIND KOTE v. JAPRA HAREE, W.R. 1864, 276.

(182)—Growing tree, Suit for—Immoveable property—Limitation.—A tree standing on land is immoveable property and a suit for the possession of such tree is governed by the 12 years' rule of limitation. SAKHARAM MULSHET MHADIK v. VISHRAM, 19 B. 207.

(183)—Possession—Decree for value of trees—Finding as to possession of land.—Where, in a suit to recover the value of certain trees cut down from the disputed land, it was decreed that, inasmuch as the plaintiffs had cut them down, they were entitled to the value of them until final decision with regard to the title to the land was passed in the Civil Court. Held that that was no finding whatever that the plaintiffs were in possession. SHAIKH ASHRUF v. MAHOMED HOSSEIN, 15 W.R. 276.

(184)—Suit for possession—Decree on title not set up.—Where in a suit to obtain possession of a certain mowrosee jote by establishing his kaimee mohurruree title under a pottah, the plaintiff failed to support his case, the lower appellate Court had no right to introduce an entirely new element of title into the plaintiff's case, i.e., a right of occupancy provided by s. 6 of Act X of 1859, and was not justified in determining the case in his favour on the new title which was never set up by him. JANNOBEE CHOWDHRAIN v. GENDOO TURRUFAR, 12 W.R. 203.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(185)—Possession, suit for—Suit based on title—Prima facie title in plaintiff—Plea that plaintiff was only nominal owner.—Plaintiff sued for possession, basing his title on a mokurruree lease and a bill of sale in his favour. He alleged that defendant was in possession under colour of an order of a Magistrate acting under s. 348, Crim. Prc. Code, relating to a different land. The defendant contended that the plaintiff was the nominal owner of the mouzah, a portion of which was the suit property, and as such was not entitled to maintain the suit. Held that the defendant was not at liberty, in a suit of this description, to raise the question whether plaintiff was only nominally the owner of the property, somebody else being the real owner, inasmuch as the plaintiff had a prima facie title to the land in question under the lease and the bill of sale. RAM BHUROSEE SINGH v. BISSESSUR NARAIN MAHATA, 18 W.R. 454. [R., 5 C.L.R. 102, 16 C. 364, 18 A. 69, 1 O.C. 10, 13 C.P. L.R. 33, 30 C. 265, 273, 36 B. 37 = 13 Bom. L. R. 947 = 12 Ind. Cas. 532].

(186)—Question of lakhiraj not involved in suits for possession.—The decree in a former suit for enhancement of rent in favour of the present defendant,—then plaintiff—will not conclude the question at issue in this suit, viz., the present plaintiff's right to be restored to possession. Whether the present plaintiff has or has not a valid lakhiraj, or whether he holds at a rent which is liable to enforcement or not, are questions not involved in the present suit. RAJAH PERTAUB CHUNDER SINGH v. SHEEB DOSS KAYET, 1 W.R. 111. [F., 5 W.R. 269.]

(187)—Invalid lakhiraj—Suit for possession and assessment.—In this suit, the plaintiff claimed possession and assessment of certain lands said to be held rent-free under an invalid tenure. The defendant relied on possession under a series of documents of title showing a lakhiraj title existing previously to 1790. Held that the validity of the grant was not open to the Judge's consideration. The Judge had merely to determine whether the tenure was in existence before 1790, and, if so, to apply the law of limitation. SHAIKH SAHEB ALI v. LALLA BISSESSUR LALL, 1 W.R. 110. [F., 5 W.R. 269.]

(188)—Allowance of malikana to maliks—Effect.—Old maliks, with whom a settlement is not made, and who were, instead, allowed to receive malikana at the usual rate, have no right to retain possession. SHEIKH ZAHOR HUQ v. SHEIK MORAD ALI, 1 W.R. 82.

(189)—Suit for possession—Two rival ryots—Pottahs from zemindar—Failure of one pottah—Claim to occupancy—Effect.—Two ryots claimed possession under different pottahs from the same zemindar. The appellant's pottah failed. Held that the appellant still had a right to have a judicial determination of his claim to occupancy. BYDNATH SHAHA v. JADUB CHUNDER SHAHA, 3 W.R. 208.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(190)—Suit for possession and mesne profits—Claim under gantedaree pottah granted pending suit for possession by grantor against defendant—Burden of proof.—Plaintiff sought to enforce a pottah issued to him by the respondent and to obtain possession with mesne profits. Respondent pleaded that the pottah contained a condition to the effect that, as a suit relating to the property was then pending, possession should not be given to the plaintiff until respondent who had issued the pottah, himself obtained possession of the property from the Court in the pending suit. The lower Court held that the pleas advanced as to the consideration were proved and that the consideration was illegal and the pottah void, and dismissed the suit. On appeal to the High Court, this decree was confirmed on the ground that, quite independently of the pottah being void or the consideration illegal, the pottah was to be of no effect so far as getting possession was concerned, except in the event of respondent getting possession. He never got possession certainly no such possession as made it possible for him to give effect to the pottah. BROJOKISHORE MITTER MOJOOMDAR v. NAWAB NAZIR SIDDHEE NAZZUR ALI KHAN, 2 W.R. 168.

(191)—Suit for possession—Title deed lost—When plaintiff entitled to decree.—In a suit for possession, where plaintiff proves that he had been in possession for more than 12 years before he was dispossessed, a decree should be passed in his favour, even though the kobala under which he claimed to have purchased be not established. NOBIN² MOHUN NUNDEE v. RAMTARUK BURAL, 23 W.R. 204.

(192)—Suit for possession of chur lands—Claim by both parties under grants from same zemindar—Case of one supported by Zemindar—Burden on other party of proving title.—Both parties in this case admittedly claimed through grants from the proprietor of the lands and, as he supported the lease granted by him to the plaintiffs but repudiated the title of the defendants, it was clearly necessary for the latter to prove their title. The High Court held that the defendant's title was not proved and that the plaintiffs were, therefore, entitled to judgment. MEN RAKHAN ROY v. RAM DHYAN MISSEER, 2 W.R. 324. [R., 2 B. 19; D., 11 W. R. 501.]

(193)—Suit for possession—Right of suit—De facto owner.—Where the de facto owner of the Britti mehal complains that defendants, as owners of adjacent estates, have, without right, dispossessed her of lands appertaining to her mehal, and of which she is in possession, that constitutes a sufficient title to enable her to maintain the suit. JOGMAYA CHOWDHRAIN v. HURREE MOHUN ROY, 24 W. R. 99.

(194)—Suit for possession—Trespasser—False statement of cause of action.—Where a plaintiff brings a suit for possession alleging that the defendant is a trespasser, the moment it is shown that the defendant is not in possession as a trespasser, but holds as a tenant under the plaintiff, the suit must be dismissed, no matter what the character of the tenancy may be. RAM GOLAM SINGH v. HEET NARAIN SAHOO, 2 C.L.R. 292. [R., 1 N.L.R. 4.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(195)—Possession, suit for, on certain title—Decree on different title.—Held that the plaintiffs who sued to recover possession of certain lands on the strength of mouroosee mokurruree tenure, but failed to establish that title, could recover possession of land on the strength of long occupation, where the one main contention throughout the suit had been whether the plaintiffs were or were not tenants of the lands in dispute. SHIB CHUND LAHIRI v. JOYMALA DAS, 7 C.L.R. 103. (24 W.R. 444, 2 C.L.R. 443, R.)

(196)—Suit for possession—Proof of title—Non-execution of patta.—Where the plaintiff, alleging that he was the ijaradar of the defendant, sued to recover possession, and the defendant pleaded that the plaintiff was only a collector of rents, and the lower Court found that the plaintiff was the ijaradar as he alleged himself to be, held, that such a finding was a complete finding in favour of the title of the plaintiff and that it was not necessary for him to sue for specific performance for executing a patta for the tenure which had been wrongfully denied him by the defendant. JOHEEROD-DEEN MAHOMED v. DABEE PERSHAD SINGH, 13 W.R. 21.

(197)—Sale of putni taluk for arrears of rent—Tank in land purchased—Permanent and transferable interest—Character of grant—Optimus interpretes rerum usus—Landlord and tenant—Evidence as to nature of enjoyment.—The plaintiff, the purchaser of a taluk which was sold by the zemindar under the provisions of Reg. VIII of 1819 on account of arrears of rent due from the talukdar, sued for possession of a tank which the defendant held by purchase of the interest of G who had purchased the same in 1851 from the heirs of P, who had himself purchased it in 1807 from K. The taluk had been held upon payment of an unvarying rent for a very long period, and long before the grant of the taluk held by the plaintiff; the tank had been so held for a considerably long period, in all probability prior to the permanent settlement. Held that, upon the application of the general maxim optimus interpretes rerum usus, it might be shown by evidence as to the nature of the enjoyment what the grant in its origin really was; and the frequent transfers of the interest in the tank without any change in the terms of the holding or in the amount of rent paid extending over a period of more than 60 years, and the fact that one of the transferees of the tank had been the owner of the taluk in which it was, were held to prove that the interest was a permanent and transferable one which could be maintained against the proprietor of the taluk in which the tank was situate; and accordingly, the plaintiff was not entitled to a decree for possession. There is no rule of law which prevents a person who pays an annual rent (even if it be inferred therefrom that he holds derivatively or as a representative only) from showing what the nature of his interest is by evidence as to the nature of his enjoyment. NIDHI KRISHNA BOSE v. NISTARINI DAS, 13 B.L.R. 416=21 W.R. 386. [R., 8 C.W.N. 804=31 C. 937.]

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(198)—Suit by heir of under-raiyat—Suit to recover possession with mesne profits—Heritability.—Irrespective of custom or local usage, the heir of an under-raiyat under an annual holding is entitled, on the death of the under-raiyat, to remain in possession of the land until the end of the then agricultural year, for the purpose, if the land has been sublet, of realising the rent which might accrue during the year, or, if not sublet, for the purpose of tending and gathering in the crops. ARIP MANDAL v. RAM RATAN MANDAL, 31 C. 757, F.B.=8 C.W.N. 479 [R., 34 C. 516, F.B.=11 C.W.N. 626=5 C.L.J. 457=2 M.L.T. 219; Expl., 11 C.W.N. 519.]

(199)—Suit for ejectment beyond six months from dispossession—Right of plaintiff to rely on previous possession—Absence of title in defendant.—In this suit for ejectment against the defendant who had dispossessed the plaintiff, both parties claimed under kowle alleged to have been granted by an inamdar. The lower appellate Court found that the plaintiff's kowle though proved was inadmissible for want of registration, but that the defendants' kowle had been taken from an unauthorized person. Though the suit was brought beyond six months from dispossession, no possessory suit, having been instituted, the plaintiff was yet held entitled to rely on his previous possession. The object of Act XIV of 1859, s. 15, and of the Specific Relief Act, s. 9, has been to discourage people from taking the law into their own hands however good their title may be, and, in the absence of any words to show such intention, the mere omission of the party dispossessed to avail himself of their provisions, is not to be deemed as amounting to acquiescence in the act of the dispossessor so as to deprive him of his right to rely on his previous possession in an action of ejectment against a trespasser. KRISHNARAV YASHVANT v. VASUDEV APAJI GHOTIKAR, 8 B. 371. [Not F., 17 C. 256; F., 9 B. 527; Appr., 13 A. 537, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 270, 1 S.L.R. 107; R., 15 B. 685, 7 C.P.L.R. 3, U.B.R. 1892—1896, Vol. II, 619, 12 C.P.L.R. 59, 25 B. 287, 5 Bom. L.R. 225, 8 C.W.N. 446, U.B.R. 1905, 4th Qr., Evidence, p. 7, 3 L.B.R. 27, 10 Bom. L.R. 571; D., L.B.R. 1893—1900, 462.]

(200)—Pleas not taken in Courts below—Alluvial lands—Resumption proceedings.—Where a defendant has by his answer put his defence

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

upon a certain ground and issues for trial are framed by the Court to meet the case so pleaded, the Judicial Committee as the final Court of appeal will not determine the appeal on any other issues or grounds, which have not been taken or considered in the Courts below. Where, in a suit for recovery of possession of alluvial lands, the only point raised by the defendant in the Courts below was one as to the identity of the lands, that is, whether they were included in certain resumption proceedings as appertaining to the plaintiff's estate, it was held that the defendant could not in appeal before the Privy Council raise the question as to whether the lands had been improperly settled by Government with those whom the plaintiff now represented. SRIMATI DAS V. RANI LALANMANI, 11 W.R. P.C. 27=2 B.L.R. P.C. 64=12 M.L.A. 470=2 Suth. 199=2 Sar. 453. [F., 21 W.R. 59, 15 M. 503.]

(201)—Possession—Limitation—Presumption.—Where plaintiffs suing for recovery of possession of a julkur allege themselves to have been in enjoyment down to the year 1266 when they were ousted by Government who ultimately relinquished their rights in favour of defendant: held that, if plaintiffs made out their possession down to 1263, and defendants did not show a clear interruption of possession immediately subsequent to 1263, plaintiffs were entitled to the presumption that the possession had continued down to the interruption by Government in 1266. TARINEE CHURN SINGH v. THE COLLECTOR OF NUDDEA, 21 W.R. 138.

(202)—Suit for possession by adjudication of right to settle—Resumption of land by Government—Jurisdiction—Right of suit.—In a suit to obtain adjudication of right to a settlement of certain lands and to be put in possession thereof, on the allegation by the plaintiff that he was the rightful owner of the lands which had been resumed by the Government, but that the defendant, by false allegations of ownership and of possession, had induced the Revenue Authorities to enter into settlement with him, the plaintiff is entitled to an adjudication of his right to settlement. It is not discretionary with the Collector, under such circumstances, to settle the lands with any person he pleases, nor is such settlement final as regards all claims. MAHOMED ISRAILE v. WISE, 13 B.L.R. 118, F.B.=21 W.R. 327. [F., 13 M. 89.]

(203)—Suit for possession—Lands enjoyed by tenants holding under defendant—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 264.—In a suit against the Crown regarding certain properties, the mere fact that the properties are in the enjoyment of certain tenants holding under the Crown will not exonerate the plaintiff from suing for possession. A suit for a mere declaration will not lie in such a case. Delivery of possession can be given under s. 264, Civ. Pro. Code. ANDALA v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 3 M.L.J. 242.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(204)—Possession, Suit for—Land in possession of village community—Delivery to defendant by Government and assignment as cultivable natham—Right of the village community—Secretary of State, whether a necessary party.—The land in suit was found to have been enjoyed by the village community till 1903. In 1903 the Revenue Officials gave possession to defendants, and entered it in the Register kept for natham lands for cultivation. Held, that the action of Government in assessing the land as natham and giving it to defendants did not deprive the plaintiffs (members of the village community) of their rights to the land. REVEREND P.G. SIMON v. THURAIMUTHUA KADAMBAN, 6 Ind. Cas. 419=8 M.L.T. 248.

(205)—Possession—Sale-deed—Title—Burden of proof.—The plaintiff alleged a distinct title under a deed of baimokasa or sale instead of dower, which deed she never produced. The Court found that she was never in possession. Held that she was bound to prove her title as alleged. She cannot claim the benefit of a decision to which she was not a party, nor of an admission by her own husband which cannot bind the defendants who are in possession, till ousted by a better title. MUSST. SOBRATUN v. MUSST. TOOVA, 7 W.R. 273.

(206)—Mahomedan Law—Devise to daughter possible only of moiety of estate—Heirs of person taking probate, not estopped from disputing Will—Possession as manager for rest of family—Adverse possession.—Plaintiff based his case on the allegation that the Will of the Mahomedan testator bequeathing his entire estate to his daughter was invalid under the Mahomedan law. On first appeal, the Judge found that the Will was genuine and valid and that under the Will the testator's daughter, the present defendant, was entitled to the whole estate. On second appeal, the Judge was held to have been in error in having decided that the Will was valid, because, under the Mahomedan law, a person could not devise to his daughter more than her legal share in the estate, i.e., a moiety. It was however contended for the defendant that, as the testator's brother had taken out probate of the Will, his widows, the plaintiffs, were estopped from disputing the Will, and that, as one of the plaintiff, was in possession acting as manager for the defendant, the plaintiffs were barred by the statute of limitations, but it was held that the Will was clearly invalid under the Mahomedan law, that the act of the person who took out probate was not binding upon the heirs and that the possession of one as manager for the rest of the family could not be deemed to have been adverse. MAHOMED MUDUN v. KHODEZUNNISSA, 2 W.R. 181.

(207)—Suit for possession—Failure of cause of action—Proper decree to be made in such a case—Possibility of media concludendi being the same in other actions gives the Court no power to pronounce upon them.—Where the plaintiffs claimed to have possession of their mother's property on the ground that she was dead, and the Court held that it was not proved that the lady was dead, the inevitable inference would seem to be that the suit should be dismissed. The mere circumstance that some of the media concludendi might be the same in other actions does not vest the Court with any right or duty to pronounce upon them in a suit which has gone by the board because of the failure of the ground of action. MUS-SUMAT WALIHAN v. JOGESHWAR NARAYAN, 7 C.L.J. 44, P.C.=10 Bom. L.R. 9=12 C.W.N. 227=17 M.L.J. 226=2 M.L.T. 509=35 C. 189=14 Bur. L.R. 101=35 I.A. 38.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(208)—Compromise by guardian against interest of minor, dispossession of minor in pursuance of—Suit for possession by minor—Cause of action—Limitation.—Plaintiff instituted a suit in 1270 alleging that, in pursuance of a soleh-namah entered into by his guardian when he was a minor, the defendant had dispossessed him in 1259. The defendant pleaded that plaintiff was out of Court, more than twelve years having elapsed since the deed, which had to be set aside, had come to his knowledge. The lower Court held that the suit was barred. On special appeal, the contention of the plaintiff that his cause of action arose not on the date on which he became aware of the soleh-nama but on the date on which defendant acted on it and dispossessed him, and that consequently he was within time, was accepted by the High Court which remitted the case to the Court of first instance with direction to enter into the merits of the case and to distinctly adjudicate on all the issues either of law or of fact. RUTNESSUR PAUL CHOWDHRY v. DHUNUNJOY SHIKDAR, 6 W.R. 18.

(209)—Witness—Contract—Minor—Partnership.—Where a plaintiff institutes a suit to recover certain land, alleging that he is the owner and admits having executed a deed of sale of the land in question to a third person, but alleges that the transaction was really a mortgage and that he had paid off the debt: held, that it is incumbent on plaintiff, in order to prove his title, to establish his allegations as to the transactions being a mortgage and as to repayment of the loan; and where a Court omits to examine a witness present on behalf of the plaintiff on the ground that the witness had not been entered in the list of witnesses and had not been present at the last hearing. Held, that a Judge is bound to examine any witness produced by the plaintiff before he closed his case. A minor may be a member of a partnership and may take part in carrying on the business (see Chap. XI of the Indian Contract Act, 1872). Moreover, a contract entered into by a minor is not void, but only voidable at his option (11 C. 552, 13 B. 50, 18 C. 259, R.). As between the present parties, it was not necessary that the defendant, who was in possession, should give strict proof of his title to the land. K. N. K. V. VENYATHEN CHETTY v. A. K. KUPPUSAMY PILLAY, L. B. R. 1893—1900, 398.

Possession—continued.

—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(210)—Act XV of 1877, art. 91.—G.S. in 1876 executed a deed of gift in favour of his daughter, P, who was then a minor. G.S. died in 1880. In March 1884, mutation of names was effected in favour of P on the strength of the deed of gift, and possession was taken by her. In January 1896, S.K. another daughter of G.S. sued for possession of half the property comprised in the deed of gift:—Held, that the suit was barred by limitation under art. 91, sch. II, Limitation Act XV of 1877. SUGHAR KUAR v. PHULJHARI, 1 O.C. 229. [R., 4 O.C. 247.]

(211)—Property purchased by faction seceding from a caste—Possession of property by member of faction—Suit for recovery of possession brought on behalf of caste—Cognisability of suit by Civil Court.—The property in dispute was purchased by a small section of a caste which had seceded from the caste. This section subsequently became reunited with the caste excepting one member of it the defendant, who remained in possession of the property. Plaintiff sued to recover possession of such property for and on behalf of the caste. The lower Courts had decided wrongly that the suit involved a caste question and was not therefore cognisable by the Civil Courts. Held on second appeal that, although, if the lands in dispute had been originally the property of the caste, the question would have been between the caste and a section of it and would form a caste question not cognizable by the Civil Courts, yet, as the lands had been admittedly purchased by the members who had seceded and formed the small section, out of their own funds and for their own purposes, it was for the Civil Court to determine who was entitled to the disputed property, notwithstanding that it might be incidentally necessary for that purpose to inquire into the usages and practices of castes and sections of castes in respect of properties acquired by the sections. METHA JETHALAL v. JAMIATRAM LALUBHAI, 12 B. 225. [R., 19 B. 507, 26 B. 174, 9 Bom. L.R. 569, 34 B. 467=11 Bom. L.R. 1014.]

(212)—Decree for possession against several defendants, subsequent possessory suit against some of the defendants alone barred, Civ. Pro. Code, s. 223.—Plaintiff had previously obtained a decree for possession of the lands in question against the present defendants and certain others. He preferred the present suit for the purpose of recovering possession of the same lands from the defendants and the lower appellate Court passed a decree in his favour. It was objected that no cause of action different from that heard and determined in the first suit had been shown by the plaintiff to exist in relation to the present suit and that therefore he was barred by the previous decree from instituting the present suit. The real matter of the plaintiff's complaint was that he was unable hitherto to obtain execution of his prior decree against the defendants and the proper mode of proceeding would have been by putting in force the provisions of s. 223. Further, he was unable to show any other cause of action to justify the present suit than the one upon which he had sued and obtained the previous decree. The suit was accordingly dismissed; but the defendants were deprived of their costs in the lower Courts inasmuch as they never set up the above ground of objection until they came to the High Court. RAMSURN MUHTON v. JINONATH BHUGGUT, 10 W.R. 396. [R., 12 W.R. 285, 16 W.R. 4, 16 C.P.L.R. 110.]

Possession—continued.

—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(213)—Suit to recover possession of land—Civil and Revenue Courts—Jurisdiction.—A suit to recover possession of lands, which the plaintiff alleged, he had leased to the defendant, the manager of an indigo factory, and also of other lands over which he had given a zuri-peshgi lease, is undoubtedly cognizable by the Civil Courts, and the Revenue Courts have no jurisdiction in the matter. Where the defendant made no objection in the lower Courts to the manner in which plaintiff had calculated damages, the question could not be gone into in special appeal. CHARLES MACDONALD v. RAJARAM ROY, 3 B.L.R. App. 28=11 W.R. 371.

(214)—Right to sue—Suit for possession by some of the owners against a trespasser—Plaintiff's owners of specific shares—Decree limited to the plaintiff's share only.—Where in a suit for possession of a grove as heirs of the last owner, the plaintiffs have definite shares of which they can be given possession, they are entitled to possession of those shares only and not the whole grove. ROHAN SINGH v. AHSAN BEGAM, 10 A.L.J. 518=17 Ind. Cas. 469. (A.W.N. 1901, 36, 5 A. 602, D.)

(215)—Possession, Suit for—Dispossession of plaintiff by defendant—Non-acquisition of prescriptive title by defendant—Right of prior possessor to possession.—In a suit for possession, where it appears that plaintiff, who was in possession, had been dispossessed by defendant, and, at the date of suit, defendant had not acquired a title by prescription, and neither party is found to have a good title, plaintiff, as the prior possessor, has a right to recover possession from the defendant, who cannot show a better title. KALYANA BASAVAYA v. ALAKAM MALLAPPA, 15 Ind. Cas. 613. (26 M. 514, 13 M.L.J. 146, 10 Bom. L.R. 571, 29 A. 52, 3 A. L.J. 775, A.W.N. 1903, 264, R.; 26 C. 579, 3 C.W.N. 568, Diss.)

(216)—Suit for possession—One plaintiff purchaser from co-sharer of other plaintiff—Wrongful dispossession by defendant—Misjoinder of parties and causes of action—Waste land—Presumption—Possession follows title—Limitation.—In a suit for possession on the ground that the defendant wrongfully encroached upon the disputed land, one of the plaintiffs was a purchaser from the co-sharer of the other plaintiff:—Held, that the suit was not open to the objection of misjoinder of parties or of causes of action. (18 A. 131, 18 A. 219, 2 C.L.J. 602, D.; 33 C. 367=10 C.W.N. 508, 22 C. 833, 16 C.L.J. 1=16 Ind. Cas. 84, R.) In the case of waste land covering a very small area, possession may be presumed to follow the title. BHAGWAN CHANDRA DEY v. DAYAL HARI DAS, 16 Ind. Cas. 623.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(217)—Cause of action, absence of—Possession, suit for, upon proof of title—Dispossession, date of, whether material—Possession within 12 years of suit sufficient—Civ. Pro. Code (1882), s. 335—Effect of proceeding under s. 335, what is—Variance between pleading and proof—Dismissal of suit.—The effect of an order in a proceeding under s. 335 of old Civil Procedure Code, 1882, is to deprive the plaintiff of possession of the disputed property and to secure possession to the defendant. In a suit for declaration of title and for recovery of possession of immovable property, it is wholly immaterial in what precise manner or on what exact date the dispossession took place. The plaintiff has to prove his title first; if he does so, he has further to prove his possession within twelve years prior to the suit. On what precise date within this twelve years he lost possession, is not a matter of consequence. The determination in a cause should be founded upon a cause either to be found in the pleadings or involved in or consistent with the case made thereby. (11 M.I.A. 7=6 W.R. P.C. 57=2 Ind. Jur. N.S. 87, Rel. on.) But every variance between pleading and proof is not material and does not justify a dismissal of the claim. NABADWIPENDRA MOOKERJEE v. MADHU SUDAN MANDAL, 16 Ind. Cas. 741.

(218)—Suit for possession of property—'Twelve years' possession—Title.—In a suit to recover possession of land, anterior possession for 12 years of the land sought to be recovered does not dispense with the necessity which lies on the plaintiff to prove his title to the property. He is not on that fact alone entitled to be re-placed in possession of the property without regard to any right which may be alleged by the defendant. LAKHI KAMAR v. RAM DUTT CHOWDHRY, 3 B.L.R. App. 44=11 W.R. 447.

(219)—Ejectment—Possession—Onus.—Tenants long in possession and paying rent can only be ejected in a suit in a Revenue Court by a person entitled to receive rent. Where, in a suit for ejectment and possession, the defendant admits that the tenure of certain lands formerly held by him has passed to plaintiff, but that the lands in dispute do not form part of the tenure and are held by himself, under another title, held that it lay with the plaintiff to prove his case. The fact of the matter being peculiarly within the knowledge of the defendant, did not vary the rule of law in respect to proof, and shift the onus on to the defendant. GIRDHAR HARI v. KALI KANT ROY CHOWDHRY, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 161=11 W.R. 501.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(220)—Suit for possession—Onus of proof—Shifting of onus.—In a suit for possession of land, no doubt, the onus is on the plaintiff to prove his title. Where, however, penal assessment was levied by the Government from the plaintiff in respect of the suit land, possession must be treated as having been with the plaintiff at the time of such levy, and the plaintiff in such a case is entitled to the same presumption of title in a suit against the Secretary of State in Council as against any one else arising from prior possession. The onus would then be shifted to the Government to prove antecedent possession in them, or to displace the presumption of title arising from antecedent possession. KAMBAMPATI VENKATA SUBBIAH v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, M.W.N. 1912, 881=16 Ind. Cas. 589.

(221)—Burden of proof—Suit for possession—Onus on plaintiff—Plaintiff starting with presumption in his favour—Shifting of onus on defendant—Land appertaining to plaintiff's mouza—Submergence—Re formation in situ—Constructive possession—Trespasser.—A plaintiff in ejectment is bound to prove his title and possession within the statutory period. The onus, however, which rests upon him, may be discharged or shifted on to the other side if he starts with a presumption in his favour. The land in suit appertained to the plaintiff's mouza. It was submerged and eventually re-formed in situ. An attempt to reclaim it was then made by the erection of a bheri by the defendant and this was done not more than 12 years before suit. The land was still lying fallow and presumably unfit for cultivation. There was no evidence that any one performed any act of possession over it for more than 12 years previous to the suit:—Held, that constructive possession could not be implied in favour of any one but the true owner; that, as the plaintiff was the true owner, possession during submergence, that is, till the reclamation by the erection of the bheri by the defendant, was his, and that, as the reclamation took place within 12 years of the suit, the plaintiff was clearly in time and the suit was not barred. GOLAP MONI DAS v. KALI CHARAN KUNDU, 16 Ind. Cas. 17.

(222)—Suit for possession of unalienated land in Berar—Whether plaintiff should be a registered occupant.—It is not a condition of a decree for possession of unalienated land in Berar that the plaintiff should already be a registered occupant, or that the decree should be accompanied by a declaration that the plaintiff is entitled to be a registered occupant. LAXMEN v. SHEORAM, 8 N.L.R. 73=14 Ind. Cas. 895. (6 N.L.R. 78, R.)

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(223)—Suit by mortgagee to recover possession after eouster—Court-fee—Court Fees Act, s. 7, cl. X (b) and cl. V, para (e).—A suit to recover possession of a garden on the ground that plaintiff had been put into possession of it under two deeds of mortgage and that he had been subsequently dispossessed of it by the defendants, was not one for specific performance of a mortgage falling under cl. X (b) of s. 7 of the Court Fees Act; it was a suit falling under para (e) of cl. V of s. 7 of the Court Fees Act and subject to an ad valorem fee on the value of the garden. CHELA MALL v. FAZL BEG, 33 P.R. 1880.

(224)—Absentee—Entry in Settlement record by person in possession undertaking to return land—Absentee getting possession of his share—Suit for confirmation of possession and for recovery of share as reversioner—Limitation—Possession of agent, whether adverse.—The land in suit originally belonged to two brothers, the father and uncle of the plaintiff. The father having died before and the uncle during the first settlement without issue, the plaintiff was recorded as an absentee in that as well as in the second settlement. It was also noted that the land was in the possession of the defendant (the brother and agent of the uncle's widow) who agreed to restore it to the plaintiff on his return. Plaintiff having returned ten years before suit obtained his half share of the land, though he continued to hold and cultivate it jointly with the defendant.—A year and a half after the death of his uncle's widow, the plaintiff sued for confirmation of his proprietary possession of his own share and also for recovery of the remaining half cultivated by the defendant (as the agent of his uncle's widow). The first Court gave him a decree, but the appellate Court reversed it, holding that the plaintiff's claim not only for the share of his uncle, but also for his own half share, was barred by limitation, as the possession of the defendant had been adverse from the first settlement.—Held that the recorded statement of the defendant during the second settlement, in which he distinctly engaged to restore plaintiff's share of the land, coupled with the fact of plaintiff by subsequently obtaining it from the defendant on his return, was sufficient to complete the title of the plaintiff to his original share; and that, with respect to the other half share, the plaintiff's claim could not be barred by limitation as there was nothing to show that the defendant had ever set up an adverse title for himself. GOHAR v. FATTEH DIN, 75 P.R. 1880.

(225)—Suit for possession of land as heir—Mortgage pleaded by defendant—Absence of consideration.—Where there is a descendible estate, subject to any just and proper charge which may exist upon it, the person entitled to claim such estate as heir, is entitled to recover it, unless any such charge is proved against him. In a suit for recovering possession of certain land as heir, if the defendant claims to hold a lien on it as mortgagee, and the payment of consideration for the mortgage is not proved, the defendant has no valid title to retain possession of the land against the true heir. LAL SINGH v. ALA SINGH, 86 P.R. 1880.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

(226) — Suit for possession — Agreement—Mortgage.—The plaintiff sued for possession of land as mortgagee under the terms of an agreement executed by the defendant that he would, after his father's death, execute and register a deed of mortgage of land falling to his share. The lower Courts held that plaintiff could not sue for possession until the mortgage was effected. On appeal it was held that plaintiff might sue for possession of the land under the terms of the agreement, the defendant having refused to execute the mortgage, on the principle that equity presumed that to have been done which was agreed to be done. JAMEYAT RAI v. SULTANA, 59 P.R. 1873. [R., 66 P.R. 1897.]

See ABSENTEE, 264 P.R. 1874, Note.

Against trustees by members of temple committee—Onus of proof as to class of temple—See ACT XX OF 1863, ss. 3, 4, 11, 12 M. 366.

Suit for possession—Question of title—Limitation—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1869, s. 27, 12 C. 606.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1869, s. 27, 7 C. 442 = 9 C.L.R. 137, 9 C. 423.

Suit for—And mesne profits—Pendency of proceeding before Revenue Officer—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 103, 111, 28 C. 28.

Suit for—Duty of plaintiff—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 161, 166, 167, 9 Ind. Cas. 248.

Recovery of possession from trespasser—Suit by occupancy raiyat—Limitation—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, art. 3, 15 C. 317.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, art. 3, 16 C. 741.

Suit to recover possession of occupancy holding—Limitation—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, sch. III, art. 3, 4 C.W.N. 326.

Mortgagee's possession—Jurisdiction—See BOM. ACT III OF 1876, s. 15, 19 B. 289.

Ejectment of tenant by person other than landlord—Suit for possession by tenant—Applicability of C. P. Tenancy Act—See C.P. ACT XVII OF 1889, s. 94 (1), 16 C.P.L.R. 145.

Suit for possession of land and removal of latrines—See MAD. ACT IV OF 1884, s. 261, 3 M.L.J. 223.

Suit for dispossession, whether different from suit for—Applicability of art. 144, Limitation Act, to suit for dispossession—See PUN. ACT XVI OF 1887, s. 77 (3), 3 P. R. 1910 Rev. = 6 Ind. Cas. 942.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

Mortgage with conditional sale, Suit for—See PUN. ACT XIII OF 1900, s. 9 (2), 22 P.L.R. 1904=91 P.R. 1903.

Of land as compensation for land allotted in partition, suit for—Jurisdiction of Civil Court, as to distribution in partition of land—See U.P. ACT XVII OF 1876, s. 219, cl. (d), 5 O.C. 140.

Suit for rent—Dismissal of suit—Subsequent suit in Civil Court to establish title to and for possession—Limitation—See U. P. ACT XII OF 1881, s. 148, A.W.N. 1885, 261.

Suit for possession against tenant—Declaration that defendant has no under proprietary rights—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts—See U.P. ACT XXII OF 1886, 4 O.C. 175.

See U.P. ACT XXII OF 1886, ss. 54, 55 and 108, cl. (10), 2 O.C. 83.

Admission of title in pleading—Suit for—Of land—Plea of limitation—See ADMISSION—ADMISSIONS IN PLEADINGS, ETC., Marsh 549.

Suit for possession of a part of a public road—See APPEAL—MISCELLANEOUS, P.L.R. 1900, 440.

Award declaring title—Subsequent suit for possession—Period of limitation—See AWARD, A.W.N. 1881, 70.

Benami transfer—Transfer in fraud of creditors—Benamidar's suit for—Plea of transfer being benami—See BENAMI TRANSACTION—GENERAL, 8 C.W.N. 620.

Claim based on title for possession of immoveable property—Right of benamidar to sue in his own name—Res judicata—See BENAMI TRANSACTION—GENERAL, 18 A. 69=A.W.N. 1895, 160.

Real purchaser in possession for twelve years—Suit against certified purchaser for declaration of right and for confirmation of possession maintainable—See BENAMI TRANSACTION, —MISCELLANEOUS, 28 C. 370.

See BURDEN OF PROOF—LANDLORD AND TENANT, 1 Ind. Jur. N.S. 50.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 11, O. II, r. 2, 26 A. 501=1 A.L.J. 228.

Delivery of formal—In execution proceedings—Suit for actual—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 47, 3 A.L.J. 504=A.W.N. 1906, 213=28 A. 722.

Suit for—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 47, 10 C.L.R. 258.

Suit for, against certified purchaser—Maintainability—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 66, 8 Ind. Cas. 258.

Previous suit for—Of land—No claim for mesne profits made—Subsequent suit for mesne profits—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, A.W.N. 1882, 3.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

Suit for possession of immoveable property and future of mesne profits—Subsequent suit for past mesne profits—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, A.W.N. 1881, 58.

Suit for, maintainability of, subsequent to suit for mesne profits—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, rr. 2, 4, 5, 9 O.C. 322.

Suit for—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, r. 23, 1 O.C. 172.

Suit for possession of revenue paying land—Court-fee—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, A.W.N. 1881, 5.

Suit for possession of share in revenue paying estate—Court-fee on plaint—Definite share, whether must be separately assessed with revenue also—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, sub-s. V. cls. (a) & (d), 12 C.W.N. 990.

Suit for—Of occupancy holding—Court-fees Act, s. 7, cl. 11 (e), applicability of—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, cl. 11 (e), 32 C. 268.

Suit for possession—See CRIM. PRO. CODE, 1861, ss. 318, 404, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 57.

Suit by defeated party for possession of property, brought more than six months from date of Magistrate's order, not sustainable without proof of title—See CRIM. PRO. CODE, 1861, s. 319, 4 M.H.C. 478.

See CRIM. PRO. CODE, 1898, s. 145, 6 C.W. N. 841.

See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—GENERAL, 156 P. R. 1879.

Suit for possession filed 11½ years after accrual of right—Delay—Effect—See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—INHERITANCE, 64 P.L.R. 1911.

Declaratory suit against Government—Proof of long possession—Presumption of ownership—Burden of proving title—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—GENERAL, 6 M.L.T. 306=5 Ind. Cas. 121=4 Ind. Cas. 1070=20 M.L. J. 71=33 M. 173.

See EASEMENT, 5 C.P.L.R. 53.

Suit for—See ESTOPPEL—DENIAL OF TITLE, 2 C.L.R. 208.

See EVIDENCE—MAPS, 5 C. 212.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 110, 2 Bom. L. R. 1111=25 B. 287.

Suit for confirmation of—Decree for recovery of—Payment of ad valorem Court-fees—See FRAUD—GENERAL, 11 Ind. Cas. 882.

See GRANT—RESUMPTION OF GRANTS, 4 O.C. 264.

Suit for—See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 14 C. 610.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, 116 P.R. 1879.

Claimant out of possession—Whether injunction may be granted—See INJUNCTION—SPECIAL CASES, 13 C.L.J. 394.

Possession—continued.

—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

Suit for—Based on sale-deed—Necessary issues to be tried—See ISSUES—FRAMING ISSUES, 20 B. 753.

Suit for—Of land on complete partition by Revenue Court—Mistakes or omissions, in orders regarding partition proceedings held in Revenue Court—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 1 O.C. 225.

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, A.W. N. 1885, 332, A.W.N. 1881, 56.

See JURISDICTION OF REVENUE COURTS, 102 P.R. 1887.

Suit for, by a landlord when there is any outstanding term in a lease, whether maintainable—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 M.L.T. 213=19 M.L.J. 347.

Suit for possession by mukurari lessee—Part decree—Eviction—See LEASE—MISCELLANEOUS, 21 C. 1005, P.C.=21 I.A. 118.

See LIMITATION—MISCELLANEOUS, 80 P. R. 1876.

Suit for—Limitation—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 20, 13 O.C. 179=7 Ind. Cas. 567.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 11, 11 A. 15, 27 C. 714.

Dispossession under order passed by officer of Government—Suit for possession—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 12, 14, 11 B. 429.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 14, 29 C. 367=6 C.W.N. 92.

Suit for—Land sold during minority of plaintiff—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 44, 3 C.W.N. 278.

Suit for—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 44, 1 C.P.L.R. 75.

And declaration of title, suit for—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 45, 5 C.L.R. 452.

Mortgage by mother of minor—Suit by minor on attaining majority for—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 91, 107 P.L.R. 1904=23 P.R. 1904.

No prior suit for declaration that an alleged adoption is invalid—Suit for possession—Limitation—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 118, 1912, 1 M.W.N. 77, P.C.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 113, 144, 6 A. 231=A.W.N. 1884, 42.

Suit for possession from dispossessed vendor that has subsequently recovered possession—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 136 and 144, 12 C. 197.

Suit for possession—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 138, 12 B. 676.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 138, 144, and s. 2, 18 B. 37.

Suit by reversioner for possession—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 141, 9 C. 934, F.B.=13 C.L.R. 372.

Possession—continued.

—6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

Suit for, falling under art. 142. Limitation Act—Form of issue—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 142, (1912), 1 M.W.N. 175.

Suit for possession after foreclosure by mortgagee—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 144, 6 C. 564=7 C.L.R. 583.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 144, 135, 90 P.R. 1895, F.B.

Malabar law—Nambudri illam—Suit by members for—See MALABAR LAW—MISCELLANEOUS, 15 M. 6.

First suit for mesne profits—Second suit for—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 5 B. 496.

Suit for, conversion of, into one for redemption—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 5 C.L.J. 653.

Possession, suit for—Plaintiff's title—Onus of proof—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 9 M.L.T. 423.

Penalty, condition in mortgage-deed amounting to—Hard and inadequate condition—Pecuniary compensation for breach of Contract Act. IX of 1872, s. 74—Act VI of 1899—Possession, suit for—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 6 O.C. 167.

When suit for possession by mortgagor against mortgagee may be instituted—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 11 C.P.L.R. 103.

Suit for—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 5 O.C. 148.

See MORTGAGE—SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY, 7 O.C. 243.

Suit for possession—See MORTGAGE—MISCELLANEOUS, 134 P.L.R. 1901, 20 P.R. 1903.

Suit for possession with alternative relief for rent—Misjoinder of parties and cause of action—See MULTIFARIOUSNESS, 4 C. 949.

Suit for specific performance and possession—Subsequent purchaser—Misjoinder—See MULTIFARIOUSNESS, 18 M. 415=5 M.L.J. 164.

Specific Relief Act, 1877, s. 9—Suit for possession of exclusive right of fishing in creek—Right of fishing, whether immoveable property within s. 9—See PARTIES TO SUITS—SUITS BY REPRESENTATIVES OF CLASS, 12 B. 221.

Suit for—See PLEADINGS, 3 M.I.A. 278, 6 O.C. 247.

Suit for exclusive possession of land—Court competent on the evidence in such suit to give a decree for joint—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, A.W.N. 1890, 166.

Suit for exclusive possession—Power of Court to grant decree for joint possession—Circumstances, under which such power will or will not be exercised—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, A.W.N. 1893, 196.

Possession—continued.— 6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

Suit for possession—See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—AUTHORITY OF AGENTS, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 377.

See RECEIVER, 5 C.W.N. 27

Sale of immoveable property by registered deed—Prior sale of same property by unregistered deed—Suit for possession by purchaser under registered deed—Admissibility of admissions before Registration officer to prove prior sale—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 49, 7 M.H. C. 13.

See BEN. REG. III OF 1793, s. 14, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 7.

See RENT, SUIT FOR, 4 N.W.P. 32.

Suit for—Not barred by a previous suit by the same plaintiff for mesne profits—See RES JUDICATA—ADJUDICATIONS, 5 M.L.T. 220.

Suit for declaration does not bar suit for—See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, 6 Ind. Cas. 696.

Suit for permanent injunction—Second suit for possession barred—See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, 8 Ind. Cas. 9.

Mortgage money, suit for—Suit for—See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, 3 C.L.R. 395.

Cause of action—Suit for mesne profits—Former suit for possession—See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, Marsh. 93=1 Hay 161.

Subsequent suit to redeem—See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, 15 C. 800=15 I.A. 106, P.C.

See RES JUDICATA—ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT, Marsh. 485.

Mutation of names—Whether evidence of—See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY—GENERAL, 9 Ind. Cas. 456.

See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY—TRANSFER OF RIGHT, 5 O. C. 176.

Suit for—Against trespasser—Proof of plaintiff's title—Possession good title against all but rightful owner—See RIGHT OF SUIT—GENERAL, 9 O.C. 273.

Execution of a decree—Symbolical possession—Second suit for actual possession, maintainability of—See RIGHT OF SUIT—EXECUTION OF DECREE, 22 B. 667.

See RIGHT OF SUIT—POSSESSION, SUIT FOR, 16 N.W.P. 137.

Suit for—By purchaser against trespasser, where vendor was out of—at the time of sale—Maintainability of suit—See RIGHT OF SUIT—MISCELLANEOUS, 9 C.W.N. 477, P.C.=8 O.C. 155=27 A. 271=34 I.A. 113=15 M.L.J. 197.

Execution sale—Suit against auction-purchaser for possession by setting aside sale—See SALE—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—SETTING ASIDE SALE, 11 C. 362.

Possession—continued.— 6.—Suits for Possession—continued.

Suit for possession—Maintenance, defendant's right to, out of the property—See SET-OFF, 5 C.W.N. 881, P.C.=28 I.A. 190=23 A. 394.

See SMALL CAUSE COURT, MOFUSSIL, JURISDICTION OF—GENERAL, 3 M.H.C. 237.

Possession, juridical, what is—S. 9 of Specific Relief Act, meaning of "possession" in—See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, ss. 8, 9, 3 S. L. R. 149=4 Ind. Cas. 359.

Suit for, based on title—Title not proved—No decree for, can be given—Plaintiff in continuous peaceful possession—Effect—See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, ss. 8, 9, 7 Ind. Cas. 495=7 A.L.J. 1078.

Suit for—Persons dispossessed whether must be co-plaintiffs—Act of—Nature of property—Grazing cattle whether an act of possession—See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, s. 9, 13 Ind. Cas. 125.

Suit on title—Dispossession within six months before suit—See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, s. 9, 4 A.L.J. 601=A.W.N. 1907, 244.

Suit for possession under will—Will found invalid—Suit for declaration of reversionary heirship—See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, s. 42, Illustration (e), A.W.N. 1881, 93.

Suit for mesne profits misappropriated—Suit for possession and profits subsequent not barred—See SPLITTING UP CAUSE OF ACTION, 59 P.R. 1893.

Suit for—Title, prima facie evidence of—Possessory suits—Evidence Act, s. 110—See TITLE, 5 C.L.R. 278.

Suit for—Title-deeds in plaintiff's name—Onus of proof—See TITLE, 6 B.L.R. 144.

Suit for possession—See TITLE, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 298=12 W.R. 175.

Suit for partition and exclusive—Of specific moieties of property—See VALUATION OF SUIT, 4 M.L.J. 110.

Suit for—Of grove—Permanent buildings on grove—See VALUATION OF SUIT, A.W.N. 1886, 106.

See VALUATION OF SUIT, 1 P.R. 1891, 56 P.R. 1892.

Possession—Joint Property—Suit by co-owner for exclusive—Practice—See VARIANCE BETWEEN PLEADING AND PROOF, 20 B. 627.

Suit for exclusive—Joint ownership proved but not exclusive title—Decree cannot be for exclusive possession—See VARIANCE BETWEEN PLEADING AND PROOF, 20 B. 569=P.J. 1895, 161.

Suit for—See VENDOR AND PURCHASER—PURCHASE MONEY AND OTHER PAYMENTS BY PURCHASER, Marsh. 494.

Possession—continued.—6.—Suits for Possession—concluded.

Buyer entitled to enforce specific performance whether could be ejected from possession—See VENDOR AND PURCHASER — VENDOR, RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF, 16 A. 344, F.B. = A.W.N. 1894, 101.

—7—Miscellaneous.

(1)—Possession—Necessity of, to complete a sale.—Under the law current in Madras, possession is not necessary to complete a sale. VASUDEVA v. NARASAMMA, 5 M. 6.

(2)—Evidence—Possession—Mutation in the Revenue Records.—The mere act of mutation of names in the Revenue records is insufficient to prove by itself transfer of actual possession of the mutated land, but it is some evidence of possession. JAWAHIR v. JAIMAL SINGH, 142 P.L.R. 1901.

(3)—Notice—possession—Registration.—In the Bombay Presidency, possession has, in certain cases, for the purposes of notice, the same effect as registration. KONDIBA v. NANA, 5 Bom. L.R. 269 = 27 B. 408.

(4)—Foujdari Court, effect of order of—Title of party in possession.—The effect of an order of the Foujdari Court, giving possession of real estate, is merely to prevent the occupation being disturbed by violence, and confers no right or title on the party put in possession. KADIR BUKSH KHAN v. MUSSUMATAIN FUSSEHOON NISSA, 5 M.I.A. 413 = 1 Suther 241.

(5)—Decretal order of possession—Supplementing such order by giving wassilat.—A decretal order directed possession only. A single Judge was held not competent to make a supplemental order thereon giving Wassilat. DOORGAPERSAUD ROY CHOWDRY v. TARAPERSAUD ROY CHOWDRY, 4 W.R.P.C. 63 = 8 M.I.A. 303 = 1 Suther 427 = 1 Sar. 774.

(6)—Conveyance by person not in possession.—Although a person may not have property in his possession, he is nevertheless competent to convey it. GOWRI KOER v. AUDH KOER, 10 C. 1087. [R., 3 O.C. 215.]

(7)—Symbolical delivery of possession—When effectual.—Where land is in the possession of tenants, a symbolical delivery of possession, by proclamation, of such land in execution of a decree, is as effectual to effect a transfer of possession as physical delivery. VENKATARAMANNA v. VIRAMMA, 10 M. 17. [R., 16 B. 722, 21 B. 98.]

(8)—Symbolical and momentary possession, as saving limitation—Obstruction to possession of execution purchaser—Remedy—Limitation Act, 1871, art. 165—Suit for possession by execution purchaser—Limitation. Symbolical possession of a dwelling house or of a share therein (given by the Nazir of a Court by striking a bamboo into the ground) without actual possession would not save limitation. If the purchaser of immoveable property at execution is obstructed in obtaining possession thereof, the executing Court could not summarily put him in possession, if the application is made after thirty days from the date of the obstruction; the purchaser's remedy would be by a civil suit, if not barred. [R., 11 B. 473.] A suit for possession by the purchaser of immoveable property, at an execution sale, who had taken no steps at the time to take possession of it, more than 12 years thereafter, was held barred and neither an interim symbolical possession by the Court Nazir nor a subsequent momentary possession of an illegal and irregular kind by the intervention of the Nazir was held to save limitation. SHOTEENATH MOOKERJEE v. OBHOY NUND ROY, 5 C. 331.

Possession—continued.—7.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(9)—Mortgage—Parties—Misjoinder—Symbolical possession—Limitation.—Plaintiffs were the representatives of one H in whose favour defendants 1 to 4, and one K, the ancestor of defendants 8 to 10, had executed a mortgage bond on the 4th of August 1882. Defendant No. 16, was the mortgagee under a bond executed by the same persons on the 3rd June 1883, the money borrowed being partly employed in discharging a prior bond dated 11th November 1878, executed by the same persons in favour of H. Defendants 17 and 18 were the assignees under another bond executed by K on the 22nd September 1882. A decree was obtained on the first bond (1878) on the 31st October 1881. The decree on the plaintiff's bond was obtained on the 31st July 1883. Defendant No. 16 obtained a decree on his bond on the 19th February 1891. Defendants 25, 33 and another person R were the purchasers at the sale held in execution of the decree on the fourth bond and they obtained the sale certificate on the 13th February 1894. Plaintiffs purchased the mortgaged properties at the sale held in execution of their decree, on the 2nd June 1884, and they took symbolical possession on the 16th October 1884. Defendant No. 16 purchased the property in execution of his decree on the 29th February 1892. Now, the plaintiffs brought the present suit for possession or, in the alternative, for possession after giving the defendants an opportunity of redeeming the property. Held:—(a) that the decree got by the plaintiffs on the 31st July 1883 and their subsequent purchase could not affect the defendants, but the fact of their omitting to make them parties did not extinguish their right and that, therefore, the plaintiffs were entitled to possession subject to the defendant's rights of redemption; (b) that the symbolical possession obtained by the plaintiffs was effective as against the mortgagor, and that the suit was within time as possession was obtained within 12 years prior to the institution of the suit, and as the purchasers in execution of the decrees of defendant No. 16 and of the decree obtained on the fourth bond did not obtain possession till 1892 and 1894; (c) that the fact that the plaintiffs were parties the suits brought upon the bonds of September 1882 and June 1883 did not deprive the plaintiffs of their right to possession, as they were sued as subsequent instead of prior mortgagees and were called on to redeem that which they were not bound to do; (d) that there was no misjoinder of causes of action as the plaintiff's cause of action was one, and their right of possession rested on their purchase of the property and their dispossession, though the defendants might have different titles to the portions occupied by them; (e) that the suit was not bad in not making R a party, as the karta of the joint family to which he belonged was made a party. MUSSAMAT DHAPI v. BARHAM DEO PERSHAD, 4 C.W.N. 297. [R., 1 C.L.J. 337; D., 7 C.L.J. 640.]

Possession—continued.—7.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(10)—Termination of possession—Adverse possession—Trespasser—Vis major—Constructive possession—Rightful owner—Landlord and tenant—Tenant claiming adversely to the landlord.—The possession of a tenant is in law the possession of the landlord or superior proprietor and it makes no difference whether the tenant is one who claims adversely to his landlord or not. In order to sustain a claim to land by limitation under the Indian Limitation Act (XV of 1877) there must be actual possession of a person claiming as of right by himself or by persons deriving title from him. If the possession comes to an end by vis major (e.g., submergence of the land) the constructive possession of the lands rests not with the trespasser but with the true owners. If a person enters upon the land of another and holds possession for a time and then without having acquired title under the statute of limitation abandons possession, the rightful owner, on the abandonment, is in the same position in all respects as he was before the intrusion took place. Dispossession by vis major has the same effect as voluntary abandonment. SECRETARY OF STATE v. KRISHNA MONI, 4 Bom. L.R. 537, P.C.=29 C. 518=6 C.W.N. 617=29 I. A. 104=8 Sar. 269. [F., 26 M. 410, 97 P.R. 1902=121 P.L.R. 1902; R., 27 B. 43=4 Bom. L.R. 721, 31 C. 397, 9 C.W.N. 1061, 18 P.L.R. 1904, 9 C.W.N. 111, 2 C.L.J. 1, 3 C.L.J. 316, 28 A. 760=A.W.N. 1906. 234=3 A.L.J. 567, 34 C. 753=5 C.L.J. 583=12 C.W.N. 193, 35 C. 120=8 C.L.J. 245=12 C.W.N. 16, 7 C.L.J. 414=12 C.W.N. 273=3 M. L.T. 212, 12 O.C. 45, 12 O.C. 58.]

(11)—Person dispossessed of property disputing right of decree-holder to be put into possession. Suit by—Bona fide possession of person dispossessed—Civil Procedure Code, s. 332—Muafidar of resumable grant, Status of—Impleading of muafidar's mortgagees in suit between grantor and grantee—Oudh Land Revenue Act, 1876—Dispossession of grantee's mortgage in execution of decree obtained by grantor against grantee.—The defendants Nos. 2 to 5 were proprietors of the village in which the land in suit lay. The land was held by N under a muafi grant from the former proprietor. In 1873, she mortgaged the land to the plaintiff with possession. After her death, defendants Nos. 2 to 5 obtained against her heir, defendant No. 1, a declaration that the grant was liable to resumption. At the time of applying for the declaration they were aware that the plaintiff was in possession under a mortgage from N. Having obtained the declaration, they sued the defendant No. 1 alone for possession and obtained the decree in execution of which the plaintiff was dispossessed. The plaintiff brought a suit against the defendants under the last clause of s. 332, Civ. Pro. Code, which was dismissed. Held that, in a suit under s. 332, Civ. Pro. Code, the plaintiff must prove that he is entitled to possession, that is, that he was entitled to retain possession when he was dispossessed and not merely that he was bona fide in possession and was not a party to the decree. Under the provisions of the Land Revenue Act of 1876, a muafidar the grant to whom was resumable in whole or in part, held no proprietary right in the land. He had no permanent interest which he could assign. So far as the grant was resumable in part, his possession was analogous to that of a tenant who was not liable to ejectment at will but whose rent might be enhanced at any moment at the will of the landlord, and, so far as the grant was resumable in whole, his possession was analogous to that of a tenant-at-will liable to ejectment at any time at the will of the landlord. The procedure prescribed by the Land Revenue Act, 1876, did not require an applicant to implead tenants or mortgagees of the muafidar. Held, therefore, that a tenant or mortgagee of a muafidar could not claim to retain the land after the grant had been declared to be resumable in proceedings fairly conducted between the grantor and the grantee. Held, further, that the plaintiff, not being a party to the decree for possession passed against defendant No. 1, should not have been dispossessed in execution, but, having been dispossessed, he had to prove his right to a decree for possession; and the defendants Nos. 2 to 5 having proved a superior right to the possession of the property, his suit was properly dismissed. GAYA PRASAD v. N. TASADDUK HUSAIN, 6 O. C. 110.

Possession—continued.—7.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(12)—Possession of shamilat land and demolition of construction thereon blocking a road, Suit against co sharers for—Decree for joint possession when no such relief is prayed for. Interference of Court in Second Appeal with—Blocking a road, Remedy of co-sharers against other co-sharers for.—The plaintiff sued some of his co-sharers for possession of a piece of shamilat land and for demolition of a chaupal erected thereon by them. The remaining co-sharers were also added as defendants by the first Court. The plaintiff's case was that the original defendants had blocked up a road used for carts and foot passengers by erection complained of and had thereby put the plaintiff to inconvenience. The Court passed a decree in favour of the plaintiff for possession jointly with the added defendants. On the contention that the plaintiff having claimed exclusive possession was not entitled to a decree for joint possession, it was held that, even if he had done so, the Court should not, on that ground interfere in second appeal with the decree for joint possession, if on other grounds, the plaintiff was found to be entitled to such possession. On the finding that the road had been blocked to some extent, it was held that the plaintiff was entitled to the relief prayed for as the damage could not be remedied by a partition. KALLU v. GAYA DEN, 7 O.C. 362. (10 A. 498, D., 10 A. 553, R.)

Possession—continued.—7.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(13)—Hostile seizure during war—Possession—Title—Evidence—Restoration of possession.—The plaintiff claimed from the Government certain marble, forming a part of tomb, formerly within a private court yard and built by one of the plaintiff's ancestors. It was contended that the house, court-yard, tomb and all other immovable property appertaining thereto were taken into Government's possession by way of hostile seizure at the capture of Delhi and stood upon the ground occupied for military purposes; the tomb only remaining undisturbed for the reason that the British Government never destroyed such monuments except when it was actually necessary to do so. In 1866, the Government sanctioned plaintiff's repairing the tomb, and also in 1869 paid a purchaser from the plaintiff the value of certain marble then taken away. Held that the permission to repair the tomb undoubtedly given by the defendant to the plaintiff and the permission to burn a light there and take general charge of the tomb proved nothing by way of restoration of possession amounting to re-delivery of an unqualified right of property. There was no evidence of intention to restore while the fact of original seizure was undoubted, though slight evidence was sufficient to show restoration of private property in immovables. Plaintiff's suit must therefore be dismissed; but if there had been any removal of the marble by the Government or any diversion of the building from the purposes which had been recognized by the Government since the seizure in 1857 (the purposes of a tomb) the plaintiff might have been in a position to apply for an injunction, as the Government, by its own act in derogation of the absolute title it acquired by the hostile seizure, treated the place as a tomb of which it permitted the plaintiff to take possession, and that act of admission might prevent the Government from insisting upon the absolute property in it. MUSSUMAT IKRAMUL NISSA v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 14 P.R. 1872.

(14)—Bill of sale by trader subsequently become insolvent—Assignments of assets to be acquired in future—Conveyance of chattels by trader to creditor—Non-delivery of possession, how far evidence of fraud.—The Punjab Bank, one of the creditors of the insolvent R, claimed a lien in preference to all other creditors, under a bill of sale executed by R before he became insolvent, over the effects therein described. The transfer being impeached by the general creditors, the question arose whether it was a fraudulent transfer within the meaning of s. 26 of Act IV of 1872. The bill of sale was urged by the creditors to be void by reason of its professing to pass after-acquired property, but it was held that it could not become entirely void merely because of its purporting to assign after-acquired property. The principal point urged, however, was that the bill of sale was an act of bankruptcy, and fraudulent and void against the creditors because it was an assignment of the whole of the debtor's property, or of the whole without any substantial exception for an antecedent debt, the effect being necessarily to defeat and delay creditors. On the point which thus arose, viz., whether the bill of sale assigned the whole of the debtor's property, or the whole without any substantial exception, the Chief Court was of opinion that, on the face of it the bill did not purport to be a bill of the debtor's whole property. As to whether any distinction should be made between the property acquired subsequently to the date of the bill of sale and the property previously acquired, it was held that a valid assignment can be made of future property as well, according to the English rule of equity, which the Indian Courts are to apply in preference to the rule of the Common Law. Held also that the deed of assignment was not void as being a fraudulent transfer of property, on the mere ground of non-transfer of possession. In an absolute grant or conveyance of personal chattels by a trader to a creditor, non-delivery of possession may be strong but not conclusive evidence of fraud. In the present case, the deed was not in effect an absolute assignment; it was in effect a mortgage, and the power to sell or to enter and sell, respectively, contained in it, was not to take effect except on default in payment on the due date of the bond, that is, two years after the date of the bill of sale, a period which had not elapsed when the grantor became insolvent. THE OFFICIAL LIQUIDATOR, PUNJAB BANK, LIMITED v. RICHARD RICHARDSON, 162 P.R. 1879.

Possession—continued.—7.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(15)—Jurisdiction—Issues—Suit for possession.—A suit for rent having been brought in the Beerbhoom Collectorate and decreed, the case was referred in execution to the Collector of Burdwan within whose jurisdiction the property lay. The tenure was sold by the Deputy Collector of the latter district, and purchased by the decree-holder. Appeals were made to the Collector and the Commissioner by the judgment-debtor, and were rejected by both officers. The judgment-debtor then brought a suit for possession in the Civil Court and obtained a decree reversing the sale on the ground that the decree for rent had been made by a Collector who had not jurisdiction. Held that after all that had passed, it was too late to raise the question of jurisdiction. OOMA SOONDUREE DOSSEE v. BEPIN BEHAREE ROY, 13 W.R. 292.

Possession—continued.—7.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(16)—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 247, 269—Possession.—An application under s. 246 of Act VIII of 1859, having been disallowed on the ground of unnecessary and improper delay, the attached property was sold; but in the attempt to take possession, the purchaser was obstructed by the applicant who alleged himself to be in possession. The Court made an investigation under s. 269, and determined that as applicant's claim had been disallowed under s. 246, he had no right to remain in possession, Held that this order was judicious and proper. In the matter of BANEE MADHUD ROY, 13 W.R. 431.

Suit by assignee from auction-purchaser of permanent tenure to recover from landlord, whether a suit for possession—Whether special limitation provided in s. 42 of the Chotanagpur Landlord and Tenant Act applicable to case. See BEN. ACT I of 1879, ss. 37 and 42, 12 C.W.N. 617=7 C.L.J. 560.

Registration of names, if constitute — Possession follows title, rule of, when applicable—Possession, delivery of, effect of—See BEN. ACT XI OF 1859, ss. 27, 28, 29, 37, 6 C.L.J. 472.

Purchaser at Revenue sale of a share of an estate—Right to recover possession from person who has acquired a title by adverse possession previous to default—See BEN. ACT XI OF 1859 s. 54, 12 C.W.N. 528.

Meaning of, in s. 55, Land Registration Act—See BEN. ACT VII OF 1876, s. 55, 12 C.W.N. 16=35 C. 120=8 C.L.J. 245.

Suit for, of land—Valuation of suit to be based upon plaintiff's case only—See PUN. ACT XVIII OF 1884, s. 40 (1), 199 L.R.P. 1903.

Title against wrong doer — Plea of jus tertii—Purchase from ostensible owner—Transfer of Property Act, s. 41—See ADMINISTRATOR, 1 Ind. Cas. 525.

Attachment and sale of property in execution—Suit by claimant in—to establish title—See BURDEN OF PROOF—POSSESSION AND PROOF OF TITLE, 6 B. 215, F.B.

Application for delivery of, not a step-in-aid of execution—See CIV. PRO CODE, 1908, s. 47, O. XXI, rr. 95, 96, 6 A.L.J. 71, F.B.=5 M. L.T. 185=31 A. 82=1 Ind. Cas. 416.

Plaintiff prima facie entitled to — Onus of proving that case falls under s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code (1882)—Effect of plaintiff's non-possession at time of prior suit—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. II, r. 2, 2 Ind. Cas. 115.

Declaration of right — Title not proved—Maintainability of suit on the strength of possession — Trespasser — See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—GENERAL, A.W.N. 1887, 55.

Possession—concluded.—7.—Miscellaneous—concluded.

Claim for goods in—of third parties — See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, 22 M. 478.8

Cause of action being dispossession—Plaintiff bound to prove possession and dispossession within twelve years—See EJECTMENT—SUIT FOR, 14 Bur. L.R. 155.

See EVIDENCE ACT, s. 110, 1 B. 91.

Suit for joint khas possession, if and when lies—See JOINT KHAS POSSESSION, 10 C.L.J. 103=3 Ind. Cas. 399.

Is good title against trespasser defendant, though lease in plaintiff's favour is inadmissible—See LEASE—GENERAL, 2 Ind. Cas. 202=14 C.W.N. 141.

Creation of lien — Agreement for specific appropriation—See LIEN, 2 Hyde 267.

Right of person in possession to application of specific period of limitation—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, art. 120, 69 P.R. 1909=103 P.W.R. 1909=2 Ind. Cas. 981.

Property in possession of tenant, whether capable of physical possession—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 63 P.L.R. 1908, F.B.=1 P.W.R. 1908=49 P.W.R. 1908.

Suit for declaration of—by a person in possession, maintainability of—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 120, 61 P.R. 1908=108 P.W.R. 1908.

And dispossession — Limitation — What amounts to dispossession — See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 142, 144, 2 Ind. Cas. 381.

Whether validates hiba bil mushaa (Gift of undivided joint property) under Mahomedan Law—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT, A.W.N. 1908, 104=30 A. 250=5 A.L.J. 566.

Decree for foreclosure—Delivery of possession for non-payment within time—No formal decree or order passed—Validity of delivery of possession — See MORTGAGE—FORECLOSURE, 12 C.P.L.R. 103.

Partition—Mode of partition — Possession, how far to be respected—See PARTITION—GENERAL, 2 P.W.R. 1908, Rev.

Whether and how far—affects the question of priority between registered deeds — See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 47, 29 B. 42.

First plaint alleging interference with—Second plaint alleging dispossession—Cause of action different—See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, 4 Ind. Cas. 97=6 M.L.T. 375.

Legal possession, termination of—See RES JUDICATA—MISCELLANEOUS, 10 C.L.J. 527=4 Ind. Cas. 442.

Claim for two plots as ancestral Jammai lands—Claim for one plot admitted—Proof of—as to second plot—See TITLE, 10 C.L.R. 99.

Suit to eject trustee—Possession—Valuation for jurisdiction—Specific Relief Act, s. 42—See VALUATION OF SUIT, 8 M. 516.

Possessory Title.

Possessory title, suit for partition can lie on — Possession of co-widows of husbands property — See HINDU LAW—PARTITION, 12 A. 51=16 I.A. 186, P.C.

Post.

This circular in supersession of the Circular Order, dated 2nd May 1870, directs that all records of cases sent to the High Court be transmitted by Banghy Post prepaid, instead of by Letter Post. Civ. Cir. No. 33, dated 23rd November 1870, 14 W.R. Civ. Cir. 43.

This circular cancels Circular No. 7, dated 22nd March 1871, and restores Circular No. 1, dated 4th January 1871, regarding the transmission of records by the post. Civ. Cir. No. 16, dated 22nd May 1871, 16 W.R. Civ. Cir. 1.

Tender of patta by—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 9, 13 M. 42.

Presentation of plaint—Plaint sent by post. —See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 51, 8 M. 411.

See U.P. ACT XV OF 1873, s. 43, 4 A. 102.

Applications sent by—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. III, c. 1, L.B.R. 1872-1892, 504.

See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 28, 38 P.R. 1900.

Transmission of copies by post—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 12, 14 C.P.L.R. 40.

Petition sent by post—Not a substitute for a plaint—See PLAINT—GENERAL, 6 M.H.C. 136.

Service of summons—by Foreign territory—See SUMMONS, 2 B.L.R. A.C. 59=10 W.R. 349.

See SUMMONS, 1 C.W.N. 56, 18 B. 606.

Service of notice through post by registered letter, whether sufficient—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 106, 28 C. 118=4 C.W.N. 790.

Postage.

This circular encloses circular from the Post-Master-General regarding postage on parcels. Civ. Cir. No. 7, dated 22nd March 1871, 15 W.R. Civ. Cir. 12.

The circular gives a Revised list of Public Offices with which the Post Office will keep accounts of postage &c., Cir. No. 30, dated the 11th August 1886, 6 W.R. Civ. Cir. Order, p. 5.

This circular requires encasement of certificate on bills debitable to the Wards' Rate Fund, where the bills include charges for postage, &c. Rev. Cir. No. 9, 20 W.R. Rev. Cir., p. 14.

This circular deals with Prepayment of Official Covers by Service Postage Stamps. Civ. Cir. No. 2, dated 10th January 1872, 17 W.R. H.C. Rul. and Order, 1.

Postage—concluded.

This circular deals with instructions relative to the distribution, between Government and the parties to suits, of the charge for postage incurred in certain cases. Civ. Cir. No. 10, dated 28th March 1872, 17 W.R. H.C. Rul. and Order 10.

Postage Stamps.

This circular circulates Financial Department Order No. 661, dated 29th January 1874, allowing officers to charge in the accounts the value of service postage stamps, $\frac{3}{4}$ ths to the Revenue, and $\frac{1}{4}$ th to the Judicial Departments Rev. Cir. No. 5, 21 W.R. Rev. Cir., p. 8.

This circular makes certain alterations in s. 5, Ch. XXI. of Board Rules, regarding the custody, &c., of Postage Stamp Labels. Rev. Cir. No. 2, 20 W.R. Rev. Cir. p. 4.

Document stamped with—Instead of receipt stamp—Stamp of improper description, meaning of—See STAMP ACT, 1899, s. 37, sch. I, art. 1, 23 A. 213, F. B. = A.W.N. 1901, 54.

Post diem Interest.

See—INTEREST.

Mortgage—Covenant by mortgagor to pay within stipulated period—Post diem interest—See MORTGAGE—MISCELLANEOUS, 1 C.W.N. 52, P.C. = 19 A. 39=23 I.A. 138.

Posthumous Chela.

Inheritance—Appointment by widow of Goshain—See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE, 3 A.L.J. 717=A.W.N. 1906, 289=29 A. 109.

Posthumous Child.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 112, 29 C. 111, P.C. = 29 I.A. 17=6 C.W.N. 146=4 Bom. L. R. 243=8 Sar. 186.

Posthumous Son.

Rights of, not alterable by will in favour of adopted son—See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 12 B. 105.

Revocation of Hindu Will by birth of—See HINDU LAW—WILL, 17 M.L.J. 269=30 M. 369=2 M.L.T. 242.

Effect of birth of, on Hindu's will—See HINDU LAW—WILL, 16 M.L.J. 491.

Post Office.

See ACT XIV OF 1866.

See ACT VI OF 1898.

(1)—Agent of the addressee—According to English Law, the Post Office holds every letter that is once posted as agent of the addressee, and therefore where delivery of a thing is requisite to pass the property, it is generally sufficient to deliver it for transmission by the Post Office. NARASIMULU v. ADIPPA, 13 M. 242.

Post Office—concluded.

(2)—Indian Government—Liability for things entrusted to Post office for conveyance.—The Government is not responsible for any loss or damage which may occur in respect to anything entrusted to the Post Office for conveyance. WINTER v. WAY, 1 M.H.C. 200.

This circular draws attention to the new Post Office rules generally, and specially to the rules regarding parcels sent by banghy parcel post. Civ. Cir. No 8, dated 2nd May 1870, 13 W.R. Civ. Cir. 15.

Attachment of letters in Post Office—See ATTACHMENT—SUBJECTS OF ATTACHMENT, 13 M. 242.

See INSTALMENT DECREE, 24 A. 85 = A.W. N. 1901, 168.

Payment required to be made into Court within particular time—Money paid into—Within but received in Court beyond time, not a good payment—See PAYMENT INTO COURT, 22 B. 415.

Postponement.

See ADJOURNMENT.

Execution sale. postponement of—See SALE—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, 3 C. 542 = 1 C.L.R. 349.

Postponement Petition.

See ADJOURNMENT.

Suit—Petition for postponement.—Where parties put in a postpone-petition after decree, which made the amount adjudged by the decree, payable in instalments, and the process of execution to issue in case of default, and no intention existed between them to create new rights enforceable by suit in supersession of those under the decree, a suit on the postpone-petition is not maintainable. DARBHA VENKAMMA v. RAMA SUBBARAYADU, 1 M. 337, F.B. [F., 4 A. 240]

Pottah.

(1)—Pottah, what is.—The pottah granted by the Collector is not a muniment of title, but only an evidence of holding, according to a local and fiscal regulation. FREEMAN v. FAIRLIE, 1 M.L.A. 305.

(2)—Patta—Court of Wards.—A patta granted by the Court of Wards without any term of years must be considered as not extending over ten years after which, on the lessee's refusal to make a fresh settlement, the Collector may settle with other parties. MAHOMED RAJAH v. THE COLLECTOR OF CHITTAGONG, 6 B.L.R. App. 117 = 15 W.R. 116.

(3)—Patta—Lease—Registration Acts.—Looking to the language of the Registration Act, the term "patta" appears to be included in the term "lease." A lease for a term, not exceeding five years at a rent reserved not exceeding s. 50, is exempted by the Local Government from Registration. VENKATACHELLAM CHETTI v. AUDIAN, 3 M. 358. [R., 9 C.P.L.R. 88.]

Pottah—continued.

(4)—Object of patta.—The object of the Legislature in compelling the delivery and acceptance of pattas was to secure to the tenant precise information of his liability, and to the Courts a fairly certain record of the obligation of the parties. VENKATAGOPAL v. RANGAPPA, 7 M. 365.

(5)—Unreasonable stipulations in patta.—Stipulations in a patta requiring a raiyat not to reap his crop without the previous permission of the Zemindar, and making his holding liable to forfeiture and extra assessment if he should, without permission, cultivate dry land as wet land, are unreasonable and cannot be enforced. APPA RAU v. RATNAM, 13 M. 249. [R., 2 M.L.J. 292].

(6)—Joint lease—Pottah—Condition that lessor should not alienate during term of lease.—Where the terms of a pottah are such as to preclude the grantor from alienating or leasing the property to any other party during the term of the lease without giving the lessees under pottah the first refusal, these restrictions upon the malik's right, though unusual, are binding upon him. As long as the co-lessees are willing and able to pay the rent of the lease, the malik is not entitled, under the terms of the pottah, to alienate or to lease the disputed right, either as a whole or in part, to any other party. MOHIMA CHUNDER SEIN v. PITAMBUR SHAHA, 9 W.R. 147.

(7)—Pottah being koorfa pottah containing no term, not sufficient ground for its rejection.—The ground upon which the first appellate Court rejected the pottah of the plaintiff in this suit, viz., that it was a koorfa pottah and contained no term, was held by the High Court to be no sufficient ground for its rejection. Pottahs are given in all forms, and it is impossible for any Judge to state that a pottah was not given as alleged, because it is in a particular form. GOOROO DOSS SHOOR v. DIGAMBUR CHATTERJEE, 4 W.R. 78.

(8)—Party in possession of Government lands whether entitled as of right to pottah from Collector.—There is no law which obliges a Collector to grant a pottah in respect of Government lands, under all circumstances whatever, to the party in possession. SHEIKH HAZARI v. KHANOO MIRDA, 4 W.R. 52.

(9)—Right to enforce—Regular suit.—A suit to enforce the acceptance of a patta is maintainable on the regular side. KARIM v. MAHAMMAD KADAR, 2 M. 89. (7 M.H.C. 312, R.) [F., 13 M. 361; 14 M. 441; D., 12 M. 134.]

(10)—Suit for possession on a forged pottah—Dismissal—Lower Appellate Court, duty of.—Where the plaintiff sues for possession relying on a patta which was found by the first Court to be a forged one, held, that the lower appellate Court must decide whether plaintiff has sued on a forged patta and try the issue decided by the Court below and raised on the pleadings. KEMAL KISHEN v. ACHAIPER ROY, W.R., 1964, Act. X Rul., 55.

Pottah—continued.

(11)—Suit to obtain a perpetual patta—Jurisdiction.—No action for obtaining a perpetual patta, could be tried under Act X of 1859. KOYLASH CHANDER v. KOYLASH CHANDER SEIN, W.R. 1864, Act X Rul., 94. [D., 11 W.R. 541.]

(12)—Suit for possession—Proof of possession—Mere production of pottah.—Where the plaintiff sues to recover possession on the ground that he had taken possession of the land under his pottah and had been dispossessed by the defendant, the mere production of the pottah without proof of possession under it, cannot avail the plaintiff. SHAIKH LUCKHEE v. SHAIKH BABUR, 5 W.R. 213.

(13)—Suit to obtain patta—Evidence.—Plaintiff, in a suit to obtain patta, must adduce proof that he holds the lands for which he applies for a patta. NUNDEE DASS v. SHAH BABOO TEWAREE LALL, W.R. 1864, Act X Rul., 75.

(14)—Grant of patta—Effect of reversal.—The grant of a patta must, as long as an appeal against the decision of the Collector remains possible, be held to be conditional and subject to the result of the appeal. TIRUMALASWAMI AYYANGAR v. TIRUMALAI GOUNDAN, 19 M. 324. [R., 29 M. 461 = 1 M.L.T. 278.]

(15)—Rates of rent—Future contingency.—It is not irregular to define in a patta the terms of the tenancy with reference to a possible contingency which may arise in the course of the fasli for which the patta is tendered. SATTAPPA PILLAI v. RAMAN CHETTY, 17 M. 1. [F., 12 M.L.J. 22; Appr., 27 M. 332 = 13 M.L.J. 429.]

(16)—Persons holding patta for tree on land, whether entitled to patta for the land itself.—Held Subramania Ayyar, J., dissenting, that the mere fact that certain persons have been granted tree pattas in respect of the trees growing on Government waste-land does not entitle them to claim, as of right, in a Civil Court, to be granted a land patta for the land on which the trees stand. Held per Subramania Ayyar, J., that land on which a man plants a palmyra tope is in his exclusive occupancy and possession as a raiyat of Government, subject to the liability to pay any assessment or assessments which the Government may, from time to time, be entitled to impose, and subject also to all other lawful incidents attaching to a holding of such description. THEIVU PANDITHAN v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, 21 M. 433, F.B.

(17)—Pottahs—Attestation or registry not necessary—Decision of Appellate Court on preliminary point—Evidence on all issue on record—Appellate Court not competent to remand.—It is not usual to have subscribing witnesses to pottahs nor to register such documents. In this case, all the evidence which the parties wished to adduce had been taken and was before the lower appellate Court. But that Court, having decided on one of the issues relating to the genuineness of a pottah, remanded the case to first Court for the determination of the other issues. Held that the decision of the lower Court, although it happened to be of one preliminary point, did not exclude evidence of facts on the other issues raised in the case. Having reference to ss. 351, 352 and 353 of the Civ. Pro. Code, the Judges had no authority to remand the case for re-trial, but should have tried it himself. RAM JOY SEIN v. NUNDO MOYEE DEBIA, 10 W.R. 374.

Pottah—continued.

(18)—Suit for ejectment on failure to take pottah—Plea of refusal to give pottah—Tenant not bound to take the initiative—Duty of landlord to himself make a positive tender of pottah.—This was a suit instituted for ejectment and mesne profits. On arrangement between the parties, the defendant-respondent was allowed to continue in possession of certain lands till a particular period when he was to relinquish all of those fit for indigo cultivation; these lands, the defendant was to keep on paying rent to, and taking a pottah from, the proprietor, i.e., the plaintiff-appellant. The latter alleged that the former did not take pottah. The former retorted that no pottah was ever offered to him, but, on the contrary, pottah was refused even on application. The Sudder Ameen dismissed the suit and the High Court confirmed his decision. From the circumstances of the case it was clear that the land was absolutely essential to the respondent for indigo growing purposes and it could therefore never be supposed that there would have been any neglect on his part to take his pottah. It was held further that, in such cases, the landlord is bound to make a positive tender of a pottah and not to insist on his tenant taking the initiation. MUROONATH ROY v. MR. GOW SMITH 2 W.R. 73.

(19)—Patta granted to defendant by plaintiff's naib—Authority of naib objected to by plaintiff—Inapplicability of s. 25 of Act X of 1859—Appeal to Commissioner or to Judge.—S. 25 of Act X of 1859 would not apply to a suit for possession brought by the plaintiff who, admitting that the defendant had really got a pottah, only disputed the authority of his naib to grant pottah to the defendant; the lower appellate Court was therefore wrong in having held that the appeal in the case lay only to the Commissioner and not to the Judge. JOY KISHEN MOOKERJEE v. RAMOHUN ROY, 2 W.R. Act X Rul., 16. [R., 2 Agra. 182.]

(20)—Act X of 1859, s. 23 cl. 1—Suit for delivery of pottah, maintainability of, only by ryots in possession.—It was contended in this special appeal that, as cl. 1, s. 23 of Act X of 1859, refers to all suits for delivery of pottahs and the present plaintiff asked for the delivery of a pottah, the jurisdiction would be with the Revenue Courts. But the High Court held that the plea was altogether untenable, as the said clause contemplated only suits by ryots in possession, and, admittedly the present plaintiff was not in possession; further, what the plaintiff asked for was specific performance of an agreement to give a lease with a view to get possession, and till he got such possession he could not be in the relation of a tenant. BHARUT CHUNDER SEIN v. OSEEMODDEEN, 6 W.R. Act X, Rul. 56.

Pottah—continued.

(21)—Pottah—Refusal to register—Suit for damages—Suit on implied contract—Pottah executed and delivered—Conditions when pottah to take effect not mentioned—Presumption—Suit for refund—Deposit for rents of old lease—Right to retain money under new contract.—A suit for a refund and damages on the ground of defendant's refusal to allow a pottah, for which a kaboolut had been given, to be registered, is not a suit brought upon the pottah and kaboolut, but a suit upon an independent contract, namely, an implied contract by the defendant, to do that which is necessary in order to give effect to this own pottah, namely, to allow it to be registered. Where a pottah has been actually executed and handed over, it would be only in accordance with the ordinary course of business that, if that pottah is not to take effect from the moment of its delivery, the conditions which are to be performed in order to make it effectual would be stated in the instrument itself. If the instrument does not contain any such conditions, it is a natural presumption that no conditions ever existed. Damages for breach of a contract in refusing to let a pottah to be registered, are not necessarily the same as damages for keeping a person out of possession of the property; but the damages would be the loss which had been occasioned to him by the contract not having been performed. In such cases, damages can only be a matter of estimation. Where the refund sued for is in deposit for the rents of an old lease which has not expired, but abandoned by defendant for a new arrangement, he cannot fall back on the old contract, or retain the money under the new contract, after refusing to register the pottah. MONOMOTHONATH DAY v. SREE NATH GHOSE, 20 W.R. 107.

(22)—Patta—Tree pattadar and Land pattadar—Their respective rights and liabilities—Cancellation of tree patta, effect of—Whether tree pattadar can rely on his possession against trespassers.—The plaintiff (appellant) held a patta for certain trees on land in certain survey fields, and the defendants (respondents) held the patta for the land. The plaintiff had possession of the trees for over 20 years prior to 1906, in which years the revenue authorities cancelled the plaintiff's patta. The defendants then interfered with the plaintiff's enjoyment of the trees and deprived him of their possession. Plaintiff had sued to recover possession of them. In second appeal, held that the plaintiff is entitled to a decree. The only effect of the cancellation of his patta was that Government no longer made any demand on the pattadar for revenue in respect of the tree. There was no grant to the defendants; and the plaintiff was in possession of the trees until dispossession by the defendants. The defendants having no title as owners were mere trespassers, and the plaintiff was entitled to rely on his possession in a suit to eject them. SENGODA GOUNDAN v. RASA GOUNDAN, 2 M.W.N. 1911, 532=10 M.L.T. 488=22 M.L.J. 201=13 Ind. Cas. 39. (21 M. 433, R.; 26 M. 574, 32 M. 367, F.)

Pottah—continued.

(23)—Occupancy—Patta—Tenant under pattadar—Presumption of occupancy right.—There is no statutory rule that a ryot holding under a pattadar is a tenant from year to year. The grant of a patta by the Government could not have the effect of destroying the occupancy rights that may exist at the time of the grant. The use of the word "Porakudi" would not in itself denote the absence of occupancy right. With whomsoever the settlement may have been made by the Government, it had no intention whatever to affect the existing right of any class of persons. The bare fact that a man is the pattadar of the land is not sufficient to raise the presumption that the cultivators of the patta lands either originally are tenants from year to year under the mirasidar or subsequently agreed to hold as such. VENKATACHALA GOUNDEN v. RUNGARATNAM AIYAR, M.W.N. 1913, 434=13 M.L.T. 450=24 M.L.J. 571.

Right to pottah—Agreement fixing rent—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1869, Marsh 325.

Not conferring on lessee any interest in land does not create a tenure—Sarbarakari patta, construction of—See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1885, ss. 3 (7), 5 (1), 65, 4 Ind. Cas. 471=14 C.W.N. 389.

See MAD. ACT II OF 1864, ss. 1, 2, 3, 38, 39, 7 M. 405.

Partly proper and partly improper—Enforceability of—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, 3 M. 127, F.B.

To be issued by mortgagees of parts of a Zemindari, whether to be joint or several—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, 16 M.L.J. 6.

Tender of, to manager of joint Hindu family—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, 17 M.L.J. 251.

Liability for revenue of all fields included in patta—Claim for release of one field on tender of proportionate kist, validity of—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 2, 25, 37, 8 M. 130.

Inamdars paying fixed rent to zemindar whether bound to accept—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 3, 21 M. 116=8 M.L.J. 43, F.B.

Tender of, and execution of muchilika, effect of—Second tender of, invalid—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 3, 8, 9, 72, 30 M. 253=2 M. L.T. 325.

What is—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 7, 5 M. 136.

Tender of patta—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 7, 9, 72, 27 M. 4, F.B.

Proper tender of—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 7, 38, 39, 40, 20 M. 33=6 M.L.J. 278.

Pottah—concluded.

Tender of—by post—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 9, 13 M. 42.

Suit to enforce acceptance of—Cause of action—Limitation—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 9, 23 M. 474=10 M.L.J. 258.

Pargana surrendered to and re-grant by Government—Rates of rent—Terms of patta—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 9 and 11, 18 M. 216.

Suit to enforce acceptance of patta—Tender of patta within fasli—Suit after expiry of fasli—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, ss. 9, 50, 51, 22 M. 318.

Suit after fasli for enforcing acceptance of—Amended patta orderd under s. 10—Suit maintainable for rent—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 10, 23 M. 616.

See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 11, 21 M. 503=8 M.L.J. 207.

Insertion of useless condition in a—does not make it patta bad—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, s. 12, 16 M.L.J. 57.

See MAD. ACT V OF 1882, s. 6, 12 M. 203, F.B.

See CO-SHARERS—SUIT BY CO-SHARERS, 2 B.L.R. A.C. 159=11 W.R. 25.

Tank-bed lands granted on darkhast—Contravention of Revenue Board's Standing Orders—Issue of unconditional patta—Cancellation—See DARKHAST, 5 M.L.T. 31=19 M. L.J. 206=32 M. 300=1 Ind. Cas. 76.

Construction of—See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—GENERAL, 1 Agra Rev. 54.

See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT, 27 M. 332.

Suit to enforce acceptance of patta—See INAMDAR, 7 M. 325.

Collector cannot cancel patta once granted—Second patta by Collector, power of Civil Court to declare void—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 12 M. 404.

Suit to enforce exchange of—and Muchalika—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 14 M. 441, F.B.=1 M.L.J. 661.

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 12 M. 134.

Transfer of pottah from tenant—Old tenant not contesting validity of transfer after notice—No petition from old tenant praying recognition of transfer—Duty of Zemindar to grant a pottah to a new tenant—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—TRANSFER OF TENANT'S INTEREST, 3 M.L.T. 235=18 M.L.J. 37=31 M. 64.

See LEASE—GENERAL, 2 M. 67=6 I.A. 170, P.C.

Validity of, to land under, obtained fraudulently—See TITLE, L.B.R. 1893—1900, 428.

Suit for—at fixed rate of rent—See VARIANCE BETWEEN PLEADING AND PROOF, Marsh 371=2 Hay 422.

Poundage.

(1)—Sheriff—Right of poundage.—Where a decree is satisfied, after attachment but before sale, the sheriff will be entitled to his poundage. ROY CHURN DUTT v. AMEENA BIBI, 2 C. 385.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 Ind. Cas. 139.

Application to receive Poundage-fee—Application for set-off—Not steps in aid of execution—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ART. 182—STEP-IN-AID OF EXECUTION, 23 C. 196.

Application by decree-holder to receive poundage-fee not a step in aid of execution—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ART. 182—STEP-IN-AID OF EXECUTION, 22 C. 827.

See SALE—SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—SETTING ASIDE SALE, 20 M. 158.

See SHERIFF, 4 B.H.C. O.C. 139, 6 B.H.C. O.C. 22.

Poundage-fee.

To be taken as costs of the execution—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 Ind. Cas. 139.

Poverty.

See PAUPER APPEAL.

See PAUPER SUIT.

Suit for divorce by wife—Provision for costs—See ACT IV OF 1869, 9 M. 12.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XLI, r. 10, 7 A. 542=A.W.N. 1885, 127, 8 A. 203, F.B.=A.W.N. 1886, 310.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ss. 4, 5, 9 A. 11=A.W.N. 1886, 245.

Appeal—No ground for demanding security for costs—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 3 B. 241.

Application for ordering appellant to give security for costs of appeal on the ground of his—See SECURITY FOR COSTS, 21 C. 526.

See SECURITY FOR COSTS, A.W.N. 1886, 286.

Power of Appointment.

(1)—Will—Creation by will.—A general power of appointment may be exercised by will executed previously to the creation of the power and that too by mere residuary gift. DINSHAW v. DINSHAW, 9 Bom. L.R. 488=31 B. 472.

Given to testatrix by will of her husband if "property"—See COURT-FEES ACT, 1870, sch. I, art 11, 25 M. 515.

Right of Hindu testator to grant, to a person named in his will—Person appointed, qualifications necessary—See HINDU LAW—WILL, 11 O.C. 271.

Will—Testator's directions—Execution of—See WILL—CONSTRUCTION OF, 4 C. 514.

Powers, Advocate-General's.

See ACT X OF 1875.

Power-of-attorney.

(1)—Constitution of agency by power-of-attorney—Power to borrow money for particular purpose in particular manner—Binding nature of debt contracted in different manner.—It is an inflexible rule in the construction of powers-of-attorney that the special purpose for which the power-of-attorney was given, is first to be regarded, and the most general words, following the declaration of that special purpose will be construed to be merely all such powers as are needed for its effectuation. The owner of a ship constituted the master thereof as his agent and authorized him by means of a power-of-attorney to raise money on the ship's papers for the repair of the ship. The power further authorised the agent "to do and act in the premises as fully and effectually to all intents and purposes as" the owner might or could do if personally present. Held, that the master could not raise money by mortgaging the ship. The authority given was not to mortgage the ship, but to pledge the title-deeds. SAUSONE EZEKIEL JUDAH v. ADDI RAJA QUEEN BIBI, 2 M.H.C. 177. [Appr., 6 C.L.J. 490; R., 14 B. 455, 5 N.L.R. 146.]

(2)—Power-of-attorney by 20 persons to borrow for the benefit of the joint estate—Power to borrow for one or more—Construction—General Power to borrow apart from Power.—A power-of-attorney was executed to S and B by 20 proprietors of a joint estate in the following terms:—"In case necessity arises for raising loans for the purposes of our estate, both the said sarbarakkars or either of them shall borrow from any party by executing a bond on any terms and sign their or his name as the case may be, for our name in the bond; and if need be, pledge the whole or any part of the estate." S executed a bond on behalf of three of the proprietors. Held, that S had no right to execute a bond on behalf of any one or more of the proprietors, making him or them responsible for the whole money borrowed, to the exclusion of the rest. In a suit upon a bond which was given professedly under the above power-of-attorney, in the absence of some very clear proof that S had some general authority apart from that which he derived from the power, his authority must be considered as strictly confined to the terms of the power-of-attorney. BUDH SINGH DUDHURIA v. DENENDRA NATH SANCUL, 11 C.L.R. 323.

(3)—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 25—Mookhtarnama to pay debts—Bond to secure barred debt.—(a) Although, under s. 25 of the Contract Act, a contract to pay a barred debt is a good contract, still the contract must be executed by the party himself or by his authorised agent. (b) A power of Mookhtarnama to pay debts, or to secure debts, or otherwise to deal with debts, is prima facie a power to deal with existing debts, and it does not authorise the agent to revive debts barred by limitation. HUBLAL SUKUL v. RAMGOTI DEY ROY, 11 C.L.R. 581.

Power-of-attorney—continued.

(4)—Mookhtarnama—Construction—Power to grant ticca and ijara leases—Right to create permanent tenure—Gift, power of making.—Where a mookhtarnama gave power to the mookhtar to grant ticca and ijara to any person on or without receipt of zuripeshgi, and when advisable, to sell, mortgage, and make gift of the whole or portion of the right of the principal out of the zemindari estates or houses, and by alienation of certain properties to purchase other properties, held, that the power to sell or mortgage would not render a permanent tenure created by the mookhtar valid. Held, also, that the power of making gift authorized the agent formally to execute a deed of gift, only when the disposing power had been exercised by the principal and that the agent had no power under the mookhtarnama to exercise the power of disposition by gift according to his will and determination quite irrespective of the concurrence of the principal. TYEBUNNISSA v. KANIZ FATIMA, 13 C.L.R. 247. (8 I.A. 39, R.) [R., 6 C.L.J. 490.]

(5)—Construction of—General principles—Effect of fraud on the part of persons dealing with the agent.—The principles applicable to the construction of all powers-of-attorney are:—(1) Language, however general in its form, when used in connection with a particular subject-matter, will be presumed to be used in subordination to that matter, and is to be construed and limited accordingly. (2) Powers-of-attorney must be construed strictly, i.e., where an act purporting to be done under a power-of-attorney is challenged as being in excess of the authority conferred by the power, it is necessary to show that, on a fair construction of the whole instrument, the authority in question, is to be found within the four corners of the instrument, either in expressed terms or by necessary implication. (3) When one is dealing with an agent, it is his duty to ascertain the extent of the agent's power. Where he knows that there is a power-of-attorney, he is liable for ignorance of its contents. (4) If the act of the agent is by express terms or by necessary implication authorized in the power of attorney, it will bind the principal as against persons dealing with the agent in good faith, notwithstanding that the agent may have acted fraudulently. (5) Where the power is given to an agent to sign promissory-notes or to accept bills for a special purpose, persons dealing with the agent must see that it is done only for that purpose. (6) General powers are not to be construed in such a way as to give a power of borrowing, if that power is not expressly stated. EBRAHIM MAHOMED PATAIL v. S. R. M. M. ARUNACHELLUM CHETTY, U.B.R. 1902—1903, Vol. II, Power-of-Attorney, 5.

(6)—Power-of-attorney—Referring cases to arbitration cannot be implied—Construction of terms of power-of-attorney.—A zemindar appointed his brother as his general attorney for conducting cases in Civil, Criminal and other Courts. He gave him power to buy lands and to file on his behalf receipts, acquittances, razeenamahs and other documents, etc. But the general attorney was not given power to refer matters in dispute in suits to arbitration. In a suit in the Revenue Court, he agreed to refer the matter to arbitration, and the award was given against the zemindar who sued for the cancelment of the award. Held, that, as the general tenure of the power of the attorney did not warrant the conclusion that the attorney was empowered to refer cases to arbitration, it would be adopting a dangerous rule of construction to hold that, because one extraordinary power was given, it must be inferred that other extraordinary powers were also given, and that, if it be proved that the plaintiff adopted and accepted his brother's act, he would be as much bound by it as if his brother had originally enjoyed full authority to make the reference. THAKOOR PERSHAD v. KALKA PERSHAD, 6 N.W.P. 210. [R., 14 B. 455.]

Power-of-attorney—continued.

(7)—Agent—Compromise—Power-of-attorney—Construction of deed—Words giving general powers—Ejusdem generis—Power to compromise not similar to power to refer to arbitration—Agent not signing on behalf of principal—One plaintiff signing for the other though not appointed agent.—Three brothers, A B and C were plaintiffs in a suit. A and B had given a special power-of-attorney for the case to C, authorizing the latter to engage a legal practitioner or to prosecute the case himself, to present applications to Court and to refer to arbitration. The power-of-attorney then recited the following words:—"gurze ke kull sakhta pardakhta muktharmazhar ko wanzur wa makbul hoga"—"in short everything done by the mukhtar will be binding on me."—A compromise in writing was put in; it was signed by A and C but B neither signed the compromise nor appeared in Court to assent to it. C, signed the compromise only for himself and not on behalf of B. A signed to the following effect:—"for myself and as mukhtar for the other plaintiff through C mukhtar." C was told, on the prosecution of compromise, to produce B on a given date. C appeared on that date and said that B had not come though told to do so, and that C was then acting only for himself:—Held, that (1) the compromise did not bind B; (2) the words purporting to express acceptance of all acts done by the mukhtar must be interpreted in the light of the powers previously specifically set forth. The power to compromise, like the power to withdraw the suit or confess judgment, was not ejusdem generis with the powers specifically set forth in the power-of-attorney. Power to refer to arbitration could not be likened to the power to compromise—(50 P.R. 1898, F.) (3) that C, never acted in the matter of the compromise on behalf of B, and A's signature on behalf of the other plaintiff could not bind B, as A held no power-of-attorney from B. BISHMA v. MUSSAMMAT RATTANI, 20 P.W.R. 1912.

Power-of-attorney—continued.

(8)—General and special power—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 37.—Where a plaint was presented by a person who held a power-of-attorney from the plaintiff, the power in question is stamped with a one rupee stamp, and after setting out that the principal was 80 years of age and unable to come to Court, it appoints the brother-in-law of the plaintiff, to speak on her behalf and to conduct the case as her representative, held (1) that the power in question is sufficiently general in its terms to cover the requirements of s. 37, Civ. Pro. Code, and that the question as to whether the power is general or special cannot be decided solely by the question of stamp duty; (2) that the plaint having been admitted and no objection taken to the representation of plaintiff by her agent the suit should not have been dismissed on this technical ground. MA TU v. MAUNG PU, 1 L.B.R. 98. (15 W.R. 245, 6 B.H.C. 159, F.)

(9)—Agent authorised to "sell, endorse and assign"—Agent's authority.—The payee of promissory notes of the East India Company, by a power-of-attorney, authorized his agents at Calcutta to "sell, endorse, and assign" the notes. These notes were transferable by endorsement payable to bearer. The agents, in their character of private bankers, borrowed money of the Bank of Bengal, offering, as security, these promissory notes. The Bank made the advance, and the agents endorsed the notes, such endorsement purporting to be as attorney for their Principal, and deposited them with the Bank, by way of collateral security for their personal liability, at the same time authorizing the Bank, in default of payment, to sell the notes in reimbursement of the advances. The agents afterwards became insolvent, and, default having been made in payment, the Bank sold the notes, and realized the amount of their loan. Held, that the endorsement of the notes by the agents of the payee to the Bank was within the scope of the authority given to them by the power of attorney, and that the payee could not recover in detinue against the Bank. THE BANK OF BENGAL v. MACLEOD, 5 M.I. A. 1. See also BANK OF BENGAL THE v. CHRISTOPHER GEORGE FAGAN, 5 M.I.A. 27.

(10)—Power-of-attorney—"Purchase, Sell, Endorse, and Transfer."—A joint and several power authorizing the holders "to purchase, sell, endorse, and transfer for the principal and in his name and on his behalf" all his shares in any public company or Society, would not justify them to enter into a contract embodied in bought and sold notes, agreeing to sell and to purchase sometime hence at an advanced rate on their account, certain shares, the bought and sold notes bearing the same date and being one transaction. JUMMA DASS v. ECKFORD, 9 C. 1.

(11)—Authority under power-of-attorney "to dispose of" property, whether includes power to pledge.—One S R purported to mortgage the property, in question, under a power-of-attorney executed to him which contained the following words:—"I do hereby authorise Mr. S R to dispose of my bungalows in the way he thinks proper." The mortgage was held to be ultra vires, so that the mortgagee acquired no interest whatsoever in the property. In the absence of authority, it could not be assumed that the word "dispose of" was used in any technical sense so as to include a power to mortgage and, as a rule, a power-of attorney should be construed strictly. MALUK CHAND GYANMAL v. SHAN MOGHAN VARDRAJ, 14 B. 590. [R., 6 C.L.J. 490.]

Power-of-attorney—continued.

(12)—Pledge of Government securities by agent for unauthorised loan—Suit for recovery of securities by Principal from transferee—Government securities—"Negotiation"—Where a person, who was authorized, jointly and severally with another, under a power-of attorney, to "negotiate, make sale, dispose of, assign and transfer" certain Government securities, pledged them for a certain advance for which he gave a pro-note, signing himself as attorney for the owner, held that the owner was entitled to recover the securities from the transferee, as the transaction was not authorized by the power. [R., 6 C.L.J. 490, U.B.R. 1902—1903, Vol. II, 3rd Quarter, Power-of-Attorney, 5.] Even granting the applicability of "negotiation" to Government securities, a power to "negotiate" them would not authorize an agent to do more than put them in the market and circulate them in the ordinary way or to endorse them, if necessary, in the name of the owner—Per White, J. A power to negotiate Government securities would authorize their negotiation by way of pledge. Per Garth, C.J. WATSON v. JONMENJOY COONDOO, 8 C. 934, on appeal 10 C. 901, P.C. (5 M.I.A. 27, R.) [R., 6 C.L.J. 490, U.B.R. 1902—1903, Vol. II, 3rd Quarter, Power-of-Attorney, 5.]

(13)—Power-of-attorney, Construction of—"Negotiation" of Government Notes—Power of attorney—Disjunctive construction of words.—Where a power-of-attorney authorized an agent to negotiate, sell, dispose of, assign and transfer certain Government notes deposited with him for safe custody, and to contract for and purchase or accept the transfer of fresh Government notes on the principal's behalf, and for such purposes to sign for the principal in such transactions, held, with respect to the general objects of the power, that the agent had no authority to pledge by indorsing one of the notes and borrowing money thereon for himself and in fraud of his principal, and that the lender of the money acquired no title to the note as against the principal. If a power to endorse had been expressly given, as in 5 M.I.A. 1 and 5 M.I.A. 27, it would perhaps have been in the power of the donee, at his discretion, to indorse the note, converting it into one payable to bearer for any purpose. 5 M.I.A. 1 and 5 M.I.A. 27 have not decided that the words in power-of-attorney are always to be construed disjunctively, though they may be so construed. A rule of construction, intended to aid in arriving at the meaning of the parties, may as well be applied in the construction of a power as in that of any other document. JONMENJOY COONDOO v. GEORGE ALDER WATSON, 10 C. 901, P.C. = 11 I.A. 94 = 4 Sar. 523. On appeal from, 3 C. 934. [R., U.B.R. 1902—1903, Vol. II, Power-of-attorney 5, 6 C.L.J. 490.]

Power-of-attorney—continued.

(14)—S. 5, Act I of 1879 (Stamp Act)—Power of attorney executed in England—Stamp.—It is not necessary for a Court in India to see whether a power of attorney, which has operation in this country, complies with the fiscal requirements of another country. If a power of attorney executed in England and intended to operate in British India be properly stamped according to the law in force in British India, the Courts in India need not inquire whether the same has been properly stamped according to the law of England. Even if a power of attorney had been intended to operate partly in British India and partly in England, the fact of its not being stamped in accordance with the English Law would not have rendered it invalid, in so far as it was intended to operate in British India, if the requirements of the Indian Law had been complied with. In the goods of MCADAM, 23 C. 187. (8 B.H.C. 169, F.)

(15)—Stamp Act—Power of attorney.—A document executed by a number of mirasdars of a village, authorizing the person in whose favour it is executed to recover for them Swatantrams and other continual income appertaining to their rights, is a power-of-attorney and must be stamped with a five rupees stamp. REFERENCE UNDER STAMP ACT, S. 46, 15 M. 386 F.B.

(16)—Option of holder to refuse to appear in suit against principal.—The holder of a power-of-attorney authorising him to appear and defend suits on behalf of his principal may refuse to appear in a suit against his principal and may or may not act upon the power. LUCHMEE CHUND v. THE BENGAL COAL COMPANY, LIMITED, 8 C. 317. [R., 26 C. 944.]

(17)—Power-of-attorney to receive money becoming due—Assignment.—A document authorizing a person to receive on behalf of another such sums as should become due in the course of execution of a contract for work is a power-of-attorney, and not an assignment. BHAGVANDAS KISHORDAS v. ABDUL HUSEIN MAHOMED ALI, 3 B. 49.

(18)—Principal and agent—Power of attorney from Bank—Private capacity—Rights of parties.—Where a Bank Manager purports to act under a power of attorney intended to be given to him in his private capacity, but addressed to him as "Acting Manager of the National Bank," by R, a constituent of the Bank, he cannot divest himself of his character of Bank Manager. Held also that, acting in the transaction as agent for both parties, the Manager acted with wilful unfairness between them to the prejudice of R and to the advantage of the Bank, and that there was in fact a breach of his duty to R to which the Bank was a party. F. BEER v. THE NATIONAL BANK OF INDIA, 19 W.R. 67.

Power-of-attorney—continued.

(19)—Power-of-attorney—Power given to creditor to collect moneys due and appropriate same towards his debts—Election by creditor to proceed to execute his decree debt—Right of such creditor to act under power-of-attorney.—A debtor executed a power-of-attorney in favour of his creditor authorising him to collect the moneys due to the debtor and appropriate the same towards the debts due. The power-of-attorney was not revocable except under certain circumstances. The debtor having revoked the power for reasons not mentioned therein, the creditor sued for a declaration that he was entitled to make the collections. The suit having failed, the plaintiff appealed. But, before filing the appeal, the plaintiff chose to execute a decree included in the power-of-attorney. Held that the plaintiff having elected to abandon his rights under the power of attorney and having taken out execution proceedings under his decree, he was disentitled to any relief on appeal in a suit based upon the power-of-attorney. Obiter.—The suit was barred by the proviso to s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act on the ground that the plaintiff ought to have claimed, in addition to the declaration which he asked for, payment to him by his debtor's creditor of moneys in the hands of the latter and payable to the debtor. JUGRATH SINGH v. MIR GULAM HUSSAIN, 10 M.L.J. 125.

(20)—Mortgage—Benamidar—Assignment of mortgage—Representatives of deceased mortgagee—Letters of administration, if obligatory in the case of Hindus—Power-of-attorney by executrix—Power of executrix to perform discretionary duties through attorneys—Is "mortgage" a thing?—No distinction between a power by statute and power by will—Requisite in India of delegation of agency—Execution of deeds by attorney under principal's approval—Verbal authority—Ut res majis valeat quam pareat—Sufficient release.—The widow of a Hindu sufficiently represents her deceased husband when there is no other person, short of obtaining letters of administration to his estate, who can be said to represent his estate. It is not obligatory on a Hindu heir to obtain letters of administration to the estate of the last owner. A power-of-attorney contained, amongst others, the power to sell and convert into money "the goods, effects and things belonging to" the principal; held, that the word "things" in the power included mortgages as being things in action, there being nothing in the deed which suggested that the things were to be limited to "choses-in-possession" and not to "choses-in-action;" held,—further that the mortgages were capable of being transferred by the attorney. An executrix is not competent to exercise the power of sale given by statute or will, by an attorney; there is no distinction between a power given by statute and a power given by a will. A power-of-attorney, in so far as it delegates to an attorney power to exercise the discretion vested in an executrix, is void. But where the executrix granting the power was actually present when certain deeds or transfer were executed, and her attorney had consulted her in all the dealings and she approved of the same, and thereafter, the attorney executed the documents under her approval, and where the documents executed did not express whether they were executed under a power given in writing or under verbal instructions, held, that the case fell within the legal maxim of ut res majis valeat quam pareat and that it must be taken that the attorney executed the document under the express verbal authority given to him by the executrix principal. JOGENDRA CHUNDER DUTT v. APURNA DASSI, 13 C.W. N. 1190=3 Ind. Cas. 859.

Power-of-attorney—continued.

(21)—Execution of document by attorney—Power of attorney to several persons—Name of principal signed by one attorney—Document attested by the other attorneys.—A executed a power of attorney by which, for the purpose of paying of certain debts payable by him, he authorised B, C and D "to borrow money to the extent of the amount which is payable by me, to sign for me, to execute a document on my behalf, to hypothecate my property and to get the document registered." Subsequently a mortgage bond was executed which was signed by B on behalf of A and attested by C and D amongst others. The bond was executed and registered with the consent of B, C and D. Held, that it was not necessary that the three agents should have signed the name of A. Held, further, that, although, when an authority is given to two or more persons jointly, all the agents must concur in the execution of it in order to bind the principal in the absence of a provision that some alone shall form a quorum, yet, in the case of an authority given in the terms in which the authority was framed in this case, if all the agents concurred in the execution of it, one of the agents with the consent of the others writing the name of the principal and the others attesting the execution, the requirements of law were satisfied, it being impossible for the co-agents to sign the name of the principal jointly. NAND DULAREY LAL v. CHAND BEHARI LAL, 6 A.L. J. 462=2 Ind. Cas. 805.

(22)—Stamp Act (II of 1889), s. 2 (21), s. 60, sch. I, art. 48 (g)—Power-of-attorney—Duty chargeable thereon—Document authorising holder to appear and do all acts necessary for execution of decree.—A document authorising the holder, who is not a certificated mukhtar or pleader, to appear and do all acts necessary for the execution of a decree transferred from the Punjab to Cawnpore for execution, is a power-of-attorney within the meaning of s. 2 (21) of the Stamp Act, and chargeable as such with the duty of one rupee as provided by art. 48 (g), of sch. I. Vakalatnamas and Mukhtar-namas, as provided for in art. 10 of sch. II to the Court Fees Act, are excluded from the definition of the expression 'power-of-attorney.' PARMANAND v. SAT PRASAD, 8 A.L.J. 378, F.B.

Power-of-attorney—continued.

(23)—Power of attorney—Authority—Agreement to give reward to vakil in case of success—Public policy.—Where a woman gave a power of attorney on behalf of her minor son to a certain person in order to enable him to represent the party to the suit in all judicial proceedings to the same extent as the party himself, if present, might be permitted or called upon to do, held that such power did not authorize the attorney to enter into a special agreement with a vakil to pay a minimum reward of Rs. 4,000, and, in case of success, a reward proportional to the amount awarded. Quære:—Whether such an agreement with the vakil is not opposed to public policy and so illegal? RAV SAHEB V. N. MANDLIK v. KAMALJABAI, 10 B.H.C. 26.

(24)—Extent of authority of advocates under.—It may be doubted whether in the absence of special authority, an advocate is entitled to admit the claim of the opposite party, and in any case an advocate incurs grave responsibility if, without fully explaining to his clients the course which he proposes to adopt and getting their explicit sanction to its adoption, he abandons their case entirely and consents to a decree for the full claim of the opposite party. (27 C. 433, R.) It is not the practice of this Court and should not be the practice of any subordinate Court to allow advocates to expect cases to be adjourned as a matter of course merely because they are unable to attend being engaged elsewhere. It is ordinarily the duty of an advocate to be present or to make suitable arrangements for the conduct of the case. MAUNG LAT v. MAUNG TOK, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 527.

(25)—Advocate.—It is a recognized practice, and is not contrary to law, for an advocate who is prevented by sufficient cause, such as sickness or engagement in another Court, from appearing and conducting a case, to transfer his brief orally to another advocate. In the matter of an application by N. N. GOSH, U.B.R. 1902—1903, Vol. II, Power-of-attorney, 1. (9 A. 613, 20 B. 293, 22 B. 654, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 527, R.)

(25-a)—Power-of-attorney—Construction to be strict—Power to transfer decree—Necessity of existence of language to support such power.—Where, in a power-of-attorney, there was a clause relating to the realisation of the decrees in these terms, viz.—"To execute all decrees in the name of my father or in any other name on my behalf or otherwise to attach and realise all moneys due thereon." Held, that the clause did not authorise transfer of decrees. A power-of-attorney has to be construed strictly. It is necessary to find any power contended for within the four corners of the instrument. S.T.P.L. PALANIAPPA CHETTIAR v. T.R.M.A.R.R. M. ARUNACHALAM CHET-

Power-of-attorney—continued.

TIAR, 12 M.L.T. 528=23 M.L.J. 595=M.W. N. 1912, 1204=17 Ind. Cas. 139. (1893, A.C. 170, R.)

(26)—Power of attorney—What is a general or special—Legal nature of a document—Not dependent on stamp duty paid.—The legal nature of a document must be determined by its contents, and not by the value of the stamp duty paid on it. A person who is authorised to execute all deeds, sign all contracts, etc., is a general agent. When a power of attorney authorises a person to do all things and take all steps which may be necessary to complete the execution of a decree, it must be regarded as a general power of attorney. VENKATARAMANA IYER v. N. G. NARASINGA ROW, M.W.N. 1913, 72=13 M.L.T. 114=24 M.L.J. 180.

(27)—Power of attorney—Am-muktearnamah—Pardanashin lady—Authority to husband—Power to execute deed of sale, whether includes power to execute agreement for sale—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), ss. 22, 27, cl. (c)—Transferee without notice—Notice to some of transferees, members of joint Mitakshara family, whether good—Specific relief, grant of—Discretion of Court.—A power given to an attorney to execute deeds of sale, does not authorize him to enter into an agreement for sale. A notice to some of the transferees who are members of a joint Mitakshara family, in the absence of anything to show that those to whom the notice was given were entitled to represent the others, is not sufficient notice within cl. (c) of s. 27 of the Specific Relief Act. A contract for sale of land was made with a pardanashin Mahomedan lady through her husband who was her attorney. The purchase-money, although not insufficient, was considerably less than what was paid by a subsequent purchaser. The authority of the husband to bind the lady was not proved. The variation of the time at which the contract was to be performed was not shown to have been assented to by the lady herself. Held, that the Court may properly refuse to enforce the contract for sale. JANKI PERSHAD SINGH v. YAHIA HOSSAIN, 13 Ind. Cas. 637=16 C.L.J. 119.

(28)—Persons residing within jurisdiction—Appearance by agent—Power of attorney.—The proviso added to s. 17 of Act VIII of 1859 being in general terms, applies as well to persons living within as to persons living outside jurisdiction. A person living within jurisdiction may, therefore, appear by an agent generally appointed to appear for him not being a pleader or a party to the same suit. DEVEE CHAND v. G. PLOWDEN, 26 P.R. 1867.

(29)—Mukhtarnama—Vakalatnama—Mukhtar and Mukhtarnama defined—Court Fees Act, art. 10 of sch. II—Stamp Act (II of 1889), s. 60 and art. 43 of sch. I—Case defined—Construction of statutes.—Held, that a power-of-attorney (Mukhtarnama) empowering a person who is neither a vakil nor a certificated Mukhtar of a Court to represent another in a Civil

Power-of-attorney—continued.

Court, not being a Presidency Small Cause Court, is governed by art. 10 of sch. II to the Court Fees Act and not by art. 48 of the 1st sch. to the Stamp Act, II of 1899 (33 A. 487, Diss.) Obiter:—Held, also that:—1. A Mukhtar is an attorney, whether appointed specially or generally, or certificated as a Legal Practitioner, and Mukhtarnama is a document which empowers him to act for the person by, or on whose behalf the document is executed. 2. The use of the word 'case' in the Court Fees Act is confined to judicial cases or quasi judicial cases as opposed to transactions. 3. The first and most elementary rule of construction of a statute is that it is to be assumed that the words or phrases are used in their technical meaning if they have acquired one, and in their popular meaning if they have not. GANPAT V. PREM SINGH, 108 P.W.R. 1912=202 P.L.R. 1912=15 Ind. Cas. 122.

This circular declares that the general power of attorney is to be produced on each occasion of various persons acting under it. Rev. Cir. No. 7, 25 W.R. Rev. Cir. 9.

Offer to be bound by opposite party's oath, persons entitled to make—Power-of-attorney empowering agent to act in suit, whether authorises agents to make offer—See ACT X OF 1873, s. 9, 14 B. 455.

Grant of—to exercise right of Shrotriendar under Rent Recovery Act—Power coupled with interest irrevocable—Acceptance by tenants of pattas tendered by Shrotriendar with knowledge of grantee's right—Subsequent tender of pattas by grantee—Refusal thereof by tenants—Suit by grantee to enforce acceptance of pattas—Maintainability of—See MAD. ACT VIII OF 1865, 28 M. 301=16 M.L.J. 143.

Dismissal of appeal presented by agent under unstamped power of attorney—See APPEAL—DISMISSAL OF APPEAL, 15 C.P.L.R. 65.

See BUDDHIST LAW—ALIENATION, L. B. R. 1893—1900, 37.

Construction of—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXX, r. 10, 10 Ind. Cas. 895.

Construction of—See DEED—CONSTRUCTION OF DEEDS, 6 C.L.J. 490.

See EVIDENCE—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 W.R. P.C. 61=1 M.I.A. 494.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss. 3, 57, 14 C. 176.

By executors, proof of, by means of declaration of attesting witnesses before notary public—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 85, 21 M. 492.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 85, 16 C. 776.

Executed before and authenticated by a Notary—Court may call for further evidence to prove execution and authentication—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss. 85 and 114, 9 C.W. N. 986=33 C. 625.

No—is necessary to institute suit on behalf of the Secretary of State for India—See GOVERNMENT, 160 P.L.R. 1905=84 P.R. 905.

Power-of-attorney—continued.

Vakalatnamah—Power to receive documents—General and special power—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER—GENERAL, 3 C.L.R. 13.

Effect of general power—See PARDANASHIN WOMAN, 3 Ind. Cas. 330=12 C.L.J. 115.

See PARDHANASHIN WOMAN, A.W.N. 1883, 24.

See PARTNERSHIP—RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF PARTNERS, 62 P.R. 1873.

Verification of plaint by person holding general—See PLAINT—VERIFICATION AND SIGNATURE, 4 B. 468.

Nazul land, in Oudh, suit for possession of—Burden of proof—Lord Canning's proclamation of 15th March 1858, effect of—Signed by Deputy Collector for Deputy Commissioner, presumption as to—See POSSESSION—SUITS FOR POSSESSION, 7 O.C. 65.

Declaration as to execution of power of attorney, before the Chief Magistrate, Glasgow—Certificate by Notary Public—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 22 C. 491.

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—GENERAL, 1 O.C. 159.

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—AUTHORITY OF AGENT, 10 B. 18.

Construction of—Act done under it challenged as in excess of authority conferred by power—Proof—See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—MISCELLANEOUS, 6 C.L.J. 639.

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—MISCELLANEOUS, A.W.N. 1882, 39.

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, ss. 17, 19, 3 B. 312.

To recover rents and profits of immoveable property, whether created a charge on it—not stamped with stamp required for document creating equitable charge—Non-compliance with provisions of Registration Act—Immoveable property not affected—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, ss. 17, 21, 49, 7 C.L.J. 149=12 C.W.N. 316=35 C. 845.

Registration of—Necessity of, to give validity to registration—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, ss. 32, 33, 87, A.W.N. 1906, 195=3 A.L.J. 743.

Not executed before Sub-Registrar—Authentication—Validity of presentation of document by the attorney—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 33, 7 A.L.J. 157=32 A. 179=5 Ind. Cas. 766.

Registration—Presentation of document by agent under defective—Validity of registration—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, ss. 33, 49, 60, 87, 4 A. 384.

Execution of single power of attorney by several persons—No common interest—Validity—See STAMP ACT, 1879, s. 7, 2 M.L.J. 178, F.B.

Power-of-attorney—concluded.

See STAMP ACT, 1879, sch. I, art. 50, cl. (b), 9 M. 358.

In favour of person not a certificated mukhtar or pleader—Stamp—See STAMP ACT, 1899, s. 2 (21), sch. I, art. 489, 9 Ind. Cas. 617.

Stamp duty applicable to—See STAMP ACT, 1899, sch. I, art. 48 (d), 3 Bom. L.R. 697, 890.

Power of Court.

(1)—Judge's power to control his Court premises—Power to exclude a general body of persons from Court.—A Judge has a right to control his Court premises in any manner which is most convenient to the public and the persons working there, but he cannot pass any general order excluding as a general body from his Court, any portion of the community behaving in an orderly manner. In the matter of the petition of KHODA BUX KHAN, 15 C. 638.

(2)—Judge's opinion—New enactment—Practice.—Notwithstanding the fact that in the opinion of the Judge, the sudden operation of a new enactment, e.g., the Limitation Act IX of 1871, would work hard in any particular case, he must still give effect only to the law as he finds it. JIBHAI MAHIPATI v. PARBHU BABU, 1 B. 59. [R., 3 B. 193, 16 B. 91.]

(3)—Power to extend time—Umpire—Arbitration.—A Court has power to extend the period within which an umpire may give in his decision, just as it may in the case of an arbitrator. KUPU v. VENKATRAMAYYAR, 4 M. 311.

(4)—Inherent jurisdiction of Court.—The Court has inherent jurisdiction to correct an abuse of its process. In the matter of the petition of POONA KOOER, 1 C. 101=24 W.R. 306. [R., 2 C.L.J. 306.]

To take into consideration facts subsequent to commencement of partition suit as death of a party to suit, etc.—See HINDU LAW—PARTITION, 16 M. 350=3 M.L.J. 137.

Local investigation, parties unwilling to have—Power of Court to direct it—See LOCAL INVESTIGATION, 12 C. 45.

Suit for exclusive possession—Power of Court to grant decree for joint possession—Circumstances under which such power will or will not be exercised—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, A.W.N. 1893, 196.

Power of Sale.

See MORTGAGE—SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY.

Instalment bond hypothecating land as security—given to creditor on default of payment—Suit to recover debt by sale of hypotheca—Limitation Act, art. 147—Personal remedy against mortgagor—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 147, 14 B. 377.

See MORTGAGE—CONSTRUCTION OF MORTGAGE DEEDS, 16 B. 303, 17 B. 425.

Express words unnecessary to confer power—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, ss. 58 (b), 100, 13 A. 28=A.W.N. 1890, 216.

Powers, Trustees' and Mortgagees' Act.

See ACT XXVIII OF 1866.

Practice and Procedure.

See APPEAL—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.

See APPELLATE COURT—OBJECTIONS FIRST TAKEN IN APPEAL.

See BELCHAMBERS RULES AND ORDERS.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, Or. VI and XI.

See FRAUD—PLEADINGS AS TO FRAUD.

See INSPECTION OF DOCUMENTS.

See INTERROGATORIES.

See PLAINT.

See PLEADINGS.

See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF.

See REVIEW—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.

See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE IN SPECIAL APPEAL

See VARIANCE BETWEEN PLEADINGS AND PROOF.

See WRITTEN STATEMENT.

(1)—Act X of 1877 (Civ. Pro. Code, s. 3.—The word "procedure" in the Civ. Pro. Code of 1877, s. 3, has not the same meanings as "proceedings" in s. 6 of Act I of 1868. "Procedure" implies the machinery by which proceedings are conducted; and this, after decree, is provided by the New Code, although the proceedings may have been instituted under the Old Code. Per Garth, C.J. RUNJIT SINGH v. MEHERBAN KOER, 3 C. 662=2 C.L.R. 391, F.B. [R., 4 C. 825=3 C.L.R. 593.]

(2)—Rules of procedure, how far to be followed.—Rules of procedure are applicable to all ordinary legal means, and in such application cannot be modified by equitable considerations; this results from there being rules of public law. They, by no means, however, exclude those extraordinary legal means which are the offspring of the principle that fraud cannot be permitted to prevail. KRISHNAJI KESAVA PUNDIT v. SUBBAROYA TAKKER, 7 M.H.C. 387. [R., 4 B. 594.]

(3)—Provisions of law clear—Competency of Court to enter into questions of natural justice.—When the provisions of law are clear, it is not competent to Courts of justice to enter into questions of "natural justice," and, having regard to the economy and social conditions of the country, the provision that the Government should be the sole Judge of what is likely to prove useful to the public is both expedient and reasonable. EZRA v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE, 30 C. 36=7 C.W.N. 249. [Affirmed, 32 C. 605, P.C.=9 C.W.N. 454=1 C.L.J. 227=2 A.L.J. 771=7 Bom. L.R. 422.]

(4)—Equitable consideration no guide.—For the application of equitable considerations, there is, as a rule, no room in matters of procedure. DEBI DAYAL SAHOO v. BHAN PERTAP SINGH, 31 C. 433=8 C.W.N. 408.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(5)—Absence of statutory law — Burmese Courts—Practice.—The Burmese Courts are directed, in the absence of any statutory law applicable to the case, to follow the guidance of justice, equity and good conscience. KADIR MOIDIN v. NEPEAN, 26 C. 1, P.C. = 2 C W.N. 665 = 25 I.A. 241 = 7 Sar. 394.

(6)—Adverse order—Notice to show cause—Practice.—No order affecting a party should be passed without calling upon him to show cause why it should not be passed. SIRAJ-UL-HAQ v. KHADIM HUSSAIN, 5 A. 380 = A.W.N. 1883, 60.

(7)—Order to a man's prejudice not to be made without giving him an opportunity of being heard.—It is an elementary principle which is binding on all persons who exercise judicial or quasi-judicial powers, that an order should not be made against a man's interest without there being given to him an opportunity of being heard. MAHARAJ KUMAR v. MOHUNT GANESH DAS, 8 Bom. L.R. 719 = 10 C.W.N. 969 = 4 C.L.J. 177 = 33 C. 1178 = 16 M.L.J. 365 = 3 A.L.J. 698 = 33 I.A. 134, P.C.

(8)—Practice — Omission to hear parties in support of, or against an application.—Held, that, where the 1st Court passes an order accepting or rejecting an application made by a party, without calling upon the parties to urge what they have to say for or against it, the appellate Court should set aside that order and remand the case for fresh decision after hearing the objection and evidence of both parties. NARPAT RAI v. DEVI DAS, 17 P.W. R. 1912 = 14 Ind. Cas 379.

(9)—Judgment — Court of first instance—Appeal Court.—It is much to be desired that in appealable cases the Courts below should, as far as may be practicable, pronounce their opinion on all the important points. This applies at least as forcibly to the Court of first instance as to the Court of appeal. WASANTRAO v. ANANDRAO, 6 Bom. L.R. 925.

(10)—Difficulty in carrying out decree — Decree to be passed all the same.—A Court should not be deterred from making a necessary decree from the difficulties to be expected in carrying it out. PURAPPAVANALINGAM CHETTI v. NALLASIVAN CHETTI, 1 M.H.C. 415. [R., 29 M. 1; D., 32 M. 167 = 19 M.L.J. 59 = 2 Ind. Cas. 341 = 4 M.L.T. 486.]

(11)—Ben. Reg. XXVI of 1814, s. 10 — Declaration in decree—Points not recorded by the Court.—It is beyond the power of the Court to make a declaration in a decree, upon a point not recorded in the issues, as required by Ben. Reg. XXVI, s. 10, of 1814. RANEE COWULBAS KOONWUR v. BABOO LOLL BAHADOOR SINGH, 9 M.I.A. 39 = 1 Sar. 831.

(12)—Practice—Judge's reasons to be recorded.—A High Court should record the grounds of its decision in a case which is appealed to the Privy Council. The Letters Patent of 1862, creating the High Court of Judicature of Madras (s. 42), provide that the reasons given by the Judges of their decision should, on appeal to England, be transmitted with the record for the information at the hearing by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, which direction it is the bounden duty of the Judges to comply with. KACHEKALYANA RUNGAPPA KALAKKA TOLA UDIAR v. KACHIVIGA JAYA RUNGAPPA KALAKKA TOLA UDIAR, 2 B.L.R. P.C. 72 = 12 M.I.A. 495 = 11 W.R. P.C. 33 = 2 Suther 206 = 2 Sar. 461.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(13)—Trial of case—Evidence — Reason for belief—Omission to give reason for not believing evidence.—Where the lower appellate Court was directed by the High Court to try a particular point, viz., whether the plaintiff had proved actual possession within twelve years of suit, and the Court, in dealing with the evidence, observed that it would not rely on private documents and on the witnesses, as "they were not of much importance and were easily proved," and rejected survey papers coming from proper custody, as being papers easy to alter and therefore not reliable, the High Court, in remanding the case, held that this was a most improper mode of treating the evidence. If the Court disbelieved particular witnesses or refused to receive certain documents, it should have given its reasons for the refusal with reference to these documents in particular or for its disbelief of the particular witnesses, and not with reference to documents or witnesses in general. CHANDRA MADHAB ROY v. KHEMAMANI DAS, 1 B.L.R.S.N. 19.

(14)—Variation of orders—Court—Orders—Orders can be varied before they are finally signed.—The Court has jurisdiction over its own orders and it is its own duty to see that they are properly drawn up and if any manifest error is brought to its notice before the order is formally drawn up, then it not only can but must correct it, instead of putting the parties to the fresh expense and trouble of applying for a review. It is only after an order has been formally drawn up and signed that the jurisdiction of the Court to correct the error suo motu without a formal application by way of petition for review ceases. IRAPPA v. BHIMAPPA, 4 Bom. L.R. 909.

(15)—Judgment based on an erroneous assumption—Court's power to re-open it—Government—Grant of revenue of a village—Grantee can bring under cultivation—Uncultivated or unassessed land and profit by it.—Where a judgment is based upon an assumption or hypothesis which is ascertained to be erroneous, the Court can disregard it and re-open that portion of the case affected by the error. BALWANT R. NATU v. SECRETARY OF STATE, 10 Bom. L.R. 531 = 32 B. 432.

(16)—Order made under mistake or misapprehension—Proper course for the party affected by such order.—In a case in which the order is made under a mistake or misapprehension, it must be taken that, on a proper representation being made to their Lordships of the Privy Council, they will make the necessary alteration or modification in their order which the justice of the case would seem to require. PREMLALL MULLICK v. SUMBHOONATH ROY, 22 C. 960.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(17)—Errors due to oversight—Court which passed the decree should be made aware of the errors—Pleadings.—It is at all times open to pleaders, and it is their duty to bring to the notice of the Court at the time any error that may be attributable to oversight instead of taking the case to an appeal for its correction. VENKATRAO v. MANJUNATH, 5 Bom. L.R. 673.

(18)—Mutual mistake—Suit for rectification barred—Defence allowable.—Even when a suit for rectification of an instrument on the ground of mutual mistake would be barred by limitation, the defence of the same party based on such ground would be allowable. MAHENDRA NATH MUKERJEE v. JOGENDRA NATH CHOWDHURY, 2 C.W.N. 260. [F, 30 B. 395 = 8 Bom. L.R. 296.]

(19)—Mistake in drawing up decree—Wrong judgment and decree—Remedy.—Where it was alleged for the appellant before the Privy Council that the Judges of the three Courts below were mistaken in saying that a certain bond had not been set up by him in a previous litigation, whereas in fact it had been so set up, and that the decree was wrong in not dealing with it, it was held by the Judicial Committee that the decree might have been corrected if not in accordance with the judgment, or appealed against when both judgment and decree were wrong; and that their Lordships could not go behind such decree, where neither of these courses had been adopted. SRI GOPAL v. PIRTHI SINGH, 24 A. 429, P.C. = 6 C.W.N. 889 = 4 Bom. L.R. 827 = 29 I.A. 118 = 8 Sar. 293.

(20)—Inoperative order—Duty of Court.—To proceed, so far as the practice of his Court will allow him, to recall and cancel an invalid order is not simply permitted to, but is the duty of a Judge, who should always be vigilant not to allow the Act of the Court itself to do wrong to the suitor. It would be a serious injury to the suitor himself to suffer him to execute an inoperative order. SYUD TUFFAZAL HOSSEIN KHAN v. RAGHUNATH PRASAD, 7 B.L.R. 186, P.C. = 14 M.L.A. 40 = 2 Suther 434 = 2 Sar. 656 = R and J.'s No. 10 (Oudh). [R., Rat. Un. Cr. C. 137, 28 A. 671 = 3 A.L.J. 459 = A.W.N. 1906, 183. 36 C. 193 = 5 C.L.J. 611; D., 29 M. 126 = 16 M.L.J. 79 = 1 M.L.T. 31, 34 C. 677 = 6 C.L.J. 84 = 11 C.W.N. 803.]

(21)—Practice—Amendment of order—Inherent power of Courts in India—S. 152, Civ. Pro. Code (1908)—Attachment—Wrongful seizure—Withdrawal by direction of law—Sheriff's right to poundage. The Courts in India have the same inherent power, as the Courts in England, to amend or vary a perfected order, when they find that the judgment as drawn up does not correctly state, what the Court actually decided and intended, even if the matter does not fall within s. 152, Civ.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Pro. Code (1908) (corresponding to O. XXVIII, r. II, English Supreme Court Rules). Where there was no levy but only a seizure, and where the seizure was wrongful and with drawn by direction of law, the sheriff receives no poundage. BRIJARATAN v. JAYANARAIN, 37 C. 649 = 7 Ind. Cas. 876.

(22)—Abuse of process—Inherent Jurisdiction of Court.—The Court has inherent jurisdiction to correct an abuse of its process.—In the matter of the Petition of POONA KOOER, 1 C. 101 = 24 W.R. 376. [R., 2 C.L.J. 306.]

(23)—Delay, how far a bar to legal remedy.—Mere delay is no bar to a legal remedy unless it amounts to a waiver or abandonment of the right sought to be enforced or to acquiescence of the act complained of. KAZI MAHAMAD v. NAROTAM, 9 Bom. L.R. 1117.

(24)—Proceedings on Sunday, whether void—Lord's Day Act—Application to India.—A Munsif went on an inspection on Sunday. While there the parties entered into a compromise which was recorded by him and a decree passed on the spot. Held, that the proceedings of the Munsif were not vitiated by the fact that they were taken on a Sunday. Lord's Day Act does not apply to India. SHEORAM TIWARI v. THAKUR PRASAD, 5 A.L.J. 106 = A.W.N. 1908, 43 = 3 M.L.T. 211 = 30 A. 136. (7 M.H.C. 285, R.)

(25)—Procedure—Special Procedure—Legislature.—Where a special procedure is provided for extraordinary extrajudicial methods of settling dispute claims, semble, that it was the intention of the legislature that that procedure and no other was to be followed. RUKHANBAI v. ADAMJI SHAIK RAJBHAN, 10 Bom. L.R. 366 = 33 B. 69.

(26)—Right to begin—Defendants supporting plaintiff must begin before defendants opposing him—Plaintiff, meaning of—Civ. Pro. Code, (Act XIV of 1882), ss. 26, 179, 180—Judicature Act, 1873, s. 130.—If some of the defendants in a suit support wholly or partly the plaintiff's case, they must address the Court and call their evidence before the defendants, really opposed to the plaintiff's case, commence their case. The word "plaintiff" means every person asking relief against another person. Haji Bibi v. H. H. Sir Sultan Mahomed Shah, 10 Bom. L.R. 327 = 32 C. 599.

(27)—Summons—Non-service of the summons—Practice and Procedure.—Where a party to a suit is not to blame for the non-service of the summons on his witnesses the Court is not justified in refusing to issue fresh summons. MUDGALLACHARYA v. RADHABAI, 1 Bom. L.R. 859.

(28)—Summons, service of.—The service of summons on a person through the Presidency Small Cause Court of Bombay, was held not proper where no signature or mark of his was affixed on the original copy of the summons, on the ground he could not write. MAJI v. AMBI, 8 Bom. L.R. 584.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(29)—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 41, 97, 272, 327—Act XI of 1865, s. 32—Confession of judgment—Discretion of Judge.—Where a defendant voluntarily appears in Court, the necessity for serving a summons is dispensed with; and where he further admits the claim, the plaintiff is entitled to a decree as of the date of such appearance and confession. The Court has no other course than at once to give judgment for the plaintiff, provided it is satisfied of the identity of the defendant or that the Advocate who appears for him is duly instructed. No question of fraudulent preference can then be gone into (Per Markby, J.). Where, on the presentation of the plaint, the defendant appears and confesses judgment, the Judge is not obliged to hear the defendant at that time, but is at liberty to fix a date for hearing, and to refuse to hear him until that date arrives; every Judge having a discretion, where an agreement has been come to or judgment confessed, to decide the suit at once according to such agreement or confession (Per Jackson, J.). BANK OF BENGAL v. CURRIE & CO., 3 B.L.R. A.C. 396 = 12 W.R. 432.

(30)—Notice to respondents — Duty of appellant—Re-issue of notices, when to be ordered.—It is the duty of an appellant to watch the progress of the service of notices on the respondents and to supply all needful information to the serving officer to complete it. In the present case, no sufficient grounds appeared to require the Court to assent to the re-issue of notices on the respondents. Before such notices can be re-issued, an application must have been made, with that view, detailing the ground on which the application has been made. RAM LOCHUN SIRCAR SURBURKAR v. PRITHEE RAM CHOWDHRY, 2 W.R. Mis. 37.

(31)—Practice—Order under s. 88, Transfer of Property Act.—In cases under s. 88, Transfer of Property Act, the Court should be careful to draw up the order strictly in accordance with the law. WAJAHAN alias ALIJAN v. BISHWANANTH PERSHAD, 18 C. 462.

(32)—Court of law—Obstacles to creditors getting payments—Execution according to law—No Court of law would show any desire to throw obstacles in the way of creditors obtaining payment of their just claims. At the same time, the Court must insist that creditors, in executing their decrees, shall proceed in a legal and proper manner. In the matter of SHARD, 28 C. 574.

(33)—Jurisdiction—Allegation in plaint to change venue—Allegation false—Procedure.—Where the Court of first instance thinks that an allegation in a plaint is falsely made for the purpose of avoiding the jurisdiction of the Small Cause Court, the proper course for the Court is to require the plaintiff to satisfy it that the allegation is bona fide and not merely colorable to change the venue. APPARAO v. SOBHANADRI RAO, 24 M. 158.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(34)—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 4—Suit upon bond—Place of execution of document to be distinctly stated.—In all applications under s. 4 of Act XXIII of 1861 in suits brought upon a bond or other documents, the place at which the document was executed must be distinctly stated. PROCEEDINGS, 10th AUGUST, 1874, 7 M.H.C. App. 34.

(35)—Camp inquiry—Necessity for informing time and place of inquiry in Camp.—It is not enough that a party should be informed that a case will be taken up in camp. The place where it will be taken up and the date must be made known to him. WARLIA v. NAKKU TELI, 5 C.P.L.R. 96.

(36)—Petition sent by post, Court not bound to attend to.—In this case, there had been received by post a petition purporting to be sent by both parties, stating that they desired to refer the question at issue between them to arbitration. The High Court, nevertheless, disposed of the case ignoring the petition on the ground that a petition sent by post could not be attended to by the Court. SHUBBUN v. MUSUMAT JEONEE, 2 N.W.P. 108.

(37)—Application—Continuation of proceedings.—The Court looks at the substance of the manner, and if it finds that the proceeding before it can only be regarded with justice to the parties as a continuation of the original application which has never come to an end, then instead of investigating any question of limitation it holds that it is not a fresh application, but a continuation of the original application and so within time. MAHOMED v. BASHE-TAPPA, 7 Bom L.R. 819.

(38)—Suit by creditor on behalf of others—Leave to sue—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 30.—A suit by a creditor on behalf of other creditors is maintainable only with the leave of the Court obtained prior to institution of the suit. Such leave cannot be granted at the hearing. The word "parties" in s. 30 means "persons." THE ORIENTAL BANK CORPORATION v. GO-BIND LALL SEAL, 9 C. 604 = 13 C.L.R. 142. [R., 10 C.W.N. 449; Compare, 23 M. 28, M. 399 and 21 B. 784.]

(39)—Summary suit on promissory note—Power to extend time for defendant to apply for leave to defend.—The High Court has power to extend the time within which a defendant in a summary suit, on a promissory note, can come in and obtain leave to defend. GROOM v. WILSON, 3 C. 539. [D., 5 C.W.N. 259.]

(40)—Setting down case in general cause list—Duty of Registrar.—Where an attorney for the defendants has entered appearance on behalf of the defendants, the Court has power to set the cause down at once in the general cause list for hearing, although the time within which to appear granted to them by the summons has not expired. When an attorney enters appearance for a defendant before the expiry of the time mentioned in the summons, it is the duty of the Registrar to put it down immediately in the cause list or at all events he ought to ask the Judge whether he should do so or not. CUMMING v. GREEN, 4 B.L.R. App. 75.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(41)—Revenue Courts—Open days—Plaint.—Revenue Courts have no authority to specify certain days on which plaints shall not be received. GOBIND KUMAR CHOWDHRY v. HARGOPAL NAG, 3 B.L.R. App. 72.

(42)—Decree—Maintenance.—In decrees where maintenance is awarded Courts should insert words which would enable them to review and set aside or modify their orders as circumstances might require, and in such cases when the reduction in the amount of maintenance is sought, the remedy would be the more appropriate one by application for review of judgment. GOPIKABAI v. DATTATRAYA, 2 Bom. L.R. 191 = 24 B. 386.

(43)—Maintenance—Privy Council does not interfere in questions as to the amount of.—It is not the practice of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to interfere in a question as to the amount of maintenance. KACHI KALIYANA v. KACHI YUVA, 7 Bom. L.R. 907 = 2 C. L.J. 231, P.C. = 28 M. 508 = 10 C.W.N. 95 = 15 M.L.J. 312 = 2 A.L.J. 845 = 32 I.A. 261 = 8 Sar. 855.

(44)—Court taking point of limitation.—If, upon the facts, it is clear that a suit is barred by limitation, the Court may, of its own motion, take the point and dismiss the suit. DEO NARAIN CHOWDHURY v. WEBB, 28 C. 86 = 5 C.W.N. 160. [R., 34 C. 941, F.B. = 11 C.W.N. 959 = 6 C.L.J. 237, 7 C.L.J. 152.]

(45)—Judge's opinion—New enactment—Practice.—Notwithstanding the fact that in the opinion of the Judge, the sudden operation of a new enactment, e.g., the Limitation Act IX of 1871, would work hard in any particular case, he must still give effect only to the law as he finds it. JIBHAI MAHIPATI v. PARBHU BAPU, 1 B. 59. [R., 3 B. 193, 16 B. 91.]

(46)—Proceedings in competent Court erroneously taken in enforcement of ineffectual orders.—Applicability of exception in s. 4 of Reg. III of 1793.—The respondent in this case had been continually endeavouring by resort to competent Courts to recover his rights, and on that ground, he was held to be entitled to the benefit of the exception in the previous law of limitation (Reg. III of 1793, s. 14). It did not matter that the order which he was seeking to enforce was itself ineffectual by reason of its having been passed by a single Judge of the Sudder Court and confirmed by a second Judge. Such erroneous proceedings could not amount to a total abandonment of his rights under his decree. A decree for possession only cannot be added to by single Judge's order for wassilat. DOORGAPERSAUD ROY CHOWDRY v. TARAPERSAUD ROY CHOWDRY, 4 W.R.P.C. 63 = 8 M.I.A. 308. [R., 9 W.R. 402, 3 C. 654 = 1 C.L.R. 499 = 5 I.A. 31, P.C., D, 7 W.R. 327.]

(47)—Order made out of time—Notice to the judgment-debtor—Right of third party to question.—Where an order, which was said to have had the effect of reviving the decree, was made out of time, though no notice to the judgment-debtor, held there was nothing to prevent a third party questioning the propriety of that order though the parties to the suit might be precluded from doing so. TINCOWAREE DAWU v. DEBENDRONATH MOOKERJEE, 17 C. 191. (6 C. 504, doubted.)

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(48)—Two suits between same parties in two Courts under jurisdiction of two different High Court—Power of High Court to order stay of proceedings in one Court—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), ss. 20 and 24.—Where two suits were pending in two Courts under the jurisdiction of two different High Courts, in which the parties were the same and a portion of the subject-matter of the one was included in the other, it was held that the High Court under the conjoint operation of ss. 20 and 24 of Civ. Pro. Code could determine that the proceedings in one Court should be stayed pending trial in the other. VENKATASA BROD v. MAKSUNDAM DAS, 35 C. 541.

(49)—Court cannot find a fact which both parties deny in their pleadings.—Where in a suit for khas possession, the parties, both the plaintiff and the defendant plead that the defendant is not the tenant of the plaintiff, the Court is wrong in finding that the defendant is a tenant of plaintiff, a fact which they themselves in their pleadings deny. FAYJ DHALI v. AFTABUDDIN SIRDAR, 6 C.W.N. 575.

(50)—Decision of a point beyond the pleadings.—It is not open to a Judge to decide a case in favour of the defendant on a point not raised by him, so as to cast on him a far larger pecuniary liability than would have been cast if the Court had made an order which the plaintiff asked for. RAICHAND v. NARAN BHIKHA, 6 Bom. L.R. 62 = 28 B. 310.

(51)—Existence of two or more remedies—Effect.—Where the law provides two or more remedies, it cannot be said that one debars the other. SHANKARAHAI v. DIN DIAL, 12 A. 409 F.B. = A.W.N. 1890, 145.

(52)—Ss. 2, 244, Civ. Pro. Code—Appeal presented to Court as appeal from order—Appeal converted into appeal from decree.—It would be erroneous procedure if the Court should permit an appeal, wrongly presented to the Court as an appeal from an order, to be converted into an appeal from a decree within the meaning of s. 244 read with s. 2, Civ. Pro. Code. KEDAR NATH v. LALJI SAHAI, 12 A. 61 (F.B.). [D., 14 A. 221.]

(53)—Revival of suit—Civ. Pro. Code (of 1877), s. 372—Plaint in fresh suit taken as petition to revive.—A suit, by the trustee under a will, against the executrix for the administration of the trusts, which was struck off the board, after decree, for want of prosecution, can be revived, on the death of both the plaintiff and the defendant, by the plaintiff's heirs, it being within the spirit, though against the strict language, of s. 372 of the Civ. Pro. Code, to do so in such a case; and, if no persons are living, whose consent may be got or to whom notice may be sent under s. 372, the Court could dispense with the consent or the notice. The plaint, in a fresh supplemental suit by such heirs of the plaintiff against the Administrator-General, might be allowed to be amended into a petition, under s. 372, with liberty to the defendant to put in any answer as if in a proceeding by petition in the first instance. The words "pending the suit" in s. 372 relate to a suit in which no final order has been made. GOCOL CHUNDER GOSAMEE v. THE ADMINISTRATOR-GENERAL OF BENGAL, 5 C. 726 = 5 C.L.R. 569. [F., 8 C. 837; Rel. on., 30 C. 609 = 7 C.W.N. 517; R., 10 A. 97.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(54)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 244—Where reliefs claimed in plaint could not be asked for in separate suit—Whether plaint can be treated as execution petition.—Where it appeared that the reliefs claimed in the plaint could not, under s. 244, Civ. Pro. Code, be asked for in a separate suit, it was held that it was competent to the Court to treat the plaint as an execution petition. T. R. GANESHA RAO v. T. V. TULJARAM RAO, 4 M.L.T. 288 = 6 M.L.J. 325 = 19 M.L.J. 4 = 1 Ind. Cas. 380.

(55)—Appeal—Making a new case in appeal.—It is not open to an Appellate Court, to make out a new case for the first time in appeal contrary to the pleading in the first Court. MULLA ABDUL v. KHATIJA BEGAM, 10 Bom. L.R. 514.

(56)—Judge's liberty to make different case for appellant.—A Judge is not at liberty in appeal to make a different case for the appellant from that which she alleged for herself in the lower Court. KACHUBHAI Bin GULABCHAND v. KRISHNABA Kom BABAJI, 2 B. 635.

(57)—Pleadings—Case, strength of.—A plaintiff can only succeed on the strength of his own title. MUSSAMMAT SHAFQ-UN-NISSA v. RAJA SHABAN ALI KHAN, 6 Bom. L.R. 750 = 26 A. 581 = 9 C.W.N. 105 = 7 O.C. 290 = 31 I. A. 217 = 8 Sar. 674.

(58)—Statement of facts—Inference.—A party professing to state facts, in Court has no right to give his own inferences as facts, but ought to disclose the real facts and leave the Court to make its own inferences. SURAJMAL v. MANEKCHAND, 6 Bom.L.R. 704.

(59)—Pleadings—Relief—Issues—Evidence.—As a general rule the plaintiff is not entitled to relief not founded on the pleadings, but where on the pleadings, the issues and the evidence, the relief is clear, the general rule does not apply. GOKUL v. SHRIMAL, 6 Bom. L.R. 288.

(60)—Parties to suit—Approbation and reprobation.—It is a sound principle of law that as between the same litigants a defendant cannot defeat the claim of the plaintiff by a plea negating a contention advanced by him in a former suit, if he thereby approbates and reprobates. VARAJILAL v. BHAIJI, 6 Bom. L.R. 1103.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(61)—Plaintiff alleging one state of facts—Denial of defendant—Plaintiff's right to carry on suit.—It would be an unusual thing to allow a plaintiff, who has alleged one state of facts, as against the defendant who has denied that case and alleged another state of facts, to turn round and ask to be allowed to carry on the suit and claim relief on the ground that the defendant's statement of facts was true and his own false. RAMDOYAL v. JUNMENJOY COONDOO, 14 C. 791. [R., 5 C.W.N. 304.]

(62)—Notice—Written statement.—Where a person is shown to have notice of a fact contained in a written statement put in in a case, he is fixed with it; and it is immaterial that the written statement was thrown out. SANTAN v. GULAB HARI, 6 Bom. L.R. 284.

(63)—Written statement—Irrelevant matter.—Where matters irrelevant and improper were found in the written statement, the Court ordered it to be taken off the file with leave to file a fresh one. KASUBLAL DAY v. C. E. TRENEARNE, 3 B.L.R. App. 12.

(64)—Plaintiff's case not proved in entirety—Plaintiff whether entitled to succeed on proving facts sufficient to support decree.—In a suit for ejectment based upon two grounds, viz., (1) that the plaintiff was the owner of the property and that the defendant without any title had wrongly withheld possession from the plaintiff, and (2) that the defendant had been the plaintiff's tenant and that the tenancy had been determined by notice, the Court framed only one issue, viz., whether the defendant had rented the building in dispute. Although no specific issue as to title was framed, evidence of title was given on both sides. Held that the plaintiff was entitled to a decree for ejectment on proving his title. BALMAKUND v. DALU, 25 A. 498 = A.W.N. 1903, 112, F.B. (15 A. 186 overruled; 10 B. 451, A.W.N. 1884, 285. 9 B.H.C. 6, D.; A.W.N. 1901, 188, R.; A.W.N. 1903, 18, F.) [F., 12 O.C. 183 = 3 Ind. Cas. 589; Appr., 1 N.L.R. 4; R., 8 O.C. 266, 10 C.L.J. 538 = 6 M.L.T. 255 = 2 Ind. Cas. 346; D., A.W.N. 1904, 33 = 26 A. 331].

(65)—Failure to prove immaterial allegations in plaint—Effect.—A suit does not necessarily fail, because plaintiff fails to prove allegations in his plaint that are not material. RAMDHUN KHAN v. HARADUN PURAMANICK, 12 W.R. 404 = 9 B.L.R. 107, N.

(66)—Practice—Failure of plaintiff to prove case alleged by him—Plaintiff cannot succeed upon failure of defendant to prove his defence.—The plaintiff sued the defendant alleging that the defendant was the tenant of a certain house belonging to him, that the tenancy had commenced some eleven years before suit, that for the last three years the defendant had ceased to pay rent, and had recently denied the plaintiff's title. The defendant denied the ownership of the plaintiff and the alleged lease and pleaded that he had been in adverse possession for more than 12 years. The plaintiff failed to prove the allegation of tenancy and did not show that he had been in possession 12 years of the suit. Held that the plaintiff was not entitled to a decree merely because defendant failed to prove 12 years adverse possession. Haji Khan v. Baldeo Das, 24 A. 90 = A.W.N. 1901, 188. (15 A. 186, A.W.N. 1889, 176, A.W.N. 1901, 157, R.)

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(67)—Overstatement of claim.—A plaintiff is bound to prove his own title, and cannot succeed on the weakness of the defendant's case. The fact that the defendant has set up an exaggerated statement of his own claim will not affect the duty of the plaintiff to prove that his own claim will not affect the duty of the plaintiff to prove that his own claim is not overstated. If it appears that both parties have overstated their rights, that will be no reason for making the defendant alone suffer and for giving to plaintiff more than he has proved himself entitled to. Rajaram v. Nanchand, 5 Bom. L.R. 225.

(68)—Plaintiff claiming too much—Relief by Court.—A plaintiff ought not, by reason of his having claimed too much, to be precluded from recovering the amount to which he appears to be entitled, if the pleadings are wide enough to cover the claim. The question is not one of indulgence. Malik Ahmad v. Musammatt Shamsi Jahan, 8 Bom. L.R. 397 = 10 C.W.N. 626 = 3 A.L.J. 360 = 3 C.L.J. 481 = 28 A. 482 = 16 M.L.J. 269 = 33 I. A. 81 = 8 Sar. 918.

(69)—Consistency of pleas.—A party cannot be allowed to make claim as defendant which he could not make as plaintiff by reason of limitation. Mahomed v. Ezekiel, 7 Bom. L.R. 772.

(70)—Pleadings—Inconsistent pleas.—Ordinarily he who seeks assistance from the Court cannot for the purpose of securing to himself a further measure of relief assert that, on the negation of which, relief has already been awarded to him in relation to the same transaction. Ahmedabad A. S. and W. Co. v. Lakshmishankar, 6 Bom. L.R. 790.

(71)—Inconsistency of pleas—Pleadings—Agreement—Revision—Performance.—It cannot be laid down as an abstract proposition that there is any necessary inconsistency in a party who has unsuccessfully tried to rescind an agreement afterwards claiming performance of it. Shrish Chandra v. Roy Banomoli, 6 Bom. L.R. 501 = 31 C. 584 = 31 I.A. 105 = 8 C.W.N. 594 = 14 M.L.J. 185 = 2 A.L.J. 31 = 8 Sar. 677.

(72)—Setting up inconsistent pleas—Defence of want of genuineness of a deed—Issue upon that basis—Plea of misrepresentation, undue influence or fraud, not allowed subsequently.—

Practice and Procedure—continued.

A genuine document might or might not be binding upon a party, but if the party who has executed it intends to raise the defence that it is not binding he ought either to raise it in his written statement or get an issue framed on it. If a party denies the execution of a document he cannot strictly speaking, be allowed to raise the inconsistent defence that the document is not binding upon him. Where in a suit upon a deed the defence is that the deed is not genuine and upon that issue the parties go to trial, it is not open to the defendant subsequently to rely on misrepresentation, undue influence or fraud as vitiating the deed. Prag Narain v. Chodra Chhatia, 10 Bom. L.R. 494.

(73)—Pleadings—Declaration of title based on adverse possession—Claim based on adverse possession not set up in the plaint.—A decree declaring the plaintiff's title to immoveable property, such title being based upon adverse possession, ought not to be given to a plaintiff unless such a title is clearly set up in the plaint. Zaki-ud-Din v. Nazar Muhammad, A.W.N. 1908, 277. [2 C. 418, F.]

(74)—Application for ad interim protection in insolvency proceedings—Grounds of opposition.—In applications for ad interim protection pending proceedings in insolvency, the practice is to allow opposing creditors to oppose only on grounds of fraud or misconduct arising out of his own particular claim and to adjourn all other grounds to be dealt with at the hearing. In the matter of Dinendra Nath Mullick, 9 C.W.N. 221.

(75)—Setting up a claim or defence based upon a wrong construction of document.—Where a party relies on a document in support of his claim or defence, the mere fact that he in support of that claim or defence put a wrong construction on it is no reasonable ground for depriving him of the right he has on a proper construction of the document. Raghavji v. Narandas, 8 Bom. L.R. 921.

(76)—Practice—Relief on grounds not alleged, whether can be granted.—A plaintiff who fails to prove the case upon which he came into Court cannot be allowed to succeed upon another case not disclosed by his pleadings. In this case, the plaintiff sued the defendant on the allegation that the defendant on the 4th June 1881, took from him (the plaintiff) a lease of two rooms at a rent of 4 annas a month. It was found that this allegation was false. Held that the Court could not decree the plaintiff's claim to eject the defendant from the rooms in question upon some other grounds not disclosed in the plaint. Bajrang Das v. Nand Lal, 4 A.W.N. 1884, 285. [D., 25 A. 256, F.B. = A.W.N. 1903, 18, 25 A. 498, F.B. = A.W.N. 1903, 112.]

(77)—Pleadings—Alternative and inconsistent claims—Amendment of plaint.—The right to enhance rent and the right to evict are in their nature different and cannot be tried in one suit; and where the plaint consists of alternative claims, the plaintiff must elect to give up one of them. BULDEO v. HAFIZ ALI, 15 P.R. 1869. [R., 21 P.R. 1873.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(78)—Practice—Grounds not taken in plaint—Relief not to be granted on.—No relief can be granted on grounds not taken in plaint. MUHAMMAD ALADAT KHAN v. NARPAT, A.W.N. 1887, 130.

(79)—Practice—Pleading—Case proved different from that set up in plaint.—The plaintiff came into Court alleging that he was the owner of a certain cattle-shed, part of which he had let in June, 1898, to the defendant at a rent of 4 annas a month. He alleged that the defendant had paid rent for three months, but had subsequently declined to pay any more. The plaintiff accordingly sued for the rent said to be due and for ejectment of the defendant. The suit was filed in January, 1899. The defendant denied that the plaintiff was the owner of the cattle-shed, and alleged that he himself had been in adverse proprietary possession for more than twelve years. The Court of first instance found that the plaintiff had built the cattle shed about two years before the suit; but that his allegation as to the defendant's tenancy was not proved. On appeal the lower appellate Court found that the plaintiff had failed to prove the tenancy set up by him. Held by Knox, Acting C.J., that as the plaintiff had failed to establish the case set up by him, the facts of which were recent and well within his knowledge, and presumably capable of easy proof, but had come into Court on a false case, he was not entitled to any decree. (21 W.R. C.R. 59, 15. 186, F.; A.W.N. 1887, 43, D.) Per Aikman, J.—On the facts established, the plaintiff was entitled to a decree, although he may have failed to prove the whole case set up by him. BALMAKUND v. DALU, A.W.N. 1901, 157. (A.W.N. 1887, 43, A.W.N. 1893, 163, A.W.N. 1897, 145, A.W.N. 1884, 140, 21 W.R.C. R. 59, 9 Bom. H.C.R. 6; R., 15 A. 186, Diss.) [R., 24 A. 90; D., 25 A. 257, F.B.; On appeal, 25 A. 498.]

(80)—Plaint—Grant of relief not prayed for—As a general rule, no relief other than that asked for in the plaint should be given. But the High Court declined to interfere with the granting of such relief in a certain case, having regard to the circumstances of the case, and to the finding of the lower appellate Court. HAR NARAIN v. BUDHU, A.W.N. 1831, 10.

(81)—Relief not asked for in plaint and not consistent with plaintiff's case—Court's power to grant.—The Court ought not to grant the plaintiffs a declaratory decree upon a case not made in the plaint and inconsistent with the case made in the plaint. RAI JATINDRA NATH CHAUDHURI v. AMIRTA LAL BAGCHI, 5 C.W.N. 20. (11 M.I.A. 7, R.)

(82)—Relief not asked for in plaint, when awardable—Title covered by issues and put in evidence—Declaration of plaintiff's title by Court dismissing suit—Form of decree.—Where the Court makes a declaration in plaintiff's favour in a dismissed suit, the proper course will be to direct an enquiry as to who are the persons entitled, and to reserve further directions under which it will be probably found possible to place them in legal possession and so to terminate the litigation. As a rule, relief not founded on the pleadings should not be granted. But, where the substantial matters which constitute the title of all the parties are touched, though obscurely, in the issues, and have been fully put in evidence and formed the main subject of discussion and decision in the Courts, such a case would not be within the rule, and the Court may make a declaration of the rights of the parties, and may found on the declaration an inquiry into the plaintiff's title. In the present case in which plaintiffs claimed possession of an estate from the defendant, the first Court's decree dismissing the suit was reversed by the first appellate Court which decreed the plaintiff's suit. The High Court, however, on the finding of facts by the lower Courts and on the construction of certain official correspondence on the record, decided that the claim of the plaintiff to exclusive possession must fail and dismissed the suit, but, with a view to settling the rights of the parties, added a declaration to the effect that the defendant was entitled to a moiety only of the estate in question, and that the plaintiffs were entitled, among themselves, to the other moiety. Their Lordships of the Judicial Committee agreed with the High Court on the substance of the case, but substituted for that Court's decree a simpler one in point of form, declaring that the defendant was entitled to a moiety only of the estate and that his successors-in-title are now entitled to a like moiety, and that the other moiety belongs to the persons entitled thereto by virtue of official correspondence on the record, viz., the plaintiffs, and directing an enquiry as to who, having regard to these declarations, are, either directly or otherwise, entitled to the last-mentioned moiety, and reserving further directions. SRI MOHANT GOVIND RAO v. SITA RAM KESHO, 21 A. 53, P.C. = 2 C.W.N. 681 = 25 I. A. 195 = 7 Sar. 370. [R., 28 B. 153, 6 Bom. L.R. 288; D., 11 Bom. L.R. 606.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(83)—Adverse possession—Declaration of title—Plaint—Issues.—A declaration of title may be made on the strength merely of 12 years' adverse possession. (6 M.H.C. 420, Diss., 20 W.R. 104, F.) Where such a declaration is sought, the 12 years' adverse possession must be distinctly stated in the plaint, or set out in the issues. SHIRO KUMARI DEBI v. GOVIND SHAW TANTI, 2 C. 418. [F., 7 C. 560; D., 14 C. 592.]

(84)—Amendment of plaint—Prayer for relief on footing of defendant's story.—When the parties to suit have come to trial to determine which of two a stories is true, the Court cannot allow the plaintiff to amend the plaint,

Practice and Procedure—continued.

by abandoning his own story and adopting that of the defendant and asking relief on that footing, the question whether on that footing the plaintiff is entitled to relief being one to which the defendant's attention has not been called, and as to which he has had no opportunity of answering. SHIBKRISTO SIRCAR v. ABDOL HAKEEM, 5 C. 602=5 C.L.R. 455. [R., 10 B. 451.]

(85)—Practice—Suit by firm—Plaint—Signature and verification by one partner—Act XIV of 1870—Procedure.—It has been the practice of the Court in a suit brought by a firm, to allow a member of the firm, without special leave, to verify the plaint on his own behalf and also on behalf of his co-partners. Quære.—Whether such a practice is right or ought to be allowed to continue? Act XIV of 1870 does not affect the procedure of the High Court in any way. The preamble, as well as the body of that Act, shows that the Act merely repeals what has become unnecessary and does not affect or alter any existing practice or procedure. RAMACHUNDER v. CHOONEE LALL, 12 B.L.R. 35.

(86)—Pleading and proof, Variance between—Alleged inconsistency in pleadings.—Where, on appeal from a suit brought after the death of a Hindu widow, by the plaintiff (a collateral relation, suing as heir), to have a sale of a portion of her husband's estate effected by her set aside on the ground that the sale was invalid, except in so far as it affected the rights of the widow herself therein, it was contended on behalf of the defendant, that the plaintiff, having sued as heir, could not be allowed to succeed on the basis of a solenamah entered into between himself and the heir by virtue of which he had acquired the rights of the heir, as this would be contrary to the rule laid down in 11 M.I.A. 7,—that the determinations in a cause should be founded on a case, either to be found in the pleadings or involved in or consistent with the case thereby made and that the equities and ground of relief originally alleged and pleaded by the plaintiff should not be departed from, the Judicial Committee fully affirming the rule stated, held, that if this objection had been taken in the first Court, the plaint and issues might and ought to have been amended, but, as it was not so taken, and the substance of the case in the plaint was that the sale by the widow was invalid beyond her own interest, under the circumstances of the case, there was no weight in the contention of the appellant. NURUL HOSSEIN v. SHEOSAHAI LAL, 20 C. 1, P.C.=19 I.A. 221=6 Sar. 205. [F., 4 C.L.J. 370=11 C.W.N. 85; R., U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 231, 91 P.R. 1901=113 P.L.R. 1901, U.B.R. 1906, 3rd Qr. Tort (9).]

(87)—Practice—Variance between pleading and proof—Relief not asked for.—In a suit brought to establish a right of ownership of property, it is not competent to the Court to enter into and decide the question of right to an easement over the same. Though the Courts are bound to take into consideration all the rights of the parties to a suit both legal and equitable, and give effect thereto by their decrees, as far as possible, they are not at liberty to grant a relief either not prayed for in the plaint, or that does not flow naturally from the ground of claim as stated in the plaint. SAMBAYYA v. GOPALAKRISHNAMMA, 15 M. 489=2 M.L.J. 257.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(88)—Pleadings and proof—Specific relief prayed for not proved—Decree on general prayer.—Although the plaintiff had failed to prove the case on which he claimed a special relief, the Court in this case held that he had established a case in which, upon the plaint and the general prayer for relief, he was entitled to a decree. GOBIND CHUNDER MOOKERJEE v. DOORGAPERSHAD, 14 B.L.R. 337=22 W.R. 248.

(89)—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869—Agricultural holdings—Erection of building—Proprietor's consent—Right to hold land in perpetuity—Filing of plaint—Further statement by plaintiff after filing of defendant's written statement.—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869 applies only to agricultural holdings and does not apply to disputes regarding a street in a town. The mere fact that a building has been erected on a land with the consent of the proprietor of the estate, does not give to the occupant a right to hold the land perpetually at the same rate. If the proprietor with an ultimate view of raising the rent brings a suit for ejectment, he has a right to have his title to eject determined in that suit. [Appl., 3 C.L.R. 543.] After written statement was filed in a suit for ejectment, the plaintiff, without leave of the Court, filed a further statement without the claim that he made in the plaint and substituting in its place a claim for enhancement of rent. Held that the supplemental statement of the plaintiff must be rejected. THE COLLECTOR OF MONGHYR v. HAKIM MADAR BUKSH, 25 W.R. 136.

(90)—Plaintiff stating in plaint to be in possession and praying merely for confirmation of the same—Dispossession found—Relief.—A plaintiff who, stating in his plaint that he is in possession, prays merely for confirmation of possession, will not be given a decree for recovery of possession, if it is found that he was dispossessed by the defendant before suit, and that he had no possession as stated in the plaint. FATIMA BIBEE v. AHAMAD BAKSH, 31 C. 319.

(91)—Practice—Pleadings—Defective plaint—Extension of plaint by subsequent statement of plaintiff—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 118, 146, 147.—The plaintiff came into Court claiming a decree declaring his title to and his possession of, certain plots of land, or, in the alternative, a decree for possession; but, with respect to the latter relief, he made no specific assertion that he had been dispossessed, or, if so, at what date such dispossession had taken place. On being challenged by the defendant to state whether he had been dispossessed, he filed an application admitting that he was out of possession, and further, on being examined by the Court under s. 118 of the Code of Civil Procedure, confirmed that statement, and said that he did not recollect the exact date of disposition. The claim for a declaratory decree was undoubtedly barred by limitation. As to the remaining portion of the claim, it was held by Blair, J. that the plaint disclosed no cause of action for a suit for possession, and it was not possible to supply the defects in the plaint by means of the subsequent petition and deposition of the plaintiff, and with this view of the case, Aikman, J., substantially agreed. Per Banerji, J.—The plaint though ambiguous, was capable of being supplemented by the plaintiff's deposition, and was so supplemented, and the lower Court was wrong in refusing to decide the plaintiff's claim for a decree for possession. KASHI NATH BISWAS v. RAM NIRANJAN CHAUBE, A.W.N. 1902, 35. (5 B. 609, R.)

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(92)—Defendant's failure to dispute point—Admission—Judgment by default—Plaintiff's duty.—The system of procedure in this country is not such that, if a defendant fails to dispute or contest a point, he thereby admits it. On the contrary, if he allows judgment to go by default, the plaintiff is just as much bound to prove his case. BHUBAN CHANDRA SHOME v. RAMDAYAL SHAMANTA, 5 B.L.R. App. 62 = 14 W.R. 555.

(93)—Failure to prove case set up in plaint—Admission by defendant—Decree for plaintiff as to such portion.—Where a plaintiff states in his plaint that the lands in dispute are his self-acquisition and fails to prove his averment, it is no ground for dismissing his suit altogether, if he is entitled in part to the relief sued for on the facts admitted by the defendant himself. NARASANNA v. GURAPPA, 9 M. 424.

(94)—Grounds of appeal in argument.—Though, as a rule, the Court will not permit grounds of appeal to be taken in argument which have not been taken in the memorandum, yet where a decree comes before it, which is upon its face illegal, the Court is bound to take up the point itself and rectify the mistake. PERAN SOOKH CHUNDER v. PARBUTTY DOSSEE, 3 C. 612 = 1 C.L.R. 404.

(95)—Practice—Suit—Different case in appeal.—Where a plaintiff went to trial alleging that the land claimed was attached to his estate as alluvial, he was not allowed to raise in appeal a different case, one simply of original ownership of the site of the lands reformed. EKOWRI SING v. HIRALAL SEAL, 2 B.L.R. P.C. 4 = 11 W.R.P.C. 2 = 12 M.I.A. 136. [F., 21 W.R. 224; Appl., 22 W.R. 238.]

(96)—Setting up a different case in Court of appeal.—Parties who have had a suit determined upon questions which they thought fit to raise in the first Court are not entitled to make a different case in the Court of appeal, though the appellate Court may in some cases allow

Practice and Procedure—continued.

this to be done. OMDA KHANUM v. BROJENDRO COOMAR ROY CHOWDHRY, 12 B.L.R. 451 = 21 W.R. 352.

(97)—Tacit admission in lower Court—Recession in appeal.—Where parties allow a suit to be conducted in the lower Court as if a certain fact was admitted, they cannot afterwards in appeal question this fact and recede from their tacit admission. KANAI LALL KHAN v. SASHI BHUSON BISWAS, 6 C. 777 = 8 C.L.R. 117.

(98)—Grounds of claim—Change of grounds in appeal.—A plaintiff cannot in appeal be allowed to change the grounds on which he alleged himself to be entitled to claim relief. MASUMA BIBI v. THE COLLECTOR OF BALLIA, 7 A. 687 = A.W.N. 1885, 227.

(99)—Practice—Change of grounds—Declaratory suit.—The widow of a deceased judgment-debtor sued the decree-holder for a declaration that certain property was not liable to be sold in execution of his decree against her husband on the ground that she had got a transfer of the same in consideration of her dower-debt and that she was in possession of the same. On appeal she contended that she was in possession lawfully and had a claim for an unsatisfied dower-debt and was therefore entitled to be maintained in possession under the provisions of the Mahomedan Law. Held that the appellant was not competent to change the grounds on which her claim had been brought. The position claimed by her on appeal was only that of a creditor of her deceased husband and would give her no right to oppose the decree-holder. AMIR BIBI v. NATHMAL DAS, A.W.N. 1883, 147.

(100)—Shifting the issues in a Court of Appeal.—One who seeks to set aside a purchase completed under the sanction of the Court should allege the grounds on which he claims to impeach it, and should not be allowed after the trial of the case to rely on other grounds which have not been the subject of trial or adjudication in the Court which takes the evidence. It is not easy to formulate a rule which will fit every case, but the principle is clear enough, that a party shall not be condemned in Court, on allegation which turn on evidence and which he has not been led to rebut by evidence. It is always unsatisfactory to reverse a decree for the reason that the ground on which it rests was not that on which the parties come to issue. But it is obvious that great injustice may be done by shifting the issue in the Court of appeal, and so deciding without due investigation. MAHOMED v. SAVVASI, 2 Bom. L.R. 640.

(101)—Practice—Suit brought on one ground cannot be decreed against the defendant on another—Amendment of plaint—No amendment allowed after hearing arguments in appeal.—A suit brought against the defendant on one ground, which fails, should not be decreed against him on another ground which he had no opportunity of meeting. After arguments in an appeal have been heard, the Court will not allow amendment of the plaint, so as to convert a suit of one character into a suit of a substantially different character. DAYABAI v. HAJI NOOR MAHOMED, 11 Bom.L.R. 237=34 B. 244.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(102)—Oral pleadings—Point raised before lower Court not noticed—Evidence.—In all cases where the Courts below really omit to notice a particular objection urged, the parties must be able to satisfy the High Court that the point was actually taken before the Judge in the oral pleadings. This can be done either by an affidavit of some person actually present in Court who heard the point raised, or by a petition to the Judge drawing his attention to the omission, and asking him to pass an opinion on the particular point. In the absence of any such evidence, the High Court is bound to presume, from the fact of the Judge taking no notice whatever of the point, said to have been pressed before him that it was in fact never pressed. YUSOOF ALI CHOWDRY v. MUSSAMUT FYZOONISSA KHATOON CHOWDHRAIN, 15 W.R. 296.

(103)—Madras Civil Service Annuity Fund, right to refund of, completed before 1853, not affected by revised rules of 1853—Two sets of defendants severing in defence—Lodging separate case.—This was an appeal by the East India Company from a decree of the Supreme Court of Judicature of Madras by which that Court declared the respondent to be entitled to a refund or repayment of the surplus paid by him in excess to the Madras Civil Service Annuity Fund, as a subscriber to that fund beyond the half-value in the plaintiff's annuity. On the main question whether the respondent's right to the refund of the excess of his subscriptions had been in any manner lost or destroyed, it was contended on the part of the appellants, the East India Company, that it had been lost or destroyed, because the revised rules of 1853 did not contain the provision for refund which was contained in the rules of 1838, and the respondent, being a subscriber to the fund, was bound by those revised rules; but, according to their Lordships, the revised rules could not operate retrospectively so as to destroy rights which had been acquired before they were passed. In their Lordships' view, the real question was whether the respondent had or had not, before the revised rules were passed, acquired a title to the refund of the excess of his subscriptions, and their Lordships were of opinion that he had, for, in the year 1852, he had accepted the annuity on condition that the excess of his payments should be refunded to him. [R., 10 B. 313, 22 B. 451.] Two sets of defendants severed in defence (their interests involving an alternative as to which was responsible to the plaintiff), and Court below fixed one set of the defendants with the liability. Upon an appeal in which plaintiff was made sole respondent, the other defendants were held entitled to appear, and to lodge a separate case. THE EAST INDIA COMPANY v. ROBERTSON, 4 W.R.P. C. 10=7 M.I.A. 361.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(104)—Law of procedure, change in—Procedure applicable to pending suits—Amendment of plaint, whether a question of procedure.—In a case instituted under Act XIV of 1882, held, that the question, whether a plaint can be amended so as to enable the Court to give the plaintiff a declaration, is a mere question of procedure; and on the principle that a litigant has no vested right in procedure, the question of amendment arising subsequent to the passing of the new Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) will be governed by it. GOKUL PRASAD v. ALI BAKSH AND OTHERS, 13 O.C. 152=6 Ind. Cas. 1015.

(105)—Right of appeal—Not matter of procedure.—To disturb an existing right of appeal is not a mere matter of procedure. NANA ABU v. SHEKU ANDU, 10 Bom. L.R. 330=32 B. 337.

(106)—Reversal of judgment.—A Court of appeal ought never to reverse the judgment of an inferior Court unless quite confident that the judgment given in the Court below is wrong. YEMUNABAI v. BALSHEET, 5 Bom. L.R. 584.

(107)—Appeal—Events, cognizance of, since the filing of a suit or appeal.—A Court is entitled to take cognizance of events which have happened since the filing of a suit or an appeal. AHMADJEE v. MAHAMADJEE, 1 Bom. L.R. 218.

(108)—Who should be made respondent.—The party against whom some further relief is claimed should alone be made respondent and it is needless to join other parties as respondents, if against them no further relief is sought. A. CASPERSZ v. KISHORI LAL ROY CHOWDHRI, 23 C. 922, P.C.=1 C.W.N. 12.

(109)—Judgment—District Court.—A party who appeals to the District Court is entitled to obtain the decision of the appellate Judge himself upon the points in dispute. The District Judge should give actual and precise findings of fact and not merely doubt and inclination and a statement of the belief of the lower Court. RAMAPPA v. GURUBASAWA, 1 Bom. L.R. 845.

(110)—Lower Court's procedure—Presumption.—The rule is to presume that a lower Court has done its duty. Neglect of duty cannot be assumed at the mere suggestion of the appellant. RAJAH RASH BIHARI LALL SINGH v. NABAYI PADDAR, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 99=11 W.R. 465.

(111)—Appeal—Presentation, when proper.—An appeal must be presented to the Judge and not to the Moonsarim. The placing of a petition on a table when the officer is not present is not a presentation to him. TAJ ULDEEN KHAN v. MUSST. GHAFOR-UL-NISSA, 3 N.W.P. 341.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(112)—Two Judges hearing an appeal and differing in their opinions—Whether appeal should be dismissed—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 575.—The two Judges before whom these appeals were heard differed in their opinions. One considered that the accident was due to the negligence of the defendants' servants; the other was of opinion that the facts shewed that the defendants were not guilty of negligence. Therefore, under s. 575 of the Civil Procedure Code, both the appeals must be dismissed, each party to pay his or her own costs. MEERAMA v. BABU BHIKARAJ SAGARMULL, 14 Bur. L.R. 257.

(113)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 575—Reference of appeal to other Judges—Composition of Bench hearing referred appeal.—Where the Judges who hear an appeal differ on a point of law, and decide to refer it to another Bench of Judges, such Bench must include the Judges who first heard the appeal. ROHILKAND AND KUMAON BANK (LIMITED) v. ROW, 6 A. 468. (6 W.R. 269, R.) [Appl., 7 A. 523 = A.W.N. 1895, 139; R., 6 Bom. L.R. 131.]

(114)—Reference by Division Bench to third Judge—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 575—Scope of appeal.—Where an appeal is referred to a third Judge by a Bench of two Judges under s. 575 of the Civ. Pro. Code, the whole appeal is open for argument before him, and not simply the point or points on which the Judges differed. SESHADRI AYYANGAR v. NATARAJA AYYAR, 21 M. 179. [R., 6 Bom. L.R. 230, 14 Bur. L.R. 59.]

(115)—Suit instituted under Civ. Pro. Code of 1859 but decided after its repeal—Procedure on appeal.—The appeal, in a suit instituted under the Civ. Pro. Code of 1859, but decided after the Code of 1877 had come into operation, is governed by the procedure under the latter Code, by virtue of s. 3 of the same. Such appeal may be dismissed for default under s. 556, and the appellant may apply for its re-admission under s. 558, and by s. 588 (cl. 5) he is entitled to an appeal on refusal. ELAHI BAKSH v. MARACHOW, 4 C. 825 = 3 C.L.R. 593. (3 C.L.R. 208, F.; 1 B.L.R. 101, F.B., 3 C. 662, 3 C. 669, R.)

(116)—S. 562, Civ. Pro. Code—Appeal—Decision on an issue upon which there is no finding.—Where the Court of First Instance takes evidence, but does not find on the issues and decides the suit on a point of law, it is not necessary for the appellate Court to remand the suit under s. 562, but it may come to a decision upon the evidence recorded, if that is considered sufficient. BANDI SUBBAYYA v. MADALAPALLI SUBANNA, 3 M. 96. [R., 8 A. 576, F.B.]

(117)—Suit in Subordinate Court—Value of suit less than Rs. 2,500—Appeal to District Court—Validity of proceedings.—Where a suit, the value of which was within the pecuniary limits of the jurisdiction of a Munsiff's Court, was instituted in the Subordinate Court, and a decree passed by it, and an appeal was preferred from that decree to the District Court (which would have had cognizance of the appeal even if the decree had been passed by the proper Court, viz., the Munsiff's Court), the determination of the appeal by the District Court, which had jurisdiction, does not cure the initial defect of jurisdiction of the Subordinate Court. An Appellate Court is only a Court of error and the trial by the Appellate Court cannot be accepted in place of a trial by the Court of first instance. VELAYUDAM v. ARUNACHLLA, 13 M. 273. [Doubted, 23 M. 367 = 9 M.L.J. 263; R., 2 L.B.R. 117, 2 L.B. R. 192.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(118)—Rejection by Civil Court of petition of appeal—Petition not containing particulars required by order of High Court—Rejection held wrong.—Where a petition of appeal was rejected by the Civil Court because it did not contain the particulars required by the order of the High Court, dated 26th June, 1867, held by the High Court, that the order of rejection was wrong and that the utmost which the old rules justified was the non-receiving. ARABHI SESHACHELLAM APPA RAU v. RAMAYA, 6 M.H.C. 422.

(119)—Appeal against joint decree by some of the defendants on grounds common to all.—In an appeal against a joint decree by some only of the defendants on grounds common to all of them, the whole decree may be reversed. HIRA CHAND v. ABDUL, 1 A. 455.

(120)—Construction of decree—Appellate Court not bound by explanation of Judge.—If a decree were equally susceptible of two constructions, of which one rendered it in accordance with law, and the other did not, the appellate Court will give it the former. It will not be bound by the explanation of the Judge himself who passed the decree; and much less by notes taken by a Deputy Registrar at the time of judgment. SAMAR AHMED v. HAJI ISMAIL HAJI HABIB, 1 B. 158. (1 B. 1, F.)

(121)—Practice—Appeal—Alteration of date fixed for hearing.—On the 3rd February, the respondent, in an appeal pending before the District Judge, informed the Court that he was prepared for the case being taken any day that week. The 9th March was then fixed for hearing. On the 3rd March, the application was made on behalf of the appellant that the case might be taken on the 5th for the convenience of the counsel who was being brought from Allahabad on that date. This application was opposed by the pleader for the respondent, on the ground that the respondent had engaged counsel for the 9th, and could not be informed of the change of date in so short a time. On the 4th March, the application was brought before the Judge, and he then ordered that the hearing should take place on the 5th, and, upon the 5th, the appeal was heard, the pleaders for the respondent being present, but taking no part in the argument. The Judge decreed the appeal. Held that care should be taken not only in fixing the original date for the hearing of a case, but in altering the date of hearing so that none of the parties should be taken by surprise, but that there was nothing illegal in a Judge taking an appeal on any day he chose to fix, so long as the parties or their pleaders had sufficient notice and no prejudice was caused, and that, in the present case, there was no proof of surprise or prejudice. ANDHA KUAR v. DALIP LALL, A.W.N. 1889, 20.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(122)—S. 22—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 11—Jurisdiction — Appeal.—When the decree or order which is the subject of appeal is made in a suit, whether during the execution proceedings or previously, the subject-matter in dispute within the meaning of Act VI of 1871, s. 22, is the subject-matter in dispute in that suit, and not the mere amount of money which the order itself may directly affect. Where a question, such as is contemplated in Act XXIII of 1861, s. 11, was determined by the order of a Subordinate Judge engaged in executing a decree, the appeal from such order was held to lie to the District Judge, and not to the High Court, although the original subject-matter in dispute which had been less than Rs. 5,000 had grown, by the addition of interest, to a sum exceeding Rs. 5,000. MUSSAMUT RUTTANJOTE KOORER v. RAM DASS, 10 B.L.R. 290 = 19 W.R. 131. [F., 12 A. 581.]

(123)—Bengal Act VIII of 1869, s. 102 — Appeal to High Court.—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. 102, does not apply to a case decided by the Additional Judge. NOBOKISTO KOONDO v. NAZIR MAHOMED SHEIKH, 10 B.L.R. App. 30 = 19 W.R. 202. [Appr., 1 C.L.R. 39.]

(124)—Re-hearing of ex parte appeal—What the applicant must satisfy Court upon.—Upon a petition for the re-hearing of an appeal heard ex parte, the applicant must satisfy the Court that the notice was not duly served or that he was prevented by sufficient cause from attending, when the appeal was called on for hearing. ANUNDA SHAH BISWAS v. KEMA BEEBEE, 6 C. 548.

(125)—Appeal between co-defendants—Appeal when allowed.—Where a Court deals with a case at the hearing as if it raises not only a question between the plaintiff and the defendants but also one between the defendants, inter se, it is not competent to one of the defendants to appeal against the decree as between himself and the other defendant. SOIRU PADMANABHA RANGAPPA v. NARAYAN RAO bin VITHALRAO, 18 B. 520. [R., 25 C. 565, 16 C.P.L.R. 42, 31 C. 643 = 8 C.W.N. 496, 28 M. 229 = 15 M.L.J. 212, 12 O.C. 260; Cons., 3 N.L.R. 85]

(126)—Interlocutory order—Finality—Review or appeal.—It would be contrary to the usual procedure and practice of the Court for one Judge to make an order which has been refused by another Judge, even though arguments should be urged before him which were not urged before the Judge to whom the first application was made. If an order is wrongly refused, the proper course is to seek to review it or to appeal from it; not to seek to obtain the order by resorting to another Court. MOTIVAHU v. PREMVAHU, 16 B. 511.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(127)—Withdrawal of suits or appeals—Withdrawal of suit—Landlord and tenant—Forfeiture for non-payment of rent—Right to relief from application in motion.—A motion was made on summons that a suit, seeking a declaration that defendants had forfeited their right to a lease by reason of non-payment of rent, be discontinued or dismissed. Held, such an application should not be made by motion, but the defendant was entitled to be relieved from the forfeiture on payment of what was due. GHOLAM MAHOMED v. CALCUTTA CLUB, Cor. 67.

(128)—Withdrawal of appeal—Respondent who has filed objections, right of, to appeal.—A respondent, who has filed cross-objections, unless he satisfies the Court upon affidavit that he was himself ready to appeal and would have done so within time but for the appeal by the other side, should not be granted leave to appeal on the withdrawal of the appeal by the appellant. GOUR HARI SANYAL v. PREM NATH SANYAL, 9 C. 735 = 12 C.L.R. 395. [R., 23 B. 692.]

(129)—Permission to withdraw second appeal—Review on new evidence discovered—Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877), s. 623.—The last paragraph of s. 623 of the Civ. Pro. Code indicates that it is the pendency of an appeal preferred by the party and nothing else, which stands in the way of his application for review. It is however just and reasonable and in accordance with practice that a party who has discovered fresh evidence, soon after he has presented his second appeal, should be allowed by the High Court to withdraw such appeal, so that he may apply for a review to the lower Court which alone could consider his new evidence. PANDU v. DEVJI, 7 B. 287. [R., 30 B. 625 = 8 Bom. L.R. 842; D., 18 M. 480.]

(130)—Absent respondent—Right of appeal—Civ. Pro. Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 119 = s. 108 of the Code of 1882.—The respondent in the lower appellate Court is not precluded, because of his non-appearance in such Court, from appealing to the High Court. S. 119 of the Civ. Pro. Code (of 1859) applies only to an absent defendant and not to a respondent. KALI KISHORE ROY v. DHUNUNJOY ROY, 3 C. 228.

(131)—Memorandum of appeal, misdescription in heading of—Dismissal of appeal.—An appeal, described in the memorandum as a "First appeal from order," whereas in reality it was an appeal from an order under s. 244 of the Civ. Pro. Code, which amounted to a decree, should not be dismissed on account of the mistake. The misdescription, not having prejudiced the respondent, must be corrected and the appeal heard. Nor did the mistake, in any respect, affect the stamp on which, under the Court Fees Act, the memorandum should be presented, whether it was a memorandum of appeal from a decree or one from an order strictly so called. SANTLAL v. SRI KRISHEN, 14 A. 221 = A.W.N. 1892, 66. (12 A. 61, R.) [F., 22 A. 430 = A.W.N. 1900, 136.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(132)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 541—Appeal, copy of decree to accompany memorandum of.—A copy of the decree appealed against being a necessary accompaniment at the presentation of the appeal against it, where no such copy has been put in with the memorandum of appeal, the appeal cannot be regarded as having been validly presented. CHAMELA KUAR v. AMIR KHAN, 16 A. 77 = A.W.N. 1893, 223. (A.W.N. 1892, 47, F.) [R., 9 C.P.L.R. 109.]

(133)—Notice on pleader if notice to client—Appeal from preliminary decree, disposed of—Arrival of records in Lower Court—Parties how to be notified.—An appeal preferred to the High Court against a preliminary decree for accounts having been dismissed for non-prosecution, the record was returned to the Lower Court, which directed notices to be served on the pleaders of the parties for the further hearing of the case, a week hence. Notice was served on the defendant's pleader but he did not inform the defendant. Held, that the notice was not a good notice on the defendant, and an ex parte decree passed against the defendant on the date fixed should be set aside; that the case should be reheard upon notice served on the defendant personally. E.F. SANDYS v. UPENDRA CHUNDRA SINHA ROY, 13 C. W.N. 142 = 2 Ind. Cas. 547.

(134)—Religious endowment—Mohunt, competency of, to appoint successor by will—Direction in will to appoint successor—Construction of will—Rules regulating Mohunts and their offices, derivable from established custom and usage—Plaintiff claiming Mohuntship, duty of, to establish his title to office.—A, the Mohunt of a wealthy endowed religious institution, made his last will addressed to B reciting that B should succeed as the next Mohunt and have his name entered as proprietor in the records in substitution of that of the testator and take charge of all the properties and, as Mohunt of the institution, perform the religious duties in the usual way. The Will also directed that on B, finding himself incapable of fulfilling the above duties, he should appoint in his place C the present appellant, as Mohunt. Held, on the true construction of the Will, that it did not give the appellant an absolute positive and unqualified right at any time to the Mohuntship even on the incapacity of B to perform the duties of Mohunt. Until B became incapable, no trust or duty was even suggested, and even when he should actually become incapable, it cannot be put higher than as a gift in the nature of a precatory trust—that is, one requesting B to perform the wishes of the testator and to appoint the appellant as his successor. It was unnecessary for their Lordships to consider whether in point of law, a grant of Mohuntship can be made by any holder of the office with the superadded obligation imposing on the grantee the necessity of following the wishes of the grantor, as to the person whom he is to appoint to be his successor in that office. Their Lordships observed that the only law as to the Mohunts and their offices, functions and duties, was to be found in custom and practice, which was to be proved by testimony and no evidence had been adduced before their Lordships to show that any such appointment had ever been made in reversion on any former occasion. It had only to be considered whether, upon the case as it stood, the appellant had made out his title. It was not necessary to consider whether he had shown any infirmity whatever in the title of the respondent, but whether he had made out a satisfactory case to entitle him to recover the office and the lands and property belonging to it. Their Lordships therefore decided both on the consideration of the Will and on the evidence brought before them that the appellant had completely failed in his attempt to set up his own title, and that, consequently, the decision of the Court below, to the effect that he had failed to establish any title of his own, ought to be affirmed. GREEDHAREE DOSS MOHUNT v. NUNDOKISHORE DOSS MOHUNT, 8 W.R.P.C. 25 = 11 M.I.A. 405. [F., 9 C. 766, P.C. = 13 C.L.R. 30; Appr., 1 M. 235, P.C. = 4 I.A. 76; R., 1 I.A. 209, 5 C.L.R. 73, 8 B. 432, 11 B. 185, 10 M. 375, 31 M. 293, 23 B. 131, 7 C.W.N. 145, 5 C.L.J. 360, 8 C.L.J. 499, 11 C.L.J. 2 = 3 Ind. Cas. 408.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(135)—Application to restore appeal dismissed for default—Evidence of sufficient cause for restoration.—An applicant for the restoration of an appeal which has been dismissed for default of appearance should produce all the evidence in support of the application before the Court to which it is made. If he does not do so, and his application is dismissed, he will not be permitted to supplement such evidence in the Appellate Court on an appeal from the order dismissing his application. MUZAFFAR ALI KHAN v. KEDAR NATH, 20 A. 266 = A.W.N. 1898, 34. (A.W.N. 1890, 166, F.) [R., 31 C. 150]

(136)—Appeal to Privy Council—Restoration.—The High Court has the power, and ought to exercise its discretion in each particular case, with regard to restoring appeals to the Privy Council dismissed for default, or removed for any reason from the file of the High Court. In the matter of the petition of RADHA BINODE MISSER, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. I, 730, F.B. = 7 W.R. 530.

(137)—Same subject matter—Two suits.—A suit should not be proceeded with while an appeal relating to the same property and between the same parties is pending before the Privy Council. SHEOPROSUN MISSER v. MAHARAJAH RAJENDER KISHORE SINGH, W.R. 1864, 100.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(138)—Delay to forward depositions to England—Peremptory order to send papers forthwith.—In a case of great delay by the officers of the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut at Calcutta in not forwarding certain depositions filed in the cause, which had been omitted in the transcript forwarded to England, the Judicial Committee peremptorily ordered the Sudder Dewanny Court forthwith to transmit the omitted evidence to England. BABOO KASI PERSAD NARAIN v. MUSSUMAT KAWALBASI KOOER, 5 M.I.A. 146.

(139)—Security from respondent in possession—Madras Reg. VIII of 1818, s. 4—Privy Council, Jurisdiction of—Quære.—Whether there is any jurisdiction in the Judicial Committee, under s. 4 of Madras Reg. VIII of 1818, to call for security from the respondent when in possession. NAGALUTCHMEE UMMAL v. GOPOO NADARAJA CHETTY, 6 M.I.A. 309.

(140)—Lower Courts failing to decide the principal questions—Questions of fact—Interference by the Judicial Committee.—Although the Judicial Committee adhere to the rule not to disturb the findings of two concurrent Courts, in India upon a question of fact, yet such rule does not prevail, where the Courts in India have never dealt with the real question raised by the issues, and have drawn wrong inferences from the evidence. In such a case, the Court of ultimate appeal will disregard those concurrent judgments, and decide the case upon the evidence contained in the record. MOULVIE SAYYUD UZHUR ALI v. MUSSUMAT BEBEE ULTA F FATIMA, 13 M.I.A. 232.

(141)—Extension of time to appeal, jurisdiction of the Judicial Committee to grant—Enlargement of time for prosecution of appeal.—The Judicial Committee have no jurisdiction to entertain an application for extension of time to appeal until the petition of appeal is lodged. Where it appeared that an inquiry was pending before the Master in the Court below, arising out of the decree, which was the subject of the appeal, the result of which might render the prosecution of appeal unnecessary, the Judicial Committee enlarged the time prescribed by r. V of the Order in Council of the 13th June 1853, for prosecution thereof, until further order. GUNGADHUR SEAL v. SREEMUTTY RADDAMONEY DOSSEE, 6 M.I.A. 209.

(142)—Appeal to Sudder Court—Appeal on single issue—Whole appeal opened up—Cross-appeal.—When a case is brought by way of appeal before the Sudder Dewanny Court, the whole cause is before that Court, although the appeal is limited to a single issue. A cross-appeal is not necessary. PRANNATH ROY CHOWDRY v. ROOKEA BEGUM, 7 M.I.A. 323.

(143)—Hearing appeal to Privy Council ex parte—Personal service on respondent, evidence of.—Their Lordships declined to hear an appeal, from the Sudder Dewanny at Madras ex parte, without evidence of the respondent having been personally served with notice that the appeal was pending; and ordered the appeal to stand over, with leave for the appellant to proceed in the Court below, to render service of such notice effectual. KONADRY VALABHA v. VALIA TAMBURATI, 4 M.I.A. 213.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(144)—Award of partition—Act XVIII of 1848—Appeal to Privy Council from decision of Governor-in-Council—St. 3 and 4, will. IV. c. 41, ss. 3 and 4, St. 7 and 8, Vict. c. 69.—An Act of the Legislature of India, No. 18 of 1848, empowered the Governor-in-Council of Bombay, to administer the private estate of the Late Nawab of Surat; and, by s. 2, it was enacted that no act of the said Governor of Bombay in Council in respect of the administration to, and distribution of, such property, from the date of the death of the said Nawab should be liable to be questioned in any Court of Law or Equity. No provision was made for an appeal from the Governor's decision. In pursuance of the power conferred by this Act, the Government Agent at Surat, to whom the matter was referred, made an award distributing the estate in certain shares, among the heirs of the deceased, which award was confirmed by the Governor-in-Council. Upon an application by a claimant dissatisfied with the award to the Judicial Committee for leave to appeal from the Governor-in-Council's confirmation of the award; held, that the award was not such a judicial act as to come within the meaning of s. 3 of the Statute 3rd. and 4th., Will. IV., c. 41, or the 7th. and 8th. Vict. c. 69, and could not be entertained by the Judicial Committee, without a special reference to them by the Crown under s. 4 of the Statute, 3rd and 4th Will. IV., c. 41. In re THE NAWAB OF SURAT, 5 M.I.A. 499.

(145)—Validity of deed—High Court dismissing suit as containing same point as previously decided suit—Decision in prior suit reversed by Privy Council—Ex parte appeal from subsequent suit—Practice.—The High Court dismissed an appeal from the Zillah Court on the ground that it involved the same question as had been decided by them in another suit brought by the plaintiff in respect of the validity of a Zur-i-peshgi deed. The decision in the prior suit was, on appeal, reversed by the Judicial Committee. In such circumstances, on the appeal from the decision coming on for hearing ex parte, their Lordships, with the consent of the appellant, remitted the case to the High Court, with a declaration that the deed was valid; and with a direction, if the respondent did not appear within a reasonable time to be fixed by the High Court, to dismiss the appeal from the Zillah Court, and, in the event of the respondent appearing, then to hear the case on the merits. KALEEPERSHAD TEWARREE v. LALLA BINDA LALL, 12 M.I.A. 343.

(146)—Prior High Court decision ruling that polliem was not heritable estate—Subsequent decision ruling contra—Appeal against prior decision not made in time to Privy Council—Conflict of decisions—Special leave to appeal.—Where the High Court first decided that a polliem was not an estate of inheritance, but subsequently a year after it held that a polliem was an ancestral hereditary estate, the Privy Council gave special leave to appeal, on the ground of a conflict of decisions, from the first decision though the applicant was out of time. OOLAGAPPA CHETTY v. ARBUTHNOT, 7 M.L.J. 190.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(147)—Execution of decree in different Courts—Plea of limitation—Conflicting decisions—Appeal against one—Effect.—A decree for possession of certain immovable properties situated in the Districts of Gya and Shahabad with wasilat was confirmed by the Privy Council on appeal on the 28th July, 1871. Since the date of the confirmation of the appeal by the High Court in 1865, proceedings had been going on simultaneously in both the Shahabad Court and the Gya Court. On the 31st of December, 1877, an application was made to the Shahabad Court to execute the decree, and the High Court on appeal by the judgment-debtor held, on the 13th September, 1880, that this application was barred by limitation. While these proceedings were going on in the Shahabad Court and the High Court, the decree-holder made an execution application to the Gya Court on the 23rd August, 1879. On the 12th June, 1880, the Gya Court disposed of the plea of limitation in favour of the decree-holder, and the defendant preferred no appeal, but the decree-holder preferred an appeal against an order refusing to attach certain property of the judgment-debtor, and in the appellate Court the judgment-debtor contended that the order of the High Court dated 13th September, 1880, precluded the decree-holder from proceeding with her application of the 23rd August, 1879. Held, that the decree-holder was entitled to proceed with the execution of the decree, and the judgment-debtor was not entitled to refer to the order of the 13th September, 1880, to show that the decree had been declared to be incapable of execution. BHOOBOONA ALUMBABI KOER v. JOBRAJ SINGH, 11 C.L.R. 277. (8 C. 218 = 10 C.L.R. 425, R.)

(148)—Appeal against co-plaintiff.—By consent of parties and to avoid further litigation, in this case, the High Court allowed an appeal by one plaintiff against another plaintiff, and adjudicated upon their rights. BHAGIRTHI BAI v. BAYA, 5 B. 264. (15 B. 145, 16 B. 119.)

(149)—Mode of consent.—The practice of the High Court at Calcutta on its original side in the case of decrees by consent is to require the defendant in person, or some one instructed by him, to appear in Court to consent. SAUNDERS v. ROMANATH PAUL, 1 Ind. Jur. N.S., 395.

(150)—Trial of charges of fraud—Consent decree—Practice.—A consent-decree cannot be set aside on motion, on the ground that it was obtained by fraud and misrepresentation. Charges of fraud cannot be tried on affidavits and a separate suit will, therefore, have to be brought for that purpose. FOOLCOOMARY DASI v. WODOY CHUNDER BISWAS, 25 C. 549.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(151)—Estoppel by conduct—Settlement of issues—Omission of material issues—Consent of parties.—A statement was prefixed to the issues settled in the Court below, to the effect that "the vakils of the parties accept the following issues." Held, that it was not competent, after such consent, to object on special appeal that a material issue was omitted. SABITRA MOONEE v. MUDHOO SOODUN SINGH, Marsh, 519.

(152)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act X of 1877, s. 375—Practice of High Court—Consent decree.—According to the practice of the High Court, a consent decree upon a compromise will not be granted, unless the suit be entered in the cause list of the Court. PELL v. VALETTA, 5 C.L.R. 464. [R., 26 B. 76 = 3 Bom. L.R. 431.]

(153)—Review of judgment, wrongly so called—High Court, when would interfere.—Where a proceeding in the lower Court was erroneously called proceedings in review of judgment, the High Court refused to interfere, as substantial justice had been done in this case. TULSI RAM v. GANESH, A.W.N. 1881, 105.

(154)—Refusal of Court of first instance to examine all the plaintiff's witnesses—Appeal by defendant decreed—Remand.—Owing to the direction of the Court of first instance only a portion of the evidence available in support of the plaintiff's case was recorded by that Court, which decreed the plaintiff's suit. On appeal, however, the lower Appellate Court took a different view of the plaintiff's evidence and dismissed the suit. Held that the plaintiff should be given an opportunity of producing the evidence which had not been recorded owing to the attitude taken up by the Court of first instance. PABITRA KUNWAR v. THE MAHARAJA OF BENARES, A.W.N. 1908, 140 = 5 A.L.J. 468 = 30 J.A. 367. (11 C.W.N. Notes, p. XCII, A.W.N. 1905, 266, R.)

(155)—Order of remand—Appeal from, after decree in suit—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 562, 588, 591—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Arazidari land "Haqiat"—"Hissedar"—Deh.—An appeal lies from an order of remand passed under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code, even though before the filing of the appeal, the suit has been decided in compliance with the order of remand. Arazidars in District Basti are not members of the co-parcenary body in a village. A custom of pre-emption, recorded in a Wajib-ul-arz, in respect of the transfer of a haqiat by a hissedar applies only to co-parceners and no claim can be maintained in respect of the sale of arazidari land. UMAN KUARI v. JARBANDHAN PATHAK 5 A.L.J. 447, F.B. = A.W.N. 1908, 195 = 4 M.L.T. 162 = 30 A. 479. (12 A. 510, F.B., 12 C. 45, 3 A.L.J. 40, F.; 29 A. 659, Overruled.)

(156)—Remand to Lower Appellate Court—Appellant not entitled to notice—Date of hearing on remand—Change of settled practice.—Where the High Court, on hearing a second appeal, remands a case to the lower appellate Court for a fresh decision, the appellant in the latter Court is not entitled to a notice intimating the date on which the case will be taken up. (2 C.W.N. 318, R.) A settled practice cannot well be disturbed, unless it is shown to be illegal. (12 A. 120, 34 C. 1037, 2 C.P.L.R. 32, 17 W.R. 70, 21 W.R. 65, R.; 5 W.R. Mis. 22, D.) The position brought about by a remand to a Court of first appeal resembles that in O. XLI, r. 12 (= s. 552 of Act XIV of 1882) rather than what is reached by successive adjournments after the date originally fixed for hearing. Once the appeal has been admitted and registered, the date of hearing may be fixed at once or after an interval; but, in either case, the appellant is not entitled to receive individual notice of that date. ATMARAM v. KRISHNA, 4 N.L.R. 166.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(157)—Remand—Main point in issue not decided.—The lower appellate Court having omitted to determine the material issue, whether the property sold to the plaintiffs belonged to the vendor, and whether he was competent to sell it, the case was remanded for re-trial and fresh decision. SHADEE RAM v. SURMA, 2 Agra 110.

(158)—Procedure—Lower Appellate Court declining to exercise jurisdiction vested in it by law—Facts undisputed—Remand unnecessary.—Where the lower appellate Court declined to exercise a jurisdiction vested in it by law, the High Court would have remitted the case to that Court for re-trial, if there were any dispute as to the facts. In case of the facts being well established and practically admitted, the High Court, instead of remanding the case to the lower Appellate Court, would proceed to decide the question on those facts. RAM NARAIN SAHOO v. BANDI PERSHAD, 31 C. 737.

(159)—Practice—Remand—Appellate Court, whether to deal with whole appeal after return of findings.—In an appeal where the respondent filed objections under s. 561 of the Civ. Pro. Code, the Court, without delivering judgment, remanded an issue with reference to the objections, stating however that the appellant was in its opinion entitled to succeed. It was apparent that, at that time, the appeal could not have been argued out, and the true meaning of the facts as found could not have been present to the mind of the Court. Held that, upon the return of the findings on remand, the Court could not treat the appeal as already decided, and the objections the sole matter for consideration, but should consider the question which has been raised by the appellant and the objections raised by the respondents, and decide the whole case. But from this ruling it must not be inferred that, where Judges have heard arguments on some of the issues and have come to or expressed their views on those issues and have remanded another issue or issues under s. 566, the same Judges should be bound to hear the case de novo, on the return of the remand. In such a case, the counsel may be confined to the findings on remand. LACHMAN PRASAD v. JAMNA PRASAD, 10 A. 162 = A.W.N. 1887, 295. [F., 80 P.L.R. 1902.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(160)—Second appeal—Practice—Party refusing to produce evidence in lower Court—Case not to be remanded.—Where a party had ample opportunities to produce his evidence, but refused to submit to the ruling of the first Court as to the onus of proof and declined to produce evidence, the High Court refused in second appeal to remand the case so as to give the party another opportunity of putting in his evidence. KANHAI LAL v. DEBI DAS, 22 A. 141 = A.W.N. 1900, 2.

(161)—Remand order, Appeal against—High Court bound by findings of fact of lower appellate Court.—Whether an appeal is made against an order of remand by the Court of first appeal, or whether the propriety of such order is questioned only in a second appeal from the decree which might ultimately be made by that Court, in either case, the High Court cannot question the findings of fact of the lower Court, unless they are contrary to law, if partly of law and partly of fact, or unless there was no evidence to support them. TIKA RAM v. SHAMA CHARAN, 20 A. 42 = A.W.N. 1897, 195. [R., 14 P.R. 1904 = 140 P.L.R. 1904.]

(162)—Disposal of a preliminary point—Reversal of decree on appeal, and irregular remand of case under s. 562, Civ. Pro. Code, 1877—Power of succeeding Judge to retry preliminary point.—Where the District Judge reverses the lower Court's decision on a preliminary point, and remands the case under s. 562 (though irregularly) for the trial of a certain issue, it is not competent for his successor, when the case comes up again in appeal, to retry and decide such preliminary point. SURAJ DIN v. CHATTAR, 3 A. 755 = A.W.N. 1881, 55. [R., 32 M. 318; Appr., 14 A. 348.]

(163)—Practice—Defendant's application to summon plaintiff—No order passed—Procedure—Remand by appellate Court—Plaintiff summoned by defendant—Absence of plaintiff—Summons not legal—Adverse inference.—When a suit was before the first Court, an application was made by the defendant that the plaintiff should be summoned and examined, but the Court did not then pass any order upon that application. When it came before the lower appellate Court upon the appeal of the defendant, and this omission on the part of the first Court was brought to his notice, the Judge directed the first Court to entertain that application and consider whether or not it ought to be granted, and if it ought to be granted, then to summon the plaintiff and record his evidence. Held that there was nothing irregular in the lower appellate Court taking this course, although there was nothing which provided specially for it in the Civ. Pro. Code. Where the plaintiff who was summoned by the other side absented himself, the Court was perfectly justified in taking the circumstance of his neglect to attend into consideration when deciding the case upon the facts. BONOMALEE CHURN MYTEE v. SHEIKH HAFIZUDEEN, 13 B.L.R. 247, Note=12 W.R. 317.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(164)—Ex parte decree affirmed in appeal and special appeal—Re-hearing—Beng. Act VIII of 1869—Notice of suit—Remand.—In execution of a decree by the Deputy Collector—confirmed in appeal by the first appellate Court and by the High Court in special appeal against certain defendants then present and the husband of the first respondent, who had since died and who was not then present, an application was made for the sale of certain of his immoveable properties and thereupon the respondent filed a petition applying for a re-hearing on the ground that her husband had received no notice of the suit. This application was refused by the Munsif to whom it was presented, Act VIII of 1869 (B.C.) having in the meantime come into force, on the ground that the re-hearing was barred by the institution of an appeal and special appeal. Held, that the Munsiff was clearly wrong, for if the husband of the respondent really had no notice of the suit, he could not be concluded by anything done in it. Where, on appeal from the Munsif's decision, the Judge held that the Munsif had no jurisdiction in the matter, but that the application for the re-hearing should be made in the Revenue Court, held that everything that had been done in the case by the Revenue Court and the order of the Judge remanding the case to the Revenue Court must be set aside as altogether without jurisdiction. RAJA MOHESH CHUNDER SINGH SURMAN v. BHOOBUN MOYEE DEBIA, 13 B.L.R. 217, Note=18 W.R. 252.

(165)—Tender of documentary and oral evidence—Refusal by first Court to record oral evidence—Reversal of decree by lower appellate Court without admitting fresh evidence—Power of High Court to remand.—In this case the Court of first instance refused to hear the witnesses for the plaintiffs, as unnecessary having formed a strong opinion in favour of the plaintiffs on their documentary evidence. The Court of first appeal, totally disregarding the fact that the plaintiffs had tendered evidence before the lower Court which had not been put on record by that Court, reversed its finding on the only issue in the case. The action of the lower appellate Court was held to amount to a substantial error of procedure such as would allow of an appeal to the High Court under s. 584 of the Code, and though the case did not fall within any of the sections of the Code relating to the procedure in remanding a case or in procuring additional evidence in second appeals, the High Court was bound, ex debito justitiæ, to quash the whole of the proceedings in both the lower Courts and direct the Court of first instance to restore the case to its list and try it upon the merits according to law, admitting for the purposes of that trial all admissible evidence

Practice and Procedure—continued.

tendered by either party. DURGA DIHAL DAS v. ANORAJI, 17 A. 29=A.W.N. 1894, 190. [R., P.L.R. 1900, 202, 23 A. 167, 91 P.R. 1904=5 P.L.R. 1905, 33 C. 927=3 C.L.J. 67.]

(166)—Privy Council—Remand to Zilla Judge to arrive at certain results by certain enquiries—Reasons for enquiry—Judicial record.—When the Privy Council remits a case with directions to this country that the Zilla Court may arrive at certain results by certain enquiries, the reasons and objects of these enquiries as recorded by the Privy Council are to be considered part of the judgment or judicial record, and be used for the guidance of the Zilla Court, and may be communicated to the Zilla Court with the decree of the Privy Council. GOLUCK CHUNDER DUTT v. MOHUN LALL SOOKUL, 5 W.R. 271.

(167)—Reversing decree as to part of disputed property and remanding the suit as to remainder—Piecemeal decision.—A Court of appeal dismissed a suit as against two of the defendants, and so far as concerned part of the plaint property; but remanded it for decision on other points as regards the remaining property and defendants. Held, that the High Court cannot countenance this piecemeal decision of the suit. Findings on the issues may of course be recorded from time to time as the hearing proceeds, but in the nature of things the pronouncement of the decree must be reserved until the materials laid before the Court have all been fully assimilated. GANU ANANTSHET v. GANU MAHADEV, 9 Bom L.R. 966.

(168)—Remand by appellate Court after taking evidence.—Where the appellate Court raised issues on the whole case and, after taking the evidence offered, decided them all, and remanded the case reversing the finding of fact: Held, (reversing the order of remand), that the procedure was throughout illegal, for it could not be said that the Court disposed of the suit on a preliminary point. The Judge should himself have disposed of the appeal and of all the points in contest therein. PARAMCHAND v. NIRVANI, 1 Bom. L.R. 72.

(169)—Remand—Taking of evidence by District Court permissible.—It is the invariable practice of the Courts in the mofussil that when a remand involving the taking of fresh evidence is ordered, the District Court sends down the case to the first Court in order that the evidence may be taken there, and this is done in the interests of the parties themselves and for their convenience. But nevertheless the District Court still remains empowered by the order of remand to take what evidence it may see fit to take, and record its findings upon it. KUSHABA v. CHANDRABHAGABAI, 10 Bom. L.R. 536=32 B. 441.

(170)—Appellate Court directing further evidence to be taken by original Court—No date to be fixed for further hearing.—When an appellate Court passes an order directing further evidence to be taken by the lower Court and to send it up when taken to the Appellate Court, it is wrong for such Appellate Court to fix a date for further hearing in the Appellate Court until the record is returned from the lower Court. ASAMUDDIN KARI v. KARIM SHUKOOR, 4 L.B.R. 239.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(171)—Oaths Act (X of 1873), ss. 10, 11—Referee's deposition inadequate to decide question referred—Death of referee—Appeal.—The parties to a suit agreed to be bound by the deposition of a referee in the manner contemplated by ss. 10 and 11 of the Oaths Act, and a decree was passed in favour of one of the parties on the strength of that deposition. The referee died afterwards, and it was found on appeal that the said deposition did not fully cover the questions in issue between the parties. Held that the case was, therefore, to be remanded to the lower Court for disposal according to the usual procedure. MAHABIR PRASAD MISR v. DAT MISR, 13 A. 386, A.W.N. 1891, 143.

(172)—Procedure—Irregularity—Practice.—Where the lower Appellate Court remanded a case to the Court of first instance instead of sending down an issue in conformity with the provision of law, the High Court held that there was no occasion to interfere with the order solely on that ground. CHHOTIRAM v. MITHARAM, 2 Bom. L.R. 135.

(173)—Set off—No issue—No decision—Practice.—Where a claim of set off was asserted by the defendant in his written statement, but no issue on the point was raised; no pronouncement on it was made by the first Court; it was not made, in appeal, the subject of cross objection nor was it urged in argument before the Appellate Court; the Court of appeal being of opinion that it formed an integral part of the suit, framed appropriate issues and sent the case to the first Court for trial upon them, with a view of determining the validity of the defendant's claim to set off. AHMEDABAD A. S. & W. CO. v. LAKSHMISHANKAR, 6 Bom. L.R. 790.

(174)—Practice—Destruction of lower Court's record pending appeal—Remand for trial as fresh suit.—Where in a case pending appeal, the lower Court's record was entirely destroyed, but the Appellate Court decided after re-examining witnesses, without the pleadings or evidence as originally given, the High Court on second appeal set aside the proceedings of the lower Appellate Court and remanded the case to the first Court to re-try it as a fresh suit. GHULAMAN v. KARIMA, A.W.N. 1888, 117.

(175)—New trial—Discovery of document after judgment—No application for discovery before judgment—Fraud.—Where, no cause of fraud or surprise having been made out, a party to the suit sought for a new trial on the ground of discovery after judgment of an important document, which was in the possession of an opposite party, but of which the party first named had neglected to obtain discovery before judgment: Held that a new trial should not be granted. TURNBULL AND CO. v. DUVAL, 6 C.W.N. 809, P.C.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(176)—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 588 (b)—Loss of plaint.—When it is established that the plaint has been stolen or destroyed, the suit or appeal may proceed upon a copy thereof or, failing a copy, upon oral evidence of the contents thereof. MOHAMMED ALI KHAN v. MUHAMMAD NABI, 1 A.L.J. 695.

(177)—Appeal—Records destroyed—New trial.—The mere fact that the record was accidentally destroyed in the interval between the original hearing of a case and the appeal cannot give the appellant a right of retrial. It is open to a Court of appeal to try the case upon any materials proved to have been used at the hearing in the first Court, but it is for the appellant to put those materials before the Court. HAR KUMAR PAL CHOWDRY v. SHEIKH ASIATULLAH, 3 C.W.N. 150.

(178)—Practice—Duty of High Court in revision.—In second appeals, it is not the duty of the High Court to enter into the merits of the evidence, a fortiori, in cases of revision. All that the High Court, as a Court of revision, is required to do, is to see whether the requirements of the law have been duly and properly obeyed by the Courts whose orders are subjected to revision, and whether the irregularity as to failure of exercise of jurisdiction is such as would justify interference by the High Court. MUHAMMAD HUSAIN v. AJUDHIA PRASAD, 10 A. 467 = A.W.N. 1888, 179.

(179)—Findings of lower Courts on questions of fact.—It is not the practice of the Judicial Committee to disturb the findings of the Court below upon mere issues of fact, unless their Lordships are clearly satisfied that there has been some miscarriage, either in the reception, or in the appreciation, of evidence. In cases that turn upon the credibility of the testimony given, the Appellate Court is disposed to defer to the judgment of the Judges who, with the advantage of local experience, have had the means of seeing the witnesses under examination, and of inspecting the original documents. GHOOLAM MOORTOOLAH KHAN BAHADOOR v. THE GOVERNMENT, 9 M.I.A. 456 = 2 Sar. 23.

(180)—Practice—Question of fact—Concurrent findings of two Courts.—The Judicial Committee will not disturb the concurrent findings of two lower Courts on a question of fact. In this case also the Committee preferred not to depart from the general rule as to concurrent decisions on fact stated above. ASHGAR REZA v. NEHDI HOSSEIN, 20 C. 560, P.C. = 20 I.A. 38 = 6 Sar. 283.

(181)—Findings of fact based on conjecture—Powers of High Court.—Per Mahmood, J.—Findings of fact not based on evidence, but upon conjecture made by the lower Courts, are, strictly speaking, legal inferences and the expression of their legal views; and the High Court can, in second appeal, decide whether such inferences and such views are correct under the law. SANKAR LAL v. SUKHRANI, 4 A. 462 = A.W.N. 1882, 106.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(182)—Practice—Question of law—Preliminary issue—Maintainability of suit—Disposal on merits.—Where the Court finds that the condition precedent to the plaintiff's coming into Court did not exist and that the plaintiff's status to ask for possession has not been established, it should dismiss the plaintiff's claim in limine and should not proceed to dispose of the other questions of fact. RADHA v. JAGANATH, A. W.N. 1883, 57.

(183)—Interference by High Court in special appeal.—The High Court will always refuse to interfere with the appellate judgment of a lower Court, unless it commits some error of law or is under some misapprehension of law. NOOR ALI MIAN KHONDKHAN v. ASHADULLA, 11 C. 608.

(184)—Question of fact.—The High Court cannot accept a finding of fact, arrived at without an application of sound principles to the consideration of evidence, as binding upon it. SHARIFA v. MUNEKHAN, 3 Bom. L.R. 167 = 25 B. 574.

(185)—Question of facts—Inferences from facts found.—A Court of appeal ought never to reverse the judgment of an inferior Court unless quite confident that the judgment given in the Court below is wrong. Where the case depends upon the proper inferences to be drawn from facts indisputably established by the evidence, an appellate Court may be in as good a position to judge as the original tribunal. But where the case hinges on the question which of the two conflicting stories is to be believed, to which witnesses credence is to be given, the original tribunal is far better placed than the Appellate Court to correctly gauge the truth. INDIAN MANUFACTURING CO. v. LALJI, 6 Bom. L.R. 1130.

(186)—Second appeal—Interference with impossible finding—Finding insufficient basis for conclusions.—Where the decree of the lower Appellate Court is founded upon an impossible finding or where its findings form an insufficient basis for its conclusions, the High Court will interfere in second appeal. BASA MAL v. GHAYAS-UD-DIN, 2 A.L.J. 27 = 27 A. 356 = A.W.N. 1904, 276.

(187)—Practice—Reversal of finding by Judge without discussion of grounds—Effect.—Where a District Judge expresses an opinion and records a finding without discussing at all the several grounds on which a Subordinate Judge came to a contrary conclusion, such a finding ought not to be accepted. BABU MADHAV SHAN BHOG v. VENKATESH MANJAYA, 16 B. 540. [R., 5 Bom. L.R. 956.]

(188)—Suit on rent-note—Issue raised as to ownership—Omission to give finding on it—Duty of Court.—The plaintiff instituted a suit on a rent-note. An issue was raised as to the ownership of land in the suit. Both the parties gave evidence at the trial on that issue. On appeal, the Judge thought it unnecessary to arrive at any finding on that issue. Held that the lower appellate Court ought to have found on that issue. RAMKOR GOPALJI v. GANGA RAM, 16 B. 545.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(189)—Want of jurisdiction—Ground for new trial.—Though the plea of want of jurisdiction was not formally raised or recorded at the original hearing, a new trial on that ground may be granted. CHUNDEE CHURN DUTT v. EDULJEE COWASJEE BIJNEE, 8 C. 678 = 11 C.L.R. 225.

(190)—Jurisdiction—Civil and Revenue Courts—Suit instituted in wrong Courts—Act XII of 1881 (N.W.P. Rent Act), ss. 206, 207, 208.—Where a plea to the jurisdiction, in respect of a suit instituted in a Revenue Court, is raised in that Court and is repeated before the District Judge, the latter should, where there are no materials on the record sufficient for the determination of the suit, only entertain the plea pro tanto for the purpose of determining to what Court he should direct his order of remand, and should not pass an order, the effect of which is to dismiss the suit. DEBI SARAN LAL v. DEBI SARAN UPADHIA, 6 A. 378 = A.W.N. 1884, 122. [Appr., 12 A. 419; R., 6 A. 442.]

(191)—Objection to jurisdiction—When to be taken.—An objection as to jurisdiction to try an issue which, if taken at the first opportunity, would lead to the dismissal of a suit, cannot be taken after the close of the trial. SETH RAM RATTAN v. SUNDER DAS, 118 P.R. 1892. (9 A. 191, P.C., F.)

(192)—Legal objection—When can be raised.—An objection to the plaintiff having no cause of action may be taken at any stage of the suit. (6 B.L.R. App. p. 73, Rel. on.)—The House of Lords in England has decided that a legal question may be raised even in the ultimate Court of appeal, which has not previously been taken. CHAMPA KUAR v. MINA MAL, A.W.N. 1887, 1.)

(193)—Plaint disclosing no cause of action—Competency of defendant to obtain the declaration of the Court upon the question—Objection not taken in written statement.—It is competent to the defendant to obtain at the earliest possible stage of the hearing the declaration of the Court upon the question whether there is or is not a cause of action disclosed in the plaint, whether or not that question was expressly raised in the written statement. UMAMOYEE DASSEE v. RAJ KRISTO NUNDAN, 3 C.W.N. 220.

(194)—Practice—Appeal—Objection allowed as going to root of suit, though not taken in memorandum of second appeal—Objection in accordance with Full Bench decision reversing previous decisions on which plaintiff respondent had relied—Costs.—An objection on a matter of law and which goes to the very root of the suit would be allowed in second appeal, though not taken in the memorandum of such appeal. An objection to the decree of the lower appellate Court, that, under s. 244 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, the plaintiff-respondent's remedy was not by suit but by appeal in the execution department, was allowed, though not taken in the memorandum of second appeal. But inasmuch as in the above case, the Full Bench ruling in Seth Chand Mal v. Durga Dei (10 A. W.N. 1890, p. 137) reversing previous decisions of the High Court, in reliance on which the plaintiff had brought his suit, and as the question of jurisdiction was only raised at the stage of second appeal, the High Court dismissed the suit without costs in every Court. ISHRI DAT v. MAHABIR PRASAD, A.W.N. 1890, 183.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(195)—Plaintiff's objections, when may be made.—If the plaintiff has not been heard at first against the defendant's application, he may always be allowed to come in afterwards for the purpose of showing that the leave to appear and defend ought not to have been granted, or that the terms upon which it has been granted ought to have been made more stringent than they were. VONLINTZGY v. NARAYAN SING, 6 B.L.R. App. 64.

(196)—Order setting aside ex parte decree. Legality of, right to object to.—S. 119, Act VIII of 1859. — Although an order setting aside an ex parte decree and ordering a re-hearing is final, in the sense that it is not by itself open to appeal, the party affected by the order is not precluded by s. 119 of Act VIII of 1859 (=s. 108 of Act XIV of 1882) from objecting to the legality of the order, on the ground that it was passed after the period of limitation and so without jurisdiction. RUNG-LALL MISSER v. TOKHUN MISSER, 2 C. 114.

(197)—Point not taken even in the memorandum of second appeal, if can be allowed.—The question was whether a suit on a negotiable instrument could be dealt with as a suit for the recovery of the alleged loan apart from the instrument. This point was not suggested even in the grounds of second appeal. Held, that the question can't be allowed to be argued. AMBALAVANA PANDARASANNIDHI v. SINGARAVELU PILLAI, 5 M.L.T. 210. (28 M. 205, 18 M.L.J. 186, F.)

(198)—Objection raised for the first time in second appeal.—An objection, that a document, which per se is not admissible in evidence, has been improperly admitted in evidence, cannot be entertained for the first time in second appeal. GIRINDRA CHANDRA GANGULI v. RAJENDRA NATH CHATTERJEE, 1 C.W.N. 530. (19 A. 76=23 I.A. 106, D.) [R., 23 C. 142.]

(199)—Evidence—Trying different suits together — Duty of appellate Courts.—A sued B for rent, making C a defendant; the suit was dismissed and A appealed. Then C sued B for rent; A intervened and was made a defendant; a decree was passed in favour of C and A again appealed. On appeal, the Subordinate Judge tried both suits on the same evidence, though there was evidence in the second case which was not before the lower Court on the hearing of the first. Held that he should have recorded his reasons for doing so; but that his judgment could not be set aside on that ground, it not appearing that the party taking the objection had been prejudiced or that he had raised it before the Subordinate Judge. PRAN NATH SANDYAL v. RAM COOMAR SANDYAL, 2 C.L.R. 33.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(200)—Stare decisis—Inexpediency of varying rule long adhered to.—Stare decisis is a salutary rule, and where injustice is not effected by following a rule of law laid down many years ago, and consistently adhered to, it is obviously inexpedient to vary that rule. ABDUL RAZAK v. MUHAMMAD IBRAHIM, 14 P.L.R. 1903.

(201)—Proper use to be made of law reports by Courts.—A Court is entitled to refer to reports of cases as precedents. But, because a judgment, order or decree finds a place in the reports of cases, the Court should not take cognizance of such judgment, order, etc. The party relying on it should be asked to produce a copy of the same and file it in the record of the case. SOURINDRA MOHUN TAGORE v. SIROMONI DEBI, 28 C. 171=5 C.W.N. 307. (27 C. 1, P.C., R.)

(202)—High Court's Ruling—Duty of subordinate Court to follow.—Subordinate Courts in the N.W.P. should follow the rulings of the Allahabad High Court and should not be guided by conflicting decisions of other High Courts. IMAM ALI v. SAADAT ALI, A.W.N. 1882, 106.

(203)—Duty of Courts subordinate to High Court to follow precedents of that High Court.—A Court subordinate to a High Court is bound to follow the rulings of the High Court to which it is subordinate. SHEO NARAIN RAI v. SHEO PAL RAI, A.W.N. 1894, 14. [R., 16 A. 254.]

(203-a)—Duty of subordinate Courts to follow decisions of superior Courts.—It is the duty of every subordinate Court, where it finds decision of the High Court, to which it is subordinate, applicable to a case before it, to follow such decision without question. EMPEROR v. DENI, 2 A.L.J. 498=A.W.N. 1905, 184=2 Cr. L.J. 395.

(204)—Practice—Different rulings of different High Courts—Judge to follow rulings of High Court to which he is subordinate.—Where there are different rulings of the different High Courts on a particular point, a Judge should follow the rulings of the High Court to which he is subordinate. SWAMI ROW NARAYAN DESHPANDE v. KASHINATH KRISHNA MUTALIK DESAI, 15 B. 419. [R., 17 B. 555.]

(205)—Practice—Different rulings by different High Courts—Duty of subordinate Courts—Practice.—Where there are different rulings by different High Courts on the same point, a Judge must follow the ruling of the

Practice and Procedure—continued.

High Court to which he is subordinate. BALAJI GANESH v. SAKHARAM PARASHRAM ANGAL, 17 B. 555. [Cons., 27 B. 1; R., 8 C.W.N. 66=31 C. 83]

(206)—Precedents to be followed by lower Courts—Conflicting decisions of several High Courts.—The lower Courts in India are bound to follow the concurrent decisions of the High Court to which they are immediately subordinate, and are not at liberty to adopt a contrary opinion expressed by another High Court. KORBAN ALI MIRDHU v. PITUMBARI DASI, 13 C.L.R. 256=10 C. 82.

(207) Matters of procedure—Decisions of various High Courts.—In matters of procedure, it is very important that the decisions of the various Benches of the High Court should, if possible, be in harmony. AKIKUNNISSA BIBEE v. ROOP LAL DASS, 25 C. 133.

(208)—Decision of High Court binding on Lower Court.—A Lower Court is legally bound to follow the decision of the High Court. SURET SUNDARI BARMANI v. UMA PROSAD ROY CHOWDHRY, 31 C. 628=8 C.W.N. 578.

(209)—Judgments of High Court.—A judgment of the High Court by a majority is binding on the Courts subordinate to it, until it is overruled by the High Court itself. VEDANTA v. KANNIYAPPA, 9 M. 14, F.B.

(210)—Decision of one High Court, if binding on other High Courts.—Except in cases to which the principle of res judicata applies, a High Court, although it should give due consideration to the reasons stated by another High Court, for its decision, is not bound to follow that decision unless it agrees with it. Per Edge, C.J. BHAGWAN SINGH v. BHAGWAN SINGH, 17 A. 294, F.B.=A.W.N. 1895, 167.

(211)—Judge deciding a case not bound by the findings in same case of his predecessor in office.—A Judge, who has to decide a case, has seisin of the whole case, and is in no way bound by any findings, whether of fact or of law, which may have been come to by his predecessor in office. AMIR KAZIM v. ZAINAB BEGAM, A.W.N. 1897, 152.

(212)—Procedure—Change of—Precedent.—A decision under a different procedure cannot be cited as a precedent under the new Code. AZIZ-UNNISSA KHATUN v. SHASI BHUSHAN BOSE, 2 B.L.R. App. 47=11 W.R. 343.

(213)—Policy of Courts of Law.—It has always been the policy of the Courts in India not to apply the strict rules of English Law to natives of this country. SHEIKH PARABDI SAHAN v. SHEIKH MAHOMED HOSSEIN, 1 B. L.R. A.C. 37. [R., 17 M.L.J. 469.]

(214)—Suit for foreclosure or sale—Money-decree—Note to decree—Effect—Affidavit filed after adjournment for convenience of counsel—Admissibility.—In an undefended suit for foreclosure or sale in the usual form, on the plaintiff electing to take a simple money-decree, the Court passed a decree which was in the usual form of money-decree and to which the following note was appended—"The equity of redemption in the property comprised in the mortgage is not liable to attachment and sale under this decree." The plaintiff made ineffectual attempts to realise his money. After this, he applied to the Court to sell the mortgaged properties. Held that it was discretionary with the Court to grant or refuse the sale. The note at the end of the decree did not amount to an absolute prohibition against the sale. It was only meant as a guide to the Court which should have to execute the decree. It was meant to show that execution should not issue against the equity of redemption except by special leave of the Court. Quære.—Whether an affidavit, filed after an adjournment granted for convenience of counsel, is admissible and can be referred to by the Court? NEERUNJUN MOOKERJEE v. OOPENDRO NARAIN DEB, 10 B.L.R. 57. [R., 22 B. 624, 35 C. 61=6 C.L.J. 320=11 C.W.N. 1011.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(215)—Propriety of Judges trying a cause consulting another Judge.—Judges who have heard the arguments and who are responsible for the decision can hardly, with propriety, rest it on the authority of one who has not heard the arguments, and is not responsible for the decision, though he also may be a Judge of the High Court. HARRIS v. BROWN, 28 C. 621=28 I.A. 159=5 C.W.N. 729=3 Bom. L.R. 808=8 Sar. 92.

(216)—Admiralty cases—Consolidation of suits—Procedure—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—St. 2 and 3, William IV, c. 51—Rules issued under.—According to the earlier practice, salvage claims were consolidated on the application of the defendants against the consent of the plaintiffs, and also on the application of the plaintiffs against the consent of the defendants. (The "William Hutt," Lush, 25; The "Melpomene," L.R. 4 Ad. and E., 130, relied on). According to the later practice, salvage claims should not be consolidated against the will of the promovents. (The "Jacob Landstorm," L.R., 4 P.D., 191 and The "Pasithea," L.R., 5 P.D., 5, relied on.) The Civ. Pro. Code contains no provision for the consolidation of suits. Under certain circumstances, the practice of the Court of Admiralty in England ought to be followed, so far as such practice can be applied to India by analogy. (21 W.R. 196, 10 C. 58, 17 C. 337, R.) N.B.—It appears from a recent case (In re The Strathgarry, Weekly Notes, March 2, 1895, p. 42), that the Court of Admiralty in England has reverted to the old practice stated above. In the matter of the FALLS OF ETTRICK, 22 C. 511. [R., 27 C. 860.]

(217)—Admiralty jurisdiction—Practice—Application for consolidation of salvage claims—Application for consolidation and commission for taking evidence before filing of written statement.—Where an application is made on behalf of the impugnants for consolidation of two separate salvage claims made by two different promovents for salvage services rendered by them, it is within the discretion of the Court to grant the application without regard to the consent of the parties. The application for consolidation and for a commission for taking evidence de bene esse may be made and granted before the filing of the written statement. RETRIEVER v. DRACHENEFLIS, 3 C.W. N. 67. (22 C. 511, R.)

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(218)—Jurisdiction—Civil Courts Act—Court Fees Act.—Whenever a mortgage (not admitted by the plaintiff) is proved and its amount fixed, he may propose, if the defendant do not object, to redeem that mortgage. The amount of the subject-matter may become increased in value, and then further duty should be payable. If the value of the subject-matter appears at the conclusion of the trial or before that to exceed the pecuniary limit of the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court should return the plaint to be presented in the proper Court. CHANDU v. KOMBI, 9 M. 208. [R., 14 M. 169.]

(219)—Hindu Law—Adoption—Presumption—Failure of adoption, Issue as to—Conflict of evidence—Practice—Adoption of only nephew—Dwayamushyayana adoption, Effect of, on inheritance—Costs—Appealable value—Objection.—Observations on the presumption of adoption arising from the religious duty of a childless Hindu to adopt a son, and of the circumstances which rebut such presumption. On the issue as to the failure of an adoption as to which there was a conflict of evidence, the Privy Council, in the absence of strong documentary evidence confirmatory of the adoption, and on a consideration of the probabilities of the case, reversed the judgment of the High Court which had upheld the adoption, and confirmed that of the Judge of the original Court who saw and heard the witnesses, and who considered the witnesses in support of the adoption to be unworthy of credit. An alleged adoption by an uncle, of his nephew, who, at the time of such adoption, was his brother's only son, was not, as a fact, proved to have taken place. Semble:—Such adoption, if made, was invalid by Hindu law. The effect by the Hindu Law of an adoption of Dwayamushyayana (son of two fathers) is not to extinguish the lineage of the adopted son to his natural father, or to bar him of his right of inheritance to his father's estate. In a case of an alleged adoption by gift, in which the deed of gift stated that the son was taken by the person adopting as palluck putro, for securing future oblations of water and funeral cake; that he would be brought up like a son; that the ceremonies of sungskar have been performed, and he had been constituted the representative of the person adopting; it was held that the terms did not import the adoption of a son by gift, and that it was only by reason of the gift that the filial relation to the natural father was extinguished, or the right of the son in the estate of the giver ceased. [Rel. on, 12 B. H.C. 364; R., 14 A. 67, F.B., 19 B. 428.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Quære: Whether, in estimating the appealable value of Rs. 10,000, the costs of suit can be added to the principal and interest decreed? An objection to an appeal, on the ground that the amount in dispute is below the appealable amount, comes too late, when made to the Privy Council at the hearing of the appeal. NILMADHAB DAS v. BISWAMBHAR DAS, 3 B. L.R. P.C. 27=12 W.R. P.C. 29=13 M.I.A. 85=2 Sar. 489=2 Suther, 257. [R., 19 M. 350.]

(220)—Valuation of suit—Preliminary question.—The proper valuation of a suit is a preliminary question and must be determined before proceeding with the trial. JOYTARA DASSEE v. MAHOMED MOBARUCK, 8 C. 975=11 C.L.R. 399. [R., 31 B. 73=8 Bom. L.R. 885.]

(221)—Permission to pay stamp duty in case of lost instrument—Quære.—Whether permission to pay the stamp duty and penalty can be given in the case of a lost instrument? ARUNACHELLAM CHETTY v. OLAGAPPAH CHETTY, 4 M.H.C. 312. [R., U.B.R. 1892-1896, Vol. II, 631, 23 M. 49, P.C.]

(222)—Stamp duty. Mistake in—Rectification—Qualified privilege.—A mistake in stamp duty can, in some cases, be rectified, but this is a qualified privilege; and this cannot be done where the relief to be granted is altogether distinct from that originally sought. In such a case, additional stamp should not be allowed to be put on the plaint. CHOKALINGAPESHANA NAICKER v. ACHIYAR, 1 M. 40 [F., 8 M. 516, 15 M. 15; Appl., 3 B. 230; D., 2 A. 263, 4 M. 131, 14 B. 395, 17 B. 56.]

(223)—Issue of certificate of sale—Insufficiency of stamp—Court not bound to grant fresh certificate.—A Court, having once issued a certificate of sale to a purchaser at the Court auction, is under no obligation to give him another for the sole purpose of evading the penalty which he has incurred by not having presented in the first instance to the Court a paper properly stamped for it. NANDRAM MOTIRAM v. KACHA BHAV, 9 B. 526.

(224)—Certificate of sale left unregistered—Grant of fresh certificate.—On attempting to get possession of the house purchased by the applicant at a Court-sale, he was obstructed, and, with his application for removal of the obstruction, presented his sale-certificate, which he had not got registered. On the refusal of the above application, because of the non-registration of the sale-certificate, he applied for a fresh certificate. The lower Courts having refused to grant the same, he made the present application to the High Court under its extraordinary jurisdiction, and that Court ordered that a fresh certificate, dated the date thereof, should be given, the original certificate in the applicant's possession being taken back. In re LAKSHMAN, 9 B. 472.

(225)—Practice—Holding brief for another, legality of—Strict rule of law modified by old practice—Appeal argued by a pleader holding brief for another—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 36, 37,

Practice and Procedure—continued.

38 and 652 — Oudh Civil Digest, r. VIII.—Held, that, although no formal rule regarding the transfer of a brief by one pleader to another had been made by the Court of the Judicial Commissioner, yet regard being had to the fact that the practice was one of a long standing in the Court and one formally authorized by the other High Courts, and also to the fact that it facilitated the work of the Court and tended to the convenience of the pleaders practising before the Court and of the parties as well, the practice was a proper one and should be maintained. Held, further, that an appeal heard and argued by a pleader of Judicial Commissioner's Court to whom the brief had been so transferred, by another pleader was properly heard and decided and the party so represented should not be allowed to re-argue the appeal. PRAG alias NANHU v. THE DEPUTY COMMISSIONER OF BAHRAICH, 9 O.C. 65. (4 O.C. 303, 22 B. 654, 9 A. 613, R.)

(226)—Lunatic not so adjudicated—Appearance.—A man, alleged to be of infirm mind and not adjudicated a lunatic, may appear either by vakil or in person. UMA SUNDARI DAS v. RAMJI HALDAR, 7 C. 242=9 C.L.R. 13. [R., 13 B. 656, 20 A. 2=1897 A.W.N. 155; F., 31 P.R. 1905=54 P.L.R. 1905.]

(227)—Practice—Pleader unwell and applying for postponement—No excuse—One pleader appearing for another.—Where the pleader for appellant was not present in the Court at the time of the hearing of the appeal but had forwarded a letter to the Registrar intimating that he was suffering from illness and requesting the Court to postpone his case, held that that was no excuse, that for the purposes of meeting such a case the Court had countenanced and undertaken to recognize the appearance of one pleader on behalf of another, and that the pleader should have made arrangements so that the work of the Court should proceed in due course, and that the case should be treated as in default and that the appeal should be dismissed. MAHANT RANGLAL BHAGAT v. DEONARAIN, A.W.N. 1887, 282.

(228)—Orders issued by Court.—It is not the duty of the officers of the Court to call upon the pleaders to sign the orders issued, or to inform them of the nature of the orders passed. It is for the pleaders to be present at the proceedings, and to make themselves acquainted with the orders passed. ROBERT WATSON & CO. v. AMBICA DAS, 27 C. 529=4 C.W.N. 237.

(229)—Money brought into Court under process of execution—Party or Vakil present—Duty of Court.—When money is brought into Court under process of execution, and the party entitled to it or his duly authorized vakil is present to receive it, the Court may and should cause the same to be paid over immediately. MUTTUVELU PILLAI v. SAMU PILLAY, 5 M.H.C.R. App. 2.

(230)—Special appeal—Duty of pleaders to state grounds in full.—The rule which requires pleaders to certify that the grounds taken in special appeal are good, also requires them to see that the grounds are full. RAM KRISTO DEB v. RAJ CHUNDER SURMAH, 11 W.R. 246.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(231)—Appeal to High Court—Appellant, a Vakil—Certificate of grounds of appeal.—In an appeal to the High Court, where the appellant is himself a Vakil of the High Court, the grounds of appeal should not be certified by him. THAKOOR DOSS MOOKERJEE v. AMEER MUNDUL, 14 W.R. 168.

(232)—High Court Rules (Appellate side), 86 and 162—Vakil's right to be heard in second appeal without certified grounds of appeal or an order admitting appeal.—On a second appeal, where duly certified grounds of appeal have not been filed, nor has the appeal been admitted by order of Court under Rules 86 and 162, a vakil has no right to be heard on behalf of the appellant. OLIULLAH v. BACHU LAL KHOTTA, 15 C. 706. (3 W.R. 216, F.)

(233)—Practice—Vakil—Right to appear before the High Court on its original side—Application to remove case to itself from mofussil Court—Vakil not entitled to file warrant of attorney—Civ. Pro. Code, 1908, not affecting rules in force before 1909.—A vakil of the High Court has no right to file a warrant of attorney before a Judge sitting on the original side of the High Court at Fort William, in respect of an application praying for the removal of a suit pending before a mofussil Court to itself in its extraordinary original civil jurisdiction. The Civ. Pro. Code, 1908, has nothing to do with a matter governed by old rules in force before 1909. In re VAKIL'S APPLICATION, 37 C. 853=8 Ind. Cas. 724.

(234)—Advocates, Right of, to appear and plead when instructed by vakils—Rules of the original side of the Madras High Court—Rule 533.—When a party, in England, appears in person, he has a right to be heard by counsel if he can get one, although such counsel is not instructed by an attorney. The same principle applies where a client does not act in person but through a vakil, a class of practitioners unknown in England. There is no rule of law which prevents a party acting by a vakil from being heard by counsel, that is to say, by an advocate appearing for him. K. MUNGHIAH CHETTY v. K. RAMIAH CHETTY, 3 M.L.T. 322.

(235)—Practice—Hearing two counsel.—It is not the practice to hear more than one counsel or vakil in support of original motions or application against which no cause is shown in the first instance. In the matter of the petition of BARODA SOONDREE DASSEE, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 609=6 W.R. Mis. 114.

(236)—Argument on preliminary issue—Number of counsel for same party—Practice.—When a case is argued on a preliminary issue, two counsels for the same party may be allowed to address the Court. FATMABAI v. AISHABAI, 12 B. 454.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(237)—Bom. Reg. V of 1827, s. 7, cl. 2—Decision of claim by supreme authority in State—Application of exception to clause—Absence of binding decree immaterial—Two sets of appellants—Two counsel.—In this case, their Lordships of the Judicial Committee were of opinion that, although the sunnud in question was not to be considered as a judgment between the parties, yet that sunnud, taken with reference to the other documents connected with it, was sufficient for the purposes of limitation to bring the case within the exception in clause 2, s. 7, Reg. V of 1827, for it was clear that there had been a claim referred to an authority that had to try and decide the question, namely, the supreme power in the state having authority to decide between the parties. It was objected, however, that another condition was not complied with, i.e., that there was not sufficient proof given of how it was that a satisfactory and binding decree was not obtained. The Committee however held that, although the above sunnud could not be considered per se as a binding and a regular judgment, it was quite enough, coupled with subsequent admission, to account for the party not having proceeded to obtain the judgment of the Court itself. [R., 6 B. H.C. 238.] There being two sets of appellants, having separate interests and adverse claims against each other, as well as against the respondents, the Judicial Committee permitted two counsel to be heard for each set of appellants. JEWAJEE v. TRIMBUKJEE, 6 W.R.P.C. 38=3 M.I.A. 138.

(238)—Two sets of defendants having same interests—Both to address Court before evidence is gone into.—Where there are two sets of defendants, and their interests are practically the same, both should address the Court before any evidence is gone into. In re DUKSHINA MOHUN ROY, 29 C. 32.

(239)—Court of appeal—Findings of facts—Suggestions by the lawyer.—A Court of appeal should not arrive at a conclusion based upon facts merely suggested by the lawyer representing one of the parties but not put forward by witnesses in the Court of first instance. NAWAB SHAH ARA BEGAM v. NANHI BEGAM, 9 Bom. L.R. 80=11 C.W.N. 130=5 C.L.J. 4=1 M.L.T. 429=17 M.L.J. 32=29 A. 29=34 I.A. 1, P.C.

(240)—Erroneous suggestion by Court—Party acting upon it.—Where the defendant raised certain contentions, and the Court, instead of trying and adjudicating on them, referred him to a fresh suit, his acquiescence in such suggestion, instead of preferring an appeal, is reasonable submission to the Court; and, in such circumstances, the rule of res judicata cannot be applied with justice. BABU LAL v. ISHRI PRASAD NARAIN SINGH, 2 A. 582 (F.B.). [R., 14 B. 31.]

(241)—Judge's suggestion to pleader about sufficiency of evidence, how far binding on him.—When a Judge suggests to a pleader that it is needless for him to call further witnesses in evidence on a particular point and suggest that they should be merely tendered for cross-examination, that is an intimation to the pleader that the Judge is satisfied with the evidence so far as it has gone and that the cross-examination of the witnesses that have been called has not impressed him, and when the Judge has made such a suggestion and it has been acted on by the pleader, he and his client have a just cause or complaint if the Judge afterwards turns round and says "I decide against you on the point." HASAJI v. DHONDI RAM, 6 Bom. L.R. 636.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(242)—Counsel's address—Notes taken by the Judge—Evidence.—The notes taken by the Judge of counsel's address are good evidence that when the counsel was addressing the Judge he did say what the Judge has noted. But if there is any real contention as to the correctness of the notes, it would be open to the other side to prove that they were not correct. R.D. SETHNA v. MIRSA MAHOMED SHIRAZI, 9 Bom. L.R. 1042.

(243)—Successive mortgages of same property—Sale under both mortgages—Priority—Redemption—Form of decree—Costs.—A person created successive mortgages upon the same property first in the name of A and subsequently in the name of A's husband, B. Suits were instituted on both the mortgages and judgments were given in both the suits on the same day. The decree on the second mortgage was first executed, the property was brought to sale and plaintiff became the purchaser of the same at the Court-auction. Subsequently, the decree in the name of A was executed and B's son C became the auction-purchaser of the property. In a suit by the plaintiff against A, B and C without impleading the mortgagor as a party, to set aside the sale to the son C, to have himself declared the purchaser and to be entitled to redeem, it was found that B, the husband or father was merely using the names of the others and that the purchase under the second sale was by himself, who had himself caused the first sale to take place, and then purchased under the second sale. Held that the sale to C could not stand against the purchaser under the first sale, that it must be set aside and that the plaintiff was entitled to redeem. In such a case, it is quite unnecessary and irrelevant to say in the decree whether it is, as a second mortgagee or as a purchaser that the plaintiff is entitled to redeem the first mortgage. Costs of introducing irrelevant matter is to be paid by the party so introducing. CHOORAMUN SINGH v. MAHOMED ALI AND AHMED KHAN, 11 C.L.R. 1=9 I.A. 21 (P.C.)=4 Sar. 329.

(244)—Suit on debt bond—Agreement alleged for saving limitation—Evidence relating to the genuineness of agreement—Costs.—The original plaint in this case was filed early in 1847, and proceeded upon a bond of old date, given or alleged to have been given, by the father of the defendant the present appellant; and, inasmuch as the suit would have been barred by length of time, unless something had taken place subsequent to the bond, the suit also proceeded upon an agreement of a latter date, which would bring the demand within time. The Zillah Judge considered that this was not shown to be a genuine document and consequently dismissed the suit. It appeared that the same claim had been once brought forward during the infancy of the predecessor of the present appellant who was the son of the original debtor, and that, although the demand was then disputed and successfully disputed, the alleged agreement which, if genuine, cleared the matter from all doubt as to the truth and honesty of the debt, was not brought forward and was not alleged to be in existence. Concurring with the Zillah Judge, the Judicial Committee dismissed the suit on the ground that the evidence in the case and the probabilities were against the genuineness of the document. The appellant was allowed costs of the appeal before Judicial Committee as well as of the Courts in India. KUTCHY KULLYANA RANGAPPAH KALACKA TOLA OODIAR v. BALOOSAMY CHETTY, 3 W.R. (P.C.) 50=7 M.I.A. 224=1 Suth. 330=1 Sar. 651.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(245)—Costs—Withdrawal of appeal—Memorandum of objections—Right of respondent to costs on memorandum.—Quære:—Whether, when an appeal is withdrawn by an appellant, the memorandum of objections filed by the respondent under s. 561, Civ. Pro. Code, cannot be heard. (17 A. 518, R). But the appellate Court has jurisdiction over the question of costs of the memorandum; and the proper order to make, in the absence of any agreement between the parties, would be to direct the appellant to pay the respondent the costs of the appeal as well as the memorandum of objections. PONNUSAWMY NADAR v. SOMASUNDARAM CHETTIAR, 4 M.L.T. 482.

(246)—Honest, though erroneous, belief as to application of a prior case—Effect on costs.—In this case, where it appeared that the plaintiffs and their legal advisers did not unreasonably think that the decision in a previous case of this Court applied to Berar, the Court directed that each party bear his own costs throughout. DAWLATRAO v. GOVINDRAO, 5 N.L.R. 13=1 Ind. Cas. 243. (21 A. 374, 21 A. 441, D.) [R., 6 N.L.R. 3.]

(247)—Appeal—Privy Council—Security for costs—Correction of order.—An order granting leave to appeal to the Privy Council, provided that the costs of the application for leave to appeal to the Privy Council should be costs in the appeal. The appeal was subsequently dismissed by the Privy Council for want of prosecution. The respondents applied to the High Court for an order as to their costs. Held, that the order passed by the High Court should be corrected, and that the costs of the respondents should be awarded. SECRETARY OF STATE v. JANARDAN, 4 Bom. L.R. 947=27 B. 124.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(248)—Costs—Trial of case.—It is inappropriate and contrary to the practice of the Court to investigate the merits of a case merely to determine the incidence of costs. MITHALAL v. CHUNILAL, 4 Bom. L.R. 816.

(249)—Costs, order directing client to pay.—It is not the practice to make an order for payment of costs as between attorney and client, except in a regular suit against the client. SHAIK DOMUN v. SHAIK EAMAUM ALLY, 7 C. 401. [F., 21 C. 85, 27 C. 269; D., 25 C. 887; R., 16 B. 152; Cons., 7 Bom. L.R. 547.]

(250)—Dismissal of appeal for want of prosecution—Restoration—Costs—Ignorance of procedure.—Where an appeal had been dismissed for want of prosecution, no step having been taken in it for ten years, the appeal was, upon petition to the King in Council, restored, the appellant paying the costs of dismissal and restoration, it appearing that the appellant was ignorant, of the proceedings necessary to be taken in this country, and had, though after lapse of some years, instructed a commercial house in Calcutta to prosecute the appeal, but whose agent in England becoming insolvent, no proceedings were taken to bring the case to a hearing. RAJAH DEEDAR HOSSEIN v. RANEE ZUHOORON NISSA, 2 M.I.A. 441=1 Sar. 217=2 Suth. App. Y.

(251)—Security for costs—Joinder of parties.—Where it appears that the plaintiff in a suit sues on behalf of another person, not on the record, the ordinary practice is to require security for costs and stay proceedings until the same is given, or to make such person a party to the suit. RAM COOMAR COONDOO v. CHUNDER CANTO MOOKERJEE, 2 C. 233, P.C. =4 I.A. 23=3 Sar. 654.

(252)—Failure of Small Cause suit owing to want of jurisdiction—Proper judgment—Costs on such failure.—The proper judgment, upon a successful plea of want of jurisdiction, in a suit in a Presidency Small Cause Court, would be that the suit is dismissed; whatever the form of the order, it must be stated that the suit abates or is dismissed "for want of jurisdiction." The defendant is entitled to costs on such a failure of a suit. FRECK v. HARLEY, 6 C. 418=7 C.L.R. 237.

(253)—Defendant in original suit applying to appellate Court for stay of execution—Costs.—The defendants in an original suit applying to the appellate Court for stay of execution, must pay the costs of the application, even if successful, since it is an indulgence. CHUNI LAL v. ANANTRAM, 25 C. 893. [R., 10 C.L.J. 631.]

(254)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 549—Second appeal—Security for costs—Amount not fixed—Security not furnished—Liability of appeal to dismissal.—The respondent in a second appeal applied for an order that the appellants should be required to give security for the costs of the appeal. No amount was stated as the security required. The Court ordered that the security should be furnished at any time before hearing.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

When the appeal came on for hearing, the respondent applied for the rejection of the appeal in consequence of security not having been furnished as required. Held, that the objection had no force. As s. 549 of the Code required specification of the amount of security to be furnished, the order requiring security without such specification was not one contemplated by the section. Held, also, that the proper course for the respondent was to have applied to the Judge, who passed the order to furnish security, for rejection of the appeal at any time before the case came on for hearing, and it was too late, when the case was called on for hearing, to ask the Appellate Court to reject the appeal. THAKUR DAS v. KISSORI LAL, 9 A. 164 = A.W.N. 1887, 7. [Overruled, 18 A. 101.]

(255)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 549—Pauper appellant.—Security for costs under Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 549 may be demanded from a pauper appellant but should not be enforced by Courts except on very special grounds. SESHAYANGAR v. JENULAVADIN, 3 M. 66. (17 W.R. 68, Diss.) [F., 17. M.L.T. 583; R., 7 A. 542 = A.W.N. 1885 127.]

(256)—Practice—Appeal—Poverty no ground for demanding security for costs.—Mere poverty of the appellant is no ground for requiring him to give security for the costs of the appeal. MANEKJI LIMJI MANCHERJI v. GOOLBAL, 3 B. 241. [F., 7 A. 542 = A.W.N. 1885, 127; R., 5 Bom. L.R. 661.]

(257)—Practice of original side of High Court—Purchaser out of time, in paying into Court, balance of purchase-money—Delay on the part of party having carriage of proceedings—Costs.—The practice of the original side of the High Court will be that a purchaser of property at a Registrar's sale should pay interest as a matter of course, if out of time in paying into Court the balance of the purchase-money, subject only to this, that if there has been delay on the part of the party having the carriage of these proceedings, and, if that party appears on the summons taken out by the purchaser, to disallow him any costs as against the purchaser. KAMJE LALL DASS v. SHAMA CHURN DAWN, 21 C. 566. [F., 148 P.R. 1907.]

(258)—Partition suit—Cost incurred subsequent to decree—Order for execution Practice.—One of the parties to a partition suit, who, having the conduct of the partition proceedings subsequent to the decree, pays all the costs, is not entitled, on default being made by the other parties in payment of their respective shares of the costs incurred by him, to embody, in his order against them for payment, an order for execution. He must first get an order of Court for payment; and, if payment be not obtained, application for execution may be made. BRIJOLALL SEN v. MOHENDRO NATH SEN, 18 C. 199.

(259)—Cause list—Transfer of case from undefended to defended board—Costs.—A case

Practice and Procedure—continued.

entered on the undefended board can only be transferred to the defended board on payment of the costs of the adjournment, if any, thereby occasioned. BINDOO MADHUB MITTER v. WOOMESH CHUNDER PAUL, 2 Hyde 86. BHOYRUB CHUNDER DOSS v. CHUNDI CHURN MITTER, Bourke, O. C. 238.

(260)—Non-production of sufficient evidence—Adjournment—Costs.—Where the plaintiff in an ex parte suit failed to adduce sufficient evidence and applied for an adjournment in order to obtain further evidence, the Court remarked that such adjournments were inconvenient and granted an adjournment on condition that the plaintiff should bear the costs of the hearing. SHANKO v. SAVAGE, 7 C. 177.

(261)—Funds in Court attached—Attorney's lien for costs—Attaching creditor—Priority.—Where the money paid into Court as admittedly due to the plaintiff in a suit was attached by a third party, held, that the plaintiff's attorney was entitled to enforce his lien, as against the attaching creditor, in respect of costs incurred by the attorney (on behalf of the plaintiff in the suit) till the date of attachment, and that the attaching creditor had a priority over the attorney subsequently. SUBRAMANIAM SETTY v. HURRY FROO MUG, 14 C. 374.

(262)—Non-payment of costs of suit in Foreign Court, no ground for staying proceedings between parties in Indian Court.—It is not competent to a Court in India to stay proceedings in a suit before it, because the costs of a previous suit between the same parties in a foreign Court have not been paid. The English Courts are, with regard to the Courts in India, as much foreign Courts as the Courts of any other country, such as France. ARTHUR BOWLES v. MARY J. BOWLES, 8 B. 571.

(263)—Suit or particular business.—Where subsequent proceedings relating to the taxation of the costs of any opponent are taken, they are not regarded as part of the suit or application. WATKINS v. FOX, 22 C. 943.

(264)—Appeal to Privy Council—Security—Practice.—As a general rule, Judges should not transmit to the High Court documents which have been used before them for the purpose of making out the title of parties who offer immoveable property as security in Privy Council cases. But they should, in reporting upon the securities, state particulars of the documents which have been produced and proved before them, and upon which the title of the surety appears to be made out. In the matter of AMEERONISSA KHATOON, 14 W.R. 94.

(265)—Act VIII of 1859, s. 122—Additional written statement—Costs. Additional written statement by the defendant was allowed to be put in, on condition of the whole costs of the other party being paid. S. M. DASIMANI DASI v. SRINATH GHOSE, 3 B.L.R. App. 11 (b).

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(266)—Objections to evidence—Stage to raise objections—Costs of Privy Council.—Objections to evidence which ought to have been taken in the Court below, held, too late on appeal. Where there had been an irregularity in the Court below in the reception of evidence, the Judicial Committee, in affirming the judgment of that Court, refused to give costs of appeal. RAJAH BOMMARAUZE BAHADUR v. RANGASAMY MUDALY, 6 M.I.A. 232=1 Sar. 536.

(267)—Motion for discharge of the guardians of an infant—Costs ordered to be paid out of estate—Disallowance of excessive counsel's fees by taxing officer, whether correct.—In a motion for the discharge of the guardians of an infant, the fee paid to counsel was found by the taxing officer to have been unusually excessive. The costs incurred by the guardians, in opposing the application, had been ordered by the Court to be taxed as between attorney and client and paid out of the estate. Held, the taxing officer had rightly decided that the said excessive fee paid to counsel was not prima facie allowable on taxation for payment, either out of the estate, or by clients, who were the guardians of the infant, because, unless the taxing officer was satisfied that the client clearly understood that the payment, either wholly or in part, would not be allowed out of the estate, and that he would be personally responsible for the payment of the whole fee or for so much of it as was not allowed out of the estate, the excessive charge could not be regarded as authorised by the client and could not therefore be allowed as against him. In the matter of THAKUR DASSEE DASSEE, 33 C. 827.

(268)—Pleader's fees—Probate proceedings—Appeal—Assessment of pleader's fees.—Pleader's fees in appeals in probate proceedings should, according to a long standing practice of the High Court, be assessed at Rs. 30. SUNDARABAI v. COLLECTOR OF BELGAUM, 10 Bom. L.R. 1197=33 B. 256.

(269)—Counsel's fees—Certifying counsel.—In certifying counsel in chamber matters under r. 548, the Court has regard to the following circumstances: (1) Whether notice has been given by either side of the intention to employ counsel. (2) Whether the matter to be dealt with involves the consideration of complicated facts or merely of simple facts. (3) Whether there arises any substantial question of law which has to be argued and discussed. ZULEKABAI v. AYESHABAI, 7 Bom. L.R. 733.

(270)—Interrogatories, answers to—Evidence.—Answers to interrogatories are simply affidavits obtained in a particular way, and must be put in as evidence by the party wishing to use them. GOSTO BEHARY PAL v. JOHUR LAL PAL, 4 C. 836=4 C.L.R. 164.

(271)—Rule to show cause—Affidavit.—A rule to show cause must be supported by an affidavit. The affidavit must be sufficient, so that, if no cause is shown, the rule could be made absolute on the affidavit. In re COMPTOIS D'ESCOMPTE DE PARIS v. CURRIE AND CO., 3 B.L.R. App. 153.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(272)—Application for rule to show cause—Affidavit, to be full and specific.—An affidavit in support of an application to the High Court for a rule calling upon a Recorder to show cause why he should not issue execution of a decree, did not state in terms that the plaintiff had got a decree, nor mentioned whether the application for execution was general or specific with regard to the property of the defendant. It merely stated that the application for execution was made in proper form, but the Recorder refused it on the ground that he had reserved a question for the consideration of the High Court.

Held, that before the High Court could grant a rule to show cause, it ought to be satisfied that, if no cause be shown, it ought to make the rule absolute; and that it would not issue a rule to show cause, as, upon the affidavit, it was quite in the dark as to whether, if no cause be shown, it should be promoting the ends of justice by making the rule absolute. In the matter of FRANCIS CHOISY v. R. CURRIE & CO., 12 W.R. 413.

(273)—Affidavit—Application—Restoration of a suit dismissed for default—Affidavit.—An application to restore a suit dismissed for default was not accompanied by an affidavit: the Subordinate Judge, on that ground alone, refused to entertain the same; Held, that it was material irregularity for the Subordinate Judge to say that the application was bad because it was not accompanied by an affidavit when filed. GOKALDAS v. KISANDAS, 3 Bom. L.R. 130.

(274)—Affidavit of documents—Minor—Inspection—Practice—Procedure.—An affidavit of documents may be required from minor defendants. NATHMULL NARSINGDAS v. MALHARAO HOLKAR, 19 B. 350. [R., 23 B. 100; D., 22 C. 891.]

(275)—Affidavit of documents—Sealing up portions of entries not relating to matters in dispute—Inspection.—A defendant in his affidavit of documents objected to allowing inspection of such portions of certain account-books as did not contain entries relating to the matters in question in the suit, and claimed the right to seal up such portions, but did not state what portions of the books or what particular entries did not relate to the matters in dispute, and upon the plaintiff asking for inspection, only certain entries were disclosed and inspection of the rest was refused. Held, the defendant should not take out a summons to consider the sufficiency of the affidavit, and the proper procedure was for the plaintiff to apply for production and inspection of books of account, and to give the defendant the liberty to seal up such parts as, by an affidavit to be made by him, did not relate to the matters in question in the suit. HORENDRA NATH MUKERJEE v. GIRINDRAKUMAR DUTT, 3 C.W.N. 495.

(276)—Right of party to seal up immaterial parts of documents—Affidavit of document, nature of—Practice.—Where certain documents have been filed in a suit, held, that the person who has filed the same is entitled to seal up such portions of the documents as do not relate to the matters in issue in the suit. The affidavit of documents filed by such person must show what portions of the documents he claims to seal up, and the grounds on which he bases his claim. JADUB LOLL SHAW v. KANAI LOLL SHAW, 20 C. 587.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(277)—Filing list of documents—Suit for land—Title-deeds—Affidavit.—In a suit for possession of land, the order that the party in possession do set forth a list of documents, is to be confined to documents other than title-deeds. Where the title-deeds are required by the plaintiff on special grounds, as, for instance, where it is alleged that the defendant is a trustee for the plaintiff, those special grounds on which they are required should be set forth by affidavit. HEERALALL SAHA v. JADUB CHUNDER CHENCHKEY, Cor., 66.

(278)—Practice—Motion for commission and adjournment of suit—Application to withdraw.—In this case, an application was made to the Judge in Chambers on the original side of the High Court for the issuing of a Commission to England, to take the evidence of a material witness in the case, and for an adjournment of the trial of the case; and on this occasion an affidavit of one of the plaintiffs was produced. The Judge declined to make an order in chambers, and so the application was renewed in Court. But the affidavit was not then produced in Court, it having been sent to the office of the plaintiff's attorneys for a copy to be made and served on the defendant. The Judge refused the application for commission and to adjourn the hearing, on the ground that the application for commission was made upon no affidavit. Then, the plaintiff's counsel, not being instructed to proceed with the hearing, asked for permission to withdraw the suit. But this was also refused, and the suit was dismissed. On appeal, held that the Judge acted improperly in refusing to postpone the case for the production of the affidavit in Court; and that there was no legal ground whatever for the refusal to withdraw the suit. Accordingly the suit was restored and remanded to be tried on the merits. DADABHAI NAOROJI AND CO. v. SORABJI GAWASJI, 3 B.H.C.O.C. 55.

(279)—Affidavit—Time for filing.—An affidavit, filed on the day of actual sitting of the Court for hearing an application, though not on the day fixed in notice, is in time. In re HURRUCK CHUND GOLICHA, 5 C. 605=6 C.L.R. 382.

(280)—Ss. 129, 130, 134, 135, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882 (=O. XI, rr. 12, 13, 14, 18 (2), 20, present Code)—Application for further affidavit.—The only occasion when a party can be compelled to file a further affidavit of documents under the Civ. Pro. Code, is when the original affidavit filed by the party is insufficient, i.e., insufficient in its terms and fails to comply with the requirements of the Code. When a party, alleging that his opponent has documents in his possession, which he has failed to disclose in his affidavit of documents, wants further documents, his proper course is to apply on affidavit stating what the documents are which ought to have been disclosed in the affidavit of documents, and that such documents are relevant to the matter in issue in the suit (23 C. 117, Appr.). The proper time for making an application for further disclosure of documents in the possession of the opposite party, is at the hearing of the suit and not before. In the matter of AMARENDRA NATH CHATTERJEE v. KALLY KISSEN TAGORE, 2 C.W.N. 17.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(281)—Title—Evidence—Burden of proof.—A plaintiff must succeed, if at all, upon the strength of his own title and not by the infirmity of that of his opponents. RAHUMTULLA SAHIB v. MAHOMMED AKBAR SAHIB, 8 M. H. C. 63.

(282)—Claim to oust person in possession—Proof to be given by claimant—Defect of opponent's title not to be relied on.—It is essential that a claimant, seeking to oust a party in possession of an estate, should establish his own right to the estate, and not rely upon the failure of the title impeached. JOWALA BUKSH v. DHARUM SINGH, 10 M. I. A. 511=2 Sar. 189.

(283)—Existence of facts—Proof—Evidence.—In a Court of law only those facts can be taken to exist which are proved. PANDURANG v. KRISHNAJI, 5 Bom. L. R. 799=28 B. 125.

(284)—Hereditary cultivators—Claim as proprietors—Evidence.—The plaintiffs were declared at the Settlement to be hereditary cultivators. They now sued to be declared proprietors. The defendants set up proprietary rights. In previous litigation between the parties, the plaintiffs were declared (1) to be mortgagees, (2) to be entitled to be maintained in cultivatory occupancy for five years, (3) to be hereditary cultivators for ten years, (4) to be proprietors of three-fourths of the land. The evidence went to show that the plaintiffs had not paid malikana to the defendants. Held that the only satisfactory mode of deciding the case was to have regard to the established facts. Those facts established beyond all doubt that the plaintiffs were entitled to be declared hereditary cultivators but not proprietors. RAMZANEE v. UZEEZ, 102 P. R. 1868.

(285)—Court—Reception of legal evidence.—It is improper for a Court to receive any information of any kind in reference to a case, whether it be relevant or not, other than such as comes before it in a way which the law recognizes in the form of legal evidence. MOHOLAL v. SANKLA, 6 Bom. L.R. 789.

(286)—Questions as to admissibility of evidence to be determined as they arise.—Questions as to the admissibility of evidence should be determined as they arise, instead of admitting the evidence in the first instance, and reserving the question of law as to its admissibility until the final judgment in the case. RAMJIBUN SEROW-GY v. OGHORE NATH CHATTERJEE, 25 C. 401 = 2 C.W.N. 188. (17 C. 173, F.)

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(287)—Admissibility of evidence—Judge to decide.—Questions relating to the admissibility of evidence, oral or documentary, should be decided on the moment they arise. They should not be reserved until judgment in the case is given. JADU RAI v. BHUBOTARAN NUNDY, 17 C. 173. [F., 25 C. 401, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, p. 376.]

(288)—Practice—Evidence of doubtful admissibility.—When evidence of doubtful admissibility has, under the looser practice of the Indian Courts, been received in an Indian cause, the Judicial Committee, sitting as an appellate Court, will deal with the case as they think substantial justice requires, and will not allow any merely technical objections to prevail. AJODHYA PRASAD SINGH v. UMRAO SINGH, 6 B.L.R. 509, P.C. = 15 W.R. P.C. 1 = 13 M.I.A. 519. (7 M.I.A. 137 = 4 W.R.P.C. 121, F.)

(289)—Hindu Law—Verbal authority to adopt—Widow of divided member of Hindu family, right of, to life interest.—In this case one S claimed as the widow of H and as the mother of R, the minor whom she had adopted, as she alleged, with the permission of her late husband. The validity of the instruments under which her right to adopt was claimed, and more especially, of the Unoomuttee Pottro on which the claim to the property was founded, failing the adoption, had to be considered. The Judicial Committee ruled that a power to adopt may, under the Hindu law, be given even verbally, and consequently the documents in the case, if authentic, must be taken to have given it or, at all events, to prove that it had been given. And there was no sufficient reason to doubt their authenticity. Also, when a member of a divided Hindu family dies childless and his widow adopts a minor but such adopted son happens to die before attaining majority, the widow is entitled to a life-interest in the estate of her deceased husband. In this case, a second adoption of one G was alleged to have been made, and their Lordships held that the said G could not, under any circumstances, have any right to the property in suit during the lifetime of the widow. But this order was made without prejudice to any question as to the rights of G (if any), after the death of S, and without prejudice also to the rights (if any) of any person not then before the Court, either in the life-time or after the death of the said S. SOONDUR KOOMAREE DEBEA v. GUDADHAR PERSHAD TEWAREE, 4 W.R.P.C. 116 = 7 M.I.A. 54 = 1 Suth. 294 = 1 Sar. 604.

(290)—Whether plaintiff has sufficient evidence entitling him to decree, when to be deter- mined.—Held, in the same case, that the proper time for determining whether the plaintiff offers, or can offer, sufficient evidence to warrant a decree in his favour is not at the time of the filing of the duplicate plaint but at the first hearing of the suit after service of the summons upon the defendant; if the case is then ripe for proceeding with ex parte under s. 100, the plaintiff is entitled to succeed if he gives prima facie evidence in support of his claim. TARUK NATH MULLICK v. JEAMAT NOSIYA, 5 C. 353.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(291)—Non-production of evidence—Effect.—Dismissal for non-production of evidence has the same effect as dismissal founded on evidence, in barring a subsequent suit as res judicata. RAMA RAO v. SURIYA RAO, 1 M. 84.

(292)—Evidence—English Law—Irrelevant matter—Contradiction.—It is one of the rules of English evidence that evidence cannot be given to contradict irrelevant matter. KELLY v. KALLY AND SAUNDERS, 3 B.L.R. App. 6.

(293)—Practice—Taking further evidence on hearing of motions—Oral evidence—Adjournment.—There is nothing in the practice of the Court on the original side to prevent a Judge taking further evidence on the hearing of a motion either by affidavit, or viva voce, and the Court may adjourn the hearing for that purpose. SRIMATI BAMA SUNDARI DAS v. RAMNARAYAN MITTER, 8 B. L. R. App. 65.

(294)—Practice—Appeal from order dismissing application to set aside ex parte order—Fresh evidence tendered in Appellate Court.—Where a party against whom an ex parte order has been passed, seeks to get that order set aside, he must produce all his evidence in the Court in which he applies. The High Court will not, in such a case, receive fresh evidence in appeal which was not tendered in the Court below. HARI DAS MUKERJI v. RADHA KISHAN DAS, A.W.N. 1890, 166. [F., 20 A. 266.]

(295)—Court of appeal—Evidence of witnesses—The finding of first Court on evidence should not be disturbed on appeal except on ground of omission to appreciate some evidence.—Where a Court of first instance has upon the evidence of witnesses examined before it come to a conclusion of fact, the Court of appeal ought not to disturb that finding unless it is satisfied that the lower Court had either omitted to consider material evidence or some cardinal fact or had given undue weight to some evidence of fact which is of little or no importance. BAI GULABBAI v. SHRI DATGARJI, 9 Bom. L. R. 393.

(296)—Evidence—Production of document—Duty of parties—Duty of Court—Parties having legal advice—Conduct of cases.—A party to a suit requiring the production of a document or the evidence of a particular witness must move the Court in proper time to take the necessary steps in the matter. Parties having the benefit of legal advice must be left to manage their own cases without interference from the Court.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

It would never do for the Courts to interfere in such matters and to undertake the business of suitors as well as that of the Judge. NOBIN CHUNDER ROY CHOWDHRY v. ANUNGO NUNJUREE DEBIA, 23 W.R. 83.

(297)—Party undertaking himself to bring witnesses, right of, to subsequently apply for subpoenas.—The mere circumstance of a party having originally undertaken himself to bring his witnesses to Court for examination is no sufficient reason for depriving him of his right to subsequently apply for and get subpoenas issued, when he finds himself unable to bring them or to detain them till they are examined, although such circumstance may be a reason for the Court not waiting for such witnesses, where the case had been in other respects finished before they could appear. PANDURANG ANPAI v. KESHAVJI, 6 B. 742.

(298)—Witnesses—Parties to go in as witnesses on their own behalf.—Every party to a suit should go into the witness-box to prove his allegations and to submit to cross-examination. If either party fail to do so and the other party wishes to call him, every possible effort should be made by the Court to compel attendance. SUBBAJI v. SHIDDAPPA, 4 Bom. L.R. 86 = 26 B. 392.

(299)—Summoning defendant as plaintiff's witness and vice versa—Propriety of practice.—The practice of the plaintiff summoning the defendant as his witness and vice versa is objectionable, and ought not to be countenanced by the Court on any account. BALDEV TRIBUVANDAS GUJARATI v. BALDEV DAS DWARKADAS, 3 Ind. Cas. 45.

(300)—Evidence—Examination of witnesses Mode of taking evidence.—Observations on the improper manner in which evidence is generally recorded in the Subordinate Courts, on the omission to examine the parties to suits, and on the practice, obtaining among judicial officers, of committing the function of taking evidence to native Muharirs. PHUL KUAR v. SURJAN PANDEY, 4 A. 249 = A.W.N. 1882, 40. [R., 16 P.R. 1891.]

(301)—Suit to recover money on bond—Refusal of defendant to enter witness-box.—A sued to recover from B Rupees 10,000 on a bond which he alleged B had executed to him when he lent him the money. B denied having received the money or executed the bond, and contended that this alleged signature was a forgery. C, B's brother, also asserted that the endorsement which purported to have been written by him was forged. Held that the evidence adduced by B was most unsatisfactory, while the refusal of B and C to enter the witness-box, to deny that they had acted as alleged by A, weighed strongly against the probability of their story. RUGHOOBUR DUTT CHOWDHRY v. FUTTEH NARAIN CHOWDHRY, 7 M.L.J. 311.

(302)—Court's knowledge of character of witness.—A Court can make use of its knowledge of the character of a witness, in order to decide whether to give credit to his evidence or not. MAHOMED BUKSH KHAN v. HOSSEINI BIBI, 15 C. 684, P.C. = 15 I A. 81 = 5 Sar. 175. [R., L.B.R. 1893-1900, 445.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(303)—Belief or disbelief in evidence—Different effects—Second appeal.—Where the lower Court has omitted to consider, or has given an erroneous or improper reason for disbelieving, or setting aside as of no value, relevant evidence upon the essential question in a case, the High Court can interfere in second appeal. There is a material difference between a case, in which a Judge has assigned one bad reason for believing or disbelieving a particular piece of evidence, while he has given one or more good reasons for the same belief or disbelief; or a case in which, putting this particular piece of evidence wholly aside, enough remains to support the judgment, and a case in which, the essential question, or one of the essential questions, to be decided, rests upon the evidence believed or disbelieved, regarded as of great value, or considered worthless, for a reason which is unsound and unsustainable. HURO PROSAD ROY v. WEMATARA DEBEE, 7 C. 263 = 8 C.L.R. 449. [R., 7 A. 649, F.B.]

(304)—Order of Court 'to file petition with record,' condemned as amounting to no order at all.—In this case, a witness, putting in a proper medical certificate, stated his inability to attend Court for some days. On this, the Judge recorded the order that the "request should be filed with the record." Such an order has been repeatedly condemned by the High Court as a meaningless order and one amounting to no order at all. There was no reason why the Judge should not have given the witness a few days' time to appear in Court, and the High Court accordingly remanded the case in order that the Judge may take the evidence of the witness and decide the case afresh. NIL MONEE BANERJEE v. SAURBO MUNGULA DEBEE, 7 W.R. 193.

(305)—Judgment passed without recording evidence of witness—Nati Shamil Pesh orders condemned.—The special appellant had presented a petition to the Sudder Ameen, stating that fifteen of his witnesses were present, praying that their evidence might be taken, and asking that measures might be resorted to in order to enforce the attendance of several other witnesses who had acknowledged the receipt of summons but had not attended. Nothing was done on this except to record the objectionable order, so often condemned by this Court, of "Nati Shamil Pesh," which literally amounted to nothing. The omission of the Sudder Ameen was distinctly set forth before the lower Appellate Court which took no notice of it. The High Court remanded the case to the first Court directing it to record the evidence of all witnesses whom the appellants may produce within a reasonable time and to pass a fresh judgment thereon. LUCHMEE NARAIN SAHEE v. KOSHUKEE DUT JHA, 8 W.R. 107.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(306)—Dismissal for non-prosecution—Adjournment for default of defendant—Non-production of witness on adjourned date—Dismissal improper—Discretion wrongly exercised—Practice.—On the date fixed for the hearing, the plaintiff appeared before the Court with his witness. But, as the defendants did not appear, the case was adjourned. On the adjourned date, the plaintiff was present but without his witness and the defendants were again absent. Thereupon, the Court summarily dismissed the suit for want of prosecution. Held, that this was not a proper exercise of discretion and the case was remanded for trial on the merits. COLLECTOR OF JAUNPUR v. TAHULI RAI, A.W.N. 1905, 92=2 A.L.J. 345. (24 M. 200, Appr.)

(307)—Procedure—Entire disregard of procedure—Adjournments—Examination of witnesses—Pronouncing of judgment by different Judge.—In this case, there was a lamentable disregard of correct procedure in the number of postponements, several of them taking place on dates previously fixed by the Court itself for the hearing of the case, the irregular manner of examining the witnesses, the refusal of Court to grant time to produce witnesses who could not be in attendance for unavoidable reasons and the pronouncing of judgment by a different Judge many months after the examination of the last of the witnesses. BHOJOORAM MUNDUL v. RAJ COOMAREE DEBIA, 18 W.R. 101.

(308)—Admissibility of judgment—Conditions.—For a judgment to be admissible, it is not in all cases necessary that it should be either a judgment inter partes or judgment in rem. A judgment not inter partes may not be proof of facts therein stated, yet it is admissible for the purpose of explaining the character in which possession of an estate has been enjoyed and in matter of that class. DHARNIDHAR v. DHUNDIRAJ, 5 Bom. L.R. 230.

(309)—Judgment not inter partes—Dismissal of suit in appeal—Judgment in previous suit not inter partes.—The lower appellate Court finding that the evidence was insufficient to support plaintiff's title, remarked "There is no proof whatever of any right nor of the manner in which such right was acquired.....The plaintiff has altogether failed to produce evidence of his title...I reject the appeal with costs:—" Held, that the District Judge committed an error of law in rejecting the plaintiff's claim in toto: if he considered that the evidence on the record was insufficient to enable him to do justice between the parties he should have remanded the case. A judgment in a previous suit, to which one of the parties in the subsequent suit was not a party, though not binding and conclusive against that person, may yet be admissible in evidence for certain purposes and can be used for what it is worth. SAKHARAM v. YESHWANTRAO, 1 Bom. L.R. 486.

(310)—Foreign judgment—Objection to—Limitation.—Where limitation is merely prohibitive of the remedy and not destructive of the right, the judgment of a Foreign Court is not open to objection on the ground that a suit on the contract would be barred by the law of limitation applicable in the country in which the contract was made. NALLATAMBI v. PONNUSAMI, 2 M. 400.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(311)—Evidence—Documents—Privileges attaching to documents—Such documents to be properly described for identification—Documents passing between a company and its officials after threatened suit not per se privileged.—The defendants are bound to describe the documents, for which they claim privilege, sufficiently for the purpose of identification to enable the Court to order their production should the Court think right to do so. In a suit against a Railway Company, the papers which passed between the Company and its officials relating to the subject matter in dispute since the plaintiff threatened a suit are not by nature privileged. If privilege is claimed for any of them, the grounds thereof should be clearly set forth in the affidavit. NEMCHAND MANAJI v. R. D. SETHNA, 10 Bom. L.R. 796.

(312)—Document tendered in evidence—Objections to its admissibility, statement of.—Where a document, tendered in evidence before Commissioners, is objected to, the party so objecting is not precluded from objecting to it on any other ground at the trial; all the objections to any document being received in evidence need not be stated when it is first tendered. RALI v. GAU KIN SWEE, 9 C. 939.

(313)—Documents received without objection by lower Court—Right of Appellate Court.—An appeal Court has no right to refuse to admit on technical grounds a document, which has been received and read in the Court below without objection, though it has a perfect right to attach such weight to the document as it thinks proper, or to say whether it ought to be treated as evidence as against particular parties to the suit. AKBUR ALI v. BHYEA LAL JHA, 6 C. 666=7 C.L.R. 497. [F., 5 M.L.J. 81, 15 C.P.L.R. 123, 3 L.B.R. 49; R., 31 C. 155.]

(314)—Evidence taken at ex-parte hearing.—Evidence taken in the absence of a defendant at an ex parte hearing cannot be used against him on a re-trial. RAM BAKS LAL v. KISHORE MOHAN SHAHA, 3 B.L.R. A.C. 273=12 W.R. 130.

(315)—Document registered by officer having no jurisdiction—Admissibility in evidence.—Where a Court finds that a document has been registered by an officer, who had no jurisdiction to register it, it will refuse to receive it in evidence on the ground that it has not been duly registered. The observations of the Privy Council, in 15 B.L.R. 228, upon which the decision in 7 C.L.R. 223 proceeds, are not applicable to this case, as in the former case the document in question was registered by an officer that had jurisdiction to register it. BENI MADHAB MITTER v. KHATIR MONDUL, 14 C. 449.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(316)—Civ. Pro. Code, Act VIII of 1869, s. 39—Script to refresh memory of witness—Necessity for being filed with plaint.—Where a memorandum or script is presented to a witness by the plaintiff in a case for the purpose of refreshing his memory and not as evidence in itself, it need not have been filed along with the plaint. RAMJI MADAUJI v. RANGAYYA CHETTI, 1 M. H.C. 168.

(317)—Alteration of deed—Presumption—Burden of proof as to genuineness—Transmission directed of original deed for inspection.—In an ordinary case, the party who presents an instrument which is an essential part of his case, in an apparently altered and suspicious state, must fail, from the mere infirmity or doubtful complexion of his proof, unless he can satisfactorily explain the existing state of the document. But this wholesome rule admits of exceptions, if there be, independently of the instrument, corroborative proof strong enough to rebut the presumption which arises against an apparent and presumable falsifier of evidence. And such corroborative proof will be greatly strengthened, if there be reason to suppose that the opposite party has withheld evidence which could prove the original condition and import of the suspected document. Though the onus of proof of the genuineness of an instrument in its altered state lies upon the party producing and claiming under it, yet, the altered and suspicious appearance of the instrument may be explained by proof of its original state when executed and its existing state sufficiently accounted for, to rebut the presumption of the deed having been falsified and tampered with, after execution, by the party claiming under it. [R., A.W.N. 1903, 122, F.B.=25 A. 580.] The original deed, which was impeached on the ground of alterations and interpolations, after execution was ordered to be transmitted by the Court of India for inspection on appeal. MUSSUMAT KHOOB CONWUR v. BABOO MOODNARAIN SINGH, 1 W.R. P.C. 36=9 M. I.A. 1=1 Sar. 813=1 Suther. 465.

(318)—Objection to the admissibility of a document taken before the Privy Council but not taken at the trial—Certified copy of an old document—Its admissibility in evidence.—Where a document was received in evidence without any objection at the trial, their Lordships were of opinion that it was too late to take an objection to the admissibility before them. A certified copy of an ewaznama, or deed of exchange, dated January, 1782, produced from the custody of one of the appellants, and found to be written on paper bearing the same stamp and water mark as other contemporary documents in the record of certain litigation, was held admissible in evidence. SHAHZADI BEGAM v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, 9 Bom. L.R. 1192.

(319)—Admitting in evidence—Deciding the genuineness or otherwise of documents.—Per Heaton, J.—Admitting in evidence is a mechanical and formal proceeding. When all the evidence is recorded and when it is all considered, it is in the judgment that the Judge decides, whether a document is or is not genuine. AMBALAL v. SEEL, 8 Bom. L.R. 973.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(320)—Unproved documents filed with the record.—Unproved documents simply filed with the record in accordance with some usage must be passed over by the Judge; and the party against whom they are intended to be used, must insist on their removal from the record. KALLIDA PERSHAD DUTT v. RAM HARI CHUCKERBUTTY, 5 C. 317.

(321)—Civil Procedure Code, 1882, ss. 59, 140—Rules of High Court—Right of defendant to copy of plaintiff's documents.—Documents sued on by the plaintiff, and produced and deposited by him with the plaint, under s. 59 of the Civil Procedure Code, having to be considered as "annexed thereto as exhibits" within Rule No. 47 of the High Court Rules, copies of the same may be furnished to the defendant under Rule No. 44. Documents deposited under s. 140 of the Code, however, fall under Rule No. 43, and inspection of these should not be allowed until they are offered and received in evidence. Haji MAHOMED ABDUL AZIZ BADSHA SAHIB v. SUBBA NAIDU, 21 M. 490.

(322)—Order for production of documents—Non-compliance by defendant—Striking out defence.—The defence of a defendant, who neglects to comply with an order for production and inspection of documents, will be struck out, though the order striking out the defence may be set aside upon sufficient grounds. KHAJAH ASSENOLLJOO v. KHAJAH ABDOL AZIZ, 9 C. 923. [D., 2 C.W.N. 676; R., 7 C.L.J. 295.]

(323)—Declaration as to execution of power of attorney before the Chief Magistrate. Glasgow—Certificate by Notary Public.—A declaration regarding the execution of a power of attorney, taken before the Chief Magistrate of Glasgow and authenticated not only by the certificate of the said Magistrate under the common Seal of the City of Glasgow, but also by a certificate of a Notary Public, can be accepted as proof of the execution of the power. In the goods of HENDERSON, 22 C. 491.

(324)—Sanskrit works on Hindu law of adoption—Works not well known—Sworn translations of works—Inclusion in record for use in Privy Council appeal.—In the Court below, sworn translations of Sanskrit works, little known, embodying Hindu Law, as to the custom in the different schools in respect to the Law of Adoption, were admitted and acted on by the Courts in India. On special application, the Judicial Committee ordered such translations to be sent by the Registrar of the High Court in India, and to form part of the record, to be used on the hearing of the appeal. THE COLLECTOR OF MADURA v. MOOTTOO RAMALINGA SATHUPATHY, 10 W.R. P.C. 17=1 B. L.R. P.C. 1=12 M.I.A. 397=2 Sar. 361=2 Suther. 135.

(325)—Translation—Appeal to High Court—Application for translation of papers when to be made.—In an appeal to the High Court, an application for translation of papers should always be made before the posting of the case. KONDAYYA GAUNDAN v. RAMASWAMI GAUNDAN, 1 M.H.C. 130.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(326)—Regular Appeal to High Court—Printing papers—Duty of parties—Duty of Registrar.—Where, in a regular appeal to the High Court, the petitioner does not furnish the Deputy Registrar with a list of papers which he desires to have prepared and placed in the paper-book, the Deputy Registrar need not serve him with an estimate of the cost of printing, translating, etc., such papers. MUSAMUT BHOGOBUTTY KOONWAR v. MUSSAMUT ANURAGEE KOONWAR, 23 W.R. 459.

(327)—Regular appeal to High Court—Printing of papers—Paper-book—Duties of Registrar.—The duties of the Registrar of the High Court in the matter of printing of papers in regular appeals are purely ministerial; all that he has to do under the rules is to provide for the printing, etc., as per lists furnished by the parties and finally settled between them. The petitioner in a regular appeal to the High Court should not be called upon to deposit the costs of translating, etc., any papers as to which the petitioner has not (by including them in a list furnished by him under the Rules of the High Court) given notice of his desire to place them in the paper-book. The Deputy Registrar has to furnish an estimate of the cost of preparing the papers entered in the list furnished by the parties. It is not for him to say what papers a party requires or ought to print. That is a matter which the party or his vakil must, in the first instance, determine, the Deputy Registrar preparing his estimate and demanding payment according to the requirements made on him. LALLA BHOOP NARAIN v. MUSSAMUT NOWAR ABASSEE BEGUM, 23 W. R. 458.

(328)—Appeal to High Court—Whole case to be put in paper-book—Practice.—An appellant before the High Court, where the appeal relates to a matter more than Rs. 10,000 in value, is bound to put the whole case (and not merely his own particular case) fully before the Court in his paper-book so far as the documents and depositions are concerned. And if he fails to do so without very good reason, he ought not to be allowed to read at the hearing anything which is not in the paper-book. KULIAN DOSS v. MUSSAMUT GOBIND KOOR, 24 W.R. 143.

(329)—Application for extension of time for filing paper-books—Sufficient cause to be shown.—Litigants must understand that the rules and orders of the High Court are intended to be, and must be, complied with. Each case must be considered according to its particular circumstances. Litigation in India is so protracted, and so much time is allowed to litigants to take the various steps, specially as regards appeals, that the Court will not enlarge the time to file paper-books in an appeal, unless sufficient grounds be shown. MOTICHAND v. FUL CHAND, 27 C. 57.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(330)—Application for extension of time for filing of paper-books in appeal—Practice.—Unless sufficient cause is shown, an extension of time for filing of paper-books will not be granted. GOPAL CHUNDER DAS v. RADHABULLUBH DAS, 27 C. 60, Note. [F., 27 C. 57.]

(331)—Para 467, Rules framed for Original Side of High Court—Filing of appeal—Appellant not delivering paper books—Right of respondent.—Under para 467 of the Rules framed for the Original Side of the High Court, the appellant or his attorney is bound, "within six days from the presentation of the memorandum of appeal, to deliver to the Registrar, Original Jurisdiction, for the use of the Judges, two paper books containing a copy of the plaint, written statement, depositions of witnesses and of the decree and judgment and memorandum of appeal. If the appellant fail to do so within the time limited, the respondent or his attorney may deliver such paper books." On the filing of an appeal, if the appellant filed no paper book, the respondent on whom it is not obligatory to deliver such paper books, is entitled to have the appeal dismissed with costs. KABULI v. BHULI, 17 C. 289. (14 B. L.R. App. 11, Not F.)

(332)—Secondary evidence, Admission of—Judge—Discretion—Appeal—Miscarriage of justice.—The question whether secondary evidence was in any given case rightly admitted is one which is proper to be decided by the Judge of first instance and is treated as depending very much on his discretion. His conclusion should not be overruled except in a very clear case of miscarriage. NINGAWA v. RAMAPPA, 5 Bom. L.R. 708=28 B. 94.

(333)—Bengal High Court Rules—Account books—Evidence.—Account books which are not translated, and are not, therefore, a part of the paper-books, cannot, under the rules of the High Court of Bengal, be referred to in a trial without special leave. MADHUB PERSHAD v. FOOL COOMAREE BIBEE, 19 W.R. 121.

(334)—Accounts produced and afterwards withdrawn—Effect.—The fact of the defendant having tendered some accounts which, when the time for proof came, were withdrawn, leads to an inference, either that he had no accounts relevant to the question, or that, having some, he found that they would not suit his case. MUHAMMAD IMAM ALI KHAN v. HUSAIN KHAN, 26 C. 81, P.C.=25 I A. 161=2 C.W.N. 737=7 Sar. 432.

(335)—Burden of proof—Non-examination of parties in a suit, Result of—English and Indian practice—Account books, Non-production of.—The plaintiff brought a suit for the recovery of certain properties, alleging that he was adopted twenty years before the date of the suit. Held, the burden of proving that the alleged adoption took place twenty years before the trial rested upon the plaintiff. The presumption that would be drawn in England will be to the detriment of a plaintiff, who fails to enter the witness-box and face the ordeal of cross-examination. But, in cases between Natives tried in India, a species of advocacy is tolerated by the Courts of law here, in which the unworthy effort of the advocate on each side is to force his opponent to produce his own client, in order that he himself may have the opportunity of cross-examining that client. The result is that, should the opponent refuse to be led into this trap, the parties (the principal witnesses, who possibly could throw light on all these tangled transactions which so perplex those who have to decide these cases), are never examined at all, and the litigation goes forward through tortuous windings to its unsatisfactory and uncertain end. It is a vicious practice, unworthy of a high-toned or reputable system of advocacy, tending to embarrass and perplex judicial investigation, and too often enabling fraud, falsehood or chicane to baffle justice. Having regard to the well-known and often proved habits of the Indian people with regard to the keeping of accounts, recording their most minute transactions, the non-production of any book, in which anything connected with the matter in question is entered, by the party in whose possession it is, covers the parties' case with suspicion. MUSSAMAT LAL KUNWAR v. CHIRANJI LAL, 7 M.L.T. 57=14 C.W.N. 285=11 C.L.J. 172=12 Bom. L.R. 244=32 A. 104=20 M.L.J. 182=5 Ind. Cas. 549, P.C.=37 I.A. 1.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(336)—Pleadings—Suit for share of property—Point not raised in the pleadings—Suggestion before Court below that account should be taken—Separate suit for that purpose necessary.—In a suit for recovery of a share of a deceased Muhummadan's estate by right of inheritance, the plaintiff alleged that the dower-debt amounting to Rs. 40 due to the widow, who was in possession, had been satisfied out of the usufruct, and also asked for a conditional decree in the event of anything being found as due to the widow. The reliefs asked for were (1) delivery of possession of the share, (2) mesne profits for three years and (3) costs of the suit. The widow contended that her dower was a lakh of rupees and that she had been in possession of the property in lieu thereof. The suit was dismissed. Upon appeal to the High Court, it was argued that, at all events, an account ought to have been directed to be taken of the profits of the property and the amount of those profits set off against the dower-debt. Held, that the contention could not prevail. If the plaintiff was desirous of claiming an account of this kind, she ought to have done so in the prayer to her plaint. The question would be best raised in a suit for an account. HUMERA BIBI v. ZUBEDA BIBI, 2 A.L.J. 485=A.W.N. 1905, 125. (14 M.I.A. 377, F.)

(337)—No specific direction as to accounts in the decree—Court cannot direct accounts to be taken before Commissioner when parties have arrived at an agreement after the decree—

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Appeal against order of a Judge, when lies.—A decree of the High Court on the Original Side contemplated an account being taken between the parties but it was silent on the question as to how that account was to be taken, whether by the Commissioner of the Court or by some person selected by both the parties. The Court of first instance decided that where a direction as to account ought to have been incorporated in a decree when passed it was competent to the Court at any stage of proceedings to direct necessary inquiries or accounts to be made or taken. Held, on appeal, that as some account was taken under the decree by a person appointed jointly by the parties a new agreement had come into existence superseding the decree and the Court was not competent to make the order appealed against. SIR JEHANGIR COWASJI JEHANGIR v. THE HOPE MILLS, LTD., 10 Bom. L.R. 488=33 B. 216, reversing 9 Bom. L.R. 1380.

(338)—Practice — Commissioner to take accounts, disobedience of order of—Attachment.—An attachment will issue against a party to a suit for disobedience of an order of the Commissioner for taking accounts. It is not necessary that the order of the Commissioner must, in the first instance, be made an order of Court in order to issue such attachment against the disobeying party. DHURAM-DHARDAS SAKHARAM v. BHAI GOVIND, 10 B.H.C. 4.

(339)—Commissioner for taking accounts—Motion to vary report—Power of Court to extend time.—It is competent to the Court to extend the time of 20 days allowed by the Rules of Court for making a motion to vary or discharge the report made by a Commissioner for taking accounts. So, where the party has failed to file the application for such a purpose within twenty days after the filing of the report, the Court has the discretion under this rule to give further time to such party. The report is binding on all the parties, unless the Court in its discretion, and, upon strong and sufficient cause, shall vary it, either within the time appointed or beyond it. HORMUSJI CURSETJI ASHBURNER v. BOMANJI CURSETJI ASHBURNER, 9 B. 250. [R., 16 B. 263.]

(340)—Account—Commissioner's report—Motion to discharge or vary—Memo. of objections—Affidavit—Practice.—Motion to discharge or vary the report of the Commissioner for taking accounts, must be on a memorandum of objections filed in the Prothonotary's office, and upon the evidence taken by, and the proceedings before, the Commissioner; and not on affidavits made for the purpose of the motion. The application to vary the report should be made within the 20 days as required by r. 6, ch. VI, at p. 52 of the High Court Rules. Affidavits may, however, be filed in such a motion (a) when ordered by the Court, if it desire fresh evidence; or (b) by special leave of the Court for advancing a fact not appearing in the face of the proceeding, before the Commissioner. SUMAR AHMED v. HAJI ISMAIL HAJI HABIB, 1 B. 158. [R., 13 B. 368.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(341)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act X of 1877), s. 3—'Decree,' meaning of—Reference to Commissioner for taking accounts—Stage of suit—Practice and procedure, pending suit.—The word "decree" in the section meant a decree final in its nature and not an order of an interlocutory nature, such as an order of reference to take accounts, though such order in a general way could be properly termed a "decree." Consequently, a suit after reference to a Commissioner for taking accounts must still be said to be in a stage "prior to decree" within the meaning of that section. The effect of the proviso to the section was that all suits pending on the date of the enactment of the Code (X of 1877) down to their final result, were governed by the practice and procedure prevailing till then, and that execution proceedings subsequent to the final result were governed by the Code. RUSTOMJI BURJORJI v. KESSOWJI NAIK, 3 B. 161.

(342)—S. 399, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Private Commissioner experiencing difficulty in enforcing attendance of witnesses—Practice.—A private Commissioner finding practical difficulty in enforcing the attendance of witnesses, should return the commission to the High Court. The High Court may, under s. 386, then, send the commission to a Civil Court, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the witnesses to be examined reside. MAHOMED ALI v. WAZID ALI, 23 C. 404.

(343)—Time within which application to vary Commissioner's report should be made—Bombay High Court Rules, ch. VI, r. 6.—Where a person desires to move the High Court to vary a report made by the Commissioner, he must file exceptions to such report and make his motion to vary it within 20 days after the report is filed, or within such further time as the Court may have allowed him for the purpose. NAROTTAM v. HARICHAND RAM CHAND, 13 B. 368. [R., 16 B. 263.]

(344)—Court's power to re-open a question decided by Commissioner.—Case where the question whether a Court has jurisdiction to re-open a point of fact decided by a Commissioner, appointed by it, on evidence properly before him, was left undecided. WATSON v. AGA MEHEDEE SHERAZEE, 1 I.A. 346=3 Sar. 384.

(345)—Practice—Cross-suits between parties one on promote and the other on accounts in different Courts—All transactions dealt with in suit for account—Question of procedure becoming one of convenience, rather than of right.—As a general rule, it would be no answer as regards a suit instituted in the S.C. Court, upon a promissory note, for the defendant to say that the claim is a matter of account. But the situation is altered when a suit for account wherein all transactions between the parties can be dealt with, is subsequently instituted in the High Court by the defendant in the S. C. Court suit, and when he gives security in respect of the total amount of his indebtedness. It is desirable, then, that there should not be separate proceeding in respect of the promissory note. The two should be tried and disposed of jointly. The question of procedure then, becomes a matter of convenience rather than a question of right. Justice can be done between the parties by the apportionment of costs after the account has been taken in the High Court. ISSUR SINGH v. BERGMANN, 30 C. 627.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(346)—Practice—Accounts—Taking of accounts in partnership suits—Set off.—In suits for account, as in partnership or partition suits, each party however arrayed formally becomes in turn either plaintiff or defendants, although he has not claimed a set off. NANCHAND v. MUSSA, 6 Bom. L.R. 692.

(347)—Partnership—Joint adventure—Evidence.—Two firms started into a joint adventure which was to be conducted by an agent specially appointed by both firms. One of the firms brought a suit against the other to recover their share of the alleged loss upon the joint adventure. The evidence in support of the plaintiff's claim consisted, however, almost entirely, of books of accounts kept by the plaintiffs themselves and by two corresponding branches of the plaintiff's firm. Held that their books of accounts could not be likened to books of partnership, to which all the partners in a firm have access, and which are kept by the servants of all; and that, although, the books corroborated each other, they were not sufficient evidence to entitle the plaintiffs to a decree, in the absence of evidence showing that the sums mentioned in the books as having been paid to the agent specially appointed for carrying on this joint adventure, were really applied by such agent for the purposes of the joint adventure. SETH LAKHMI CHAND v. SETH INDRA MULL, 4 B.L.R. P.C. 31=13 W.R. P.C. 36=13 M.I.A. 365. [D., 11 B. 514.]

(348)—Principal and agent—Suit for accounts.—Prayer in plaint, and the subsequent procedure, step by step, till the drawing up of the final decree, pointed out and explained. DEGAMBER MOZAMDAR v. KALAYNATH ROY, 7 C. 654=9 C.L.R. 265. [R., 15 C.P.L.R. 61.]

(349)—Civ. Pro. Code—Death of appellant—Application by several persons to prosecute appeal—Determination of party entitled to appeal.—Where; on the death of an appellant, several persons apply to prosecute the appeal, the Court is bound to determine which of the parties is so entitled. KATAMA NACHIYAR v. THE RAJA OF SIVAGANGA, 2 M.H.C. 146, Note, P.C.

(350)—Dead persons—Parties to suits.—The practice, which prevails in the mofussil Courts of this Presidency, according to which a dead man is expressed to be a party to a suit by his heir is erroneous. A dead man cannot himself be a party to such a suit. GOVIND v. MOHONIRAJ, 3 Bom. L.R. 407 = 25 B. 494.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(351)—Dead person—Legal representative—Procedure.—A suit cannot be brought by or against a dead man, and if the person entitled to sue or liable to be sued is dead, the suit must be brought by or against the person who is entitled or liable at the date of the suit brought making it clear on the face of the plaint how the right or liability arises. Hence, where a plaintiff sues a non-existent person as represented by an existing person and gets a decree in that form, he gets a decree against no one as the defendant does not exist and the representative is not sued as a defendant. BALKRISHNA v. ORIENTAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO., 4 Bom. L.R. 340.

(352)—Misjoinder of plaintiffs—Amendment of issues—Error in interlocutory order—Appeal—Act VIII of 1859, s. 350—Procedure.—A suit for breach of contract was brought by four persons, who alleged that they carried on business in co-partnership under the style of I. B. T. and that, at the time of the cause of action, they were partners. It turned out on the evidence that all the plaintiffs were not co-partners at the time the cause of action accrued. The Court amended the issue, and raised the question whether the plaintiffs were or were not partners. The Court, having found that two of the plaintiffs were not partners, ordered their names to be struck out of the plaint and gave a decree in favour of the other plaintiffs. Held that the Judge had power to amend the issue, and that it was the correct mode of amending errors in the plaint; but the more correct course would have been for the Judge merely to have amended the issue and to have allowed the names of the plaintiffs to stand in the plaint. Held also, that if this was a wrong order, it was an interlocutory order striking out two of the plaintiffs instead of leaving them on the record, but it was an error which had caused no injury to the defendants and consequently, under s. 350 of Act VIII of 1859, it was not a ground for reversing the decree on appeal. THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY v. JORDAN, 4 B.L.R.O.C. 97 = 14 W.R.O.C. 11.

(353)—Practice—Question of law—Preliminary issue—Disposal of issue of fact—Misjoinder of parties and causes of action.—Where the lower Courts held that the suit was bad on the ground of misjoinder of parties, they should not have proceeded to dispose of the questions raised between the parties on the merits. MANNA LAL v. HUSAIN ALI, A.W.N. 1883, 64.

(354)—Ss. 562, 564, 53, Civ. Pro. Code.—In a case which the lower Court should have simply returned the plaint for amendment, allowing the plea of misjoinder but failed to do so, the appellate Court has got the power to dispose of the suit in the mode in which the lower Court ought to have disposed of it. LINGAMMAL v. VENKATAMMAL, 6 M. 239. (2 A. 669, Diss.) (R., 19 B. 303, 2 L.B.R. 4.)

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(355)—Rule nisi to show cause against the addition of person as defendant—No grounds set out therein—Discharge of rule.—Where a rule calling upon a person to show cause why he should not be added as a defendant or give security for costs, was applied for neither on petition or affidavit nor set out any grounds, such person was held entitled to know what he had to answer, and the rule was discharged as being informal. RAMNARAIN KALLIA v. MONSE BIBEE, 9 C. 735.

(356)—Practice—Suit for exclusive possession of land—Court competent on evidence in such suit to give decree for joint possession.—Where the plaintiff comes into Court claiming exclusive possession of land, the Court is competent, having regard to the evidence in the case, to grant a decree for joint possession. RAMBHOWAN v. RAMBARAN, A.W.N. 1890, 166.

(357)—Practice—Suit for exclusive possession—Power of Court to grant decree for joint possession—Circumstances under which such power will or will not be exercised.—Where a plaintiff, who had sought to eject the defendants as trespassers from certain lands and whose suit had been dismissed by both the lower Courts, pleaded in second appeal that the decrees of the Lower Courts nevertheless showed that he was entitled to a decree for joint possession with the defendants of the property in suit; the Court under the circumstances declined to grant the plaintiff's prayer for a decree for joint possession. JAI RAJ MAL v. NIADAR, A.W.N. 1893, 196.

(358)—Plaintiff even though he asks for exclusive possession may yet on a proper case be awarded possession in common.—Where the plaintiff asks in his plaint for exclusive possession only he may nevertheless be allowed possession in common. This does not involve any variance with the facts alleged in the plaint, but merely the correct determination of the relief appropriate on those facts being established. The plaintiff merely asked for a relief larger than the facts asserted by him would warrant. That is not a reason for debarring him altogether from any relief to which, on those facts, he is entitled. BHIKU v. PUTTU, 8 Bom. L.R. 99.

(359)—Suits on behalf of joint family—All coparceners must join.—Where there are one or more members of a joint Hindu family filing a suit in respect of the property of that family, it is essential all the persons composing the family should be joined as party plaintiffs. NARANJI v. MOTI, 9 Bom. L.R. 1126.

(360)—Suits on behalf of joint Hindu family.—The rule of Hindu law is that a joint family is represented in all transactions or concerns with the outside world by its Karta (manager) provided they are for the benefit or necessity of the family; and that any co-parcener, who does not occupy that position of manager, can represent and bind the family in such transactions or concerns, provided he was either previously authorised to represent it, or, in the absence of such authority, the other co-parceners subsequently by words or conduct ratified his acts. VISHNU v. BABAJI, 10 Bom. L. R. 505=32 B. 375.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(361)—Joint Hindu family — Institution of suits by managers, representing minor, co-parceners.—As a matter of practice, suits are not filed in Courts by managers representing their minor co-parceners; the practice is to join all persons interested, but it would seem that, even if on the face of the plaint there were an allegation of a sole plaintiff that he sued as manager on behalf of a co-parcenary, the minor co-parcener would not be bound by the proceedings unless by judicial sale under the decree rights had been created in innocent third parties and no prejudice were shown to the absent co-parceners. KASHINATH v. CHIMNAJI, 8 Bom. L. R. 268=30 B. 477.

(362)—Suit on behalf of minor — Procedure on discovery that plaintiff was not minor at time of instituting suit.—In a suit on behalf of a person alleged to be, but not in fact, a minor, held, on discovery that the plaintiff was of full age at the commencement of the suit, that the plaint could not be amended and that the suit must be dismissed. SHEORANIA v. BHARAT SINGH, 20 A. 90=A.W.N. 1897, 203. (21 C. 866, Diss.) [R., 5 O.C. 355, 7 O.C. 234, 11 O.C. 159; D., 2 L.B.R. 246, 28 A. 416=3 A.L.J. 187=A.W.N. 1906, 73.]

(363)—Of Appellate Court—Party discovered to be a minor.—The proper course for an appellate Court to take, if either of the parties appears to be a minor and this point has not been taken in the Court below is to remand the case, and if the question is determined in the affirmative, to set aside all the proceedings which are the subject of the appeal as void ab initio, but to make no order as to costs. MAUNG AUNG MYA v. MA GYI, 1 L.B.R. 38 (7 A. 490, 13 C. 189, 13 B. 7, 234, 14 C. 204, 704, Rel. on.)

(364)—Minor—Suit against minor—Plaintiff—Deposition—Corroboration.—Where a person prefers a claim against the estate of a deceased person, which has devolved upon a minor, he cannot sustain the action solely by his own deposition. BALAPA v. BHUTAJI, BHUTAJI v. BALAPA, 5 Bom. L. R. 181.

(365)—Appeal by next friend of minor plaintiff—Objection by defendant.—Where the defendant, in a suit, made the next friend of the minor plaintiff alone respondent in the lower appellate Court, it would not lie in his mouth, in second appeal in the High Court, preferred by such next friend, to take the objection that the latter was no party to the suit. BHOBOTARINI DEBI v. SREE RAM PAUL, 9 C. 629.

(366)—Practice—Application by next friend for change of attorney—Order refusing change of attorney—Appeal.—The next friend of an infant plaintiff is as much entitled to change his solicitor as any other plaintiff who is sui juris. (4 C.W.N. 175 (n), 5 C.W.N. 83 (n), Manick Lal Seal v. Sarat Kumari Dassee, (1883), unreported, Diss.) It is not necessary for him to show that such change is for the benefit of the infant, though the Court will interfere and remove the next friend, if it appears that, in the matter of such an application, he was acting in a manner detrimental to the infant's interest. (Peyton v. Bond, (1887) 1 Sim. 390, Appr.) As long as he continues next friend, he is entitled to appoint and change his own solicitor. Semble.—An appeal lies from an order refusing change of attorney, passed on an application for the same by the next friend. DINENDRA NATH DUTT v. WILSON, 28 C. 264=5 C.W.N. 434.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(367)—Dismissal of appeal—Infant appellants—Restoration of appeal—Re-hearing.—Where an order had been made ex parte, upon the appearance of the respondents alone for the dismissal of an appeal and affirmance of the judgment of the Court below, which purported to be upon the hearing of the cause, the Judicial Committee held that such order must be held simply as a dismissal; and it appearing that the appellants were infants, under the protection of the Court of Wards in India, and that the agent appointed by the Court to act as their guardian ad litem, in the matter of the appeal, had absconded, and abandoned the cause, their Lordships rescinded the order of dismissal, and restored the appeal on the terms of the appellants paying the costs and giving access to the transcript of the proceedings in the Court below, in their hands, and undertaking to lodge cases within five months. RAJUNDER NARAIN RAE v. BIJAI GOVIND SINGH, 2 M.I. A. 181=1 Moo. P.C. 117=1 Sar. 175.

(368)—Decree against infant—How to set aside on the ground of guardian's laches—Suit to set aside decree against properly represented infant—Necessity for proof of fraud and collusion.—If an infant desires to have a decree set aside on the ground that his next friend had neglected his interests, and had not put forward on his behalf good grounds of defence, which were available, the proper mode of proceeding would be to apply for a review.—If the decree were ex parte, the procedure given in the Civ. Pro. Code for setting aside such decrees, should be adopted. [R., 6 C.L.J. 448.] If it be sought, by a separate suit, to set aside a decree obtained against an infant properly made a party and properly represented in the case, proof of fraud or collusion is absolutely essential for success in the suit. RAGHUBAR DYAL SAHU v. BHIKYA LAL MISSER, 12 C. 69. [Expl., 23 A. 459=A.W.N. 1901, 147.]

(369)—Guardian—Officer of the Court—Nazir.—There is nothing that compels the Court to retain as guardian one of its officers, where the circumstances of the case make it clear that the interest of the minor will be thereby imperilled; and the Court has power to relieve a Nazir, who finds no funds for the purpose of conducting adequately the defence of the minor. GOPIAL V. AGARSINGJI, 6 Bom. L.R. 544=28 B. 626.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(370)—Act XL of 1858, ss. 7, 19, 21—Recall of certificate—Power of Court to recall certificate granted under s. 7.—A certificate granted under s. 7, Act XL of 1858, may, under s. 21, be recalled summarily without the accounts having been previously taken in a regular suit under s. 19, where the application for the recall is based on charges of waste and mismanagement. In the matter of the petition of KHAJA SHURWAR HOSSEIN KHAN, B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 720=7 W.R. 522.

(371)—Act XL of 1858 and Civ. Pro. Code, s. 440, Suit in violation of—Return of plaint.—Where a suit is brought in violation of s. 440 of the Civ. Pro. Code or of Act XL of 1858, the plaint should be returned, in order that the error may be rectified. RUSSICK DAS BAIRAGY V. PREONATH MISREE, 10 C. 102=12 C.L.R. 405.

(372)—Proceedings in execution and proceedings in suits.—Procedure in execution is not to be conducted in a slipshod and slovenly fashion, and the procedure in suits should be applied as far as it can be made applicable (s. 647, Civ. Pro. Code). FAKIR-ULLAH V. THAKUR PRASAD, 12 A. 179=A.W.N. 1890, 53.

(373)—Execution case struck off improperly—Judge, Duty of—Procedure.—A Judge, finding that he has struck off an execution case improperly, may restore it to the file, and need not proceed de novo. MUSST. ZAHURAM V. W. TAYLER, 2 B L.R. A.C. 86=10 W.R. 380. [F., 12 W.R. 142; Appr., 11 W.R. 517=3 B L.R. App. 68; R., 7 C.L.R. 424.]

(374)—Execution of decree—Enforcement of the terms of a decree—Court.—The Court ought to facilitate enquiries which are necessary for the purpose of carrying out decrees passed by it, and to accept with readiness any information which shows that the litigants have disregarded any part of the Court's decree. It would be wrong to dismiss an application made with the above purpose, simply because the applicant may have made the same endeavour without success in another proceeding. HARI V. MORO, RAGHUNATH V. HARI, 4 Bom.L.R. 960.

(375)—Decree—Execution—Court.—When a decree-holder applies for execution the Court to which the application is made should not reject it on light grounds and even where a decree is not quite intelligible, the Court must as far as possible construe it in a fair and reasonable spirit so as to advance instead of impeding its execution. AHILYABAI V. KASHINATH, 5 Bom. L.R. 802.

(376)—Scheme under a decree—Decree—Alteration to grant the application.—The Court has unquestionably powers, in a properly constituted proceeding, to alter a scheme under a decree, but an application to that end can only be successful, if it be evident that the proposed alteration is in the interests of the foundation and in harmony with its objects. The Court, however, would be slow to act when all that was proposed was an alteration in a detail of administration on which opinions might reasonably differ. KANDAS V. TALUKDARI SETTLEMENT OFFICER, 3 Bom. L.R. 258.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(377)—Execution of decree—Copy of decree—Act VIII of 1859, s. 212—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 15.—Ss. 212 of Act VIII of 1859 and 15 of Act XXIII of 1861 do not enact that the decree-holder must file a copy of his decree when he makes an application to execute the same. MODHOO DOSSIA V. NOBIN CHUNDER ROY, 16 W.R. 25. [R., 16 C.W.N. 736.]

(378)—Execution sale—Publication and conduct of sale, irregularity in—Waiver by judgment-debtor.—A petition by the judgment-debtor, praying for the postponement of an execution-sale, would not amount to an admission that the publication and proclamation of sale were properly made, and would be no ground to refuse to hear evidence on the matter, when irregularities are alleged by the judgment-debtor in the publication and the conduct of the sale. THAKOOR MAHATAB DEO V. LEELANUND SINGH, 7 C. 613=9 C.L.R. 398. [F., 17 M. 304.]

(379)—S. 294, Civ. Pro. Code—Execution sale—Decree-holder bidding without Court's permission—Substantial injury.—Under the terms of the third paragraph of s. 294 of the Civ. Pro. Code, it is discretionary with the Court of execution to set aside an execution sale, wherein the decree-holder has purchased without the previous permission of the Court. Though such a matter is an irregularity in the conduct of the sale, the Courts will, before interfering with such a sale, consider whether any substantial injury has resulted to the judgment-debtor by reason of it. MATHURA DAS V. NATHUNI LALL MAHTA, 11 C. 731. [R., 21 C. 554.]

(380)—Damages—Assessment in execution.—In a suit for recovery of damages, damages must be assessed by the Court which tries the case, and not in execution of the decree. A decree containing a direction that, at the time of the execution the amount of damages should be ascertained, is not complete in itself and it cannot be executed. MUSSAMAT BIBI MANIRAN V. MUSSAMAT BIBI MASHIHAN, 4 B.L.R. App. 66.

(381)—Practice—Varying decree in execution—Jurisdiction of Court executing decree.—The Court executing a decree cannot vary it, in the execution department. It cannot re-open the decree, on the ground that the defendant raised a new question in the process of execution. To re-open a decree is to re-hear (and not to execute it). That would be an error of procedure of a substantial kind, calculated to cause great irregularity in the conduct of suits. When a decree gives certain lands within specific boundaries, it is not open to the Court executing the decree to disallow possession of the same, on the plea, that the lands must have been owned by the defendants alone and would not have been decreed for plaintiffs. UDWANT SINGH v. TOKHAN SINGH, 28 C. 353, P.C. = 28 I.A. 57 = 3 Bom. L.R. 318 = 8 Sar. 14.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(382)—Decree of Court of N. W. Provinces—Execution against properties in Bengal—Procedure applicable.—Where a decree of a Civil Court of the North-West Provinces is sought to be executed by attachment and sale of properties situated in a district in Bengal, it is the procedure of the Bengal High Court in the matter of execution, and not the rules for execution of decrees, as passed by the High Court of Agra, that should govern the case. ALI MIRZA v. RAM NARAIN SEIN, 11 W.R. 430. (10 W.R. 12, F.B., F.)

(383)—Payment into Court of money due under a bond bearing interest—Appropriation of such payments first towards satisfaction of interest.—It appears to be a well-settled practice of the Courts to appropriate payments made upon a bond first to the interest due thereon, and thereafter, if any balance remain, to the principal. MAHARAJA OF BENARES v. HAR NARAIN SINGH, A.W.N. 1905, 167 = 2 A.L.J. 585 = 28 A. 25. (1 B.L.R. 110, 22 W.R. 525, R.)

(384)—Ss. 377, 379, Civ. Pro. Code—Payment into Court—Right to draw money out of Court.—On a defendant depositing money in Court in satisfaction of a claim, the plaintiff is entitled to draw out such money and prosecute his suit for balance claimed, as no interest would run on the deposit. The law here is different from the English practice. DWARKA DASS AGURWALLAH v. GIRISH CHUNDER ROY, 2 C. 766.

(385)—Payment out of Court of monies on petition without suit—In the matter of Florence.—Case where payment out of Court of monies on petition without suit was ordered in this case. EMILY BROWNLOW AND LIBIAN KATE BROWNLOW, 11 C. 219.

(386)—Plea of purchaser for value without notice.—The plea of a purchase for value without notice should be specifically put forward either in the written statement or in the issues. DE SILVA v. DE SILVA, 5 Bom. L.R. 784.

(387)—Plea of purchaser for value.—A person who alleges himself to be bona fide purchaser for value without notice must specifically plead that in his written statement or in the plaint as the case may be. If he does not plead all that, he will not be allowed at the hearing to go into evidence on that point. It is not sufficient for a purchaser alleging himself to be a bona fide purchaser for value without notice to plead simply that he is a purchaser for value and bona fide and without value. MULJI JETHA AND CO. v. N. C. MACLEOD, 5 Bom. L.R. 991.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(388)—Judicial sale—Right of purchaser to possession—Practice—Appeal to Privy Council—Costs occasioned by inclusion of unnecessary documents—Necessity of decision on all issues joined—Remand—Intervenor's application rejected—Effect of decree in suit.—It is the practice of the Courts in India not to give possession under a judicial sale by removing one who is in possession under an apparent bona fide title. As a debtor can only assert his title to possession by a suit, so a decree-holder, who derives his title through him, must assert his title by a regular suit. In taxing the costs of appeal to the Privy Council, all such costs and expenses as may have been unnecessarily occasioned by the inclusion, in the transcript sent from India, of matters improperly introduced therein, should be disallowed. The attention of the Courts in India directed to the frequent inclusion of voluminous papers, accounts, and receipts in the transcripts in India, and sent over in that form to the Registry of the Privy Council. In appealable cases, the Courts below, by forbearing from deciding on all the issues joined, not unfrequently oblige the Privy Council to recommend that a cause be remanded which might otherwise be finally decided on appeal. Therefore, in appealable cases, the Courts below should, as far as may be practicable, pronounce their opinion on all the important points. [R., 17 A. 174 = 15 A.W.N. 47, 9 C.W. N. 60, 6 Bom. L.R. 925; Expl. & D., 26 A. 234 = A.W.N. 1904, 6.] A party whose application to intervene in a suit has been refused is not bound by the decree passed in that suit. SARAKANT BANNERJEE v. PUDDARMONEY DOSSEE, 5 W.R.P.C. 63 = 10 M.I.A. 476 = 2 Sar. 184 = 1 Suther. 631. [R., 14 W.R. 401.]

(389)—Bona fide purchaser for valuable consideration, possession by—Neglect of real owner to assert right—Limitation—Exceptions to s. 14, Reg. III of 1793, and s. 3, Reg. II, 1805, distant residence of owner not sufficient for application of—Evidence tendered to lower Court for review refused—No appeal from order of refusal—Such evidence not to be referred to in appeal.—When question arises regarding the rights of bona fide purchasers of an estate for valuable consideration, from persons who had been permitted to hold themselves out to the world as the proprietors for more than 12 years before the purchase, and of the owner by whose neglect they had thus been enabled to assume the character of proprietors, the Court ought to have some other fact than mere distant residence to make out the proof of some good and sufficient cause that had precluded an earlier assertion of a right that must have been well-known to the claimant from the beginning. Plaintiff in this case contended that, although her claim was not preferred to any competent Court till more than 12 years after her cause of action had arisen, yet, that as her nephews had acquired possession of the property by unjust and dishonest means, and as the purchase by the appellant, however fair and just, had been made within 12 years, neither they nor any person under whom they claimed had, during a period of 12 years antecedent to the time of her preferring her claim, held under any fair title, believed to have conveyed a right of possession and property. But it was held that her case could not be brought within the exceptions of s. 14 of Reg. III of 1793 and s. 3 of Reg. II of 1805. By the express words of the regulation, the proof of the fraudulent, unjust or dishonest acquisition is thrown upon the plaintiff, so that, to avoid the effect of the lapse of time, the plaintiff in such a case is bound to establish by proof the existence of conscious injustice in the acquisition in question. [D., 2 N.L.R. 99.] Evidence tendered to the Sudder Court, on a petition for review, which was refused, and the order of refusal not appealed from, though forming part of the transcript, cannot be referred to in the argument upon the appeal from the original judgment. SHEIKH IMDAD ALI v. MUSSUMAT KOOTRY BEGUM, 6 W.R. P.C. 24 = 3 M.I.A. 1.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(390)—S. 647, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Right of a purchaser at a Receiver's sale—Practice of the original side of the High Court.—The High Court has recognized the rights of a purchaser at a Receiver's sale to invoke the assistance of the Court in obtaining possession under the provisions of the Code which relate to sales in a suit. MINATOONNESSA BIBEE v. KHATOUNNESSA BIBEE, 21 C. 479. [R., 34 C. 305 = 5 C.L.J. 270.]

(391)—Misdescription of property in sale notification—Purchaser's remedy.—If the misdescription of the property in the sale notification goes to the essence of the contract and materially alters the substance of it, the purchase cannot be enforced upon the purchaser. But if such misdescription does not materially alter the substance of the contract, the remedy which the purchaser can claim is adequate compensation and not annulment of sale. ADMINISTRATOR GENERAL OF BENGAL v. AGHORE NATH MOOKERJEE, 29 C. 420 = 6 C.W.N. 873.

(392)—S. 545, Civ. Pro. Code—Dismissal of suit—Court dismissing suit is functus officio—Stay of proceedings—Application to Court of first instance after dismissal of suit, but before appeal, to restrain Receiver from parting with funds.—The power, which the English Courts have of staying proceedings for costs under an order of dismissal, is given by s. 545, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882. Under the Civ. Pro. Code, once a suit has been dismissed, the court dismissing it is functus officio, except that it may stay execution of its own decree or order for costs. Its jurisdiction extends no further in regard to a suit which has ceased to be a pending suit. (14 W.R. 384, 11 C. 146, F.) Where an application for an order to prevent the disposal, pending, an appeal, of funds in the hands of the Receivers was made to a court of first instance after dismissal of the suit, held, that the application must be refused with costs. N.B.—The following English cases relating to the power, which the English Courts have of staying proceedings for costs under an order of dismissal considered. Otto v. Lindford, 18 Ch. D. 394, Polini v. Gray, 12 Ch. D. 438, Hamill v. Lilley, 19 Q.B.D. 83, Wilson v. Church, 11 Ch. D. 576. YAMIN-UD-DOWLAH v. AHMED ALI KHAN, 21 C. 561.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(393)—Persons not parties to a suit, wherein a Receiver is appointed, application of—Practice of Court.—Whatever is the least expensive course, consistent with satisfactory enquiry, ought to be adopted in order that the Court shall not, by its own dominant power, hold property on which the parties to the suit have no claim and hold it in despite of the real owners. If the Court can find out who the real owners are, it should do so, and in the least expensive manner. In an administration suit, brought by a daughter to administer her father's estate, a Receiver had been appointed and he took possession of certain properties more than half of which belonged to the father, whilst the remainder was formerly held by the father in the name of his son under a lease from certain zemindars. Two years after the expiry of the said lease the applicants produced to the said Receiver, a power of attorney, alleged to have been executed in their favour by the original lessors or their representatives, authorizing the donees of the power to take over possession of the properties formerly held by the Receiver. On the Receiver declining to make over possession, the applicants applied to the Court, on notice in the administration suit above mentioned, for an order that the Receiver should deliver possession to the applicants of the said lands and should pay the rents and profits accrued since the expiry of the lease. The application being dismissed on the ground that the applicants were not parties to the administration suit, held, on appeal, that they were permitted to apply, by motion or notice, in the suit for the purpose of establishing their rights to obtain an order directing the Receiver to make over to them the said properties held in his possession after the expiry of the lease. MAHOMED MEDHI GALISTANA v. ZOHARRA BEGUM, 17 C. 285. [R., 36 C. 713 = 13 C.W.N. 654 = 9 C.L.J. 563.]

(394)—Pauper—Leave to appeal—Indulgence.—While a pauper may apply for a review of judgment with the same indulgence as to delay in making the application as a person who is not a pauper, yet, in making his application for leave to appeal, similar indulgence is not extended to him. LAKSHMI v. ANANTA SHANBAGA, 2 M. 230. [Appr., L.B.R. 1872-1892, 149; D., 15 A. 14; R., 19 B. 48, 8 C.W.N. 906 = 30 C. 790.]

(395)—Party put in possession praying for mesne profits—Party proved to be pauper—Ex parte application for security pending appeal—Practice.—In an ex parte application for security pending an appeal, the respondent who had been put in possession by the High Court, was found when he applied for mesne profits, to be a pauper. The appellant applied for security to the High Court, but the application was refused. He now asked for an order similar to that made in Mussamut Jariatool-Butool v. Mussamut Hoseinee Begum (10 M.I.A. 196). Held by the Privy Council that, if this application could be entertained at all, it could only be on notice to the other side; but, if the facts stated are correct, the High Court might have taken an erroneous view as to security. The applicant must renew his application to the High Court for security, and, if refused, he could appeal against the refusal on notice to the other side. SRI RAJAH VYRICHERLA RAZ BAHADOOR v. NADMINTI BHAGAVUT, 7 M.J. 190.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(396)—Ordinary mortgage suit placed on list of suits for liquidated claims—Suit transferred from general list of causes at the plaintiff's instance—Notice to defendant necessary.—It has been the practice for many years to place ordinary mortgage suits on the list of suits for liquidated claims in order that they may be expeditiously disposed of, and the view held has been that the incidental relief sought in such suits did not prevent them from being regarded as suits in which the claim was in substance a claim only for a liquidated demand in money. This practice should be adhered to. When, at the instance of the plaintiff, a suit is transferred from the general list of causes, it is desirable, that this should be done on notice to the defendant. When this course has not been followed, the defendant is taken by surprise, and the result very often is, that an application is made for an adjournment of the case. BENODE LALL ROY v. BUSSUNTO KUMARI DEBI, 27 C. 355.

(397)—Mortgage—Right to claim redemption in suit for ejectment.—The plaintiff in a suit for ejectment cannot be permitted to redeem a mortgage on the property. RAMASAMI PILLAI v. VELLAYA PILLAI, 2 M.L.J. 48.

(398)—Suit for redemption—Death of plaintiff—Two persons claiming to be representatives of deceased plaintiff—Application under s. 365, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882—Order of Court—Procedure.—On the death of the plaintiff in a suit for redemption, two persons X and Y applied under s. 365, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, each claiming to be the representative of the deceased. The names of both were entered on the record, and during the trial of the suit, X's title to be representative was proved and the Court passed a decree in his favour. On appeal, the District Judge reversed the decree and passed one in favour of Y, holding Y to be the legal representative of the deceased. X preferred an appeal to the High Court. Held that the Court of first instance was wrong in having admitted under s. 367, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, two rival claimants as representatives of the plaintiff (deceased) and adjudicated by its decree between the rival claims of the two co-plaintiffs. VITHU v. BHIMA, 15 B. 145. [R., 27 B. 162.]

(399)—Suit for cancellation of mortgage-deed—Denial of attestation—Presumption as to execution.—The defendants were bound by the statements of the witnesses they had elected to put in the box, and they should not have been discredited simply because their evidence turned out unfavourable to the side on which they had been summoned. HARDIAL v. RAM DAS, A.W.N. 1884, 19.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(400)—Foreclosure—Notice, form of.—The law requires that a notice of foreclosure should be given under the seal and the official signature of the Judge. So, a notice bearing the seal of the Court but signed only by a Moonserim is not valid in law. SEITH HUR LALL v. MANICKPAL, 3 N.W.P. 176.

(401)—Mortgage suit between Hindus—Foreclosure decree in Supreme Court—Effect—Partial sale of Zamindari for arrears of revenue—Purchaser's rights—Burden of proof—Issues of fact, Trial of, upon merits.—The effect of a foreclosure decree in the Supreme Court in a mortgage suit, between Hindus is equivalent to a decree establishing proprietary right in the Company's Courts, on similar suits on the like instruments. Plaintiff as purchaser at a revenue sale for arrears of revenue due on a zemindari, sued for arrears of rent collected by the defendant who was in occupation of a portion of the property purchased by plaintiff. Defendant contended that the portion occupied by him was, when it was waste and uncultivated, granted by a former zemindar to his predecessor in title under a pottah; that the grantee brought the waste under cultivation and had ever since been in possession; he also contended that the lands so held by him were not included in the assets upon which the permanent assessment was fixed. The lower Courts had found that the plaintiff failed to make out that the lands in dispute had been included in the Permanent Settlement and that the defendant had made out the grant under which he claimed. Held, the plaintiff having failed to establish that the lands had been included in the Permanent Settlement, the revenue sale could give him no title. The suit was accordingly dismissed. By the procedure of the Courts in India, the Courts are bound to proceed according to the facts alleged in the plaint, and not to refuse to try issues of fact upon the merits, on the ground of the legal effect of the facts alleged in the plaint. NAWAB SIDHEE NUZUR ALLY KHAN v. RAJAH OJODHYARAM KHAN, 5 W.R. P.C. 83=10 M.I.A. 540=1 Suth. P.C. 635=2 Sar. 198.

(402)—S. 39, sub-s. (1), Act I of 1895 (Presidency Small Cause Court)—Application for amendment of plaint—Revival of claim abandoned in excess of jurisdiction.—Where the plaintiff, alleging that Rs. 2,500 was due to him by the defendant, filed a suit in the Small Cause Court against the defendant for Rs. 2,000, abandoning Rs. 500, as in excess of the jurisdiction of the Court, and, on the defendant's application, the case was transferred to the High Court, the plaintiff, on application by summons in chambers, was permitted to amend the plaintiff so as to include the abandoned amount. RAM LALL v. BHAJAHARI PAUL, 1 C.W.N. 32.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(403)—Suit in District Munsiff's Court—Suit filed in Small Cause Court on the same day—Election.—A suit, brought in a District Munsiff's Court, filed on the same day as a suit for the same amount brought on the same cause of action in the Small Cause Court, is no bar to the maintenance of the Small Cause suit, but the plaintiff must elect between the two. SUBRAMANIYAN v. GANAPATHI, 2 M. 123.

(404)—Act XIV of 1869, s. 28—Subordinate Judge invested with Small Cause powers—Jurisdiction in respect of counter-claims—Act IX of 1887, s. 33—A Subordinate Judge invested with the powers of a Small Cause Court, under Act XIV of 1869 is precluded by s. 33 of Act IX of 1887, from entertaining counter-claims exceeding the pecuniary limit of his Small Cause jurisdiction. BAROTE GAGA PARSHOTAM v. SEPOY PANJU RAMJAN, 14 B. 371. [Appr., 5 Bom. L.R. 398.]

(405)—Suit for compensation—Damage for assault—Criminal prosecution.—A person, who is assaulted can pursue his civil, in addition to his criminal, remedy; but, if punishment in person has been resorted to, that must always be an important element in mitigation in subsequently estimating the amount of penalty to be inflicted in pocket. MISR RAMJI v. JIWAN RAM, AND KIDAR NATH v. MISR RAMJI, A.W.N. 1881, 131.

(406)—Substantial injury—Material irregularity—Inference.—To shew that substantial injury was the result of some irregularity complained of, the judgment-debtor is only to show that there is reason for inferring that it was due to, and resulted from, material irregularity. BHIKARI MISRA v. RANI SURJA MONI PAT MAHA DAI, 6 C.W.N. 48. (24 C. 291, 15 I.A. 171, 16 I.A. 107, R.) [R., 30 C. 1=6 C.W.N. 688, 31 C. 815=8 C.W.N. 686, U.B.R. 1907, 2nd Qr., C.P.C., s. 311.]

(407)—Infringement of legal right—No proof of substantial damage—Decree.—Where A has infringed B's legal right in a suit by B, against A, though B fails to prove substantial damage, B is entitled at least to a decree that his rights have been infringed by A, though without substantial damages and without costs. KALIAPPA KAUNDAN v. VAYAPURI KAUNDAN, 2 M.H.C. 442.

(408)—Pending suits—Another suit under s. 39 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877)—Cancellation of instrument.—On the 16th March, 1899, C brought a suit against D to recover on a bond passed by D to C; to this suit, the defence was that the bond was void being passed for the balance due on wagering transactions. While the suit was pending, D brought a suit on the 13th June 1899, to have the bond mentioned above cancelled and delivered up to him, under the provisions of s. 39 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877; Held, that the form of specific relief under s. 39 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, was founded upon the administration of a protective justice for fear; that in this case, there could be no fear that D would suffer serious injury if he did not bring the second suit, for the plea which was the foundation of the second action was raised by him in the defence to the first suit; and that, therefore, no necessity for the bringing of the second action had arisen. CHAGANLAL v. DHONDU, 5 Bom. L.R. 575=27 B. 607.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(409)—Administration suit—Further directions—Advocate-General added as a party—Advocate-General entitled to raise a point as to the validity of the gift—Accounts and enquiries—Beneficiary—Trustee.—K by his will, dated 4th September 1864, declared a trust for the payment of a sum of Rs. 1,000 per month for the benefit of his daughter L and for the benefit of the children of L if she should die leaving children. The residuary estate was kept on trust the income of which was directed to be spent in some charities. K died on the 4th October 1864. In 1868, the Advocate-General commenced a suit for the administration of the testator's estate. A decree for administration was passed on the 5th December 1873. L died on the 15th December 1869. In 1870, L's children and husband commenced a suit (370 of 1870) against the executors to recover the arrears of the monthly sum due at L's death, and to have a sum set apart to answer the monthly sum in future. On the 6th November 1871, a decree for general administration was passed. The Commissioner made his first report on the 31st March 1884, but it was in July 1889, that his final report was completed. In June 1902, the case came up before the Court for further directions: at this stage of the suit, the Advocate-General was added as a party at the instance of the executors and with the assent of the other parties. The Advocate-General then raised a contention that the gift to L's children was bad as transgressing the rule in the Tagore case and that the gift therefore lapsed into the residuary gift. The Division Court held that the Advocate-General was not, at that stage, entitled to raise the point. Held, that the Advocate-General was entitled to raise his point even at the stage the proceedings in the administration suit (370 of 1870) had reached. A beneficiary is generally taken as sufficiently represented by his trustees: but this does not hold where the contest lies between beneficiaries themselves. ADVOCATE-GENERAL OF BOMBAY v. KARAMALLY, 4 Bom. L.R. 857.

(410)—Administration suit—Estate belonging to living Hindu.—An administration suit brought to administer the estate of a living Hindu debtor, cannot be maintained in a civil Court. GANGARAM v. NAGINDAS, 10 Bom. L.R. 519=32 B. 381.

(411)—Concurrent suits for administration—Conduct of proceedings.—A plaintiff, who brings a suit for administration of a testator's estate, charging the executors with breaches of trust, is entitled to bring his suit to a hearing, notwithstanding that an ordinary administration decree re the same estate has already been obtained in a suit subsequently instituted where to the plaintiff is not a party; and, if a second decree is made, the accounts and enquiries already had under the first decree will be adopted under the second so far as applicable and the plaintiff in the first suit will be given the conduct of the proceedings. ROJOMOYEE DASSEE v. TROYLUKHO MOHINEY DASSEE, 29 C. 260 = 6 C.W.N. 267.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(412)—Application for letters of administration by agent under a power-of-attorney from an executor—Necessity for affidavit of identity—Power to require further evidence as to identity.—The practice of the High Court of Calcutta, for a long time, has been not to require an affidavit of identity, where an application for letters of administration is made by a person under a power-of-attorney, duly executed before and authenticated by a Notary Public. But if, in any particular case, the Judge is not satisfied with the identity of the executant of a power-of-attorney, it is open to him to call for further evidence. However, the Judge ought not to dismiss the application on this ground. In the goods of MYLNE, 33 C. 625.

(413)—Provisions of Civ. Pro. Code inconsistent with those of Probate and Administration Act—Procedure.—If the provisions of Civ. Pro. Code are inconsistent with those of the Probate and Administration Act, those of the Civ. Pro. Code must prevail, as it is the later enactment. ESOOFF HASSHIM BOOPLY v. FATIMA BIBI, 24 C. 30 = 1 C.W.N. 8.

(414)—Practice in testamentary matters before Act V of 1881—Review.—The practice in the Courts in India in testamentary matters previously to Act V of 1881, was the same as that of the Ecclesiastical Court in England, except so far as that practice might be inconsistent with the Civ. Pro. Code. There has been no testamentary case in England in which a review has been permitted. The power of review, however, is expressly given to the Courts in India in civil cases by the Civ. Pro. Codes, 1859 and 1877, and as the rules of these Courts in testamentary matters are to be consistent with those Codes, it might be right, under proper circumstances, to allow a review in testamentary matters. In re PITAMBAR GIRDHAR, 5 B. 638.

(415)—Questions relating to testamentary capacity—Speculative theory derived from medical books and judicial dicta, not a safe basis.—In questions relating to the testamentary capacity of a person, it is always dangerous to base the judgment on the speculative theory derived from medical books, and judicial dicta, instead of depending upon the facts established by the evidence in the case. SAJID ALI v. IBAD ALI, 23 C. 1, P.C. = 22 I.A. 171 = 6 Sar. 627.

(416)—Trustees, suit by—Decree in plaintiff's favor—Appeal by defendants—Plaintiff's application to alter the judgment so as to defeat his own action—New plaintiffs, joining of—Surrender of a decree in his favour by a trustee—Betrayal of trust—Refusal of the Court to alter the decree.—The plaintiff, the hereditary trustee of a temple, dedicated to the worship of Shiva and where the customary ceremonies of Hindu worship were carried on, sued the defendants who represented a caste called the Nadar or Shanar caste. The question between the parties was whether the defendants and the caste to which they belonged had legal right to enter and worship in the temple. The first Court decided against the defendants, who thereupon appealed to the High Court. The plaintiff thought fit to profess that he then saw that he and the Judge of the lower Court were wrong and asked the High Court that the judgment of the lower Court should be altered so as to defeat his own action. The High Court, on being applied to, as their Lordships held very properly, re-inforced the cause of the worshippers of the temple by joining certain new plaintiffs to the original plaintiff whose confidence in the justice of his suit had by that time convalesced. The High Court refused to alter the decree and their Lordships were of opinion that the principles applicable to the case of a trustee who thus betrayed his trust by surrendering a decree had been well stated and applied by the High Court. SANKARALINGA NADAN v. RAJA RAJESWARA DORAI, 10 Bom. L.R. 781 = 12 C.W.N. 946 = 4 M.L.T. 101 = 31 M. 236 = 8 C.L.J. 230 = 18 M.L.J. 387 = 35 I.A. 176.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(417)—Trust suits—Party to a suit—Trust—Beneficiaries—Settlement—Settlors—Trustees—Post-nuptial agreement.—The beneficiaries under a trust have a right to come in a suit only where there is a trust admitted or proved to exist, but where the dispute is as to the factum of the trust itself, it is a claim against a person setting up the right of trustee and he, not the beneficiary, is the necessary party. Where the claim is against the trustees of a settlement and not against any other persons, the Court ought not to go into the question whether the provisions inserted in the settlement were proper, but only whether the settlor really understood the settlement which he executed. Where a husband and wife long after marriage and after they have children enter into an agreement to invest certain moneys in the name of a third person as trustee for the maintenance and education of the children: and in accordance with the agreement the husband and the wife voluntarily convey each his or her moneys for the benefit of their children to a trustee, it is open to the settlors to subsequently set aside their own voluntary deed. COOPER v. KISSONLAL, 4 Bom. L.R. 358.

(418)—Restitution of conjugal rights—Conditions attached to the decree.—It is not competent to a Court, in passing a decree for restitution of conjugal rights, to impose certain conditions under which the restitution can be had. MOTILAL v. BAI CHANCHAL, 4 Bom. L.R. 107.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(419)—Decree—Conjugal rights—Conditional decree.—In decreeing a suit for restitution of conjugal rights in favour of husband, the Court cannot impose on him the duty of providing his wife with a separate house and separate maintenance. CHIMANLAL v. BAI NARMADA, 4 Bom. L.R. 820.

(420)—Letters Patent, cl. 10—Appeal—Appellant cannot argue points not argued before single Judge.—In appeals under the Letters Patent, an appellant is not entitled to make a new case, i.e., he is not entitled to be heard on points which he had not raised before the Judges whose decree he was appealing from. BRIJ BHUKHAN v. DURGA DAT, 20 A. 258 = A.W.N. 1898, 41. [D., 11 M.L.J. 10.]

(421)—Transfer of civil case—Grounds of transfer—Nature of questions for disposal—Local prejudice—Letters Patent, cl. 13—Practice—Affidavits on motion—Affidavits filed after adjournment for counsel's convenience.—Where it was suggested, as grounds of an application for the transfer of a case from the mofussil, that the plaintiff's case might be prejudiced by being there tried and that difficult and intricate questions of law would arise in the case, the Court, not satisfied on the evidence that such reasons existed, refused to grant the application. The Court also declined, without the consent of the other side, to allow an affidavit in support of a motion to be read, which had been filed after an adjournment granted for convenience of counsel. COWIJON v. COWIJON, 9 B.L.R. App. 10. [R., 10 B.L.R. 57.]

422)—Application under s. 15, High Court's Act—Delay.—A party who prays for the interference of the High Court under s. 15 of the High Court's Act, should do so without delay. BUGGOBUTTY KOWAR v. MONEY, 2 C.L.R. 545.

(423)—Bona fide claim—The fact that a person adds on to an honest claim based on a substantial foundation, a claim of a disputable character would not go to shew that the whole claim is not brought in good faith and, in the plaintiff's estimation, with some prospect of success, so that it could not be said that the claim is not a bona fide one. PROFODE CHUNDER MULLICK v. M. DOWEY, 14 C. 695.

(424)—Ex parte decision in absence of party after first hearing—Ex parte decision in absence of party at adjourned hearing—There is a distinction made by the Code of Civil Procedure between cases decided ex parte in the absence of one of the parties at the first hearing, and cases decided in the absence of one of the parties at the adjourned hearing. SITAL HARI BANERJEE v. HEERA LAL CHATTERJEE, 21 C. 269. (2 A. 67, R.)

(425)—Ex parte decree, application to set aside—Lenient treatment of defaulting parties—Setting aside of ex parte proceedings by consent.—The defendant applied to set aside an ex parte decree passed against him. The plaintiff agreed on condition of payment of costs and a date was fixed by the Munsiff for their payment. On that date, the application was dismissed by the successor of the Munsiff, who originally heard the application, on the ground that the summons was duly served on the defendant and the order dismissing the application was upheld on appeal. Held, that the application was wrongly rejected. The defendant should have been leniently treated specially because the plaintiff had given his consent to the grant of the application. PARTAB SINGH v. NARAIN DAS, 159 P.L.R. 1905 = 72 P.R. 1905.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(426)—Consul to receive notice of suit.—A Court in India, in which a claim for wages may be made by a foreign seaman, must give the consul of the nation to which the ship belongs, a notice that the suit has been instituted. FRITZ OLNER v. LAVEZZO, 10 C. 878.

(427)—Order directing stay of proceedings and trial of test case—Right of persons obtaining adverse decision.—Persons obtaining an order directing the trial of one out of 44 cases as a test case and stay of proceedings in the rest, are not, after getting an adverse decision in the test case, precluded from requiring the consideration by the Court of the other cases. KASHIN PRASAD SINGH v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, 29 C. 140.

(428)—Practice—Reference pending before Registrar—Filing statement of facts after appointed time, right of party.—A party cannot be shut out from filing a statement when by doing so he is only purging the contempt he was in, in not having done so before. Each party has a right to have the dispute determined on the merits, and the Court should do everything to favour the fair trial of the issue between the parties. Where, on the Registrar's refusal to deal with a statement of facts filed after the appointed time, without an order from the Court, application was made to the Court for an order that the Registrar might be at liberty to refer to the statement of facts, and that the party filing the statement might be permitted to appear and support them. held, that such statement of facts could be filed by that party. TARAK MOHINEY DASSEE v. GREES CHUNDER DASS, 26 C. 585.

(429)—Practice—Exceptions to report by Registrar—Notice not given—Rule 565, Rules and Orders of High Court, Original Side.—An application to discharge or vary a certificate or report must, according to Rule 565, Belchamber's Rules and Orders, be made by motion upon notice to be given within 14 days from the date of filing thereof, or within such further time as the Court may allow. Such notice must be accompanied with the grounds of exception relied on by the party objecting to the report. LUTCHMEE NARAIN v. BYJANAUTH LAHIA, 24 C. 437 = 2 C.W.N. 57 [R., 28 C. 272.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(430)—Succession certificate—Dismissal of suit pending decision of application for certificate.—Held, that the dismissal of a suit for non-production of a succession certificate is improper, where application to obtain the certificate is pending in Court. AMIR SINGH v. RAM CHAND, 94 P.L.R. 1902.

(431)—Applications to High Court in exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction—Practice—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 38—Act VIII of 1859.—S. 38 of Act XXIII of 1861 requires that the procedure prescribed by Act VIII of 1859 should be followed in all miscellaneous cases and proceedings. All applications for the exercise of the High Court's extraordinary jurisdiction should be accompanied by a copy of the orders of the lower Courts, and should be presented within the same period in which the special appeals are required to be presented. In re NAGAPPA, 5 B.H.C.A.C. 215. [F., 23 B. 698 = 1 Bom. L.R. 185.]

(432)—Act X of 1859, s. 77—Introduction of third parties in rent suits by Revenue Courts.—The Court below was held to have been wrong in having placed on the record the two intervening defendants, who did not come into the Court with any claim under s. 77 of Act X of 1859. The procedure of the Revenue Courts does not admit of third parties being introduced into the record, except under circumstances prescribed by that section. DOORGA NARAIN ROY CHOWDHRY v. KISHEN MOHUN DOSS, 10 W.R. 54.

(433) Act VIII of 1859, s. 119—Act X of 1859, s. 58—Bengal Act III of 1870—Ex parte decree—Re-hearing—Procedure.—An application for the hearing of a case in which judgment was passed ex parte or by default by the Revenue Court before the passing of the Bengal Act III of 1870, is governed by the procedure prescribed by s. 119, Act VIII of 1859 and not s. 58 of Act X of 1859. OODWUNT MAHTOON v. BIDDHI CHAND CHOWDHRY, 13 B.L.R. 216, Note=18 W.R. 207. [F., 18 W.R. 252.]

(434)—Plaint on which decree has been passed, not returnable for presentation to proper Court—Practice of High Court of Bombay.—After a suit was disposed of by the Division Bench of the High Court, an application was made for return of the plaint for presentation to the proper Court, but was refused on the ground that, the case having been disposed of by the High Court's decree which reversed the decree of the lower Appellate Court, it was impossible to allow the plaint, on which the decree of the High Court was passed, to be removed from the record. In re BAI AMRIT, 8 B. 380.

(435)—Impartible estate—Law understood at date of sale, subsequently overruled, effect of.—Where portions of a joint impartible zamindari in Madras were sold in 1873 and 1876 in execution of money-decrees obtained against the zamindar for debts for which the joint estate was not liable, held that the parties must be taken to be bound by the law as it was understood at the time of the sales and not by the subsequent rulings of the Court overruling that law, and that, therefore, only the life-interest of the zamindar passed under the sale. ABDUL AZIZ KHAN v. APPAYASAMI NAICKER, 27 M. 131, P.C.=31 I.A. 1=8 C.W.N. 186=6 Bom. L.R. 7=8 Sar. 568. (6 B. and S. 100, Rel.; 15 I.A. 51, 13 M. 197, 26 I.A. 83, 10 A. 272, 22 M. 383, R.) [R., 27 A. 97, F.B.=A.W.N. 1904, 174=1 A.L.J. 435, 29 M. 484=16 M.L.J. 499=1 M.L.T. 287, 6 C.L.J. 572, 32 M. 429=2 Ind. Cas. 18=19 M.L.J. 401.]

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(436)—Contest between two persons more or less innocent.—In a contest between two persons more or less innocent whose rights to the property have to be determined, it is necessary to see whether the difficulties could at an earlier stage have been prevented by the action of the one party or of the other. GONESH PERSHAD v. FAZUL EMAM KHAN, 23 C. 857.

(437)—Rule of damdupat, when applicable—Damdupat, if applicable in insolvency proceedings—Practice.—The rule of damdupat (26 M. 622, R.) exists only so long as the contractual relation of debtor and creditor exists, but not when the contractual relation has come to an end by reason of a decree. Proof of a claim in insolvency amounts to a decree and the rule of damdupat would not apply to a claim so proved. Moreover, the uniform practice of this Court has been not to apply the rule of damdupat in insolvency proceedings. In the matter of HARI LALL MALLICK, 10 C.W.N. 884=33 C. 1269.

(438)—Co-defendants—Power of one defendant to bind another.—A defendant in a suit has no authority to bind a co-defendant by a pledge to abide by a reference to the rent-roll of a certain year for the decision of the principal matter in issue. SHIAM LALL v. NARAIN DAS, 2 Agra 106.

(439)—Registration Act XX of 1866, s. 84, appeal under—Procedure.—A petition of appeal to the High Court under s. 84, Act XX of 1866, should be in English, only when the party understands that language sufficiently for the purposes of verification, and when this is not the case, a translation accompanying the vernacular petition will be proper and sufficient. A notice in accordance with the provisions of cl. 4, s. 84 of the Act, ought to be issued on both the registering officer, and on the other persons interested in the matter. The Deputy Registrar of the High Court is competent to fix the time for the hearing of the case, and to require the appellant to insert, at the head of the petition of appeal, the names of such persons as are interested in the matter as also to serve them with notice. The document the registration of which has been refused should always be put in with the petition of appeal, and the presentation of the latter should be in the office in the same way as in the case of miscellaneous appeals. In the matter of JUGUN PATNEE, 12 W.R. 2.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(440)—Commission to take evidence in England in respect of suit in India—Taxation of bill of costs—Principle of taxation—Objection to taxation—Procedure by taxing master—Commission to England—Production of vouchers—Rule in respect of discretion of taxing master—Principle of party taxation—Obtaining transcript of evidence given and of perusing it, costs of—Amount allowed to—Witness by taxing master—Discretionary—Interference by Court—Fees of Commissioner, scale of.—On the issue of a commission to take evidence in England in respect of a suit in India, the bill of costs as regards such commission must be taxed by the taxing master of the Court in India and not in England. It is to be taxed on the same principle and on the same scale as would be adopted in England. Where the taxing master finds any difficulty, he must refer to England for information. When an item in the taxation is objected to, the master is to re-consider and review his taxation, and, in doing so, he must throw the onus of proof as to the necessity of the item, upon such party as, having regard to its particular nature, he considers ought to bear it. It is impossible to lay down any particular rule as regards the production of vouchers in cases of commission to England. To require them in all cases in the first instance would occasion an unnecessary increase of costs in the proceedings. To rule that they should never be called for, would be to establish a dangerous precedent which unscrupulous practitioners might readily avail themselves of. The proper procedure is this:—Upon the objections being brought in, it should be in the discretion of the taxing master, either of his own motion or on the application of the party objecting, to require vouchers for, or further proof of, all or any of the items objected to, and, failing the production of the vouchers or proof that he may require, to disallow the item. The principle of party and party taxation in England is that the successful party shall receive only such costs as were necessary to enable him to conduct the litigation. Quære:—Whether, on taxation as between party and party, the costs of obtaining a transcript of the evidence given and perusing it, should be allowed or not? The taxing master has a discretion to make payments to witnesses, and Courts will always be averse to review such discretionary allowances. Where a Court in India appoints a Commissioner to take evidence in England, it expects that his fees shall not exceed those which the Supreme Court in England would allow to a special Examiner or Commissioner acting in England under its orders; and parties should choose their Commissioners with reference to this understanding. If they desire that higher fees should be allowed to the Commissioner whom they name, they should obtain an order from the Judge appointing the Commissioner. THE GOKULDAS BULABDAS MANUFACTURING COMPANY, LIMITED v. JAMES SCOTT, 15 B. 209.

(441)—Fraud — Circumstantial evidence — Error in law.—In dealing with questions of fraud, there is no reason why circumstantial evidence should not be acted upon, if it is sufficient to overcome the natural presumption of honesty and fair dealing and to satisfy a reasonable mind of the existence of fraud by raising a counter-presumption. If a Judge, in dealing with a question of fact, forms his conclusion upon a portion of the evidence before him, excluding the other portion under an erroneous impression that it is not legal evidence but conjecture, there can be no doubt that the investigation is erroneous in law and that the error thus committed is likely to have produced an error in the decision of the case upon the merits, inasmuch as it is impossible to say whether the Judge would have arrived at the same conclusion if he had looked into all the evidence on the record, without excluding any part of it from a mistaken idea that it was not admissible in law. MATHURA PANDEY v. RAM RUCHA TEWARI, 3 B.L.R.A. C. 108 = 11 W.R. 482.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(442)—Transfer of case—Act VIII of 1859, s. 6—Evidence—Practice.—It was never intended by s. 6, Act VIII of 1859, to enable a District Judge, after the evidence had been taken which was to form part of the evidence on which the final decision was to be given, and before the Judge who took that evidence had expressed an opinion upon it, to call up the case and put it in on his own file. DUMREE SAHOO v. JUGDAREE, 13 W.R. 398. [R., 23 M. 314 = 10 M.L.J. 51, 32 C. 875 = 9 C.W.N. 705.]

(443)—Execution of decree in another district — Application by third party—Jurisdiction.—A decree sent for execution to another district cannot be re-called on the application of a third party. INDRA CHANDRA DUGAR v. GOPAL CHANDRA SHETIA, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 181 = 11 W.R. 557.

(444)—Interest — Bond debt — Practice.—There is no fixed rate at which interest must by law be allowed for the period between the time when a bond becomes payable, and the commencement of a suit for the amount due, the matter being entirely in the discretion of the Court, regard being had to all the circumstances of the case. SITANATH BOSE v. MATHURANATH ROY, 2 B.L.R. App. 10 = 11 W.R. 68. [R., 1 A. 603.]

(445)—Special appeal—Practice—Wrong issues — Assent of parties.—The High Court cannot, in special appeal, interfere with the decision of the Subordinate Judge on a question of fact, if there was any evidence to support it. Where the parties accept the issues though wrongly laid down by the Court framing the issues, they must be held bound by them. SHEW SUKOY LALL v. SYED WAJID ALI KHAN, 13 W.R. 205.

(446)—Appeal—Appellant not heard— Procedure.—The provision that in an appeal a notice should be served on the respondent and he must be allowed to argue in defence of the decree of the lower Court, does not mean that the appellant should not be heard and the case decided before the date fixed for hearing and in his absence. Where a Court does so, the case must go back to the lower Court for being re-heard; and where the questions raised are purely questions of fact, though it is not open to the Chief Court to decide such questions it is still open to it to find out if there is a substantial failure of justice, so that directions may be given to the lower Court to record a finding. MR. TER ARRATOON v. LALL CHUND, 10 P.R. 1866.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(447)—Suit on bond—Breach of contract—Jurisdiction—Cause of action.—The place where a cause of action arises must be determined by not merely the locality of the breach of the contract. The whole cause of action is said to arise in the district wherein the contract is made and wherein the breach also takes place. Where the whole cause of action does not occur in any one jurisdiction, the venue must lie where the defendant dwells. COLLECTOR OF BOOLUNDSHUHER v. NANUKCHAND, 29 P.R. 1867. [R., 61 P.R. 1883; D., 56 P.R. 1868.]

(448)—Bankruptcy—Procedure in respect of property outside jurisdiction—Act VIII of 1859, s. 284, et seq.—Procedure to be followed where the property of the bankrupt is or is situated out of the jurisdiction of the Court—explained. Procedure as to the realisation of decrees that have to be executed outside the jurisdiction of the Court by which they were passed. REFERENCE FROM SMALL CAUSE COURT, LAHORE, 65 P.R. 1868.

(449)—Defect of jurisdiction—Pleading for first time in appeal—Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, s. 350.—Excess of jurisdiction is not only a matter of defence, but it is an inherent want of authority in the Court which is a defect not remedied by s. 350 of the Code, and if apparent on the record, might be brought up in appeal although passed over in the original Court. SHEIKH NIZAMUDDIN v. THE GOVERNMENT, 54 P.R. 1871.

(450)—Application to file award made out of Court—Duty of the Court on the filing of the award—Judgment to be given and decree passed in accordance with the award—Decree when capable of execution.—A decree must follow award filed in Court under s. 526 of the Civ. Pro. Code, Act X of 1877, in order that execution can be taken out and property attached and sold; and, where, as in the present case, no decree based on the award has been properly passed, the Court has no jurisdiction to execute the award. When an award has been filed, the Court must, in giving effect to it in the manner provided by the chapter of the Civ. Pro. Code in that behalf, after the time fixed for presentation of an application to set the award aside had expired, proceed under s. 522 to give judgment according to the award and upon the judgment a decree should follow. The so-called decree passed in this case, having been drawn up on the bare order of the Court "that the award be filed," was not a decree within the meaning of s. 522, and in executing it as if it were such a decree by attachment and sale of property, the Court had acted without jurisdiction and consequently the proceedings in execution were held liable to be set aside. DHARM DAS v. AJUDIAH PERSHAD, 112 P.R. 1879.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

(451)—Records of pending cases—Power to make rules regarding inspection of—Rule II of the Chief Court's Judicial Cir. No. XCIII.—There is nothing in the rules issued by the Chief Court in Circular No. XCIII of the edition of 1879, which precludes the Judge from making a rule, in the exercise of his power of general control, by which the period up to which the record of a case pending in his Court may be inspected, is limited. The Commissioner was therefore held not to have acted ultra vires in having framed a rule that files of cases pending in his Court shall not be inspected by a legal practitioner engaged later than two days before the date fixed for the hearing. In the matter of the petition of C. J. SUTHERLAND, 103 P.R. 1882.

(452)—Lambardar—Dismissal—Police duties—Practice.—Though a lambardar is liable to dismissal if he fails in the discharge of his police duties, still before an order of dismissal is passed the fact of such failure must be proved by evidence. MAYA SUKH v. CROWN, 2 P.R. 1888, Rev.

Under this Circular, Judges and Magistrates are prohibited from forwarding to Government representations from their subordinates relating to the personal services of the latter circular. Cir. No. 6, dated the 6th April 1865, 2 W.R. Civ. Order, p. 5.

According to this Circular, Registration Memos ought to accompany records of appealed cases. Cir. No. 21, dated the 5th September 1865, 4 W.R. Civ. Cir. Order, p. 1.

This Circular lays down to whom Warrants of Commitment to the Civil or Criminal Jail should be addressed. Cir. No. 27, dated the 20th November 1865, 4 W.R. Civ. Cir. Order, p. 3.

This Circular calls upon Zillah Judges to report the state of their record-rooms. Cir. No. 26, dated the 16th November 1865, 4 W.R. Civ. Cir. Order, p. 3.

This Circular contains repeated injunction for compliance with the law regarding proper record of evidence and proper trial of suits. Cir. No. 30, dated the 7th December 1865, 4 W.R. Civ. Cir. Order, p. 4.

This Circular lays down rules as to the preparation of the Registration Memorandum. Cir. No. 2, dated the 2nd Feb. 1866, 5 W.R. Civ. Cir. Orders, p. 1.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

This Circular lays down the procedure when offence committed in or before Civil Court falls under two or more heads. Cir. No. 27, dated 10th July 1866, 6 W. R. Civ. Cir. Order, p. 4.

All covers sent by post to the High Court ought to be addressed to the Registrar, Appellate Side. Cir. No. 31, dated the 14th August 1866, 6 W. R. Civ. Cir. Order, p. 6.

This Circular prescribes the particulars to be inserted in Monthly Statements under each subordinate Judicial Officer's name. Cir. No. 38, dated the 26th September 1866, 6 W. R. Civ. Cir. Order, p. 9.

This Circular lays down that Records of execution cases appealed to the High Court ought to be sent up complete. Cir. No. 5, dated the 4th Feb., 1867, 7 W. R. Civ. Cir. Orders, p. 2.

This Circular announces that Quarterly, and not Monthly, Civil statements need be submitted to High Court. Cir. No. 26, dated the 11th September 1867, 8 W. R. Civ. Cir. Orders, p. 5.

According to this Circular, blank statements should not be sent up with the Quarterly Statements. Civ. Cir. No. 12 dated 27th November 1868, 10 W. R. Civ. Cir. 7.

This Circular prescribes the rules to be observed in the offices of Zillah Judges with regard to the furnishing of applicants with information from the records or with unauthenticated copies of papers. Civ. Cir. No. 7 dated 16th July 1869, 12 W. R. Civ. Cir. 3.

This Circular circulates letter from the Judicial Commissioner of Oudh requesting that civil processes for service on persons in Lucknow be addressed to the Civil Judge. Civ. Cir. Memo No. 7 dated 4th October 1869, 12 W. R. Civ. Cir. 11.

This Circular pertains to matters relative to the use of the Vernacular Language in the Local Courts. Civ. and Crim. Cir. No. 8 of 6th March 1872, 17 W. R. H. C. Rules and Ors. 5.

This Circular lays down rules regarding receipt and payment of money by Courts subordinate to the High Court. Civ. Cir. No 9 dated 8th March 1872, 17 W. R. H. C. Rules and Ors. 5.

This Circular invited opinion on suggestions of Judge of Bhaugulpore, relative to the transmission of Moonsiffs' and Subordinate Judges' records at out-stations to the Appellate Courts. Civ. Cir. Memo. No. 7 of 9th April 1872, 17 W. R. H. C. Rules and Ords. 13.

Addition of a column "total value of suits" in the Judicial Statement for Small Cause Courts. Civ. Cir. No. 16 of 25th April 1872, 17 W. R. H. C. Rules and Ors. 15.

This Circular in continuation of previous Circular, enjoins latest hour at which Judges should be on the Bench. Civ. Cir. Or. No. 11, 20 W. R. Rules and Ors. of the H. C. p. 3.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

This Circular circulates India Government Resolution requiring every order for the payment of money from a Government Treasury to be in English, unless Presiding Officer is not acquainted with that language, when the order is to be both in the Vernacular and in English. Civ. Cir. Or. No. 15, 20 W. R. Rules and Ors. of the H. C. p. 6.

This Circular lays down that Returns Nos. 31 and 41 ought to show only sums paid and received within the financial year. Rev. Cir. No. 1, 20 W. R. Rev. Cir. p. 4.

This Circular extends the use of Summons Book and Register to Courts of Moonsiffs vested with Small Cause Court powers, as well as provisions of Circular Order No. 40 of 1866 as to destruction of records. Civ. Cir. Or. No. 7, 24 W. R. Rules and Ords. of the H. C. p. 4.

This Circular prescribes a Form of Return for days given to Civil and Criminal Work. Civ. and Crim. Memo. No. 9, 24 W. R. Rules and Ords. of the H. C. p. 5.

According to this Circular, the Quarterly Statements A, B, and C need not show the names of the Officers; but Judges to collect the required information for their yearly reports. Civ. Cir. Memo No. 12, 24 W. R. Rules and Ors. of the H. C. p. 6.

This Circular directs that Petitions in Nagri ought to be accepted by Civil Courts and Clerks should learn the Nagri character. Civ. Cir. Or. No. 12, 24 W. R. Rules and Ors. of the H. C. p. 12.

This Circular makes an alteration in the title and the headings of columns of Register No. 58. Rev. Cir. No. 1, 24 W. R. Rev. Cir. p. 4.

This Circular prescribes that seals and signatures of Judicial Officers and name of Court issuing processes ought to be clearly rendered. 25 W. R. H. C. Rules Cir. No. 4 dated 13th March, 1876 p. 4.

Abatement of suit—English and Indian—
See ABATEMENT OF SUITS, 6 B. L. R. 119.

Cause of action shown to exist against defendant originally impleaded—Allegations in plaint pointing also to another person concerned in the suit—Duty of Court under s. 32, Civ. Pro. Code—See ACT XVIII OF 1850, 59 P. W. R. 1908.

See ACT XXVIII OF 1860, s. 25, 6 M. 189.

Inspection of letters—Affidavit—See ACT IV OF 1869, 3 B. L. R. O C. 100.

Alimony pendente lite—Practice—See ACT IV OF 1869, 3 B. L. R. App. 4 (b).

Decisions of English Probate and Divorce Courts, Indian Courts must be guided by—See ACT IV OF 1869, 4 C. 260=3 C. L. R. 484.

Application by wife for alimony pendente lite—Means alleged, denied by respondent—See ACT IV OF 1869, 26 C. 764.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Filing written statement after first hearing—See ACT IV OF 1869, s. 7, 4 B. L.R. O.C. 51.

Of Calcutta High Court as to service of petition on respondent governed by what prevails in English Matrimonial Courts—See ACT IV OF 1869, ss. 14 and 50, 12 C.W.N. 1009.

Grounds for refusing to make absolute a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage—See ACT IV OF 1869, ss. 17 and 57, 2 A.L.J. 420, F.B. = A.W.N. 1905, 141.

Agreement by plaintiff to take oath or to have the suit dismissed—Failure to take oath—Procedure to be adopted by the Court—See ACT X OF 1873, ss. 8, 9, 12, 17 M.L.J. 545 = 3 M.L.T. 98 = 31 M. 1.

Offer to be bound by opposite party's oath, persons entitled to make—Power-of-attorney empowering agent to act in suit, whether authorises agents to make offer—See ACT X OF 1873, s. 9, 14 B. 455.

Verification by Administrator-General—See ACT II OF 1874, s. 12, 26 C. 404 = 3 C.W. N. 298.

See ACT II OF 1874, ss. 12, 16, 17, 20 C. 879.

See ACT VI OF 1882, s. 134, 18 B. 65.

See BEN. ACT VIII OF 1869, ss. 3, 4, 1 C.L. R. 392.

Proceedings in Court held on close holiday, parties how far bound by—Irregularity, whether could be waived by parties—See BEN. ACT VI OF 1871, s. 17, 9 A. 366 = A.W.N. 1887, 34.

Practice—Second appeal—When point of law can be taken for the first time in second appeal—First Appellate Courts—Findings on cross-objections—Rights of party not appealing to attack—See BOM. ACT, XVII OF 1879, ss. 7 and 12, 3 S.L.R. 106 = 4 Ind. Cas. 599.

See BOM. ACT XVII OF 1879, ss. 49 (a) and 74, 19 B. 202.

Matter relating to—only, whether giving of a right of appeal is—See BUR. ACT VI OF 1900, s. 27, 5 L.B.R. 148 = 5 Ind. Cas. 980.

Concurrent finding—Practice of Privy Council—See U.P. ACT I OF 1869, s. 23, list IV, 10 C.L.J. 216, P.C. = 6 A.L.J. 767 = 13 C. W.N. 1073 = 11 Bom. L.R. 890 = 12 O.C. 304 = 31 A. 457 = 19 M.L.J. 605 = 4 Ind. Cas. 25.

Court of second appeal differing from facts found by lower Courts—See U.P. ACT XXII OF 1886, 25 A. 1 = 29 I.A. 203, P.C.

Refusal of adjournment—Duty of Court—See ADJOURNMENT, 2 S.L.R. 64.

Administration-suit—Further directions—Accounts taken in one suit adopted in another—Opportunity to take objections—See ADMINISTRATION, 29 B. 133.

Petition for administration summons, how to be treated—See ADMINISTRATION SUIT, 3 B.L.R. App. 3 (b).

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Admission in pleading of execution of agreement—Evidence to prove admitted document unnecessary—See ADMISSION—ADMISSIONS IN PLEADINGS, 5 B. 143.

See APPEAL—GENERAL, 8 M.L.T. 258 = 7 Ind. Cas. 202.

See APPEAL—MISCELLANEOUS, A.W.N. 1890, 144.

Amendment of decree by way of amplification of its wording—Affirmation—Insufficient time given to produce evidence, whether substantive question of law—See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL—GENERAL, 62 P.W.R. 1908.

See APPELLATE COURT—OBJECTIONS FIRST TAKEN IN APPEAL, 5 M. 163.

See APPELLATE COURT—POWERS OF APPELLATE COURT, L.B.R. 1893—1900, 420.

Suit against two defendants—Decree exonerating one of them—No appeal by plaintiff against exonerated defendant—Exonerated defendant made liable on appeal by the other defendant—Power of Appellate Court to make exonerated defendant liable—See APPELLATE COURT—POWERS OF APPELLATE COURT, 27 A. 23 = 1 A.L.J. 358.

See ARBITRATION—MISCELLANEOUS, U. B. R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 14.

Attachment before judgment, power to be sparingly exercised—See ATTACHMENT BEFORE JUDGMENT, 13 C.L.R. 356.

See BUDDHIST LAW—DIVORCE, L.B.R. 1872—1892, 610.

Non-examination of parties in a suit, result of—English and Indian—Account books, non-production of—See BURDEN OF PROOF—GENERAL, 7 M.L.T. 57 = 14 C.W.N. 285 = 11 C.L.J. 172 = 12 Bom. L.R. 244 = 32 A. 140 = 20 M.L.J. 182 = 5 Ind. Cas. 549, P.C.

Cause of action—Erroneous date of cause of action as signed in plaint—Cause of action not barred by limitation—Error as to date immaterial—See CAUSE OF ACTION, A.W.N. 1900, 25.

Administration—Certificate, application for, by two widows of intestate—Practice—See CERTIFICATE OF ADMINISTRATION—CANCELLING CERTIFICATE, 5 C.L.R. 368.

See CLAIM, L.B.R. 1893—1900, 209.

See COMMISSION, 1 Hyde 269.

In sanctioning compromise on behalf of a minor—Order to state in terms that the question, whether the compromise was for the benefit of the minors was considered—See COMPROMISE—GENERAL, 29 M. 104.

Contempt of Court—Punishment—Imprisonment—See CONTEMPT OF COURT, 19 B. 152.

See CONTEMPT OF COURT, 1 Ind. Jur. N S. 23.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Right of raising new points in second appeal—See CONTRACT—MISCELLANEOUS, 15 M.L.J. 286=28 M. 413.

Attorney and client entering into agreement as to costs—Attorney's right when client wishes to change to another attorney—See COSTS—SPECIAL CASES, 26 C. 769.

Costs—Adjournment—Power of Court to alter its order fixing the amount of costs of an adjournment—See COSTS—SPECIAL CASES, A.W.N. 1902, 98.

In Admiralty causes—See COURT, 5 M.L.A. 137.

Second appeal—Appeal to lower appellate Court by respondent in High Court insufficiently stamped—See COURT-FEES ACT, 1870, ss. 10 and 12, A.W.N. 1905, 280=2 A.L.J. 839, F.B.=28 A. 270.

See COURT-FEES ACT, 1870, s. 20, 26 C. 124=3 C.W.N. 82.

Appeal—Court-fee—Memorandum of appeal insufficiently stamped, accepted and filed—Subsequent discovery of the mistake—Additional Court-fee paid in within the time limited, but appeal nevertheless not heard—See COURT-FEES ACT, 1870, s. 28, A.W.N. 1904, 153.

Prolonged and unnecessary cross-examination of witness on commission—See CROSS EXAMINATION, 30 C. 625.

Examining party after arguments on the case have been heard—Procedure unjustifiable—See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—ALIENATION, 2 P.L.R. 1909=48 P.W.R. 1909=4 Ind. Cas. 632.

Suit by person in possession for declaration of title—Neither party proving title—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—DECLARATION OF TITLE, 20 B. 798.

Mutation of names in a Revenue Register—Declaration of title—Amendment of plaint—High Court, power and discretion of, in second appeal—See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR—DECLARATION OF TITLE, 2 L.B.R. 4.

Trial of charges of fraud—Consent decree—See DECREE—GENERAL, 25 C. 649.

Decree obtained ex parte, decree for specific performance—Declaration of plaintiff's right alone under agreement—Dismissal of defendant's application to set aside decree—Subsequent application for amending decree—Whether barred by res judicata—See DECREE—ALTERATION OR AMENDMENT OF DECREE, 12 B. 174.

Divergence between decree and judgment—Power of executing Court—Decree-holder to be directed to apply for amendment of decree to the Court that passed the decree—See DECREE—DECREE, CONSTRUCTION OF, 60 P.W.R. 1908.

Mortgage—Redemption suit—Sub-mortgage impleaded as parties—Accounts between mortgage and sub-mortgagee inter se to be taken—Form of judgment—See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, 15 B. 692.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Deficient Court-fees—Procedure—See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, 18 M. 415=5 M.L.J. 164.

Debtor's legal representative without assets of debtor—Suit maintainable against—Form and execution of decree in suit—See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, 8 B. 309.

See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, 22 C. 100.

Guardian ad litem—Party for purpose of discovery—Interrogatories, if same applies to—See DISCOVERY, 10 B. 167.

Counsel should return brief when he is not able to attend—See DISMISSAL OF SUITS, 10 Bom. L.R. 1172=33 B. 475.

See DIVISION BENCH OF HIGH COURT, 14 M. 186=1 M.L.J. 95.

It is open to defendant to set up alternative defences—Plaintiff not allowed to raise objection as to defendant's setting up alternative defences at appellate stage of the suit—See EASEMENT, 8 C.L.J. 289.

See EJECTMENT, SUIT FOR, 10 B. 451.

Application for adjournment on ground of producing document—Practice—See EVIDENCE—GENERAL, 2 M.W.N. 1911, 166.

Judge can look at whole evidence on whichever side given—Burden of proof—See EVIDENCE—GENERAL, A.W.N. 1887, 299.

Contents of document, secondary evidence of—Evidence of search for the originals—Practice—See EVIDENCE—SECONDARY EVIDENCE, 19 C. 438, P.C.

Defendant not objecting to the admission of secondary evidence at the time of filing—Right to raise the objection in argument—See EVIDENCE—SECONDARY EVIDENCE, 3 M.L.T. 297.

Evidence led upon certain issues in one cause cannot be used with reference to other issues in another case—See EVIDENCE—MISCELLANEOUS, 7 Bom. L.R. 894.

Mortgage—Sale—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 92, 2 L.B.R. 1.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 155 (3), 17 C. 344.

Execution of decree—Order of Her Majesty in Council—Allowance of interest on costs incurred in British India—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—GENERAL, A.W.N. 1897, 70.

Mesne profits—Larger amount than that claimed in plaint found due in execution—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—APPLICATION FOR EXECUTION AND POWERS OF COURT, 8 C. 295.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE—APPLICATION FOR EXECUTION AND POWERS OF COURT, 15 B. 370=P.J. 1890, 336, 18 C. 462.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Decree upon a compromise for execution of a conveyance to be proceeded with a decree for specific performance—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—EXECUTION OF DECREE ON OR AFTER AGREEMENTS OR COMPROMISES, 10 C.W.N. 345.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE—PRIVY COUNCIL, EXECUTION OF ORDERS AND DECREES OF, 25 C. 283=2 C.W.N. 89.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE—STAY OF EXECUTION, 6 C. 485=8 C.L.R. 43.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, U.B.R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 431.

Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss. 88, 89—Application for order absolute for sale, may be made to Court executing decree—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, 13 A. 278, F.B.=A.W.N. 1891, 83.

Application for attachment of debts said to be due to judgment-debtor—Denial of debts by alleged debtors—What the Court should do—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, A.W.N. 1905, 277=28 A. 262=1 A. L.J. 362.

Suit instituted without next friend—Whether can be dismissed—Proper procedure—See GUARDIAN—GENERAL, 11 O.C. 159.

Appointment of guardian—Of High Court—See GUARDIAN—APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS, 2 C. 357.

Appointment of guardian ad litem how made—How long the appointment endures—Application for removal of guardian how to be made—See GUARDIAN—APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS, 1 N.L.R. 128.

Guardian ad litem appointed without complying with provisions of s. 443 of the Civ. Pro. Code—Appointment invalid—Effect of such invalid appointment on decree passed in the suit—See GUARDIAN—APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS, A.W.N. 1905, 229=2 A.L.J. 615=28 A. 137.

Suit against minor—Appointment of Nazir as guardian ad litem—Court's power to order deposit of fees by plaintiff for enabling Nazir to communicate with natural guardian—See GUARDIAN—APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS, 12 B. 553.

Plaintiff unable to prove his assertions—Suit to be dismissed—See GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT, 1890, s. 41 (3), 78 P.L.R. 1911=9 Ind. Cas. 591.

Order of High Court Judge under misapprehension of jurisdiction—Power of High Court to set right—See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF, CALCUTTA, 9 C. 482=10 I.A. 4=12 C.L.R. 511, P.C.

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 79 P.L.R. 1902, 5 C.W.N. 162, 18 C. 385.

Case must be decided according to allegation and proof—See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 8 Ind. Cas. 713.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Each party causing his opponent to be summoned as a witness—Objectionable—See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 5 M.L.T. 58, P.C.=9 C.L.J. 172=13 C.W.N. 370=11 Bom. L.R. 196=31 A. 116=19 M.L.J. 186=1 Ind. Cas. 128.

Pleadings not set up in the lower Court—Right to set up in the Chief Courts on appeal—See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, 53 P.W.R. 1908=113 P.L.R. 1908.

Plaintiff suing in representative character—Form of plaint—Suit by manager of Hindu family—See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 7 B. 467.

Suit by Manager of Joint Hindu Family, for debt due to family—Non-joinder of other members—See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY, 69 P.R. 1906=118 P.L.R. 1906.

Relief sought for first time in second appeal—If can be allowed—See HINDU LAW—PARTITION, 23 B. 184.

Interim injunction to restrain adoption if can be granted—See INJUNCTION—SPECIAL CASES, 13 B. 56.

Revenue inquiry—Judicial value of inquiry conducted by revenue authorities into a crime that was alleged to be committed or about to be committed—See INQUIRY, 8 Bom. L.R. 705=1 M.L.T. 301=30 B. 523.

Judge's summons—Misdescription of party taking out summons—Permission to amend granted at hearing—See INSOLVENCY—MISCELLANEOUS, 21 B. 205.

See INSPECTION OF DOCUMENTS, 2 B. 453.

Issue not raised by parties before Lower Court—Appellate Court, power of, to try, issue—See ISSUES—GENERAL, A.W.N. 1885, 126.

Raising issues on evidence—Question not raised in written statement—See ISSUES—ADDITIONAL ISSUES, 6 B.L.R. 144.

Practice—Court cannot raise issues not issued by parties—See ISSUES—ADDITIONAL ISSUES, 10 A. 627=A.W.N. 1888, 242.

Judge orally stating judgment at the close of the hearing—Practice—See JUDGMENT—FORM AND CONTENTS, 5 M.H.C. App. 8.

High Court remanding suit under wrong impression—Irregularity—New Judge—See JUDGMENT—FORM AND CONTENTS, 5 M.H.C. 174.

Issues—Necessity for raising issues in appeal—See JUDGMENT—FORM AND CONTENTS, 10 B.L.R. 492.

Variation of judgment—See JUDGMENT—MISCELLANEOUS, 4 Bom. L.R. 129.

Pronouncement of judgment in open Court—See JUDGMENT—MISCELLANEOUS, 8 Bom. L.R. 229=30 B. 455.

Application of doctrine of decrees in rem to proceedings of Courts in India—See JUDGMENT IN REM, 2 M.H.C. 276.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

When objection to jurisdiction is taken for the first time on appeal—S. 16 (a), sub-s. 2, Civ. Pro. Code—Refusal of objection—See JURISDICTION—GENERAL, 7 C. L. J. 152.

See JURISDICTION—GENERAL, 3 B.L.R. App. 77.

Jurisdiction—Objection to jurisdiction taken at late stage of suit—Procedure—See JURISDICTION—QUESTION OF JURISDICTION, 1 Hyde 284.

Plaintiff to succeed on strength of his plea, and not on weakness of that of defendant—See LANDLORD AND TENANT—EJECTMENT, 15 B. 414, Note = P.J. 1880, p. 122.

See LEAVE TO SUE, 11 C. 213.

Jurisdiction—Refusal of leave to sue by one Judge—Grant of leave by another Judge later on—Discharge of leave granted—See LEAVE TO SUE, 8 M.H.C. 21.

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—GENERAL, A.W.N. 1899, 18.

Barrister or pleader, appearance of, as litigant—Practice—See LEGAL PRACTITIONER—GENERAL, 9 A. 180 = A.W.N. 1887, 7.

Charges against attorney—Publication of name, practice in respect of—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—ATTORNEY, 23 C. 576.

Attorney taking deposit of title deeds for securing costs—Summary application to enforce the equitable lien in suit in which he was not a party—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—ATTORNEY AND CLIENT, 21 C. 85.

Refreshers to counsel—General rule—Costs—Discretion of Court—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—COUNSEL, 12 C. 551.

Statement of counsel not on oath, if objected to by opposite party whether admissible in evidence—Procedure re statement of counsel—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—COUNSEL, 27 C. 428 = 4 C.W.N. 169.

Statement by Counsel to Court—No necessity for oath—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—COUNSEL, 3 C.W.N. 694.

Pleaders—A pleader is bound to call witnesses whose evidence his client wishes to submit to the Court even though he suspects their evidence—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER—MISCELLANEOUS, 3 Bom. L.R. 562.

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER—APPOINTMENT AND APPEARANCE, 20 B. 293.

Conviction of pleader of criminal offence—Reports to High Court—Argument allowed to show that conviction was illegal—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER—REMOVAL, SUSPENSION, ETC., 7 A. 290, F.B. = A.W.N. 1885, 48.

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION, 26 C. 407 = 3 C.W.N. 392.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Immoveable property situate partly within the High Court's original jurisdiction—Leave to sue—See LETTERS PATENT, HIGH COURT, 1865, CALCUTTA, cl. 12, 3 C. 370.

Plaintiff to succeed on the strength of his own title and not on the weakness of the defendant—See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 63 P.W.R. 1908.

Practice—Limitation, question of, not raised in pleadings or evidence—Court's discretion to raise issue—See LIMITATION—QUESTION OF LIMITATION, 6 C.W.N. 641, P.C. = 25 M. 367 = 4 Bom. L.R. 543 = 29 I. A. 76.

Plea of limitation taken for the first time in Second appeal—Admissibility of such plea—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 3, 28 M. 67 = 15 M.L.J. 402.

Party being misled by a uniform practice of the Court—Whether "sufficient cause" for not presenting appeal within proper time—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ss. 4, 5, 10 O.C. 201.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 20, 19 B. 663.

Further appeal not competent—Whether it can be treated as a petition for revision—Punjab Courts Act, s. 70 (b)—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 91, 144, 5 P.W.R. 1908.

Cause of action partly in one place and partly in another—Leave to sue given under cl. 12, Letters Patent—Rescission of leave—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 181, 13 B. 404.

Suit by Mahomedan for partition of his share in inheritance—Right of defendant to obtain his share on paying necessary Court-fees—Practice—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PARTITION, 23 B. 188.

Case set up in plaint—Different case proved—Remedy—See MALABAR LAW—MISCELLANEOUS, 11 M. 106.

See MARRIAGE, 28 C. 84.

Application for determination of mesne profits, how treated—See MESNE PROFITS—SUITS FOR MESNE PROFITS AND ASSESSMENT IN EXECUTION, 28 C. 243.

See MINOR—SUITS BY AND AGAINST MINORS, 7 A. 490, F.B. = A.W.N. 1885, 101.

Suit for possession by guardian—New case set up during progress of suit—Practice—See MINORS—SUITS BY AND AGAINST MINORS, 4 C. 61.

Right of person on attaining full age to proceed with a suit instituted on his behalf, during minority—See MINORITY, 22 C. 270.

Different defendants—Plaintiff succeeding—Interlocutory judgment—Final judgment reserved—English practice followed—See MISJOINDER—OF PARTIES, 11 Bom. L.R. 34 = 33 B. 293 = 5 M.L.T. 230 = 1 Ind. Cas. 120.

Relief not claimed in the plaint, granting of—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 32 M. 485.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Incorporation of sections of Transfer of Property Act as O. 34 of the Civ. Pro. Code, of 1908—Effect on practice of High Court—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 37 C. 907.

Return of defective plaint for amendment, when made—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 32 P.W.R. 1908.

Partial relief on the footing of defendant's admission—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 1 A. 194, F.B.

Suit to redeem by purchaser in execution—Absence of certificate of title—Production of certificate at hearing—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 6 B. 139.

Where successor of a Judge has to decide case already decided in part by his predecessor—Question already decided not to be re-opened except where error is obvious or patent—Such re-opening, though not illegal, is undesirable—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 41 P. L.R. 1908=42 P.W.R. 1908.

Second appeal—Suit cannot be changed in—See MORTGAGE—SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY, 10 B. 461, P.C.=13 I.A. 66.

See NOTICE, 18 B. 59.

Notice, service of, on respondent—See NOTICE, 2 Bom. L.R. 281.

See OATH, 22 C. 491.

One party to a suit abiding by the oath of the other—What record of suit ought to show—See OATH, 8 O.C. 11.

Suit to set aside sale deed and for confirmation of possession—Declaratory decree—Form of relief—See PARDANASHIN WOMAN, 13 B. L.R. 427, P. C.=21 W.R. 340=1 I.A. 192.

Suit by some only of several plaintiffs entitled to sue—Others joined as co-defendants—See PARTIES TO SUIT—GENERAL, 24 A.=226 A. W.N. 1902, 31.

See PARTIES TO SUIT, SUBSTITUTION OF PARTIES TO SUIT, 4 B. 654.

Plaintiff in partnership suit seeking withdrawal or dismissal of suit—Application by defendants to be made plaintiffs—Practice—See PARTIES TO SUIT—TRANSPOSITION OF PARTIES TO SUITS, 7 B. 167.

Court's power to regulate—See PARTITION—GENERAL, 11 C.L.J. 580=6 Ind. Cas. 244.

Suit by partners—Counter-claim against each partner—Whether allowed to be set up—See PARTNERSHIP—GENERAL, 8 M.L.T. 73=7 Ind. Cas. 267.

Verification by unauthorized person—Removal from file—See PLAINT—VERIFICATION AND SIGNATURE, 1 Ind. Jur. N. S. 39.

Pleading and proof—Variance—See PLEADINGS, 25 A. 256, F.B.=A.W.N. 1903, 18.

See PLEADINGS, 55 P.R. 1868, 32 P.R. 1876, 36 P.R. 1879.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Suit for possession under a sale-deed—Sale declared invalid—Prayer for possession of mortgage—Inconsistent reliefs—Pleading—See POSSESSION—SUITS FOR POSSESSION, 4 Ind. Cas. 37=20 M.L.J. 141.

Suit for exclusive possession—Decree for joint possession—See POSSESSION—SUIT FOR POSSESSION, A.W.N. 1891, 45.

See POSSESSION—SUITS FOR POSSESSION, 5 A. 345, F.B.

Legal effect of a transaction ignored by the parties and the Judges in lower Courts—Right of appellant to press the view in second appeal—See PRE-EMPTION—MISCELLANEOUS, 6 N.L.R. 78=6 Ind. Cas. 824.

Pre-emption—Claiming one portion by inheritance and another by pre-emption—Right of inheritance found against—Suit, whether maintainable—See PRE-EMPTION—MISCELLANEOUS, A.W.N. 1882, 79.

Delay due to official oversight, whether affects rights of decree-holder—Appeal treated as revision—See PRE-EMPTION—MISCELLANEOUS, 11 O.C. 144.

Application for rehearing of suit dismissed by Small Cause Court—Ss. 38 & 71, Presidency Small Cause Courts Act (1882)—Court-fee to be paid in full—Supply of deficient Court-fee disallowed after expiry of prescribed period—See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1882, ss. 38, 71, 18 C. 445.

Case stated for opinion of High Court—Reference to be only on precise point of law or usage—Practice—See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1882, s. 69, 15 B. 376.

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1882, ss. 69 and 70, 23 C. 967.

Application for grant of probate—Questions relating to testator's title—See PROBATE—GENERAL, 19 A. 458=A.W.N. 1897, 106.

Instrument purporting to be will, probate not grantable of, where no property passes under—See PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT, 1881, ss. 2, 4, 23 M. 133.

English—and—of mofussil Courts in India in re proceedings for revocation of probate or letters of administration—See PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT, 1881, s. 50, 10 C.W.N. 955=33 C. 1001.

See PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT, 1881, s. 64, 1 L.B.R. 178.

Suit for share in the offerings of a temple—Jurisdiction—See PROV. SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1887, s. 15, 20 P.R. 1911=93 P.L.R. 1911=54 P.W.R. 1911=9 Ind. Cas. 579.

Small Cause Court suit, trial of, as regular suit without returning of plaint for presentation to proper Court—Appeal from Munsiff's decree in suit instituted as Small Cause Court suit and tried as regular suit—See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1887, s. 27, 7 O.C. 144.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Small Cause suit—Instituted in Court not having Small Cause powers—Suit registered and tried as a regular suit—Appeal—See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1887, s. 32 (2), 9 Ind. Cas. 264.

Point raised one of novelty—Fresh suit likely to be time barred—Plaintiff allowed to continue original suit—See RECEIVER, 14 C. W.N. 653=6 Ind. Cas. 24.

See RECEIVER, 28 C. 250, 1 C.W.N. 303.

See REFERENCE TO HIGH COURT, 28 C. 260.

Whether it is open to High Court in second appeal to dispose of the case on the ground of non-registration of a document when the point was not discussed in the lower Courts—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1903, ss. 17, 49, 4 M.L.T. 79.

Reference to Judge of one High Court—Establishment of another High Court—See BEN. REGULATION VI OF 1831, s. 7, 6 B.L.R. 283, P.C.=13 M.I.A. 585=15 W.R. P.C. 16.

Relief granted on grounds not stated in plaint—See RELIEF, A.W.N. 1881, 158.

Whether Court can grant relief on other grounds than those put forward in plaint—See RELIEF, A.W.N. 1887, 43.

Appeal—Cross-appeals—Decree reversed and cause remanded on appeal first heard—Cross-appeal not to be heard—See REMAND, A.W.N. 1890, 68.

Refusal of High Court to remand—See REMAND, 21 B. 325.

Adjournment, application for—Not granted—Decision ex parte—Remand—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, ss. 562, 568, 569—See REMAND, 17 B. 733.

Grounds for remand—Defect in plaint—See REMAND, Marsh 198=1 Hay 467.

Objection of minority of plaintiff to suit—Taking objection on remand—Permissibility—See REMAND, 13 C. 189.

Refusal of Court to examine witnesses of a party—Remand—See REMAND, A.W.N. 1905, 266.

See REMAND, 9 A. 513=A.W.N. 1887, 146, A.W.N. 1888, 81, 27 C. 951, P.C.=27 I.A. 110=4 C.W.N. 631.

Suit for arrears of rent—Rate of rent alleged by plaintiff not proved—See RENT, 24 C. 433.

Plea finally decided between the parties by a single Bench of the Chief Court—Incompetency of Division Bench to question the opinion of the single Bench—See RES JUDICATA—GENERAL, 25 P.W.R. 1911.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

Suits by and against tenant—Both suits decided against him—Appeal from one of the decisions—Appellant to be allowed to amend his memorandum of appeal so as to make it an appeal in both suits—See RES JUDICATA—ADJUDICATIONS, 16 M.L.J. 63=29 M. 333.

New case set up in the Chief Courts on appeal—Whether allowable—See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, 58 P.W.R. 1908.

Suit by creditor of a deceased person's estate against administrator—Procedure to be followed by Mufussil Courts—See RES JUDICATA—RES JUDICATA IN EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS, 29 B. 96=6 Bom. L.R. 853.

Of allowing defendant to be examined as a witness for plaintiff, propriety of—See RES JUDICATA—MISCELLANEOUS, 116 P.W.R. 1908.

See RE-TRIAL, A.W.N. 1881, 26.

Institution of two suits in same Court—Judge taking different views in deciding them—See REVIEW—GROUNDS FOR REVIEW, A. W.N. 1885, 123.

Suit on decree where there are no means of enforcing it by execution—See RIGHT OF SUIT—DECREES, Marsh 611.

Memo. of appeal, accompaniments of the—See RULES—RULES OF HIGH COURT AND SUPREME COURTS—BOMBAY, 9 Bom. L. R. 1138=32 B. 14.

Process-fees—Extension of time for payment of process-fees—See RULES—RULES OF HIGH COURTS AND SUPREME COURTS, N.W.P., A. W.N. 1897, 157.

Of Privy Council—Concurrent findings of fraud reversed—See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—GENERAL, 15 C.W.N. 648, P.C.=8 A.L.J. 587=13 Bom. L.R. 440.

Criminal proceedings arising out of civil litigation—Pendency of civil suit—Stay—See SANCTION TO PROSECUTE, 16 B. 729.

See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—GENERAL, 23 C. 335.

A document already admitted cannot be objected to on appeal on the ground of deficiency of stamp—See STAMP, 2 Bom. L.R. 25=24 B. 360.

See ST. 11 AND 12 VIC. C. 21, 1 Ind. Jur. N.S. 42.

Procedure for obtaining order of adjudication in insolvency—Rule or petition—See ST. 11 AND 12, VIC. C. 21, s. 9, 12 C.W.N. 538.

See ST. 11 AND 12 VIC. C. 21, ss. 24, 26, L. B.R. 1893—1900, 75.

Conflict of equity—See ST. 11 AND 12 VIC. C. 21, s. 26, 4 B.L.R. O.C. 63=15 W.R. O. C. 18, Note.

See ST. 11 AND 12 VIC. C. 21, s. 36, 3 B. 270.

Practice and Procedure—continued.

See ST. 11 AND 12, VIC. C. 21, ss. 36, 37, 47, 49, 60, 1 L.B.R. 249.

Of criminal proceeding during pendency of civil suit—See STAY OF PROCEEDINGS, 31 C. 858.

Citations—Mode of issuing citations—Payment for advertisements in newspapers—See SUCCESSION ACT, 1865, s. 250, A.W.N. 1903, 30.

See SUCCESSION ACT, 1865, s. 256, 26 C. 408 = 3 C.W.N. 364.

See SUCCESSION ACT, 1865, s. 259, A.W.N. 1903, 31.

Of allowing plaintiff in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights to value the relief sought in order to bring suit within jurisdiction of a Court not to be departed from—See SUITS VALUATION ACT, 1887, ss. 8, 9, 12, 3 A.L.J. 266, F.B. = A.W.N. 1906, 99 = 28 A. 545, F.B.

See SUMMONS, 1 C.W.N. 56.

Suit adjourned for hearing—Necessity for issuing fresh summons to witnesses already summoned—Practice—See SUMMONS, 24 M. 200.

Courts' power, if service cannot be effected in time—Summonses, application for—Nazir's duty—See SUMMONS, 2 O.C. 34.

Counsel's fees should be allowed for drawing up plaints in Small Cause suits—See TAXATION OF COSTS, 10 Bom. L.R. 969.

See TRANSFER OF CIVIL CASES, 2 C.L.R. 352.

Transfer of suit—Application for transfer by next friend of minor in absence of guardian ad litem—See TRANSFER OF CIVIL CASES, 16 C. 771.

See TRUST, 18 B. 551.

Making new case for plaintiff not set up in plaint—See USE AND OCCUPATION, 5 O. C. 222.

Plea not alleged in plaint—Power of Court to set up plea at hearing—See VARIANCE BETWEEN PLEADINGS AND PROOF, 20 B. 569 = P. J. 1895, 161.

Possession—Joint property—Suit by co-owner for exclusive possession—See VARIANCE BETWEEN PLEADING AND PROOF, 20 B. 627.

Amendment of plaint in further appeal, whether allowable and when—See VENDOR AND PURCHASER—GENERAL, 64 P.W.R. 1908.

In judging the genuineness or otherwise of a will, it is not proper for a Judge first to make up his mind about the contents of the will, and then look at the positive evidence in favour of its execution from that standpoint—See WILL—GENERAL, 9 C.W.N. 649, P.C. = 15 M.L.J. 265.

Practice and Procedure—concluded.

See WILL—CONSTRUCTION, 28 C. 621. P. C. = 28 I.A. 159 = 5 C.W.N. 729.

See WITHDRAWAL OF APPEAL, 13 M.I.A. 602.

See WITNESS—GENERAL, 6 C.W.N. 513, P.C.

Summoning of public officers as witnesses—See WITNESS—SUMMONS TO AND ATTENDANCE OF WITNESSES, 6 M.H.C. App. 6.

Evidence—Discrepancies—See WITNESS—WEIGHT TO BE ATTACHED TO EVIDENCE, 3 B.L.R.A.C. 332.

Prayaschittam.

Effect of—See DEFAMATION, 6 M.J.T. 290 = 33 M. 67 = 19 M.L.J. 714 = 3 Ind. Cas. 955.

Preamble.

See STATUTES, CONSTRUCTION OF.

Effect of—in an Act—See STATUTES, CONSTRUCTION OF, 14 C. 176.

Construction—Provision of section in Act going beyond preamble—Enacting words of statute preferred where strong enough for the purpose—See STATUTES, CONSTRUCTION OF, 2 M.H.C. 322.

Precatory Trusts.

See HINDU LAW—WILL, 14 C. 222.

See WILL—CONSTRUCTION, 4 A. 500, P. C. = 9 I.A. 70.

Precedents.

Value of—See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, 9 A. L.J. 375 = 14 Ind. Cas. 814.

Precept.

Object of—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, rr. 46, 48, 3, 14 C.L.J. 228.

Preceptor.

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION, 28 C. 608 = 5 C.W.N. 873.

Pre-emption.

- 1.—GENERAL.
- 2.—CONSTRUCTION OF WAJIB-UL-ARZ.
- 3.—LOSS OF RIGHT TO PRE-EMPT BY WAIVER, ETC.
- 4.—NECESSARY FORMALITIES.
- 5.—PURCHASE MONEY.
- 6.—RIGHT TO PRE-EMPT.
- 7.—SUBJECT OF PRE-EMPTION.
- 8.—MISCELLANEOUS.

See BUDDHIST LAW—PRE-EMPTION.

See BURDEN OF PROOF—PRE-EMPTION.

See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—PRE-EMPTION.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE-EMPTION.

See WAJIB-UL-ARZ.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General.

(1)—Persons having equal rights of pre-emption—Seller not bound to offer property to both.—Where plaintiff and defendant have equal rights of pre-emption, the seller is at liberty to offer the property to either of them, but not bound to offer it to both. All co-sharers with equal rights of pre-emption could not claim to divide the property sold among them. MANKHAN v. MAMURKHAN, A.W.N. 1886, 56. [D., 27 A. 465 = 2 A.L.J. 690 = A.W.N. 1905, 50.]

(2)—Hindus—Pre-emption—Mahomedan Law.—A right or custom of pre-emption is recognized as prevailing among Hindus in Behar, and some other provinces of Western India. In districts where its existence has not been judicially noticed, the custom will be matter to be proved. Such custom when it exists, must be presumed to be founded on and co-extensive with the Mahomedan Law on that subject, unless the contrary be shown. The Court may, as between Hindus, administer a modification of that law as to circumstances under which the right may be claimed, when it is shown that the custom in that respect does not go to the whole length of the Mahomedan Law of pre-emption; but the assertion of the right by suit must always be preceded by an observance of the preliminary forms prescribed in the Mahomedan Law. FAKIR RAWOT v. SHEIKH EMAMBAKSH, B. L.R. Sup. Vol. 35 = W.R.F.B. 143. [F., W.R. 1864, 317, 17 W.R. 264, 5 A. 110 = A.W.N. 1882, 199; Appr., 5 A. 197 = A.W.N. 1882, 217, 12 A. 234; R., 8 W.R. 2, 6 B.L.R. 41 = 14 W.R.F.B. 1, 9 A. 513 = A.W.N. 1887, 146, 4 Bom. L.R. 811; Expl., W.R. 1864, 74, 11 W.R. 251.]

(3)—Pre-emption—Right of—Mahomedan origin—Applies to persons other than Mussalmans—In Behar—Applicable to Hindus—Formalities to enforce the right—Disqualified heir—Manager of Court of Wards competent to comply with formalities—Court of Wards Act (Bengal Act, IX of 1879)—S. 40—Test of co-parcenary to enforce pre-emption.—The law of pre-emption was introduced into India by the Mahomedan Government. In the province of Behar, which was an integral part of the Mahomedan empire, the right to pre-emption is enforceable, irrespective of the persuasion of the parties concerned, and exists among the Hindus of Behar. To enforce the right of pre-emption, the Mussalman law insists that the first formality technically called "the immediate demand" should be observed by the pre-emptor or some one on his behalf immediately on receipt of the news of the sale, and the second formality, "the repetition of the demand" should be done with as little delay as possible in the presence of witnesses either before the vendor, or the vendee or on the premises. These formalities could be performed by the Manager appointed by the Court of Wards on behalf of a disqualified heir even apart from the provisions of s. 40 of the Court of Wards Act. A joint liability for payment of Government revenue is sufficient under the Mahomedan Law to constitute a co-parcenary to claim a right to pre-emption. JADU LAL SAHU v. MAHARANI JANKI KOER, M.W.N. 1912, 486, P.C. = 11 M.L.T. 361 = 16 C.W.N. 554 = 15 C.L.J. 483 = 9 A.L.J. 525 = 14 Bom. L.R. 436 = 23 M.L.J. 28 = 39 C. 915 = 15 Ind. Cas. 659 = 39 I. A. 101. (B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 35, F.; 35 C. 575, Affirmed.)

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(4)—Act XVIII of 1876, s. 3, cl. (b) Mahomedan Law—Hiba-bil-ewaz—"Sale" and "price" meanings of, in Oudh Laws Act, Chap. II—Oudh Laws Act, s. 9—Act IV of 1882, S. 4, Contract Act, s. 78.—In a suit for pre-emption under ch. II, Act XVIII of 1876, in which the parties were Mahomedans. Held that the statutory right of pre-emption was conferred on all classes of the community alike, and the language in which that right was conferred must be construed in a uniform manner without regard to the personal laws or usages of the persons concerned:—Held that, in the chapters and sections of the Oudh Laws Act, which relate to contracts, "price" means money:—Held further, that "hiba-bil-ewaz" is not a sale within the meaning of s. 9, Act XVIII of 1876, and that it confers no right of pre-emption under Ch. II of the Act. MIR ABID ALI v. ARAB-UN-NISA, 1 O.C. 75 (11 M. 467, R.) [R., 7 O.C. 31, 11 O.C. 176; F., 3 O.C. 110.]

(5)—Succession and inheritance—Buddhist Law—Karen Christians—Indian Succession Act, s. 332.—The right of pre-emption among Buddhists is an incident of the law of succession and inheritance and cannot be separated from it. Karen Christians, converted 20 years ago, are no longer under Buddhist law, but in matters of succession and inheritance, are governed by the Indian Succession Act, 1865—Karen Christians not having been exempted under s. 332 from the operation of the Act. EBRAHIM v. ARASI, L.B.R. 1893—1900, 26.

(6)—Suit for—Auction purchaser, right acquired by, before confirmation of sale—Sale of an equitable interest liable to pre-emption—Contract to sell property liable to pre-emption, if complete—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 310-A and 311.—Before the sale had been confirmed, the auction-purchasers transferred the property to the sons of the judgment-debtor who were not co-sharers in the village. In a suit for pre-emption, on the basis of the aforesaid sale, brought by the plaintiff-respondent who was a co-sharer in the village it was contended on behalf of the appellants, the sons of the judgment-debtor, that at the date of the execution of the sale-deed in their favour there was no interest acquired by the auction-purchasers inasmuch as the sale had not till then been confirmed, and therefore the transaction evidenced by the sale deed was not a sale which could form the basis of a suit for pre-emption, and that, if the auction-purchasers had any interest at all which they could sell, it was of such a shadowy and uncertain character that the sale of it could not be the subject of a suit for pre-emption. Held, assuming that no title passed on the execution of the sale-deed, there was at least a completed contract to transfer the property which could validly form a subject of a suit for pre-emption. Held, further, that the interest acquired by the auction purchasers prior to the confirmation of sale was not of an uncertain character. It was an equitable interest, enforceable against the judgment-debtor, of which they could not be deprived, either by the judgment-debtor, or any other person claiming under him, except by proper proceedings taken in accordance with s. 310-A or 311, Code of Civil Procedure. ZALIM SINGH v. KALLOO SINGH, 10 O.C. 273. (8 O.C. 202, 24 A. 475, 2 C.W.N. 589, 9 O.C. 86, 9 O.C. 331, 21 C. 496, 9 O.C. 169, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(7)—Pre-emption—Sale by Court—Cause of action—Certificate of sale not prepared owing to objection of purchaser—Right of pre-emption not affected—Registration Act (III of 1877, as amended by Act VII of 1888), s. 17, cl. (o).—In execution of a mortgage-decree creating a lien against land and accessory rights, the land was sold and purchased by the decree-holder on the 20th July 1897. After confirmation of sale a draft sale certificate was prepared, but the decree-holder objected that the accessory rights had not been included, and prayed that the error might be rectified. Subsequently accessory rights were sold and purchased by the decree-holder on the 20th August 1898. The sale was confirmed on the 5th October 1898, and a certificate of sale, dated 9th November 1898, was prepared, which recited the latter sale, and its confirmation by the Court, and covered the entire property. In a suit for pre-emption, filed on the 19th July 1898, in respect of land sold on the 20th July 1897, it was contended for the decree holder, vendee, that no certificate of sale having been granted till the date of suit, the suit was premature. Held, that the suit was not premature, as the sale was confirmed, and it was at the purchaser's own request that the certificate was not drawn up and given to him, although a draft had been prepared. The provisions of s. 316 must be held to have been sufficiently complied with. Registration of a sale-certificate granted to a purchaser of property sold by public auction by a Civil or Revenue Officer is exempted from the operation of s. 17 of the Registration Act by addition of cl. (o) by the amending Act VII of 1888. AJUDHIA PERSHAD v. CHANDAN, 36 P.L.R. 1903=9 P.R. 1903.

(8)—Right of—Talab-i-ishad—Talab-i-mwasibat, performance of—Witnesses to Talab-i-mwasibat, what they are required to bear testimony to.—To found a valid claim for pre-emption, it is necessary that the pre-emptor should perform the Talab-i-mwasibat (immediate claim) and Talab-i-ishad (affirmation with witnesses). For the due performance of the latter, it is not essential that the witnesses should be invoked to bear testimony to the fact of the Talab-i mwasibat having been performed but it is necessary and sufficient, if the witnesses are invoked to bear testimony to the fact of declaration that the Talab-i-mwasibat has been already performed. UDIT NARAIN LAL v. DASARATHI SINGH, 6 C.L.J. 48. (17 C. 543, Expl.)

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(9)—One sale-deed evidencing two distinct transaction of sale—Right to sue for pre-emption in respect of only one of the properties.—Where a single deed of sale is executed in respect of two different properties evidencing two distinct transactions, the deeds describing the two properties separately and fixing separate prices for each, it is competent for a person who can claim pre-emption in respect of both the properties to sue for pre-emption in respect of either of the properties. LACHMAN v. TULSI RAM, 2 A.L.J. 199.

(10)—Several properties sold in a single bargain—Rule of pre-emptor having to take whole bargain, extent of application of—Co-sharer in well, whether and when entitled to claim pre-emption in land watered by well.—Where a person is owner of several distinct properties, of which one is subject to a right of pre-emption and he sells such properties in a single bargain to a person other than a pre-emptor, the latter is entitled, when the pre-emption exists and the claim is made under Act IV of 1872, to bring a suit to enforce his right in respect of the property subject to his right alone, without suing to take over the whole bargain. The principle that the pre-emptor is bound to take the whole bargain, as settled by vendor, is a principle which may be admitted to the extent that the pre-emptor cannot omit to claim any portion of the property comprised in the bargain to which his right of pre-emption extends, but it cannot, consistently with the provisions of Act IV of 1872, be held to oblige him to claim the whole of the property when his right of pre-emption extends over only a portion of such property. There is nothing in the provisions of Act IV of 1872, which gives to a co-sharer in a well, as such co-sharer, a right of pre-emption over land which, being the separate property of a co-sharer in the well, is watered by the well. But it may be that by custom, when a well is owned by several co-sharers, and land, being separate property of a co-sharer in the well and watered by the well, is sold, the right to acquire such land belongs to the co-sharers in preference to all other persons. SARDAR LALL SINGH v. DEWA SINGH, 107 P.R. 1882, F.B. (11 P.R. 1874, 98 P.R. 1876, 106 P.R. 1880, R.) [R., 44 P.R. 1833, 64 P.R. 1886.]

(11)—Successive purchases by same vendee—Second purchase made before institution of suit for pre-emption based on the first purchase.—Held that it is not open to a defendant, in a suit for pre-emption, to set up, as a defence to the suit, a second purchase of a share in the same village, made subsequently to the purchase, upon which the suit is based, but prior to the institution of the suit. NABIHAN BIBI v. KALESHAR RAI, A.W.N. 1907, 110=4 A.L.J. 351. (24 A. 421, D.) [R., 31 A. 530, 6 A.L.J. 699.]

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(12)—Pre-emption suit, property resold to vendor prior to—Pre-emption claim, failure of.—Where a suit for pre-emption was brought within limitation, but the vendees had resold the property to the original vendor before institution of the pre-emption suit held, that the re-transfer is sufficient to defeat the claim of pre-emption. SHEO CHARAN SINGH v. BHIKAD, 14 O.C. 156. (11 O.C. 290, 14 P.R. 1879, 32 A. 340, 12 O.C. 229, 25 A. 125, R.)

(13)—Suit by pre-emptor resulting in decree—Second suit by another pre-emptor claiming preferential right—Second pre-emptor not party to first suit—Suit, whether maintainable.—A suit for pre-emption by one co sharer in a mahul was compromised and the property awarded to him by decree. Subsequently another pre-emptor, who was not a party to the first suit brought a suit for pre-emption in respect of the same property, on the ground of his preferential right to pre-empt: Held, that the second suit was maintainable, MUSAMAT NASIRAN BIBI v. SHEIKH RAHIM BUX, 9 Ind. Cas 561. (7 A. 567, 3 A.L.J. 794, A.W.N. 1906, 313, D.)

(14)—Pre-emption—Decree in favour of plaintiff on payment of certain specified sum—Judgment-debtor liable to costs—Set-off.—In a pre-emption suit plaintiff's suit was decreed on payment of Rs. 324-12. The decree provided that, if payment was made within a month, the plaintiff would get Rs. 9-11 as costs from the judgment-debtor. The plaintiff paid Rs. 324 within the time fixed. Held, that he was entitled to set off the balance of annas 12 against the costs payable to him. BECHA SINGH v. SHAMI NATH, 10 Ind. Cas. 454. (6 A. 351, 28 A. 676, A.W.N. 1906, 198, 3 A.L.J. 804, F.)

(15)—Pre-emption—Re-sale after institution of suit, effect of—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 52—Transfer—Pendente lite.—The re-sale of property to the vendor after the institution of a pre-emption suit does not affect the suit. KEDAR NATH v. BANKEY BEHARI LAL, 11 Ind. Cas. 645. (30 A. 467, 5 A.L.J. 477, A.W.N. 1908, 221, F.)

(16)—Pre-emption decree—Money deposited by pre-emptor—Pre-emptor put in possession of property—Money recovered by a Magistrate in payment of fine due from vendee—Pre-emption decree reversed on appeal—Vendee, whether entitled to get back possession without depositing in Court the money which had gone towards payment of his fine.—The respondent obtained a decree for pre-emption against the appellant and another person on payment of Rs. 1,600. The money was paid into Court and the decree-holder took possession of the property. The appellants, however, did not withdraw the money, as they had appealed against the decree. Their appeal was successful and the respondent's suit was dismissed. While the appeal was pending, one of the appellants was convicted of a criminal offence and sentenced to pay a fine. The Magistrate having come to know that Rs. 1,600 had been paid into Court and that the accused's share in the property was one-half, applied to the Subordinate Judge for the payment of Rs. 800. The Subordinate Judge made over the money to Magistrate and the Magistrate credited the money towards the fine. On application by the appellants that they should be put into possession of the property, the Subordinate Judge ordered that they were not entitled to possession until the sum of Rs. 800 was deposited in Court. Held, that the appellants were entitled to take possession of the property and their right to it could not be affected by the Subordinate Judge's order. Held, further that the Subordinate Judge was entirely wrong in paying the money to the Magistrate before the disposal of the appellant's appeal in the pre-emption case. HAIDAR HUSAIN v. GHASITI BIBI, 11 Ind. Cas. 227.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(17)—Pre-emption—Market-value, price paid much in excess of—Fabulous or excessive price—Pre-emptor must pay the actual price paid—"Good faith," meaning of—Oudh Laws Act (XVIII of 1876), s. 13—Punjab Laws Act (XII of 1878), s. 16.—Where a person has purchased a property for a price much above the market-value, the pre-emptor must pay the price so paid before he can be allowed to pre-empt. The fact that an excessive or a fabulous price has been paid will not enable the pre-emptor to acquire the property at the market-value, even though such price may have been paid for the purpose of injuring or annoying the pre-emptor. JADU NATH SINGH v. GANGABAKHSI SINGH, 9 Ind. Cas. 58. (75 P.R. 1901, 123 P.L.R. 1901, F.)

(18)—Pre-emption—Fictitious price, evidence as to—Burden of proof as to price fixed in good faith—Opinion of witness as to market value of property—Evidence—Evidence Act s. 45.—In a suit for pre-emption only very slight evidence is required of the plaintiff to support his allegation, that the price entered in the sale-deed is not the true price, in order to shift the burden of proof on to the vendee. The opinion of a witness who is not examined as an expert within the meaning of s. 45, Evidence Act, as to the market value of the property in suit is not relevant upon the issue, whether the price entered in the sale-deed has not been fixed in good faith. DWARKA v. LUDAR, 4 O.C. 247. [Obs., 6 O.C. 327.]

(19)—Price stated in sale-deed alleged to be fictitious—Burden of proof.—When a plaintiff pre-emptor comes into Court, alleging that the price entered in the sale-deed is fictitious, it rests on him to give some prima facie evidence that this is the case. But comparatively slight evidence is sufficient for such purpose ; and it will then be for the parties to the sale to show that the price alleged to have been paid was actually paid. ABDUL MAJID v. AMOLAK, A.W.N. 1907, 202=4 A.L.J. 531=29 A. 618. (5 A. 184, 9 A. 225, 9 A. 471, R.; 28 A. 617, Not F.)

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(20)—Suit for—U. P. Act XVIII of 1876 (Oudh Laws Act)—Price actually paid to vendor sufficient evidence of fair market value of property sold—Market value may be treated as evidence in dealing with question of bad faith.—In a pre-emption suit the plaintiff alleged that the consideration which actually passed was Rs. 110, although the vendor and the vendee had fraudulently entered the sum of Rs. 200 in the deed of sale. The Court of first appeal found that Rs. 200 was not entered in good faith in the sale-deed, and that Rs. 110 actually passed between vendor and vendee, and decreed pre-emption on payment of rupees 110 holding the actual price to be sufficient evidence of the market-value whereupon the vendees appealed on the ground that the fair market value of the property exceeded rupees 110 and that pre-emption should be decreed on payment of the fair market value :—Held, that the sum actually paid to the vendor was under the circumstances some evidence and in the absence of other facts sufficient evidence of the fair market-value of the property sold, and the pre-emptor could not be asked to pay any further sum :—Held, that the market-value of the property in a pre-emption suit may be ascertained and treated as evidence in dealing with the question of bad faith. MUKTA PARSHAD v. SHEO MANGAL, 1 O.C. 227. (Sel. Case No. 208, Explained.)

(21)—Pre-emption, Suit for—Market value, burden of proof of—Decree in absence of proof of market value.—In a suit for pre-emption the plaintiffs alleged in their plaint that the price entered in the sale-deed was not fixed in good faith and that the market-value was a certain sum which was less than the alleged price. Neither they nor the defendants gave any evidence of the market-value of the property. The lower Courts accepted the market value given in the plaint and decreed the claim. Held, that the burden of proof of the market-value lay in the first instance upon the plaintiffs, that if they failed to discharge it and the defendants produced no evidence upon which the Court could ascertain the true market value, the plaintiffs could only obtain a decree for pre-emption upon payment of the sum, if any, admitted by the defendants to be the market-value or, failing that, the sum mentioned in the deed, but that they could not in any case be compelled to pay more than the latter sum. HUBDAR SINGH v. NANKOO, 6 O.C. 327.

(22)—Pre-emption—Price of property sold—Fraudulent overstatement—Successful pre-emptor, bringing fraud to light—Suit against

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

by vendor's representatives—Not bound by fraud—Doctrine of particeps criminis—Applicability of.—A and B sold certain land to S, father of the defendants 2 to 4, for an alleged consideration of Rs. 4,000. C, a collateral of B, instituted a suit for pre-emption of the said land. In this suit the Court found that the price stated in the sale-deed was not fixed in good faith, that the sale price was really Rs. 3,000, and that the market-value of the property sold was only Rs. 3,240. C paid that amount, obtained possession of the property and sold it to D. S and G, the sons of B (one of the original vendors who died meanwhile) instituted the present suit against D, to recover property sold to D, on the ground that the sale by their father was neither for necessity nor for consideration, and the descendants of A also sued for a declaration that the sale by A would not affect their reversionary rights. Both suits were tried together, and the lower appellate Court held that C, the pre-emptor, stood in the shoes of the original vendee and must accept that the sale was put down at Rs. 4,000 and, having found that only Rs. 3,000. was actually paid, decreed for possession and declaration respectively on payment of Rs. 3,000 by both of them together. Held, that, although, in many respects, a pre-emptor who obtains a decree becomes identified in interest with the original vendee, it would be contrary to all notions of equity and justice and repugnant to common sense to hold that the pre-emptor was bound, in circumstances, such as those found in this case, as particeps criminis with the vendee, in the fraud which it has been his object to bring to light, and that C was therefore not debarred from urging that the sale which in this case was ostensibly for Rs. 4,000, was in fact merely for Rs. 3,000. (8 P.R. 1908, 27 P.R. 1909, 127 P.L.R. 1906, R.) Where a sum of Rs. 3,000 was actually paid to the vendors and that sum fairly represents the real value of the land, the Court will not convert the sale into a mere mortgage. DAN SINGH v. PHANGAN SINGH, 83 P.R. 1911=13 Ind. Cas. 796. (8 P.R. 1908, R.)

(23)—Pre-emption—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 18—Fraud.—S. 18 of the Limitation Act (1908) does not apply where there is no indication of any active or intentional concealment. Mere omission on the part of a vendor to give notice of sale to a pre-emptor does not amount to fraud within the meaning of s. 18. It must be shown not merely that the sale was not proclaimed but that it was fraudulently concealed. There is no law requiring two attesting witnesses to a sale deed, nor is it usual to register deeds of which registration is not compulsory. Therefore the mere fact that a sale-deed had only one attesting witness or that a deed not compulsorily registrable was not registered does not imply concealment within the meaning of the said s. 18. KAKA RAM v. MUHAMMAD ALI, 130 P.W.R. 1911,

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(24)—Notice, omission of—Act XV of 1877, (s. 18, Limitation Act)—Fraud—Equity of redemption, physical possession of—Act XV of 1877, sch. II, art. 10 (Limitation Act)—General allegations of fraud.—R.S. mortgaged to the plaintiff one plot of land with possession and on the 17th May 1884 sold that plot to defendant (vendee). The sale-deed contained no mention of the previous mortgage. In July 1895, the defendant deposited the mortgage money in Court, and issued a notice on the plaintiff demanding redemption. In January 1896 the plaintiff sued for pre-emption on the allegation that the sale took place without the vendor issuing any notice to him, and that he has first learnt of the sale on the 19th July 1885. The Court of first instance dismissed the claim as barred by limitation. The lower appellate Court considered that the property was capable of physical possession, and decreed the claim. Held, that an omission by the vendor to issue a notice without any intention to keep the pre-emptor from the knowledge of his right will avail the pre-emptor under s. 18, Act XV of 1877 (Indian Limitation Act), but that such an omission with the intention of keeping the pre-emptor from a knowledge of his right, will avail the pre-emptor under the said section as against the vendor and also against the vendee; if the latter has been accessory to the fraud or claims otherwise than in good faith and for valuable consideration. Held further, that an equity of redemption does not admit of physical possession within the meaning of art. 10, sch. II of the Limitation Act. Held further, that when no specific allegations of fraud were set out in the plaint, the plaintiff could not succeed on general allegations. MUNNA LAL v. AUSERI LAL, 1 O.C. 262.

(25)—Fraudulent transfer by vendee's husband—Plaintiff defrauded by the transfer—Vendee's husband estopped from denying the truth of the transfer—Estoppel.—In a suit for pre-emption against vendor and vendee the vendor did not put in an appearance, and the vendee disclaimed all interest in the property pleading that in 1881 her husband in order to defraud his creditors executed a fictitious deed of sale of the property in favour of the vendor who again in 1893 executed a fictitious deed in her name, her husband being owner and in possession throughout. The vendee's husband was made a defendant and made the same defence. It was found that the plaintiff's father now represented by the plaintiff was one of those actually defrauded by the fraudulent transfer made by the vendee's husband. Held, that the vendee's husband was estopped from denying the truth of the transfer, and that the vendor's sale-deed in favour of the vendee conveyed a title to her which gave rise to a claim for pre-emption on the part of his co-sharers. FARHUT-UN-NISA v. EJAZ ALI, 1 O.C. 188.

(26)—Execution—Conditional decree.—Where, in suit to enforce a right of pre-emption, the decree directs that on the deposit of purchase-money within one month from the date on which the decree becomes final, the decree-holder (plaintiff) should obtain possession of the property in suit, and that, if the decree-holder failed to make such deposit, within such period, the decree should become null and void, the decree becomes final, in the event of the appeal by the defendant being withdrawn, on the date on which it is withdrawn and struck off, and not after the expiry of 90 days and one month from the date of such withdrawal, on the supposition that the respondent may have grounds for appealing to the High Court, and that the decree could become final only after such appeal time has expired; for any grounds of appeal he may have, must relate to matters (such as cost in first appeal) other than those which had become final by the withdrawal of the appeal, and therefore cannot affect such matters. NARAIN v. LACHMAN SINGH, 3 A. 135.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(27)—Contract of sale—Vendor's interest in the property sold—Interest ceasing to exist by Government Resolution—Vendee cannot sue vendor for breach—Pre-emption—Personal right—Transfer of—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 6—Sale of teak and black-wood trees—Contract.—The defendant, the occupant of certain Survey Nos. agreed to sell to the plaintiff, on the 21st July 1904, stumps of teak and black-wood trees in his Survey Numbers at the rate of Rs. 6 per 100 stumps. At the date of the sale, the defendant had, by virtue of a Government Resn., dated 27th September 1897, a privilege of pre-emption in those stumps. Later on, on the 11th May, 1905, Government abolished the pre-emption, and directed that in its stead 20 per cent. of the net proceeds of the sale by the Forest Department of the trees should be paid to the occupant, which percentage was a gift from Government and subject to no tribunal. The plaintiff sued to recover from the defendant the 20 per cent. which he received from Government in respect of the trees on his Survey Numbers. Held, that the plaintiff was not entitled to succeed; for what he was claiming was a gift or bonus from Government to the defendant, which gift or bonus was not and could not have been in the contemplation of the parties when the contract was entered into and which by itself was not transferable. The right of pre-emption is a purely personal right which cannot be transferred to any one except the owner of the property affected thereby. JASUDIN AMBIR SAHEB FAKI v. SAKHARAM GANESH SHROTRI, 13 Bom. L.R. 1042=36 B 139=12 Ind. Cas. 693.

(28)—Suit for—Cancellation of sale deed—Inconsistent reliefs.—The plaintiff sued the defendants (vendor and vendee) for cancellation of a deed of sale executed by the former in favour of the latter and in the alternative for pre-emption of the property included in the deed. The plaintiffs alleged that they were joint with the vendor and that the latter could not lawfully sell his undivided share of the property. The question of jointness was found against plaintiffs and the claim for cancellation of the deed was dismissed. On the question whether plaintiffs were entitled to a decree for pre-emption:—Held that the two reliefs prayed for by the plaintiffs were inconsistent with each other, and that under the circumstances the plaintiffs were not entitled to a decree for pre-emption. DURGA PERSHAD v. MENDI LAL, 1 O.C. 174.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(29)—Pre-emption—Property sold not in possession of vendor—Oudh Laws Act (XVIII of 1876), Chap. II.—Where property was sold which was not in the possession of the vendor at the time of sale and he had only a doubtful right to recover it, held, that the sale of such a right could not be the subject of a suit for pre-emption under Chap. II, of the Oudh Laws Act. SUKHNANDAN v. PARSHADI, 11 Ind. Cas. 279. (9 O.C. 86, 9 O.C. 331, F.; 21 C. 496, R.)

(30)—Acquisition of footing in a village by vendee by acceptance of gift of shamilat—Gift, whether incomplete without delivery of possession—Suit for pre-emption.—The defendant-vendee pleaded that he had acquired a footing in the village by virtue of a gift of a share in a shamilat from a proprietor and as such his rights were equal to those of the plaintiff-pre-emptor. The latter maintained that the gift was a trick to defeat the pre-emptor and that the same was invalid for want of delivery of possession. Held, (1) that the gift relied on by defendant gave him rights equal to those of the plaintiff; and that there was nothing illegal or fraudulent in the defendant's having accepted a gift, even if such acceptance was with the avowed object of obtaining a footing in the village and (2) that the gift was valid, even without delivery of possession, because the donor had done, all he could to complete the gift and had supported the donee, because the subject-matter of the gift in this particular case was incapable of physical possession and also because the question of the incompleteness of the gift was one that cropped up not between the donor and the donee but between the latter and a third person. PARTAB SINGH v. FATTA, 45 P.R., 1906=120 P.L.R. 1906. (45 P.R. 1901, D.; 21 P.L.R. 1901, 28 B. 31, 11 C. 121, P.C., F.) [R., 86 P.R. 1910; Rel. on, 91 P.R. 1909.]

(31)—Pre-emption—Sale of a pre-emptional decree—No cause of action for a fresh suit—Parties—Vendor not a necessary party—Abatement of appeal—Representative of vendor not brought on record, no ground for.—Held, that the sale by the decree-holder of a pre-emptional decree previously to his paying the decretal amount in Court does not give a cause of action for a suit of pre-emption, because the decree-holder sells not the property itself but merely the decree or his right to obtain the property by compliance with the conditions of the decree.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

An appeal by the pre-emptor against a decree dismissing his suit for pre-emption does not abate by reason of representatives of the vendor not being placed upon record after his death, as the vendor is not a necessary party to the suit. LASHKARI MAL v. ISHAR SINGH, 134 P.L.R. 1902=94 P.R. 1902. [R., 91 P.R. 1909; Cited, 133 P.R. 1907=84 P.W.R. 1907=88 P.L.R. 1903.]

(32)—Suit for — Pre-emptor joining with himself as co-plaintiff one having no right of pre-emption — Joinder of parties—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 26 and 31.—A, who was entitled to a right of pre-emption, sued to enforce that right joining with himself as co-plaintiff K who had no such right. Held, that A did not thereby forfeit his right, but could maintain this suit. ABDULLA v. WAHID-UN-NISSA, 1 O.C. 308. (83 P.R. 1893, 94 P.R. 1895, Select case, No. 122, Dissented from). [Diss., 5 O.C. 266; R., 7 O.C. 22.]

(33)—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 424—Notice to public officer—Vendor not necessary party in pre-emption suit—Dismissal of pre-emption suit for non-joinder of vendor—Objection as to want of notice under s. 424, to be taken only by Secretary of State—Money supplied for litigation in a pre-emption suit by third person—Cost of improvement—Cost of stamp paper required for sale-deed—Usufructuary mortgagee cannot plead his mortgage as a shield when he himself is purchaser—Charge, keeping alive of.—The Deputy Commissioner, as Manager, Court of Wards, sold to the defendant certain villages one of which was previously held by him under a usufructuary mortgage, the amount of which was deducted from the sale-price. The plaintiff as under-proprietor claimed pre-emption. The defence was that the suit for pre-emption was not maintainable, because no notice under s. 424 had been given to the Deputy Commissioner, that the suit had been instituted with funds provided by a third man, the plaintiff being merely a nominal plaintiff acting on his behalf. The Deputy Commissioner raised no objection for want of notice under s. 424, Civ. Pro. Code. The defendant also claimed, in case plaintiff was allowed to pre-empt, certain amounts which he had spent in raising an embankment and improving the property and in purchasing the stamp paper for the sale-deed. He also contended that the plaintiff should not be allowed to get possession of the village previously held by the defendant under the usufructuary mortgage. Held, that the suit against the Deputy Commissioner was bad for want of notice under s. 424, Civ. Pro. Code, and should have been consequently dismissed as against him. But the suit was not liable to be dismissed as against the vendee, inasmuch as, under the circumstances, the vendor was not a necessary party. (25 A. 187, 3 A. 20, 25 C. 239, 9 O.C. 275, 26 A. 549, 6 A. 57, A.W.N. 1903, 239, 80 P.R. 1888, 134 P.R. 1889, R.) Held, also that the objection as the sufficiency of a notice under s. 424, Civ. Pro. Code, could only be taken by the Secretary of State, for whose benefit the notice was intended. (1 C.L.R. 542, F.) Held further, that the suit was not liable to dismissal, simply because it was carried on with money supplied by a third person. Held, also, that the pre-emptor was not liable to pay the cost of improvements or of the stamp for the sale-deed. The only thing, which the pre-emptor could be ordered to pay, was the sale-price. Held, lastly, that the defendant, as purchaser of the equity of redemption, could not, in the absence of a special contract to the contrary set up his own previous mortgage as still subsisting. BINDESHURI SINGH v. PANDIT BALRAJ SAHAI, 10 O.C. 49. [R., 13 O.C. 241.]

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(34)—Pre-emption—Suit to enforce right of pre-emption—Parties—Vendor not a necessary party.—Held, that in a suit for pre-emption the vendor is not a necessary party. LOK SINGH v. BALWAN SINGH, A.W.N. 1903, 239. (6 A. 57, F.)

(35)—Vendee's representatives — Necessary parties—Limitation Act, s. 22—Dismissal.—All the representatives of a deceased vendee and all persons in possession of his estate are necessary parties to the suit for pre-emption. Where even one representative is impleaded after time and the suit is barred as against him, it must be dismissed as against all. SALAHU v. KAMMUN, 441 P.R. 1839.

(36)—Pre-emption—Mortgage by vendee after sale—Pre-emptor not bound by mortgage—Parties—Mortgagee not a necessary party in a pre-emption suit—Mortgagee bound by decree against vendee.—Held, that a pre-emptor is not bound to pay anything more than the amount which is fixed in a pre-emption decree as the price at which the sale took place. A pre-emptor is not bound by a mortgage effected by the original vendee after the sale. The mortgagee in such case must look to his mortgagor alone. Held, also, that such a mortgagee is not a necessary party in a suit for pre-emption. As he holds the property under the vendee he is bound by a decree for pre-emption passed against the vendee. DEO RAJ v. GOVIND PARSHAD, 55 P.W.R. 1912=91 P.L.R. 1912=13 Ind. Cas. 647. (93 P.R. 1902, F.)

(37)—Property sold subject to mortgage—Redemption of mortgage by vendee—Pre-emptor cannot claim to pre-empt equity of redemption only.—Where property subject to a mortgage has been sold and the vendee has redeemed the mortgage before the institution of a suit for pre-emption, the pre-emptor cannot claim to pre-empt only the equity of redemption. He must pay the whole amount of the purchase money including the mortgage-money paid by the vendee, before he can be allowed to pre-empt the property. SHAHBAZ KHAN v. FAZAL DIN, 74 P.W.R. 1912=43 P.R. 1912=13 Ind. Cas. 430=97 P.L.R. 1912. (93 P.R. 1902, D.)

(38)—Pre-emption, Suit for—Deposit of money in Court—Mortgage by pre-emptor in favour of

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

vendee as security for payment of money.—In a suit for pre-emption the appellant obtained a decree for possession of certain property on condition that, within one month from the date of the decree, he deposited Rs. 825, and, on his failure to do so, it was ordered that his suit should stand dismissed, &c. The appellant paid no money into Court but he executed in favour of the vendee defendant a mortgage of the property as security for the payment of the Rs. 824 and the vendee notified to the Court that he had received the amount in that way. Held, that there was no order in the decree that the money on being deposited would be payable to the vendee. The condition was that the Rs. 825 should be deposited in Court and as no part of it was so deposited the appellant's suit was properly dismissed. LALTA SINGH v. UMRAO SINGH, 5 O.C. 116. [R., 8 O.C. 57.]

(39)—Expiry of year of grace without payment of mortgage money, before Punjab Alienation of Land Act came into force—Mortgage by conditional sale—Extinguishment of mortgage.—The subject of suit was a mortgage with a clause by way of conditional sale from a member of an agricultural tribe. The year of grace after notice of foreclosure had expired before the Punjab Land Alienation Act of 1900 came into force. Held s. 9 (3) of the Punjab Alienation of Land Act did not apply, the years of grace having expired before the introduction of that Act. Held, also that where a notice of foreclosure has been properly issued and served and all necessary rules are complied with and the money due on the mortgage is not paid within the year of grace, the title of the mortgagor becomes extinct at the expiry of the year of grace, and there is no longer any mortgage subsisting even though no suit for possession or declaration is brought. NAHTU LAL v. JAFER, 20 P.R. 1905=77 P.L.R. 1905. (26 P.R. 1902, 47 P.R. 1902, 38 P.R. 1904, 103 P.R. 1901, F.B., Cited & F.) [R., 20 P.R. 1905, Note, 10 P.R. 1907.] See also MAHTEB MAL v. JEIMAL, 20 P.R. 1905, Note.

(40)—Pre-emption, law of—Consideration—Mortgage by conditional sale.—Law of pre-emption discussed.—The law of pre-emption does not admit of the breaking up of the bargain of sale (6 A. 423, R.) Where pre-emption was claimed in respect of a mortgage by conditional sale, with reference to which foreclosure proceedings had been taken, a suit for possession had been instituted by the mortgagee and had ended in a compromise whereby half the property was released by the mortgagee and the other half was foreclosed for a price mentioned in the compromise, and the pre-emptive suit related to such latter half, held that the price payable by the pre-emptor was the amount mentioned in the compromise. JAGAT SINGH v. RAM BAKSH, A.W.N. 1887, 233. [Rel. on, 11 A. 164.]

(41)—Foreclosure of mortgage — Mortgagee, amount to be paid to—Oudh Laws Act, s. 12—

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

'Physical Possession'—Limitation Act, sch. II, arts. 10 and 120.—The defendant, who held a mortgage of certain properties under two deeds, obtained usufructuary possession in November 1889. The mortgage executed a deed of further charge in his favour. Subsequently the defendant obtained decrees for foreclosure in respect of the three deeds. In March 1892 he obtained possession in execution in respect of two deeds, and in November 1894 in respect of one deed. In April 1897 the plaintiff sued him for pre-emption. Held, that the suit fell not within art. 10 but within art. 120, sch. ii of the Limitation Act, and was not barred by time. 'Physical possession,' contemplated by art. 10, sch. ii of Act XV of 1877, is visible and tangible possession, and not merely such possession as the nature of the subject of sale allows. Under the provisions of s. 12, Oudh Laws Act, the mortgagee is entitled to be paid by the pre-emptor the costs properly incurred by him in obtaining a decree for foreclosure of the mortgage. Held, therefore, that the defendant was entitled to be paid the costs incurred by him in obtaining foreclosure decrees which were entered in those decrees. RAJA RAGHURAJ SINGH v. RAJ RAGHUNATH SINGH, 3 O.C. 184.

(42)—Suits by two co-sharers with equal rights—Decree for a moiety in respect of each—Justice, equity and good conscience, applicability of rules of, in absence of statutory enactment.—Where during the pendency of suit by one of two co-sharers, having equal rights of pre-emption, but before decree, the other co-sharer also brings a suit for pre-emption in respect of the same property, the Court should pass a decree for a moiety of the property in favour of each of the co-sharers in accordance with equity, justice and good conscience, the rules whereof are applicable in the absence of any statutory enactment. SALIG RAM v. KALI SHANKER, A.W.N. 1905, 50=2 A.L.J. 690=27 A. 465. (7 A. 720, F.; A.W.N. 1886, 56, D.)

(43)—Sale to a stranger with the concurrence of a co-sharer—Purchase by the co-sharer concurring—Revesting—Suit for pre-emption maintainability of.—The object of pre-emption is to keep strangers out of the co-parcenary body of a village, and to maintain the unity of the co-parcenary body. If, before pre-emption proceedings are instituted, the property has found its way into the hands of co-sharers, there is no reason for allowing pre-emption, which is, by the way, a very weak right. Where certain property was sold to a stranger, with the concurrence of two of the co-sharers, but, before the suit for pre-emption was instituted, they again purchased it, held that the suit could not be maintained. The fact, that the co-sharer concurring could not maintain a suit for pre-emption, does not preclude him from purchasing and setting up a revesting of the property in himself. LIKAT HUSAIN v. RASHID-UD-

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

DIN, 3 A.L.J. 794=A.W.N. 1906, 313=29 A. 125. (25 A. 421, R.) [Diss., 165 P.L.R. 1908=135 P.W.R. 1908.]

(44)—Owner of plots of land in abadi, whether a co-sharer—Co-sharership, test of—Liability to be sold up for arrears of revenue—Right to pre-empt as a member of village community—Sale to a stranger without specification of shares.—Held that, where a person is the owner of plots of land in the inhabited area of a village, he is to be deemed, for the purposes of pre-emption, a co-sharer in the village; as the test of co-sharership is whether the land held by him would be liable to be sold in case of a sale of arrears of Government revenue. (10 O.C. 86, Appr.; 26 A. 57, P.C., 16 A. 412; R.; 28 A. 246, Not F.) Held, further, that such a person could in any case be allowed to pre-empt as a member of the village-community. (7 O.C. 19, R.) Held, also that, where in a purchase a co-sharer associates with himself a stranger and there is no specification of the shares acquired by each of them, the co-sharer loses his preferential right to purchase and the whole property sold is liable to pre-emption. AULA HUSAIN v. MUSAMMAT ZAINAB-UN-NISSA, 10 O.C. 225. (7 O.C. 22, F.) [R., 11 O.C. 290.]

(45)—Suit for—Oudh Laws Act, 1876, s. 9, cls. (2) and (3)—Revenue free land, suit for pre-emption, with respect to—Nazul or Government land held revenue free, whether constitutes a mahal with the rest of the village—Co-sharer, test of being a—Village-community, member of, claim decreed as—Estoppel, elements necessary to be proved in order to constitute.—The respondent brought a suit for pre-emption with respect to 25 and odd bighas of revenue free land situate in mauza C. The land formed part of an area of 126 and odd bighas recorded at the first settlement as Nazul or Government land, for which no revenue was payable, and which had been sold by the Government to a private individual. After various transfers the appellant "Bank purchased the land at an auction sale held in execution of its own decree, and subsequently sold it to the appellant S without giving the respondent, a sharer in the village, notice in the manner prescribed by s. 10 of the Oudh Laws Act. The respondent claimed to pre-empt both as a sharer in the village and as a member of the village-community under second and third clauses of s. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act. The defence was that the respondent was not entitled to pre-empt the property either under the second or under the third clause of s. 9, and that he was estopped from making the claim as he had refused to purchase the property when it was offered to him by the Bank. Held, that, as the land in suit was not in any way responsible for the revenue assessed upon the village, the respondent and the Bank were not co-sharers of the same mahal, and, therefore, the respondent could not claim to pre-empt the property under the second clause of s. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act, but that the respondent could pre-empt the property as a member of the village-community under the third clause of s. 9 and that it was not necessary that the vendor should be a member of the village-community. Held also, after reviewing the evidence, that no case for estoppel had been made out. BANK OF UPPER INDIA v. MUNSHI ALOPI PRASAD, 10 O.C. 257. (5 O.C. 395, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(46)—Grove-holder—Owner of land on which a grove stands, a co-sharer—Government revenue, non-payment of—Co-sharer, meaning of—Oudh Laws Act, s. 9.—Held, that the owner of a plot of land in the village, on which there stands a grove, for which no Government revenue is paid, is a co-sharer, for the purposes of pre-emption, within the meaning of the Oudh Laws Act. RAM KISHUN v. NADIR HUSEIN, 10 O.C. 86. (7 O.C. 284, R.; 28 A. 246, Diss.) [Appr., 10 O.C. 225; R., 11 O.C. 290.]

(47)—Pre-emption—Owner of grove land unassessed to Government revenue, whether a co-sharer.—The owner of a grove land unassessed to Government revenue is not a co-sharer and has got no right of pre-emption, although the grove land appeared in the village khewat in a khata of its own. AMIR SING v. AKBAR, 11 Ind. Cas. 21. (A.W.N. 1905, 264, 2 A.L.J. 788, 28 A. 124, R.; A.W.N. 1905, 219, 2 A.L.J. 612, D.)

(48)—Zemindari and grove—Grove not appurtenant—Separate Court-fee not paid—Dismissal of suit in respect of grove only.—Plaintiff brought a suit for pre-emption of a zemindari share and a grove, which was said to be appurtenant thereto, and paid Court-fee on five times the Government revenue on the zemindari share. The Courts below found that the grove was not appurtenant to the zemindari and dismissed the suit as insufficiently stamped, no Court-fee having been paid on the grove. Held, that the suit should not have been dismissed in toto, but only in respect of the grove, if it was found that it did not appertain to the zemindari. ROHAN SINGH v. BHAU LAL, 4 A.L.J. 403 = A.W.N. 1907, 163.

(49)—Pre-emption—Limitation—Oral sale—Subsequent unregistered and registered sale deeds—Oral evidence to prove unregistered deed—Oral evidence to contradict document—Indian Evidence Act, 1872, ss. 91, 92.—The plaintiff's claim for pre-emption was dismissed by the Divisional Court, as barred by limitation. It was found that previous to the registered sale deed in 1895, oral sale of the land in dispute had been effected in 1892, and the defendants had been in possession ever since. A sale deed was also executed on the 22nd July 1893 but it was not registered. Held, that the right of pre-emption accrues as soon as a sale is complete, whether a deed is executed or not; and the suit was not barred. Held, further, that though the unregistered sale-deed was inadmissible in evidence, the fact of the sale, though not the terms, could be proved aliunde, under s. 91, explanation 3, Evidence Act, 1872. The sale deed recited that the transfer was made in pursuance of a previous contract of sale; held, that it was competent for the defendants to show that the recital was wrong. MUTSADDI v. DHANI RAM, P.L.R. 1900, p. 203.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(50)—Pre-emption—Mortgage or sale—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 92 and 99—Evidence to contradict the terms of a document.—A pre-emptor is not precluded by s. 92 of the Evidence Act from showing that an ostensible mortgage was in reality a sale. Held that transactions where the form of a mortgage appears to have been adopted with the object of evading a pre-emption claim, must be looked with great suspicion. KHOIDAD KHAN v. NASAR KHAN, 127 P.L.R. 1902.

(51)—Suit for—Notice, inadmissibility of oral evidence of—U.P. Act XVIII of 1876, s. 10 (Oudh Laws Act)—Oral offer of sale—Waiver.—In a suit for pre-emption the defendant pleaded that the plaintiff was given verbal notice of the sale of the property in suit, but she refused to purchase it. Held, that mere omission or refusal to accept an oral offer of sale does not, of itself and without some positive act of the pre-emptor by way of discharging the vendor, constitute a waiver of the right of pre-emption, or dispense with performance of the obligation to serve a written notice. Held further, that oral evidence of notice prescribed in s. 10, Act XVIII of 1876, is inadmissible. The doctrine of notice discussed. MARYAM BEGAM v. TIKA, 1 O.C. 254. (Select Case No. 305 considered.) [R., 5 O.C. 395.]

(52)—Pre-emption, suit for—Contract of sale of property, existence of—Mortgage-deed with stringent terms no evidence of a transaction of sale.—What a plaintiff in a pre-emption suit has to make out is that there is in existence a contract for sale of property by virtue of which a third person, whose right to acquire the property is inferior to that of the plaintiff, has obtained a right to acquire. (9 O.C. 169, R.) Where the plaintiff sued to enforce his right of pre-emption, alleging that the transaction carried on between the defendants was in reality a sale and that the deed in question had been drawn up fraudulently in the form of a mortgage in order to conceal the real nature of the dealings between the parties and thereby to defeat the plaintiff's right of pre-emption, held, that, in the absence of all evidence explaining the nature of the transaction, a Court is not justified in finding that the mortgage-deed furnished evidence of a transaction of sale, merely because its terms were so stringent, as to make it highly improbable that redemption would ever take place. BADRI SINGH v. CHANDIKA SINGH, 15 O.C. 1 = 14 Ind. Cas. 8 (3 O.C. 213, 145 P.R. 1906, 45 P.R. 1895, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(53)—Pre-emption—Construction of document—Question of law—Value at the time of sale.—Held, that in a suit for pre-emption the Court is competent to enquire and find the true nature of the document, subject of the suit, and the construction of the document is a mixed question of law and fact. Held, further, that where the market value of the property has increased since the date of sale, the pre-emptor is not bound to pay the enhanced value if it was not due to any improvements effected by the vendee. YUSAF v. LEKH RAM, P.L.R. 1900, p. 462.

(54)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation of document—Custom or contract.—In a suit for pre-emption, the wajib-ul-arz of 1863 provided that no case of transfer by mortgage had taken place in the village, but that in future every proprietor would be competent to transfer his share either in whole or in part by way of sale or mortgage, and this was followed by the clause "awalek dusre ke intekal kar sakta hai." No evidence was produced other than the wajib-ul-arz: Held, that the entry was a record of contract and not of custom. HARDWARI MAL v. BALDEO SAHAI, 8 A.L.J. 632. (7 A.L.J. 1040, D.; 37 I.A. 191, R.)

(55)—Partition of village, effect of—Custom not liable to modification.—A custom must not be merely ancient, but it must be continued, uninterrupted, uniform, certain and definite. A custom is not capable of an abrupt, automatic change and is not liable to modification by the fact of the partition of the village. A village, the wajib-ul-arz of which gave a right of pre-emption to the co-sharers of the village over strangers, was divided into three mahals and no new wajib-ul-arz was prepared for any mahal. The co-sharer in one of the mahals, purchased a share in the other mahal, in which plaintiff was a co-sharer; held that the plaintiff had no right of pre-emption. By partition, the custom had either ceased to exist or still prevailed. In both cases, the plaintiff could not succeed. If it ceased, there was no right of pre-emption. If it still prevailed, the defendant was entitled to pre-empt under it. GOBIND RAM v. MASHULLA KHAN, 4 A.L.J. 137=A.W.N. 1907, 39=29 A. 295. (22 A. 1, R.; 1 A.L.J. 33, not F.) [R., 31 A. 274=6 A.L.J. 180=2 Ind. Cas. 208, 5 Ind. Cas. 659, 7 A.L.J. 133=6 Ind. Cas. 17=32 A. 265, 7 A.L.J. 519=6 Ind. Cas. 151; D., 6 A.L.J. 958=32 A. 63=4 Ind. Cas. 138.]

(56)—Custom—Pre-emption—Presumption—Town and village—S. 10, Act IV of 1872 (Punjab Law)—Una, Hoshiarpur Dt.—The distinction drawn in the Act is not between agricultural land and non-agricultural land, but between land in village and land in town. In a town, even as regards assessed and cultivated land, the custom of pre-emption is not to be presumed, but must be proved. As the place Una in Hoshiarpur district was certainly a town, when it was an emporium for the trade of the hills years ago, it must be considered as a town and, therefore, a custom of pre-emption must be proved to exist there. HARJALLU MAL v. NATHU RAM, 51 P.R. 1907=38 P.L.R. 1907. (22 P.R. 1906 and 27 P.R. 1907, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(57)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Evidence—Custom or contract.—In a pre-emption suit based on custom, the plaintiff produced the wajib-ul-arz of 1867. This document provided for pre-emption, but in the very same clause it went on to provide for every class of transfer. It provided that the property of a deceased owner should be divided amongst his sons according to the number of wives; it further provided that, if a widow did not marry again, she should have complete power to transfer: Held, that this was quite insufficient to establish the custom of pre-emption set up by the plaintiff. KHAIRATI KHAN v. UMDA, 11 Ind. Cas. 316. (37 I.A. 191, 14 C.W.N. 770, 7 A.L.J. 764, 12 C.L.J. 36, 12 Bom. L.R. 504, 8 M.L.T. 79, 1 M.W.N. 324, 20 M.L.J. 604, 32 A. 363, 7 Ind. Cas. 787, R.)

(58)—Pre-emption—Custom or contract—Evidence—In the wajib-ul-arz of 1833, there was a mention of the right of pre-emption, but the wajib-ul-arz of 1860 was silent about it. The land in suit was waste in 1803. In the Settlements of 1807, 1809, 1813, the village was owned by a single proprietor. Between 1833 and 1860, the proprietors rebelled and the village was resumed by the Government: Held, that no custom of pre-emption existed in the village. LALLU RAM v. RAM GHULAN SAHU, 11 Ind. Cas. 46.

(59)—Pre-emption—Evidence of custom—Custom need not be immemorial.—In order that a custom of pre-emption may be held to be established, it is not necessary to show that the custom is immemorial, in the sense of the English Common Law. Hence where in a village which came into existence after 1846 there was found in 1869 evidence of a custom of pre-emption amongst the co-sharers, and further evidence of such a custom in 1885, it was held, that the custom was sufficiently established for the Courts to give effect to it. LAKHRAJ BHARTHI v. ANRUDH TIWARI, A.W.N. 1906, 80=28 A. 434. (17 A. 87, A.W.N. 1905, 266, 26 B. 666, F.)

(60)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Partition of the village—Rights of co-sharer in the patti and in the village—Custom.—A custom cannot change, but a person who is entitled to pre-empt under the custom prior to partition may lose that right as the result of the partition. Before the partition of a village, the vendor, the vendee and the pre-emptor were co-sharers in the same patti or thok, and the wajib-ul-arz gave a right of pre-emption, (1) to brothers who were co-sharers, (2) to co-sharers in the same patti or thok, and (3) to co-sharers in another patti or thok. After partition no new wajib-ul-arz was prepared. As the result of partition, the vendor and the pre-emptor became co-sharers in the same mahal but in a different patti, while the vendee became a co-sharer in another mahal: held, that the plaintiff was entitled to pre-empt under the terms of the wajib-ul-arz. PEM SINGH v. DHARAM SINGH, 8 A.L.J. 1013=12 Ind. Cas. 177.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(61)—Pre-emption—Value—Valuation committee—Wajib-ul-arz—How far evidence.—In a suit for pre-emption, the Court should not form its own opinion of the proper price of the land; according to the terms of para 12, s. 13 of the Punjab Civil Code, the matter must be referred to a valuation committee. In the absence of special custom, the fact that the wajib-ul-arz only deals with the right of relations as to pre-emption does not deprive others of the community of the general right of pre-emption which vests in them under the Punjab Civil Code; and in such cases the Courts must decide which party has the best right of pre-emption according to relationship, vicinage, being of the same thok, and so forth. GOOMANEE v. RUHEEMOODDEEN, 35 P.R. 1870. [Appr., 3 P.R. 1903=39 P.L.R. 1903.]

(62)—Wajib-ul-arz—Co-sharer—Owner of resumed muafi land.—The pre-emptive clause of a wajib-ul-arz contained the following provision:—“Minjumla malikon ke agar koi hissadar apni haqqiat bai karne chahne to awal dusre hissadar sharik haqqiat ki hath bai karega.” This clause occurred in a chapter headed “conditions which apply to zamindars only.” Held that the ownership of resumed muafi land did not confer upon the owner a right of pre-emption as a hissadar. MUNNA LAL v. NARAIN PRASAD, A.W.N. 1907, 173=4 A.L.J. 665. (20 A. 419, A.W.N. 1902, 68, A.W.N. 1904, 118, 28 A. 246, R.)

(63)—Wajib-ul-arz—Muhammadan Law.—Where the right of pre-emption arises not by reason of the Muhammadan Law, but by reason of the custom or contract embodied in the wajib-ul-arz, it is the wajib-ul-arz, and not the Muhammadan Law that is to be looked into for the rules which must be observed by the pre-emptor. GAURI SHANKAR v. KARIMA BIBI, 15 A. 413=A.W.N. 1893, 178.

(64)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Custom or contract—Variation in terms of wajib-ul-arz—What plaintiff must prove.—In a suit for pre-emption based upon custom, the plaintiff adduced in evidence three wajib-ul-arzes, of the years 1839, 1863 and 1870 respectively. He alleged that he was a co-sharer with the vendor in the same kura, while the defendant, though a co-sharer, was not in the same kura. The wajib-ul-arz of 1839 stated that the co-sharers in the village had a right of pre-emption as against a stranger. In the second wajib-ul-arz the pre-emptors are divided into near co-sharers and co-sharers in other thoks. And in the last wajib-ul-arz the pre-emptors were near co-sharers, co-sharers in the thok and co-sharers in the village. Held, that the variations in the terms of the wajib-ul-arz did not show that the right of pre-emption arose out of a contract. The real issue in the case was the existence or non-existence of a custom of pre-emption. The several wajib-ul-arzes could not be regarded as the custom itself; they were merely the evidence of a custom. The custom might be recorded in the latter wajib-ul-arz the earliest and the intermediate ones being incomplete records. The plaintiff would have to prove not merely that a custom of pre-emption existed in the village giving a right of pre-emption to a co-sharer as against a stranger, but also that he had the right as against the vendee as soon as the latter's position was ascertained. DIP NARAIN SINGH v. BHAGWANT SINGH, 8 A.L.J. 1070=12 Ind. Cas. 179.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(65)—Appeal under s. 10 of the Letters Patent from a Letters Patent appeal—Whether allowed—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Custom or contract—Partition of village—No new wajib-ul-arz framed—Hissadar deh—Meaning of—Construction of document.—An appeal lies under s. 10 of the Letters Patent from the opinion of Judge who has differed from his colleague in an appeal under the same section. The wajib-ul-arz of an undivided village gave a right of pre-emption, first, to a near co-sharer (hissadar karib) and then to a co-sharer in the village (hissadar deh). Subsequently the village was divided by perfect partition into mahals. No new wajib-ul-arz was prepared. In a suit for pre-emption by the co-sharers in one of the mahals consequent upon a sale of property situated in another mahal to a stranger:—Held, that the right might be enforced notwithstanding the partition. Meaning of the words ‘deh’ and ‘mahal’ discussed by Karamat Husain, J. JIWAN RAM v. TONDI RAM, 8 A.L.J. 1072=11 Ind. Cas. 305=34 A. 13.

(66)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Hissadar karibi—Nearness in blood—Construction—Preferential right.—In a village there was no thok nor patti but there was only one khata. In the khata, however, there were separate groups of co-sharers whose members collected their share of the profits as a group. The wajib-ul-arz of the village set forth that at the time of transfer the property was first to be offered to a nearer co-sharer (hissadar karibi). Relying upon this document alone, the plaintiff, who was a blood relation of the vendor, brought this suit for pre-emption against the vendee who was otherwise on equal footing with him. Held, that the plaintiff had no preferential right to pre-empt. JAGDATT MISRA v. DALTHAMAN, 11 Ind. Cas. 286.

(67)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Rishtadar Karibi—Connection by marriage.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of pre-emption to a Rishtadar Karibi who was also a sharer. The plaintiff, who was a connection by marriage of the vendor, brought this suit for pre-emption against a vendor, who was no relation of the vendor. Held, that the relationship was too remote to give the plaintiff a right of pre-emption. FAKHRAN BIBI v. NAGESHAR RAM, 9 A.L.J. 84=13 Ind. Cas. 954.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(68)—*Pre-emption—Right of—Custom or contract—Wajib-ul-arzes—Question not of construction but of proof.—(Per Richards, C.J.)—*In pre-emption cases based on custom, the proper issue ought to be “does the custom alleged by the plaintiff-pre-emptor exist.” The onus lies on the plaintiff and he must establish his case by the production of sufficient evidence. The proper issue is not what is the true construction of this or that wajib-ul-arz. No doubt it is quite true that the Court will have to consider amongst other things the language of the wajib-ul-arz when that document is adduced in evidence. But the fact that the Court has to consider the language of the wajib-ul-arz does not make the construction of the wajib-ul-arz the real issue, or the equivalent of the real issue in the case. This is not a mere verbal distinction. It is a real distinction which ought to be carefully borne in mind. After considering the evidence (whether such evidence consists solely of the wajib-ul-arz, or partly of the wajib-ul-arz and partly of other evidence) it is the duty of the Court to come to a conclusion whether the fact of the existence of custom is “proved,” “disproved” or “not proved,” in the sense in which these expressions are defined in s. 3 of the Evidence Act. The more unusual a custom or usage is, the stricter ought to be the proof of its existence, and this rule applies to customs or usages of pre-emption just as much as to any other custom or usage. If the custom claimed is of a common or usual nature, the wajib-ul-arz may be sufficient proof and justify the Court in coming to the conclusion that the custom exists. If the particular right of pre-emption claimed is of an unusual nature, the wajib-ul-arz may be almost worthless as evidence or quite insufficient to prove the existence of the custom. In 1873, mauza Suram constituted a single Mahal. The wajib-ul-arz of that date contained the following reference to pre-emption:—“In future if any pattidar wishes to transfer his share by sale . . . to a stranger . . . first the sharers in the pattikhas, then pattidars in thok, and then “digar pattidaran deh” shall have the right to purchase.” In 1883, perfect partition took place and mauza Suram was divided into three separate Mahals. A copy of the wajib-ul-arz on partition was copied out as the wajib-ul-arz for each of the new Mahals. Plaintiffs were not co-sharers of the vendor, that is to say, they were not co-sharers in the same Mahal, though they were sharers in another Mahal. The vendees were strangers. The only evidence, excepting some oral evidence which was quite worthless, tendered in proof of the custom of pre-emption, consisted of the two wajib-ul-arzes of 1872 and 1883. Held, that the custom under which the plaintiffs claimed could not be said to have been proved. The custom in 1873 was a custom for sharers in the village to pre-empt as against strangers. But in 1873 every sharer in the village must also have been a co-sharer with the vendor, because the village was the one single Mahal. It follows that there could never have been a custom of pre-emption in favor of persons who were not co-sharers with the vendor (22 A. 1, R.; 27 A. 602, 27 A. 614, commented upon). Held also that the plaintiffs could not rely upon the wajib-ul-arz of 1883 as evidence of a contract, as they were no parties to it, the wajib-ul-arz relating to a mahal in which the plaintiffs were not co-sharers and had no concern. Per Tudball, J. The custom as recorded in 1873 did not and could not refer to the state of affairs as they now are, when there are pattidars in the village who are not co-owners in a great part of the village with each other. The record of the custom in 1873 must be read in the light of the then existing state of affairs in order that its true meaning may be grasped. The object of the custom, the cause of its growth and existence, must also be kept in view. Co-ownership is ordinarily a necessary condition for the exercise of the right of pre-emption. It is, however, conceivable that a custom of pre-emption might possibly spring up among the separate owners of separate Mahals or villages for some special reasons. It would be an unusual, extraordinary custom, and the person alleging it would have to prove it by clear, cogent and convincing evidence. A wajib-ul-arz is not conclusive evidence of any custom, and where a plaintiff puts forward such an unusual custom and cannot point to a single instance of its exercise within the memory or knowledge of man, the Court will be fortified in holding that the plaintiff had not proved the custom. In the case of an unusual and extraordinary custom (other than that of pre-emption) in which no instances are proved of the exercise thereof, the Courts have hesitated to hold that a custom is proved by the bare production of one or more wajib-ul-arzes; and there is no reason why the same rule should not apply to the very unusual and extraordinary custom under which a plaintiff, who is not a co-sharer in the Mahal and is not a co-owner with the vendor in anything, claims a right to prevent a man selling his property to whomsoever he pleases. GANGA SINGH v. CHEDI LAL, 8 A.L.J. 996=12 Ind. Cas. 98.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(69)—*Pre-emption—Decree for—Payment of decretal amount into Court by pre-emptor—Sale declared invalid as against reversioner of vendor—Order allowing withdrawal of purchase money—Appeal—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 244 (c).—*The pre-emptors obtained a decree for pre-emption against the vendor and the vendee. The purchase-money directed by the decree to be paid to the vendee was deposited in Court. Subsequently a reversioner of the vendor obtained a decree declaring that the sale was without necessity, and did not affect his rights except in respect of a part of the purchase-money, both the vendee and the pre-emptors applying that their names might be taken off the record. The pre-emptors then put in a petition, asking that their purchase-money should be returned to them as they no longer wished to go on with the purchase, since their decree of pre-emption had been superseded by the declaratory decree. The Court ordered refund of the money. On appeal the Divisional Judge declined to interfere, on the ground that procedure for paying money into Court in pre-emption cases was not procedure in execution of a decree, and that he had no jurisdiction to hear an appeal from such an order. On appeal to the Chief Court—Held, that the effect of the original Court's order was to deprive the vendee of his money which he was entitled to under a decree of Court, and the order fell within the scope of cl. (c) of s. 244 of the Civ. Pro. Code, and that an appeal lay from it as if from a decree. Held, also, that the vendee was entitled to a refund of the money paid over to the pre-emptors. ABDULLA v. AMIR-UD-DIN, 113 P.L.R. 1902=76 P.R. 1902. (19 A. 256, 46 P.R. 1902=49 P.L.R. 1902, 7 A. 775, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(70)—Chief Court "Rules and Orders" — F. XXX (3) and (4)—Pre-emption suit—Pleader's fee—Method of calculating.—Pleader's fee in a suit for pre-emption should be calculated under cl. (4) and not under cl. (3) of r. XXX of the Chief Court "Rules and Orders," i.e., with reference either to the amount decreed, or according to the valuation of the suit, or according to such sum, not exceeding the valuation, as the Court thinks reasonable, and fixes with reference to the importance of the subject of dispute. BALU v. MADAN GOPAL, 149 P.L.R. 1911.

(71)—Punjab Courts Act (XVIII of 1884), s. 70 (1) (b)—Further appeal—Pre-emption suit Jurisdiction—Value during pendency of suit.—Held, that a defendant's action pendente lite cannot affect the value of the suit. For the purposes of jurisdictional value for an appeal in a pre-emption suit, the value of improvements effected during suit should not be included. LAL HUSSAIN v. HASSA KHAN, 68 P.W.R. 1912=96 P.L.R. 1912=13 Ind. Cas. 428.

(72)—Payment of purchase-money by pre-emptor into Court—Decree in favour of pre-emptor—Withdrawal of purchase-money by vendee, effect of—Vendee's right of appeal—Punjab Courts Act, 1884, s. 70 (2) (b) IV.—There is no provision in the Civ. Pro. Code, which would justify a dismissal of an appeal in a pre-emption suit, merely because the appellant has withdrawn the purchase money paid into Court for his benefit. The appellant (judgment debtor) having been compelled by process of Court to part with possession, if he received its equivalent as a part of the execution proceedings, it cannot even be inferred that, by withdrawing the purchase-money, he acquiesced in the decree passed by the lower Court and thereby accepted its validity. Nor can the judgment-debtor be thereby intended to abandon his appeal. Where an appeal is admitted under s. 70 (b) IV of the Punjab Courts Act, 1884, the appellant is not entitled to question the validity or soundness of the findings of facts given by the lower Appellate Court. The question, whether a deed of transfer purporting to be a mortgage-deed is in reality such a deed or a sale, is a question of fact, and not of law. SUNDER DAS v. DHANPAT RAI, 16 P.R. 1907=104 P.L.R. 1908=127 P.W.R. 1907.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(73)—Suit to enforce right of pre-emption—Withdrawal from suit of one of the pre-emptors—Effect—S.373, Civ.Pro. Code, 1882.—The scope of every pre-emptive suit is necessarily co-extensive with the whole property which has been sold and is subject to the plaintiff's pre-emption. And where a suit for enforcing a right of pre-emption is brought by more than one pre-emptor, the claim is necessarily a joint one, and each pre-emptor must be taken to claim the whole jointly with the other. The withdrawal of one of such pre-emptors, plaintiffs, from such a suit cannot operate to defeat the right of the others, nor does it involve the relinquishment of pre-emption with reference to any portion of the property sued for. UDEY RAM v. MAULA, A.W.N. 1885, 189.

(74)—U. P. Act XVIII of 1876, s. 9, cls. (1) and (2)—Co-sharers—Act XIX of 1873, s. 3 (N.W.P. Land Revenue Act)—Act XVIII of 1876, s. 687—Held, that an arrangement by which the co-sharers agree to collect portions of the rent of one tenant does not amount to a "sub-division of a tenure" within the meaning of s. 9, Act XVIII of 1876. In s. 3, Act XIX of 1873, N.W.P. Land Revenue Act, "mahal" is defined as "any local area held under a separate engagement for the payment of the land-revenue and for which a separate record of rights has been framed." There is no definition of a "mahal" in Act XVIII of 1876. "Imperfect partition" is defined in s. 68 of that Act to mean "the division of any mahal, or of any portion of a mahal into two or more portions jointly responsible for the revenue assessed on the whole mahal." such portions are usually described as "thoks and nattis." DURGA SINGH v. DALIP SINGH, 1 O.C. 45.

(75)—Right of pre-emption—Limitation—Purchase at fair price.—A sold certain land to B, in which C claimed a right of pre-emption. B applied to the Financial Commissioner for mutation of names. Within three months and thirteen days from the date of that order, C brought the present suit claiming pre-emption. Held that though more than three months had elapsed from the date of the Commissioner's order, still, as C had asserted his claim on the date of the application for mutation of names, he was not barred. There was nothing to show that C refused the offer, for though he objected to the price, he expressed his willingness to purchase at a fair price. BURKUT ALI v. BIRJA, 74 P.R. 1866. [R., 108 P.R. 1868.]

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(76)—Suit for pre-emption—Valuation for purposes of jurisdiction—Court Fees Act—Actual value of subject-matter of litigation.—In the matter of determining the pecuniary jurisdiction of a Court, the Court Fees Act does not give any measure of value as it does for fixing the stamp, and the Courts have to be guided by the actual value of the subject matter of litigation as they determine it to be according to fact. In a pre-emption suit, it would be incorrect to say that the value of the suit is simply the value of the land or the amount decreed. In such a suit, the claim is to buy the land, not to recover it on the strength of title or any other reason. The value of such a suit is the value of the land minus the sum which the pre-emptor has to pay for it. RAM DITTA v. MOHAMED KHAN, 62 P.R. 1875. [R., 54 P.R. 1878.]

(77)—Pre-emption suit—Meaning of "hissadar"—Proprietor of share by purchase.—The meaning of the term co-parcener or 'hissadar' could not be restricted so as to exclude the proprietor of a share by purchase, since one of the objects of the custom of pre-emption, that is, the exclusion of a stranger, was secured when preference was given to a person who was a co-sharer over a stranger even if such person was not of the same brotherhood as the other co-sharers. BIHARI LALL v. SHIBU, 42 P.R. 1880. (4 P.R. 1869, F.) [R., 96 P.R. 1898.]

(78)—Pre-emption on sale of house—Act IV of 1872, s. 12 (as amended by Act XII of 1878)—Relationship—Custom.—When the rights of parties to a suit for pre-emption are governed by the express provisions of s. 12 of Act IV of 1872 (as amended by Act XII of 1878), it is only in cases falling under the provisions of cl. (b) of that section, that mere relationship gives a preferential right. As there is no express provision giving to relations such a right, other than the provision in cl. (b), it cannot be inferred from the mere mention of a relation in cl. (c) that relationship per se, and apart from all other considerations, is a ground for claiming pre-emption. Consequently, cl. (b) of that section is not applicable when the subject of pre-emption is a house in a Bhyachara village. It is the duty of Courts to make a full enquiry as to the existence of any custom by which a relation or a neighbour has a preferential right in case of a sale of house property in such a village. NIZAM DIN v. ROSHAN, 54 P.R. 1880. [D., 99 P.R. 1900.]

(79)—Punjab Laws Act, s. 11, construction of—Mohulla—Pre-emption—Custom.—A mohulla is a sub-division of a town within the meaning of s. 11 of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, as amended by Act XII of 1878; and a person claiming to exercise a right of pre-emption in a particular Mohulla of a town is bound to prove

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

the existence of that custom in the Mohulla. AJUDIA PERSHAD v. CHIRANJI LAL, 55 P.R. 1880. [Appr., 17 P.R. 1895, 70 P.R. 1899, 16 P.R. 1902=15 P.L.R. 1902; R., 68 P.R. 1890; D., 29 P.R. 1888.]

(80)—Pre-emption—Purchaser of land in village—Member of village community—Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872), s. 14, cl. 3.—A purchase followed by registration, possession, mutation and payment of revenue, makes the purchaser a member of the village community within the meaning of cl. 3, s. 14 of Act IV of 1872; and, consequently, such purchaser is entitled to claim pre-emption and is entitled to a decree so long as the sale to him is not cancelled and set aside. RADHA KISHEN v. SANDAL, 76 P.R. 1880.

(81)—Pre-emption—Limitation—Mortgage by conditional sale—Foreclosure proceedings under Reg. XVII of 1806—Failure by mortgagor to pay within year of grace—Mortgagee's suit for declaration of absolute title—Sale of property by father—Right of pre-emption of son—Custom—Punjab Laws Act, s. 12.—In the case of foreclosure of a mortgage by way of conditional sale, the period of limitation for a suit for pre-emption in respect of such sale should be computed from the date on which the mortgagee has completed his title by obtaining a decree of a Civil Court declaratory of his absolute right, and not from the expiry of the year of grace allowed to the mortgagor. [Diss., 103 P.R. 1901, F.B.=120 P.L.R. 1901, 20 P.R. 1905, Note.] Amongst the Sikh Jats (of the Varaich Got) in the Punjab, the expression "co sharer" in cl. (a), s. 12 of the Punjab Laws Act (as amended) cannot be held to include a son or grandson unless he has actually been associated as such by the ancestor in possession, nor could a son, merely by means of relationship and in the absence of any separate proprietary interest in the village claim pre-emption, under cl. (c) of the same section. If any special custom which recognizes a son as possessing the rights of a co-sharer in his father's lifetime or which gives him a superior claim to pre-emption as a Karabati, or near relation, is alleged to exist amongst such community, the parties should produce evidence to prove its existence or non-existence. SHER SINGH v. IMAMMULLA, 82 P.R. 1880. [Appr., 100 P.R. 1900=11 P.L.R. 1901.]

(82)—Sale of house in town—Pre-emption—Custom.—In all town cases, the general custom is that only the person whose house actually adjoins has a right of pre-emption, and it will require very strong evidence to prove a further custom of pre-emption by which relations can also claim the right in the order of relationship. As the right of pre-emption is a serious check on the free disposal of property, such right founded on new grounds should only be allowed on very full proof of its prevalence. There is no custom in the town of Gujrat, by which a paternal uncle's son of a vendor (a

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

Mahomedan brick-mason), whose house was divided from that sold by two intervening houses, was entitled to preference over a purchaser who was the vendor's sister's son. NABI BAKSH v. KARM DIN, 83 P.R. 1880.

(83)—Pre-emption decree—Extension of time fixed in the decree.—Held, that a Court cannot extend the time granted by a pre-emption decree for the payment of the purchase-money after the time fixed by the decree has expired. BACHCHU LAL v. RAJA RAM, 16 O.C. 5=19 Ind. Cas. 347.

(84)—Pre-emption—Consideration—Onus on plaintiff to prove that sale consideration is fictitious.—In a pre-emption suit, it is for the plaintiff to show in the first instance that the consideration set forth in the deed is fictitious. He should prove either what is the actual contract price or what is the market-value of the property. SAKALRAJ DUBE v. UDIT DUBE, 14 Ind. Cas. 158. (29 A. 618, A.W.N. 1907, 202, 4 A.L.J. 531, 9 A. 471, R.)

(85)—Pre-emption—Right of substitution.—The right of pre-emption is a right of substitution. A pre-emptor has the right to be substituted for the vendee, subject to all the rights and liabilities created by the terms of the sale deed. CHEDDA LAL v. BASDEO SAHAI, 14 Ind. Cas. 266. (30 A. 130, 5 A.L.J. 112, A.W.N. 1908, 42, 3 M.L.T. 223, F.)

(86)—Pre-emption—Limitation—Rival pre-emptors, suits between—Pre-emptor impleaded as defendant in the suit of rival pre-emptor after the expiry of period of limitation for a suit against vendee—Punjab Pre-emption Act (II of 1905), ss. 25, 29—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), sch. I, arts. 10, 120.—In pre-emption suits brought by rival pre-emptors in respect of the same sale, in which each pre-emptor is impleaded as a defendant in the suit instituted by the other, the period of limitation, as between the rival pre-emptors, is that prescribed by art. 120 of the Limitation Act, and not that prescribed by art. 10 of the Act or s. 29 of the Punjab Pre-emption Act (7 A. 167, 11 P.R. 1893, 20 P.R. 1903, relied upon.) S. 29 of the Pre-emption Act only covers the case of a contest between the original vendee and the pre-emptor; it does not contemplate a case in which, several rival pre-emptors having brought separate suits in respect of the same sale, the plaintiff in each suit is joined as a defendant in each of the other suits. A brought a suit for pre-emption against the original vendee within one year from the date on which the vendee took possession of the land in dispute. B brought a suit to pre-empt the same land against the vendee on the last day of limitation. In the former suit, B was impleaded as a defendant after the expiry of the period of limitation prescribed for a suit against the original vendee, but within six years from the date of vendee's possession: Held, that A's suit for pre-emption was not barred by limitation as against B. ILAH BUX v. MOHAMAD RAB NOWAZ KHAN, 14 Ind. Cas. 328=186 P.W.R. 1912=80 P.R. 1912.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(87)—Pre-emption—Custom or contract—Proof.—A custom of pre-emption should, like any other custom, be proved by clear and sufficient evidence. BIDHATA RAM v. RAM CHERI, 15 Ind. Cas. 251.

(88)—Pre-emption—Property sold subject to mortgage—Redemption of mortgage by vendee—Pre-emptor cannot claim to pre-empt equity of redemption only.—Where property subject to a mortgage has been sold and the vendee has redeemed the mortgage before the institution of a suit for pre-emption, the pre-emptor cannot claim to pre-empt only the equity of redemption. He must pay the whole amount of the purchase-money, including the mortgage money paid by the vendee, before he can be allowed to pre-empt the property. SHAHBA KHAN v. FAZAL DIN, 43 P.R. 1912=13 Ind. Cas. 430=74 P.W.R. 1912=97 P.L.R. 1912. [93 P.R. 1902, D.]

(89)—Pre-emption—Payment of large sum before registration of sale-deed—Consideration.—Held, that, where, in the case of sale of immoveable property subject to pre-emption a large sum of money, e.g., Rs 500, is alleged to have been paid probably without a receipt one day before registration of the deed of sale, a very strong evidence to prove its payment is required and mere oral testimony of witnesses especially who happen to be personal friends of the vendee is not sufficient to rebut the presumption that fictitious items are very often entered in the sale-deeds with a view to defraud the pre-emptors. BHIKU MAL v. NANAK CHAND, 134 P.W.R. 1912=16 Ind. Cas. 495.

(90)—Pre-emption—Vendee drawing money deposited by pre-emptor in Court—Appeal, right of, if affected by such withdrawal—Pre-emption suit about land—Jurisdiction value less than Rs. 5,000 under rules—Decree given on payment of more than Rs. 5,000—Appeal from such decree, whether lies to the Divisional Court or to the Chief Court.—Held, that a vendee-appellant in a pre-emption case is not precluded from proceeding with his appeal against the pre-emption decree, merely because he withdraws from the Court the purchase-money deposited by the pre-emptor in pursuance of the pre-emption decree. (16 P.R. 1907=127 P.W.R. 1907, F.) Held, also, that, in a pre-emption suit relating to land of which the value for purposes of jurisdiction under the Suits Valuation Act is less than Rs. 5,000, but in which a decree has been passed by the Court of first instance on payment of more than Rs. 5,000, an appeal lies to the Divisional Court and not to the Chief Court. IFTIKHAR ALI v. THAKAR SINGH, 170 P.W.R. 1912=83 P.R. 1912=15 Ind. Cas. 347. (16 P.R. 1908=18 P.W.R. 1907, 58 P.R. 1902, D.)

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(91)—Valuation of suit—Appeal—Jurisdiction—Pre-emption suit.—Held, that, for purposes of determining the course of appeal in a pre-emption suit, the value for purposes of jurisdiction must only be looked at, and not the amount which the pre-emptors may have to pay. GUJAR v. FATTEH JANG, 201 P.W.R. 1912=225 P.L.R. 1912=15 Ind. Cas. 407. (170 P.W.R. 1912=15 Ind. Cas. 347, F.; 16 P.R. 1908=73 P.W.R. 1907, F.B., 38 P.W.R. 1908, F.B., D.)

(92)—Pre-emption—Joint purchase—Sale when divisible—Burden of proving divisibility on vendee—Vendee joining stranger with him in sale, effect of—Punjab Pre-emption Act II of (1905), ss. 11, 12—Limitation—Lower appellate Court wrongly returning appeal for presentation to Chief Court—Appeal then presented to Chief Court—Transfer of appeal by Chief Court to its own file.—In order that a sale may count as divisible, the mere specification in the sale deed of the shares of each vendee in the property sold is not sufficient, and a vendee who claims that the sale is divisible must show that, as a matter of fact, his purchase was a distinct and separate purchase. A vendee who joins a stranger with him in the sale cannot claim any status higher than that of his co-vendee. Where one of two rival pre-emptors is a member of an agricultural tribe, while the other is qualified under the proviso to s. 11 of the Punjab-Pre-emption Act, both are eligible to compete under s. 12 of that Act. An appeal was presented within the period of limitation to the Divisional Court. But that Court, taking a wrong view of the jurisdiction value, returned it for presentation to the Chief Court, where it was filed after the period of limitation had expired. Held, that, as the appeal was presented in time to the Divisional Court, it was not barred. To save further delay and trouble, the Chief Court, instead of returning the appeal for presentation to the Divisional Court, treated it as transferred from that Court to its own file. KHOTA RAM v. MAUJ DIN, 276 P.W.R. 1912=16 Ind. Cas. 979.

(93)—Pre-emption—Limitation—Transferee from vendee added as defendant—Starting point of limitation—Nature of claim—Parties—Limitation Act, 1908, s. 22 sch. I, arts. 10, 120.—Held, that where, in a suit for pre-emption instituted within limitation against the original vendee, a transferee from the original vendee (by assignment of a date previous to the date of the institution of the suit) is added as a defendant after limitation has expired as against the original vendee the claim as against the transferee is governed not by art. 10, Limitation Act (1908) but by art. 120, and the starting point of limitation is the date of the transfer made by the original vendee in favour of the transferee. (25 P.R. 1903, 107 P.R. 1907=99 P.W.R. 1907, overruled; 13 Ind. Cas. 645=9 A.L.J. 211, F.) Held, also that (1) art. 10 applies only to a suit against the original purchaser under the sale sought to be impeached and takes no cognizance of the second vendee to whom the subject of the first sale has been transferred subsequently. (2) The second vendee not being a party to the sale sought to be pre-empted, no cause of action accrues to the pre-emptor as against him by reason of that sale. Held, further that (1) a right of pre-emption which is sought to be enforced by a pre-emptor by suit always arises in respect of a particular sale which furnishes him with a definite cause of action; the only parties against whom he has that cause of action are the parties to the sale sought to be impeached, and a subsequent transferee from the original vendee is not directly concerned in or affected by the suit for pre-emption as originally brought: (2) The suit as regards the second vendee added as a defendant cannot be regarded as a suit for pre-emption. KARAM DAD v. ALI MUHAMMAD, 28 P.W.R. 1913, F.B.=61 P.L.R. 1913=31 P.R. 1913=18 Ind. Cas. 70. (6 P.R. 1909=7 P.W.R. 1909=1 Ind. Cas. 91, 11 P.R. 1893, 84 P.R. 1911=270 P.W.R. 1911=13 Ind. Cas. 792, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

(94)—Pre-emption—Conditional decree—Deposit in Court of the decretal amount excepting costs of the suit—Sufficient compliance.—Where a pre-emptor deposited in Court the sum he was required to pay by the decree to the vendee, less the costs awarded to him, held that he had completely complied with the order of the Court. ALI HUSAIN v. AMIN ULLAH, 10 A.L.J. 153=15 Ind. Cas. 337=34 A. 596.

(95)—Pre-emption—Decree ordering payment within a certain time Payment not made—Appeal whether maintainable.—In a suit for pre-emption, the decree for possession was made conditional upon the plaintiff paying the purchase-money into Court within one month. The plaintiff appealed against the condition laid down by the first Court. The month expired during the pendency of the appeal and the money was not deposited. The appellate Court dismissed the suit on the ground that the condition had not been fulfilled: held that the condition itself having been the subject of appeal, the suit should not have been dismissed on that ground. KURSHED-UN-NISSA v. ALIM-UN-NISSA, 10 A.L.J. 421.

(96)—Pre-emption—Pre-emptive clause—How far binding on heirs—Rule against perpetuities how far applicable to such contracts.—A pre-emptive clause that 'in the event of my selling, I shall sell it to you' is not binding on the heirs of the covenantor. An agreement to convey is not enforceable when the option to sell is exercised by the heirs when the document says 'if I sell.' A mere personal contract cannot be questioned on the ground that it is obnoxious to the Rule of Perpetuity. But a contract which gives the promisee an executory interest in land is subject to the rule of perpetuities, even though there is no distinction in India between legal and equitable estates. KOTATHU IYER v. RANGA VADHYAR, M.W.N. 1913, 163 = 24 M.L.J. 84 = 13 M.L.T. 179 = 18 Ind. Cas. 203.

Pre-emption—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

See PUN. ACT IV OF 1872, s. 9, 16 P.L.R. 1901.

Custom of, in respect to houses exists in Taraf Ravi, sub-division of Multan City—See PUN. ACT IV OF 1872, s. 11, 85 P.L.R. 1907.

See PUN. ACT IV OF 1872, s. 12 (a), 18 P.L.R. 1902 = 111 P.R. 1901, 103 P.L.R. 1904 = 94 P.R. 1904.

See PUN. ACT IV OF 1872, s. 12 (b), 95 P.L.R. 1904.

See PUN. ACT IV OF 1872, s. 13, 22 P.R. 1901.

See PUN. ACT XVIII OF 1884, s. 39, 88 P.L.R. 1901 = 32 P.R. 1901.

Right of, where pre-emptor and vendee are co-sharers—See PUN. ACT II OF 1905, ss. 2, cl. (3) and 14, 83 P.R. 1907.

Creation of occupancy rights—Pre-emption—See PUN. ACT II OF 1905, ss. 4, 5, 121 P.L.R. 1911.

Suit for—Member of the same agricultural tribe as vendor entitled to pre-emption over a mere "agriculturist"—See PUN. ACT II OF 1905, s. 11, 101 P.R. 1907 = 70 P.W.R. 1907 = 174 P.L.R. 1908.

Pre-emptor executing an agreement to sell his own property—Effect—See PUN. ACT II OF 1905, ss. 13 (1) Seventhly and 13 (2) (a), 93 P.W.R. 1911.

Where no right exists to sue for—Vendor having no proprietary or under-proprietary right in land occupied by the house sold—See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, s. 7, 4 O.C. 26.

Suit for—See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, Ch. II, s. 9, 4 O.C. 365.

Suit for—See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, s. 9, cls. (1) & (2), 7 O.C. 129.

See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, s. 9, cl. (3), 24 A. 420 = A.W.N. 1902, 106.

See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, ss. 9, 10, 11, 13, 2 O.C. 9.

Suit for—Market-value, when necessary to determine—See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, ss. 10, 11, 12, 13, 10 O.C. 179.

Suit for—Court fixing price at fair market-value if fictitious price entered in sale-deed—Price to be paid by the pre-emptor when fictitious price entered in sale-deed—See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, Ch. II, s. 13, 4 O.C. 158.

See APPEAL—ORDERS, 13 A. 189, F.B., 16 A. 126 = A.W.N. 1894, 3.

Conditional pre-emption decree—See APPEAL—ORDERS, 13 A. 376, F.B.

Pre-emption—continued.

—1.—General—continued.

See APPEAL—MISCELLANEOUS, A.W.N. 1888, 22.

Sale of separate divided share in a survey number—See BERAR LAND REVENUE CODE, ss. 4 and 205, 3 N.L.R. 135.

Transfer by co-occupant of divided share in a survey number partly for cash and partly in exchange for other land—Right of pre-emption—See BERAR LAND REVENUE CODE, ss. 69, 205, 3 N.L.R. 138.

Suit for—See BERAR LAND REVENUE CODE, ss. 206, 211, sub-s. 1, cl. (a), 3 N.L.R. 84.

See BUDDHIST LAW—ANCESTRAL PROPERTY, L.B.R. 1872—1892, 39.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 11, O. II, rr. 1, 2 A.W.N. 1881, 163.

Money paid on pre-emption decree—Amount increased on appeal—Suit for refund of money paid by assignee of right—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 47, 10 A. 354 = A.W.N. 1883, 57.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, s. 104, O. XLIII, r. 1, ss. 106, 105, 140 P.L.R. 1904 = 14 P.R. 1904.

Owner of grove land not assessed to revenue cannot resist co-sharer's suit for—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. I, r. 8 (1), 4 A.L.J. 541 = A.W.N. 1907, 239.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XIV, rr. 1, 2 and 5, A.W.N. 1887, 247.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XX, r. 14, 20 M. 305, A.W.N. 1895, 13.

Suit for—Sale of property in court auction—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, r. 80, A.W.N. 1888, 208.

Pre-emption suit—Dismissal of suit on one finding—Finding reversed by appellate Court—Decree without considering defendant's objections to other findings—Effect—Revision—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1903, O. XLI, r. 22, 202 P.L.R. 1911.

See COSTS—SPECIAL CASES, A.W.N. 1884, 34.

Suit for pre-emption of separate plots of land not being a fractional of a revenue paying unit—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, ss. 5, 7, ces. v (d) vi, A.W.N. 1894, 174.

Appeal by purchaser—See COURT-FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7 (1) and (VI), 6 A. 488 = A.W.N. 1884, 179.

See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, cls. v (d) VI, 16 A. 493 = A.W.N. 1894, 124, 6 P.R. 1883.

Suit for—On transfer of equity of redemption, of house—See COURT-FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, cl. (VI), 123 P.L.R. 1903.

See CUSTOM, 2 Agra, 120, 3 Agra, 75.

See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—ALIENATION, 72 P.L.R. 1904.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

See DECREE—DECREE, CONSTRUCTION OF, 1 A. 132, A.W.N. 1886, 300.

Pre-emption—Conditional decree—Civ. Pro. Code. 1877, s. 214—Computation of period specified for payment of purchase-money—period ending on a holiday—See DECREE—DECREE, CONSTRUCTION OF, 3 A. 850=A.W.N. 1881, 100.

Decree—Omission to declare effect of non-payment of price—Limitation—See DECREE—DECREE, CONSTRUCTION OF, 14 A. 529=A.W.N. 1892, 106.

Suit for—Deposit of purchase-money—Appellate Court, powers of—See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, 2 A. 744.

See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, 3 A. 753=A.W.N. 1881, 54, 6 A. 370=A.W.N. 1884, 119.

See DEED—CONSTRUCTION OF DEEDS, A.W.N. 1886, 278.

See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT, 104 P.R. 1882, 155 P.R. 1882, 131 P.R. 1890, 139 P.R. 1894.

See ESTOPPEL—MISCELLANEOUS, 121 P.R. 1889.

Proof of custom of pre-emption—See EVIDENCE—DECREES, JUDGMENTS, AND PROCEEDINGS IN SUITS, 2 Agra, 120.

Pre-emption suits—Decree in former suits—Evidence of custom—See EVIDENCE—DECREES, JUDGMENTS AND PROCEEDINGS IN SUITS, 10 A. 585=A.W.N. 1888, 242.

Authority of settlement officer to make entry as to pre-emption—Probative value of entry—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 35, 25 A. 90=A.W.N. 1902, 207.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE—APPEAL, REVIEW ETC., EXECUTION OF DECREE AFTER, 11 A. 346=A.W.N. 1889, 127.

Pre-emptor denying locus standi of deceased vendee's sons to appeal—Whether he can give them a locus standi to execute his decree—Estoppel—See EXECUTION OF DECREE—MISCELLANEOUS, 174 P.L.R. 1911.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, A.W.N. 1895, 84.

Widow in possession of immoveable property by family arrangement with strict conditions against alienation—See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, A.W.N. 1895, 85.

See INTEREST—CASES WHERE INTEREST WAS NOT SPECIFICALLY PROVIDED FOR, 3 A. 610, F.B.

See JOINDER OF CAUSES OF ACTION, 17 A. 274=A.W.N. 1895, 76.

See JOINDER OF PARTIES, 80 P.R. 1888, 42 P.R. 1891, 29 P.R. 1894, 102 P.R. 1894, 19 P.R. 1898.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

Suit for, of Revenue paying land—Incompetency of Court to give decree for possession on payment of amount exceeding its pecuniary jurisdiction—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 79 P.W.R. 1907.

Claim for, of revenue paying land—Powers of Court—See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS, 73 P.W.R. 1907=16 P.R. 1908=146 P.L.R. 1903.

See JUSTICE, EQUITY AND GOOD CONSCIENCE, 8 P.R. 1893.

See LANDOWNER, 7 P.R. 1896.

Suit for pre-emption—Pleader's fee—Principle of assessment—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER—REMUNERATION, 1 A. 709.

Pleader's fees, how to be calculated in a suit for—Oudh Civil Digest, para 288, r. 4—Decree, amendment of—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 206—See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS—PLEADER—REMUNERATION, 7 O.C. 43.

Mortgage by way of conditional sale—See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 120 P.L.R. 1901=103 P.R. 1901.

Pre-emption, suit for—Sale by vendee to stranger—Latter not made party—Expiry of period of limitation—Effect—See LIMITATION—GENERAL, 84 P.R. 1911.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 12, A.W.N. 1883, 4.

Suit for—Valuation—Appeal—Jurisdiction—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 14, 163 P.W.R. 1911=11 Ind. Cas. 880=244 P.L.R. 1911.

Pre-emption suit—Sale ostensibly in favour of one person—Real purchaser another person—Active concealment—Fraud—Limitation—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 18, 156 P.L.R. 1911=10 Ind. Cas. 114=186 P.W.R. 1911=89 P.R. 1911.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 18, 120 P.R. 1883, 27 P.L.R. 1903.

Suit for pre-emption—Fraudulent concealment of sale by purchaser—Fraud—Assignment of immoveable property by husband to wife in lieu of dower—Sale—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 18, 86 P.R. 1902.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 18, art. 10, A.W.N. 1882, 7.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 28, art. 10, 20 M. 305.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 120, 4 A. 414=A.W.N. 1882, 83, 5 A. 187=A.W.N. 1882, 212, 14 A. 405, F.B.=A.W.N. 1892, 108, A.W.N. 1886, 69, 7 O.C. 1.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ART. 182—MISCELLANEOUS, 47 P.R. 1898.

See LISPENDENS, 102 P.R. 1888.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—continued.

See MALABAR LAW—MORTGAGE, 5 M. 198, 13 M. 490, 15 M. 480=2 M.L.J. 231, 1 M.L.J. 485.

Suit for—Mortgage of right in the property sought to be pre-empted—Mortgagee obtains a charge—Valid mortgage—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 4 A.L.J. 57=A.W.N. 1907, 7=29 A. 163.

See MORTGAGE—FORECLOSURE, 6 A. 344=A.W.N. 1884, 110.

Malabar Law — Othidar's right of—See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 17 M.L.J. 329=2 M.L.T. 354=30 M. 388.

See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION, 22 A. 238=A.W.N. 1900, 49.

Suit for—Limitation—Dispute as to share sold—Amendment of plaint beyond limitation—See PLAINT—AMENDMENT OF PLAINT, 8 A.L.J. 636.

Suit for pre-emption—Error in plaint in extent of property claimed—Power of Court as to amendment—See PLAINT—AMENDMENT OF PLAINT, 17 A. 288=A.W.N. 1895, 80.

Ground of—in plaint—See PLAINT—AMENDMENT OF PLAINT, 1 B.L.R. S.N. 126=10 W.R. 189.

Suit for pre-emption—Amendment of plaint as to price at last stage—Court may refuse—See PLAINT—AMENDMENT OF PLAINT, 1 A. 591.

See PLAINT—REJECTION OF PLAINT, 12 A. 553=A.W.N. 1889, 185.

See POSSESSION—EVIDENCE OF POSSESSION AND TITLE, 4 B.L.R. App. 21.

Suits by rival pre-emptors—Final decision in one suit operates as res judicata in the other—See RES JUDICATA—ADJUDICATIONS, 104 P. L.R. 1903.

Suit for—Appeal filed beyond time owing to erroneous advice given by pleader—"Sufficient cause," for admitting appeal filed beyond time—Limitation Act, s. 5—See RES JUDICATA—ADJUDICATIONS, 5 O.C. 384.

See RES JUDICATA—MATTERS IN ISSUE, A.W.N. 1881, 47, A.W.N. 1889, 175.

Different pre-emption suits regarding sale of same property—Appeal in one suit—Res judicata—See RES JUDICATA—MISCELLANEOUS, 1 A.L.J. 466.

See RES JUDICATA—MISCELLANEOUS, 26 A. 61, F.B.=A.W.N. 1903, 196.

See REVISION—GENERAL, 179 P.L.R. 1901=21 P.R. 1902.

See SPECIAL OR SECOND APPEAL—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE IN SPECIAL APPEAL, 8 A. 172, F.B.=A.W.N. 1886, 35.

Pre-emption—continued.—1.—General—concluded.

See SUITS VALUATION ACT, 1887, s. 11, 2 O.C. 103, 173 P.L.R. 1903=74 P.R. 1903, Note.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, ss. 54, 60, 24 M. 449.

Suit for pre-emption—See VALUATION OF SUITS, 38 P.L.R. 1902.

Value of suit stated in plaint—Pre-emption suit—See VALUATION OF SUITS, P.L.R. 1900, 538.

Suit for pre-emption—Valuation of suit—See VALUATION OF SUITS, 3 B.L.R. App. 143=14 W.R. 230, Note.

Suit for—Valuation of suit appeal—Transfer of appeal—See VALUATION OF SUITS, 215 P. L.R. 1908.

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER—BREACH OF WARRANTY, 4 A. 357=A.W.N. 1882, 67.

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 A. 324, F.B.=A.W.N. 1883, 51, 17 A. 451=A.W.N. 1895, 103.

—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz.

(1)—Mahomedan law—Wajib-ul-arz.—Differing from pre-emption under the Mahomedan law, pre-emption under a wajib-ul-arz is most frequently stipulated to arise on occasions of temporary alienations by way of mortgage, as well as on occasions of absolute alienation. Under the ordinary wajib-ul-arz, the parties admit that by agreement or otherwise they have no right to alien to a stranger unless an offer has before alienation been made by the co-parcener desirous of aliening to the other co-parceners, which they have refused to accept. Under the Mahomedan law, the right does not accrue until the sale has been actually made; according to some authorities too, pre-emption under the Mahomedan law is confined to property in towns, such as houses and garden or small walled enclosures, and to such property only; while the wajib-ul-arz deals principally with the holdings of the agricultural community. If no clear expression is found that the parties intended that the Mahomedan right of pre-emption should be recorded as prevailing, and if, on the contrary, the records indicate a course differing from the requirements of the Mahomedan law to be pursued by the vendor and the would be purchaser, then, the stipulations of the wajib-ul-arz and those stipulations alone are to be regarded, and the Court must pass its decree with reference to the proof afforded that those stipulations have or have not been performed. It is a condition precedent to right to a decree in a suit for pre-emption, that the claimant makes known his intention of purchasing or making the mortgage with reasonable diligence on the conveyance becoming known to him. CHOWDHREE BRIJ LALL v. RAJAH GOOR SUHAI, Agra F.B. 128. [R., 5 A. 110, 9 A. 513, 12 A. 234, 28 A. 590=3 A.L.J. 338=A.W.N. 1906, 144.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(2)—Muhammadan law, when applicable.—Where the wajib-ul-arz defines and declares what the custom is and the mode in which that custom is to be exercised and regulated, viz., that the right of pre-emption vests primarily in the co-sharer ek-jaddi, and secondly in the co-sharer of the village, and, as to both of them, there is the proviso that they must give the same price for the property sold as a stranger was prepared to give, held that a suit for pre-emption brought by an admitted co-sharer against a stranger, was to be decided according to the special custom defined in the wajib-ul-arz and not according to the general custom recognised by the Muhammadan law. JASODA NAND v. KANDHAIYA LAL, 13 A. 373 = A.W.N. 1891, 136. (9 A. 513, D.)

(3)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of documents—Muhammadan law.—The pre-emptive clauses of a wajib-ul-arz contained the following provision:—"The zamindar of the khalsa is one person; hence there is no custom of pre-emption in the khalsa; but among the owners of the khalsa and milks the following customs of pre-emption obtains." The khalsa subsequently came to have more owners than one. Held that no right of pre-emption was given by this wajib-ul-arz to the owners of the khalsa inter se, but that a sale of a share in the khalsa was subject to the Muhammadan law of pre-emption, and this irrespective of the fact that the vendee was a Hindu. RAM LAL v. BAHADUR ALI, A.W.N. 1908, 153=30 A. 372=5 A. L.J. 414. (7 A. 775, 22 A. 102, 19 A. 466, R.)

(4)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz, suit on—Parties found to have equal rights—Mahomedan Law—Importing incidents of.—Where pre-emption is claimed on the basis of a wajib-ul-arz, whether the wajib-ul-arz records a custom or a contract, no incidents not mentioned in the record ought to be imported into it, unless the manifest intention of the parties is that they should be so imported. Plaintiffs sued on the basis of a wajib-ul-arz. It was found that both parties had equal rights of purchase. The plaintiffs argued that, the parties being Mahomedans and both parties being equally entitled to purchase, they were entitled to get a decree for half the property. Held that, the case being a case on the basis of a wajib-ul-arz, no incidents of Mahomedan Law, not mentioned in it, could be taken into consideration. MUHAMMAD SALIM v. SARDARUD-DIN BEG, 7 A.L.J. 660=7 Ind. Cas. 263.

(5)—Wajib-ul-arz—Custom of pre-emption—Specification in the first wajib-ul-arz—Custom mentioned in the second wajib-ul-arz without specification—Muhammadan Law.—Where the wajib-ul-arz of 1864 gave a right of pre-emption to near brethern &c., and at the settlement of 1883 the wajib-ul-arz prepared only mentioned that the custom of pre-emption was accepted; held, that the custom referred to was a custom as recorded in the wajib-ul-arz of 1864 and not a custom under the Muhammadan Law. POKHAR SINGH v. MUHAMMAD HUSSAIN KHAN, 3 A.L.J. 451=A.W.N. 1906, 205=28 A. 679.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(6)—Pre-emption—Custom or contract—Interpretation of document—Wajib-ul-arz—Variation of language—Regulation VII of 1822.—In a suit for pre-emption, wajib-ul-arzes of 1833 and 1869 were produced; the preamble to the former was worded thus:—"Having well understood the following matters we willingly accept them;" it then dealt with the right of pre-emption in the following terms, "mode of sale or transfer of whole or part of share," giving the right of pre-emption to co-sharers as against strangers, and concluded with the words: "therefore we write this ikrarnama so that it may be of use in future." The wajib-ul-arz of 1869 provided that "near co-sharers and other pattidars would have the right of pre-emption. Preference amongst them would be according to degrees of nearness:"—Held (Stanley, C.J. dissenting), the wajib-ul-arzes contained the record of custom and not of contract. Per Stanley, C.J.:—A custom to be binding must be unaltered, uniform, constant and definite. If the settlement of 1833 recorded a custom, then the co-sharers in the village at the time of the later settlement of 1869 must be deemed to have abrogated it and to have adopted by agreement the right of pre-emption which is recorded in the later wajib-ul-arz as more suitable to the then existing conditions. The variance in the rights as defined in the two wajib-ul-arzes leads to the conclusion that the right recorded in 1869 cannot be treated as a right existing by custom. Per Knox and Chamier, JJ.—The word igrar does not necessarily mean a contract. It means ratification or assent. Per Chamier, J.—In construing a wajib-ul-arz, one must have regard to the document as a whole and bear in mind the law and instructions, if any, under which, and the circumstances in which, the document was prepared. The history of the preparation of these wajib-ul-arzes shows that there is a strong presumption that what is entered in them regarding pre-emption is the record of a custom. There is not necessarily any contradiction between the two wajib-ul-arzes. The earlier gives the right of pre-emption to co-sharers, so also does the later. It is incontestable that, if the earlier wajib-ul-arz were the only record of the custom, oral evidence might be given to supplement it; and the later wajib-ul-arz being presumably more correct may be relied upon to supplement the earlier. The provisions of Regulation VII of 1822, discussed by Knox, J. RETURAJI DUBAIN v. PAHALWAN BHAGAT, 7 A.L.J. 1040, F.B.=7 Ind. Cas. 680.

(7)—Pre-emption—Custom or contract—Preamble of wajib-ul-arz—Variation.—The use of the word "agreement" in the preamble clause of a wajib-ul-arz and a slight variation in the pre-emptive clauses of the two successive wajib-ul-arzes are not sufficient to establish that the document records only a contract of pre-emption. LALA NARASINGH PRASAD v. SHIVA TAHAL RAI, 7 Ind. Cas. 573.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*cld.

(8)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Effect of preamble—Variation in terms—Custom or contract.—The preamble of the wajib-ul-arz of a mahal for 1860 opened with the words:—"We willingly and with full understanding subscribe to what follows." The wajib-ul-arz then recorded: "This is our ancestral zemindari and its settlement has been made with us. Hence willingly and having understood, we write down the following clauses and shall act according to them." The right of pre-emption was thereafter given to certain co-sharers. Held that the record was a record of custom and not of contract, inasmuch as the rules prevailing at the time directed the Settlement Officer to record a custom which he found existing in the village. The wajib-ul-arz of 1833 provided as follows:—"Whoever from among us wishes to transfer either the whole or part of his share by means of sale or mortgage, it is proper that he should give information to the shareholders of the village—the sale or mortgage to be at the price appointed. In the event of a proper price not being taken or given, it is in his power to transfer to whom he likes." The terms contained in the wajib-ul-arz of 1860 ran as follows:—"Every shareholder is empowered to transfer his share, and at the time of transfer it will be proper that first he should give information to his near shareholders, and, in the event of their refusing, to other shareholders of the village and sell or mortgage at the proper price." Held that there was no real or substantial difference between the terms of the two wajib-ul-arzes. The record of 1833 recorded the custom in brief and general terms, the record of 1860 set out the custom in greater detail. HUB LAL TEWARI GANGA SAHU, 7 A.L.J. 519=6 Ind. Cas. 151. [F., 6 Ind. Cas. 704, 7 Ind. Cas. 573; Appr., 7 A.L.J. 1040=7 Ind. Cas. 680; D., 6 Ind. Cas. 839.]

(9)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Contract—Custom.—In 1862 the co-sharers of a village filed an agreement, which was to take effect "la miad bandobast" and which contained a record of a right of pre-emption; but at a subsequent settlement the right of pre-emption was recorded as a prevailing custom. Held, that the subsequent wajib-ul-arz should be read together with the former and that the record of the right of pre-emption should be taken as a record of contract. KESHO RAM v. AJUDHIA NATH, 6 A.L.J. 9=1 Ind. Cas. 82. [R., 3 Ind. Cas. 640.]

(10)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Partition—No new wajib-ul-arz—Custom or contract—Interpretation of document.—Where, in a suit for pre-emption, the wajib-ul-arz of the settlement of 1863 contained the provisions as to pre-emption in the words "for the future, if any Khewatdar wishes to sell or mortgage, etc.," and the wajib-ul-arz of the settlement of 1890 contained the clause "whatever customs exist in the village they are to be found entered in the wajib-ul-arz prepared at the last settlement," there being no new wajib-ul-arz framed upon partition of the village in 1896 subsequently to the second settlement, held, that the provisions made at the first settlement in regard to pre-emption was the recital of a contract, and the significant silence of the latest wajib-ul-arz in regard to any right of pre-emption showed that the co-sharers did not wish to keep up the contract. TOTA v. SHEO NARAIN, 6 A.L.J. 715=3 Ind. Cas. 534. [Overruled, 31 A. 533=6 A.L.J. 779=3 Ind. Cas. 2.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*cld.

(11)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Custom or contract.—The chapter of a wajib-ul-arz dealing, amongst other matters, with pre-emption commenced with a general heading applicable alike to relations based upon custom or upon contract, but the special heading of the clause relating to pre-emption was:—"Das-tur dar-bab haq shafa." Held that this imported a custom and not a contract (A.W.N. 1907, 308, D.) Held, also, that a custom securing to co-sharers a right of pre-emption at a fixed price per bigha, without reference to the actual price paid by a stranger, was a custom the enforcement of which, when proved, could not be refused. HUSAIN ALI v. MUHAMMAD UMAR, A.W.N. 1908, 98. (10 A. 621, A.W.N. 1887, 76, R.)

(12)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Custom or contract.—A village wajib-ul-arz under the heading—"As to the transfer of property by sale, mortgage, gift or inheritance, and practice of pre-emption (rasm shafa)"—recorded as follows:—"At present no portion of the share of any co-sharer has been transferred by mortgage. Every co-sharer, with the exception of Musammats Jamil-un-nissa and Alim-un-nissa, whose shares are in the possession of Ahmad Husain and Barkat Ali, is at liberty to transfer the whole or part of his share in future. No pre-emption suit has as yet been brought or decided. We agree that the custom of the right of pre-emption should prevail in future (Ayanda jari rakhna rawaj haq shafa kamanzur hai)." Held that this language indicated the making of a contract amongst the co-sharers and not the keeping alive of a pre-existing custom of pre-emption. TASADDUQ HUSAIN KHAN v. ALI HUSAIN KHAN, A.W.N. 1908, 121=5 A.L.J. 470. (A.W.N. 1905, 16, D.)

(13)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Custom or contract.—The wajib-ul-arz, bearing date 1872, of a village, in respect of the sale of land in which a claim for pre-emption was made, contained, under the heading "Rights amongst co-sharers based on custom or special agreement," the following provision as to the price to be paid by pre-emptors:—"If there be a difference between a seller and a pre-emptor as regards the amount of price, it shall be settled as follows:—In case of sale, Re. 1 per kachha bigha of the culturable land, and in case of mortgage, annas eight per kachha bigha of the culturable land." This provision did not re-appear in the existing settlement. Held that the provision above set forth indicated the existence of a contract between the co-sharers, and not of a custom. JAGAN NATH SINGH v. LULAR KUNWAR, A.W.N. 1906, 308. (8 A. 102, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(14)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Custom or contract.—The zamindars of a village in the district of Saharanpur, in a wajib-ul-arz attested on the 8th November 1861, declared they would "be bound by and act upon the undermentioned conditions" for thirty years, until the completion of the next settlement. Amongst the "undermentioned conditions" were certain conditions relating to the right of pre-emption. A fresh settlement was commenced in 1890, and in the wajib-ul-arz prepared at that settlement it was provided that "as to the remaining customs in the village the record of rights prepared at the former settlement is to be looked at." Held that the earlier wajib-ul-arz recorded, not a custom, but a contract, which came to an end with the term of the settlement, and the later wajib-ul-arz could not be construed as the record of a custom after the lapse of only thirty years; there was therefore no right of pre-emption in the village. MARATIB HUSAIN v. ALAM ALI, A.W.N. 1907, 285. [R., 30 A. 544=A.W.N. 1908, 246.]

(15)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Contract or custom.—Where the recital in a wajib-ul-arz does not clearly show that it is the record of a contract it must be held to be record of custom. Where a wajib-ul-arz provided that co-sharers wished to "record the matters entered below and that they will remain bound by it," and in matters of transfer it provided that, at the time of transfer, "it shall be necessary (lazim hoga)" for a co-sharer to transfer to his co-sharers, held that the recital was not a record of contract and that the words lazim hoga did not make it a record of contract. It is always dangerous to construe one wajib-ul-arz by another. BALDEO SAHAI v. NAGAI AHIR, 3 A.L.J. 850=A.W.N. 1907, 17. (A.W.N. 1897, 3, F). [F., 7 A.L.J. 519=6 Ind. Cas. 151; R., 7 A.L.J. 902, F.B.]

(16)—Pre-emption—Interpretation of document—Custom or contract—Three wajib-ul-arzes.—A custom is constant and unvarying.—Hence, where three wajib-ul-arzes of three different settlements were produced, each of which recorded the right of pre-emption, but in different terms, viz., in the first of them the right was given to co-sharers generally, in the second, to two classes of pre-emptors without preference among co-sharers in the same thok, and in the third, to three classes of pre-emptors reserving preference for a pattidar in a thok in which the property sold was situate over pattidars of the village, held (Banerji, J., dissenting) that the record was one of contract and not of custom. DIP NARAIN SINGH v. BHAGWAT SINGH, 8 A.L.J. 401. (7 A.L.J. 1040, D.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(17)—Suit to enforce right of pre-emption—Co-sharers—Pre-emption based on wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Contract—Custom.—This was a suit to enforce a right of pre-emption by the plaintiffs, two brothers and co-sharers in a village, in respect of a sale by another co-sharer M of his share in the plaint land to the defendant, a stranger. The claim for pre-emption was based on the wajib-ul-arz, and the clause therein relating to pre-emption was entitled "of transfer of property and the right of pre-emption" and it also prohibited any co-sharer from alienating his share to any person except to another co-sharer. The defendant contended inter alia that the wajib-ul-arz, not having been signed by his vendor M, was not binding on M and that the custom of pre-emption did not prevail in the village. The lower appellate Court dismissed the suit, holding that the clause in the wajib-ul-arz relating to pre-emption was like a contract, and that it was not binding on the defendant's vendor M as it was not proved that M had caused it to be recorded or verified. From this decision, the plaintiffs preferred a second appeal to the High Court, contending that the clause in the wajib-ul-arz relating to pre-emption was a record of custom and that the lower appellate Court had placed a wrong construction on its terms. Held, reversing the lower appellate Court's decree and decreeing the claim, that, looking at the terms of the wajib-ul-arz, the clause in respect of pre-emption could not be regarded in the limited light of a contract which would not be binding upon any but those who were parties to it. The wajib-ul-arz having been prepared in accordance with the Revenue law governing such matters there was every presumption in favour of the existence of the custom of pre-emption in the village. UDEY RAM v. MAULA, A.W.N. 1885, 189.

(18)—Wajib-ul-arz—Custom—Contract—Interpretation of document.—The plaintiff sued for pre-emption, basing his suit upon the wajib-ul-arz, but not stating whether he relied on a custom or on a contract. The defendant objected that the plaintiff had refused to sign the wajib-ul-arz, and therefore could not sue upon it. The chapter of the wajib-ul-arz, upon which the plaintiff relied was headed:—"The private rights of the sharers and the particular customs and agreements,"—and detailed the practice in the village as to pre-emption, first, in the case of sales, and, secondly, in the case of mortgages. The defendant gave no evidence as to the non-existence of any custom of pre-emption in the village. Held that the recital contained in the wajib-ul-arz was good evidence of a custom of pre-emption prevailing in the village, and that the mere fact of the plaintiff not having signed the wajib-ul-arz would not disentitle him from suing upon it. MAJIDAN BIBI v. SHEIKH HAYATAN, A.W.N. 1897, 3. [R., 25 A. 90, F.B., 6 A.L.J. 779, 2 A.L.J. 790=A.W.N. 1905, 266, 3 A.L.J. 850; F., 26 A. 10, A.W.N. 1907, 17, 2 A.L.J. 6=A.W.N. 1905, 16.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(19)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Custom or contract—Silence as to right of pre-emption in wajib-ul-arz of last settlement—Duties of settlement officers when preparing record of rights.—Where, in a suit for pre-emption, the wajib-ul-arz of 1833 made no mention of the right and the subsequent wajib-ul-arz of 1863 referred to the right of pre-emption in the following terms: "In future, everyone would be entitled to transfer, etc.," but the wajib-ul-arz prepared at the settlement of 1890 was silent as to any right of pre-emption existing in the village; held, that the record of 1863 was one of custom and that the silence of the record of rights of the latest settlement in respect to pre-emption was not a silence from which any inference opposed to the existence of the right of pre-emption could be drawn, inasmuch as the rules framed for the settlement of the district, under s. 257 of Act XIX of 1873, did not require the settlement officer to put on record any custom of pre-emption. HARNAND v. KALLU, 6 A.L.J. 779=31 A. 533=3 Ind. Cas. 2.

(20)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Contract or custom—Absence of proof that the record is one of contract—Presumption. The preamble of the wajib-ul-arz of a village in the district of Shabjahanpur contained the words 'dar bab haq shafa.' It recited that, when a co-sharer has to sell and mortgage his haqeat, then at the time of transfer it will be incumbent that he should after giving information sell and mortgage for a proper price, etc., etc. Held that, unless it could be shown that the pre-emption clause was the embodiment of a contract, it was to be presumed to be a record of a custom. Held further that the words relating to pre-emption in the wajib-ul-arz in question recorded a custom and not a contract. Per Stanley, C.J.—The words "relating to a right of pre-emption" (dar bab haq shafa) applied equally well to a pre-emption existing by custom as to a right of pre-emption arising out of a contract. BHIM SEN v. MOTI RAM, 7 A.L.J. 902, F.B.=7 Ind. Cas. 181.

(21)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Custom or contract—Evidence.—Where, in support of the custom of pre-emption, no other evidence was adduced but a wajib-ul-arz of one settlement, and that wajib-ul-arz, on the face of it, dealt with a number of matters which could not be anything else than arrangements between the co-sharers adopted for the first time at the time of the settlement and binding only during the period of that particular settlement, held, that the custom had not been sufficiently proved. There is no class of evidence that is more likely to vary in value according to circumstances than that of the wajib-ul-arz. DHIAN KUNWAR v. DIWAN SINGH, 8 A.L.J. 786. (37 I. A. 191=7 A.L.J. 704, F.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(22)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Custom or contract.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village ran as follows:—"No suit for pre-emption had yet been brought or decided. We agree that the custom of the right of pre-emption should prevail in future." Held, that this was a record of a contract and not of an existing custom of pre-emption. KALYAN RAI v. HAKIM MUHAMMED MUSTAFA ALI KHAN, 9 Ind. Cas. 562. (A.W.N. 1908, 121, 5 A.L.J. 470, 32 A. 201, 5 Ind. Cas. 212, 7 A.L.J. 213, F.)

(23)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Custom or contract—Variation of Wajib-ul-arz, effect of.—The Wajib-ul-arz of 1833 contained the following provisions as to pre-emption: "If any of us wishes to transfer the whole or a portion of his share, he shall inform his co-sharers in the village, and shall sell or mortgage it to them at a fixed price; if any one transfers his share to a stranger without informing the co-sharers in the village, the transfer shall be invalid." The wajib-ul-arz of 1860 ran as follows:—"The near co-sharer of the man wishing to transfer his share shall have a right to take it and in case of his refusal the share shall be transferred to the other co-sharers in the thok, and in case of refusal by the latter, to a co-sharer in another thok." Held, that the wajib-ul-arzes were records of custom of pre-emption. RAGHUNATH PERSHAD TEWARI v. LACHMI NARAIN TEWARI, 9 Ind. Cas. 522. (7 Ind. Cas. 680, 7 A.L.J. 1040, F.B., F.)

(24)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arzes—Presumption as to custom or contract—Kaifiat sarishta nizamat—Rebutting evidence, sufficiency of.—In a suit for pre-emption, the plaintiff produced two wajib-ul-arzes of 1833 and 1860 respectively, which prima facie raised a presumption in favour of the custom of pre-emption. The defendant to rebut that presumption produced a kaifiat sarishta nizamat which showed that, prior to the preparation of the wajib-ul-arz of 1833, the village was owned by a single proprietor. It, however, contained no entry as regards the settlements of 1210 and 1213 F. The columns were blank and there was nothing to show whether there was any proprietor in those two years. Held, that the information contained in kaifiat sarishta nizamat was not such as to enable the Court to hold that it rebutted the prima facie evidence as to custom afforded by the wajib-ul-arz. CHHOTKAI CHOUDHRI v. RUDRA PRASAD TEWARI, 10 Ind. Cas. 323.

(25)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Custom or contract—Presumption—Rebutting evidence—Register of transfers, whether admissible in evidence to prove the fact of transfers—Evidence—Civ. Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), O. XLI, r. 24

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

—Power of Appellate Court to decide case on evidence on the record.—A register of transfers is admissible in evidence to prove the fact of transfers entered therein. The mere entry, however, in such a register that there have been transfers of sales, is not sufficient to rebut the presumption arising out of an entry in the wajib-ul-arz regarding the prevalence of the custom of pre-emption in the village. (7 A.L.J. 1040, 7 Ind. Cas. 680, R.) An Appellate Court has full power, under O. XLI, r. 24 of Act V of 1908, to decide, with reference to the evidence on the record, the issues left undetermined by the lower Court, without sending back the case to the Court below. BADRI DAS v. PAJAN, 10 Ind. Cas. 225.

(26)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Presumption—Custom or contract—Evidence rebutting presumption, sufficiency of.—In a pre-emption suit, the plaintiff relied upon two wajib-ul-arz of 1833 and 1860 which were prima facie evidence of custom. The defendant, in order to rebut the presumption arising out of the wajib-ul-arzes, produced a patwari who deposed that he had been a patwari for 18 years and that he had never heard of the existence of a custom of pre-emption in the village: Held, that such evidence was altogether insufficient to rebut the presumption. HARNARAIN NATH TEWARI v. TILAK DUBE, 10 Ind. Cas. 233.

(27)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation of document—Custom or contract—Abatement of suit—Share of each vendee specified in sale deed—Death of one such vendee.—In a suit for a pre-emption based upon the wajib-ul-arz the plaintiff relied upon an entry in the wajib-ul-arz of 1870, which gave a right of pre-emption to (1) a real brother, (2) a near brother and (3) other co-sharers in the village. The defendants, on the other hand, produced the wajib-ul-arz of 1860, in which the right was given in these terms: "If any co-sharer wishes to transfer his proprietary rights by sale or mortgage, first let him transfer it to a real brother or a near brother or to other co-sharers, and in case these refuse or decline to pay the proper price, the owner may transfer to whomsoever he pleases." Held, that this being the whole of the evidence in the case, the existence of the custom was not disproved and that the later wajib-ul-arz explained the ambiguity in the earlier one. Held also that, where the sale was made to three sets of vendees, the share of each of whom was specified, and one of them died and his heirs were not brought on the record till after six months, the suit did not abate in respect of the shares of the other two sets. HUKAM SINGH v. THAKUR DAS, 8 A.L.J. 1135.

(28)—Presumption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Imperative mood.—Contract or custom.—The use of the imperative mood, as "let him first sell to etc." in the pre-emptive clause of a Wajib-ul-arz, does not indicate a fresh contract between the co-sharers as to pre-emption, but is consistent with the clause being regarded as a record of an existing custom. In the absence of other evidence to show that the clause embodied a new contract, the correct construction is to regard it as a record of custom. LACHMAN SINGH v. RAM LAGAN SINGH, 26 A. 10=A.W.N. 1903, 162. (25 A. 90, A.W.N. 1897, p. 3. F.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(29)—Wajib-ul-arz, construction of—Custom or contract—Partition—Co-sharer.—Where a wajib-ul-arz opened with a declaration that the zemindars and khewatdars, agreed that up to the term of settlement and in future to the termination of the next settlement they should abide by the following conditions and act upon them, and one of the conditions related to pre-emption, held that the record was one of contract and not custom. Where a wajib-ul-arz recognised a right of pre-emption in favour of co-sharers descended from a common ancestor, and by reason of a subsequent partition, the pre-emptor, though descended from the same stock as the vendor, had ceased to hold any share in the mahal, portion of which was the subject of sale, semble if the right recorded was one existing by custom, the plaintiff would be entitled to pre-empt. BUDH SINGH v. GOPAL RAI, 5 A.L.J. 539=A.W.N. 1908, 246=30 A. 544.

(30)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Custom or contract—Perfect partition, whether abrogates custom of pre-emption.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village contained the following provisions as to pre-emption: "If any shareholder wishes to dispose of his share, he must do so in the first place to Baradaran, then to co-sharers in the patti and after that to co-sharers patti digar." Held, that it was a record of custom. Held, further, that a perfect partition did not, of itself and of necessity, abrogate a custom of pre-emption that prevailed in the village. BENI v. PURAN SINGH, 7 Ind. Cas. 572.

(31)—Wajib-ul-arz—One mahal—Perfect partition—Custom—Contract.—Mauza Barauli was sub-divided by perfect partition into three mahals; Mahal Ali Mazhar, Mahal Bhairon Pershad, Mahal Sheo Dial Ram. Before partition the wajib-ul-arz of the Mauza provided that a right of pre-emption existed in the following order: first to sharers descended from a common ancestor, then to co-sharers in the village, then to strangers. At the time of partition, three wajib-ul-arzes were prepared for the three mahals. The wajib-ul-arz for the mahals Ali Mazhar and Bhairon Pershad, which mahals had a sole proprietor, reproduced the wording of the wajib-ul-arz of the undivided village, in a chapter, the heading of which referred to the rights of sharers in the mahal. In the third mahal, which had innumerable sharers, the wording of the original wajib-ul-arz was modified, and it was provided that a right of pre-emption in case of a transfer by a pattidar would exist in the following order: first co-sharers descended from a common ancestor, then pattidars, then strangers. On sale of Mahal Ali Mazbar the proprietor of Mahal Bhairon Pershad sued for pre-emption, basing his claim on the wajib-ul-arz. Held, that the preparation of new wajib-ul-arzes for three mahals abrogated the old custom of pre-emption, and that the fact that the sole properties of Mahals Ali Mazhair and Bhairon Pershad had caused to be made an entry in the wajib-ul-arz relating to the right of pre-emption in those mahals, did not give these proprietors any authority to control their own rights or the rights of their successors over the property. The wajib-ul-arz did not prove the existence of a custom of pre-emption in the mahals in question. B. E. O'CONOR v. RAJ BHADUR, 5 A.L.J. 79. (15 C. 20=14 I.A. 127, A.W.N. 1898. 89, 15 A 147, 27 A. 602, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(31-a)—Pre-emption—Custom or contract—Onus—Wajib-ul-arz—Evidence.—The existence or non-existence of a custom of pre-emption must be proved in the same manner as any other question. The proper issue in the case is, does or does not the particular custom alleged by the plaintiff exist? The onus of proving the existence of such custom lies on the plaintiff, and if he is unable to produce evidence other than an obscure clause in a wajib-ul-arz, he must be held to have failed to prove the existence of the custom. A wajib-ul-arz is merely evidence. BECHU SINGH v. LACHMI NARAYAN SINGH, 15 Ind. Cas. 54. (33 A. 605, 8 A.L.J. 996, 12 Ind. Cas. 98, R.)

(31-b)—Pre-emption—Custom or contract—Burden of proof—Wajib-ul-arz, evidentiary value of.—The proper issue in cases in which a custom of pre-emption is alleged to exist is, "does the custom exist?" The finding on the issue does not depend solely on the construction of any of the words in any particular wajib-ul-arz. The Court ought to consider all the evidence adduced on both sides by the parties. It is the duty of the plaintiff to adduce proper and sufficient evidence to enable the Court to come to a conclusion as to the existence of the custom of pre-emption alleged by him. DWARKA DAS v. DEBI DAYAL, 14 Ind. Cas. 303. (33 A. 605, 8 A.L.J. 996, 12 Ind. Cas. 98, R.)

(31-c)—Pre-emption—Custom or contract—Wajib-ul-arz, evidentiary value of.—A wajib-ul-arz is by no means conclusive as to the existence or non-existence of a custom of pre-emption; the finding on such an issue ought not to depend upon the construction of particular words and expressions in the wajib-ul-arz. The existence or non-existence of a custom of pre-emption should depend upon the opinion of the Court after duly considering all the evidence adduced before it. RAMANAND v. HARJAS, 14 Ind. Cas. 572. (8 A.L.J. 786, 10 Ind. Cas. 558, R.)

(31-d)—Pre-emption—Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of.—The provisions regarding pre-emption in a village were contained in paragraph 14, Ch. II of the wajib-ul-arz. Chapter II was headed thus,—"Mutual rights of the co-sharers, based on custom or particular contracts." Paragraph 14 was headed "Custom relating to the right of pre-emption." The clause gave a right of pre-emption first to a near co-sharer, then to a co-sharer in the patti, after that to a co-sharer in the thok and lastly to a co-sharer in the mahal. Held, that the terms of the wajib-ul-arz clearly evidenced a custom of pre-emption in respect of the mahals to which it related. MATHURA PRASAD v. SHEIKH MUHAMMAD, 17 Ind. Cas. 844, P.C. = 17 C.W. N. 98.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(31-e)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Custom or contract.—In a suit for pre-emption, two wajib-ul-arzes, one of 1833 and another of 1860 were produced. The wajib-ul-arz of 1833 recorded a custom of pre-emption. The wajib-ul-arz of 1860 recorded that there had never been any sale or transfer and that in future the co-sharers could sell to whom they pleased. Held, that the wajib-ul-arz of 1860 negatived any inference as to the existence of custom of pre-emption that might be drawn from that of 1833, and, under the circumstances, no custom of pre-emption was proved to exist in the village. RAMHIT MISRA v. CHANDI PRASAD DUBE, 16 Ind. Cas. 411.

(31-f)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Evidence—Custom or contract—Perfect partition, effect of—Onus of proof in pre-emption suits.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village contained the following provision:—"In future, every co-sharer, mortgagor or mortgagee shall, as such, be at liberty to make transfers. But he shall make transfers first in favour of his own and ek jaddi brothers, and after them in favour of co-sharers in the khata patti as well as in favour of the proprietors of the village. If none of them take the share, he shall be competent to make transfers in favour of strangers." The village was subsequently divided into several mahals. A co-sharer in one of the mahals transferred his share to another person who was a mortgagee in the same mahal. A co-sharer of the village, who was a co-sharer in a different mahal, brought a suit for pre-emption. Held, that the suit could not succeed. Per Richards, C.J.—In a suit for pre-emption, the onus lies upon the plaintiff to prove the existence of the custom of pre-emption. It is necessary for him not merely to establish the existence of some custom of pre-emption, but he has to establish the existence of particular custom which entitles him to pre-empt as against the defendant. There is no difference between the mode of proof of a custom of pre-emption and any other custom. The existence or non-existence of a custom of the pre-emption cannot be said to depend upon the construction of a wajib-ul-arz. The wajib-ul-arz is not the custom. It is merely evidence of custom, and no class of evidence is more likely to vary in value according to circumstances than that of the wajib-ul-arz. (32 A. 368=14 C.W.N. 770=37 I.A. 191, P.C.=7 A.L.J. 704=12 C.L.J. 36=12 Bom. L.R. 504=8 M.L.T. 79=6 Ind. Cas. 787=20 M.L.J. 604=13 O.C. 163=M.W.N. 1910. 324. Rel. cn.) The main object of the custom of pre-emption is to avoid admitting strangers into the co-parcenary body (22 A. 1, R.) The result of perfect partition is that the old co-parcenary body ceases to exist, and new co-parcenary bodies are created in each mahal.

Pre-emption—continued.— 2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*cld.

AHMAD SYED KHAN v. DIGAMPAR SINGH, 16 Ind. Cas. 361.

(32)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Custom—Imperfect partition, effect of—An imperfect partition does not affect a right of pre-emption which existed prior to such partition. MAHADEO PRASHAD v. JAIPAL RAUT, 8 Ind. Cas. 867.

(33)—Wajib-ul-arz recording custom of—Previous one giving no such right—The latest silent—The right never claimed in respect of other sales—Custom fallen into desuetude.—Where the wajib-ul-arzes of a village prepared respectively, in 1860 and 1871 afforded evidence of the existence of a custom of pre-emption, but that of 1836 proved that no such custom existed and the latest wajib-ul-arz was silent as to such custom, there also being evidence of sales taking place in the village, without the right being ever claimed, held, that the lower Court was justified in holding that the custom had not been satisfactorily proved. GULAB SINGH v. JAG RAM, 3 A.L.J. 646=A.W.N. 1906, 249. [D., 31 A. 539=3 Ind. Cas. 903=6 A.L.J. 735.]

(34)—Wajib-ul-arz, not signed by lambardar or co-sharer—Whether evidence of village custom.—Wajib-ul-arz, Construction of.—Although a wajib-ul-arz was not signed by the lambardar or by any of the co-sharers, it was nevertheless held to afford prima facie evidence of the village rights and customs recorded in it, when the correctness of the wajib-ul-arz had been allowed to remain for every many years unchallenged. The clause relating to pre-emption in a wajib-ul-arz was as follows:—“When any muafidar in the patti desires to transfer his share, then, first a share-holder in the patti takes it; and if he does not take it, then another man who desires to take it takes it.” Held that this clause declared what the village custom was, and that it was not intended thereby to adopt the Muhammadan law of pre-emption. RUSTAM ALI KHAN v. ABBASI BEGAM, 13 A. 407=A.W.N. 1891, 146.

(35)—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), sch. II, art. 10—Pre-emption—Vendee in possession of a part of the property as usufructuary mortgage—Capable of physical possession—Time to run from registration of sale-deed—Practice—Validity of an order of remand—When to be impeaced after the passing of final decree—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 591—Wajib-ul-arz, construction of—Custom or contract.—Where a part of the property sold is already mortgaged with possession to the vendee, the whole of the property is not capable of physical possession at the time of the sale, and consequently the period of limitation for a suit for pre-emption must be reckoned from the date of the registration of the sale deed. In second appeal against a decree passed after a remand under s. 562 of the Code of 1882, the appellant cannot be permitted to contest the validity of the order of remand, unless he also challenges the validity of the final decree on grounds independent of those upon which the order of remand was based. Where the incidents of the right of pre-emption, as recorded in two successive wajib-ul-arzes, are uniform, and the documents as they stand contain no words or expressions which definitely stamp them as records of contract, it should be presumed that the wajib-ul-arzes record an established custom and not a contract. RAMJAS AHIR v. BABU AMAN SAHAI, 5 Ind. Cas. 667.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*cld.

(36)—Pre-emption—Non-existence of the custom in the new abadi of Garhi Awan, a suburb of Hafizabad in Gujranwala District.—Held, that, a totally new abadi added to a town should be regarded as its distinct subdivision for the purposes of pre-emption, even if no one has yet christened it as a mohallah and no sub-divisions have been hitherto recognised in such a town; and that custom of pre-emption cannot be presumed to exist in the new abadi, simply because it prevails in the town itself. The case is different where the limits of a town have been gradually extended by erecting house after house on its edge to meet the press of population. Found, on the above principle, that abadi Jadid of the old village of Garhi Awan, now a suburb of Hafizabad, is a distinct sub-division and that no custom of pre-emption on the ground of vicinage obtains therein. ALLAH DITTA v. MUHAMMAD NAZIR, 102 P.W.R. 1910=84 P.R. 1910=7 Ind. Cas. 716.

(37)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Right to sue, when commences.—A wajib-ul-arz contained the following clause as to pre-emption:—“If any co-sharer wishes to mortgage or sell conditionally or absolutely his share, he can transfer it for the price that may be offered him by others, first to a near co-sharer, next to other co-sharers in the patti and, in case of their refusal, to his near co-sharer in another patti, and should they also refuse, then to other co-sharers in the mahal, and lastly to a stranger. If the share of any co-sharer be mortgaged or sold conditionally to a stranger and he be unable to redeem, then any of the co-sharers in his patti may, if the term of the mortgage is about to expire, pay up the money and take possession, and when the mortgagor or his heir has paid the money in accordance with the condition of the deed between the original mortgagor and the co-sharers entitled, he may enter into possession." A co-sharer mortgaged his property by way of conditional sale prior to the 19th of June 1907. On the 19th of June, the mortgagee obtained a decree for foreclosure on the strength of the mortgage. Subsequent to the foreclosure decree, the plaintiff, a co-sharer entitled under the wajib-ul-arz to pre-empt, brought this suit for pre-emption. Held, that the plaintiff's right to sue accrued as soon as the mortgage was made and not when the foreclosure decree was obtained. RAJA RAM SINGH v. PARAS RAM SINGH, 11 Ind. Cas. 628. (3 A. 610, 20 A. 103, F.B., R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(38)—Wajib-ul-arz, ambiguity of—Construction—Contract—Registration—Termination of settlement.—A contract of pre-emption recorded in a wajib-ul-arz does not require registration. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, such a contract will be held to last only as long as the settlement during which it is made, continues. Where the language of a wajib-ul-arz is obscure, it affords no basis for a right of pre-emption. MAKHDUM BAKSH v. ALI HUSAIN KHAN, 3 A.L.J. 307 = A.W.N. 1906, 149.

(39)—Wajib-ul-arz, whether continues in force after expiry of term of settlement.—If a wajib-ul-arz is expressly stated to be a manual for the regulation of the affairs of a village during the period of settlement alone, a right of pre-emption created by it cannot be enforced after the expiry of that period, unless a provision has been made for that purpose, or the operation of the wajib-ul-arz has been extended by the agreement of the parties. RUTTUN SINGH v. OOMRAO SINGH, 4 N.W.P. 13.

(40)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Brethren.—Where the pre-emptive condition runs to the effect that the alienation shall be made first to brethren of a common ancestor, and if they refuse, then to the other sharers of the puttee and if they do not take, then, to any one else, the brethren in whose favour the first right of pre-emption is provided, must be construed to be brethren who are sharers in the puttee. HUR SAHAI v. JAWALA, 2 Agra 31.

(41)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Co-sharers.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of pre-emption in favour of three classes of pre-emptors, namely, (1) near co-sharers of the vendor, (2) co-sharers in another thok, and (3) other co-sharers in the thok. Held that these were three mutually exclusive classes of pre-emptors, and that a co-sharer in the same khata with the vendor took priority as a "near co-sharer" over a co-sharer in the thok, but not in the khata.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

TIRTHI RAI v. SITLU RAI, A.W.N. 1905, 192 = 2 A.L.J. 707.

(42)—Wajib-ul-arz—Pre-emptive right—Person under disability—Right of alienation—Construction.—Where, in the wajib-ul-arz papers, there were conditions to the following effect:—"Every co-sharer is at liberty to alienate his own share, but it will be necessary for him at the time of alienation first to inform his next nearest neighbour co-sharer, and if he refuses them, etc." Held that the conditions did not confer on any person under disability a right to alienate which he did not otherwise enjoy. RADHAY PANDEY v. MUNSA RAM, 2 Agra 85.

(43)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Pre-emption.—A condition in a wajib-ul-arz, that "in case it should be necessary to alienate the estate for any special purpose or for the payment of Government revenue, the same should be done with the consent of all the sharers" was held not to contain a stipulation for the existence of pre-emption. RAM PERSHAD SAHOO v. SHEIK RUMZANEE, 2 Agra 37; GAYADIN v. RAM SAHAI, 2 Agra, Pt. II. 181; BABOO DOOBEY v. ISHREE, 3 Agra 74.

(44)—Pre-emption—Construction of wajib-ul-arz—Holder of "resumed revenue-free land"—Co-sharer.—A clause of the wajib-ul-arz of a certain village ran as follows:—"When any co-sharer (hissadar) is bent upon selling or mortgaging his right (haqqiyat), then, first, that co-sharer who is nearest to the shater bent on transfer can take it; after that, any other person who is interested (sharik) in the village rank by rank can take it. If no person interested in the village takes it, then a stranger may take it." The plaintiff claimed as a co-sharer in the village for pre-emption of certain "resumed-revenue-free land" in the villages which was sold to a stranger. Held, that under the circumstances of the case, the plaintiff had no right of pre-emption in respect of the land claimed by him, as the vendor was not, within the meaning of the wajib-ul-arz, a co-sharer in the village by virtue of his possession of a portion of the "resumed revenue-free land." KALLIAN MAL v. MADAN MOHAN, 17 A. 447 = A.W.N. 1895, 93. [F. A.W.N. 1904, 118; R., 20 A. 419, 19 A.W.N. 19, A.W.N. 1908, 59 = 5 A.L.J. 182; D., 3 O.C. 110, A.W.N. 1905, 92.]

(45)—Wajib-ul-arz, construction of—Co-sharers.—The provision for pre-emption in a wajib-ul-arz was as follows:—"When any co-sharer wishes to make a sale or mortgage of his share, it is incumbent on him to do so first in favour of a near co-sharer, next in favour of a co-sharer of his thok, and lastly in favour of a co-sharer of another thok, at the rate of Rs. 20 per bigha of cultivated land, and Rs. 5 per bigha of waste land. If none of these take it, then he may transfer it to an outsider. If any co-sharer (i.e.,

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

any co-sharer who wishes to sell or mortgage) fail to act as above directed, another co-sharer has the right of enforcing pre-emption in respect of the property. If the term of the mortgaged share of any co-sharer is about to expire, and notice of foreclosure has been issued, and the co-sharer mortgagor has not the means to redeem, then, another co-sharer, after paying up the money, may take back the share, and when the original mortgagor has the means, he, after paying the money, may take possession of the share." Held, (a) in the case of a conditional sale of property to which this wajib-ul-arz applied, that it contemplated only two stages and not three, viz., (1) the time when a contract of sale or of mortgage is about to be entered into or has been entered into, and (2) the time when the conditional vendee has brought his suit for foreclosure, and before he has obtained his order absolute on the decree for foreclosure. (b) In the first case, the Limitation Act fixes a time within which a co-sharer desiring to claim pre-emption on a sale or on a mortgage must bring his suit; and in the latter case, up to the time when that order is made absolute, the co-sharer desiring to pre-empt may, under this wajib-ul-arz, obtain pre-emption upon payment of the amount decreed in the suit for foreclosure. (c) When the order absolute for foreclosure is made, the co-sharer's right to pre-empt under this wajib-ul-arz is gone and extinguished. There is no provision as to what is to take place then, and a co-sharer not having availed himself of his right to pre-empt before the order absolute, the decree of the Civil Court must take effect and must fully vest in the vendee the rights which he obtains under his order absolute for foreclosure. At that time, the matter has reached the stage when it is beyond the scope of the custom or contract in the wajib-ul-arz, and the right of the decree-holder under his Civil Court decree cannot be affected. GAYA BHARTHI v. LAKH-NATH RAI, 20 A. 103, F.B. = A.W.N. 1897, 208. [R., 3 A.L.J. 515 = A.W.N. 1906, 247; D., 24 A. 493.]

(46)—Pre-emption, custom of—Co-sharers in khalisa mahal—Owners of muafi lands in mahal.—The co-sharers of the malal and the owners of the muafi plots included in the area of the malal, whether they may be called co-sharers or not, have, as a rule, no connection whatever with one another, and it by no means follows that the custom of pre-emption adopted by or existing among the members of the khalisa co-parcenary body would be applicable to the owners of the muafi plots. Strict evidence is always necessary to prove that the same custom is applicable to each. NARAIN DAS v. RAM SARAN DAS, 20 A. 419 = A.W.N. 1898, 99. (17 A. 447, R.) [F., 22 A.W.N. 68, A.W.N. 1904, 118; R., A.W.N. 1907, 173 = 4 A.L.J. 665; D., 3 O.C. 110.]

(47)—Provisions as to—Claim by a co-sharer in lakhiraj, i.e., muafi land—Wajib-ul-arz, con- struction of.—The question in this case was, whether, under the terms of a wajib-ul-arz, a claim for pre-emption by a co-sharer of the vendor in muafi land may be advanced where the property sold is lakhiraj, i.e., muafi land. The wajib-ul-arz contained the following provisions as to pre-emption:—"In khalsa, there is only one zemindar; consequently, there is no custom of pre-emption; but as between zemindars, proprietors of resumed mulks, and also proprietors of lakhiraj, there is this usage that, if any co-sharer sells or mortgages his share, or any mortgagee sub-mortgages his mortgagee rights, it is incumbent on him to inform his near co-sharer, and in case of his refusal, other co-sharers, and sell or mortgage for a reasonable price. If they refuse or do not offer a reasonable price, he will be competent to transfer to a stranger." Held, that, according to the terms of the wajib-ul-arz, as set forth above, a right of pre-emption is given in regard to property of three descriptions therein mentioned, other than khalsa land, as between co-sharers of each description of property. A co-sharer in lakhiraj, i.e., muafi land, has, therefore, a right of pre-emption in the case of a sale of such land to a stranger. HABIB-ULLAH v. KALLAN, A.W.N. 1905, 92.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(48)—Wajib-ul-arz—Offer to co-sharers, condition precedent—Offer to some co-sharers—Effect.—The terms of a wajib-ul-arz clearly provided that the vendor should offer his share first to his co-sharers before he sells the same to a stranger. Held that the vendor must make the offer to each and every one of his co-sharers before sale to the stranger. It is not sufficient for him to make the offer only to some of them. DOWLUT v. NETRAM, 3 N.W. P. 42.

(49)—Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation of document—"Co sharer"—Owners of sharer in "Haqiat mutafarika."—The pre-emptive clause of wajib-ul-arz provided that if any co-sharer wishes to sell or mortgage his right (haqiat) he is bound to inform the persons mentioned in the document. Held that no right of pre-emption would arise in respect of the sale of a share in an isolated plot of land in the village. JODHA SINGH v. BHOLA NATH, A.W.N. 1904, 118. (17 A. 447, 20 A. 419, F.) [R., A.W.N. 1907, 173 = 4 A.L.J. 665.]

(50)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Co-sharers in the village—Right to pre-empt.—A wajib-ul-arz gave a right of pre-emption to own brothers and nephews, then to cousins, then to co-sharers in the patti, and then to co-sharers in the village. The village, which was originally divided into two pattis, was subsequently divided into several malals by perfect partition, but no new wajib-ul-arz was framed. Held, that a co-sharer in one malal had a right to pre-empt in respect of a sale to a stranger of a share in another malal.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

JANKI NATH v. RAJA RAM PARTAB SINGH, 2 A.L.J. 833=28 A. 286=A.W.N. 1906, 2. (22 A. 1, R.) [R., A.W.N. 1906, 137=3 A.L.J. 433, 1 Ind. Cas. 504, 3 Ind. Cas. 827, 6 A.L.J. 958=32 A. 63=4 Ind. Cas. 138, 7 A.L.J. 133=6 Ind. Cas. 17, 32 A. 265=7 A.L.J. 199.]

(51)—Wajib-ul-arz—Right of pre-emption—Co-sharers.—Where a wajib-ul-arz provided that the share-holders should sell with the consent of brethren and co-sharers, it did not confer any right of pre-emption on co-sharers. BUBBOO DOBEY v. ISHREE, 3 Agra 74.

(51-a)—Pre-emption—Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Relation as well as co-sharer—Preference—Re-sale to co-sharer by vendee—Limitation.—M sold certain zamindari property to P on 6th November, 1909. P was a stranger, and he re-sold it to S and K on 14th November, 1910. S and K were co-sharers of M, the original vendor. Plaintiff, who was a co-sharer as well as a relation of M, brought a suit for pre-emption on the 14th November, 1910. S and K, however, were impleaded on 3rd February, 1911. The evidence in support of the custom of pre-emption consisted of two wajib-ul-arzes of 1833 and 1860, respectively. The one of 1833 required an intending vendor to notify his co-sharer of the sale, and when he refused, right was given to sell to a stranger. The latter wajib-ul-arz recognized a general right of transfer, but provided that, first, a near relation who was a co-sharer, and then a co-sharer, would have the right of pre-emption as against a stranger. Held (1) that the custom which the plaintiff was putting forward was a very usual custom, and consequently the finding of the Court below that the custom was proved was justified; (2) that the suit was not barred by limitation, for it was the sale of the 16th November, 1909, which gave the plaintiff his cause of action; (3) the second set of vendees were necessary parties in this sense, that, unless they were made parties, they would not be bound by a decree against their vendors, the original vendees. SAT NARAIN v. BADRI NATH, 9 A.L.J. 211=13 Ind. Cas. 645.

(52)—Wajib-ul-arz—Sale by co-sharer to stranger—Proof of offer and refusal—Validity of sale.—Where the terms of the wajib-ul-arz recognise the right of each sharer to sell without the consent of the others but limit that right so far as to give preference or right of refusal to the co-sharers, the sale to a stranger can only be good and valid on proof of offer being made and refused by the co-sharers. PERMESHREE DASS v. RAI KOONDUN SINGH, 3 Agra 3.

(53)—Wajib-ul-arz—Co-sharer—Owner isolated plots of land in a village.—Held, that the owner of isolated plots of land in a village is a co-sharer in the village and may, as such, possess rights of pre-emption, although he does not own a share in the zamindari of the village and his name is not recorded in the khewat. ALI HUSAIN KHAN v. TASADDUQ HUSAIN KHAN, A.W.N. 1905, 219=2 A.L.J. 612=28 A. 124. (12 A. 426, 16 A. 412, F.) [D., 4 A.L.J. 541; R., 28 A. 246=2 A.L.J. 788=A.W.N. 1905, 264.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(54)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Devolution of interest—Right of heir to maintain a suit—Co-sharer joining an heir of another co-sharer—Effect of.—The object of pre-emption is to exclude from the co-parcenary body a person who does not belong to that body and is entirely outside and, in that sense, a stranger to that body. Where, therefore, a co-sharer died, before instituting a suit, and his grandson A, who succeeded him in the co-parcenary, joined W (another co-sharer), in instituting a suit, held, that A was not a stranger to the co-parcenary body and did not lose his right of pre-emption against the purchaser. (5 A. 197, A.W.N. 1893, 25, 19 A. 324, 5 A. 65, R. & Disc.) Held, per Richards and Tudball, JJ. (Banerji, J., dissenting) that, under the Muhammadan law of pre-emption, the rule that the right of pre-emption dies with the person does not apply to cases of Customary Law. In the latter cases, an heir who inherits has a right to pre-empt the sale which took place before the estate vested in him. The case of 7 A. 535 was only an authority for the rule that a person purchasing a share-holder's interest subsequently to another sale could not enforce pre-emption as his vendor might have done. Doubt expressed as to the correctness of the case. Banerji, J.—The rule of pre-emption is a rule of substitution. The person to be substituted must be a person to whom at the time of sale the property could have been offered. Where therefore a co-sharer died before instituting a suit for pre-emption and his grandson succeeded him, held, the grandson was not entitled to maintain a suit for pre-emption. The principle which applies to the case of a purchaser equally applies to a case of a devolution of interest by inheritance. WAJID ALI v. SAHABAN, 6 A.L.J. 887, F.B.=6 M.L.T. 352=3 Ind. Cas. 820=31 A. 623. (7 A. 535, F.B., F.)

(55)—Sale by Government—Co-sharer.—When the Government acquires land permanently, it does not become a co-sharer in the village to which the land originally appertained, and the provisions contained in the wajib-ul-arz dealing with sales by co-sharers do not apply. Hence the Government can sell the land to any one it pleases and the co-sharers have no right of pre-emption. GAYA SINGH v. RAJA RAM SINGH, 2 A.L.J. 787=A.W.N. 1905, 259=28 A. 235.

(56) and (57)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Cosharers in the village—Right to pre-empt.—A wajib-ul-arz gave a right of pre-emption to own brothers and nephews, then to cousins then to co-sharers in the patti, and then to co-sharers in the village. The village, which was originally divided into two pattis, was subsequently divided into several mahals by perfect partition, but no new wajib-ul-arz was framed. Held, that a co-sharer in one mahal had a right to pre-empt in respect of a sale to a stranger of a share in another mahal. JANKI NATH v. RAJA RAM PARTAB SINGH, 2 A.L.J. 833 = A.W.N. 1906, 2 = 28 A. 286. (22 A. 1, R.) [R., A.W.N. 1906, 137 = 3 A.L.J. 433, 1 Ind. Cas. 504, 3 Ind. Cas. 827, 6 A.L.J. 958 = 32 A. 63 = 4 Ind. Cas. 138, 7 A.L.J. 123 = 6 Ind. Cas. 17, 32 A. 265 = 7 A.L.J. 199.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(58)—Wajib-ul-arz, construction of—Brothers—Co-sharers.—A village wajib-ul-arz provided that, in the case of a sale by a co-sharer the first right of pre-emption would be in the uterine brother of the vendor, and the next class of pre-emptors would be co-sharers in the village; but the same wajib-ul-arz further provided that a Hindu widow succeeding to her husband in the absence of male issue would have full powers of sale, but would not be competent to sell to her brother or father. Held that the brother of Hindu widow could not as vendee from his sister resist a claim for pre-emption brought by co-sharers in the village. KAM NIWAZ v. DAKHO, A.W.N. 1908, 59.

(59)—Pre-emption of village lands—Construction of wajib-ul-arz.—Brothers—Nephews—Co-sharer.—Where the wajib-ul-arz of a village, comprising three thoks and some undivided land, provided, that the right of pre-emption shall belong in the first instance, to such brothers and nephews of the vendor as were co-sharers and, on their refusal, to other owners of the thok, held on the proper construction of the wajib-ul-arz that in the case of a sale by the owner of one of the thoks of his entire interest in the village, the owners of the other thoks could not claim any right of pre-emption. LACHCHO v. MAYA RAM, 5 A. 158, P.C. = 10 I.A. 1.

(60)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Condition of agreement—Near relative though not shareholder in same thoke, preference of—Sale to wife of vendor—Wife near relative, not stranger.—The condition of pre-emption in the agreement recorded in the wajib-ul-arz of a village was that the right of purchase should first be with the real brother of the share-holder, next with the nearest relatives (rishtadaram karib), then, with the share-holders of the same thoke, and after them with the share-holders of other thokes. Some property had been sold to a near relative and to the wife of the vendor. Held, in a suit for pre-emption by a share holder of the thoke, that a near relative fulfilled all the required conditions and had a preferential right over sharers of the thoke, as it was not necessary that the near relatives referred to in the wajib-ul-arz should own a share in the same thoke. Where the parties are Mahomedans, the wife of the vendor would come in as a near relative in spite of her being not a share-holder, as a wife could not be considered a stranger having no interest whatever in the family. Consequently, a person having a right of pre-emption joining the wife of his vendor with him in his purchase does not lose his right of pre-emption. SYED MAHOMED TUKEE v. SHEIK HUIJI, 5 N.W.P. 142.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(61)—Wajib-ul-arz—"Village"—Perfect partition, effect of, on covenants contained in wajib-ul-arz Co-sharers.—Where a village is, by perfect partition under the Land Revenue Act, 1873, divided into a number of separate mahals, the covenants regarding pre-emption among the co-sharers, contained in the wajib-ul-arz, are not affected thereby and continue to be in force after such partition. The term "village" as used in a wajib ul-arz, means a definite area of land with houses upon it. Everyone living in the area has a share in it, and may therefore be regarded as a "shareholder" within its meaning. Even after partition, although there may be no joint ownership in the village, there may still be some community of interests and also a considerable community of things held and used in common by all the inhabitants. GOKAL SINGH v. MANNU LAL, 7 A. 772 = A.W.N. 1885, 263. [Diss, 17 A. 226; F., 11 A. 257; Exp., 22 A. 1, F.B.; R., 9 A. 234, 11 A.W.N. 137, 27 A. 602 = 2 A.L.J. 313 = A.W.N. 1905, 115.]

(62)—Wajib-ul-arz—Joint Hindu family—Co-sharer.—Even where one member of an undivided Hindu family is recorded in the Collector's register as co-sharer of a mahal, the other members of the family are "co-sharers" for purposes of pre-emption, within the meaning of the wajib-ul-arz. GANDHERP SINGH v. SAHIB SINGH, 7 A. 184, F.B. = A.W.N. 1884, 326. [F., 1 O.C. 252; R., 17 A. 454, 7 O.C. 61, 3 A.L.J. 641 = A.W.N. 1906, 240.]

(63)—Joint Hindu family—"Co-sharer"—Wajib-ul-arz.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village contained the following entry regarding the right of pre-emption—"When any co-sharer, etc." Held that a Hindu son living jointly with his father and having no separate property of his own was not a "co-sharer" within the meaning of the wajib-ul-arz, and was not entitled to pre-empt the property transferred by his father. JANEK SINGH v. GENGA BISHAN, A.W.N. 1884, 13.

(64)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—"Transfer"—"Nearer co-sharer"—Mortgage by conditional sale—Acquiescence—Rights of conditional vendee who first forecloses.—The term "transfer" in a wajib-ul-arz includes both sales and mortgages. The expression "nearer co-sharer" applies to the co-owner of a particular share in preference to the owners of other shares in a village. Where, of two conditional mortgages, simultaneously executed by the two co-owners of a share, to two different persons, one first becomes absolute, and the mortgagee is recorded as the proprietor of half the share, he can claim to pre-empt in respect of the other half share when the mortgage on it is foreclosed, subsequently, on the ground that he is a "nearer co-sharer," for at the time of the conditional sale in respect of the second half share being foreclosed, he and the mortgagors were the only owners of the share. The right which arose at the time of the mortgage and that which arose at the time of the sale on foreclosure were different rights. The acquiescence in the mortgage could not effect the right subsequently arising under the sale. RUP NARAIN v. AWADH PRASAD, 7 A. 478 = A.W.N. 1885, 85. [R., 11 A.W.N. 185.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*cld.

(65)—Custom, wajib-ul-arz — Provision for offer of sale to co-sharers on payment of price fixed by Panchayet, effect of.—This was a suit for pre-emption. In the Administration paper it was provided that, before a sale by a co-sharer, the land must be offered to the other co-sharers and shall not be alienated by him unless the said co-sharers shall refuse to take the land for the price fixed by a Panchayet of Zemindars of neighbouring villages. The Chief Court was of opinion that it could not be held that the custom evidenced by the clause gave the pre-emptor an absolute right to an offer of purchase at such price as a Panchayet might determine; nor, as a matter of law, can it be taken that an offer made to the pre-emptor at the price at which he was willing to sell, and for which he actually did sell, was not an offer made in good faith merely because it was not accompanied by an offer to submit the price to be determined by arbitration, or because there was a refusal so to submit. The most that can be said for the pre-emptor is that, in determining the question whether the offer made was made in good faith, the circumstances that the vendor declined to have the price fixed by a Panchayet should be taken into consideration. JALAL-UDDIN KHAN v. SANDEH KHAN, 49 P.R. 1881. [R., 75 P.R. 1901.]

(66)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Co-sharers.—The clause relating to pre-emption in a village wajib-ul-arz ran as follows:—"At the time of the transfer of a zamindari right a right of pre-emption will accrue against a stranger, on payment of the price paid by him, firstly, to a co-sharer who is descended from an ancestor from whom the vendor is descended: secondly, to joint sharers, and, thirdly, to sharers in the mahal."—Held by Blair, J., that under this wajib-ul-arz the right of pre-emption would only arise where the sale was to a "stranger" in the sense of a person not included in any of the three classes of pre-emptors specified. Held by Aikman, J., that under this wajib-ul-arz the right of pre-emption might arise also in favour of a higher class of the three classes of pre-emptors upon a sale by a member of a higher class to a member of a lower class. ILAH BAKHSH v. GHULAM ABBAS, A.W.N. 1898, 15. (A.W.N. 1895, 9, R.) [R., 23 A. 427, 26 A. 544.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*cld.

(67)—Pre-emption — Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Co-sharer.—The pre-emptive clause of a wajib-ul-arz ran as follows:—"If in this mahal any of the co-sharers wishes to sell or mortgage his share, he shall transfer it first to his near relatives, then to the near co-sharers, and then to the other co-sharers; but if none of them is willing to take, he then can transfer it to a stranger; and if any co-sharer does not act in this way, then his near relatives and co-sharers are entitled to take by right of preemption in the order given above." Held on a construction of this clause, that there was no justification for reading the words "near relatives" as meaning "near relatives who are also co-sharers." ABDUL WAHID v. WILAYAT HUSAIN, A.W.N. 1902, 109. [R., 27 A. 553 = 2 A.L.J. 253 = A.W.N. 1905, 97.]

(68)—Wajib-ul-arz — Construction of document—Co-sharer.—The pre-emptive clause of wajib-ul-arz was drawn up in the following terms:—"In case of great necessity, each co-sharer is entitled to transfer his property as recorded in the khewat, and the near co-sharers and the pattidars can claim a pre-emptive right; but out of them, the one who is nearer will have a prior right to do so." Held, that the right of preemption only arose on a sale to a stranger. If the sale was to a co-sharer, no right of suit accrued to a nearer co-sharer. JAI DAT v. RAM BADAL, A.W.N. 1905, 227 = 28 A. 168.

(69)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Co sharer.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village provided that a co-sharer wishing to sell his share must do so, for such price as any other person may offer him to a near co-sharer in his own patti, next, to other co-sharers in the same patti, after that to nearer co-sharers in another patti then to other co-sharers in the mahal and then to a stranger. Held on the construction of the wajib-ul-arz, that it conferred a right of pre-emption on the different classes of co-sharers therein mentioned inter se, and that it was wrong to construe it as conferring such right only in the case of a sale to strangers. S.A. NO. 103 OF 1902, 26 A. 546, Note.

(70)—Wajib-ul-arz—Pre-emption—Co-sharer.—A wajib-ul-arz provided that the right of pre-emption existed (1) in a near co-sharer in the same patti (2) in any other co-sharer in the patti, (3) in near co-sharers in other patties, and (4) in co-sharers in the mahal at "whatever price is obtained from another." Held that, under the wajib-ul-arz, each class of pre-emptors had a preferential right of pre-emption as against persons belonging to the next following class, if they happen to be purchasers. It conferred upon the different classes, of persons mentioned in it a right of pre-emption inter se. SUKA-

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

DEO SINGH v. BAHADUR SINGH, 26 A. 544 = 1 A.L.J. 272. [S. A. No. 103 of 1902 and Letters Patent Appeal No. 28 of 1903, F.]

(71)—Wajib-ul-arz—Sale of land by Government—Co-sharer.—When Government has acquired land permanently it does not become a co-sharer in the village to which the land originally appertained, and on a sale thereof the provisions contained in the village wajib-ul-arz which deal with sales by co-sharers in the village are not applicable. GAYA SINGH v. RAJA RAM SINGH, A.W.N. 1905, 259 = 2 A.L.J. 787.

(72)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation of document—Partition—Rights of co-sharers inter se—Custom or contract.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village prepared in 1863 gave a right of pre-emption to (1) the own brothers of the vendor, or nephews having a common ancestor, (2) co-sharers in the patti, and (3) co-sharers in another patti. The wajib-ul-arz prepared in 1873 was headed as “Rights of co-sharers inter se, based upon custom or special contract,” and provided for pre-emption in these terms: “If a share-holder wishes to transfer his own share, he should make the transfer to (1) his own brother, (2) near relations, and if they refused, (3) co-sharers in the patti; (4) co-sharers in the village.” After this the village was partitioned, and the mahal in which the property sold was situate belonged exclusively to the vendor. The pre-emptor was his own brother, but a co-sharer in a different mahal. The vendees too were co-sharers in another mahal: Held, that the plaintiff had no right of pre-emption. Per Banerji, J.—The chapter in the wajib-ul-arz (of 1873) relied upon relates to the rights of the co-sharers inter se. The first category of pre-emptors must, therefore, be the persons who not only fulfil the condition of being own brothers of the vendor, but must also be co-sharers of the vendor. This the plaintiff is not, he having ceased to be one after the partition. Per Stanley, C.J.—The wajib-ul-arz of 1863 and 1873, respectively, do not record the same usage as to pre-emption; consequently, as a custom must be constant and invariable, the wajib-ul-arz of 1873 does not record a custom. The record being a contract, and the period of settlement having expired, no right of pre-emption now exists. JWALA SINGH v. SUMER CHAND, 8 A.L.J. 515.

(73)—Wajib-ul-arz — Variation — Custom — Right of pre-emption inter se.—The custom of pre-emption, as recorded in the wajib-ul-arz of 1833, gave no right of pre-emption inter se, whereas, the wajib-ul-arz of 1862 recorded such right. There was no instance of transfer between 1833 and 1862. The plaintiff has a preferential right under the document of 1862, but had no such right under that of 1833. Held, that no new custom under the circumstances could have sprung up between 1833 and 1862, that the custom of 1833 still subsisted and that the plaintiff had no right to pre-empt. TAPAISHA DICHHIT v. GOKUL DICHHIT, 6 Ind. Cas. 839.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(74)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Right inter se.—The terms of a wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of a first purchase to sab se karibi rishtedar, who was a co-sharer and then to other co-sharers. Held that the nearer relative had a preferential right to remoter relatives. JAGANNATH v. GOLLA, 7 A.L.J. 653 = 7 Ind. Cas. 261.

(75)—Wajib-ul-arz—Sale on “same price as paid by stranger”—No right inter se among different classes of pre-emptors.—Where a wajib-ul-arz recognised a right of pre-emption ‘on the same price as paid by a stranger’ (Shakhs Ghair) though it mentioned different categories of pre-emptors, and gave some of them a preferential right over others, held, that the right to pre-empt arose only in the case of a sale to a stranger. NARAIN SARAN SINGH v. SIDH NARAIN SINGH, 5 A.L.J. 655 = A.W.N. 1903, 251. (27 A. 456, R.) [D., 7 A.L.J. 610.]

(76)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Right given inter se—Words “stranger” used for regulating price.—In the wajib-ul-arz of a village, the right to pre-emption was recorded as follows: In case of sale or mortgage, the transferor was bound to transfer first to a co-sharer in the patti, then to pattidars of the mahal, then to the owners of the other mahals, and, in case of refusal, to an outsider, “at the same price as a stranger would be willing to give.” Held, that the right of pre-emption existed inter se between the persons mentioned in the wajib-ul-arz, and that the “words at the price as a stranger would be willing to give” were introduced for the purpose of regulating the price only. GUARDIAL v. MATHURA SINGH, 7 A.L.J. 610 = 6 Ind. Cas. 920.

(77)—Interpretation of wajib-ul-arz—“Stranger.”—Suit for pre-emption. The plaintiff, pre-emptor, was a co-sharer in the patti. The vendee was a co-sharer in the village, but not in the same patti with the vendor. Hence, the priority claimed by the plaintiff over the vendee. The language of the wajib-ul-arz of the village showed that the right of pre-emption would arise only when the sale was made to a ‘stranger.’ The sale in this case not being one to a ‘stranger,’ but to a co-sharer in the village, though not in the same patti with the vendor, held, no right to pre-empt accrued to the plaintiff. KHATUN BIBI v. SAYIDA BIBI, A.W.N. 1905, 45 = 2 A.L.J. 689 = 27 A. 457. (23 A. 427, R.; A.W.N. 1904, 104, D.)

(78)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—“Stranger.”—Where, under the terms of a wajib-ul-arz, successive pre-emptive rights were given firstly to ‘own brothers,’ secondly, to ‘near cousins,’ thirdly, to ‘shareholders,’ it was held in a case where the parties were Mahomedans, that, in regard to a sale of land to which this wajib-ul-arz applied, nephew (brother’s son) of the vendee was a 'stranger,' and his joinder as co-vendee would vitiate the sale and let in other persons having a right of pre-emption. AMJAD ALI v. MUSHTAQ AHMED, 17 A. 454 = A.W.N. 1895, 95. (4 A. 259, D.) [R., 10 O. C. 225.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(79)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—"Stranger," meaning of.—A person, who is not a member of the proprietary body amongst whom a custom of pre-emption exists, and who has no common rights and liabilities with the members of the proprietary body, is, for the purpose of pre-emption, a stranger. A person who is entitled only to a malikana allowance is a stranger to the co-parcenary body; and a sale made to him is subject to pre-emption. DIRG-BIJAI SINGH v. RAM ADHIN, 7 Ind. Cas. 70.

(80)—Wajib-ul-arz giving preference over strangers—Acquisition by a stranger of a share other than one sought to be pre-empted—Effect of.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of pre-emption to certain co-sharers in succession over strangers. A share was transferred to a stranger, who subsequently acquired another share at an auction. In a suit for pre-emption brought to pre-empt the former sale, held, that the plaintiff was entitled to pre-empt, inasmuch as the defendant's rights were still inferior to his rights. PARGAN SINGH v. AJKUMAR SINGH, 7 A.L.J. 77=5 Ind. Cas. 520.

(81)—Grove-holder whether as such a member of the village-community—Oudh Laws Act, s. 9—Pre-emption.—Held, that a grove-holder, i.e., a person owning trees, but having no interest in the land in which they are planted, is not, as such, a member of the village-community, within the meaning of s. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act, and cannot upon this basis claim a right of pre-emption in respect of the sale of a portion of the proprietary right. GANGOLE v. SYED KAMAR ALI KHAN, 13 O. C. 202=7 Ind. Cas. 613.

(82)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Two classes of pre-emptors—The first class of pre-emptors not claiming pre-emption—Suit by second class of pre-emptors.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village gave right of pre-emption to real brothers and nephews, and after them to the person or persons who would inherit the property from the vendor in default of real brothers and nephews. The vendor had two nephews, but they did not claim the right to pre-empt. Plaintiffs, who sued for pre-emption, were entitled to succeed to the vendor's property in default of real brothers and nephews: Held, that plaintiffs were entitled to pre-empt. The wajib-ul-arz should be construed as providing for two classes of pre-emptors, namely, (1) real brothers or nephews, and (2) the persons who would inherit the property from the vendor in default of real brothers and nephews. If no person in the first class claims pre-emption, the right devolves on any person in the second class. RAM LAL v. RAM LAL, 7 Ind. Cas. 739.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(83)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Preferential rights between a near relation and a member of the same caste.—A wajib-ul-arz provided as follows:—"The right of pre-emption is given (1) to co-sharers who are near in blood to the vendor, (2) to other co-sharers of the same caste, (3) lastly to the co-sharers of the village." Held, that under the wajib-ul-arz near relations had a preferential right over persons of the same caste. BHAGWAT DIN v. SHEO DIAL, 10 Ind. Cas. 40.

(84)—Suit for—Wajib-ul-arz silent as to priority—Construction.—Where a wajib-ul-arz is silent as to the question of priority and simply gives the right of pre-emption to a number of persons without specifying any order in which they shall be entitled to pre-empt inter se, the Court will not be justified in interpreting the wajib-ul-arz as giving the right of pre-emption to the various classes of persons named therein in the order in which they were specified. HATTI v. KUNNA, A.W.N. 1905, 101, (23 A. 42, A.W.N. 1904, 104, D.)

(85)—Wajib ul-arz, Construction of—Uncle not included in the category of bhai nakiki or bhatija hakiki.—Where a wajib-ul-arz gave a right of pre-emption on transfer of share, first, to bhai bhatija hakiki, then to bhai chachazad who may be a co-sharer of the vendor, then to the co-sharers of the patti and so on, it was held that the uncle of the vendor had no preferential right to pre-empt over the vendee, who was a first cousin of the vendor, inasmuch as he was neither a bhai hakiki nor a bhatija hakiki. Semle:—A reciprocal right to pre-empt is not to be implied where the document is silent. JANKI PRASAD v. BALDEO PRASAD, 2 A.L.J. 687.

(86)—Suit for—By a near relative based on wajib-ul-arz—Construction of wajib-ul-arz.—In this case, the plaintiff claimed the right of pre-emption on the ground that he was a near relative of the vendor and, as such, he was entitled to priority over the defendant, who had obtained a decree for foreclosure and an order absolute for foreclosure. He relied upon the wajib-ul-arz of 1864, which provided that "if a co-sharer is desirous of transferring his share, he shall transfer it, first, to his near relative, and next to co-sharers in the village, and, on their refusal, he may mortgage or sell it to any one he likes." But the defendant contended that the previous wajib-ul-arz was superseded by a later wajib-ul-arz, which provided, "Up to now there has been no suit for pre-emption, but we accept the right of pre-emption," and that this did not record a custom of pre-emption, and that the rule, which, under this wajib-ul-arz, would govern pre-emption, is the rule of Mahomedan Law. Held, that the custom of pre-emption recorded in the previous wajib-ul-arz had not been abrogated by the subsequent wajib-ul-arz, although no suit for pre-emption had been brought, and when, according to the latter, the co-sharers agreed to accept the rule of pre-emption, they clearly agreed to be bound by the rule, which, at that time, prevailed, viz., the custom recorded in the previous wajib-ul-arz; that, according to the construction of the previous wajib-ul-arz, there were two distinct classes of pre-emptors, the first class being near relatives whether they be co-sharers or not and the second class being co-sharers in the village; that the plaintiff, being a near relative of the vendor, was entitled to a decree in his favour. RAM DIN v. POKHAR SINGH, A.W.N. 1905, 97=2 A.L.J. 253=27 A. 553. (A.W.N. 1902, 109, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(87)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Presumption—Reg. VII of 1822—Evidence Act, s. 35—Pre-emption suit—Vendor, whether necessary party.—According to the ordinary principles of interpretation applicable to a wajib-ul-arz, an entry relating to pre-emption is prima facie evidence of the existence of custom. (25 A. 90, F.) Under Reg. VII of 1822, a wajib-ul-arz was prepared with the object of furnishing a Court of justice with a compendious statement of the local usages connected with land tenures, and it raised a presumption of the truth of the entries contained in it even prior to the enactment of s. 91 of Act XIX of 1873. The entries are relevant evidence under s. 35 of the Evidence Act. (A.W.N. 1904, 117, Overruled., 8 A. 434, F.) [R., 3 A.L.J. 561=A.W.N. 1906, 174.] In a suit for pre-emption, the vendor is not a necessary party. RAM SARUP v. SITAL PRASAD, 26 A. 549=1 A.L.J. 279. (6 A. 57, A.W.N. 1903, 239, F.) [R., 10 O.C. 49, F.B., 6 A.L.J. 926=6 M.L.T. 300=32 A. 14=3 Ind. Cas. 735.]

(88)—Suit to enforce right of pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Clause in, fixing price in case of dispute between vendor and pre-emptor—Prohibition of sale to stranger.—This was a suit by the plaintiffs to enforce their right of pre-emption in respect of certain property which had been sold by the defendant (a co-sharer with the plaintiffs) to a stranger for Rs. 150 in contravention of the terms of the wajib-ul-arz relating to pre-emption. The plaintiffs, in their plaint, claimed to be put in the place of the stranger vendee on payment of Rs. 23-12-0 being the value of the property according to a condition of the wajib-ul-arz regulating disputes in cases of pre-emption. This value was less than one sixth of the market-value of the property. The defendants (the vendor and the stranger vendee) pleaded, inter alia, that the clause of the wajib-ul-arz fixing the price at which a co-sharer should sell to a co-sharer was not applicable to the present case. Held, upholding the contention of the defendants, that the plaintiffs were not entitled to the relief sought. In this case, there had been a completed transfer to a stranger for a consideration which was fair and honest and this suit had been brought 6 months after the sale. Moreover, the plaintiffs claimed to be entitled to avoid the contract between the vendor and the stranger vendee by payment to the latter, not of the price he had paid (Rs. 150), but of only Rs. 23-12-0, which was an abnormally low price, calculated on a principle applying to differences between vendors and co-sharer pre-emptors only, and, this, a Court of Equity could not allow. AKBAR SINGH v. JUALA SINGH, A.W.N. 1885, 216. [F., 6 Ind. Cas. 118; D., 8 A. 102.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(89)—Purchase-money—Calculation—Wajib-ul-arz.—The clause in the wajib-ul-arz relating to pre-emption was as follows:—"Should any share-holder wish to transfer his share, he must transfer it first to the near share-holder, failing that, to the share-holder in the thoke, and last of all to a stranger, if no one of the above is willing to purchase. It is the custom to claim pre-emption in the case of conditional sale or mortgage, by offering an amount the interest of which at 1 per cent. may be equal to the profits, and in the case of an absolute sale, an amount yielding interest at 8 annas per cent. profits." The plaintiff brought the suit in respect of a sale by a co-sharer to a stranger. The plaintiff claimed pre-emption on payment of Rs. 69, which, he alleged, was the amount of consideration for the property sold, calculated upon the principle mentioned in the wajib-ul-arz and he asserted that the price stated in the sale-deed, namely, Rs. 199, was fictitious and was so stated to defeat the rights of pre-emption. The defendant did not appear to answer the suit. Held that, under the terms of the wajib-ul-arz binding on the parties, the plaintiff was entitled to buy the property in question at the rate fixed by the wajib-ul-arz, that the defendants did not dispute or even question that fact, making no answer to the suit, that the plaintiff adduced some evidence, which stood uncontradicted, that the price entered in the sale-deed was false and fictitious, that the plaintiff alleged that Rs. 69 represented the true price fixed on the basis of the rate supplied by the wajib-ul-arz, that the defendants did not deny that allegation, and that the plaintiff was therefore entitled to a decree entitling him to buy the property in question for Rs. 69. HASRAT KHAN v. JEODADH UPADHIA, A.W.N. 1887, 76. [R., 10 A. 621, 5 A.L.J. 122, Note.]

(90)—Construction of wajib-ul-arz—Amount payable by pre-emptor.—Where the clause of a wajib-ul-arz relating to the right of pre-emption provided that such right should accrue not only in respect of sales, but also in regard to conditional sales mortgages and "thika" leases, held that under its terms the right accrued, in the case of a mortgage by conditional sale, on such sale becoming absolute. (30 A. 610, R.) [R., 11 A.W.N. 185.] Where the right of pre-emption is claimed under the above circumstances, the pre-emptor is bound to pay, as the price of the property, the entire amount due under the mortgage when the sale becomes absolute. ASHIK ALI v. MATHURA KANDU, 5 A. 187 = A.W.N. 1882, 212. [F., 6 A. 344; Appl., 8 A. 502.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(91)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Pre-emption—Village site—House.—The contract embodied in a wajib-ul-arz contained the following provision:—"Every co-parcener has power to sell and part with his own share, but so long as one entitled to pre-emption comes forward as purchaser, the transfer shall not be made to a stranger." Held by the Full Bench (Mahmood, J., dissenting) that the word "share" (hakkiyat) connoted exclusively the co-parcener's estate in the cultivated area of the mahal and that the village site with its houses and other tenements could not be governed by the contract embodied in the wajib-ul-arz; consequently, no suit for pre-emption lay in respect of such houses. ISHRI v. THAKUR DIN AND SAHIB RAM v. KISHEN SINGH, A.W.N. 1882, 192, F.B. [F., 4 A.L.J. 197, Note; R., 10 A. 553, 7 A. 626, F.B., 7 A. 633, F.B., 12 A. 426, F.B.]

(92)—Wajib-ul-arz—Price—Power given by wajib-ul-arz to appoint arbitrator to settle price—Wajio-ul-arzunenforcible.—Where the terms of the wajib-ul-arz were that, when there was a dispute with respect to the price of a property, the matter should be referred to arbitration and, if the parties, did not refer it, the Collector should have power to appoint an arbitrator; held, that the clause was incapable of enforcement and the wajib-ul-arz did not enable a Court to fix a substitute for the contract entered into between the vendor and the vendee a different contract with regard to the consideration for the sale. MEHI LAL v. CHET RAM, 3 A.L.J. 479.

(93)—Wajib-ul-arz—Clause incapable of enforcement—Arbitrator to settle price.—A wajib-ul-arz contained the following clause:—"If a co-sharer, being in collusion and concert with a stranger.....gets an improper and unreasonable price settled for the property through animosity or with the intention of causing disturbance in the village, and if there be a dispute as regards the price, the price shall be settled by an arbitrator, who shall be nominated by mutual consent. If none of the parties be willing to refer the matter to arbitration, the Collector shall have power to appoint an arbitrator on behalf of the Government and to have the price settled." Held, that the clause in question could not be enforced. The Collector has no power on behalf of Government to appoint an arbitrator and the Court is not entitled to vary the contract entered into between the vendor and vendee. It cannot fix "a reasonable price" or, indeed, any price other than that actually paid. CHAUDHARI MEHI LAL SINGH v. LAKHPAT SINGH, A.W. N. 1906, 218.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(94)—Pre-emption—Purchase money—Interest on money prepaid by vendee to vendor—Registration Act (III of 1877), s. 17, cl. (c)—Receipt for money paid prior to sale.—All that a pre-emptor has to pay to the vendee is the sum actually representing the purchase-money; interest chargeable on amounts prepaid by the vendee to the vendor before the date of sale cannot be levied from him. The mere fact that the pre-emptor is not legally bound to pay the interest, which is shown as part of the consideration for the sale, does not mean that the parties to the sale did not fix the price in good faith within the meaning of s. 22 of the Punjab Pre-emption Act. A receipt for money paid previous to a sale by the vendees to the vendor is not compulsorily registrable under cl. (c) of s. 17 of the Registration Act, if the sale was not completed when the money was paid. SAYAD RUKH ABDULLA SHAH v. DAYALA MAL, 54 P.L.R. 1910 = 8 Ind. Cas. 233.

(95)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz, Construction of—Perfect partition of mahal under N. W P. Land Revenue Act, XIX of 1873—No new wajib-ul-arz framed for separated mahals—Hissadar deh—Applicability of old Wajib-ul-arz to newly partitioned mahals—Presumption against.—The record as to the custom of pre-emption in the wajib ul-arz of a certain village was as follows:—"If any hissadar wishes to transfer his share (hissa), first he will transfer it to his own brother, then to his near relatives, thirdly to owners in the village who are partners in the same khata, fourthly to the hissadaran deh." There was a perfect partition of the village under the N.W.P. Land Revenue Act, 1873; but no new wajib-ul-arz for any of the new mahals was framed at or since the partition. On a certain land in one of the new mahals being sold to a stranger, a co-sharer of the vendor in the undivided mahal, but who, since the partition, owned a share only in another of the new mahals, claimed pre-emption under the old wajib-ul-arz as a hissadar deh. Held, by the Full Bench, upon the construction of the wajib-ul-arz, that he was not entitled to pre-empt. [F., 6 A.L.J. 958 = 32 A. 63, 1 Ind. Cas. 504, 3 Ind. Cas. 827; R., 7 A.L.J. 133; D., 28 A. 614 = A.W.N. 1906, 134.] Upon a perfect partition of a mahal under the N.W.P. Land Revenue Act, 1873, where no wajib-ul-arz has been framed for any of the new mahals, it is incorrect to say that the old wajib-ul-arz necessarily disappears or ceases to exist. Whether the pre-emption clause in a wajib-ul-arz constitutes a contract or is a record of custom, its operation after a perfect partition of the mahal depends in each case upon the proper construction of the particular contract or the proper interpretation of the custom recorded, in the absence of any evidence as to the intention of the co-sharers at the time of partition. But there is a strong presumption against such a claim when made by persons who are no longer co-sharers of the vendors and, where the language of the wajib-ul-arz is ambiguous, this presumption may be decisive. DALGANJAN SINGH v. KALKA SINGH, 22 A. 1, F.B. = A.W.N. 1899, 111. [F., 1 A.L.J. 33, 2 A.L.J. 261, 27 A. 602 = A.W.N. 1905, 115 = 2 A.L.J. 313; R., 133 P.R. 1907, F.B. = 84 P.W. R. 1907 = 88 P.L.R. 1908, 29 A. 295 = A.W.N. 1907, 39 = 4 A.L.J. 137, 6 A.L.J. 715 = 3 Ind. Cas. 534; D., 28 A. 286 = 2 A.L.J. 833 = A.W. N. 1906, 2, 31 A. 274 = 6 A.L.J. 180 = 2 Ind. Cas. 208.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(96)—Possession in lieu of dower—Wajib-ul-arz.—Where a wajib-ul-arz gives the right of pre-emption to “co-sharers” in the village in cases of transfers by other co-sharers to strangers, a person in possession in lieu of dower is not a co-sharer within the meaning of the wajib-ul-arz. KHAIRUNNISSA BIBI v. AMIN BIBI, A.W. N. 1887, 93. [Appr., 20 A. 19; D., 7 A.L.J. 775.]

(97)—Suit for pre-emption — Usufructuary lease—Wajib-ul-arz.—Where the terms of an administration paper were that in cases of transfer by “sale, etc.” a preferential claim might be raised: Held, that an usufructuary lease for 8 years was as much a transfer as an mortgage for the same term, as the condition of the administration paper included all transfers permanent and temporary; and co-sharers would have preferential right over a stranger, and the transfer should be offered to them in the first instance. AHMED ALI KHAN v. AHMED, 1 Agra 101.

(98)—Wajib-ul-arz — Pre-emptor accepting lease of property in suit from the vendee.—Where, in a suit, for pre-emption based upon a custom declared in the wajib-ul-arz it was found that the pre-emptor had, with knowledge of his right as pre-emptor, accepted a lease of the land claimed from the vendee, it was held, that this amounted to such an acquiescence in the sale as would bar the plaintiff's right of suit. KISHAN LAL v. ISHRI, A.W.N. 1905, 260 = 28 A. 237.

(99)—Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872), s. 10—Pre-emption—Mouza Mangal Kolha, District Kangra—Right of pre-emption in Kangra District different from elsewhere, and restricted to certain persons—Burden of proof—Presumption—Admissibility of wajib-ul-arz of other villages to prove custom in a particular village.—In the Kangra District, the custom of pre-emption is different from elsewhere, and pre-emption is only recognized, where the land is ancestral and the pre-emptor is descended from the common ancestor. The presumption is that the custom of one village is similar to the custom of other villages in the Kangra District and a person setting up a contrary one is bound to prove it. LAHRU v. NARAIN, 1 Ind. Cas. 477 = 42 P.W.R. 1909.

(100)—Wajib-ul-arz — Successive wajib-ul-arzes not in agreement—Custom—Evidence of Rights, inter se—Remand.—Where the question was as to the existence in a village of a custom conferring a preferential right of pre-emption upon a co-sharer in the same thok, and it appeared that while the later wajib-ul-arzes of 1862 and 1876 recognized such a custom, the earliest wajib-ul-arz of 1833 recorded only a custom that gave no preference inter se to co-sharers of the village; held, (Richards, J. dubitante) that there was legal evidence of the existence of the custom claimed (A.W.N. 1897, 3, R.) The principle of English Common Law that a custom is not proved if it is not known to have been immemorial, cannot be applied in these provinces. GOKUL DICHIT v. MAHARAJ DICHIT, 2 A.L.J. 790 = A.W.N. 1905, 266. (17 A. 87, R.) [R., 6 Ind. Cas. 839.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(101)—Pre-emption — Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Rules of the Board of Revenue for the settlement of the Gorakhpur and Basti districts (B.E.C., 8—1, s. (33)—Evidence.—Under the rules framed by the Board of Revenue for the settlement of the Gorakhpur and Basti districts, a settlement officer is, with regard to mehals which belong to Muhammadan proprietors, not only authorized but required to record in the memorandum of village customs a note of any custom or constitution peculiar to the mahal, including a custom of pre-emption. RAMZAN CHAUDHRI v. ABDUL GHANI, A.W. N. 1901, 115.

(102)—Pre-emption — Wajib-ul-arz — Custom—Prior wajib-ul-arz recording a custom of pre-emption—Subsequent wajib-ul-arz containing an entry to the effect that the custom did not exist—Evidence.—Upon the question whether the custom of pre-emption prevailed in certain villages a wajib-ul-arz of 1860 was cited, in which the custom was recorded as subsisting. On the other hand, there was a subsequent wajib-ul-arz of 1887, in which, under the heading of pre-emption, was recorded the entry “Nadarad.” Held, that this latter entry amounted to more than mere silence as to whether the custom of pre-emption did or did not exist in 1887, and an issue was referred as to the question of the existence or non-existence of the custom. RAM LAGAN v. RAM UGRAH, A.W.N. 1901, 29. (16 A. 40, D. 2 A. 876, R.) [Overruled., 25 A. 90, F.B.]

(103)—Wajib-ul-arz of 1866 — Evidentiary value of entry.—Where a wajib-ul-arz of 1866 produced in support of a claim for pre-emption contained an entry as to pre-emptive right opening with the words, “every co-sharer is entitled to transfer.....but the condition is that he must do so, firstly, in favour of near co-sharers, &c.,” held that a wajib-ul-arz prepared and attested according to law is prima facie evidence of the existence of any custom of pre-emption it records and that the opening words were indicative of a customary right and not of a right created by contract which would be determined on the expiry of the period during which that settlement lasted. ALI NASAR KHAN v. MANIK CHAND, 25 A. 90 = A.W.N. 1902, 207. (A.W.N. 1897, 3, 2 A. 876, 8 A. 434, R.) [R., 26 A. 10, 26 A. 549 = A.W.N. 1904, 128 = 1 A. L.J. 278.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*cld.

(104)—Wajib-ul-arz—Pre-emption clause—Custom—New contract—Burden of proof.—If a wajib-ul-arz clearly shows that a clause as to pre-emption embodies a new contract entered into by the co-sharers, at the time the wajib-ul-arz was prepared, it would be necessary for the plaintiff claiming pre-emption to prove that he, or some one through whom he claims, was an assenting party to the contract; but that, if the wajib-ul-arz does not show or otherwise prove that the pre-emption clause was thereby the embodiment of a new contract as to pre-emption, the reasonable and proper construction to place upon such a document would be that the pre-emption clause was merely the recital of a pre-emption custom in force in the village; in such a case it would be for the defendant in a pre-emption suit to prove clearly that no such custom existed and that the vendor and the plaintiff had not agreed to be bound by it. SAVAK SINGH v. GIRJA PANDE, 2 A. L.J. 6 = A.W.N. 1903, 16. (A.W.N. 1897, 3, F.) [R., 2 Ind. Cas. 623; D., 5 A.L.J. 470 = A.W.N. 1908, 121.]

(105)—Wajib-ul-arz not signed by vendor—Onus.—Where the vendee of certain property regarding which a right of pre-emption was asserted, pleaded that the wajib-ul-arz on which the right had been based, was not signed by the vendor, held that it was for the vendee to show that the vendor was no party to it, had no knowledge of its contents or had repudiated it as not binding on her. If they failed to show this, the condition of pre-emption would bind her. BHAWANT SINGH v. SAHIB SINGH, A.W.N. 1882, 87.

(106)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Implied assent to contents by vendor.—Where a vendor, against whom a right of pre-emption is raised based upon an agreement recorded in the wajib-ul-arz, did not sign the wajib-ul-arz, nor his authorized agent attested it on his behalf, although the vendor was present when the document was attested and did not raise any objection to its contents for ten years after the attestation, held that the vendor should be taken to have accepted the wajib-ul-arz as binding upon him. BADAL v. RAM DIAL, A.W.N. 1881, 26.

(107)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Agreement recorded in absence of vendor.—Where a vendor of certain lands in a village was absent from the village when an agreement was recorded in the wajib-ul-arz of the village in which the land was situate and it was not attested by him, and he returned to the village a short time before he sold the property, held that he was not bound by the agreement, and it should not be inferred from his silence on his return that he assented thereto. JAIRAM v. BAHADUR, A.W.N. 1881, 20.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*cld.

(108)—Wajib-ul-arz—Stipulation against alienation by one co-parcener without consent of others—Pre-emption.—A stipulation in the wajib-ul-arz merely prohibiting alienation by any member of the co-parcenary body without the consent of the other sharers, does not confer a right of pre-emption on a co-sharer, and, on the basis of this stipulation, no decree for pre-emption can be given, but the co-sharer is entitled to obtain a decree cancelling the sales which have been made without his consent. GAYADEEN v. RAMSAHAI, 2 Agra 381.

(109)—Wajib-ul-arz—Sir land.—The suit was to enforce the right of pre-emption in respect of 6 'bighas' 16 'bis-was' and 4 dhurs of sir land situated in a village, the claim being based on the wajib-ul-arz of the village. The pre-emptive clause in the wajib-ul-arz was as follows:—"In the event of any special necessity, or of the accrual of the Government revenue, we have all of us the power to sell or mortgage the entire village. Should any sharer wish to transfer his own share, he must first offer it to sharers in the village. If they refuse to take it, or to give a fair price, he may then transfer it to a stranger." Held that the plaintiff was not entitled to pre-empt as the sale was not of a transfer of a share in the zamindari, but only of a specifically defined right, viz., the sir holding of the sharer. HAZARI LAL v. UGRAH RAI, A.W.N. 1884, 103. (N.W.P.H.C. 1875, 43, A.W.N. 1882, 192, R.) [Diss., 7 A. 626, F.B.; Not F., 7 A. 633; R., 12 A. 426, 3 Ind. Cas. 461.]

(110)—Wajib-ul-arz—Co-sharers in patti—Purchaser of sir land.—In a suit for pre-emption founded on the wajib-ul-arz, under which a shareholder wishing to sell or mortgage was to do so to co-sharers in the patti, where the vendee set up as a defence that he was a co-sharer in the patti and based his claim to be a co-sharer in the patti on the fact that a co-sharer in the patti had sold him some sir land, held that it was unsafe to generalize that a sale of sir land was equivalent to a sale of a shareholder's rights in the patti, and that to be a shareholder within the meaning of the wajib-ul-arz, a person must have all rights and be subject to all the obligations and liabilities attaching to the proprietary body in the mahal or patti, such as the right to the profits and the liability for the revenue, and in fact all rights and obligations, and that before deciding whether the defendant by purchasing a piece of land called sir from a shareholder in the patti, had obtained a shareholder's interest, the actual facts of the sale must be ascertained. RAGHUNATH SINGH v. GOPAL SINGH, A.W.N. 1886, 144. [R., 3 Ind. Cas. 461, 6 Ind. Cas. 169.]

(111)—Pre-emption, suit for—Clause for pre-emption in wajib-ul-arz on sale of "share"—Co-sharer transferring his ex-proprietary rights in

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

sir land—Pre-emption in respect of such transfer, if legal.—This was a suit for a declaration of plaintiffs' pre-emptive right in a certain village, in respect of which a sale of their shares was made by the defendants-vendors (co-sharers with plaintiffs) to the defendant-vendee (a stranger). The provision of the wajib-ul-arz relating to pre-emption was that when a co-sharer desired to sell his "share," i.e., his proprietary interest as a co-sharer, he must first offer it to his co-sharers and that he could sell it to a stranger only when the offer was refused by them. In this case, the defendants-vendors, in addition to disposing of their "shares" in the village, sold also to the defendant-vendee by deed on the same day their rights as ex-proprietors in the sir-lands of the village. The defendant vendee contended that the right of pre-emption, as created by the wajib-ul-arz, could not be exercised in respect of this latter transaction. Held, allowing the contention, that the plaintiffs had a pre-emptive right only in respect of the "shares" in the village which had been transferred to the stranger by the defendants-vendors. The wajib-ul-arz did not contemplate a transfer by a co-sharer of an interest which only accrued to him upon his divesting himself of his proprietary rights; that is to say, there is no right of pre-emption in respect of those ex-proprietary rights which by the law accrue to a co-sharer who sells his proprietary rights. PARSHAD SINGH v. SADHARI LAL, A.W.N. 1885, 220.

(112)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz, Construction of—Partition.—Where a mauza originally consisting of one mahal was divided by perfect partition into three mahals and a separate wajib-ul-arz was prepared for each of them in which was inserted the following clause relating to pre-emption:—"The co-sharers of the mauza, provided they pay the proper price, can become pre-emptors when a transfer of property is made." Held that the right of pre-emption was not limited to co-sharers in the mahal in which the property sold was situated. MATA DIN v. MAHESH PRASAD, A.W.N. 1892, 100. [D., 22 A. 1; R., 17 A. 226, 27 A. 604 = 2 A.L.J. 313 = A.W.N. 1905, 115.]

(113)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz, Construction of—Effect of perfect partition on different classes of pre-emptors existing before partition.—A village consisted of two thoks. It was subsequently divided into six mahals by perfect partition. The wajib-ul-arz prior to partition gave a right of pre-emption, first to the hissadarkaribi, then to hissadar thok, and then to hissadaran of other thoks. The plaintiffs would have been co-sharers in one of the thoks if partition had not taken place. After partition, they were co-sharers in one of the mahals, but not in that which was the subject of pre-emption: Held, that, the thoks having been destroyed by perfect partition, the plaintiffs were no longer co-sharers in any thok. Further, that they, being co-sharers in the mahal other than that which was the subject matter of sale, had no rights of pre-emption. BABU GOBI KISHUN v. BABU ISRI PRASAD, 1 Ind. Cas. 504. (22 A. 1, F.B., F., 28 A. 286, D.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(114)—Suit for—Custom recorded in the settlement wajib-ul-arz—Partition of village into two different mahals—Wajib-ul-arz prepared at the time of partition recording the right of—Right of a share-holder in one mahal to pre-empt the share sold in another—Construction of wajib-ul-arz.—The settlement wajib-ul-arz of a village provided that any co-sharer, who wishes to sell his share, must sell it first to sharers descended from a common ancestor, next to hissidar in the patti, and on their refusal, to shurkayandeh, that is, co-sharers in the village. Twelve years after the settlement, the village was divided into two mahals by perfect partition, and the wajib-ul-arz, prepared at the time of partition, maintained the custom regarding the right of pre-emption as recorded in the settlement wajib-ul-arz. The plaintiff, a sharer of one mahal, claims, on the basis of the settlement wajib-ul-arz, to pre-empt a share sold in the other mahal to a stranger. The question in dispute was, whether, after a partition of a village, a sharer of one mahal can claim to pre-empt a share sold in another mahal when a right of pre-emption is given under the new wajib-ul-arz to the co-sharers of the village. Held, that the wajib-ul-arz contemplates share-holders in an unbroken village, and not persons, who to all intents and purposes, are strangers to the mahal in which the property is situated. It contemplates only one class of share holders in the village, viz., those who are co-sharers. The plaintiff not being a co-sharer, is not such a share-holder in the village, as is contemplated by the settlement wajib-ul-arz. Hence, his suit for pre-emption fails. MATHRA PRASAD v. NEM CHAND, 2 A.L.J. 261. (22 A. 1, F.B., 1 A.L.J. 33, F.)

(115)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation of document—Partition of village—New wajib-ul-arz, prepared after partition.—The determination of an alleged right of pre-emption must depend upon the particular circumstances of each case and the evidence adduced in support of the pre-emptive right. The wajib-ul-arz of a village before partition provided for pre-emption in the following way; "Rights of co-sharers as among themselves on the basis of custom or of agreement. The custom of pre-emption obtains. In the case of sale of property by a co-sharer, another co-sharer in the mouza can bring a suit for pre-emption. If he offers a low price, then the vendor can sell the property to a stranger." The village was subsequently split up into three mahals by perfect partition. New wajib-ul-arzes were drawn up after partition, and the condition as to pre-emption ran as follows: "Right of co-sharers inter se based on custom or agreement. The custom of pre-emption prevails. In this case one co-sharer sells his share (hakit), another co-sharer in the village (hissedarsharik mauza) can claim pre-emption. If he offers a smaller price, the seller can sell it to a stranger." The plaintiff pre-emptor was a co-sharer in one of the mohals, and the property sold was situate in another mahal. The vendee was a stranger to the village. The entire body of co-sharers in the village were Muhammadans of the same stock, and continued so up to the time of partition;—Held, upon a construction of the language of the wajib-ul-arz and the circumstances of the case, that the intention was to exclude strangers, and that the rule of pre-emption, as it had existed, was to prevail. CHEPUR v. ABDUL HAKIM, 8 A.L.J. 23.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(116)—Pre-emption—Muhammadan law—Wajib-ul-arz—Mahals having common appurtenances.—The wajib-ul-arz of a mahal to which certain shamilat land appertained in common with another mahal contained a provision that the right of pre-emption should be exercised according to the rules of Muhammadan law. Held that such provision did not give a right of pre-emption to the sharers in the second mahal in respect of land in the first, as against sharers in the first mahal, merely by virtue of their sharing in the common appurtenances. NAZIR-UD-DIN v. KADIR BAKSH, A.W.N. 1894, 193. [R., 17 A. 226, 7 A.L.J. 660.]

(117)—Wajib-ul-arz—Sale whether includes an exchange—Re-transfer to vendor's widows—cause of action.—Where a wajib-ul-arz provided a right of pre-emption in case of a sale and, further, that if there was a dispute in the price, it was to be settled by means of panchait, held that the words were wide enough and included transfer by way of exchange. Where the vendor died after the transfer leaving an adopted son, but before the suit for pre-emption was brought, the property was retransferred to his widows, who were not made parties to the suit, held that the pre-emptor had a good cause of action to maintain the suit. BHAGWAN SINGH v. KHARAG SINGH, 4 A.L.J. 756 = A.W.N. 1907, 280. (7 A. 626, R.)

(118)—Wajib-ul-arz—Record of contract—Termination of contract with settlement.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village of the year 1866, recited "so far there have been no sales or mortgages to strangers, but in future if any co-sharer wishes to transfer, he shall do so first to co-sharer, &c." Held, that this was a record of contract which came to an end with the settlement. After the settlement which terminated the contract, there was no right of pre-emption in the village. GOPAL DAS v. TEJ SINGH, 4 A.L.J. 191 = A.W.N. 1907, 87.

(119)—Pre-emption—Mortgage by conditional sale without possession—Wajib-ul-arz—Transfer—Transfer of Property Act s. 58.—Where the wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of pre-emption in respect of a "transfer" by the sharers of their rights and interests by sale and mortgage such right would arise on a mortgage by conditional sale, even though without possession, for it is a transfer of an interest in immoveable property with reference to the terms of s. 58 of the Transfer of Property Act. AZIMAN BIBI v. AMIR ALI, 7 A. 343 = A.W.N. 1885, 46. (7 A. 258, F.B., F.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(120)—Interpretation of document—Suit for pre-emption—Mortgage by conditional sale—Cause of action.—This was a suit for pre-emption. Certain property was mortgaged by way of conditional sale in favour of the appellant, who, in a suit for foreclosure, obtained a decree in his favour. The claim for pre-emption was based on the village wajib-ul-arz, the provisions of which as to pre-emption were as follows:—"If any co-sharer would sell his share, he must offer it to the bira aran haqiqi shariq haqiyat. If they refuse, then to the other co-sharers of his patti. If none of his patti will take it, then to the owners of another patti. If all the owners of the khalsa will not purchase, then the owners of Chak Bazyaft shall have a right to pre-emption, and if they refuse, the owner may sell to whomsoever he likes. So, too, in the sale of Chak Bazyaft, precedence must be given to the Khalsawalas. In order to decide the price, if the shafi offer Rs. 200 per biswa to the purchaser in case of sale or Rs. 150 in case of mortgage, the property cannot be transferred to an outsider (two kul padast, ghair mantaqil na karsakega)." Held, that, though the plaintiff could, under the wajib-ul-arz at the time when the deed of conditional sale was first executed, have claimed to take over the bargain, yet two causes of action arise, first at the time when the deed is executed, and again when the mortgage is foreclosed (3. A. 610, R.) Held, also that the terms of the wajib-ul-arz, fixing the price to be paid by the pre-emptor are of the nature of a covenant running with the land and are enforceable even against bona fide purchasers. BAHADUR SINGH v. RAM SINGH, 27 A. 12 = A.W.N. 1904, 149 = 1 A.L.J. 353. (8 A. 102, R.) [D., 7 A.L.J. 504 = 6 Ind. Cas. 118.]

(121)—Pre-emption—Mortgage by conditional sale—Accrual of right of pre-emption, when sale becomes absolute—Wajib-ul-arz—Partition of mahal.—The wajib-ul-arz of a mahal framed in 1883, when the village mahal was undivided, contained the following provision as to pre-emption—"Should a sharer of any patti sell his share, he will sell it first to subordinate sharers; if they refuse to take it, then to proprietors of the mahal; and in case of refusal by all the sharers before-mentioned, he shall have power to transfer it to a stranger." While this wajib-ul-arz was in force, namely, in 1890, certain property to which its provisions applied was mortgaged by a deed of conditional sale. In 1894, after partition of the mahal, a new wajib-ul-arz was framed for the mahal in which the mortgaged property was situated, which also contained a similar record of the custom of pre-emption in the following terms:—"Should a sharer sell his share, he will sell it first to his subordinate sharers, afterwards to a sharer in the mahal, and in the case of refusal by the sharer in the mahal, to a sharer in the old mahal." Held that the record as to the right of pre-emption being in both the cases the record of a custom, and the provisions of the later wajib-ul-arz being capable of application to the circumstances of the case, a right of pre-emption, accrued upon the mortgage by conditional sale becoming an absolute sale in favour of a stranger. RAM BAHADUR RAI v. PARMESHWAR BHARTI, 24 A. 493 = A.W.N. 1902, 164. (3 A. 610, 14 A. 341, 20 A. 103, D.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(122)—Pre-emption—Conditional vendee, effect of subsequent village Wajib-ul-arz on the rights of.—The terms of wajib-ul-arz subsequent to the effecting of a conditional sale, but before such sale becomes absolute, cannot have the effect of altering the legal and equitable rights which the conditional vendee has acquired by dint of the agreement contained in the deed of conditional sale. No subsequent village contract to which the parties to the conditional sale were not agreeing parties could affect their rights which came into existence on the execution of the deed of conditional sale. BECHAN RAI v. NAND KISHORE RAI, 14 A. 341 = A.W.N. 1892, 18. (A.W.N. 1891, 134, D.) [D., 24 A. 493.]

(123)—Pre-emption—Clause in wajib-ul-arz relating to transfer of shares—Vendor acquiring property under claim of pre-emption not estopped from pleading non-execution of the right to portion of the property.—The claimant of pre-emption in this case had in fact two rights, a right of pre-emption in the thoke in which he held a share superior to that enjoyed by the co-sharers of the mahal, whose shares lay in other thokes, and a right of pre-emption in the other thokes inferior to the right possessed by the co-sharers in those thokes. The question for determination therefore was whether there could be such a thing as a divided right of pre-emption, whether a shareholder can sue to obtain by right of pre-emption that portion of the property included in a deed of sale to which he had a preferential claim to the exclusion of the remaining portion of the property to which he may not have the same preferential claim or only have an equal claim with the others. The question as to the right of the plaintiff to thus claim pre-emption of a portion only of the shares sold in the village was referred for the opinion of the Full Bench which determined that, under the circumstances, the claim was maintainable. With regard to the other plea that the right of pre-emption could not extend to the bungalow and the premises originally held under lease, it was held that the right of pre-emption was only intended to extend to the ordinary rights of a zemindar in the village and to such buildings in the village as were held originally with such zemindari right, and it could not extend to such property as a bungalow for family residence, a factory or a garden. SALIG RAM v. DEBI PARSHAD, 7 N.W.P. 38, F.B. [Appr., 7 A. 720 = 5 A.W.N. 206; R., 10 A. 182 = 8 A.W.N. 55, 24 A. 218 = 22 A.W.N. 27, 6 A. 423 = 4 A.W.N. 146.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(124)—Sale effected without registered instrument—Fraud—Wajib-ul-arz—Transfer of Property Act, s. 54.—Where the wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of pre-emption in respect of the "transfer" of a share wholly or in part, by sale or mortgage, such a right arose in the case of a transaction by which one of the co-sharers transferred the possession of his share to a stranger for consideration, and had mutation of names effected in the revenue records, but in order to avoid or defeat any claim of pre-emption, omitted to execute and register a sale-deed (although it was necessary) in respect of the transfer. (By the Full Bench, Mahmood, J., dissenting). Per Petheram, C.J.—Though no transfer under the Transfer of Property Act took place, the transaction afforded grounds for a suit for specific performance by the vendee, in which he could claim and obtain a transfer of the legal estate by execution and registration of a sale-deed. The transaction was, therefore, one which, under the terms of the wajib-ul-arz, gave rise to the right of pre-emption. Per Straight, J.—Where the parties deliberately omitted to observe the necessary legal formality of a registered instrument, with the object of defeating any claim of pre-emption, it was doubtful whether a Court of equity would be justified in allowing the vendor and the vendee (defendants) to set up against the plaintiff (the pre-emptor), and in giving effect to, a defence based upon their own intentional evasion of the law. Per Oldfield and Brodhurst, JJ.—The failure of the parties to the sale to comply with the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act as to the manner in which the transfer should be effected did not alter the nature of the transaction, or affect the fact that a sale had been made, or the right of the pre-emptor arising from it. Per Mahmood, J.—A valid and perfected sale is a condition precedent to the exercise of the right of pre-emption. If the proprietary title has validly passed from the vendor to the vendee, the pre-emptive suit will lie. If it still continues in the vendor owing to the absence of a registered conveyance, the suit cannot lie. JANKI v. GIRJADAT, 7 A. 482, F.B. A.W.N. = 1885, 97. [R., 14 A. 333, 16 A. 344, F.B., 7 O.C. 98; D., 16 M. 464.]

(125)—Record of rights.—Where the greater portion of land in a village is divided into a number of thokes, each thoke, belonging to a number of sharers, the remaining land being held in common by all the co-sharers in the village, and the record-of-rights provides for a right of pre-emption among sharers of the same thoke, such right cannot be claimed as regards a share in one thoke by a share in another thoke, on the ground that he is a sharer in the common lands along with all the sharers in the village. MAYA RAM v. LACHHO, 2 A. 631.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(126)—Wajib-ul-arz, of 1864—Record of custom—Subsequent wajib-ul-arz—Right only recognised—Mahomedan Law, no application of.—In the wajib-ul-arz of 1864, it was provided that if a share-holder desired to transfer his share, "the right of pre-emption was possessed first by his near brother, secondly, by the sharers in the patti....&c." In the next settlement of 1894, a new wajib-ul-arz was prepared in the following words:—"custom as to pre-emption, no case of pre-emption has yet taken place but the right of pre-emption is acknowledged." Held, that the wajib-ul-arz of 1864 was a record of custom and the latter wajib-ul-arz, was a recognition by the parties of the custom prevailing under the earlier wajib-ul-arz, and that the Mahomedan Law did not therefore apply. DAULAT v. MATHURA, 3 A.L.J. 207=28 A. 456=A.W.N. 1906, 92.

(127)—Wajib-ul-arz embodying contract—Period of settlement, expiry of, after sale and institution of suit but before decree—Right to obtain decree.—The plaintiff sued for pre-emption on the basis of a wajib-ul-arz which was a record of contract. The suit was defended, and, during the pendency of the suit, the period of settlement, and with it, the contract, came to an end. Held, that the plaintiff's position was not changed, and his right at the time of the decree being exactly the same right as he had at the time of the institution of the suit, he was entitled to decree. GOPAL PRASAD v. BADAL SINGH, 6 A.L.J. 51=31 A. 111=1 Ind. Cas. 819. [D., 5 N.L.R. 136.]

(128)—Mauza Gohan in Hoshiarpur—Pre-emption in case of mortgages—Omission to bid at Court auction—Provision in wajib-ul-arz—Whether affects general law.—The custom of pre-emption attaches to mortgages in mauza Gohan in Hoshiarpur and extends to transfer of a mortgage or a sale of mortgagee's rights in Court auction. This right would not be lost to a person entitled to it merely because he omits to bid at Court auction. If the wajib-ul-arz contains any provision with regard to pre-emption it must not be taken to mean to affect in any way the general law as regards pre-emption but in addition to it. MUHAMMAD BAKSH v. SIRDAR RAJINDAR SINGH, 121 P.R. 1888. [R., 46 P.R. 1909; Cited, 3 P.R. 1903=39 P.L.R. 1903.]

(129)—Partition—Wajib-ul-arz—Old wajib-ul-arz copied verbatim in new wajib-ul-arz—Intention—'Gaon,' meaning of.—A village was divided by perfect partition into several mahals, and wajib-ul-arzes were prepared for the several mahals. The wajib-ul-arzes so prepared were verbatim copies of the settlement wajib-ul-arz, which recorded a custom of pre-emption. Held, that the wajib-ul-arzes did not record a new contract, but the pre-existing custom, which the members of the co-parcenary body desired to perpetuate notwithstanding the disintegration of the village for fiscal purposes. (22 A. 1, 12 A.W.N. 100, F.) A village does not cease to exist by reason of the sub-division of its area into separate mahals. Where, on a partition, several wajib-ul-arzes were prepared each giving a right of pre-emption to a co-sharer in the gaon, held, that the Court was bound to construe the words according to their plain sense and the word 'gaon' should not be held to mean mahal. Held, further, that a co-sharer in the gaon (village) was a pre-emptor. AUSERI LAL v. RAM BHAIAN, A.W.N. 1905, 115=2 A.L.J. 313=27 A. 602. (7 A. 772, 17 A. 226, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(130)—Wajib-ul-arz—Rights and interests—Haqiyat—Qimat—Sale—Exchange.—Where the wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of pre-emption in respect of the transfer by a co-sharer of his rights and interests (haqiyat), whereby his partners could claim the property at the price (qimat) paid by the vendee, held, by the Full Bench, that the right arose on an exchange by a co-sharer of one specific piece of land for another, as the transaction amounted to a transfer of haqiyat within the terms of the wajib-ul-arz, and that the plot of land given in exchange for the land transferred must be considered as a price (qimat). Per Mahmood, J.—In the law of pre-emption, the term "qimat" includes not only money, but other kinds of property capable of being valued at a definite sum of money; and in this sense, it may be taken to cover the consideration of sale as well, as of exchange as defined in ss. 54 and 118 respectively of the Transfer of Property Act. NIAMAT ALI v. ASMAT BIBI, 7 A. 626, F.B.=A.W.N. 1885, 183. (2 A.W.N. 192, R.; 4 A.W.N. 103, Diss.) [F., 4 A.L.J. 195, Note, 4 A.L.J. 756=A.W.N. 1907, 280; R., 10 A. 553, 12 A. 426, F.B.; D., 17 A. 447.]

(131)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Pre-emptive rights not extending to land in the abadi—'Haqiyat,' meaning of.—Statements contained in a wajib-ul-arz or khewat with reference to rights of pre-emption possessed by the co-sharers do not under ordinary circumstances have any reference to land situated within the area of the village site. JADUNATH RAI v. MAHADEO PRASAD SINGH, A.W.N. 1896, 99. (A.W.N. 1882, 192, R.)

(132)—Wajib-ul-arz—"Haqiyat"—Meaning.—In a suit to enforce the right of pre-emption in respect of a piece of land, where the suit was based on the wajib-ul-arz which provided that, "if any co-sharer wishes to sell or mortgage the 'haqiyat,' he should transfer to certain persons in the village community before he transferred to strangers," and it appeared that the land in suit was virtually "abadi" land, held that the clause in the wajib-ul-arz relating to pre-emption did not apply to such land, that the word haqiyat did not include such land, and that the suit should be dismissed. RUP RAM v. MANGNI, A.W.N. 1886, 136. [Not F., 12 A. 426, F.B.]

(133)—Wajib-ul-arz, interpretation of—Kimat—Usufructuary mortgage—Simple mortgage

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

and lease.—Where, in the entry regarding pre-emption in a wajib-ul-arz, the words muntakil kare (transfer) and kimat (price) were used, held, that a right of pre-mortgage would arise in the event of a co-sharer making a usufructuary mortgage of his share in favour of a stranger. Having regard to the object which underlies the provisions as to pre-emption in a village administration paper, viz., the prevention thereby of intrusion of strangers into the village community, the word kimat should be interpreted to include the consideration given for a usufructuary mortgage with possession as well as for a sale. In this case, the plaintiff pre-emptor was allowed to prove by evidence aliunde that a deed of simple mortgage and a lease together represented a transaction of usufructuary mortgage. HULAS RAI v. RAM PRASD, 3 A.L.J. 215 = A.W.N. 1906, 82 = 28 A. 454.

(134)—Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872), s. 12 (a) and (b)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz allowing right of pre-emption in case of ancestral land—Jointness no ground of pre-emption, when land not ancestral.—‘Yakjaddi,’ meaning of—Plea not raised in Lower Courts or in grounds of appeal, but first raised in course of argument in Chief Court, tenability of.—Where the wajib-ul-arz allowed a right of pre-emption only to ‘Yakjaddis,’ and it was not proved that the land in suit had descended from an ancestor common to the plaintiff and the vendor: Held, that the plaintiff could not be treated as a Yakjaddi, nor could plaintiff claim pre-emption on the mere ground of jointness, in the face of the express and exhaustive statement of custom in the Wajib-ul-arz. An appellant cannot be allowed to raise in the course of argument a plea not raised in either of the Lower Courts or in the grounds of appeal. BISHNA v. PHULI, 1 Ind. Cas. 478 = 43 P.W.R. 1909.

(135)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Meaning of the term “ek jaddi.”—Held, that the term “karibi ek jaddi” used in the pre-emption clause of a wajib-ul-arz connotes descent through the male, and not through the female line. PEMRAJ v. UMRAO SINGH, A.W.N. 1906, 72 = 3 A.L.J. 179. (23 A. 32, F.)

(136)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Shurkai pattai—Owner of isolated plot assessed with Government Revenue—Ek jaddi.—The wajib-ul-arz provided for a right of pre-emption, first, to Shurkai ek jaddi, and second to Shurkai patti. The pre-emptor was a co-sharer in the same patti. The vendee had also previous to the sale become owner of an isolated plot of land in the same patti by way of exchange. The isolated plot was liable for the Government Revenue: Held, that both the pre-emptor and the vendees were Shurkai patti, and, therefore, the plaintiff had no preferential right to pre-empt. MASI-HULLAH v. DAKHINI DIN, 6 Ind. Cas. 169.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib ul-arz—*ctd.

(137)—Wajib-ul-arz—Pre-emption clauses “Ekjaddi,” meaning of.—The term ekjaddi, when used in the pre-emption clauses of a wajib-ul-arz, is to be taken as signifying persons descended from a common ancestor through the male line. The object of the provisions in a wajib-ul-arz giving preferential rights to co-sharers who are ek jaddi with the vendors is to keep the property in the family. CHATAR SINGH v. KALYAN SINGH, 23 A. 32 = A.W.N. 1900, 188. (N.W.P. 1870, 343, R.) [F., A.W.N. 1906, 72 = 3 A.L.J. 179.]

(138)—Wajib-ul-arz—Ekjaddi.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village gave the persons of the same stock (ekjaddi) as the co-sharer desirous of selling his share, a right of pre-emption. The vendor of the land in this suit had previously sold to the plaintiff a part of his land, the plaintiff thereby becoming a co-sharer in the same thoke as the vendor. The defendants were co-sharers in another thoke. Held that the plaintiff was, as regards the right of pre-emption, in the same position as his vendor of the property he had previously purchased would have been, and had, therefore, under the wajib-ul-arz, a right to maintain the suit. RAMDAI KUAR v. HEMRAJ, A.W.N. 1882, 72.

(139)—Wajib-ul-arz—“Ek jaddi”—The pre-emption clause of a wajib-ul-arz gave a right of pre-emption, first to ‘brothers of the same stock’ (“ek jaddi”) with the vendor, and next to other co-sharers. R sold to S a share in the village and certain relatives of R sold another share to J, after which S sold to J the share originally held by R. D, who was of the same stock with R, sued for pre-emption in respect of this last sale, contending that S, though, in fact, a stranger in blood, had, by virtue of his purchase from R, stepped into R’s place, and must be treated, for the purposes of pre-emption under the wajib-ul-arz as a brother of the same stock with D. Held that this contention could not be allowed, that the plaintiff could not sue as one of the same stock with S, nor could he claim as an ordinary co-sharer, J having, by a previous sale, also become a co-sharer, and one co-sharer not being entitled under the wajib-ul-arz in the case, to maintain a suit for pre-emption against another, unless his rights were higher than that of the other. DARAB v. JAI DYAL, A.W.N. 1889, 16 (A.W.N. 1882, 72, D.; A.W.N. 1886, 56, R.)

(140)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Ekjaddi.—Held that a pre-emption clause in a wajib-ul-arz expressed in the following terms:—“Pahle bhai bhatija haqiqi ya ekjaddi ke hath bai kare”—did not give a preferential right of pre-emption to own brothers and nephews over those who were merely brothers and nephews ekjaddi. MASITA v. KARIMAN, A.W.N. 1901, 129.

(141)—Entry in wajib-ul-arz of 1851 in favour of the Shurkayan Shikmi wa ekjaddi—Entry in later wajib-ul-arz to the effect parties were to be governed by Punjab Act IV of 1872.—Suit for pre-emption. The question for decision was, whether, in a village in the Hoshiarpur District, there was a custom of pre-emption in favour of the Shurkayan Shikmi wa ekjaddi. The exact entries in the wajib-ul-arz of 1851 and in that of the later settlement were not given, but the lower Court said in the judgment that the entry in the wajib-ul-arz of 1851 was in favour of Shurkayan Shikmi wa ekjaddi, whereas, in the later one, the entry was to the effect that the parties were governed by Act IV of 1872. Held, that the provisions of Act IV of 1872, s. 12, being that, in the absence of custom to the contrary, pre-emption shall lie in certain order; the entry in the later wajib-ul-arz cannot be taken as denying the custom alleged in the former wajib-ul-arz, and was not contradictory of the entry in the first wajib-ul-arz. The entry in the earlier wajib-ul-arz, being uncontradicted in the later wajib-ul-arz, was prima facie proof of the existence of the custom therein stated, and, not being rebutted by the defendant, established the plaintiff's right. JOWAHIR v. RADHA, 15 P.L.R. 1905 = 35 P.R. 1905. (98 P.R. 1894, 52 P.R. 1894, F.)

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(142)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Bha-ek-jaddi.—By the terms of a wajib-ul-arz, it was provided that "if any co-sharer for any reason wishes to part with his share, he can sell it first to a bhai-ek-jaddi, after him to co-sharers in the patti or thok, and after them to other co-sharers, for a reasonable price. The bhai-ek-jaddi will have to give the same price as offered by a stranger; but if the price appears to be fictitious, a decision can be made by mutual arrangement or by a Court or by punchayat." Held that the effect of this provision was to give a right of pre-emption to successive categories, one against the other in order. The right did not only arise when the sale was to a stranger. RAM LAL v. NIADAR, A.W.N. 1907, 95 = 4 A.L.J. 352. (27 A. 457, D.)

(143)—Wajib-ul-arz, pre-emption clause in, construction of—Hissadars ekjaddi.—Where in a village wajib-ul-arz, the clause relating to pre-emption gave a right of pre-emption against a stranger, and at the price paid by the stranger, firstly, to the "hissadars ekjaddi" (i.e., those descended with the vendor from one common ancestor); secondly, to the hissadars of the same patti, and thirdly, to the hissadars of the village, such right was held to be a right against a vendee who is a stranger to the village co-parcenary body, and not against one of its members. So, in the absence of express provision to that effect, no right of pre-emption can be regarded as conferred thereby on a hissadar of a higher class on a sale to one of an inferior class. SHEOBALAK SINGH v. LACHMIDHAR, 23 A. 427 = A.W.N. 1901, 120. (A.W.N. 1895, 9, A.W.N. 1898, 15, R.) [F., 4 A.L.J. 211, Note; R., 26 A. 546-N, 27 A. 457 = A.W.N. 1905, 45 = 2 A.L.J. 689, 26 A. 544.]

(144)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—"Hissadaran deh" not ordinarily in- clusive of muafidars.—As a general rule of construction to be applied to wajib-ul-arzes the co-sharers of a mahal and the owners of muafi plots in the mahal have no necessary connection with each other, and it does not follow that a custom adopted by, or existing among the members of the Khalisa co-parcenary body should be applicable to muafidars. RAGHUNATH PRASAD v. KANHAYA LAL, A.W.N. 1902, 68, (20 A. 419, F.) [R., A.W.N. 1907, 173 = 4 A.L.J. 665.]

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(145)—Wajib-ul-arz—"Hissadaran shikmi," meaning of.—The wajib-ul-arz on the basis of which this suit for pre-emption was brought, conferred the right of pre-emption on several classes of persons, each class having a preferential right over the next class following. The third class of pre-emptors were described as hissadaran shikmi. The co-sharers in the patti were ranked as the fifth in order. The plaintiff claimed as a pre-emptor of the third class and the Courts below were of opinion that by the words "hissadaran shikmi" were meant co-sharers in the same khata, and that, as the plaintiff was admittedly a co-sharer of the vendor in the same khata, he had a preferential right of pre-emption to that of the vendee, a co-sharer in the patti. The decrees of the lower Courts were set aside by the High Court, but, on appeal under the Letters Patent, the High Court restored the said decrees holding that the words "hissadaran shikmi" meant only co-sharers in the same khata, and that the plaintiff's right of pre-emption was preferential to that of any one who was not such a co-sharer. ABDUL SHAKUR v. MENDAL, 23 A. 260 = A.W.N. 1901, 63. [D., 30 A. 77 = A.W.N. 1908, 16 = 5 A.L.J. 52.]

(146)—"Hissadar karibi," whether implies nearness in blood or space—Further sale of property by vendee for higher price—Pre-emptor liable to pay the price given in the first sale and not that given on further sale.—The pre-emption clause of a wajib-ul-arz ran as follows:—"Each individual co-sharer has a right to transfer his property by sale or mortgage, but while transferring it, he will offer it first to his brother and near co-sharers (hissadar karibi) and in case of refusal he will ask the other co-sharer, and if he too refuses to take the property, then he will mortgage or sell it to a stranger." Held, that hissadar karibi in the wajib-ul-arz meant nearness in space. A sold his property to B, a stranger for Rs. 3,000. B sold it to C for Rs. 3,500. D brought a suit for pre-emption. Held, that D was entitled to pre-empt on payment of Rs. 3,000, the price fixed at the first sale. KISHAN v. RAM SAHAI, 9 Ind. Cas. 494. (6 A.L.J. 966, 3 Ind. Cas. 782, 32 A. 45, R.)

(147)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—"Hissadar karibi," meaning of—Preferential right between relatives of the 4th and 7th degrees—Proof.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village provided that, on property being transferred, it should first be offered to a hissadar karibi and then to a hissadar thok. The plaintiffs were related in the 4th degree and the defendants in the 7th degree to the vendor. Held, that the plaintiffs had failed to prove a preferential right over the defendants. SHEIKH ATAULLAH v. SHEIKH SHAMSUDDIN, 11 Ind. Cas. 278.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(148)—Right of pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Hissadar-i-karibi.—In a suit for pre-emption under the terms of a wajib-ul-arz, held, on a proper construction of the document, that the words "hissadar-i-karibi" found therein had no reference to consanguinity, but to the fact of co-sharers being in the same shoke and owning their shares jointly with the vendors of the property sold. MAHADEO PRASAD v. SABIHA BIBI, A.W.N. 1887, 260. [R., 24 A. 119, 5 Ind. Cas. 669.]

(149)—Wajib-ul-arz, construction of—Hissadar karibi.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village provided that pre-emption may be claimed firstly, by hissadar karibi, secondly, by co-sharers in the same thoke as the vendor; thirdly, by co-sharers in other thokes; and fourthly by the relations of the vendor. Held that the words hissadar karibi did not refer to the relations of the vendor, they having been provided for as a separate class; and that, having regard to the scheme of the wajib-ul-arz, the word karibi refers to co-sharers who are near to the vendor in some sense other than relationship. Accordingly, it was held that a person who was a co-sharer of the vendor in the same sub-division of the thokes was a hissadar karibi as compared with one who was only a co-sharer in the same thoke. BELA BIBI v. ABKAR ALI, 24 A. 119=A.W.N. 1901, 183. [R., 2 Ind. Cas. 855.]

(150)—Wajib-ul-arz — Hissadar karibi—Interpretation of document.—The pre-emption clause of the wajib-ul-arz of a village held under the bighadam tenure provided that if a co-sharer wished to sell or mortgage his land he was competent to do so, first, to a "hissadar karibi" next to a co-sharer in the mahal, and, in the event of no co-sharer taking it, to a stranger. It also provided that if a person selling or mortgaging his share failed to comply with the above conditions, the "hissadar karibi" in their order would have a right of pre-emption. Held that the term "Hissadar karibi" as used in the wajib-ul-arz did not refer to nearness in blood but to nearness as regards the holding of shares in the village. BALZOR RAI v. MADHO RAI, A.W.N. 1895, 78, [R., 24 A. 119.]

(151)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz — "Hissadar karibi" means nearness in space.—Where a wajib-ul-arz gave to a Hissadar karibi a superior right of pre-emption to any other Hissadar in the village: Held that the word

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

'Hissadar karibi' meant nearness in space. MUSSAMMAT MAHARAJI v. DWARKA, 6 Ind. Cas. 702.

(152)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—"Karibi, meaning of.—Under a pre-emptive clause in the wajib-ul-arz of a village giving a right of pre-emption in cases of sale by share-holders, first to a bhai hakiki (an own brother), after that to karibi (near), after that to a sharer in the same thoke as the vendor, it was held that a vendor's father's brother's widow, holding a share in the village absolutely as heir of her deceased husband, was entitled to pre-emption in preference to those who were only sharers in the same thoke as the vendor. Although karibi must be read in connection with the preceding word bhai, the words bhai karibi must be held to include more than cousins, viz., all near relatives both male and female. The use of the word karibi alone in the pre-emptive clause of a wajib-ul-arz is ambiguous and inadequate to express the intention of the share-holders. KHUMAN SINGH v. HARDAI, 11 A. 41, F.B=A.W.N. 1889, 1. [F., 2 A.L.J. 346.]

(153)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—"Pattidar Karibi."—The words pattidar karibi in a wajib-ul-arz imply nothing more than nearness of relationship and not vicinity. Where the parties are all descended from a common ancestor, one may be more nearly related to the vendor than the other. But, that makes no difference. The wajib-ul-arz gives the right of pre-emption to a near co-sharer, but it does not lay down that a nearer co-sharer in relationship to the vendor is entitled as against one more remote. LOK SINGH v. BALWAN SINGH, 1 A.L.J. 705.

(154)—Construction of wajib-ul-arz—Retention of same wajib-ul-arz after division of village into mahals—Hissadaran deh Hissadaran patti, on the same footing.—Where a village was divided into three mahals and the new wajib-ul-arz which was prepared for one of them, A.M., was copied verbatim from the wajib-ul-arz of the village before division and clearly put hissadaran deh and hissadaran patti on the same footing, held, that a co-sharer in the mahal A.M. had no right of pre-emption in regard to property sold in A.M., as against a co-sharer who, though he had no share in the mahal A.M., was a co-sharer in one of the other mahals. SARDARSINGH v. IJAZ HUSAIN KHAN, A.W.N. 1906, 134=28 A. 614. (22 A. 1, F.B., D.)

(155)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—"Rishtadaran karibi," meaning of—Wife's half-sister, whether rishtadar karibi—Hissadaran shikmi—Co-sharer in the other half of khewat.—The expression "rishtadaran karibi" means near relations by blood or by marriage. Where a husband has inherited the property from his wife, his wife's half-sister comes within the meaning of "a rishtadaran karibi."

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

Where a vendee is a co-sharer in one-half, and the vendor in another half of a khewat, the vendee is not a shikmi hissadar of the vendor. A co-sharer in the same half of the khewat is a shikmi hissadar. RADHAY PERSHAD v. MUSAMMAT NANNU, 5 Ind. Cas. 669.

(156)—Pre-emption—“Hissedaran patti deh,” meaning of.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of pre-emption first to brothers or descendants from the same stock, and secondly to hissedaran patti deh: Held, that the expression “hissedaran patti deh” means co-sharers in the same patti. KHUBI v. RAMJAS, 9 Ind. Cas. 856.

(157)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—“Hissadar Sharik Mouza,” meaning of—Partition.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village contained the following provisions as to pre-emption. “The custom of pre-emption prevails. In case one co-sharer sells his share (Haqiat), another co-sharer in the village (Hissadar sharik Mouza) can claim pre-emption. If he offers a smaller price, the seller can sell it to a stranger.” Subsequent to the preparation of the wajib-ul-arz, the village was partitioned into three mahals, but for each of the three mahals, the pre-emptive clause was retained practically the same as it stood before: Held, that, under the wajib-ul-arz, a co-sharer in the village, although he was not a co-sharer in the mahal, had a right to pre-empt, CHIPHUR v. ABDUL HAKIM, 9 Ind. Cas. 23. (28 A. 286, 2 A.L.J. 833, A.W.N. 1906, 2, F.)

(158)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—“Hissadar sharik milkait,” meaning of.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village, in 1833, gave a right of pre-emption to a co-sharer in the village against strangers simply. In 1887, the right was first given to an own brother, and secondly to a hissadar sharik milkait: Held, that a hissadar sharik milkait would mean a co-sharer in the property sold. HANSRANI v. MUHAMMAD SIDDIQ, 11 Ind. Cas. 576.

(159)—Wajib-ul-arz — Intiqal — Construction.—Upon the construction of a wajib-ul-arz, the word intiqal does not only signify an absolute transfer, but also applies to usufructuary mortgage, etc. CHUTTUR MULL v. CHUTTUR KISHORE LALL, 3 Agra 396.

(160)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz — Intiqal, transfer—Perpetual lease—Whether a transfer.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village provided that, in case of transfer (intiqal), a nearer co-sharer will have a right of pre-emption, and failing him other co-sharers will have, etc. The defendant, No. 2, executed a perpetual lease in favour of defendant No. 1, reserving a nominal yearly rent. Held that the lease was in the nature of a transfer, and the plaintiff had a right of pre-emption. Where a lease purports to create a perpetual interest in the land reserving merely a nominal rent and is granted in consideration of a premium, held that the transaction is in reality a sale. LALJI MISIR v. JAGGU TIWARI, 7 A.L.J. 1022=7 Ind. Cas. 930.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(161)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—“Intiqal” whether includes a usufructuary mortgage.—The word “intiqal” is sufficiently wide to include a transfer by way of usufructuary mortgage. LALA CHENDRABHAN LAL v. MALIK PANDEY, 3 Ind. Cas. 721. (A.W.N. 1908, 19, 4 A.L.J. 814, R.)

(162)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Muhammadian Law, “Intiqal.”—Where in a wajib-ul-arz it was recorded merely that “the custom of pre-emption prevails,” it was held that, in the absence of any special custom different from, or not co-extensive with, the Muhammadan Law of pre-emption, the Muhammadan Law must be applied. (9 A. 513, F.)—The term “intiqal” occurring in the pre-emptive clause of a wajib-ul-arz covers all kinds of transfers, mortgages as well as sales. JAGDAMSAHAI v. MAHABIR PRASAD, A.W.N. 1905, 190=2 A.L.J. 482=28 A. 60. [R., 28 A. 590=3 A.L.J. 338=A.W.N. 1906, 144.]

(163)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document.—“Intiqal”—“Qimat.”—Held that the words “intiqal” and “qimat” occurring in the pre-emption clause of a wajib-ul-arz did not of themselves imply that the exercise of the right of pre-emption would arise only in the case of sales, but were wide enough to include the case of mortgages also. SITAL PRASAD RAI v. BUDDHU RAI, A.W.N. 1899, 3.

(164)—Wajib-ul-arz — Interpretation of—Intiqal—Conditional sale.—A wajib-ul-arz recording a custom of pre-emption gave a right of pre-emption in case of any Intiqal of property in the village. Held, that a suit for pre-emption in case of a conditional sale was maintainable. RAM NARAIN v. GANGA RAM, 4 A.L.J. 814=A.W.N. 1903, 19. [R., 3 Ind. Cas. 721.]

(165)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document.—The pre-emption clause of a wajib-ul-arz ran in the following terms:—“Ba-halat intiqal-i-haqiyat kisi hissadar-ki isteh-qag-i-khariadari shurkai mahal shakhs ghair-par baqimat munasib muqaddam samjha jawe, a.” Held that no right of pre-emption would arise thereunder upon the making of a usufructuary mortgage in favour of a stranger, the words “khariadari” and “qimat” pointing to sales only being within the contemplation of the framers of the document. SHEOBADAL SINGH v. AMAN SINGH, A.W.N. 1903, 16. (A.W.N. 1899, 3, R.) [R., 4 A.L.J. 814; D., A.W.N. 1908, 19.]

(166)—Wajib-ul-arz — Bhai hakiki and karibi—Pre-emptor being vendor's husband's brother.—A pre-emptor, who is brother of the vendor's husband, is a near relative and has preferential right under a wajib-ul-arz which confers a right of pre-emption first on a bhai

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

hakiki (own brother), secondly, on karibi (near) and lastly, on co-sharers in the village. RAMJI LAL v. GHAFUR KHAN, 2 A.L.J. 346. (11 A. 41, F.B., F.)

(167)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Shurkay-an-i-Shikmi—Meaning of.—Where the Wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of pre-emption first to shurkayn-i-shikmi, then to shukayan-eki-jadar and lastly to khewatdaran, held, that shurkayan-i-shikimi was intended to denote relatives by blood and not co-sharers in any sub-division of the mahal. BAHAL SINGH v. MUBARAK-UN-NISSA, 5 A.L.J. 52=A.W.N. 1908, 16=30 A. 77. (23 A. 260, D.) [D., 5 Ind. Cas. 669.]

(168)—Wajib-ul-arz — Construction.—The proper construction of the term Shikmee shoor-kayan in a wajib-ul-arz is that it gives a preference to those who are sharers in the thoke over those who are merely co-sharers in the village. JAY MULL v. KESREE, Agra F.B. 171, Ed. 1874, 128. [R., 30 A. 77=A.W.N. 1908, 16=5 A.L.J. 352.]

(169)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz, construction of—Balehaz muqarbut — Pure Zemindari village.—The wajib-ul-arz of a pure zemindari village contained a clause giving a preferential right of purchase to a co-sharer offering the same price as a stranger "balehaz muqaribat." Held, that the words "balehaz muqaribat" must under the circumstances have reference to propinquity in respect of relationship, not of locality. MUHAMMAD SADI v. MUHAMMAD ABDUL RAZZAK, A.W.N. 1891, 137. (A.W.N. 1887, 260, D.) [R., 24 A. 119.]

(170)—Pre-emption—Custom or contract — Wajib-ul-arz — Kaifyut Mahtawai.—In a suit for pre-emption, plaintiff produced the wajib-ul-arz of 1860, in proof of the custom of pre-emption. Plaintiff produced no other evidence to prove the custom. Defendant gave in evidence another part of the settlement record of 1860, which was called Kaifyut Mahtawai. This document gave the history of the village, and it appeared from it that up to the year 1818 the land was jungle, uncultivated, with no settlement, and there had been no transfers in the village followed by any claims of pre-emption. The wajib-ul-arz of 1860, recorded inter alia arrangements between the co-sharers which were in the nature of contracts. Held that, under these circumstances, the custom of pre-emption could not be said to have been proved, and that the entry relating to pre-emption in the wajib-ul-arz must be treated as a record of contract. SARJU PRASAD RAI v. GAURI RAI, 8 A.L.J. 381=9 Ind. Cas. 485. (7 A.L.J. 1040, F.B., R.)

(171)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation of document—Apna Shafi—Mahomedan Law.—The original meaning of the word "shafi" is 'conjunction.' Hence where the wajib-ul-arz provided that, if any co-sharer of a "patti" in the khalisa wished to sell his share, he would do so paying due respect to his own pre-emptor (apna shafi), and if the latter refused and all the other pre-emptors of the village (aur sab shafian deh) refused, then he might sell to a stranger, held that the expression apna shafi meant nearness in space and not in blood relationship, and, therefore, where the vendor and pre-emptor were co-sharers in the same patti, the vendee being a co-sharer in a different patti, the co-sharer in the same patti had a preferential right. LAKHAN SINGH v. BISHEN NATH, 8 A.L.J. 51=9 Ind. Cas. 49.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(172)—Pre-emption — Wajib-ul-arz — Sharik haki at — Malik—Owner of resumed muafi—Preference over co-sharer's in other khata.—The wajib-ul-arz gave a right of pre-emption to sharik hakiat, if any, of the malikans who sold their property. Held, that an owner of resumed muafi (where that was resumed before the preparation of the wajib-ul-arz), was a malik within the meaning of the wajib-ul-arz, if he was a co-sharer in the same khata with the vendor and had a preferential right over a sharik of a different khata. NARAIN PRASAD v. MUNNA LAL, 5 A.L.J. 302=A.W.N. 1908, 142=30 A. 329. (A.W.N. 1881, 165, R.)

(173)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation—Perfect partition—No new wajib-ul-arz framed—Malikan deh.—The determination of an alleged right to pre-emption must depend upon the particular circumstances of each case and the evidence adduced in support of the pre-emptive right. A village was divided by perfect partition into several mahals, but no new wajib-ul-arz was prepared. The wajib-ul-arz framed before partition was headed "rights of co-sharers inter se" and gave the right of pre-emption (1) to co-sharers in the khata (2) to the proprietors of the patti and (3) to the proprietors of the village (malikan deh). Plaintiff was a co-sharer in a different mahal to that in which the vendor was a co-sharer. Held, that the heading of the wajib ul arz limited the meaning of the expression malikan deh to co-sharers who had a common bond with the vendor, and as the plaintiff was not a co-sharer in the same mahal with the vendor, she had no right of pre-emption. SAHIB ALI v. FATIMA BIBI, 6 A.L.J. 958=32 A. 63=4 Ind. Cas. 138. (28 A. 286, 28 A. 614, 29 A. 295, D.; 22 A. 1, F.)

(174)—Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation of document—"Karabatdari baid."—Held, in a suit for pre-emption based on a wajib-ul-arz, that a person who was the father of the wife of a person alleged to be the brother of the vendor, or a person whose mother's sister had married the son of the vendor did not come within the category of "Karabatdari baid." GOPAL SINGH v. GHULAM HUSAIN, A.W.N. 1894, 58.

(175)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Custom—Evidence—Kaifiat Serishta Nizamat, inference from.—In a suit for pre-emption, the whole of the evidence consisted of the wajib-ul-arzes of

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

1833 and 1860 respectively, and the Kaifiat Serishta Nizamat. The latter document showed that the property in question formed part of the Raj of Raja Ishri Prasad, but the wajib-ul-arz of 1833 showed that it was the ancestral property of certain birt-holders who paid malikana to the said Raja and that the settlement was made with them. The wajib-ul-arz of 1833 gave a right of pre-emption to co-sharers in the village against a stranger, and that of 1860 introduced certain grades of pre-emptors with a right of pre-emption inter se. Held, that inference drawn from the Kaifiat Serishta Nizamat by the Courts below that between the years 1802 and 1862, there was only one proprietor was wrong, and that the wajib-ul-arzes were prima facie evidence of custom, the one of 1860 recording a more extensive custom than that of 1833. SARJU RAI v. BHUMLOT MISR, 8 A.L.J. 947. (33 A. 196, F.)

(176)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Zemindari land—Nankar.—The pre-emption clause in a wajib-ul-arz was to the following effect—“At the time of sale of a zemindari property, first, a sharer of the same kin, and after such sharers of the mahal, have a prior right to its purchase for a price which a stranger would give.” Held that nankar land was not affected by the pre-emption clause in the wajib-ul-arz, such land being, though assessed, no part of the zemindari mahal. BADRUNISSA v. MURAD HASAN, A.W.N. 1881, 9.

(177)—Wajib-ul-arz—Pre-emption—Term “in the zemindari” explained—Mauza tenure.—The phrase “in the zemindari” occurring in the wajib-ul-arz in this case, was used only to limit the qualification of a brother by blood, not to circumscribe the area in the mauza to be governed by the clause in the wajib-ul-arz relating to the right of pre-emption. The right of pre-emption extends, therefore, to the part of the village which has formerly been mafui in its tenure. LALTA PRASAD v. LALTA PRASAD, A.W.N. 1881, 165.

(178)—Wajib-ul-arz—“Sharik.”—In a suit for pre-emption based upon the village wajib-ul-arz, it was held that the word “sharik” occurring in it does not mean only lands assessed to revenue but may include revenue free lands. INAYAT HUSAIN v. AMINUDDIN AHMAD, A.W.N. 1888, 182. [R., 17 A. 447, 3 Ind. Cas. 461.]

(179)—Wajib-ul-arz—“Hissa,” meaning of.—The term “hissa” as it is generally used includes all and every class of interest possessed by the hissadar in the mahal in which the “hissa” is situate. It will therefore include separate parcels of land, and is not confined to the whole or a fractional part of the share of the hissadar. INDAR RAI v. DAULAT RAI, A.W.N. 1895, 8.

(180)—Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation of documents—“Shakhs ghair.”—In a Wajib-ul-arz the following provision was entered with reference to pre-emption :—Basurat intiqal haqui-

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

yatt kisi hissadar kous qimat par jo shakhs ghair de istehquaq kharijadi awal shurka ekjaddi badahu Shurkamahal ka shakhs ghair per mugaddam hoga Held (Knox, J. dubitante) that the term “Shakhs ghair,” in the above contest meant merely a person not of the family of the transferor and not necessarily a person other than a co-sharer. ALI JAN v. PHEKU, A.W.N. 1895, 9. [R., 23 A. 427.]

(181)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation of—Sharik—Perfect partition.—The provision as to the custom of pre-emption in a village contained in the wajib-ul-arz ran thus : When a hissidar sells his share, he shall sell first to a sharik, who is a near relative (aziz karib), and afterwards to a sharik who is aziz baid or distant relative, and then to “hissadar-an deh.” The village was then divided by a perfect partition, and the property sold was situated in mahal No. 1, in which the plaintiff was not a sharer. The defendant was a co-sharer in mahal No. 1. The plaintiff was, however, a sharer in mahal No. III. Held that by reason of the perfect partition of the village, the plaintiff had ceased to be a partner with the vendor, and therefore he had no right of pre-emption against a co-sharer in the same mahal. Sharik means a partner or co-sharer with the vendor. MAHESH DAT PANDE v. GOKUL NAIK, 7 A.L.J. 415 = 6 Ind. Cas. 115. [Appl., 7 A.L.J. 1066.]

(182)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Sharik-hakkiat deb—Meaning of perfect partition—Plaintiff sharer in different mahal.—The word sharik means a partner, and the fact of its being used in a record of the custom of pre-emption in a wajib-ul-arz shows that what is intended is that the person entitled to the right of pre-emption must be a sharik or partner of the vendor in a hakkiat of the village. Where therefore a wajib-ul-arz gave a right of pre-emption to shari hakkiat deh and the village was afterwards divided into mahals by perfect partition, and the plaintiff pre-emptor was not a sharer in the mahal sold, but in another mahal, held that he was not a sharik of the vendor. The fact of a new wajib-ul-arz having been prepared after partition, by which the co-sharers agreed to abide by the terms of the old wajib-ul-arz, does not make any difference as regards the plaintiff's right. BATASI LAL v. ARJUN SINGH, 7 A.L.J. 1066 = 7 Ind. Cas. 777.

(183)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—“Pattidars”—“Chakdars.”—Where a wajib-ul-arz gave a right of pre-emption to “pattidars” in cases of transfer, that right cannot be extended to “chakdars,” even within the limits of their “chak.” BALWANT SINGH v. SUBHAN ALI, 10 A. 107 = A.W.N. 1887, 290. [R., 3 O.C. 110.]

(184)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Transfer of muafi and Khalsa.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village provided that, when a share in the Khalsa land is sold, the co-sharers in a certain order will have a right of pre-emption and when muafi is sold to a stranger "the right of pre-emption shall arise as regards that transfer." In a suit for pre-emption of a muafi share, held, that the condition as to pre-emption in respect of the revenue-paying land governed the muafi land also, save that the co-sharers in general had a right to pre-empt the muafi land, whereas in the case of Khalsa land, there was a gradation among the co-sharers. RANG LAL v. KAMTA PRASAD, 3 A.L.J. 515 = A.W.N. 1906, 247.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(185)—Pre-emption—Pre-mortgage—Wajib-ul-arz—"Bhai-band," meaning of.—Where a wajib-ul-arz confers the right of first refusal in respect of mortgages as well as sales, such right can be enforced in respect of mortgages. The term "bhai-band" used in a wajib-ul-arz sometimes means, according to the context, not only kindred by blood, but also the brotherhood of the village. HIRA LAL v. RAMJAS, 6 A. 57 = A.W.N. 1883, 206.

(185-a)—Pre-emption—Bhai bhatija hakiki—Sister, whether included in the term—Wajib-ul-arz.—A sister is included in the term bhai bhatija hakiki. NIJAZ FATIMA v. TAMIZ BEGAM, 15 Ind. Cas. 175.

(186)—Preferential rights of pre-emptors inter se classes of pre-emptors mentioned in the wajib-ul-arz "alaltartib"—Construction of wajib-ul-arz.—In a wajib-ul-arz the different classes of pre-emptors were mentioned "alaltartib," i.e., one after another: Held, that the right of pre-emption existed between the different classes of pre-emptors inter se, i.e., one class of pre-emptors excluded another. SHEOBARAN SINGH v. BANWARI LAL, 10 Ind. Cas. 442.

(187)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—"Shur kai deh," meaning of.—The words "Shurka deh" taken in their natural meaning imply that the pre-emptor in question must be a partner with the vendor in the same mahal. GANGA NARAIN v. PARBHU KURMI, 11 Ind. Cas. 320.

(188)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—"Sharik deh," meaning of.—Construction—Partition.—The words "sharik deh" taken in their natural meaning imply that the co-sharer in question shares with the vendor in the same unit of the village. GANGA SAHAI v. INDARJIT SINGH, 11 Ind. Cas. 290.

(189)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—"Qarabat dar qaribi," meaning of.—Preferential right.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of pre-emption to three classes of persons; first, near relatives (qarabatdar qaribi), secondly, near co-sharers in the same thok, thirdly, co-sharers in another thok. Both the vendees and the pre-emptor were co-sharers in the same thok but the latter was nearer in blood to the vendor than the former: Held, that the plaintiff had no preferential right. SADHO CHARAN v. BIRJ RAI, 11 Ind. Cas. 274.

Pre-emption—continued.—2.—Construction of Wajib-ul-arz—*ctd.

(190)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Custom or contract—Presumption—Kaifat shrasta Nizam—Rebutting evidence.—In a pre-emption suit, in order to prove custom, plaintiffs relied on the wajib-ul-arz of 1865 and of 1883 which raised a prima facie presumption as to custom. In order to rebut the presumption, the defendants produced Kaifat Shrasta Nizam and Kaifat Mahtawi. From these two latter documents, it appeared that up to 1208 F., that is, until the British occupation, the village was waste and without settlement; that from 1210 F. up to 1244 F. it remained in the hands of muafidars, and that from 1244 F. up till 1865 A.D., there were no sales. It did not, however, appear what transfers had taken place between 1210 F. and 1244 F. Held, that the documents were not sufficient to rebut the presumption arising out of the entries of the wajib-ul-arz. Held, further, that the bare fact that the land was held revenue-free for some period would not prevent the growth of the custom of pre-emption during that period. BADRI NATH TEWARI v. RAM SARAN TEWARI, 11 Ind. Cas. 238.

(190-a) Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Rishtadar Karibi—Connection by marriage.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of pre-emption to a rishtadar Karibi who was also a sharer. The plaintiff, who has a connection by marriage of the vendor, brought this suit for pre-emption against a vendor, who was no relation of the vendor. Held, that the relationship was too remote to give the plaintiff a right of pre-emption. FAKHRAN BIBI v. NAGESHAR RAM, 9 A.L.J. 84 = 13 Ind. Cas. 954.

(190-b)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction—Variation—Custom or contract—'Rewaj hug shufa,' meaning of.—Where there is variation in the terms of the pre-emptive clause in two successive wajib-ul-arzes, the clause records a contract and not a custom, 'Rewaj hug shufa' means a currency of the practice of pre-emption. AJUDHIA PRASHAD v. JODHA SINGH, 5 Ind. Cas. 659.

(191)—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of document—Haki ki bhai bhatijon sharik zamindari hon—In a village, which consisted of three thoks, the pre-emptive clause of the wajib-ul-arz gave a right of pre-emption, first, in favour of haki ki bhai bhatijon sharik zamindari hon and, in the second degree, to co-sharers in the second and third thoks of the village; held, on a construction of this document, that, as against a stranger, a co-sharer in the thok, in which the property sold was situate, had a right of pre-emption although he might not fall under the head of haki ki bhai bhatije. CHUNNI LAL v. MADAN MOHAN LAL, A.W.N. 1907, 55.

See CUSTOM — PUNJAB, ALIENATION, 47 P.R. 1882.

See DEED—CONSTRUCTION OF DEEDS, 7 A. 258, F.B = A.W.N. 1885, 8.

Pre-emption—continued.—3.—Loss of right to pre-empt by waiver, etc.

(1)—Pre-emptor — Waiver of right, what amounts to.—Where, from the evidence in the case, it was very doubtful whether the pre-emptor had ever declined the purchase, and there was nothing in the evidence to show that he gave permission to sell the property to another party, held that the pre-emptor had not lost his right of pre-emption. In the matter of the petition of JEHANGIR BAKSH, 7 B.L.R. 24, Note=11 W.R. 480. [F., 7 B.L.R. 19=15 W.R. 247.]

(2)—Right to pre-empt, when extinguished.—Where a plaintiff pre-emptor fails to deposit sale price within the time fixed by the decree and the suit is accordingly dismissed, the vendee becomes a co-sharer in the mahal so as to successfully resist the same plaintiff's claim with respect to a pre-mortgage of an earlier date, although, at the date of the mortgage, the defendant mortgagee was a total stranger. RAM HIT SINGH v. NARAIN ROY, 26 A. 389 = A.W.N. 1904, 68=1 A.L.J. 209. (21 A. 374, 21 A. 441, Appl.) [R., 2 N.L.R. 150, 48 P.W.R. 1907=124 P.R. 1907=3 P.L.R. 1907=11 O.C. 290, 12 O.C. 229=3 Ind. Cas. 546, 5 N.L.R. 136, 90 P.R. 1909, F.B.=159 P.W.R. 1909=147 P.L.R. 1909, 91 P.R. 1909=148 P.L.R. 1909=161 P.W.R. 1909, F.B., 31 A. 530=6 A.L.J. 699=3 Ind. Cas. 42.]

(3)—Pre-emption—Pre-emptor attesting deed of sale—Intention to renounce claim—Waiver discharging vendor from duty to give notice to pre-emptor.—The act of attesting a deed of sale, if it be done by a pre-emptor with the intention of relinquishing his own claim, may properly be held to be, within the meaning of the decision in 52 P.R. 1880, a positive act discharging the vendor from the obligation of giving written notice to the pre-emptor, and waiving the pre-emption right of the latter. ABDUL RAB v. MUHAMMAD JI, 8 P.R. 1882. (48 P. 1878, R.) [R., 25 P.R. 1903=76 P.L.R. 1903; D., 100 P.R. 1885, 22 P.R. 1901=86 P.L.R. 1901.]

(4)—Joint Hindu family—Attestation of sale deed by father—Son's right of pre-emption.—In a suit for pre-emption the defence was that as the plaintiff's father was a consenting party to the sale of the property in suit to the defendant (vendee) inasmuch as he had attested the deed of sale, the plaintiff could not claim pre-emption: Held, that mere attestation of the deed of sale by the father did not necessarily import concurrence: Held further, that the sons in a joint Hindu family are to be regarded as co-sharers for the purpose of pre-emption. HAZARI SINGH v. JOOT SINGH, 1 O. C. 252. [Rel. on, 7 O. C. 61; R., 5 O. C. 395.]

(5)—Refusal by pre-emptor to pay money actually gives—Conditional decree.—The pre-emptors having chosen not to pay the sum given by the purchasers and having refused to purchase at that price, cannot come into Court, and ask for a conditional decree, which is generally given if a higher price was fraudulently alleged to have been given for the property than was actually paid for it, and the pre-emptor had offered to pay whatever sum was actually given. KUDHARA v. KHUMAN SINGH, 1 Agra 265.

Pre-emption—continued.—3.—Loss of right to pre-empt by waiver, etc.—continued.

(6)—Refusal to purchase at vendor's price.—A pre-emptor does not lose his right of pre-emption by refusing to purchase the property sold, when offered to him, at a price which, although it may be held, on trial in a suit brought, to be the price really paid by the vendee (defendant), he in good faith believed to be considerably in excess of the real price. He would still be entitled to a decree for the property by right of pre-emption, on condition of paying into Court the amount found to be the real price. LAJJA PRASAD v. DEBI PRASAD, 3 A. 236. [Appr., 16 A. 247; R., 10 C. 1008, 35 C. 575.]

(7&8)—Pre-emption—Offering less sum than sale-price bona fide.—Where a person claiming a right of pre-emption offered a sum less than the actual price paid for the property, believing in good faith that such sum was the actual price, held that such person ought not on that account lose his right of pre-emption. BHOLI BIBI v. FAHIMA BIBI, A.W.N. 1882, 137.

(9)—Right not lost, by objecting to price.—A person having a right of pre-emption does not lose it by refusing to purchase the property at the price stated in the conveyance to the vendee because he believes that such price is not the actual price, when such belief is entertained and expressed in good faith. MAWASHI v. NABI BAKHSI, A.W.N. 1881, 21.

(10)—Refusal to purchase, what amounts to.—The mere circumstances that the pre-emptor declined to give the price which the vendor alleged he had obtained from the vendees, or that they were willing to pay, on the ground that he believed it was a fictitious sum, is no such refusal to buy as would estop him from afterwards asserting his right by suit. Nor would his failure to prove that the amount he alleged as the true consideration was as asserted by him, necessarily compel the Court to reject his claim. AMIR CHAND v. ISHAR DAS, A.W.N. 1882, 46.

(11)—Pre-emptor in debt.—A pre-emptor does not lose his right of pre-emption simply because he is in debt. The question whether the pre-emptor was in debt at the time when he asserted his right of pre-emption is not strictly one relevant in a suit for pre-emption, nor does the fact of his being in debt justify the inference that he could not raise or find the sum of money required for the purpose of pre-emption. RAM KHELAWUN RAI v. SHIVA DASS, 2 Agra 76.

(12)—Imperfect partition—Right of pre-emption.—Where the lands were divided but the joint liability of all to the Government Revenue, remains, and the property is still one mehal and thus the partition is imperfect, the condition as to pre-emption is not lost. RAM PERSHAD v. BULJEET SINGH, 2 Agra 252. [Appl., 7 A. 720; R., 17 A. 226.]

Pre-emption—continued.—3.—Loss of right to pre-empt to waiver etc—continued.

(13)—Pre-emptor opposing mutation of names—Admission of vendor as to consideration for sale—Right of pre-emptor to question it.—A pre-emptor is not precluded from claiming a right of pre-emption by the circumstance that he had in the Registrar's office disputed the vendor's right to sell it by reason of his not being or not having been in possession of the property. The mere admission of the vendor, that an old debt mentioned in the sale-deed as having been deducted from the sale price paid to the vendor really formed a part of the consideration for the sale, is not conclusive evidence of the allegation, and the pre-emptor is perfectly competent to dispute the admission. PEERA v. SHIM-BHOO, 2 Agra 348.

(14)—Inclusion of name of purchaser's sons in sale-deed—No loss of preferential right.—A preferential right to purchase is not lost merely by the inclusion of the names of the sons of the purchaser in the sale-deed, if it be proved that the actual purchaser was the father and the names of the sons were included in accordance with the prevailing usage, without any intention to defraud the other co-sharers. DOWLUT SINGH v. KEDAR SINGH, 3 Agra, 25.

(15)—Sale of property admitted by vendor—Right of pre-emption not destroyed by re-sale.—This was a suit by one co-parcener against another in right of pre-emption. The vendor admitted the sale, but urged that it had been cancelled within a few days after the completion, and that, therefore, the right of pre-emption did not attach. The Court of first instance found that the alleged re-transfer of the property by the vendee to the vendor was fraudulent, and set up to deprive the plaintiff of his right of pre-emption. The first Appellate Judge simply observed, without giving any reasons, that there was nothing fraudulent in the defendant's conduct and reversed the first Court's decision. Held that, the vendor-defendant having admitted in his evidence that the re-sale by him to his co-defendant was only made subsequent to the institution of the present suit, such re-sale could not destroy the right of pre-emption of the plaintiff in the property, the sale of which has been admitted by the vendor-defendant. PUTOORAM v. SHAM LAL SAHOO, 7 W.R. 206.

(16)—Partition proceedings on application of vendee—Silence of pre-emptor—Waiver.—Where, during partition proceedings held on the application of a vendee of a share in certain property, a co-sharer who had a right of pre-emption in respect of such sale, raised no objection to the partition, held, that such conduct did not amount to a waiver of his right, and could not estop him from claiming to pre-empt such share. THAMMAN SINGH v. JAMAL-UD-DIN, 7 A. 442=A.W.N. 1885, 70 (N.W.P. S.D.A. Rep. 1861, 506, D. and Diss., 4 A.W. N. 216, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—3.—Loss of right to pre-empt to waiver etc—continued.

(17)—Execution of decree—Sale of pre-emptional property by decree-holder before obtaining possession—Right to execute not affected.—The plaintiff in a suit for pre-emption who has obtained a decree, does not forfeit his right to execute it, by selling the property to a stranger before obtaining possession. RAMSA-HAI v. GAYA, 7 A. 107=A.W.N. 1884, 224, (5 A. 180 and S.A. from Order No. 45 of 1883, decided the 21st November 1883, D.) [R., 125 P.L.R. 1901, 24 A. 119, 94 P.R. 1902=134 P.L.R. 1902, 30 A. 28=4 A.L.J. 759=A.W.N. 1907, 280.]

(18)—Co-sharer claiming right along with relatives not co-sharer's right.—A co-sharer plaintiff in a suit for pre-emption does not lose his right by joining with himself his relatives who are not co-sharers in the estate. BHUREY MAL v. NAWAL SINGH, 4 A. 259=A.W.N. 1882, 16. (4 A. 252, D.) [R., 29 P.R. 1894; D., 17 A. 454.]

(19)—Pre-emption—Pre-emptor joining "stranger" as co-plaintiff—Effect on pre-emptor's right—Justice, equity and good conscience.—A pre-emptor loses his right of enforcing pre-emption, by joining in his suit a stranger, that is, a person who has no right of pre-emption. This is in accordance with the Mahomedan law on the subject based on justice, equity and good conscience. BHAWANI PRASAD v. DAMRU, 5 A. 197=A.W.N. 1882, 217. (N.W.P.S.D.A. Rep 1860, P. 53, N.W.P. 1870, 343, B.L.R. F.B. Rule 35, R.) [Diss., 83 P.R. 1893, 1 O.C. 308, F.B.; F., 15 C. 224; Appl., 6 A. 423; Expl., 8 A. 462; R., 7 A. 118. 12 A. 234, F.B., 19 A. 324, 7 O.C. 22, A.W.N. 1907, 88=4 A.L.J. 210, 31 A. 623, F.B.=6 A.L.J. 887=6 M.L.T. 352=3 Ind. Cas. 820; D., 5 A.W.N. 189, 29 P.R. 1894.]

(20)—Transfer by pre-emptor to stranger of subject of pre-emption—Forfeiture of right.—A co-sharer entitled to the right of pre-emption, who in anticipation of succeeding in his claim, transfers the subject of pre-emption to a stranger, forfeits such right. This view is in harmony with the doctrine of the Mahomedan law of pre-emption, which agrees with the principles of justice, equity and good conscience. RAJJO v. LALMAN, 5 A. 180=A.W.N. 1882, 210. [R., 12 A. 234, F.B., 18 A. 382, 133 P.R. 1907. F.B.=84 P.W.R. 1907=88 P.L.R. 1908; D., 7 A. 107, 5 A.W.N. 189. 14 A. 195, 24 A. 119.]

(21)—Pre-emption—Suit for pre-emption based on terms of wajib-ul-arz—Previous violation of terms by plaintiff, effect of.—A suit for pre-emption of a share in a village, based on a clause in a wajib-ul-arz providing for pre-emption in case of mortgages or sales of shares by co-sharers, should not be dismissed on the mere ground that, on a previous occasion, the plaintiff himself had acted in violation of the provisions of the wajib-ul-arz. Such previous contravention of its provisions by him could not have the effect of depriving him of the right to claim pre-emption in case of the mortgage or sale of another share by another co-sharer in the village. UJAGAR LAL v. JIA LAL, 18 A. 382 = A.W.N. 1896. 112. (A.W.N. 1889, 127, F., 5 A. 180, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—3.—Loss of right to pre-empt by waiver etc.,—continued.

(22)—Pre-emption—Property in possession of Hindu widow with son—Widow a stranger and not a co-sharer for purposes of pre-emption—Joinder of widow as plaintiff in suit for pre-emption, effect of.—The defendant in this suit for pre-emption contested the claim on the ground that the female plaintiffs were not co-sharers in the village, and had no right to pre-empt, and that the other plaintiffs, by associating themselves in the suit, had forfeited their own right of pre-emption. As regards the first point, the sons of both the ladies referred to above were alive and therefore they had no right as heirs to their husbands to share in their husband's property, and the mere circumstance that, in the revenue-records, their names had been entered along with those of their sons as co-sharers, would not have the effect of conferring on them the right of pre-emption as co-sharers. On the second point, it was held that the very fact of the other plaintiffs having joined the ladies who were strangers, i.e., persons who had not the right of pre-emption, was in itself sufficient to estop them from asserting their claim. BHUPAL SINGH v. MOHAN SINGH, 19 A. 324 = A.W.N. 1897, 72. (A.W.N. 1895, 84, A.W.N. 1895, 85, F., 5 A. 197, 19 A. 148, 5 A. 65, R.) [Diss. 1 O.C. 308; R., 31 A. 623 = 6 A.L.J. 887 = 6 M.L.T. 352 = 3 Ind. Cas. 820.]

(23)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz — Sale to stranger—Re-sale by stranger to co-sharer before suit by another co-sharer—Effect—Mahomedan Law—Wajib-ul-arz — N.W.P.—In a case of pre-emption based upon a wajib-ul-arz, where the land was sold to a stranger, and the stranger re-sold the land to one of the co-sharers, held that another co-sharer having equal rights could not enforce by suit his right of pre-emption, when the re-sale was before the institution of the suit. [F., 73 P.R. 1898, A.W.N. 1906, 215 = 3 A.L.J. 544; Appl., 25 A. 421, 11 O.C. 290, 12 O.C. 229; R., 21 A. 374, 43 P.R. 1903 = 92 P.L.R. 1903, 2 N.L.R. 150, 26 P.R. 1903 = 39 P.W.R. 1908 = 145 P.L.R. 1908, 13 P. W. R. 1908, 1 Ind. Cas. 528, 31 A. 530 = 6 A.L.J. 699, 6 A.L.J. 966 = 3 Ind. Cas. 782, 7 A. L. J. 77, 91 P.R. 1909; D., 23 A. 247.] The rule of Muhammadan Law by which all persons entitled to pre-empt are entitled to a share in the pre-empted property, is not applicable in the N.W.P. in cases of pre-emption arising under a wajib-ul-arz. SERH MAL v. HUKAM SINGH, 20 A. 100.

Pre-emption—continued.—3.—Loss of right to pre-empt by waiver etc.,—continued.

(24)—Pre-emption decree, time fixed for payment of price, whether extended by mere appeal from decree—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 214.—A plaintiff who has obtained a decree under s. 214 of the Civ. Pro. Code, can appeal within the period prescribed by the Limitation Act for his appeal, and the appellate Court, if it sees fit so to do, may extend the time within which the pre-emptive price is to be paid, and itself fix a day for the purpose. It does not, however, follow that by the mere fact of an appeal having been preferred from a decree for pre-emption, the time within which the first Court had ordered the purchase money to be paid is extended, and that the appellate Court's decree in such appeal, although it says nothing about extending the time, has the effect of giving the plaintiff, whether he is appellant or respondent, the corresponding period of time from the date of the appellate Court's decree for the payment of the pre-emptive price to that which he had from the date of the decree of the first Court. It cannot have been the intention of the Legislature that a plaintiff in a suit for pre-emption could have a power, of his own accord, to effect the stay of the execution of a decree which, by reason of the pre-emptive price not having been paid on or before the day fixed, had become a decree in favour of the defendant. JAGGAR NATH PANDE v. JOKHU TEWARI, 18 A. 223 = A.W.N. 1896, 43. [F., 18 A. 455; R., 11 C.P. L.R. 115, L.B.R. 1893—1900, 420, 7 O.C. 359, 48 P.R. 1906 = 104 P.L.R. 1906, 28 A. 676 = A.W.N. 1906, 198 = 3 A.L.J. 804, 31 M. 28 = 17 M.L.J. 495 = 3 M.L.T. 26; D., 8 O.C. 241.]

(25)—Right lost after suit filed to enforce it.—The plaintiff instituted a suit on 13th March 1883 for pre-emption in respect of the sale of a share of a mahal dated the 22nd February 1883, basing his claim to be a co-sharer in the mahal on a purchase by him, on the 22nd April 1882, of a share in the mahal. On the 30th May 1883, the Court of first instance gave him a decree. The defendant appealed on 26th July 1883. On the 7th September 1883, the plaintiff's purchase of a share in the mahal of the 22nd April 1882 was declared invalid and set aside by a decree. On the 10th September 1883, the lower appellate Court dismissed the plaintiff's suit on the ground that he could not, under the circumstances, be considered an actual co-sharer in the mahal at the time of the sale in respect of which he claimed. Held that the lower appellate Court's view was correct. KHUDA BAKHSI v. RAMLAUTAN LAL, A.W.N. 1884, 169. [R., 2 N.L.R. 150; D., 10 A. 472 = 8 A.W.N. 177.]

(26)—Holder of a resumed muafi land, rights of—Not a co-sharer—Acceptance by pre-emptor of money due on mortgage from vendee—Waiver of pre-emptive rights.—Suit for pre-emption.

Pre-emption—continued.—3.—Loss of right to pre-empt by waiver etc.,—continued.

The plaintiff's title was not disputed by the defendant. But the defendant (vendee) contended that he was also himself a co-sharer within the meaning of the wajib-ul-arz of the particular village. There was no evidence as to the constitution of the village to show whether the resumed muafi land was or was not considered by the residents or co-sharers of the village as ordinary khalsa land. Held, under the circumstances, that the defendant, the holder of a resumed muafi land, could not be a co-sharer for purposes of pre-emption. The receipt, by a pre-emptor, from the vendor of the sale, of money due to the former as mortgagee of the vendor cannot operate as a waiver of his (pre-emptor's) pre-emptive rights. AHMAD ALI v. NAJAMA-UN-NISSA, 2 A.L.J. 145. [R., 4 A.L.J. 210=A.W.N. 1907, 88, 80 P.W.R. 1908=37 P.R. 1908=39 P.L.R. 1908.]

(27)—Pre-emption — Wajib-ul-arz—Refusal by pre-emptor to purchase—Waiver—Pre-emptor a member of joint Hindu family—Notice given by vendor to pre-emptor and his brothers—Reply sent by the brother, sufficient.—A person having a right of pre-emption does not lose it by refusing to purchase the property at the price at which it is offered to him, because he believes that such price is in excess of the real price, where such belief is entertained and expressed in good faith. Where the pre-emptor and his brothers are members of a joint Hindu family, and the vendor addressed a notice to him and his brothers jointly to which the pre-emptor's brother sent a reply, held that the plaintiff pre-emptor is entitled to rely upon his reply. KISHAN DAS SINGH v. BACHCHA PANDE, 8 A.L.J. 100. (3 A. 236, A.W.N. 1882, 46 A.W.N. 1882, 136, 16 A. 247, F.)

(28)—Agreement in a partition suit—Right of pre-emption.—Held, that an agreement embodied in a compromise decree, passed in a partition suit relating to some joint family property whereby a right to transfer any one whom the transferor liked was conferred upon a member, did not amount to a relinquishment of the right of pre-emption. RAMJIMAL v. CHAUDHRI RAMSARUP, 6 A.L.J. 687=3 Ind. Cas. 515.

(29)—Ottidar—Execution sale subject to otti—Ottidar, party to suit—Ottidar having notice of date of sale does not amount to waiver of pre-emption right.—Where property is sold at an execution-sale subject to an otti and is purchased by a third party, and the ottidar who was a party to the suit had notice of the date of sale, that fact alone does not amount to a waiver on his part of his right of pre-emption. KANARAN NAIR v. RAMAN NAMBIAR, 4 M.L.J. 46. (5 M. 198, F., 15 M. 480, D.)

(30)—Separate accruals of pre-emption in respect of some property—Pre-emptor not estopped by reason of neglect to claim pre-emption on first accrual—Wajib-ul-arz.—The relinquish-

Pre-emption—continued.—3.—Loss of right to pre-empt by waiver etc.,—continued.

ment of the right of pre-emption in respect of any accrual thereof does not involve the relinquishment of the right to enforce pre-emption in respect of any other accrual subsequent to the accrual in respect of which the right has been thus relinquished. SHEOBARAN v. MANOGRAI, A.W.N. 1891, 185. (5 A. 187, 7 A. 479, 7 A. 258, R.)

(31)—Pre-emption suit by pardahnashin ladies—Plaintiffs having knowledge of sale.—In a suit by pardahnashin ladies for pre-emption, mere circumstance that the sale took place in the open market and with due publicity, and that it came to the knowledge of these secluded ladies would not in itself furnish any ground for depriving them of the rights which they would otherwise possess as pre-emptors of the land under the terms of the wajib-ul-arz. For mere knowledge of a sale, irrespective of definite refusal to purchase properly communicated, can never be held to deprive the pre-emptor of his right of pre-emption. MAHADEO PRASAD v. SAHIB BAIBI, A.W.N. 1887, 260.

(32)—Right of pre-emption—Cancellation of sale—Pre-emptor's right.—Plaintiff set up a right of pre-emption against the defendant and obtained a decree; but the defendant, after the case went against him, annulled the sale to the purchaser and refused to sell the land to any one. The question was whether the pre-emptor could compel the defendant to carry out the sale to him. Held that the plaintiff could not force the defendant to sell the land to him; but as the latter exercised his right to annul the sale after the case went against him, the plaintiff was entitled to the costs in the lower Court, but not in the appeal Courts, as the point was decided against him. BAHADOOR v. MOTEE RAM, 39 P.R. 1867.

(33)—Right of pre-emption — Permanent transfer — Pre-emption rules applicable to usufructuary mortgages, on stipulation to that effect in wajib-ul-arz.—As has been ruled in 87 P.R. 1867, the right on which a plaintiff's claim for pre-emption is based ordinarily attaches only to permanent transfers of land and not to mortgages, which are fettered by no such restriction. In the present case, however, the claim of the plaintiff was based, not upon the general law, but upon the wajib-ul-arz of the village according to which the right of the proprietor to receive the first offer was extended to mortgages as well as to sales, and effect had to be given to the plain meaning of the words used in the Wajib-ul-arz without regard to their real or supposed beneficial or detrimental effect in particular cases; and, consequently, plaintiff being a proprietor of the village and the defendant a stranger, the former, according to the stipulation in the wajib-ul-arz, had the preferential right to

Pre-emption—continued.—3.—Loss of right to pre-empt by waiver, etc.—continued.

the mortgage. BUNSEE LALL v. BUNSEE AND SYED REHMUT ALI, 4 P.R. 1869. [R., 84 P.R. 1869, 42 P.R. 1880, 103 P.R. 1885, 98 P.R. 1894.]

(34)—Pre-emption—Mahomedan law—Abandonment of right—Prior complete agreement for sale necessary.—The Mahomedan law requires that, before the pre-emptive right can be abandoned, there should be such a right come into existence by reason of a prior agreement for sale having been entered into. PEAREE LALL v. AJOODHYA PERSHAD, 74 P.R. 1869. [R., 90 P.R. 1909=147 P.L.R. 1909.]

(35)—Pre-emption—Auction sale—Omission to attend at sale—Relinquishment.—In a suit for pre-emption it was held that, where plaintiff had an opportunity of attending at an auction sale and there asserting his rights as pre-emptor, his omission to take advantage of it amounted to a relinquishment of his right of pre-emption. MAHOMED BAKSH v. HIRA, 47 P.R. 1873. [R., 46 P.R. 1909=72 P.L.R. 1909; D., 100 P.R. 1885.]

(36)—Pre-emption—Waiver by pre-emptor in favour of stranger—Estopped as against second pre-emptor.—When a pre-emptor had once waived his right to accept or insist upon an offer of sale, he cannot afterwards come forward and re-assert his right against another person who had claimed pre-emption in the same sale and obtained a decree transferring the property to himself, nor could he waive his right in favour of a particular person and reserve it as against all others. NABBI BAKSH v. KAKA SINGH, 42 P.R. 1878. [R., 106 P.R. 1880, 8 P.R. 1882, 25 P.R. 1903=74 P.L.R. 1903, 90 P.R. 1909=147 P.L.R. 1909, F.B.; D., 20 P.R. 1881, 139 P.R. 1894.]

(37)—Effect of pre-emptor divesting himself of the proprietary right in his property.—A plaintiff's suit for pre-emption ought to be dismissed when during the pendency of the suit he divests himself of the proprietary right in the property which gave him the right to claim pre-emption. ATMA RAM v. DEVI DIAL, P.L.R. 1901, 157=49 P.R. 1901. (10 A. 472 and 21 A. 441, R.) [R., 91 P.R. 1909, 12 O.C. 229, 90 P.R. 1909, 133 P.R. 1907=84 P.W.R. 1907, 88 P.L.R. 1903, 44 P.R. 1903=75 P.L.R. 1903, 32 P.R. 1902=30 P.L.R. 1902.]

(38)—Pre-emption—Effect of pre-emptor's divesting himself of property which gave him right of pre-emption.—Where the person entitled to claim property by right of pre-emption by reason of his being a co-sharer in it makes a gift of his share, neither he nor his donee can pre-empt any part of the property when the gift is made subsequent to the sale of the share claimed. (10 A. 472, A.W.N. 1899, 127, 21 A. 441, 7 A. 107, at p. 110, 535, 20 A. 148, 186 P.R. 1894, R.) The term sharik in a

Pre-emption—continued.—3.—Loss of right to pre-empt by waiver, etc.—continued.

wajib-ul-arz applies to male agnates only. MUHAMMAD AYUB KHAN v. RURE KHAN, P.L.R. 1901, 125=95 P.R. 1901. (89 P.R. 1889, F.) [R., 91 P.R. 1909, 133 P.R. 1907=84 P.W.R. 1907=88 P.L.R. 1908, 124 P.R. 1907, 48 P.W.R. 1907=3 P.L.R. 1907, 90 P.R. 1909, 44 P.R. 1903=75 P.L.R. 1903, 32 P.R. 1902=30 P.L.R. 1902, 17 P.R. 1908=18 P.W.R. 1908, 12 O.C. 229; D., 46 P.R. 1902=49 P.L.R. 1902; Cited, 133 P.R. 1907=84 P.W.R. 1907=88 P.L.R. 1908.]

(39)—Waiver—Pre-emptor witnessing deed of sale—Vendee selling property to pre-emptor who has waived his right—Rival pre-emptors—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), s. 22, sch. II, arts. 10 and 120. On the 4th March 1898, G.M. sold the land in suit to F.M. The deed of sale was registered on the 10th March 1898. On the 24th February 1899 the plaintiff sued for possession of the land by right of pre-emption. On the 13th March 1899, when the case came on for hearing, F.M. stated that he had, on the 23rd January 1899, sold the land to J, whereupon J was impleaded as a defendant by order of Court. J. had attested as a witness the sale-deed, dated the 4th March 1898, in favour of F.M. J. pleaded inter alia that the suit against him was barred by limitation under s. 22 of the Limitation Act. It was contended for the plaintiff that sale to J. was fictitious, and that J. having waived his right, the plaintiff's claim, which was not barred by limitation, must be decreed. Held, that, since a pre-emptor who has once waived his right cannot afterwards come forward and re-assert it, J. was not entitled to claim the land as against the plaintiff after having clearly waived his right by witnessing the deed in favour of F.M. Moreover, as J. had acquiesced in the purchase of F.M. he was estopped, as sub-purchaser of F.M. from asserting his waived right against the plaintiff, whose claim to pre-emption was superior to that of F.M. Held, also, that art. 10, and not 120, of the Limitation Act, was applicable to the suit as against both the vendee and his sub-purchaser, J. Under s. 22 of the Limitation Act the suit as against J. must be considered to have been instituted on the 13th March 1899, and must be held as barred unless it were established that the sale to J. was fictitious, in which case plaintiff could succeed. The Chief Court remanded the appeal under s. 562 for trial with reference to the law as laid down above. NABI BAKSH v. FAKIR MUHAMMAD AND OTHERS, 74 P.L.R. 1903=25 P.R. 1903. [R., 6 P.R. 1909=7 P.W.R. 1909, 106 P.R. 1907, 7 O.C. 22; D., 3 P.R. 1907.]

(40)—Transfer by vendee after institution of suit for pre-emption against him to one having right superior to the plaintiff.—Where before a notice of the plaintiff's suit for pre-emption was served on the vendee the latter in good faith transferred his bargain to a person having right superior to that of the plaintiff and the vendee.

Pre-emption—continued.— 3.—Loss of right to pre-empt by waiver, etc.—continued.

Held, that the plaintiff's suit must be dismissed. RAMJI DAS v. RAM LAL, 124 P.L.R. 1904. (73 P.R. 1898, 7 P.R. 1895, 27 C. 77, R.)

(41)—Mortgage of property sold—Receipt of mortgage money by pre-emptor from vendee without protest—Waiver of right of pre-emption.—Where property claimed by the plaintiff by right of pre-emption was mortgaged with him, and the plaintiff, without protest, accepted the mortgage money from the vendee, held, that the plaintiff must be deemed to have waived his right to pre-empt. MEHTA CHANDRAS v. MALIK ITBAR KHAN, 154 P.L.R. 1906 (138 P.R. 1888, R.) [Not Appr., 37 P.R. 1908=39 P.L.R. 1908=30 P.W.R. 1908.]

(42)—Custom — Waiver—Pre-emptor receiving from the vendees mortgage-money due to him.—Held, that a pre-emptor cannot be deemed to have waived his right of pre-emption by simply receiving from the vendee mortgage-money due to him on the security of the property subject of the sale. FAZAL DAD KHAN v. SAWAN SINGH, 39 P.L.R. 1908=30 P.W.R. 1908=37 P.R. 1908. [138 P.R. 1888, 154 P.L.R. 1906, 2 A.L.J. 145, 9 A. 234, 32 P.R. 1884, R.]

(43)—Divisible sale—Deed of sale specifying each vendee's share and its price—One of the vendees assigning his share before pre-emption suit—Effect of adding the assignee as defendant after expiry of limitation—S. 22, Limitation Act (XV of 1877).—Held, that, where either the share of each vendee is specified in the deed of sale, or there is a distinct specification of both the price and the shares, the sale is considered divisible. Held, also, that, in a case of the above description, the right of pre-emption can be exercised separately in respect of each portion of the property sold, and that, if, by some reason or other, the pre-emptor's claim becomes time-barred in respect of a portion of the property, or his right does not extend to it, his claim cannot be defeated by the vendees on either ground. BRIJ LAL v. MASSON, 7 P.W.R. 1909=6 P.R. 1909=23 P.L.R. 1909=1 Ind. Cas. 91. (19 A. 148, F.; 25 P.R. 1903, 94 P.R. 1895, R.; 66 P.R. 1896, D.)

(44)—Pre-emption—Waiver—Acquiescence—Pre-emptor assisting in sale negotiations and demarcation of land—Delay in suing.—A pre-emptor assisted in negotiating a sale, being himself present at the time; he further actively assisted when the land sold was being demarcated out of a large field of which it was a part. The suit for pre-emption was brought on the very last possible day. Held, that the pre-emptor must be deemed to have waived his right of pre-emption, as by his conduct he actively brought about in the vendee's mind that he was perfectly agreeable to the purchase by the vendee and did not intend to enforce his right. FATEH CHAND v. KIRPA SINGH, 76 P.W.R. 1912=13 Ind. Cas. 561=48 P.R. 1912=145 P.L.R. 1912. (165 P.W.R. 1910=8 Ind.

Pre-emption—continued.— 3.—Loss of right to pre-empt by waiver, etc.—continued.

Cas. 246, F.; 7 P.R. 1876, 7 A. 23, R.; 97 P.R. 1908=30 P.W.R. 1908, 99 P.R. 1910=164 P.W.R. 1910=8 Ind. Cas. 1155, 100 P.R. 1885, 78 P.R. 1881, 185 P.L.R. 1905, D.)

(45)—Pre-emption—Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Loss of right—Joining a co-sharer having an inferior right in the purchase.—In a suit for pre-emption, the vendees who were persons having an equal right of pre-emption with the plaintiffs, were held to have lost their right as against the plaintiffs, by associating with them a co-sharer who possessed an inferior right: Held, also, upon a discussion of the evidence and with reference to the terms of the wajib-ul-arzes, that the custom existed. GUPTESHWAR RAM v. RATI KRISHNA RAM, 10 A.L.J. 70=15 Ind. Cas. 174=34 A. 542.

(46)—Pre-emption—Title of the plaintiff at date of sale and at date when decree ought to have been passed—Partition after the decree of first Court, effect of.—A plaintiff having a right to a decree in a pre-emption suit at the date of the sale and at the date upon which the decree ought to have been made by the first Court, does not lose that right because of a partition, which comes into force before the decree becomes final on appeal. BIDYA PERSHAD RAM TEWARI v. ACHAIBER RAM, 15 Ind. Cas. 865. (6 A.L.J. 699=3 Ind. Cas. 42=31 A. 530, relied; 32 A. 567=7 A.L.J. 715=6 Ind. Cas. 426, 21 A. 441, D.)

(47)—Act XII of 1878, s. 13, notice under—Pre-emption—Verbal offer, refusal of, whether amounts to waiver of such right.—The mere omission or refusal to accept an oral offer of a sale does not, of itself, and without some positive act of the pre-emptor by way of discharging the vendor, constitute a waiver of the right of pre-emption or dispense with performance of the obligation to serve a written notice under s. 13 of Act XII of 1878. The object of that section is to secure unimpeachable evidence of the fact that an offer was duly made; and if mere oral evidence of a verbal offer and refusal may be regarded as proof that the pre-emptor waived his right of pre-emption, or dispensed with performance of the obligation to serve written notice, the object of the Legislature in framing the new enactment on the point would be frustrated. PHALEL v. BATA, 52 P.R. 1880. [F., 112 P.R. 1882, 24 P.R. 1887; Appr., 100 P.R. 1885; R., 8 P.R. 1882, 22 P.R. 1901=86 P.L.R. 1901.]

(48)—Vendee purchasing defeasible title cannot give better title to his transferee—Pre-emptor can delay suit till the last moment of limitation allowed—His only risk in being forestalled by a person of superior or equal right of pre-emption.—A person who purchases property subject to the law of pre-emption takes a title which is defeasible in the event of a pre-emptor coming forward within the time allowed by law with a claim for pre-emption, and during this period he cannot give a transferee from himself a better title than he possesses. If, in such circumstances, he and his transferee choose to run the risk of dealing with the property upon the assumption that no claim to pre-emption will be preferred, they do so with their eyes open and at their peril. A pre-emptor is entitled to delay his suit for pre-emption up to the very last moment, though, of course, he does so at the risk of losing his rights, if in the interval, another person with equal or superior right has, by exercise of greater diligence, forestalled him in securing the bargain. PALA v. MUSSAMMAT MANGLAN, 182 P.L.R. 1913 = 132 P.W.R. 1913.

Pre-emption—continued.—3.—Loss of right to pre-empt to waiver, etc.—concluded.

See PUN. ACT IV OF 1872, s. 18, 37 P.R. 1874.

See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT, 138 P.R. 1888.

See MORTGAGE—FORM OF MORTGAGES, 14 A. 195 = A.W.N. 1892, 42.

—4.—Necessary formalities

(1)—Right of pre-emption — Antecedent demand—Cause of action—Wajib-ul-arz—Local custom.—The cause of action for a pre-emptive suit is not the demand but the sale complained of. Of course, under the strict Mahomedan law, the immediate demand and the confirmatory demand are conditions precedent to the exercise of pre-emption; but this rule has been held not to be applicable to pre-emptive claims based upon the wajib-ul-arz, whilst, so far as customary pre-emption is concerned, the matter would depend upon the scope and incidents of the custom. MUHAMMAD RUSTAM ALI KHAN v. NIADAR SINGH, A.W.N. 1886, 114. [R., 13 A. 373.]

(2)—Between Hindus in Benares city—Modification of Mahomedan Law to be applied—Performance of preliminaries necessary — Meaning and not style of the statement making a claim for pre-emption to be considered.—In a suit for pre-emption between Hindus, in the absence of any allegation or proof as to any custom different from or not co-extensive with the Mahomedan Law, that law must be applied to the case, and the performance of the preliminaries required by that law, as conditions precedent to the perfection of that right, must be performed. According to the Hedaya it is the meaning and not the style of the statement making the claim that is to be considered. Held, therefore, that a claim couched in the words: "I have a claim for pre-emption on this house. If any one else purchase it, I shall be put to inconvenience. Go at this very moment and take the money from Shoshi Bhushan Sircar and tell Ram Charan and Chakauri Devi to return the house by taking the money," clearly evinced a desire on the part of the pre-emptor to claim the right. Where the words used are a mere statement of the fact that the speaker had a claim for pre-emption, the requirements of the Mahomedan Law would not be satisfied. CHAKAURI DEVI v. SUNDARI DEVI, 3 A.L.J. 338 = A.W.N. 1906, 144 = 28 A. 590. [R., 28 A. 698 = 3 A.L.J. 467 = A.W.N. 1906, 187, 5 N.L. R. 136.]

Pre-emption—continued.—4.—Necessary formalities—continued.

(3)—Mahomedan Law—Pre-emption—Talab-i-mowashibat and talab-i istishad — Unreasonable delay, a question of fact—Action for pre-emption—Claimants, co-sharers as well as mortgagees — Deposit of mortgage money in Court by purchaser—Withdrawal by claimants — Waiver of claim.—The right of pre-emption must be exercised, and the claims necessary to give effect to it must be made with the utmost promptitude, and any unreasonable and unnecessary delay is to be construed as an election not to pre-empt. Whether there has been such delay is a question to be determined upon the facts of each particular case. The plaintiffs, in this case, claimed the right to pre-empt by reason of their having previously acquired a share in the property. They had also obtained the transfer of a zurpeshgi mortgage binding the share, the sale of which was the occasion of the present suit. In the course of the suit, the purchaser, defendant, deposited the mortgage amount in Court and the same was withdrawn by the plaintiff. Held, that until a decree for pre-emption was made the purchaser owned the land, and had a right to redeem, and that the taking out of the money by the plaintiffs, as mortgagees, was no recognition of anything more than that and was quite consistent with their claim to pre-empt. BAIJNATH GAENKA v. RAMDHARI CHOWDHURY, 12 C.W.N. 419, P.C. = 10 Bom. L.R. 253 = 7 C.L.J. 318 = 18 M. L.J. 116 = 3 M.L.T. 349 = 35 C. 402 = 35 I. A. 60.

(4)—First demand — Talab-i mawasibat — Power of general attorney to make first demand — Pleadings—Proof that person is general attorney—Practice.—Where the plaintiff in a pre-emption suit alleged that the first demand or talab-i mawasibat was made for him by his general attorney and the defendant did not deny that the person in question was the general attorney of the plaintiff, but in fact no mukhtarnama or copy of it was filed, the original being filed in an other appeal then pending before the lower appellate Court: Held that, looking to the pleadings, the lower appellate Court, if it had any doubt on the point, should either have examined the other record or at least have given the plaintiff an opportunity of filing the mukhtarnama or a copy. Held, further, that the first demand or talab-i mawasibat can be made by a general attorney. MUNNA KHAN v. CHEDA SINGH, A.W.N. 1906, 177 = 3 A.L.J. 798 = 28 A. 691. (1 A. 521, 7 A. 41, F.; W.R. 1864, 219, R.)

(5)—Foreclosure—Persons entitled to notice — Notice, how to be given.—A person "pro-

Pre-emption—continued.—4.—Necessary formalities—concluded.

posing to foreclosure" must give notice to all persons entitled to redeem the mortgage. Such notice to avoid all disputes must be given through Court. UDE RAM v. BADHUR MAL, 90 P.R. 1887.

(6)—Pre-emption—Right of—Mahomedan origin—Applies to persons other than Mussalmans—In Rehar—Applicable to Hindus—Formalities to enforce the right—Disqualified heir—Manager of Court of Wards competent to comply with formalities—Court of Wards Act (Bengal Act, IX of 1879), s. 40—Test of co-parcenary to enforce pre-emption.—The law of pre-emption was introduced into India by the Mahomedan Government. In the Province of Behar, which was an integral part of the Mahomedan Empire, the right to pre-emption is enforceable, irrespective of the persuasion of the parties concerned, and exists among the Hindus of Behar. To enforce the right of pre-emption, the Mussalman law insists that the first formality technically called "the immediate demand" should be observed by the pre-emptor or some one on his behalf immediately on receipt of the news of the sale, and the second formality, "the repetition of the demand" should be done with as little delay as possible in the presence of witnesses either before the vendor, or the vendee or on the premises. These formalities could be performed by the Manager appointed by the Court of Wards on behalf of a disqualified heir, even apart from the provisions of s. 40 of the Court of Wards Act. A joint liability for payment of Government Revenue is sufficient under the Mahomedan Law to constitute a co-parcenary to claim a right to pre-emption. JADU LAL SAHU v. MAHARANI JANKI KOER, M.W.N. 1912, 486, P.C.=11 M.L.T. 361=16 C.W.N. 554=15 C.L.J. 483=9 A.L.J. 525=14 Bom.L.R. 436=23 M.L.J. 28=39 C. 915=5 Ind. Cas. 659=39 I.A. 101. (B.L.R. Sup. Vol. 35, F.; 5 C. 575, affirmed.)

—5.—Purchase-money.

(1)—Purchase-money, how to be calculated.—The owner of a 1 biswas share of a village and the owners of a 1½ biswas share joined in selling the 2½ biswas. The pre-emptor sued the vendees and the vendors of the 1½ biswas share to enforce his right of pre-emption in respect of that share. Held that, in order to determine what sum the pre-emptor should pay for the 1½ biswas share, the price paid by the vendees for both shares should be ascertained, and then what was the proportionate amount of that sum chargeable for the 1½ biswas share. The value of the property sold, with reference to the full purchase money of both parties, was the proper measure of the sum to be paid by the pre-emptor. SITA RAM v. NAND RAM, A.W.N. 1881, 87.

(2)—Pre-emption, suit for—Price money, meaning of—Mortgage money included in the price when so stipulated—Document—Compromise, construction of—Rule of interpretation.—In a suit for pre-emption with respect to property which was incumbered with a mortgage-debt, a compromise was arrived at between the parties, to the effect that the amount of the mortgage-money should be included in the price fixed before pre-emption could be allowed and that each party should pay half the mortgage-money. Held, that the pre-emptor must deposit his half of the amount of the mortgage-money, which was included in the price of the property pre-empted. In constructing a compromise, a Court must look to the actual terms of the compromise and not to the effect thereof on the interest of the parties. The effect of the Court should be to carry out the intention of the parties. ASHIK HUSSAIN v. MEDHI HUSSAIN, 12 Ind. Cas. 413.

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(3)—Suit for—Market value, evidence of—Price actually paid, how far evidence of market value.—Held, that, in a pre-emption suit, in the absence of any other evidence, the actual price paid is good evidence of the market value. ABILAKH v. BABBAN SINGH, 10 O.C. 88.

(4)—Sale-deed—Value as evidence—Fancy price paid—Pre-emption on payment of that price—Where, in a pre-emption suit, the pre-emptor pleads that the price of property in suit is less than what the sale-deed describes, the sale-deed should be looked upon as the ultimate agreement come to between the parties as showing the receipt of consideration and as being the evidence by which the rights of parties ought to be determined, unless the evidence afforded by it has been rebutted by other evidence the effect that the consideration mentioned in the deed had not been paid and received. It is an elementary fact in pre-emption law that if a vendee is willing to pay even a fancy price many times its value, for certain property and does pay it, the pre-emptor, who wants to take over that property, can do so only on payment of that fancy price. Rs. 35,000 was the aggregate price of 10 villages agreed to be sold, but the parties to the sale transaction agreed that a separate conveyance should be executed in respect of each of the villages showing the consideration to be paid for each village. Held, that there was nothing to prevent a vendor and purchaser from modifying a contract entered into between them in any way they pleased or of rescinding a contract and entering into an entirely new contract. Held, also, that the parties had an absolute right to arrange that the sale should be carried out by separate conveyances and to fix the price of each village at their pleasure. If the prices were fixed, as far as possible, to prevent pre-emption, there was no objection to this, provided the purchase-money, as set forth in each conveyance, was in each case actually paid. In this case, the pre-emptor was held liable to pay interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum on the sale price mentioned in the sale-deed for the period intervening between the date of his declining to purchase it at that

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

price and the date of actual payment under the decree. B. E. O'CONOR v. GHULAM HAIDAR, 3 A.L.J. 365 = A.W.N. 1906, 155 = 28 A. 617. [Not F., 29 A. 618 = 4 A.L.J. 531 = A.W.N. 1907, 202.]

(5)—Purchase-money—Evidence.—In a pre-emption suit, the vendee alleged that the sale-consideration was Rs. 5,000 and produced the sale-deed as well as a prior bond for Rs. 2,000 due by the vendor which the vendee alleged to have been paid off, the remaining Rs. 3,000 being alleged to be paid in cash. The pre-emptor alleged that the consideration was only Rs. 500. The lower appellate Court discredited the vendee's evidence and decided that the plaintiff should pay the market value of the properties. Held that the defendant's evidence should not be rejected without very good reasons and the lower Court should determine the price paid for the properties. NUR BHARI v. GHISI, A.W.N. 1882, 9.

(6)—Custom—Evidence—Former proceedings admitting existence of right of pre-emption—Apportionment of purchase money, illegal.—The issue in this case was, whether the right of pre-emption exists where one of two Mahomedan co-sharers sells to a Hindu. The evidence relied on in support of the custom happened to be proceedings in two suits where, under similar circumstances, though the exercise of the right was disputed on other grounds, the right of pre-emption was admitted to exist. Held that the above was evidence upon which the lower Courts could have legally acted. Held also that a person claiming to exercise his right of pre-emption must take the bargain as it was made, and any apportionment of the purchase-money is altogether illegal. MADHUB CHUNDER NATH BISWAS v. TOMEE BEWAH, 7 W.R. 210. [R., 20 B. 53.]

(7)—Price mentioned in sale-deed alleged to be fictitious—Burden of proof—Pre-emptor not entitled to benefit of arrangements between vendor and vendee.—In a suit for pre-emption, if the person claiming pre-emption alleges that the sale price mentioned in the sale-deed between the vendor and the vendee is fictitious, but the real price was much below, it is for him to give some evidence in support of his allegation. The plaintiff-pre-emptor is entitled to have the property at the price which was agreed upon between the vendor and the vendee, but cannot claim the benefit of an arrangement entered into between the vendor and the vendee by which the vendor allowed a certain portion of the purchase-money to remain in the hands of the vendee for paying off a mortgage. SHEIKH GOLAM AYHYA v. JOY MUNGUL SINGH, 13 W.R. 435. [R., 5 A. 184 = 2 A.W.N. 213.]

(8)—Rights of pre-emptor to benefits under sale-contract.—A pre-emptor is entitled to all the benefits which the vendee gets under the sale-contract. Accordingly, when one of the terms of the sale contract was, that the vendee should recover, for his own benefit, certain sums due on the estate to the vendor at the time of sale, and the vendee recovered such moneys, the pre-emptor could claim deduction of such sums from the amount payable by him as the price originally fixed for the property. TAJAMMUL HUSAIN v. UDA, 3 A. 668 = A.W.N. 1881, 44. [R., 141 P.R. 1907 = 93 P.W.R. 1907 = 57 P.L.R. 1908.]

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(9)—Pre-emption—Vendor having no title to part of property sold—Suit against pre-emptor by superior pre-emptor—Amount of purchase-money to be paid by plaintiff.—Where a pre-emptor obtains a decree, and, after payment of purchase-money, gets possession of the property, a pre-emptor with better claims who has a proprietary title to a portion of such property, can maintain a suit for pre-emption against the former in respect of the remaining portion, and he may pay only a proportionate portion of the purchase-money, he is not bound to pay the whole of such amount. MUHAMMAD LATIF v. GOBIND SINGH, 5 A. 382 = A.W.N. 1883, 66. [R., 102 P.R. 1894.]

(10)—Right of pre-emptor to claim to be put in vendor's position in regard to credit given to him.—In a pre-emption suit, the plaintiff cannot claim to be put in the same position as the vendee with reference to all the peculiar incidents relating to the payment of purchase-money that may have been arranged between the vendor and the vendee. Where, therefore, the vendor had received part of the purchase-money in cash, and agreed to allow the vendee to execute two hypothecation-deeds securing the property for the balance, the pre-emptor cannot claim that the same credit may be allowed to him. NIHAL SINGH v. KOKALE SINGH, 8 A. 29 = A.W.N. 1885, 314.

(11)—Pre-emption suits, absence of proof of true contract price—Market value taken as agreed price.—In suits to enforce a right of pre-emption, when the Judge has come to the conclusion that the price alleged in the sale-deed is not the true contract price, and where he is not in a position to ascertain what was, in fact, the true price, he should proceed to ascertain the true market value of the property at the time of the sale in question. The plaintiff should, in such cases, be prepared with the best evidence he could obtain as to the market price at the time of the sale, and it would be doing no injustice to the vendor or vendee, who refused to disclose what the true price was, or whose evidence, for some good reason, was not worthy of belief, to treat the market value ascertained by the Judge as the probable price agreed upon between the parties. AGAR SINGH v. RAGHU RAJ SINGH, 9 A. 471 = A.W.N. 1887, 99. [R., 6 O.C. 327, 29 A. 618 = A.W.N. 1907, 202 = 4 A.L.J. 531.]

(12)—Wajib-ul-arz—Clause fixing price in case of sale to co-sharer—Sale to stranger for higher price—Rights of pre-emptor and purchaser—Agreement running with the land.—By the wajib-ul-arz of a village, it was agreed among the co-sharers that if any of them wished to sell his share, he should offer it to the others before selling it to a stranger, and that the price of the property, if sold to any of themselves, should be so much a share, or should be according to a certain calculation. One of the co-sharers sold his share to a stranger, without first offering it to the other co-sharers, for a price higher than that agreed upon in the wajib-ul-arz. Held that the condition in it was still binding on the land, notwithstanding the sale to stranger, and that one of the other co-sharers who claimed a right of pre-emption was entitled to get the land on payment of the price fixed in the wajib-ul-arz, and the purchaser could recover the excess amount paid by him from the vendor. KARIM BAKHSH KHAN v. PULA BIBI, 8 A. 102, F. B. = A.W.N. 1886, 24. (5 A.W. N. 216, D.) [F., 27 A. 12 = A.W.N. 1904, 149 = 1 A.L.J. 353; R., 11 A. 257, 12 A. 234, F.B., A.W.N. 1906, 308 = 3 A.L.J. 830.]

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(13)—Wajib-ul-arz — Clause fixing price in case of sale to co-sharer — Covenant running with the land—Pre-emptor's right to take property on payment of price fixed in wajib-ul-arz — Notice—Irrespective of notice, a covenant in a wajib-ul-arz as to the enforcement of pre-emptive right by a co-sharer on payment of price at the current rate, was held to be a covenant running with the land and enforceable against bona fide purchasers for value, although the latter may have paid more than was payable under the wajib-ul-arz. UPMANI KUAR v. RAM DIN, 10 A. 621 = A.W.N. 1888, 243. (8 A. 102, R.) [R., A.W.N. 1908, 98.]

(14)—Purchase-money—Offer to pay.—The plaintiff in a pre-emption suit stated that the actual sale price of the property sold was Rs. 500, and not Rs. 800 as stated in the sale deed, and claimed pre-emption on payment of the actual amount. He did not allege in the plaint that he was ready and willing to pay whatever sum the Court might find to be the actual amount. Held that the pre-emptor could not be given a decree on condition of his paying Rs. 800, for that would be granting him a relief not asked for by him in his plaint. LACHMAN SINGH v. RAM PRASAD, A.W.N. 1882, 244.

(15)—Conditional decree — Computation of period specified for payment of purchase-money — "Final" decree—Holiday.—A decree for pre-emption, dated the 14th September 1882, directed that the purchase-money was to be deposited within a month from the time when the decree became final. An appeal was made from the decree, which was however dismissed on the 5th April 1883. The 6th of May 1883 was a holiday, and the purchase money was offered for deposit on the 7th of May 1883, and the next day it was actually taken in deposit by the Court. Held that the deposit made by the plaintiff was in time. BISHESHAR NAIK v. SAHIBUDDIN, A.W.N. 1884, 217. (1 A. 132, 3 A. 850, N.W.P. 1870, 112, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(16)—Pre-emption—Conditional decree—Deposit of purchase money—Appeal—Computation of time allowed for payment—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 214 (O. 20, r. 14, Civ. Pro. Code, 1909).—In a suit for pre-emption the decree of the lower appellate Court increased the amount payable by the plaintiff, pre-emptor, and made it conditional upon payment of the increased amount before a certain date. The plaintiff appealed to the High Court, but the appeal was dismissed and the increased amount was not paid before the date fixed. No fresh period for payment was expressly allowed by the decree of the High Court. Held, that, as the High Court did not disturb the decree of the lower appellate Court as to the date by which payment was to be made by the pre-emptor, and as the payment was not made before that date, the suit was to be dismissed. (11 A. 346, D.) Unless the Court of last appeal makes a distinct and express order on the subject, the only intention that can be inferred or presumed is, that it did not disturb the order of the Court below as to the date upon which the payment must be made by the pre-emptor. JAIRAM SINGH v. SRIKISHEN, A.W.N. 1890, 92. [R., 18 A. 223 = A.W.N. 1896, 43.]

(17)—Deposit of money as per terms of decree—Realization of costs allowed in decree from purchase money—Appellate decree requiring additional deposit—Additional deposit made in time.—P obtained a decree awarding him the pre-emptive right and possession of the plaintiff's property on payment of a sum of Rs. 125, and the decree also awarded him the costs of the suit. The purchaser preferred an appeal from this decree. The appellate Court decreed the appeal so far as to increase the sum of Rs. 125 to Rs. 200 as consideration of the sale, and, in regard to costs, the Court directed that the parties should bear their own costs. The decree specified that the sum of Rs. 200 was to be deposited by the pre-emptor within a month of the time when that Court's decree would become final, by which it must be understood to be the date upon which the period of limitation for an appeal would expire. In the meantime, P having obtained the decree of the first Court on the 20th December 1883 deposited the sum of Rs. 125, which that decree directed him to pay, on the 15th January 1884. Subsequently by executing that decree for costs, P realized, from the purchase money so deposited by him, a sum of Rs. 39 on the 5th March 1884. Then, in obedience to the appellate decree, P deposited a sum of Rs. 75 on the 14th May 1884 in order to make up the earlier deposit of Rs. 125 to the sum of Rs. 200, as required by the appellate Court's decree. The appellate decree was dated 18th April 1884. The appellate decree was subsequently amended considerably in respect of the order as to costs. The purchaser applied that the property might be restored to him because P had not deposited the whole amount of Rs. 200 within the period limited by the appellate decree inasmuch as he had taken away the sum of Rs. 39 as costs under the decree of the first Court dated 20th December 1883, which decree had been modified by the appellate Court as to costs. Held that the two deposits aggregating to Rs. 200 having been made within the time fixed in the appellate decree, the pre-emptor did not forfeit the pre-emptive rights which had been declared in his favour by that decree, and that the terms of s. 214, Civ. Pro. Code, which related to such matters, contained no provisions that under such conditions the right already established, proved, and decreed, should be vitiated simply because by an order of the Court, erroneous or not, a portion of the price deposited was returned in execution of a decree, and that it was open to the purchaser to obtain restitution of the sum of Rs. 39 which P had taken away under the order of the Court, and that such remedy could be obtained by him under the appellate decree of the 18th April, 1884, amended as it was on the 3rd February 1885. BALMUKAND V. PANCHAM, A.W.N. 1887, 243.

Pre-emption—continued.— 5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(18)—Pre-emption decree—Appeal—No payment within time fixed—Appellate Court if competent to make direction re deposit.—A pre-emptor obtained a decree from the first Court, which decree provided a certain time within which the sum ascertained to be the purchase-money was to be deposited; the pre-emptor appealed against the amount fixed by the first Court but failed. He did not deposit the money within the fixed time and the Judge declined to fix any further time. Held, that the plaintiff in appealing from the original decree could not escape from the obligation which it imposed and the lower appellate Court was not bound by law to insert in its decree any special direction concerning such deposit unless the occasion called for it, although it was competent to have done so. SHEO PERSHAD LALL V. THAKOOR RAI, 3 Agra 254. [F., 2 A. 744; Appl., 1 A. 132, 13 A. 376; R., 24 M. 449]

(19)—Pre-emption decree reversed on appeal—Refund of money deposited—Interest.—Plaintiff obtained a decree for pre-emption conditional on his paying a certain sum of money to the credit of the defendants. The money was accordingly paid in by him and drawn out by defendants. The decree, however, having been subsequently reversed on appeal, he applied under s. 583 of the Civ. Pro. Code, for restitution of the above amount, it was held that he was entitled to get the money paid in by him refunded with interest not merely up to the date of the reversal of the pre-emption decree but up to the date of the actual refund of the amount. BHAGWAN SINGH V. UMMAT-UL HASMAIN,

Pre-emption—continued.— 5.—Purchase-money—continued.

18 A. 262 = A.W.N. 1896, 42. (3 A. 475, F.; 7 A. 432, R.; A.W.N. 1888, 287, Diss.) [R., 20 A. 430.]

(20)—Decree for pre-emption—Amount paid into Court by decree-holder not withdrawable by decree-holder of his creditor.—When a person holding a decree for the pre-emption pays the pre-emption price into Court in compliance with such decree it is not competent to the Court to pay out any portion of it, to any one other than the person entitled to it under the decree, so as to prejudice the rights of the decree-holder to possession. So, where a creditor of such a decree-holder who applied for the attachment of such money was allowed to withdraw a portion of it and the decree-holder subsequently applied for possession of the property, it was held, that he had sufficiently complied with the decree for pre-emption, that it was not his fault but the fault of the Court that it had allowed a person other than the defendant in the suit to withdraw the money out of Court and that the decree-holder was therefore entitled to possession of the property pre-empted. Money paid into Court in a suit cannot be taken out of Court by any creditor of the man who pays it in, so long as the suit is pending, or unless the result is that the person who paid it in is held entitled to withdraw the money or some part of it and then the creditor of such person can only have execution against so much of that money as his judgment-debtor would be entitled to take out of Court. ABDUS SALAM V. WILAYAT ALI KHAN, 19 A. 256 = A.W.N. 1897, 31. [F., 21 P.R. 1902 = 179 P.L.R. 1901; R., 93 P.R. 1902, 76 P.R. 1902 = 113 P.L.R. 1902.]

(21)—Partition—Covenant for pre-emption—Covenant whether binding on heir—Decree for possession on depositing value of property.—Four brothers, on making a partition of their joint property, entered into a covenant with one another that, if any one of them or their heirs had to sell his share, he should offer to sell the same to any one of them, co-sharers, and that if any co-sharer consented to purchase on payment of the proper value, then the party selling should not be competent to sell the same to any person but the said co-sharer. One of the brothers having died, his widow sold his share which she had inherited to a stranger for Rs. 95 without having made any offer of it to the three surviving brothers. Thereupon the three brought this suit against the widow and her vendee to have possession of the property delivered to them upon payment of Rs. 27 which they alleged to be the value of the property. The Munsif held the sale to be invalid, but found the value of the property to be Rs. 95, and set aside the sale without giving possession. The lower Appellate Court made an order that, if the plaintiffs deposited in Court Rs. 95 within a certain time, the appeal would be decreed. The plaintiffs deposited the amount accordingly, and a decree for possession was given to them. Held that neither of the Courts

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

below had power to make the decrees which they did; and the order of the Lower Appellate Court to the plaintiffs to deposit the money was not binding on the plaintiffs; and they had no right, under this contract, to an election after the value had been ascertained, whether they would purchase at that price or not. Quære:—Whether such a covenant can be enforced after the death of the owner who entered into it? SREEMUTTY TRIPOORA SOONDUREE v. JAGGUR NATH DUTT, 24 W.R. 321. [F., 24 M. 449; R., 5 C.W.N. 343, 13 Bom. L.R. 240 = 35 B. 258, 1913 M.W.N. 163 = 24 M.L.J. 84, 10 C.L.J. 626.]

(22)—Admission of vendor in sale-deed and written statement as to part payment of price by vendee—Decision of question as to payment of price between vendor and vendee in a suit by pre-emptor.—Held, that in a suit for pre-emption where there is a dispute between the vendor and the vendees, the defendants in the case, as to the amount to be paid by the plaintiff and as to the terms on which he is entitled to a decree and the Court decides the amount to be paid by him and how much out of it to each of the defendants, it is as much a decision between the defendants, as between the plaintiff and the defendants and is thenceforth binding on both the defendants. RAJA RAMPAL SINGH v. MUSSAMMAT HAFIZA, 9 O. C. 308. (8 O.C. 283, R.)

(23)—C. P. C., 1882, ss. 214 (= O. XX, r. 14) 583 (= s. 144 (1), new Code)—Pre-emption suit—Purchase money fixed by lower Court's decree paid—Costs awarded to pre-emptor realized—Appellate Court increasing amount of purchase-money—Payment of difference without costs, if sufficient compliance—Where a pre-emptor, in whose favour a decree was passed, paid the purchase-money as directed, but drew out therefrom a portion in execution of the decree on account of the costs awarded to him, and on appeal the purchase-money was increased and each party was ordered to bear his own costs, held by Straight, J., that the payment, within the time fixed of the difference without the costs previously realized, was a sufficient compliance with the Appellate Court's decree, subject to the judgment debtor's right to recover the costs previously realized from him. Held, by Tyrrel, J., (contra) that as the pre-emptor had not at any moment of time, from the date of the institution of the suit, had a credit in any Court for the sum fixed by the appellate decree, he had failed to fulfil the condition essential to his possession of the vendee's estate under the decree in the suit. BALMUKAND v. PANCHAM, 10 A. 400 = A.W.N. 1898, 74.

(24)—Omission to pay costs—Effect.—A decree-holder who omits to pay the costs in time and thus violates the conditions of his decree loses the benefit of his decree even though he might have deposited the purchase-money in Court before time. TEHL SINGH v. RULDU, 96 P. R. 1884. [F., 106 P.R. 1900]

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(25)—Right of pre-emption—Actual price to be fixed in suit—Act VIII of 1859—Ss. 55, 57—Substituted service.—In a suit for pre-emption, either the vendor or the purchaser can insist upon the Court fixing the actual price of the properties sold, in the suit for pre-emption itself, so as to enable the plaintiff to make the purchase himself, and the purchaser to take advantage of any default which the plaintiff may commit in regard to it. They should not be referred to a separate suit. By ss. 55 and 57 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1859, substituted service by fixing a copy upon the door of the defendant's house is permitted only when the defendant is dwelling in the house at the time and could not be found, or has only left the house for the purpose of avoiding service of summons. LEKH RAJ v. DAVEE CHUND, 35 P.R. 1868.

(26)—Pre-emption—Value of land sold how to be ascertained.—The general law of pre-emption, based on the Mahomedan law, requires that the pre-emptor should pay for the property bought the original price for which it was bona fide agreed to be sold before pre-emption was claimed. This is altered by the Punjab Civil Code, which, in s. 13, cl. 12, directs the Court to fix the price with the aid of a valuation committee composed of three arbitrators, two appointed by the parties (one by each) and one by the Court. This procedure, being in substitution of the previously subsisting rule of law, must be followed with a reasonable degree of exactness. MT. HUMEEDOOLNISSA v. MOHOMED AKBAR, 83 P.R. 1868.

(27)—Value—Valuation Committee—Wajib-ul-arz how for evidence.—In a suit for pre-emption the Court should not form its own opinion of the proper price of the land; according to the terms of part 12, s. 13 the Punjab Civil Code, the matter must be referred to a valuation committee. In the absence of special custom, the fact that the wajib-ul-arz only deals with the right of relations as to pre-emption does not deprive others of the community of the general right of pre-emption which vests in them under the Punjab Civil Code, and in such cases the Courts must decide which party has the best right of pre-emption according to relationship, vicinage, being of the same thok, and so forth. GOOMANEE v. RUHEEMOODDEEN, 35 P.R. 1870. [Appr., 3 P.R. 1903 = 39 P.L.R. 1906.]

(28)—Suit for pre-emption—Refusal before sale—Value of land.—If, in a suit for enforcing the right of pre-emption it was found that plaintiff had not refused to buy before sale was effected, then it would be necessary to consider the value of the land sold and the value of the rights and interests in the common land which the purchaser as owner of the land acquired. It is not sufficient to value the land alone. Its value with all rights and interests attached thereto must be considered. DARBARA SINGH v. UTAM SINGH, 12 P.R. 1873.

(29)—Suit for pre-emption—Sum paid by the vendee to the vendor, measure of "market value" at the time of the sale.—In suits for pre-emption, the Court should carefully determine the market value of the land. As the law works hardly upon the vendor, every indulgence should be shown to him. Many circumstances may tend to enhance the value of the property sold and, so far as possible, the Courts should hold the actual sum that has passed to the vendor from the vendee to be the fair and reasonable market rate at the time when the sale took place. BHUP SING v. KHARAK SING, 29 P.R. 1875.

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(30)—Suit for pre-emption—Market value to be fixed as at commencement of action.—In estimating the value of property the subject of pre-emption, that is the price at which the defendant in a pre-emption suit has to sell to the plaintiff, the market value at the time of the action should always be determined. SUNDAR DAS v. SHAM SINGH, 74 P.R. 1875. [R., 161 P.R. 1883, 91 P.R. 1892; D., 462 P.L.R. 1900.]

(31)—Purchase of land subject to pre-emption—Decree for pre-emption—Vendee when entitled to recover deficiency between price paid and that decreed to be paid by pre-emptor.—When land subject to the right of pre-emption is sold by the owner to a person not having the right of pre-emption, the interest of the vendor passes to the purchaser, but is liable to be again transferred to the pre-emptor upon his demand by suit. When both parties to the sale are aware of this contingency, in the absence of any contract to the contrary, the original purchaser has no right to recover from the vendor any deficiency between the price paid by him and the price decreed to be paid by the pre-emptor for the property. WAZIRA v. SHADI KHAN, 67 P.R. 1881. [R., 32 P.R. 1884, 80 P.R. 1888, 93 P.R. 1902, F.B.; D., 111 P.R. 1908 = 4 Ind. Cas. 690.]

(32)—Decree for pre-emption—Failure to deposit but tender made within time fixed in decree—Refusal to accept tender, effect of.—A decree-holder is to be deemed to have complied with the terms of his decree for pre-emption when he has tendered the amount of the decree at the proper Court within the time fixed, and the decree does not become void. The mere fact that the Tahsil officials refused to receive it in the absence of the Tahsildar whose absence was unexpected and could not have been foreseen by the decree-holder, could not be held to affect the rights acquired by him under the decree. AHMAD DIN v. RIHAN, 69 P.R. 1881.

(33)—Holder of pre-emption decree—Tender of decree amount within time fixed for payment—Non-acceptance by Court—Effect—Act IV of 1872, s. 18.—Plaintiff held a decree for pre-emption passed on condition of paying its amount by the 4th July, 1880. He offered the amount on the 6th October, alleging that he had once offered it before on the 13th June but had been directed to take it back and pay it again after the decision of an appeal in which the question was to be decided whether the amount was to be paid to the defendant or to the seller. Held that, if the plaintiff did offer the amount as stated, and was directed by the Court to take it back and retain it till the decision of the appeal, he should be deemed to have in fact paid the amount into Court, before the day fixed, within the intent and meaning of s. 18 of Act IV of 1872. MIR ZAMAN v. PYAO, 79 P.R. 1881.

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(34)—Suit for pre-emption—Allegation that price mentioned in sale-deed was not bona fide—Plea of private notice—Fair market value.—In this suit for pre-emption, the plaintiff alleged that the sale had been made without notice and that the actual sale-price was less than that mentioned in the deeds. Both sets of defendants, purchaser and the vendees, pleaded private notice and that the sum mentioned in the deed had actually been paid. The first Court omitted to fix the proper issue, viz., whether the price mentioned in the deed was or was not fixed in good faith. Upon that point, on which there was no evidence, it was material to ascertain what price had actually been paid. It was only in the event of a finding in the negative on the above issue, that it would be necessary to determine the issue fixed as to the market value of the property, although such value would be important evidence upon the question whether the price stated in the deed was done so in good faith. But, however, a price higher than the market value is not necessarily a price fixed in bad faith, as the difference might be satisfactorily explained. As the said necessary and proper issue had not been raised in the first Court, the Commissioner, who raised it himself, should have allowed the defendants opportunity of giving evidence. NANDA v. CHANDA SINGH, 69 P.R. 1882. [R., 10 P.R. 1884.]

(35)—Claim for pre-emption—Price offered found less than sum actually paid to vendee—Decree of first Court conditioned on payment of full price, validity of—Claimant not bound to express willingness at any sum fixed by Court.—In this suit for pre-emption of a house sold to the defendant nominally for Rs. 900, but the outside market value of which the plaintiff alleged was not more than Rs. 400, plaintiff asked for a decree for pre-emption at the market value. The first Court gave the plaintiff a decree conditional on payment of Rs. 700, as it considered that the purchaser had actually paid that sum for the property. The appellate Court dismissed the plaintiff's suit in toto, on the ground that, as the plaintiff had claimed in his plaint to purchase the house for Rs. 400, without expressing his willingness to pay any higher sum that might be fixed by the Court as the market value, he was not entitled to maintain his suit when it was ascertained that the price bona fide paid was more than the sum mentioned in the plaint. Held, considering the stage which the litigation had reached, and the fact that the plaintiff had shewn his willingness to preserve his right of pre-emption by paying up the amount fixed by the first Court within the period stated in the decree, although he still contended that the amount so fixed was excessive, that the lower appellate Court did not exercise a wise or reasonable discretion in reversing that decree of the first Court and in dismissing the suit simply because certain words expressive of the plaintiff's willingness to pay a higher sum than Rs. 400 were not added in the plaint. In a suit for pre-emption, equity requires that the Court should endeavour to put an end to useless litigation by determining once for all the conditions under which the plaintiff is entitled to exercise the right claimed, instead of leaving the parties to fight the whole matter out again in a fresh suit, simply because it turns out at the close of the investigation that the value of the property exceeded the sum mentioned in the plaint and because the plaintiff did not add to his prayer a willingness to abide by any valuation which the Court might adopt. PRI-TAM DAS v. HIRA NAND, 178 P.R. 1882.

Pre-emption—continued.— 5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(36)—Pre-emption in respect of building by plaintiff claiming to be owner of site—Decree for pre-emption on payment for both site and building—Appeal without payment for site, if maintainable.—The plaintiff claiming himself to be the owner of a site and to exercise a right of pre-emption in respect of the building thereon, sued to be put in possession both of the building and of the site, on payment for the building alone. The first Court found in plaintiff's favour as regards both the claims and decreed pre-emption on payment of Rs. 142 which it found to be the value of the materials. The Judicial Assistant on appeal held that he must pay for the right of the vendors in the site as well as for the building and increased the sum to be paid for pre-emption to Rs. 413. The plaintiff without paying the difference between this sum and the amount fixed by the first Court, appealed to the Commissioner, who dismissed the appeal on the ground that the appellant had lost the right of pre-emption by non-payment of the increased sum. Held that by not paying the amount fixed by the Judicial Assistant the plaintiff gave up his right to buy for Rs. 413 in case the Appellate Court should find that he was bound to pay for the site as well as for the building, but he did not give up his right of pre-emption in respect of the building, if the Appellate Court should hold that the decision of the first Court, that he had nothing to pay for the site was correct; the object of the appeal was not to establish his right to buy the site for a smaller sum, but to establish his right to possession of the site on paying the value of the building only, and he was entitled to a decision on this point. Held also, that if the plaintiff succeeded in showing that he was not liable to pay for the site, he should be required to pay the market value of the house as a building, and not merely the value of the materials of which it was constructed. RAI BASANT SINGH v. NIADAR MAL, 101 P.R. 1883.

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(37)—Non-payment of amount—Lapse of decree—Second suit—Whether barred.—Where a person allowed a pre-emption decree to lapse by non-payment of the amount in Court, and his father brought a second suit with regard to the same property, held the first suit is no bar. TAHIR KHAN v. MEGHA KHAN, 1 P.R. 1885.

(38)—Price entered in the deed—Not bona fide—Market-value—Price actually paid.—Where in a suit for pre-emption it is found that the price entered in the deed or alleged by the parties is notified in good faith, the plaintiff can claim pre-emption for the market value. MEHTAB KHAN v. MUSTAFA BEG, 101 P.R. 1887.

(39)—Decree for pre-emption subject to payment of a price—Awarding of costs—Right to deduct.—Where a decree for pre-emption is passed in favour of the plaintiffs subject to the payment of a certain sum within a certain time and the plaintiff is also awarded costs, the plaintiffs would be entitled to deduct the costs from the said amount and deposit the rest in Court, even though there is no such direction in the decree. BAHADUR v. JALAL, 70 P.R. 1888.

(40)—Payment of $\frac{2}{3}$ of the money in Court—Depositing a receipt for the balance—S. 18, Punjab Laws Act.—A plaintiff in whose favour a decree for pre-emption was passed under which he was directed to pay the amount before a certain day into Court deposited $\frac{2}{3}$ of the money and filed a receipt for the balance which was admitted by the vendee. Held this was a payment within the meaning of s. 18 of the Punjab Laws Act. SHER SHAH v. SHER JANG, 21 P.R. 1889. [R., 10 P.R. 1895.]

(41)—Sale—Consideration—Pre-emption—Purchase-money—Market-value.—Where the defendants agreed that if the 2nd defendant brought a suit for 1st defendant and recovered certain land, the latter would transfer half the land in consideration for such services, held that in a suit for pre-emption of such land by plaintiff, the transaction could not be regarded as anything but a sale, affording a claim for pre-emption. In this case as it could not be said that any particular price was fixed, the plaintiff had to pay the market value of the property. HAJI MUHAMMAD v. MUSSAMMAT, BAKHTO, 54 P.R. 1889. [R., 2 P.R. 1903=53 P.L.R. 1903, 23 P.R. 1906, 29 P.R. 1893.]

(42)—Ss. 17 and 18 Punjab Laws Act and O. 20, r. 14, Civ. Pro. Code—Deposit of Government Promissory notes.—The deposit of Government Promissory notes is not payment of money and not a sufficient compliance with a decree for pre-emption directing the pre-emption to pay money into Court. The non-compliance with the decree is not fatal to the further prosecution of appeal. Ss. 17 and 18, Punjab Laws Act do not extend to an appellate Court as regards suits for pre-emption on a sale. S. 214 (O. 20, r. 14) Civ. Pro. Code applies to an appellate decree passed in an appeal by the defendant for increasing the amount of money payable by the pre-emptor. THAKUR DAS v. TULSI DAS, 70 P.R. 1890, F.B. [R., 10 P.R. 1895, 48 P.R. 1906=104 P.L.R. 1906; D., 67 P.R. 1892, 161 P.R. 1890.]

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(43)—Deposit of money in Court—Attachment by creditors—Payment of money to purchaser.—Where money was deposited by pre-emptor in Court and it was attached by his creditor he could not claim delivery of possession unless and until he paid the purchase money to the defendant over again as the sum deposited had come to his own benefit. SANDHA KHAN v. JHANDU KHAN, 61 P.R. 1890. [Diss., 21 P.R. 1902=179 P.L.R. 1901.]

(44)—Price stated in the deed—Onus of proving good faith—Price actually paid.—Where the plaintiff alleges and the defendant denies that the price entered in the deed was not fixed in good faith, the vendee must prove that the price entered was actually paid and then the onus lies upon the plaintiff to show that it was not fixed in good faith. If the price actually paid is less, it is evidence of bad faith. But generally the price actually paid is the best evidence of the market value at the time of sale. GULAB v. RAMSINGH, 102 P.R. 1890.

(45)—Power to require payment into Court—Time—S. 16-A. Punjab Laws Act.—The latest stage in pre-emption cases at which the Court can, under s. 16-A, Punjab Laws Act, order payment of price into Court is the time of the settlement of issues and not afterwards. The power of rejecting the plaint under the said section is supplementary to the provisions of Civ. Pro. Code and must be read with the Code. GOBIND v. KISHEN CHAND, 52 P.R. 1891.

(46)—Notice—Calculation of time.—A person having a right of pre-emption may pay or tender the price to the vendor or the amount due to the mortgagee within 3 months of the notice. In reckoning the said period, the day on which the notice is given is to be excluded. JOTI PERSHAD v. GAJJU, 114 P.R. 1891.

(47)—Separate suits by equal claimants—Duty of Court.—Where several separate suits are launched by persons having equal claims for pre-emption, each claimant will be entitled to a decree for a proportionate share of the property on payment of a proportionate share of the purchase money. GOCAL AND JAWAHIR v. BHOLA, 29 P.R. 1892. [D., 43 P.R. 1903=92 P.L.R. 1903.]

(48)—Improvement by original purchaser—Compensation—Form of decree.—Court may award compensation for improvements to a vendee who has made them in good faith and who is entitled to it in equity. In such cases the decree should provide separately for the payment of purchase-money and for that of compensation and the payment of purchase-money within the fixed time must save the decree from forfeiture though compensation may not be paid within that time. AZIZ DIN v. SHAM DAS, 91 P.R. 1892.

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(49)—Payment of money into Court—Failure—Effect of decree.—The effect of failure to pay money into Court within a fixed time is to make the decree null and void. The terms of the decree can be altered by a competent Court setting it aside. If money is not paid into Court within the fixed time, there is no decree remaining in force for the appellate Court to alter. SARAB DIAL v. NATHU, 137 P.R. 1894.

(50)—Decree not providing any fixed period for payment of money—Limitation for execution—Non-payment within fixed time—Objection not taken in appeal—Effect.—If a decree for pre-emption does not fix any time for the payment of the purchase-money, the pre-emptor can enforce the decree within the period fixed for the execution of decrees by the Limitation Act. If the objection that money was not paid within the time fixed in the decree is not taken in appeal, it cannot be urged against the appellate decree in execution of the same. CHAKAR DAR v. GHAPILA, 10 P.R. 1895. (11 A. 267, 346, 21 P.R. 1889, 71 P.R. 1890, R.) [Cons. & D., 48 P.R. 1906=104 P.L.R. 1906.]

(51)—Pre-emption decree—Non-payment of money into Court—Effect on the right of appeal—S. 214 (O. 20, r. 14)—Civ. Pro. Code, and s. 18, Punjab Laws Act, meaning of.—The object of s. 214 (O. 20, r. 14), Civ. Pro. Code, and s. 18, Punjab Laws Act, is not to preclude a right of appeal in the event of non-payment of purchase money into Court within the time fixed in the pre-emption decree but to provide a penalty for disobedience to the terms of the decree as to deposit only if accepted as correct by both parties or declared to be so after appeal. Its object is not to exclude a plaintiff from appealing in a just claim merely because poverty or other natural cause prevented him from raising, even though temporarily, a sum largely in excess of the true market value of the property. MALIK AKBAR ALI v. HASSAN ALI, 67 P.R. 1895. [F., 48 P.R. 1906=104 P.L.R. 1906.]

(52)—Pre-emption decree—Appeal—Dismissal—Time for payment of money.—Where the original decree had fixed one month for payment of the purchase-money into Court and an appeal from that decree is dismissed without allowing any fresh period for payment, the appellate decree must be taken to have incorporated the terms of the original decree and the said period of one month must be calculated from the date of the appellate decree. MOTI RAM v. KAMMON, 88 P.R. 1898. [R., 92 P.R. 1900; Overruled, 48 P.R. 1906=104 P.L.R. 1906.]

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

(53)—Purchase of property in payment of previous debts—Market-value—Good faith.—In a case for pre-emption where the transfer was in satisfaction of old debts if the market value of the property does not appear to differ very materially from the amount of the debts due from the vendor, and the price actually paid is the cancellation of all the liabilities mentioned in the deed, the price so paid may be held to have been fixed in good faith; but where the disparity between the market value of the property and the sum in satisfaction of which it has been accepted is very great and the debtor is clearly insolvent and the property in question taken in satisfaction was practically the debtor's only asset, the market-value of the property is the proper test of the value of the consideration paid and not the nominal amount of the debts due. VIR BHAN v. MATTU SHAH, 77 P.R. 1901. [R., 22 P.R. 1906, 47 P.R. 1909; Cons. & D., 56 P.R. 1907.]

(54)—Pre-emption—Joint decree in favour of several plaintiffs—Purchase-money provided by some only of them—Rights of others—Onus probandi—Question of law.—When a decree for pre-emption on payment of a certain sum of money is passed in favour of several persons, and some only of them provide all the money, it lies upon the others to show that they have not given up their rights under the decree, and that they are entitled to claim their share of the bargain from those who provided the whole money. They should not be allowed at a subsequent time, if they see the bargain a profitable one, to come in and claim their share. (52 P.R. 1882, D.) When a question arises as to the admissibility of such a claim, the question is a question of law on which a further appeal may lie. NIJABAT v. AHMAD, 67 P.L.R. 1902.

(55)—Purchase-money actually paid—Good faith—Market value.—Held, that market value is no test of what should be paid by the pre-emptors until the price mentioned in the sale-deed is shown not to have been fixed in good faith. The price actually paid by the vendees may be far above the real market value, and no objection can be taken by a pre-emptor to a price actually and genuinely paid, on the ground that it is a fancy price. NANAK CHAND v. RAM CHAND, 99 P.L.R. 1902=68 P.R. 1902. (75 P.R. 1901=123 P.L.R. 1901, R.) [Diss., 22 P.R. 1906; F., 56 P.R. 1907.]

(56)—Market value—Price actually paid by vendee.—The price actually paid by the vendee is in general the best evidence of market value at the time of the sale. AKHUND ABDUL KHALIK KHAN v. RUP CHAND, 54 P.L.R. 1904 (102 P.R. 1890, R.)

(57)—Appeal by purchaser from a decree for pre-emption—Lower Court's decree confirmed on appeal—Time for payment of purchase-money whether appellate Court bound to fix—Omission

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—continued.

to fix such time in appellate decree, effect of.—In deciding an appeal by a purchaser from a decree for pre-emption and dismissing the appeal in confirmation of the lower Court's decree, it is not obligatory on the appellate Court to fix a period subsequent to the date of its decree within which the price fixed by the Court below is to be paid. It is settled by the weight of authority that when a decree has been confirmed, reversed or modified by the Court of appeal, it is the appellate decree that is the subsisting decree capable of execution. Where the appellate decree confirming the original decree for pre-emption does not fix any period of time for the payment of the pre-emptive money, the true meaning of the appellate decree is that the terms of the decree confirmed thereby are approved and maintained intact, and among them the provision in the original fixing the date or time for payment of the pre-emptive money. When a decree is under appeal, the matter disposed of by it is re-opened and it remains in abeyance, but the confirmation of such decree in appeal restores its provisions just as they stood when it was passed. To hold, therefore, in case like the present that the time for payment fixed by the lower Court is to be attached to the decree passed on appeal confirming the decree of the lower Court involves a contradiction in terms the confirmation of the decree really resulting in the alteration of it and especially where the appeal has been dismissed under s. 551, Civ. Pro. Code, the result of such action would be that without hearing or even giving notice to the respondent the appellant would have his case altered in his favour to the prejudice of the respondent, a result entirely opposed to the provisions of the Civ. Pro. Code and to the dictates of natural justice. So where no fresh period is fixed for payment by the appellate decree, the time fixed by the lower Court stands, and where such time is a period, no fresh period is to be taken as given by the appellate Court and such time must be calculated from the date of the original, and not that of the appellate decree. From the simple proposition that, in the case of appeals, the appellate Court's decree is the only one that subsists, it does not in any way follow that fresh time equal to that fixed in the first decree must necessarily be allowed to the pre-emptor from the date of the appellate decree dismissing his appeal. Where the appellate Court itself fixes fresh time, however short, no difficulty arises and in such a case, the original decree is not confirmed but varied pro tanto. WASAWA SINGH v. LAL SINGH, 48 P.R. 1906, F.B.=104 P.L.R. 1906. (88 P.R. 1898, Overruled; 11 A. 340, Diss.; 67 P.R. 1895, 18 A. 223, 18 A. 455, 10 P.R. 1895, 11 A. 267, 11 B. 172, 13 C. 13, 22 C. 467, 15 M. 170, R.)

(58)—Decree for pre-emption — Execution Court declining to accept payment of pre-emption money made within period fixed—Decree not void by reason of such refusal.—Where the pre-emption money decreed by the Commissioner was duly tendered by the decree-holder within the period fixed by the Commissioner's order to the Court executing the decree, but was not accepted by the Court, as it was not aware of the terms of the Commissioner's decree which had not been communicated to it, held that the defendant was not entitled to have the decree for pre-emption declared void, since the default was on the part of the Court and not of the decree-holder. NATHU v. IMAMDIN, 31 P.R. 1880.

Pre-emption—continued.—5.—Purchase-money—concluded.

(59)—Act XII of 1878, s. 18—Decree for pre-emption—Deposit of money after time—Agreement to postpone deposit—Lapse of right of pre-emptor.—Where a decree in a suit for pre-emption fixed the time within which the pre-emptor should pay the money, the time for payment could not be extended even by mutual agreement in variation of the terms of the decree, and deposit of money after the time fixed entails lapse of the pre-emptor's right. MYA DAS v. FUTTEH KHAN, 98 P.R. 1880.

(60)—Pre-emption—Paying one anna less than the pre-emption money by mistake—Incompetency of Court to receive deficiency—S. 151 and O. XX, r. 14, Civ. Pro. Code (1908).—Held, that, it is the duty of the decree-holder in the pre-emption case to take all precautions to make sure that the requirements of the decree are strictly complied with. So, where, after the pre-emptor had obtained possession of the property in execution of the decree, it was found that he had, by mistake, paid one anna less than the amount required to be deposited into the Court within certain time, he was made to restore the property to the vendee judgment-debtor and was not allowed, to make up the deficiency. Held, also that s. 151, Civ. Pro. Code, 1908, is not applicable in such a case. KANHAYA LAL v. MOHAMMUD SHAFI KHAN, 3 P.W.R. 1913=141 P.L.R. 1913=18 Ind. Cas. 600. (56 P.R. 1910=166 P.W.R. 1910, 10 A. 400, D.)

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XX, r. 14, 167 P.L.R. 1903=53 P.R. 1903.

See DECREE—DECREE, CONSTRUCTION OF, 6 N.W.P. 46.

Pre-emption—Unregistered receipt for purchase money—Evidence, admissibility of—See EVIDENCE—MISCELLANEOUS, A.W.N. 1881, 2.

See INTEREST—SPECIAL CASES, 111 P.R. 1892.

Money due upon mortgage not allowed in pre-emption-suit—Price—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, s. 101, 9 A.L.J. 226.

—6.—Right to Pre-empt.

(1)—Custom—Shia Law.—Where a suit for pre-emption was founded on the Muhammadan Law and the wajib-ul-arz, which provided,

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

among other things, "custom of pre-emption; the custom of pre-emption prevails," held that the Wajib-ul-arz was binding, that, as the parties were Muhammadans, the conditions of that law for enforcing pre-emption were to be applied, and that the contention that, under the Shia Law, the right could not be asserted in respect of property in which there were more than two partners was untenable. TAFAZZUL HUSAIN v. HADI HASAN, A.W.N. 1886, 139. [Diss., 12 A. 229.]

(2)—Pre-emption, varieties of.—The right of pre-emption may be founded on Muhammadan law, or, as is more generally the case, where it affects the Hindus, on long-established custom having the force of law, or on special contract between the share-holders; and the Wajib-ul-arz may record the practice of pre-emption as based on any of these grounds; and the entry may be evidence either of custom or of the contract. ISRI SINGH v. GANGA, 2 A. 876, F.B.

(3)—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 14—Pre-emption—Pre-emptor's claim disallowed—Suit for possession by right of pre-emption, unmaintainable as premature.—Defendant took execution of a decree held by him and himself purchased a fourth part of the property in question in auction. Plaintiff deposited the sale money and asserted, under s. 14 of Act XXIII of 1861, a right of pre-emption in respect of the property sold. But the sale to the defendant was confirmed. In execution of another decree, the entire property was put up for sale and purchased by the defendant. Plaintiff now sued for possession of the one fourth, alleging that he had claimed his pre-emptive right in respect thereof at the first sale, and that the claim should be allowed. The lower appellate Court's decree dismissing the suit was confirmed by the High Court on the ground that the suit for possession of the property as brought, was premature and unmaintainable. Plaintiff should have sued to set aside the order of the Court by which the sale was confirmed in favour of the defendant and to have himself declared entitled to the pre-emption of the property and to be substituted for the defendant as its purchaser. SHIB SAHAI v. THIKA RAM, 7 N.W.P. 97.

(4)—Conditional sale—Claim of pre-emption to be made on expiry of year of grace in notice of foreclosure.—The party alleging a right by pre-emption relating to property under a conditional sale is bound to set forth his claim immediately after the close of the year of grace mentioned in the notice of foreclosure. That notice declares that, after the expiry of the year of grace, the conditions on which the transaction was regarded as one of mortgage not having been fulfilled, the conditional character of the deed of sale then ceases, and it becomes, from failure of fulfilment of the conditions, an absolute deed of sale, transferring entirely to the mortgagee the mortgagor's proprietary rights preserved till then. Further, in this case, the plaintiff pre emptor was aware of the notice of foreclosure and thus, upon that notice, without waiting for any possible contingencies, he was bound to take action promptly, such prompt action being the very essence of the Mahomedan law of pre-emption. MOONSHEE SYED AMEER ALI v. BHABO SOONDUREE DEBIA, 6 W.R. 116. [F., 14 A. 405, F.B.; R., 3 A. 610, F.B.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(5)—Conditional sale—Pre-emption—Cause of action—Agreement for pre-emption subsequent to date of conditional sale.—(Per Pearson and Straight, JJ. Spankie, J., dissenting).—The cause of action for a suit for pre-emption, for property the subject of a conditional sale, arises on the date of such conditional sale, and not when the sale becomes absolute. A clause in a Wajib-ul-arz containing an agreement for pre-emption can refer only to future and not to past transactions. Therefore a claim for pre-emption, in the case of property transferred by a deed of conditional sale, is not maintainable when such claim is based on a wajib-ul-arz that came into existence subsequent to such conditional sale. LACHMAN PRASAD v. BAHADUR SINGH, 2 A. 884. [R., 3 A. 610, F.B., 14 C. 761.]

(6)—Suit for pre-emption—Conditional sale—Mortgage—Cause of action.—Where the terms of a Wajib-ul-arz are wide enough to suggest, that a right of pre-emption may arise not only on a sale, but also on any other kind of transfer, the cause of action for a suit for pre-emption, in the case of a conditional sale, would arise when such mortgage is foreclosed. (Pearson, J. dissenting)—and also when the property is mortgaged by way of conditional sale (Stuart, C.J. dissenting). ALU PRASAD v. SUKHAN, 3 A. 610, F.B. [F., 5 A. 187, 24 A. 493; R., 27 A. 12=A.W.N. 1904, 149=1 A.L.J. 353; D., 103 P.R. 1901=120 P.L.R. 1901, F.B.]

(7)—Mortgage by conditional sale—Pre-emption—Time at which right of pre-emption accrues—Wajib-ul-arz.—In the case of a mortgage by conditional sale, there is no room for the exercise of the right of pre-emption until the conditional sale becomes absolute. Where, therefore, mortgage by conditional sale has been executed before, but the sale has not become absolute until after, the preparation of the wajib-ul-arz of the village in which the mortgaged property is situated, on the sale becoming absolute, the rights of the parties will be subject to the provisions of the pre-emptive clause of such wajib-ul-arz. RAGHUBIR SINGH v. NANDU SINGH, A.W.N. 1891, 134.

(8)—Mahomedan Law—Pre-emption—Mortgage—Conditional sale.—No right of pre-emption arises on a mere conditional sale or mortgage while any right of redemption remains in the mortgagor. A mere declaration of an intention to exercise a right not yet accrued is not a claim of a right of pre-emption. It is immaterial whether a formal demand of pre-emption is made at any other time than after the sale became absolute. (Dissentiente, Bayle, J.) GURDIAL MUNDAR v. RAJA TEKNA-RAYAN SINGH, B.L.R. Sup. 166, F.B.=2 W.R. 315. [R., 10 W.R. 246, 3 A. 610=A.W.N. 1881, 31, 16 A. 344, F.B.=14 A.W.N. 101.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(9)—Wajib-ul-arz—Mortgage—Hypothecation by pre-emptor to stranger—Pre-emptive right not forfeited.—Where in a suit for pre-emption under the Wajib-ul-arz of a village it appeared that the plaintiff had at some time or another made a simple mortgage of a portion of his share in favour of strangers,—held that he was not thereby disqualified from asserting his pre-emptive right. GOKAL CHAND v. RAM PRASAD, A.W.N. 1889, 127. [Appr., 18 A. 382.]

(10)—Joint mortgage of two properties—Wajib-ul-arz relating to pre-emption—Suit for pre-emption in respect of both properties—Claim is divisible—Decree if can be given in respect of one property only.—In a suit to enforce a right of pre-emption in respect of two properties which had been mortgaged by the mortgagor-defendant to the mortgagee-defendant, it having been found that the wajib-ul-arz relating to one property restricted the exercise of the right of pre-emption to transfers by absolute sale only and that that relating to the other property allowed pre-emption in all cases of sales (including mortgages), held that the plaintiff was not entitled to get a decree enforcing his right of pre-emption in respect of this latter property only. The plaintiff having brought the suit for enforcing his pre-emptive right in respect of both the properties on payment of a certain sum (in this case Rs. 200) to the mortgagee-defendant, the Court cannot alter his claim so as to make it a claim to take a part only of the jointly mortgaged estate in payment of a different sum from Rs. 200, apart from the wishes and action of the original contracting parties. ABDUL RAHIM v. SUCHIT MISRA, A.W.N. 1885, 243.

(11)—Pre-emption, Right of—Right of substitution—Vendee's rights to mortgage for sale consideration—Enforcement of mortgage—Pre-emptor's right to take property as it stood at the date of sale.—A purchased certain property and mortgaged a portion of it to the vendor. K instituted a suit for pre-emption making vendor and vendee parties, and paid the whole of the pre-emption money which was taken away by the vendee. In a suit for sale upon the mortgage, held, that the mortgage could not be enforced, as the mortgagor's right to the property was subject to the pre-emptor's right of pre-emption. Held, further, that the right of pre-emption is not a right of re-purchase, but a right to be substituted for the vendee as he stood at the date of sale. Held, also that the vendee's right as a purchaser is subject to the pre-emptor's right of pre-emption, and that the vendee cannot defeat the pre-emptive right, by subsequently mortgaging the property, so as to force him to take the property subject to the mortgage. KAMTA PRASAD v. MOHAN BHAGAT, 6 A.L.J. 966=32 A. 45=3 Ind. Cas. 782. (20 A. 100, 23 A. 247, 8 A. 502, D.; 7 A. 755, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(12)—Sale in execution of decree—Pre-emption—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 310.—The provisions of s. 310 of the Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, relating to the right of pre-emption of co-sharers in undivided immoveable property to a share in such property sold in execution of a decree, do not apply where the property sold is not a share in such property, but the rights and interests of a mortgagee of such a share. JAIRAM DAS v. BENI PRASAD, 3 A. 15. (2 A. 850, R.)

(13)—Pre-emption—Execution of decree—Sale in execution—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 310—A sale of immoveable property by order of Court in execution of a decree does not give rise to any rights of pre-emption. MAHABAL SINGH v. ABDUL MAJIB KHAN, A.W.N. 1898, 115.

(14)—Sale in execution of decree—Pre-emption—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 310.—In the case of a share of undivided immoveable property sold in execution of a decree, a co-sharer entitled to pre-emption in respect of it, cannot acquire such right as against a stranger bidding for it, unless he also bids for it, and for the same price as such stranger; mere assertion of his title, and payment of earnest money and of the balance of the purchase-money within fifteen days, will not do. Nor can he, under such circumstances, maintain a suit for pre-emption against the purchaser. TEJ SINGH v. GOBIND SINGH, 2 A. 850. [F., 3 A. 827 = A.W.N. 1881, 86; D., 3 A. 15.]

(15)—Pre-emption—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 310.—Where a share of undivided immoveable property is put up for sale in execution of a decree, and a co-sharer in such property who claims a right of pre-emption with respect to such share offers, before the property is knocked down to the highest bidder to pay the amount of the highest bid she does not satisfy the requirement of s. 310 of the Civ. Pro. Code, and cannot claim to have the sale confirmed in his favour. He must make a distinct bid like other bidders in the ordinary manner of offering bids. HIRA v. UNAS ALI KHAN, 3 A. 827. (2 A. 850, F.)

(16)—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 14—Mortgagee or auction purchaser of share not entitled to right of pre-emption.—An usufructuary mortgage of a share in a pattidari estate gives no right of pre-emption to the mortgagee as against a purchaser who was a co-sharer in the estate, nor could an auction-purchase, of such a share by a person who was not a co-sharer but only a bidder to whom the share had been knocked down, give the purchaser the right of pre-emption under s. 14 of Act XXIII of 1861, which could be claimed only by those who were co-sharers or members of the co-parcenary at the time the auction-sale took place. DWARKA PARSHAD SUKUL v. RAM AUTAR SUKUL, 7 N.W.P. 281.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(17)—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 14—Act I of 1840, ss. 2, 4—Share in village sold in execution of decree to stranger—Right of pre-emption of co-sharer—Wajib-ul-arz.—A village was divided according to puttees amongst the co-sharers. Every co-sharer possessed his share separately, collected its rent himself and granted receipts to cultivators. Power of alienation was also enjoyed by the co-sharers, and, in case of sale or mortgage, the nearest co-sharer had the right of pre-emption. A share in such village belonging to a co-sharer which had been sold in execution of decree, was bought by a stranger. The claim of a co-sharer for enforcing his right of pre-emption was disallowed by the Collector. He sued to establish his right. The Court of first instance while holding that the plaintiff was entitled to his right, dismissed the suit as he had not deposited the whole of the purchase-money on the day of the sale. On appeal, the lower Appellate Court decreed the claim. The High Court, on special appeal, though expressing itself unable to hold that the description of the tenure in the wajib-ul-arz came within the definition contained in s. 2, Act I of 1841, held that the claimant of pre-emption was not bound to deposit the whole amount of purchase money on the day of the sale and that it was sufficient if it was paid within the time prescribed by law. RAM AUTAR v. SHEO DUTT, 6 N.W. P. 243.

(18)—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 14—Pre-emption.—The right of pre-emption cannot be preferred at a sale in execution of a decree of a Revenue Court. The provisions of s. 14 of Act XXIII of 1861 are, therefore, inapplicable in the case of lands sold in execution of decrees of Revenue Courts. NARAIN SINGH v. MUHAMMAD FARUK, 1 A. 277.

(19)—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 14—Execution of decree—Sale of share of putteedaree estate—Deposit of sale money by co-sharer by right of pre-emption—Sale set aside on auction-purchases—Failure to deposit balance of purchase money—Second sale—Suit to enforce right of pre-emption.—If the conditions of sale respecting deposit of the purchase-money are fulfilled by a person claiming pre-emption, the sale cannot be held void merely by the failure of the person to whose bid the property was knocked down to complete the deposit also. The condition of pre-emption under the Mahomedan law do not apply to a claim brought under s. 14, Act XXIII of 1861. All that a claimant under that section is bound to do is to establish that he is a putteedar within the meaning of the section in the estate of which the property sold forms part, and that he has fulfilled the conditions of the sale. If he succeeds in establishing that, the sale must be confirmed in his favour unless it is shown that there was some such irregularity in publishing or conducting it as would justify the setting aside of the sale. DABEE PERSHAD v. BISHESHUR PERSHAD SINGH, 6 N.W.P. 289.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(20)—Wajib-ul-arz—Fulfilment of conditions—Custom of shoofa.—If any person in whose favour a preferential right of purchase is stipulated for, on having the offer made to him assents to it without unreasonable delay, or if without unreasonable delay, after he hears that a sale has been made without any tender to him comes forward and claims his right, he is entitled to have it decreed, although he may not have proved specifically that he has fulfilled all the conditions required in the case of a claim of pre-emption under the Mahomedan custom of shoofa. KOULA PUT v. MAHARAJ DOOBEY, 1 Agra 278.

(21)—Act I of 1841, s. 2—Act VIII of 1859, ss. 254, 256—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 14—Putteedari estate—Sale in execution of decree—Right of pre-emption—Payment of whole purchase-money by co-sharer—Default by decree-holder—Re-sale—Suit by co-sharer for possession.—It is clearly incumbent on an officer conducting a sale in execution of a decree, of land which is a share in a putteedari estate paying revenue to Government as defined in s. 2, Act I of 1841, to take notice of a claim of pre-emption by a putteedar under s. 14 of Act XXIII of 1861, and to receive the purchase-money as a fulfilment of the conditions of the sale, subject of course to any question which may be raised by any party interested in the sale as to the claimant's title to advance the claim. When the full amount of the purchase-money has been duly paid by a claimant qualified to claim under the provisions of s. 14, Act XXIII of 1861, the requirements of s. 254 of the Civ. Pro. Code, have been sufficiently complied with to enable the claimant to insist that, so far as he is concerned, the condition has been fulfilled, and that the sale is not defeasible by the failure of the bidder to complete the deposit of the purchase-money. TASADUCK ALI v. MUKSUD ALI, 6 N.W.P. 272.

(22)—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 14—Pre-emption—Co-sharer—Stranger—Pattidari Estate—Suit for possession by disallowed auction purchaser—Maintainability.—With respect to the right of pre-emption, the co-sharers of one patti in a pattidari estate, are not "strangers" with reference to co-sharers in another patti of the same estate, within the meaning of s. 14, Act XXIII of 1861; and the section gives no preferential right of pre-emption among themselves, between co-sharers in the same patti and sharers in other pattis, who come under the denomination of members of the co-parcenary. [D., 14 C. 761.] Where, in an execution sale of a share in a pattidari estate, an auction purchaser's claim to pre-emption is disallowed, under s. 14, Act XXIII of 1861, he cannot maintain a suit for possession against the successful pre-emptor; he can only sue for a declaration that the latter has no right of pre-emption against him and that the sale to him is invalid. He cannot obtain possession until the sale to him has been confirmed and made absolute,—a remedy to be sought in the Court, which executed the decree. FARZAND ALI v. ALIMULLAH, 1 A 272.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(23)—Family arrangement against separation—Forfeiture—Pre-emption—Execution sale.—During the minority of two out of four brothers J, G, A, and M, an ikrarnamah was entered into between the brothers, the terms of which were that they were to continue to live jointly, that no separation was to take place without the consent of all, that, if one of the brothers did separate without such consent, he was to forfeit his share of the family property, and that, if any one wished to dispose of his share, he was to give his brothers the preference. It appeared that defendant F purchased in the first place at a private sale M's share in the property. On this, A and J brought a suit against F to set the sale aside, on the ground that it had been made contrary to the terms of ikrarnamah, and that they were entitled to pre-emption. The suit was decreed against F, the decree stipulating that the purchase money should be paid back to the purchaser. The money was not paid back, and F brought a suit against M to recover it. He got a decree, and in execution put up for sale the rights and interests of M in the family estate, bought them himself, and took possession. The present suit was brought to recover possession from him, on the ground that M had no rights and interests left which could be sold in execution. It was found that M did never separate from the rest of his brothers. Held that there could be no forfeiture of M's share even if the ikrar was an instrument which could be supported on grounds of public policy. There being no forfeiture, the only other privilege which the brothers had left to them under the ikrar was the right to become the purchasers by pre-emption of M's share in the event of M selling; but this right of pre-emption could not be exercised in this case, inasmuch as M had not sold his share, the sale having been the act of the Court. SHAIKH FERASUT ALI v. ASHOOTOSH ROY SINGH, 15 W.R. 455.

(24)—Pre-emption, right of, suit to enforce—Suit, if maintainable, and when—"Proper sale price," meaning of—Agreement to sell to a co-sharer, if enforceable—Sale to another, if invalid.—Where the plaintiff and the defendants purchased a property, and for their own convenience partitioned the property and entered into an agreement in the following terms: "Any of the parties desirous of selling the lands allotted to his share shall sell the same to the other party willing to buy the same to the proper sale price. Sale to anybody else shall be invalid. But, if the parties do not purchase at the proper sale price, the other party shall be entitled to sell to others. Let it be known that the value of the partitioned property is (or will be) Rs. 600." Held that the covenant is valid in law against the covenantor, and a suit to enforce the right of pre-emption is maintainable, especially when, as in the present case, the third party purchaser from one of the parties to the covenant had notice of the covenant contained in the agreement, when he made the purchase. (5 C.W.N. 343, 24 W.R. 321, Expl. & D.; 2 C.W.N. 575, 22 A. 238, R.). The words "proper sale price" in the covenant mean the market price, and not the share of the seller in the purchase money, which the plaintiff and his co-owners paid for the property when they bought it. If the plaintiff desires to exercise his right of pre-emption in the case, he must pay the purchase money mentioned in the deed of sale of the third party purchaser. KALIMADDIN BHUYA v. REAZUDDIN AHAMED, 10 C.L.J. 626=14 C.W.N. 295=4 Ind. Cas. 743.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(25)—Pre-emption—Haquiet mutfarika, owner of—Hissadar in the village—Sale of an isolated plot—Pre-emptive right of co-sharer in village.—A certain haquiet mutfarika, which was assessed to Government Revenue, and the names of the owners thereof were entered into the khewat of the village, was sold. Held, that the owners of this isolated plot were hissadars in the village, and the sale was subject to pre-emption by the co-sharers in the village according to the wajib-ul-arz. BHUKARI DAS v. SHIB LAL, 3 Ind. Cas. 91. (A.W.N. 1904, 118, D.; A.W.N. 1895, 93, A.W.N. 1895, 185, 12 A. 426, R.)

(26 & 27)—Two successive purchases by same vendee—Claim to be co-sharer, at date of suit on first purchase in virtue of second purchase.—Where, in a suit for pre-emption, it appeared that the vendee had, prior to the date of the suit, made a second purchase in regard to which no suit had been filed prior to the date of the institution of the suit in regard to the first purchase, but limitation had not expired in regard to the second purchase; held, that the vendee could not be considered, by virtue of his second purchase, to have been a co-sharer at the date of the institution of the suit on the first purchase. KALESHAR RAI v. NABIHAN BIBI, A.W.N. 1906, 164=3 A.L.J. 426=28 A. 642. (25 A. 421, D.)

(28)—Purchaser of a grove—Co-sharer—Wajib-ul-arz.—Purchaser of a grove not being liable to payment of Government revenue, is not a co-sharer in the village and is not entitled to pre-empt. MUHAMMAD ALI v. THAN SINGH, 2 A.L.J. 788=A.W.N. 1905, 264=28 A. 246. (2 A.L.J. 612, Appl.; 16 A. 412, D.) [Not F., 10 O.C. 86, 10 O.C. 225; R., 4 A.L.J. 665=A.W.N. 1907, 173.]

(29)—Oudh Laws Act (XVIII of 1876), s. 9—Co-sharer paying revenue through lambardar

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

—Co-sharer in possession of separate chak—Non-resident co-sharer—Oudh Land Revenue Act (XVII of 1876), ss. 108, 112 and 121.—Every proprietor, who, by the combined operation of ss. 108 and 112 of the Oudh Land Revenue Act (XVII of 1876), is liable for the revenue assessed on the whole mahal, is a co-sharer within the meaning of s. 9 of the Oudh Laws' Act (XVIII of 1876) and is entitled to a right of pre-emption, notwithstanding the fact that he has to pay the revenue through the lambardars of the village, by virtue of the settlement under which he holds and that he is not a resident of the village. Nor does the fact of the share of the plaintiff being a separate chak make him the less a co-sharer. MUNNU LAL v. MAULWI SAIYID MUHAMMAD ISMAIL, 9 C.W.N. 129, P.C.=2 A.L.J. 769=26 A. 574=31 I.A. 212=6 Bom. L.R. 761=8 Sar. 670.

(30)—Village divided into several Mahals—Right of pre-emption given to co-sharers in the village—Right among co-sharers of Thoks.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village gave rights of pre-emption to share-holders in a patti, then to those in a mahal, and lastly, to those in the village. The village was divided into several thoks. One of the thoks, viz., Jaraoli was subsequently sub-divided into several mahals and under the new arrangement the thoks were done away with. A share was sold in the thok so sub divided and was purchased by a co-sharer in one of the old thoks. A co-sharer in one of mahals of Jaoroli sued for pre-emption. Held, that, the vendee being a co-sharer in the village, the plaintiff had no preferential right of pre-emption, inasmuch as the old pattis and thoks had been done away with. DARIA v. HARKHIAL, 6 A.L.J. 180=31 A. 274=2 Ind. Cas. 208. (22 A. 1, D.)

(31)—Right of—Refusal of a co-sharer to purchase—Definite agreement with stranger to be communicated to pre-emptor—Duties of Receiver—Sale by Receiver.—In order to debar a party, entitled to pre-empt a sale, from exercising his right of pre-emption, an opportunity to purchase must be given, when a definite agreement to purchase at a fixed price has been entered into with a stranger. It is not enough to offer property to a person entitled to pre-empt before an agreement to purchase has been entered into with a third party. An order appointing a Receiver vests in the Receiver all the insolvent's property with the exception specified in the first proviso to s. 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and it is the duty of the Receiver to convert, under the directions of the Court, that property into money; when the Receiver sells the property, he cannot do so in derogation of the rights of third parties. (13 A. 228, R.) Hence, where a Receiver sells property by private sale, the person who, in the case of an ordinary sale, would be entitled to pre-empt, does not lose his right of pre-emption. KANHAI LAL v. KALKA PRASAD, A.W.N. 1905, 149=2 A.L.J. 390=27 A. 670.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre empt—continued.

(32)—Wajib-ul-arz—"Hissadari karibi"—Co-sharers.—Held that one of the three co-sharers in a mahal did not by purchase of one moiety of the share of another co-sharer acquire a preferential right of pre-emption over the third co-sharer in respect of the remaining moiety of the said share. MANIK RAJ KUARI v. AMINA BIBI, A.W.N. 1895, 5.

(33)—Pre-emption—Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Relation as well as co-sharer—Preference—Resale to co-sharer by vendee—Limitation.—M sold certain zemindari property to P on 16th November, 1909. P was a stranger, and he re-sold it to S and K on 14th November, 1910. S and K were co-sharers of M, the original vendor. Plaintiff, who was a co-sharer as well as a relation of M, brought a suit for pre-emption on the 14th November, 1910. S and K, however, were impleaded on 3rd February, 1911. The evidence in support of the custom of pre-emption consisted of two wajib-ul-arzes of 1833 and 1860, respectively. The one of 1833 required an intending vendor to notify his co-sharer of the sale, and when he refused, right was given to sell to a stranger. The latter wajib-ul-arz recognised a general right of transfer, but provided that, first, a near relation who was a co-sharer, and then a co-sharer, would have the right of pre-emption as against a stranger. Held (1) that the custom which the plaintiff was putting forward was a very usual custom, and consequently the finding of the Court below that the custom was proved was justified; (2) that the suit was not barred by limitation, for it was the sale of the 16th November, 1909, which gave the plaintiff his cause of action; (3) the second set of vendees were necessary parties in this sense, that, unless they were made parties, they would not be bound by a decree against their vendors, the original vendees. SAT NARAIN v. BADRI NATH, 9 A.L.J. 211.

(34)—Hindu Law—Joint family—Right of pre-emption—Other members co-sharers for purposes of pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz.—Members of a joint Hindu family, other than the member who is recorded in the Collector's books as a sharer in the mahal, are co-sharers for the purposes of the pre-emption, within the meaning of the wajib-ul-arz. (7 A. 184. R.) The wajib-ul-arz of a village provided: "when a share of any lambardar is to be sold or mortgaged, then the members of his family can first claim pre-emption, and in case of their refusal, other co-sharers may do so." Held that, where a vendor who was also the lambardar, lived jointly with his son, the latter could claim pre-emption in view of the terms of wajib-ul-arz. RAGHU NATH v. MUSSAMMAT RAHAT BEGAM, 3 A.L.J. 641=A.W.N. 1906, 240.

(35)—Pre-emption, rights of—"Village community"—Ss. 10, 12, Punjab Laws Act (XII of 1878).—Occupancy tenants, position of.—The expression "Village communities" in Act XII of 1878 (Punjab Laws) is not used to denote a village community of the typical sort, consisting of members of one family or one clan, holding the village lands in common, and dividing between them the agricultural lands according to the custom of the village. It is used in a popular sense to denote a body of persons bound together by the tie of residence in one and the same village, amenable to the village customs and subject to the administrative control of the village officers. A village community is not confined to the land-owners of the village. Occupancy tenants are members of a village community within the meaning of the Act, and so are all persons in an inferior position who belong to the village, though they may be unconnected with the land, and not entitled to any right of pre-emption under the Act of 1878. RAHIMUDDIN v. REWAL, 30 C. 635, P.C.=30 I A. 89=7 C.W.N. 498=66 P.R. 1903=90 P.L.R. 1903. [R., 7 O.C. 275, 21 P.R. 1906=110 P.L.R. 1906, 12 O.C. 1.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre empt—continued.

(36)—Pre-emption among village communities in India.—Observations by Mahmood, J., on the manner in which the Muhammadan idea of pre-emption has been developed and modified among village communities in India. SHEORATAN KUAR v. MAHIPAL KUAR, 7 A. 258, F.B.=A.W.N. 1885, 8. [R., 7 A. 775, F.B., 12 A. 234, F.B.]

(37)—Gujarat—Pre-emption among Hindus.—Among the Hindus of Gujarat, the custom of pre-emption prevails. The custom being the Mahomedan law right of pre-emption, it is regulated by the rules and restrictions of that law. GORDHANDAS GIRDHARBHAI v. PRANKOR, 6 B.H.C.A.C. 263. [R., 12 A. 234, F.B., 4 Bom. L.R. 811, 5 N.L.R. 136.]

(38)—Behari Hindus.—Pre-emption obtains among the Hindus of Behar. MUSSAMUT JOY KOER v. SUROOP NARAIN THAKOOR, W.R. 1864, 259.

(39)—Customary law of Hindus in Behar—Claim by a non-resident—Validity—Sham sale—Right of suit.—Although there may be a custom of pre-emption amongst the Hindus of Behar, it cannot be availed of by persons who are neither natives of, nor domiciled in, the district in which the property is situate. A native of Balia in the North Western Provinces cannot claim the right of pre-emption in respect of properties situate in the District of Chapra. Where the sale is not a bona fide one but a sham transaction, no right of pre-emption arises. PARSASTH NATH TEWARI v. DHANAI OJHA, 9 C.W.N. 874=32 C. 988.

(40)—Hindus in Jessore.—The law of pre-emption applies to transactions as between Hindus in Jessore, only if there is any local custom to that effect. MADHUB CHUNDER NATH BISWAS v. TAMEE BEWAH, 5 W.R. 279. [R., 4 B.L.R. F.B. 134=13 W.R. F.B., 21.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(41)—Sylhet Hindus—Mahomedan plaintiff—Hindu defendant.—Where the plaintiff, a Mahomedan, sues the defendant, a Hindu, in the Civil Court of Sylhet to enforce against him a right of pre-emption, held that unless the plaintiff can show that the custom relied upon by him is undoubted and invariable, he is not entitled to a decree. JAMEELAH KHATOON v. PAGUL RAM, 1 W.R. 250.

(42)—Mahomedan Law—Pre-emption—Right of Mahomedan against Hindu—Custom in Tipperah.—A right for pre-emption by a Mahomedan as against a Hindu purchaser can only be enforced after proof of the right or custom of pre-emption, existing generally in cases in which Mahomedans are not or only partially concerned in the zillah of Tipperah. DEWAN MUNWAR ALI v. SYUD AZHUROOD-DEEN MAHOMED, 5 W.R. 270. [Discussed, 13 W.R. F.B., 21=4 B.L.R. F.B. 134.]

(43)—Near co-sharer—Hindu and Muhammadan co-sharers—Wajib-ul-arz.—A Muhammadan who had become a co-sharer by purchase, could not be considered a "near co-sharer" of a Hindu co-sharer. SARABSUKH LAL v. MAJBHULLAH, A.W.N. 1882, 167. [R., 5 Ind. Cas. 669.]

(44)—Wajib-ul-arz—Rules of the Muhammadan law of pre-emption inapplicable to Hindu parties claiming under a wajib-ul-arz.—The rule of the Muhammadan law of pre-emption, that when a vendee is also a person who is entitled to pre-empt, he must share the purchased property with any other person entitled, and who has qualified himself to pre-empt, is totally inapplicable where the parties are Hindus claiming under the terms of a village wajib-ul-arz. PAYAG SINGH v. DEONANDAN SINGH, A.W.N. 1900, 193. (20 A. 466, R.)

(45)—Pre-emption—Right of manager of Hindu temple.—The manager of a Hindu temple who, as such, possesses zemindari property on behalf of the temple, has the same rights of pre-emption and pre-mortgage under the wajib-ul-arz, as any other zemindar in the village. LEKHRAJ v. GURDAT, 26 A. 212.

(46)—Co sharers entitled to pre-emption—Association with strangers in purchase, effect of—Such purchasers to be regarded in the light of total strangers.—This was a suit to enforce the plaintiff's right of pre-emption in respect of certain shares in three villages and to set aside the deed of sale of the shares in question executed by some of the defendants in favour of the other defendants. The sale-deed conveyed the rights and interests of the vendors in the several estates, to the extent respectively specified in the deed, to the vendees collectively for a sum of Rs. 3,000. Plaintiffs, as sharers in all the three villages, claimed their right both under the provisions of the Mahomedan law, and the special conditions of the wajib-ul-arz of the villages. The High Court accepted their contention that they had fulfilled all the requirements of the law in demanding the purchase from the vendors, which was refused, and that, although two of the vendees were share-holders in two of the three villages, they had yet no interest in the third village, and the other vendees being strangers altogether, they had, by associating them in the purchase, forfeited any right which they might otherwise have had as sharers in the two villages and were to be regarded in the light of total strangers in respect of the whole property included in the sale deeds, so that the question of preferential right between them and the plaintiffs did not arise. It was, however, urged that by reason of a specification at foot of the sale deed of the interests severally purchased by each of the vendees, the two defendants-appellants were entitled to retain the shares respectively purchased by them. But the High Court did not accept this plea on the ground that the entry of the detail was manifestly made solely for the convenience and by agreement of the vendees inter se; it was no part of the contract of sale between them and the vendors and in no way concerned the latter. GUNESSEE LAL v. ZARAUT ALI, 2 N.W.P. 343. [F., 4 A. 252=A.W.N. 1881, 151; R., 5 A. 197=A.W.N. 1882, 217. 6 A. 423; D., 19 A. 148, 23 A. 32=A.W.N. 1900, 188.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(47)—Purchase by stranger of property subject to pre-emption—Re-sale to co-sharer entitled to pre-emption, effect of.—When a stranger has wrongly purchased property from a co-sharer contrary to the provisions of the Wajib-ul-arz there remains to him a locus penitentiae by transferring that property to a co-sharer, but this must be done before a suit is brought by a co-sharer entitled to pre-empt. In the present case, however, such a suit had been instituted, and it was apparently to avoid the consequences of that suit that the stranger vendee transferred the pre-empted share to a person entitled to purchase under the Wajib ul-arz. By such a transfer, therefore, the stranger vendee could not defeat the right of pre-emption in the co-sharer plaintiff. NARAIN SINGH v. PARBAT SINGH, 23 A. 247=A.W.N. 1901, 66. (20 A. 100, D.: A.W.N. 1899, 126, R.) [R., 2 N.L.R. 150, 31 A. 530=6 A.L.J. 699=3 Ind. Cas. 42. 5 N.L.R. 136. 7 P.R. 1910=14 P.W.R. 1910, 1 Ind. Cas. 528; D., 27 A. 544=A.W.N. 1905, 94=2 A.L.J. 28, 32 A. 45=6 A.L.J. 966=3 Ind. Cas. 782.]

(48)—Joint purchase by co-sharer and strangers—Specification of interests taken by purchasers.—A co-sharer, who associates strangers with himself in the purchase of a share in an estate, stands in neither a better nor a worse position than they do as against a pre-emptor. And the mere mention of the proportion in which the vendees are to take the property, cannot alter the joint nature of the sale, nor permit of its being broken up and treated as involving separate contracts, so as to enable such co-sharer to resist a suit for pre-emption so far as his share of the property is concerned. MANNA SINGH v. RAMADHIN SINGH, 4 A. 252 = A.W.N. 1881, 151. [Diss., 8 A. 462; F., 15 C. 224; R., 7 A. 118, 19 A. 148, 7 O.C. 22; D., 4 A. 259.]

Pre-emption—continued.

—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(49)—Pre-emption suit—Wajib-ul-arz, construction of—Preference over strangers.—Plaintiff sued for pre-emption based upon the wajib-ul-arz of a village. The document provided that in case of dispute as to price, it was to be settled by appointment of arbitrators before the hakim, and that if the co-sharers did not take the amount fixed at by the arbitrators, then the vendor might transfer it to a stranger. The vendee was a stranger. Held that the plaintiffs, though not of common descent from the vendor, were entitled to pre-emption after own brothers and co-sharers et juddi, and to have preference over strangers. SABIR ALI v. YAD RAM, 9 A. 660 = A.W.N. 1887, 226. (N.W.P. 1870, p. 343, F.)

(50)—Suit for pre-emption—Sale by auction—Stranger—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 14—The rights and interests of a judgment-debtor were sold at an auction in execution of a decree and bid for by his son who gave the name of his father-in-law as the actual purchaser and the property was knocked down to the father-in-law. The sale was confirmed in the name of the judgment-debtor in whose favour the father-in-law waived his own claims as auction-purchaser. In a suit for pre-emption by the plaintiff it was held that the father-in-law was not a co-parcener in the estate which was putnee-daree and therefore, in the words used in s. 14, Act XXIII of 1861, a stranger, and that plaintiff was entitled to the right claimed, as he made his claim on the day of the sale in strict conformity with the provisions of the Act and fulfilled all the conditions of the sale. GUNGA RAM v. MOOLA, 2 N.W.P. 200.

(51)—Pre-emption under wajib-ul-arz—Transferee of proprietor's lands without mutation of names, right of, to pre-empt as a co-sharer—Parting of proprietary rights by dedication to public charity—Onus of proof. A person who has purchased lands in the mahal which were not merely the sir of a co-sharer and which were not grove lands held by a licensee, but where lands belonging to the zemindar and in his occupation, becomes a proprietor in the mahal responsible for the revenue assessed thereupon, notwithstanding that he had never obtained mutation of the names in his favour. The mere fact that such a person has built a temple and made a grove upon the land is not sufficient to raise the presumption that he has parted with the proprietary rights in the land. It is for those who allege that the owner has divested himself of his private proprietary rights by making the land endowed land to prove such a dedication. DAKHNI DIN v. RAHIM-UN-NISSA, 16 A. 412 = A.W.N. 1894, 134. [F., 28 A. 124 = A.W.N. 1905, 219 = 2 A.L.J. 612; R.,

Pre-emption—continued.

—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

28 A. 246 = A.W.N. 1905, 264 = 2 A.L.J. 788, 129 P.R. 1906 = 84 P.L.R. 1907, 10 O.C. 225, 3 Ind. Cas. 461.]

(52)—Wajib-ul-arz—Right of pre-emption to co-sharer—Whether right enforceable against one who had already become co-sharer by purchase of isolated plots and sir lands in mahal.—Where the wajib-ul-arz of a village gave a right of pre-emption to "co-sharers in the mahal," and one of the co-sharers brought a pre-emption suit against a person who had already become, apart from the present purchase, a co-sharer in the mahal, having purchased some isolated plots and sir lands therein, held that the plaintiff had no preferential right of pre-emption. SAF-DAR ALI v. DOST MUHAMMAD, 12 A. 426 = A.W.N. 1890, 117, F.B. [F., 28 A. 124 = A.W.N. 1905, 219 = 2 A.L.J. 612; R., 3 O.C. 110.]

(53)—Act XVIII of 1876 (Oudh Laws), ss. 9 to 13—Pre-emption among co-sharers—Pre-emptor denying other's title and setting up exclusive title in himself—Effect—Inconsistency of rights.—The Oudh Laws Act, 1876, which gives a right of pre-emption to a co-sharer is not applicable, where the person, who would be entitled to a pre-emption, derives the title of the person who proposes to sell, and alleges that he is not a co-sharer, but sets up a title to the whole property in himself. In a suit by one of two co-sharers against the other, who had taken possession of the whole of the property, to recover possession of her share with mesne profits, the defence was, first, that there was a relinquishment by the plaintiff of her interest in the estate in favour of the defendant, and, secondly, that the defendant, as a co-sharer, had also a right of pre-emption. It was held that the position taken up by the defendant in the first place was altogether inconsistent with claiming a right of pre-emption. ABDOOL WAHID KHAN v. SHALUKA BIBI, 21 C. 496, P.C. = 21 I.A. 26. [F., 26 C. 9; R., 1 O.C. 174, 7 O.C. 61, 9 O.C. 86, 9 O.C. 331, 10 O.C. 273, 19 M.L.J. 489.]

(54)—Pre-emption—Putteedaree village.—Sharer in such puttee—In an imperfect as in a perfect putteedaree village, the sharers in each puttee have the preferential claim to the right of pre-emption in that puttee. MAHARAJ SINGH v. BHECHOOK LALL, 1 W.R. 233.

(55)—Wajib-ul-arz—Conditions precedent to claim—Offer—Notification of sale.—In order to entitle a co-sharer to assert the right of pre-emption based on the wajib-ul-arz, two conditions must be satisfied: (1) a sale of a share, already negotiated with a stranger; and (2) a price fixed. The only mode in which such a claim can be defeated is by proof (1) of a distinct intimation to the co-sharer claiming pre-emption, (2) of the price agreed to be paid by the stranger, (3) of an offer to him (the pre-emptor) at such price, and (4) of his refusal to purchase. A notification by the Collector, as Manager under the Court of Wards, to all the sharers to the effect that certain shares were for sale, and that offers would be received, is not a sufficiently distinct and definite notice of a negotiated and intended sale, and a failure to make an offer in response to it could not stop a sharer from subsequently asserting his pre-emptive rights. SUBHAGI v. MUHAMMAD ISHAK, 6 A. 463 = A.W.N. 1884, 174. [R., 7 A. 442, 1 O.C. 254, 4 A.L.J. 144, Note.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(56)—Act I of 1841, s. 2—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 14—Rent free land in zemindari tenure—Court sale—Claim of preferential purchase—Putteedaree estate.—Where the mahal, in which the plot of land in suit, formerly held rent free is included is a pure zemindari tenure, a claim under s. 14, Act XXIII of 1861, to a preferential right of purchasing any portion of it at auction sale cannot be maintained, as the estate is not a putteedaree estate within the meaning of s. 2, Act I of 1841. GHOOROO SINGH v. DAIBEE DYAL, 2 Agra 280.

(57)—Act I of 1841, ss. 2, 3—Putteedaree estate—Pre-emption.—A resumed maafee estate consisting of three separate puttees was dealt with as one estate under the settlement and was assessed in a lump sum to be paid by the co sharers in proportion to their holdings to the lumbardars of the adaee mahal, who were empowered on non-payment of the amount to enforce payment summarily or to oust the defaulters from their holdings. The lumbardars alone were responsible to Government for the revenue and the estates of the former were liable to be sold in case of default in payment of revenue. Held under the above circumstances that the three puttees comprised in the resumed maafee estate were not putteedaree estates within the meaning of s. 2 of Act I of 1841, and that the right of pre-emption given by the Act to co-sharers cannot attach to those lands; that no putteedaree estate could be held to be such as was contemplated by s. 2 of Act I of 1841 unless it not only came within the express terms of that section, but was also liable to the same incidents which attached to the estates described in that section by the other provisions of the same Act. SALIG RAM v. PURSIDH RAM, 1 Agra 186.

(58)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Partition of mahal—Effect on pre-emptive right—Rival suits—Mode of division of property.—Where a mahal, consisting of a number of pattis or thokes, becomes the subject of perfect partition under the Land Revenue Act (No. XIX of 1873), and one of these pattis is constituted a separate mahal subject to a separate wajib-ul-arz, a right of pre-emption exerciseable under the wajib-ul-arz as framed for the original unpartitioned mahal can be exercised only by the co-sharers in the remaining pattis, only in respect of sales of shares therein; and conversely, the same right cannot be claimed under the new wajib ul-arz, except in respect of sales of shares in the new mahal, and except by co-sharers in such mahal. Therefore, when, prior to the partition, a proprietor of land, both in the pattis which remained in the old mahal, and in the patti which formed the new mahal, sold lands in both of them, a co-sharer in the former could, after the partition, claim pre-emption in respect of the land sold therein (though only a part of the property sold), and the objection to the suit that it related only to a portion of the property sold was not sustainable. (6 A. 370, 423, 455, N.W.P. S.D.A. Rep 1861, p. 506, N.W.P. 1867, p. 252, N.W.P. Rep 1865, p. 173, N.W.P. 1875, p. 38, R.) [Expl., 22 A. 1, F.B.; R., 11 A. 257, 15 A. 410, 17 A. 226.] Where there are rival suits for pre-emption based on the wajib ul-arz in respect of the same property, and there is nothing to show that the rival pre-emptors are not equally entitled, the rule of Muhammadan law that their rights are to be taken as per capita according to the number of pre-emptors, and not according to the number of shares which each of them owns in the property in virtue of which they claim the right—must be followed, as it is one based on the principles of justice, equity and good conscience. JAI RAM v. MAHABIR RAI, 7 A. 720 = A.W.N. 1885, 206. [F., 11 A. 164, 27 A. 465 = 2 A.L.J. 690 = A.W.N. 1905, 50.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(59)—Rival suits filed together, but decided by separate decrees—One decree allowing pre-emption only on condition of default by other pre-emptor—Unconditional decree becoming final, appeal not being made—Appeal by inferior pre-emptor in his own suit—Superior pre-emptor's right cannot be affected.—Two rival pre-emption suits, where each pre-emptor was made a defendant in the other suit, having been tried together and upon the same evidence, were decided by a single judgment; but separate decrees were passed. The decree in one of the suits was in terms of s. 214 of the Civ. Pro. Code, while that in the other was subject to the condition of the first pre-emptor's failure to execute his decree. The former, not having been appealed from, became final; and on appeal from the latter decree to get rid of the decision regarding the first pre-emptor's preferential right, it was held that the appeal should have been against the first pre-emptor's decree; and that having become final, the question between the two pre-emptors could not be re-opened in the present appeal. CHAJJU v. SHEO SAHAI, 10 A. 123 = A.W.N. 1887, 301. [F., A.W.N. 1908, 211 = 4 M.L.T. 172; R., 5 O.C. 394, 151 P.L.R. 1905 = 85 P.R. 1905, F.B., 33 C. 1101 = 10 C.W.N. 934 = 4 C.L.J. 149.]

(60)—Village constituting single mahal under wajib-ul-arz—Record of rights prepared on partition—Effect on prior rights of pre-emption.—Plaintiffs based their claim to enforce a right of pre-emption over the property in question, not upon the record of the village customs and rights prepared at and after the partition thereof, but upon the entry relating to such customs found in the village wajib-ul-arz prepared at the previous settlement at the time when the entire village consisted of one single mahal. Held that the later record of rights prepared on the partition of the village was a valid and binding document and there were no rights of pre-emption in favour of the co-sharers in any one mahal in respect of land situated in any other mahal. (A.W.N. 1894, 193, 7 A. 772, Diss.) Per Aikman, J.—Except in cases where at the time of the perfect partition of a village constituting a single mahal into two or more mahals, a right of pre-emption is specifically reserved by the co-sharers in respect of lands outside a particular mahal, such right could not be presumed from the mere fact that, when the village was a single mahal, the co-sharers had had pre-emptive rights against each other. GHURE v. MAN SINGH. 17 A. 226 = A.W.N. 1885, 70 (N.W.P. 1861, Vol. II. 506, 2 A. 720, R.) [F., 20 A. 92; R., 15 A.W.N. 233, 22 A. 1, F.B., 27 A. 602 = A.W.N. 1905, 115 = 2 A.L.J. 313]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(61)—N.W.P. Land Revenue Act (XIX of 1873). s. 107—Partition of mahal—Separate record of rights—Pre-emption—Provision in old wajib-ul-arz, whether applicable to new mahal.—On a true construction of the Act, it is the duty of the Collector or Assistant Collector on making a perfect partition of any mahal, to frame a separate record of right for each of the new mahals. Where such separate records of rights have not been framed on partition, unless there is very strong evidence to the contrary, a sharer in one of the new mahals cannot claim under the old wajib-ul-arz a right of pre-emption as regards any land situate in any other of the new mahals. ABDUL HAI v. NAIN SINGH. 20 A. 92 = A.W.N. 1897, 202 (17 A. 226, R.) [R., 22 A. 1, 7 A.L.J. 133.]

(62)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Perfect partition—No new wajib-ul-arz framed for new mahals—Applicability of old wajib-ul-arz—Right and cause of action in pre-emption suit to subsist at time of suit.—The pre-emption clause in the wajib-ul-arz of a village gave the right (1) to certain relatives of the vendor, (2) to co-owners in the parcel sold, (3) to co-sharers in the patti and (4) to co-sharers in the thoke. During the pendency of partition proceedings in respect of the village, which consisted of several thokes, the defendant sold property situated in a particular thoke to a stranger. After the sale, the partition was completed and the particular thoke in question was divided into several separate mahals. No new wajib-ul-arz was framed for any of the new mahals, and the plaintiff who was a co-sharer with the defendant in that particular thoke, was no longer a co-sharer in the new mahals in which the property sold was included. The plaintiff claimed as one of the fourth class of pre-emptors, mentioned in the old wajib-ul-arz brought a suit for pre-emption. Held that (i) the wajib-ul-arz was not abrogated by the perfect partition; but (ii) the effect of the perfect partition being to destroy the thokes into which the village had been divided, the particular thoke in respect of which the pre-emption was claimed at the date when the suit was brought ceased to exist; and (iii) the plaintiff, since the partition, not being a co-sharer in the new mahals in which the property sold was included, could not claim pre-emption. [Appl., 26 A. 389 = 24 A.W.N. 69 = 1 A.L.J. 209; R., 2 N.L.R. 150.17 P.R. 1908 = 18 P.W.R. 1908 = 153 P.J.R. 1908, F.B.; D., 31 A. 111 = 6 A.L.J. 51 = 1 Ind. Cas. 819.] Held further in the above mentioned suit, that to maintain a suit for pre-emption, the plaintiff must show not only that the sale gave him a cause of action, but also that the cause of action still subsisted at the date of the institution of the suit. Therefore, even assuming that the plaintiff at the time of sale obtained a good cause of action, he was deprived of it by the completion of the partition before the institution of the suit. JANKI PRASAD v. ISHAR DAS. 21 A. 374 = A.W.N. 1899, 126. (A.W.N. 1899, 111, R.) [R., 30 P.L.R. 1902 = 32 P.R. 1902, 7 O.C. 61, 48 P.W.R. 1907 = 124 P.R. 1907 = 3 P.L.R. 1907, 11 O.C. 290, 31 A. 530 = 6 A.L.J. 699 = 3 Ind. Cas. 42, 32 A. 45 = 3 Ind. Cas. 782 = 6 A.L.J. 966, 90 P.R. 1909, F.B. = 159 P.W.R. 1909 = 147 P.L.R. 1909 = 4 Ind. Cas. 179, 91 P.R. 1909, F.B., 12 O.C. 229 = 3 Ind. Cas. 546, 5 N.L.R. 136, 1 Ind. Cas. 528.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(63)—Pre-emption—Partition of village into separate mahals—New wajib-ul-arz framed for each mahal—Suit on one of them—Wajib-ul-arz of whole village to apply where no new ones drawn up for separated mahals.—There was a perfect partition of a village, into two separate mahals, for each of which a wajib-ul-arz was framed. A suit was brought on one of these wajib-ul-arz by a co-sharer in the mahal, though not in the patti of the mahal in which the property sold was situate. The question was whether, according to the pre-emption clause, such a co-sharer was entitled to preference over the vendee who was a co-sharer in a patti of the other mahal, and judgment was based on the terms of the wajib-ul-arz. [R., 7 Bom. L.R. 622, 17 A. 226.] Where no new wajib-ul-arz was drawn up for the separate mahals, the decision in the present case would not prevent the wajib-ul-arz for the whole village area from applying to the new mahals: for pre-emptive right runs with the land, and the division of that land for the purposes of revenue in no way affects any covenant or agreement existing between the co-sharers. KUAR DAT PRASAD SINGH v. NAHAR SINGH. 11 A. 257 = A.W.N. 1889, 79 (7 A. 772, 720, R.) [R., 17 A. 226; Expl., 22 A. 1.]

(64)—Co-sharers under common wajib-ul-arz—Partition, effect of, on subsistence of wajib-ul-arz—Land Revenue Act (XIX of 1873). s. 191—Acquiescence, when amounts to estoppel.—Some years before the sale sought to be impeached by the plaintiff in this case, he was a co-sharer with the vendors in several villages, but his shares in those villages had since been made the subject of a perfect partition, and divided into a distinct mahal of which he became the sole proprietor. On the question arising in respect of the present sale after the partition, whether the conditions of the wajib-ul-arz which subsisted prior to the partition, and not replaced by another, were still effectual and binding on all the persons who were originally co-sharers in the villages, it was held that, despite the partition of the village into separate mahals, the existing wajib-ul-arz at the time of the partition must be presumed to subsist and govern the separate mahals, until it is shown that a new one has been made. This view is also supported by the terms of the second paragraph of s. 191 of the Land Revenue Act (XIX of 1873). (7 A. 722, R.) With regard to the contention that the plaintiff was equitably estopped from setting forth his pre-emptive right on account of his alleged acquiescence in the sale of one of the villages, it was held that, in the absence of any proof that it was offered to him and that he refused to purchase it, he should not be regarded as being equitably estopped by acquiescence in the sale, and that his omission, to set up any right of pre-emption in a suit that had been previously brought against him for redemption of the mortgage, could not make any difference. SHIAM SUNDAR v. AMANANT BEGUM, 9 A. 234 = A.W.N. 1887, 24. [Cons., 22 A. 1; R., A.W.N. 1907, 88 = 4 A.L.J. 210, 37 P.R. 1908 = 39 P.L.R. 1908 = 30 P.W.R. 1908; D., 17 A. 226.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(65) — Wajib-ul-arz—Partition of village into separate mahals—No fresh wajib-ul-arz prepared—Suit for pre-emption on old wajib-ul-arz maintainable—Purchase money—Burden of proof.—The wajib-ul-arz of a village contained a covenant between the co-sharers giving rights of pre-emption. The village was, for revenue purposes, divided into two separate mahals, but no fresh wajib-ul-arz was prepared. Subsequent to the division, a suit for pre-emption was brought by the owner of property situate in one of the mahals in respect of a sale of property situate in the other. Held, that the covenant in the wajib-ul-arz giving the right of pre-emption attached to and ran with the land, and was not put an end to by the division of the village for revenue purposes into two areas, and that the suit was maintainable upon the wajib-ul-arz. In suits for pre-emption, where the plaintiff alleges that the consideration stated in the deed-of-sale has been fraudulently overstated, he is bound to give prima facie proof at least of such over-statement. RAM-JIAWAN SAHU v. RATURAJ SINGH, A.W.N. 1889, 81.

(66) — Wajib-ul-arz—Partition of village without new wajib-ul-arzes being framed—Custom—Act No. XIX of 1873 (N.W.P. Land Revenue Act), s. 3, sub-s. (1).—A village, the wajib-ul-arz of which contained a record of a custom of pre-emption amongst the co-sharers was divided by perfect partition into two mahals of 15 biswas and 5 biswas, respectively, but no new wajib-ul-arzes were framed for the new mahals. Held that under these circumstances no right of pre-emption would subsist in respect of a sale of a share in the 5 biswa mahal in favour of a person who was a co-sharer only in the 15 biswa mahal, and whose sole connection with 5 biswa mahal was that he owned a certain amount of rent-free land in that mahal, and was described in the wajib-ul-arz as an inferior proprietor. MITHU LAL v. MUHAMMAD AHMAD SAID KHAN, A.W.N. 1899, 19. (17 A. 447, R.) [R., 22 A. 1, F.B.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(67) — Village, originally one, divided by perfect partition into several mahals—Right of pre-emption as to mahals in which claimant is not a co-sharer.—Where a village originally forming one mahal is divided by perfect partition into two or more separate mahals, unless at the time of partition a right of pre-emption is specifically reserved by the co-sharers in respect of land lying in other mahals, such right of pre-emption is not to be presumed from the fact that when the village formed but one mahal the co-sharers had pre-emptive rights against each other. ABDUL AZIZ KHAN v. HUSEN ALI KHAN, A.W.N. 1895, 233. (17 A. 226, F.)

(68) — Share of undivided zemindari, sale of—Pre-emption—Limitation.—Where an undivided share of a zemindari estate was conveyed by a registered conveyance of a certain date, but the name of the purchaser was entered in the revenue register of proprietors some months later on, held, that a suit for pre-emption in respect of such a share would begin to run from the date when the instrument of sale was registered, and not from the date of the entry of the purchaser's name in the revenue register. SHIB LAL v. BHAWANI DAS, A.W.N. 1881, 146.

(69) Pre-emption—Partnership—Vicinity—Evidence.—Where the plaintiff seeks to establish his right of pre-emption on the ground of partnership, he cannot properly get a decree on the ground of vicinity. SHIU SUHAI MULLICK v. LALA HARI SUHAI SINGH, 3 B.L.R. App. 142 (a). (1 B.L.R. S.N. 12, F.)

(70) — N.W.P. Land Revenue Act, XIX of 1873, ss. 166, 168, 188—N.W.P. Rent Act (XII of 1881), s. 177—"Patti," meaning of—Pre-emption—Interpretation of statutes—Pre-emption, Object of—Whether right applies to compulsory sales.—Where a decree under the Rent Act (XII of 1881, N.W.P.) has been passed against the owner of a share in an imperfect pattidari estate, and execution of such decree has been had by the sale, under s. 177 of the Act, of the defaulter's share in the mahal (not being the property on which the arrear accrued), held that no right of pre-emption accrued in respect of such sale; and, consequently, neither a co-sharer in the same patti, and much less a co-sharer in another patti of the same mahal, was entitled to pre-empt. The provisions of s. 177 of the Rent Act, XII of 1881, refer to and must be read with the provisions of the Land Revenue Act, XIX of 1873, relating to sales for arrears of revenue. The expression "patti of a mahal" in s. 188 of the Act is not intended to include the share of a co-sharer in a patti of an imperfect pattidari mahal. It refers to a division of a mahal, distinct from the share of an individual co-sharer. S. 188 of the Land Revenue Act has no applicability to sales under s. 168 of the Act. [R., 46 P.R. 1909 = 72 P.L.R. 1909; D, 27 A. 670 = A.W.N. 1905, 149 = 2 A.L.J. 390] Per Mahmood, J., contra:—A compulsory sale such as a sale in execution of decree or a sale, under an authoritative order of the revenue authorities for arrears of Government revenue, does not render pre-emption enforceable, whether such right is claimed under Muhammadan Law, under the terms of the wajib-ul-ars, or on the ground of local custom or private contract. But such compulsory sales being the creation of statute law do furnish occasion for the exercise of pre-emptive right where such right is provided, subject to the rules and restrictions prescribed by those legislative enactments themselves. (Vide s. 188). The pre-emption provided by s. 188 applies also to sales under s. 168; for, all the incidents of sales under s. 166 including pre-emption, are applicable to sales under s. 168, with the exception of what is provided in the proviso, viz., that only the defaulter's interest passes, "and no incumbrances created or contracts entered into by him in good faith shall be rendered invalid by such proceedings." The whole policy and object of the right of pre-emption is to prevent the intrusion of strangers in co-parcenary villages such as pattidari estates, and where the sale of an entire patti would give the right of pre-emption to the owners of other pattis, it follows a fortiori that the sale of the lands of a co-pattidar should entitle his co-pattidars in the same patti, to exercise pre-emption for the purpose of excluding strangers from that patti. It is a sound rule of interpreting statutes that words must be understood in their ordinary and natural meaning unless there is clear reason to the contrary. Patti is a Hindustani word, and in that language it means the share in a pattidari estate, i.e., the share of a pattidar. This is the proper meaning to be given to the word in s. 188, although the same broad sense cannot be adopted in some other sections of the Act, e.g., ss. 150, 158, 166. The rule that a word used in a statute is to be understood in the same sense throughout, is only a rule of presumption, by no means inflexible, and certainly not of such character as to be irrebuttable by other rules of interpretation founded upon the especial context of statutory words or reasons and objects wherefore any special section is enacted. There exist enough reasons for interpreting the word patti in s. 188 in a sense other than that in which it occurs in some other parts of the Act. To interpret the word in the section otherwise than as meaning 'the share of a pattidar,' would be to frustrate the policy of the legislature in framing that section, and would be repugnant to the very notion of pre-emption. BAIJNATH v SITAL SINGH, 13 A. 224 = 11 A.W.N. 68. [R., 4 N.L.R. 78 = 8 Cr.L.J. 18.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(71)—Pre-emption—Hindu widow with property obtained as share on partition—Interest whether sufficient to support suit for pre-emption.—So far as pre-emption is concerned, a Hindu widow obtaining a share on partition no more acquires a right to claim pre-emption in the village than if she had been allowed to have possession of a particular share for maintenance without partition, that is to say, she does not obtain, by reason of getting a share on partition, such an interest as would support a suit for pre-emption. PHOPI RAM v. RUKMIN KUAR, 19 A. 327; Note = A.W.N. 1895, 84. [F., 19 A. 329, Note = A.W.N. 1895, 85, 19 A. 324.]

(72)—Possession of share by Hindu widow in lieu of maintenance—The possession for life, by a Hindu widow, of a share in a village, in lieu of maintenance, does not invest her with any such interest in the land itself, as entitles her to assert a right of pre-emption in respect of another share which is sold. DILA KUARI v. JAGARNATH KUARI, 6 A. 17 = A.W.N. 1883, 177. [F., 3 O.C. 306; R., 4 O.C. 397.]

(73)—Hindu widow—Joinder of plaintiffs one of whom had no right—Amendment of plaint.—A Hindu woman, the widow of a co-sharer, who is entitled only to maintenance out of the estate of her deceased husband, cannot be regarded as a co-sharer in the village, and cannot, therefore, claim a right of pre-emption. [R., 3 O.C. 306.] Where, in a suit for pre-emption claimed by two persons jointly, one of the plaintiffs has no right to pre-empt, the other plaintiff cannot claim the right entirely on his own account without amending the plaint, but this could not be permitted in appeal. KARAN SINGH v. MUHAMMAD ISMAIL KHAN, 7 A. 860 = A.W.N. 1885, 247. (7 A. 79, R.) [R., 8 A. 462.]

(74)—Partition by a Hindu father—Claim for pre-emption in father's life-time.—In this case a Hindu father made a partition of his property among his sons, reserving to himself an interest in one village which upon his death was to be divided among his sons. Held that no son in the father's life-time could claim pre-emption in respect of the village so reserved, as all that the sons had in the village was a reversionary right which might or might not become a right in possession. RAM ADHEEN PANDEY v. GHOORDIAL PANDEY, 2 N.W.P. 434.

(75)—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 3—Covenant for pre-emption in vendor's

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

family partition deed—Reference in the sale deed to deed of partition—Constructive notice to purchaser—Notice of a deed is notice of its contents.—The subject of the sale to a defendant in this case was a portion of a house which had fallen to the share of his vendor under a partition deed between him and his half brother, the plaintiff. The partition deed contained a clause providing for the right of pre-emption to either of the parties thereto, whenever the other should arrange for a sale of his share of the house. The sale deed to the defendant referred to the house as comprised in the deed of partition. The defendant purchaser was, under the circumstances, imputed with constructive notice of the covenant for pre-emption contained in the partition deed. His attention having been drawn by the sale deed to the deed of partition, his omission to ascertain the contents of the latter must be construed as wilful abstention from an inquiry which he ought to have made. RAJARAM v. KRISHNASAMI, 16 M. 301. [R., 6 C.L.J. 134, 27 B. 452.]

(76)—Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Devolution or relinquishment of estate to next heir after accrual of right, effect of.—On general principles, the period within which pre-emptive rights can be exercised is not limited by a devolution of the estate from one co-sharer to another co-sharer. In the case of a wajib-ul-arz, the expression excluding such a right must be clear and imperative before so important an incident of proprietary possession could be lost by such devolution. A widow holding a life-estate, and not merely holding land in lieu of maintenance, voluntarily relinquished her life-estate in favour of her daughter, who herself would have had plenary proprietary rights on the determination of the life-estate. Certain lands as to which the widow had the right of pre-emption were sold before her relinquishment, and the widow took no steps to exercise her right of pre-emption. Held that the daughter could sue for pre-emption within the period of limitation and that the mere abstinence of the widow from suing for some brief time before the relinquishment, did not amount to an abandonment of the right on her part. MUHAMMAD YUSUF ALI KHAN v. DAL KUAR, 20 A. 148. (7 A. 536, D.), [F., 7 O.C. 158, 28 A. 424=3 A.L.J. 191=A.W.N. 1906, 73; R., 31 A. 623=6 A.L.J. 887, F.B.=6 M.L.T. 352=3 Ind. Cas. 820; D., 125 P.L.R. 1901.]

(77)—Mortgage—Right of pre-emption reserved to mortgagee—Covenant—Validity.—An agreement by the mortgagor reserving to the mortgagee a right of pre-emption in case of sale, is not contrary to public policy, and is valid and can be enforced against a purchaser with notice of the same. HARIS PAIK v. JAHURUDDI GAZI, 2 C.W.N. 575. [R., 24 M. 449.]

(78)—Wajib ul-arz—Purchase of share subsequent to sale—Purchaser's right of pre-emp-

Pre-emption—continued. Vakil High Court,—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued. RAJARAM (Kash)

tion.—Where there is a right of pre-emption under the wajib-ul-arz which a share-holder could claim and enforce in respect of a sale of property, a person purchasing the said share-holder's interest in the village subsequently to the sale, cannot claim and enforce pre-emption as his vendor might have done. SHEO NARAIN v. HIRA, 7 A. 535, F.B.=A.W.N. 1885, 142. [R., 125 P.L.R. 1901, 26 A. 389, 17 P.R. 1908=18 P.W.R. 1908=153 P.L.R. 1903, F.B., 133 P.R. 1907=84 P.W.R. 1907=88 P.L.R. 1908, F.B., 31 A. 623=6 A.L.J. 887=6 M.L.T. 352=3 Ind. Cas. 820; D., 20 A. 148, 7 O.C. 158.]

(79)—Sale under the same deed to a stranger along with a co-sharer—Distinct specification of the shares sold—Right of the co-sharer vendee to pre-empt.—The rule as to denying the right of pre-emption except as to the whole property sold, being founded on the principle, that, by breaking up the bargain, the pre-emptor would be at liberty to take the best portion of the property and leave the worst part of it with the vendee, should be limited only to those transactions which, while contained in one deed, cannot be broken up or separated. Where, however, the sale deed contains an exact specification of the shares purchased and the price paid by the vendees, a co-sharer and a stranger, and the sale to the stranger is distinct and divisible, although contained in one deed, the reason of the rule does not exist. For, where the share of each purchaser and the price which he had paid for it are distinctly specified in the sale-deed, there is really no breaking up of the bargain, as understood in the law of pre-emption, if the purchaser is ousted from the specific share which he has individually purchased along with others under the same deed of sale. SHEOBAROS RAI v. JIACH RAI, 8 A. 462=A.W.N. 1886, 214. (5 A. 197, N.W.P. 1863, 53, N.W.P. 1870, 343, 4 A. 252, Diss.) [Appr., 19 A. 148.]

(80)—Purchase by co-sharer of village land subject to pre-emption—Joining of stranger with co-sharer vendee, effect of, on rights of pre-emptor.—Where in purchasing lands in a village subjected to rights of pre-emption, a co-sharer of the village associates with himself, in the purchase, a stranger to the village, in cases where from the sale-deed itself, it is possible to ascertain what is the share, area of the property or interest in the village, which the stranger has purchased, that share, area or interest alone can be the object of pre-emption in the suit by the pre-emptor. Where, however, the sale-deed does not, on the face of it, disclose the particular share or interest purchased by the co-sharer vendee on his own behalf, as distinct from the share or interest purchased by the stranger, then, the rule of pre-emption can only be enforced by treating the co-sharer vendee as if he were in the same position as the stranger in decreeing pre-emption against him. In such a case, the bargain made between the vendees and the vendor is one joint in all its incidents. RAM NATH v. BADRI NARAIN,

Pre-emption—continued.— 6.—Right to pre-empt continued.

19 A. 148 = A.W.N. 1897, 20. (8 A. 462, Appr.; N.W.P. 1860, 53, N.W.P. 1870, 343, 4 A. 252, R.) [Diss., 48 P.R. 1907 = 81 P.L.R. 1908 = 107 P.W.R. 1907; F., 19 A. 311; R., 19 A. 324, 7 O.C. 22, 6 P.R. 1909 = 23 P.L.R. 1909 = 7 P.W.R. 1909.]

(81)—Pre-emption—Nephew of co-sharer-vendee, a stranger under wajib-ul-arz—Joinder of nephew as co-vendee, effect of.—A Muhammadan son not taking a vested interest in ancestral property on his birth, as a Hindu son does, the son of a Muhammadan co-sharer in the village would not, merely in virtue of his birth, become a co-sharer, within the meaning of the pre-emptive clause in the village wajib-ul-arz. He is only a "stranger" and his joinder as a co-vendee would vitiate a sale and let in other claimants for pre-emption. MUSHTAQ AHMED v. AHMJAD ALI, 19 A. 311 = A.W.N. 1897, 121. [R., 25 C. 432.]

(82)—Profits of property accruing between purchase and transfer to pre-emptor.—The pre-emptive right which is declared in favour of a pre-emptor must be held to have existed and to have taken effect, from the date of the sale in respect of which the pre-emptive claim arose, and therefore, the person entitled to the profits of the property (the subject of pre-emption) from the date of sale to that on which it is transferred to the pre-emptor, is the pre-emptor and not the vendee. The vendee, therefore, cannot maintain a suit against the lambardar for such profits. AJUDHIA v. BALDEO SINGH, 7 A. 674 = A.W.N. 1885, 177. [Not F., 8 A. 502; Disappr., 12 A. 234, F.B.]

(83)—Pre-emption, pre-emptor entitled to profits subsequent to his payment of price—Original vendee in possession not a trespasser till substitution by pre-emptor.—A successful pre-emptor becomes substituted for the original transferee, and thus becomes entitled to the benefits of the transfer. So, such benefits cannot be claimed for any period antecedent to such substitution itself. The original vendee cannot, whilst he is in possession, be regarded as a trespasser, who would have no right to enjoy the usufruct of the property which he has purchased, nor would it be equitable to hold that the pre-emptor, before he has actually paid the price, should be entitled to the profits of the property, which he can take only upon duly making such payment. DEO DAT v. RAM AUTAR, 8 A. 502 = A.W.N. 1886, 149. [Appl., 12 A. 234; D., 32 A. 45 = 6 A.L.J. 966 = 3 Ind. Cas. 782.]

(84)—Claim for pre-emption based on custom—Evidentiary value of old village wajib-ul-arz, how far affected by new revision of settlement.—The absence of any mention, in respect of a custom of pre-emption, from the "memorandum of the village customs" prepared at a new settlement cannot be taken as establishing that such custom recorded in the old village wajib-ul-arz has either been abrogated or cancelled, or that it has fallen into disuse. The inference—which might be drawn from one of the older wajib-ul-arzes being silent as to the existence of the custom of pre-emption—that the custom did not exist, or it would have been recorded, cannot be drawn from the mere omission to record such a custom in the memorandum made at a recent revision of settlement. SADHU SAHU v. RAJA RAM, 16 A. 40, F.B. = A.W.N. 1893, 200. [R., 21 A.W.N. 29, A.W.N. 1905, 16 = 2 A.L.J. 6; D., 25 A. 90.]

Pre-emption—continued.— 6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(85)—Pre-emption suit—Wajib-ul-arz—Plaintiff ceasing to be co-sharer during pendency of suit—Effect.—In a suit for pre-emption, if, after the institution of the suit and before decree, the plaintiff has, by virtue of a perfect partition of the mahal, ceased to be a co-sharer with the vendor in the mahal to which the property in suit appertains, his claim for pre-emption must be dismissed. RAM GOPAL v. PIARI LAL, 21 A. 441 = A.W.N. 1899, 63. (10 A. 472, D.) [Appl., 26 A. 389 = 24 A.W.N. 68 = 1 A.L.J. 209; R., 30 P.L.R. 1902 = 32 P.R. 1902, 125 P.L.R. 1901, 49 P.R. 1901 = 157 P.L.R. 1901, 24 A. 119, 25 A. 421, 7 O.C. 61, 2 N.L.R. 150, 48 P.W.R. 1907 = 124 P.R. 1907 = 3 P.L.R. 1907, 5 N.L.R. 136, 12 O.C. 229 = 3 Ind. Cas. 546, 91 P.R. 1909, F.B.; D., 31 A. 111 = 6 A.L.J. 51 = 1 Ind. Cas. 819, 31 A. 530 = 6 A.L.J. 699.]

(86)—Mortgage by conditional sale—Reg. XVII of 1806, record of foreclosure under—Suit for possession by mortgagee—Compromise and decree thereon—Mortgagee relinquishing part of property in suit—Suit for pre-emption—Right to sue, when arises—Price to be paid by pre-emptor.—A mortgagee under a conditional sale took foreclosure proceedings under Reg. XVII of 1806, and the year of grace required by that Regulation having expired, a foreclosure proceeding was recorded, declaring the mortgage to have been foreclosed. Nearly three years afterwards, the mortgagee instituted a suit for the possession of the mortgaged property, which suit was however compromised, the mortgagee accepting a part of the property, and relinquishing the remainder, and a decree was given in terms of the compromise. Subsequently, a suit was brought against the mortgagor and the mortgagee to enforce pre-emption in respect of the whole of the mortgaged property, including the portion relinquished under the compromise. Held that, although on the expiration of the year of grace, the ownership of the mortgaged property vests absolutely in the mortgagee, even though he might not have obtained a decree establishing or declaring his right, and the date at which the conditional sale thus becomes absolute is the period of the accrual of pre-emption, yet foreclosure proceedings under the Regulation being of a purely ministerial character, are not conclusive or even prima facie evidence of foreclosure having been duly effected; that strict observances of the requirements of the Regulation are conditions precedent to the right of foreclosure; that, in the present case, the plaintiff not having asserted or proved that all those requirements have been duly fulfilled, no foreclosure was shown to have taken place prior to the compromise; and that the plaintiff's right of pre-emption, thus accruing only from the date of the compromise, could extend only to the property to which the compromise related. (4 B.L.R. A.C. 219, 6 A. 344, D.; 5 I.A. 18, N.W.P. 1864, 624, 11 I.A. 186, 8 A. 388, R.) [Appl., 14 A. 405; R., 134 P.R. 1889, 63 P.L.R. 1902=48 P.R. 1902.] In the above case, the price payable by the pre-emptor was held to be the amount mentioned in the compromise. AJAIB NATH v. MATHURA PRASAD, 11 A. 164=A.W.N. 1889, 48. (A.W.N. 1887, 233, R.; 6 A. 344, D.)

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(87)—Pre-emption—Its legal character—Substitution and not re-purchase.—The right of pre-emption is not a right of re-purchase from the vendor or from the vendee involving a new contract of sale. It is a right of substitution, the effect of which is to place the pre-emptor in the place of the vendee, in consequence of a legal incident of the sale itself, so as to entitle him to all the rights and subject him to all the obligations arising from the sale which gave rise to the right of pre-emption (Mahmood, J.). [F., 7 C.P.L.R. 117; Cons., 12 A. 234, F.B.; R., 8 A. 502, 49 P.L.R. 1902, 93 P.R. 1902, F.B., 76 P.R. 1902=113 P.L.R. 1902, 46 P.R. 1902, 8 O.C. 186, 141 P.R. 1907=93 P.W.R. 1907=57 P.L.R. 1908, 6 A.L.J. 966=3 Ind. Cas. 782=32 A. 45.] The history and nature of the right of pre-emption discussed by Mahmood, J. GOBIND DAYAL v. INAYAT-ULLAH, 7 A. 775, F.B.=A.W.N. 1885, 228. (N.W.P. 1874, 2, 28, N.W.P. 1875, 147, 1 A. 564, R.) [R., 9 A. 513, 12 A. 234, F.B.]

(88)—Participator in appendages, neighbour—Support, right of.—The owner of a servient tenement which has to receive and carry off the water from the roof of the disputed house has a right of pre-emption preferable to a neighbour whose house has to support the disputed house. The right of support is not an appendage to the property, but is included in the incident of neighbourhood. RANCHODAS v. JUGALDAS, 2 Bom. L.R. 41=24 B. 414.

(89)—Price of the property and conditions of sale—Identical offer.—The pre-emptor must be ready to pay the same price for the property and to give the same terms as the purchaser is shown to have given; this is not a mere formality but an essential going to the very root of the right of pre-emption. BAI REWA v. DULABHDAS, 4 Bom. L.R. 811.

(90)—Suit for pre-emption based on decree for pre-emption in another suit.—In order to claim a pre-emptive right, a person has to show that there has been an effective alienation of property in which he is interested. A right of pre-emption does not arise upon the transfer of property by virtue of a decree in a suit for pre-emption. The right is a right to step into the shoes of a less qualified vendee or transferee, and, therefore, there must be such a person acquiring property by a contractual relation of such a transfer. ABDUR RAZAQ v. MUMTAZ HUSAIN, 25 A. 334=A.W.N. 1903, 63. [F., 1 A.L.J. 247; D., 7 O.C. 1, 7 A.L.J. 259.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(91)—Pre-emption—Right of—Wajib-ul-arz.—Two joint owners of a certain zamindari share and sir land made a grant of the sir land to their step-mother for her maintenance for life, to revert to them after her death. Subsequently, the right of one of them in the zamindari except the rights in the sir, was sold in auction. After the death of the grantee, the sir land reverted to and was taken possession of by the son of that joint owner whose share was sold in auction. The latter sold a portion of it. Held that such a sale did not give rise to a right of pre-emption, as the vendor was not a co-sharer in the village, but merely a subordinate owner. HUSAIN BAKHSI v. DAMAR SINGH, 26 A. 547.

(92)—Right of re-purchase, provided in conveyance—Covenant, personal or running with land—Rule of perpetuities.—In a conveyance executed by plaintiffs in favour of first defendant's father, it was provided that in case he sold the property subsequently he would be bound to give preference to the plaintiffs, i.e., his vendors, to purchase the same for a certain sum, and on their refusal to accept the offer, he would be at liberty to sell the same to others. After his father's death, defendant No. 1, without offering to sell the land to the plaintiffs, though they were willing to purchase it, sold the same to defendants Nos. 2, 3 and 4, who had notice of the contract. Held, that the covenant was purely a personal covenant and could not bind the heirs of the person covenanting, and therefore the sale to defendants Nos. 2, 3 and 4 was not liable to be set aside. Held also that even assuming that the covenant was intended to be binding upon the heirs of the original covenantor, it was void in law for remoteness, inasmuch as it was not limited to any specific period (20 Ch. Div. 562, 16 Beav. 165, 53 Law Times 853, R.). NOBIN CHANDRA SOOT v. NABAB ALI SARKAR, 5 C.W.N. 343. (24 W.R. 321, R.) [R., 24 M. 449.]

(93)—Transfer by decree—Right of pre-emption.—A right of pre-emption does not arise upon a transfer effected by virtue of a decree, though the decree is passed upon a compromise. INTIZAR HUSSAIN v. JAMNA PRASAD, 1 A.L.J. 247. (25 A. 334, F.)

(94)—Custom—Contract—Fresh settlement.—Held, that, if a right of pre-emption was based on contract, it would cease, unless specially renewed, at a fresh settlement, but if based on custom, the burden of proof would be on the defendants to show that a custom proved to have once existed had come to an end. Mere purchase by strangers once or twice unopposed was insufficient. BIRJANANDAN LAL v. MUSAMMAT KUNWARI. A.W.N. 1906, 174=3 A.L.J. 561. (A.W.N. 1904, 128, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(95)—Pre-emption, suit for—Suit instituted after decrees in favour of other pre-emptors—Plaintiff no party to former suits—Suit maintainable—Nature of right of.—Where a suit for pre-emption based upon the plaintiff's superior right of pre-emption is brought within limitation, after decrees have been made in favour of other pre-emptors, the plaintiff not being a party to those former suits, held that the suit is maintainable. The right of pre-emption is not a right of re-purchase, but a right of substitution for the original vendee. RAJ NARAIN RAI v. DUNIYA PANDE, 7 A.L.J. 259=5 Ind. Cas. 527=32 A. 340.

(96)—Wajib-ul-arz, record of contract of pre-emption in, evidentiary value of—N.W.P. Land Revenue Act (XIX of 1873), s. 91.—This suit was based on contract and custom as evidenced by a wajib-ul-arz, and the lower Court dismissed it on the ground that the contract in the document was not binding on the vendor defendant, as it did not bear his signature. Having reference to the public character of the document and the accuracy of its preparation, it was held that all share-holders, whether signing it or not, must be presumed to have assented to its terms. The record of the existence of a custom of pre-emption, made in a wajib-ul-arz, is sufficiently strong evidence to cast the burden of proving the contrary on those denying such custom; and, in the same manner, when it records a contract of pre-emption between the share-holders, there is a presumption that it is binding on all the share-holders, whether they happened to sign such entry or not. MUHAMMAD HASAN v. MUNNA LAL, 8 A. 434=A.W.N. 1886, 166. (2 A. 876, R.) [Not F., 4 O.C. 71; Appl., 12 A. 234; R., 25 A. 90=22 A.W.N. 207, 26 A. 549=A.W.N. 1904, 128.]

(97)—Right of pre-emption as ground of claim and of defence—Civ. Pro. Code, 1877, s. 13, expl. II—Res judicata.—Where the right of pre-emption, though available as a defence, was not pleaded in a former suit, a subsequent suit between the same parties to enforce such right would be barred under s. 13 of the Civ. Pro. Code, expl. II. (1 A. 75 and 1 A. 316, F., but doubted.) NARAIN DAT v. BHAIRU BUKSHPAL, 3 A. 189. [Overruled, 26 A. 61, F.B.=A.W.N. 1903, 106; R., 14 B. 31.]

(98)—Rights of minor—Wajib-ul-arz.—Although at the time of the preparation of a wajib-ul-arz, a co-sharer is a minor, and that document is not attested on his behalf by his guardian, he cannot be excluded from the benefit, of its provisions relating to pre-emption, the very object of which was to prevent the introduction of strangers. LAL BAHADUR SINGH v. DURGA SINGH, 3 A. 437.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(99)—Minority—Suspension of right until majority.—A right of pre-emption accruing during minority cannot be kept suspended until the minor attains the age of majority. MEER MURTAZA v. LALLA NURSINGH SUHAE, 7 W.R. 86.

(100)—Minor—Refusal of guardian to exercise right of pre-emption on behalf of minor—Effect of refusal on minor's rights.—The guardian of a minor being fully competent to assert a right of pre-emption, and to refuse or accept an offer of a share in pursuance of such right so as to bind the minor, the guardian's acquiescence in the sale, if in good faith, and in the minor's interest, would be equally binding on the minor, since such an acquiescence would stand on the same footing as an express refusal to accept the property in pursuance of the pre-emptive right. UMRAO SINGH v. DALIP SINGH, 23 A. 129=A.W.N. 1901, 18. (3 A. 437, R.) [R., 35 C. 575.]

(101)—Pre-emption—S. 13, Part I, Punjab Civil Code—Evidence.—Where a mortgagor preferred to sell his property to one of the two putteedars who own lands adjoining the mortgaged properties, such a preference given by him cannot be questioned by the other putteedar, though of the same caste as the mortgagor. The decision of the lower Court was not opposed either to para 11, s. 13, Part I of the Punjab Civil Code or to the Ikarnamah of the Settlement. BOLA v. MAHOMED BUKHSH, 41 P.R. 1866

(102)—Right of pre-emption—Permanent transfer—Pre-emption rules applicable to usufructuary mortgages, on stipulation to that effect in wajib-ul-arz.—As has been ruled in 87 P. R. 1867, the right on which a plaintiff's claim for pre-emption is based ordinarily attaches only to permanent transfers of land and not to mortgages, which are fettered by no such restriction. In the present case, however, the claim of the plaintiff was based, not upon the general law, but upon the wajib-ul-arz of the village according to which the right of the proprietor to receive the first offer was extended to mortgages as well as to sales, and effect had to be given to the plain meaning of the words used in the wajib-ul-arz without regard to their real or supposed beneficial or detrimental effect in particular cases; and, consequently, plaintiff being a proprietor of the village and the defendant a stranger, the former, according to the stipulation in the wajib-ul-arz had the preferential right to the mortgage. BUNSEE LALL v. BUNSEE AND SYED REHMUT ALI, 4 P.R. 1869. [R., 84 P.R. 1869, 42 P.R. 1880, 103 P.R. 1885, 98 P.R. 1894.]

(103)—Preferential right—Chukdaree tenure.—In Mooltan while the zemindar is owner of the soil, the chukdar is owner of the well, and enjoys the right of arranging for the cultivation; and to the latter only belongs the right of

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

repairing the old wall or replacing it by a new one. NAWAB MAHOMED SURFURAZ KHAN v. DEWA MULL, 34 P.R. 1868.

(104)—Chukdars—General proprietor.—Suit for pre-emption by co-sharers in a well in Mooltan District. Held that the right should be given to those having the mere immediate interest in the rights to be disposed of, and that regard being had to the nature of the tenure of Chukdars in the case of a share in a well have a preferential right of pre-emption over the general proprietor of the village who has no share in the well but merely the right of receiving a quit rent (thuq zemindari) for the whole well. RUCKDOOM SHAH ALI MOHOMED v. COMUR ALI, 44 P.R. 1870. [D., 59 P.R. 1870]

(105)—Share-holders—Ground of preference—Possession of larger share.—In a suit for pre-emption between two co-sharers of a well, the first Court decided that one of them had the preferential right on the ground of his being the largest share in the well. On appeal, it was held that, where both parties were share-holders, the fact of one being already a larger share-holder did not give him a preferential right over his fellow. UMUR ALI v. MUKH DUM SHAH ALI MOHOMED, 59 P.R. 1870

(106)—Suit for pre-emption—Minor plaintiff Right claimed eight years after sale—Acquiescence by guardian—Punjab Civil Code, how far had the force of law.—Where the right of pre-emption on the part of a minor was not asserted and no steps were taken to establish such claim till eight years after the sale when the plaintiff, being 12 years old, sued for the right, it was held that the suit was barred, as the silence of the legal guardian, the mother, in respect of this claim, for eight years, annulled the right. The Punjab Civil Code had not the force of law. It merely indicated the law and custom. SADHU WAHAB v. ALADAD KHAN, 1 P.R. 1873.

(107)—Sale in execution—Claim for pre-emption—Division at instance of auction-purchasers—Plaintiff's claim not affected—Compensation to vendee making improvements in good faith.—The claim for pre-emption in this case was made in May 1874, the sale of the property in execution having been held in June 1873. Held that a renunciation of the right to pre-empt cannot be inferred from the mere fact that the pre-emptor stood by from the sale in 1873 till 1874. The law allows to the pre-emptor the period of a year, and, although in other Provinces, he must pay in the money when an auction-sale of land has taken place in execution of a decree, making his claim on the day of the auction-sale, such law does not obtain in the Punjab. It was also held that nothing turned on the fact that the property was purchased as an undivided share but had since been divided off. For it was identically the same, and in one shape or other remained the subject as to which, within the year of limitation, a claim for pre-emption was made. Even where a claim for pre-emption is made out, it is open to the Court to award to the defendant vendee compensation for improvements made in good faith; in the above case, the lower Court was directed to find, inter alia, the expense of partition, costs of partition suits, etc. FAIZ BAKHSH v. RAMJI DAS, 34 P.R. 1875. [R., 91 P.R. 1892.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(108)—Suit for pre-emption—Purchaser and pre-emptor equally related to vendor—Act IV of 1872—Custom.—In this suit for pre-emption, plaintiff, the purchaser, and defendant, the pre-emptor, were equally distant relatives of the vendor of the land and were also share-holders of the village in which the land lay. S. 14, cl. I of Act IV of 1872 had no application because that clause enacts that the right of pre-emption rests with co-sharers in the village in order of their relationship to the vendor. And, so far as such relationship went, the present plaintiff and defendant had an equal claim. The rules of pre-emption in villages must be taken from Act IV of 1872 and from that Act alone, unless a custom in variation of that Act be shown to exist and, in the present case, no such custom was proved. The law of pre-emption should not be deemed to be a general peculiar law and broad principle but, in all respects, to be peculiar to Muhammadan law and to village custom, and, in a case where both are inapplicable, no rule can be invoked to extend its application or rather to invent an additional rule for it. Held therefore that the plaintiff had no superior rights as against the purchaser, and as they were equally related to the vendor, the sale could not be cancelled at the suit of the plaintiff who had no superior right. GAMI v. SABIB, 91 P.R. 1875. [R., 94 P.R. 1877; D., 111 P.R. 1901 = 18 P.L.R. 1902.]

(109)—Act IV of 1872, s. 13—Pre-emption—"Offer"—Notice of sale—Pre-emptor being judgment-debtor's muktear—Estoppel.—A person who has been the muktear of the judgment-debtor and has been present at the sale of his property by public auction, is estopped from subsequently asserting his right of pre-emption as the notice of sale is a virtual offer within the meaning of s. 13, Act IV of 1872. RULIA MALL v. DULO MAL, 7 P.R. 1876.

(110)—Act IV of 1872, s. 9—Huk biswadari, whether subject to right of pre-emption—Sale of huk biswadari to stranger—Right of pre-emption to relation.—A huk biswadari, (an allowance payable at a fixed percentage upon the assessed revenue of village lands) can be considered "immoveable property" within the definition of the words given in s. 2, cl. 5, Act I of 1868, and consequently the right of pre-emption under s. 9, Act IV of 1872, extends to it. Where the plaintiff pre-emptor and the defendant vendee are both share-holders in the village, the relationship of the plaintiff to the vendor of the huk biswadari gives him a right of pre-emption, in preference to the vendee who is not a relation. GANGA RAM v. NAGIB KHAN, 61 P.R. 1876. [D., 40 P.R. 1904.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(111)—Sale by sharer to co-sharer in Khata—Right of superior proprietor Act IV of 1872, s. 14, cl. (2).—Persons who hold and cultivate lands in the same khata, though they are not of the proprietary body of the village, are “landowners of the same subdivision of the village” within the meaning of cl. 2, s. 14 of Act IV of 1872, and a sale by a sharer of a khata of a portion of his lands in it to his co-sharer in the same Khata does not give the superior proprietor who receives a certain percentage of the malikana, any right of pre-emption, as the co-sharer who has a distinct proprietary right in the sub-division has a preferential right to that of the superior proprietor. SOUDAGAR v. ILLAHI BAKSH KHAN, 11 P.R. 1877.

(112)—Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872), s. 14, cl. 2—Sale of land in a patti—Joint right of pre-emption—Suit for pre-emption by some of several pattidars, maintainability of.—The question in this case was as to the true construction of cl. 2 and of s. 14 of the Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872), which provides that “if the property to be sold is situated within a village, the right to accept such offer belongs to the landholders of the patti of the village in which the property is situated jointly.” Held that in the right of accepting the offer which belongs to the pattidars jointly, there is involved a right on the part of every pattidar to accept the offer, and that the joint right thus regarded is not lost or destroyed by the refusal or omission of some of the pattidars to join the rest in the acquisition of the land offered: Where a land-owner in patti A in a village, having given notice under s. 13 of Act IV of 1872, to the other pattidars in the patti, sells his land in the patti to proprietors of another patti who are not relatives of the vendor, then a suit for pre-emption by some of the pattidars in patti A, who have not rejected the offer involved in the notice under s. 13, is maintainable under cl. 2 of s. 14. Quære—Whether, if a majority of the pattidars by some positive act assume to relinquish the right on behalf of all, the act of the majority can take effect so as to bind all to the prejudice of any one of those for whose joint benefit the provision of the law (cl. 2 of s. 14 exists.)? RODEE v. KAKA, 94 P.R. 1877. [R., 17 P.R. 1884.]

(113)—Custom—Pre-emption—Act IV of 1872—Suburbs of Delhi—Rights of second purchaser subject to those of pre-emptor.—The custom of pre-emption was in this case found to prevail in the suburbs of Delhi. When the customary right of pre-emption described in Act IV of 1872 prevails, the second purchaser of property which is subject to the right of pre-emption takes a title from his vendor which is liable to be defeated by a successful claim for pre-emption against the first vendor and purchaser; and the pre-emptor is entitled to follow the property into his hands without being bound to pay him the sum he may have paid as purchase money in excess of the original price. The compensation of the second purchaser is a matter to be settled between the second purchaser and his vendor, and not between him and the pre-emptor. MUSSAMMAT SHAKRO v. MOLAR MAL, 68 P.R. 1879. [R., 146 P.R. 1883, 165 P.R. 1888, 103 P.R. 1889, 93 P.R. 1902, F.B., 120 P.R. 1906=55 P.L.R. 1907, 3 P.R. 1907=3 P.L.R. 1908; D., 20 P.R. 1897, 73 P.R. 1898.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(114)—Act X of 1877, s. 32—Misjoinder—Proprietors without joint right of pre-emption—Single suit not maintainable by, as co-plaintiffs—Procedure.—Single suit for pre-emption by two proprietors in a village. Each of them was entitled to claim pre-emption on the sale in question, but they had distinct causes of action and had no joint right of pre-emption so as to enable them to institute a single action as co-plaintiffs. Held, however, that the suit ought not to have been dismissed for that reason. The proper course would have been for the first Court, when the error in the frame of the suit was brought to its notice, to order the name of one of the plaintiffs to be struck out under s. 32 of the Code, instead of proceeding to investigate the case upon its merits. BARU MUL v. RADHA KISHEN, 3 P.R. 1881. [F., 29 P.R. 1894; R., 29 P.R. 1892; 102 P.R. 1894.]

(115)—Pre-emption—Undivided property—Co-sharers with equal rights—Wajib-ul-arz, construction—Custom—Preference of relatives.—The property to which this suit for pre-emption related was admitted jointly undivided property in which the claimant and the purchaser, as co-sharers, had an equal right under cl. (a), s. 12 of the Punjab Laws Act. Plaintiff however, as a near relative of the sellers, claimed the right by reason of a special custom which gave relatives a preferential claim. In evidence of the above custom, plaintiff relied on an agreement in the Administration paper that any one who wishes to sell a share in a well must offer it to a co-sharer, and, if the near co-sharer (hissadar karib shurka) does not purchase, he must then offer it to the sharers in other wells. He contended that the introduction of the word karib proved the preferential right of the relatives. Held that the contention was unsustainable. SUKHA v. MURAD, 16 P.R. 1881. [R., 94 P.R. 1904=103 P.L.R. 1904; D., 17 P.R. 1905.]

(116)—Right of pre-emption—Rival claimants—Rival suits—Waiver—Estoppel—Shares to be allotted to claimants—Act IV of 1872, s. 12—Act XII of 1878—Election by vendor.—A previous suit for pre-emption had been brought by the defendants in the present case, four days before the institution of the present suit against them. The present plaintiffs were two sons of one U by one of his wives while the the plaintiffs in the former case were three sons of the same father by another wife. They claimed by pre-emption as being co-proprietors in the village with the vendor. With regard to the plea that the plaintiffs had forfeited their right to pre-emption by acquiescence in the sale, they contended that there had been no waiver of their right of pre-emption as against the purchaser and nothing in their conduct to estop them from enforcing it. Held, that mere willingness to acquiesce in a sale, unaccompanied by any waiver or any conduct which would operate as an estoppel, would not bar a claim to pre-emption. In this case all that was shown was that both sets of plaintiffs were aware of the sale, and that the present plaintiffs probably would not have come forward to claim pre-emption had not their brothers first done so, but brought their suit immediately after they learnt that the other suit had been instituted. Nor had any facts been found by the first Court which could be construed as amounting either to a waiver or an estoppel. On the question as to share to which the present plaintiffs were entitled, the Chief Court held that, because, of the five brothers, two sued in the present and three in the other suit, the correct principle would be to give each brother who was a party to either of the suits an equal share, just as would have been the case if all the five had brought separate suits. On this principle, the plaintiffs' share would be two fifths unless their right of pre-emption could be established to be superior to that of their brothers. It was also contended that the plaintiffs' right was superior because, under the last clause but one of s. 12 of the Punjab Laws Act, as amended by Act XII of 1878, the vendor had the right to determine, between two persons equally entitled to pre-emption, which of them shall exercise the right, and he had preferred the plaintiffs under such right. Held, that, though the clause above-mentioned would have enabled the vendor, before the sale was completed to determine which of two persons claiming pre-emption on the same grounds and with equal rights should be allowed to purchase, it cannot be properly construed as giving him any right after he has parted with the property, to elect between two competing claimants to pre-emption. KARIM BAKSH v. KHUDA BUKSH, 20 P.R. 1881. [R., 82 P.R. 1884; 29 P.R. 1892; D., 102 P.R. 1881, 111 P.R. 1901=18 P.L.R. 1902, 43 P.R. 1903=92 P.L.R. 1903.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(117)—Suit for pre-emption—Mortgage of land in suit to pre-emptor by defendant-purchaser for paying purchase-money—Plaintiff's right not reserved—Waiver—Estoppel.—In this suit for pre-emption, the defendant vendee pleaded that he had mortgaged the land in suit to the plaintiff for the very purpose of paying the purchase-money to the vendor. The Chief Court was of opinion that the above mortgage deed prima facie estopped the plaintiff from demanding pre-emption. He had accepted the document as a valid mortgage of the property of the defendant and that, in the absence of any reservation at the time of the acceptance of the deed, he must be held to have waived his right of pre-emption. Plaintiff, however, urged that there was evidence that he did expressly give notice to the defendant that, in entering into the mortgage transaction, he did not abandon his own right of pre-emption. Unable to record any finding as to the truth of the plaintiff's assertion, the Chief Court reversed the decision of the lower Court and remanded the case, directing that, on taking further evidence, if any, that Court will determine the issue whether, at the execution of the deed of mortgage, plaintiff gave notice to the defendant that he reserved his right to claim pre-emption of the land thereby mortgaged. ABDULLA v. BISHEN DAS, 22 P.R. 1881.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(118)—Steps by mortgagee for foreclosure under Reg. XVII of 1806—'Proposing to foreclose'—Act IV of 1872, ss. 13, 14—Notice under s. 14—Person having right of pre-emption if entitled to notice.—In a case to which Act IV of 1872 applies, a mortgagee taking measures under Reg. XVII of 1806 towards foreclosure, should be deemed to be "proposing to foreclose a mortgage", within the meaning of s. 13 of that Act, and is bound to give notice of the amount due under the mortgage to the person having the right to redeem, under s. 14. It is not necessary that notice of the foreclosure proceedings should be served upon the person having the right of pre-emption, although, if, being aware of the fact that the mortgagee was engaged in foreclosure proceedings, and having had such notice from the mortgagee, he refused to avail himself of the implied offer of redemption, he could not afterwards maintain a suit against the mortgagee to enforce his right of pre-emption. HANSRAJ v. SAIDA, 35 P.R. 1881. [R., 155 P.R. 1882.]

(119)—Application for revision dismissed for default—Petition for re-hearing not correct procedure—Fresh application for revision—Order passed prior to Act XII of 1879—Appeal filed after Act.—This application was for the re-hearing of an application for revision, which had been dismissed for default, and, such an application was held to be not the correct mode of procedure, a fresh application for revision being the proper course. The order of which revision had been asked for was an order refusing to hear an appeal against an order refusing to allow the re-hearing of a case decided ex parte. The Commissioner considered that no appeal lay to his Court as the order was passed before the commencement of the Amending Act (XII of 1879) under which an appeal was allowed. Held that the law governing an appeal is the law in force when it was instituted, and, as at its institution, the present appeal was admissible, the Commissioner was bound to hear and dispose of it. COURT OF WARDS v. FATTEH SINGH, 75 P.R. 1881. [F., 34 P.R. 1885, 121 P.R. 1885; R., 12 P.R. 1900, 54 P.R. 1901, 97 P.R. 1907=3 M.L.T. 199, 121 P.R. 1907, 46 P.R. 1909, 1 O.C. 254.]

Pre-emption--continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt--continued.

(120)—Pre-emption—Rival claimants with equal rights—Separate suits—Decree obtained by plaintiff against purchaser and defendant—Decree obtained by defendant against purchaser alone—Superior diligence—Claim to equal shares.—A and B had equal rights of pre-emption in respect of the sale of a house to C. A obtained a decree for pre-emption in respect of the whole house against B and C. During the pendency of this suit, B brought a suit for pre-emption against C alone, and also obtained a decree for the whole house. B then claimed an equal share with A in the house in suit, on the ground that each of them was found to have, as neighbours, equal rights of pre-emption as against C. Held, that A was entitled to the whole house, even assuming the rights of A and B to have been, in the first instance, equal in respect of the purchase of the whole house. There was not even an allegation that any custom prevailed in the locality under which rival claimants to pre-emption of a house are entitled to demand equal division of the property between them. A by superior diligence in asserting his right, got a decree against C and B for the whole house, whereas, as against A, B's decree against C alone could be of no avail, and there was therefore no ground for giving B half of the house. MOKHAM DIN v. KARIM-ULLAH, 102 P.R. 1881. [F., 83 P.R. 1888; R., 43 P.R. 1903, 88 P.R. 1908=4 Ind. Cas. 920=28 P.L.R. 1909=154 P.W.R. 1903, 90 P.R. 1909=159 P.W.R. 1908=4 Ind. Cas. 179; D., 29 P.R. 1892, 139 P.R. 1894.]

(121)—Suit for pre-emption—Special custom—Full proprietor's claim to pre-emption if superior to that of Malik habza—Land owner in the patti comprising land sold, preferential right of.—The question in this case was whether, among the Rajputs in the Rawalpindi District, one of the original superior proprietors can sell his land to a kamin holding land as a malik kabza or whether the other Rajputs, original proprietors, have a right of pre-emption. In this case, plaintiff was urging his claim throughout on the ground that he was one of the superior proprietors and defendant only a malik kabza, but it was held that he would be entitled to a right of pre-emption on the above grounds only on some well established custom. It was found that there were no instances where the claim to pre-emption of a full proprietor was held to be superior to that of a malik kabza, but, that, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, the custom of the village in respect to pre-emption may be taken to be that described in the provisions of the wajib-ul-arz, according to which the plaintiff had a superior right to the vendees in the present case, inasmuch as he was a land owner in the patti in which the land in dispute was situated, whereas the vendees were land owners of a different patti. LAL KHAN v. NAJIB ULLA, 14 P.R. 1882. [R., 13 P.R. 1885.]

Pre-emption--continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt--continued.

(122)—Pre-emption—Custom—Kanakbandi suburb of Amritsar—In the Kanakbandi subdivision of the City of Amritsar, the custom of pre-emption does not exist. LABHU SINGH v. GURDITTA, 46 P.R. 1882 [R., 140 P.R. 1906=95 P.L.R. 1907; 9 P.R. 1909=19 P.W.R. 1909=1 Ind. Cas. 438, 13 P.R. 1907.]

(123)—Undivided holding, part being joint property of pre-emptor and purchaser—Joint right of pre-emption—Act IV of 1872, s. 12.—This was a suit for pre-emption. The first Court found that the sale was of one fourth share in an undivided holding half of which was joint property of the plaintiffs and the purchaser. The right of pre-emption was therefore a joint right of the plaintiffs and the purchaser, and, by buying a share the purchaser exercised their rights as well as his own. The last clause of s. 12 of the Punjab Laws Act as amended by Act XII of 1878 was, under the circumstances, inapplicable. The plaintiffs were therefore entitled to treat the purchase as made for themselves and the purchaser jointly, and to claim half on payment to him of half the price. AHMED DIN v. MUSST. HASSO, 54 P.R. 1882. [Overruled, 94 P.R. 1904, F.B.; R., 87 P.R. 1894, 111 P.R. 190=18 P.L.R. 1902, 83 P.R. 1907=10 P.L.R. 1907; D., 17 P.R. 1884, 69 P.R. 1893.]

(124)—Custom of pre-emption—Claimants related to vendor, right of pre-emption of preferential to that of purchaser not related to vendor.—Found on the evidence that there was a custom which gave the plaintiffs, on the ground of relationship to the vendor, a preferential right of pre-emption as against a purchaser who, although a joint-owner in the joint Khata, was not related to the vendor, NIHAL SINGH v. IWAN SINGH, 56 P.R. 1882. [R., 13 P.R. 1885.]

(125)—Transferable right of occupancy, right of pre-emption claimable on—Punjab Laws Act, s. 12—Order in which right of pre-emption is claimable—Tenancy Act, s. 34, landlord not exercising right conferred on him by persons entitled to claim pre-emption, on.—The question raised by this appeal was whether, on the sale of a transferable right of occupancy, the right of pre-emption can be claimed by any one not belonging to the classes specified in the last clause of s. 12 of the Punjab Laws Act. Held that, whilst the last clause of s. 12 gives a preference, in case the landlord does not exercise the right conferred on him by s. 34 of the Punjab Tenancy Act to persons belonging to the 6th and 7th of the classes mentioned in s. 12 over all others, it does not wholly exclude the operation of the earlier part of the section which states the order in which, in the absence of custom to the contrary, the right of pre-emption shall be claimable. There are no words in the section to indicate that, in default of a claim by the landlord, only persons belonging to the 6th and 7th classes above specified and no others will be entitled to claim pre-emption. HAZARI v. ISA, 106 P.R. 1882. [R., 43 P.R. 1892, 87 P.R. 1901=146 P.L.R. 1901.]

Pre-emption - continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(126)—Suit for pre-emption—Act XII of 1878, s. 13—Written notice—Plea of verbal offer and refusal—Waiver.—This was a suit for pre-emption with respect to a sale subject to the provisions of Act XII of 1878. Admittedly no written notice such as that required by s. 13 of the Act was given to the plaintiffs, but it was pleaded that a verbal offer was made to them which they refused. The Courts below finding the offer and refusal proved, dismissed the suit. Held that, in the absence of some positive act of waiver on the part of the pre-emptor discharging the vendor from the obligation, imposed on him by the law, of giving the pre-emptor formal written notice of the intended sale, the mere refusal to accept an oral offer would not constitute a sufficient defence to an action by the pre-emptor to enforce his legal rights. KARM KHAN v. JANG BAZ KHAN, 112 P.R. 1882. (52 P.R. 1880, F.) [R., 100 P.R. 1885, 24 P.R. 1887, 1 O.C. 254, 22 P.R. 1901=86 P.L.R. 1901.]

(127)—House property in town of Guzarat—Right of pre-emption—Relationship—Custom.—In this case, it was held that though there was reason to believe that the plaintiff pre-emptor was distantly related to the vendor in the male line, there was no proof of any custom by which relationship would confer a right of pre-emption in respect of house-property in the town of Guzarat. NURDIN v. NIZAMDIN, 113 P.R. 1881. (83 P.R. 1880, R.)

(128)—Suit for pre-emption—Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Biradaran Hakiki, meaning of.—The wajib-ul-arz in this case showed that the right of pre-emption according to the custom prevailing in Mouza Hissar accrued in the first instance to own brothers (Biradaran Hakiki), of the vendor and, in default of them, to the proprietors in the village. The first Court was therefore right in having disposed of the case with reference to the custom correctly described in the wajib-ul-arz, and s. 12, Act IV of 1872, lays down that the subordinate clauses of that section are only applicable in the absence of custom. It was contended for the respondents that, though they were not own brothers of the vendor, they were nevertheless collaterals, and that, under the right construction of the expression Biradaran Hakiki, collaterals should be included, but it was held that the plaintiffs were not shown to come within the description of Biradaran Hakiki, as used in the wajib-ul-arz and had no preferential claim to pre-emption over the vendee. SOHAN LAL v. MULA, 114 P.R. 1882.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(129)—Act IV of 1872, s. 12 (b)—‘Order of relationship’, meaning of—More remote collaterals not on equal footing with those in nearer degree—Objection raised for first time in special appeal.—In this case the plaintiff had obtained a decree for pre-emption in the lower appellate Court on the ground that he being the first cousin of the vendor, was nearer in the order of relationship than the purchaser, the son of a first cousin, and that he had therefore a superior claim under the Punjab Laws Act. In appeal it was urged that the purchaser and the plaintiff must be regarded as equally related to the vendor, because by custom, they would succeed to his inheritance in equal shares. No custom as to pre-emption had been pleaded which would make the right of pre-emption devolve otherwise than in the manner prescribed by s. 12. Held that the lower appellate Court was right. (65 P.R. 1878, F.) It was however urged at the hearing that s. 12 would not apply as the village was not shown to be “held on ancestral shares.” This point, however, was not raised by the defendant in either of the Courts below, nor set forth in his memo of appeal, and could not therefore be entertained. JAWAHIR SINGH v. NAND SINGH, 117 P.R. 1882. [Overruled, 74 P.R. 1906.]

(130)—Katra Parja in Amritsar—Custom of pre-emption—“Sub-division,” meaning of, in Act IV of 1872.—The word “sub-division,” as used in s. 11 of Act IV of 1872 is intended to refer to main divisions or quarters of the town or city well-known and recognised, and not merely to lanes or streets therein. The term would include what is known as muhulla and a katra in Amritsar which is a sub-division in the city within the meaning of s. 11 of Act IV of 1872. On the question whether the right of pre-emption existed in the sub-division of the city of Amritsar in which the property purchased by the appellant was situate, the Chief Court, upon a consideration of the whole of the evidence, came to the conclusion that the right of pre-emption existed in the katra where the house in dispute was situate. SOHAVA MAL v. CHATTU MAL, 154 P.R. 1882. [R., 29 P.R. 1888, 44 P.R. 1903=75 P.L.R. 1903, 99 P.R. 1906=130 P.L.R. 1906, 140 P.R. 1906=95 P.L.R. 1907, 6 P.R. 1907, 9 P.R. 1909=1 Ind. Cas. 438.]

(131) — Pre-emption — Pre-emptor’s house being opposite to house sold—Custom—Burden of proof.—The house of the plaintiff in this suit for pre-emption was separated from the house sold by a blind lane, and faced it, while one of the purchaser’s houses adjoined the plaintiff’s on the same side of the lane. Plaintiff based his right of pre-emption upon the fact that his house faced the one sold. Under the provisions of s. 11 of Act IV of 1872, the plaintiff not only had to prove the existence of the right of pre-emption in the sub-division of the city in which the property was situate, but he had likewise to prove that, according to the conditions in which such right was customarily exercisable, he had a preferential claim. Held that, assuming that the right of pre-emption prevailed generally in the mohulla where the house in dispute was situate, the plaintiff had failed to prove any such special custom as was set up by him, having regard to the relative positions of the plaintiff's and purchaser's houses. MEH-TAB ROY v. AMIR CHAND, 189 P.R. 1882. [R., 103 P.R. 1889, 17 P.R. 1903=70 P.L.R. 1903, 6 P.R. 1905=19 P.L.R. 1905, 68 P.R. 1906=123 P.L.R. 1906, 47 P.R. 1907=68 P.L.R. 1908.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(132)—Pre-emption—Presumption—Punjab Laws Act, s. 10—Deed of sale purporting to transfer right of occupancy—Right of occupancy created by contract—Act XXVIII of 1868, s. 5—Agreement between landlord and tenant excluding operation of s. 5—In this case, the proprietor of the land in suit transferred, by way of sale, a right of occupancy to the defendant who was then cultivating the land as a tenant-at-will. The plaintiff, a proprietor and lambardar in the village brought the present suit to enforce his right of pre-emption in respect of the right of occupancy sold. The main question for decision was whether the transaction was of such a nature as to give a right of pre-emption. This depended on whether the deed which purported to be a sale to the tenant at will of a right of occupancy in the land was a conveyance of a transferable right of occupancy. The deed simply purported to give him a right of occupancy and was silent as to whether that right was transferable or not, and to determine the latter question it was necessary to refer to the provisions of the Punjab Tenancy Act, s. 34, and as a right of occupancy created by a contract is not a right of occupancy under s. 5 of that Act, the case was held to be governed by the last clause of that section. A tenant falling under that clause could not transfer his right, whatever that may be, without the previous consent of his landlord, and if he attempts to do so, the transaction is, as against the proprietor, void, and conveys no rights to the transferee as against the proprietor. Such a tenant, therefore, in the absence of an agreement between him and the landlord excluding the operation of s. 34, can have no transferable right, i.e., he cannot effect a transfer as of right, but only with his landlord's previous consent. No presumption in favour of the right of pre-emptor, therefore, arose under s. 10 of the Punjab Laws Act, and as no custom giving such right in a case like the present had been proved, the suit was dismissed. JEHANA v. CHOWDRI JIWAN KHAN, 196 P.R. 1882. (55 P.R. 1879, R.) [R., 120 P.R. 1883, 179 P.R. 1888, 43 P.R. 1892, 136 P.R. 1907, 37 P.R. 1911=10 Ind. Cas. 4=104 P.W.R. 1911=121 P.L.R. 1911.]

(133)—Pre-emption on ground of relationship—Custom of Jalandhar City.—Relationship is by custom, a ground for claiming pre-emption in the City of Jalandhar, and takes precedence of other grounds such as vicinage, &c. ATA MAHAMMAD v. HARDIT MAL, 12 P.R. 1883. [R., 70 P.R. 1902=117 P.L.R. 1902; D., 53 P.R. 1888.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(134)—Pre-emption—Houses on village site—Custom—Relationship whether ground for claiming such right.—Found that there was a right of pre-emption by custom in regard to houses on the village site (of Naushahrab Panwan) held on a bhaiachara tenure, and that by custom relationship formed a ground for claiming such right of pre-emption. PIRBU v. SAWAN, 40 P.R. 1883. [Appr., 69 P.R. 1885.]

(135)—Pre-emption—Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Sales of land without assertion of right of pre-emption—Effect—Where the wajib-ul-arz prepared at the settlement (some 12 or 14 years ago) recorded that the custom of pre-emption existed in a village, it was not enough to show that some sales had taken place which were not objected to, for it was discretionary with the co-proprietors to object or not, and their mere acquiescence in previous sales did not imply that the custom which would have entitled them to object to the sales and to claim the benefit for themselves had been abrogated. SAMAND KHAN v. MAHTABA, 48 P.R. 1883. [Appl., 16 P.R. 1901=78 P.L.R. 1901.]

(136)—Sale of land to pre-emptor and strangers—Suit by another pre-emptor to set aside sale to strangers.—The principle that the pre-emptor is bound to take up the whole bargain is a principle which may be admitted to the extent that the pre-emptor cannot omit to claim any portion of the property comprised in the bargain to which his right of pre-emption extends, but it cannot, consistently with the provisions of Act IV of 1872, be held to oblige him to claim the whole property sold when his right of pre-emption extends over only a portion of such property. A sold certain land by a single conveyance to three different sets of people, viz., to K, the three sons of I, and two sons of G, in equal shares. Plaintiffs, the collaterals of the vendor, sued for pre-emption in respect of two-thirds of the land sold, stating that they and the sons of G had equal rights of pre-emption, and that the other two sets of purchasers were strangers. Held, that as it was not shown that the plaintiffs had waived any rights which they possessed or acted otherwise than in good faith, they had a right to set aside the sale of the two-thirds of the land which had been purchased by the two sets of purchasers K and the sons of I. KAIM v. AMBIA, 44 P.R. 1883. (107 P.R. 1882, R.)

(137)—Act IV of 1882, s. 14 (as amended by Act XII of 1878)—Payment or tender—Expression of willingness to pay fair price whether equivalent to tender.—The mere fact that in a plaint instituted by the pre-emptors before a final sale was completed by the vendor, there was an expression of their willingness to pay a fair price, cannot save the plaintiff (the purchaser of their rights of pre-emption) from the loss of his pre-emptive right, unless he can show that he himself or the persons through whom he claims, made an actual payment, tender, or deposit within three months of the notice served upon him, as such expression of willingness cannot be regarded as equivalent to either payment or tender within the meaning of s. 14 of Act IV of 1872; for in order to constitute a tender, there must be actual production of the money, unless the production is dispensed with by an express declaration or equivalent act of the creditor. ALLAH BAKSH v. RAHIM BAKSH, 46 P.R. 1883.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(138)—Pre-emption—Sale to one of two persons equally entitled to pre-emption—Assertion of right by the other—Custom—Act IV of 1872 (Amended by Act XII of 1878), s. 12.—The last clause but one of s. 12 of Act IV of 1872 (as amended by Act XII of 1878), which definitely lays down that when it has been decided, whether by custom or law, that two persons are equally entitled to pre-emption, the seller is entitled by law to choose which shall exercise the right, is not governed by the words "in the absence of a custom to the contrary" which occur in the first sentence in s. 12. Held, therefore, that where a land was sold to one of two persons who are equally entitled to pre-emption, the other could not claim pre-emption by urging that there was a custom in the village to divide amongst the pre-emptors the land in regard to which the right of pre-emption arose. JOHAR SINGH v. MANGAL SINGH, 117 P.R. 1883. [R., 94 P.R. 1904=103 P.L.R. 1904; D., 111 P.R. 1901=18 P.R. 1902.]

(139)—Decree for pre-emption in respect of prior sale—Subsequent sale by purchasers at that sale to third party—Suit for pre-emption in respect of second sale.—When a decree for pre-emption has been obtained in respect of prior sale, and has become final, a suit for pre-emption cannot be maintained in respect to a subsequent sale by the purchasers at the prior sale to a third party. KARIM BAKSH v. GHULAM MUSTAFA, 146 P.R. 1883. (68 P.R. 1879, cited.)

(140)—Punjab Laws Act, s. 9—Adhlapi tenure—Sale—Whether subject to right of pre-emption.—The transfer of half a well, with the land attached thereto, in Adhlapi tenure, i.e., in proprietary right in consideration of the transferee restoring a ruined well and paying a premium in cash, is a sale within the meaning of s. 9 of the Punjab Laws Act, so as to be subject to the rights of pre-emption, when the clause in the Rivaj-i-am contemplates claims to pre-emption with respect to contracts creating the adhlapi tenure; and a pre-emptor undertaking to carry out all the terms of the contract is entitled to a decree, putting him in the place of the adhlapidar. MUL CHAND v. MANSA RAM, 157 P.R. 1883. [R., 111 P.R. 1885; D., 88 P.R. 1901=145 P.R. 1901.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(141)—Punjab Laws Act, s. 9—Adhlapi transaction—Pre-emption.—An adhlapi transaction is a transfer which comes under the definition of a sale, when the meaning of the clause in the riwaj-i-am is that a suit for pre-emption would lie in the case of an Adhlapi transaction just as much as it would in the case of an ordinary sale, provided that the persons claiming pre-emption are willing to take up the adhlapi bargain on the same terms as has been agreed on between the co-sharer who has offered the bargain and the outsider who has taken it up. GAMAN KHAN v. GHOLAM HUSAIN KHAN, 157 P.R. 1883, Note.

(142)—Pre-emption—Share holder of village and share holder of patti, rival claims of—Custom contrary to s. 12 of Punjab Laws Act.—Found that a custom overriding the provisions of s. 12 of the Punjab Laws Act in regard to the order in which persons entitled to pre-emption may seek to enforce that right, exists in the village (of Baragon), which entitles a person who has purchased land in one patti, as a share-holder in the village, to resist a claim for pre-emption brought by share holder in another patti in which the land sold is situate. NAWAB MUHAMMAD ALI KHAN v. MIRAN BAKSH, 189 P.R. 1883.

(143)—Purchase of land by pre-emptor and stranger jointly—Effect—Right of another pre-emptor as against joint vendees—Fixing of price in good faith—Market value.—Where a proprietor in the same patti has joined in the purchase of land with a person who has no right of pre-emption, he cannot be allowed to rely on his own right to defeat the claim of another pre-emptor to purchase it, as he is entitled to no superior position, when the right is asserted, to that of his co-purchaser. [F., 94 P.R. 1895, 48 P.R. 1907=81 P.L.R. 1908; Appr., 100 P.R. 1900=11 P.L.R. 1901; R., 69 P.R. 1893; Cons., 69 P.R. 1898; D., 83 P.R. 1893, 29 P.R. 1894.] If the payment by the vendee was no mere pretence, but was actually made, there being no arrangement that the money should be handed back out of Court or that the vendor should receive credit for it in any other way than as payment of the price of the land, it is impossible to hold that the price was not fixed in good faith simply because the Court thinks the land worthless, and it is only in case the price was not fixed in good faith that any question as to the market value of the land arises. Where the price fixed in a sale deed was fixed in good faith and actually paid, it is unnecessary for the Court to determine the market value of the land sold in that case. IMAM-UD-DIN v. NURKHAN, 10 P.R. 1884. [F., 75 P.R. 1901=123 P.L.R. 1901; Appr., 68 P.R. 1902=99 P.L.R. 1902.]

(144)—Pre-emption—Mauza Karbans in Panipat—Special custom—Pre-emption in favour of near collaterals.—In this suit for pre-emption in land situated in Mauza Karbans in the Panipat tahsil, the plaintiffs' claim was based on their being more nearly related to the sellers than the purchasers. But it was found that there was no evidence of a customary right of pre-emption in favour of near relations over others who were not so nearly related. DEBA v. RAM NATH, 11 P.R. 1884.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(145)—Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872), s. 9—Exchange of one land for another, whether a sale giving rise to pre-emption.—An exchange of one plot land for another cannot be regarded as a sale, so as to give rise to a right of pre-emption under s. 9 of the Punjab Laws Act as amended by Act XII of 1879. The result of holding that a right of pre-emption arises under that Act in respect of an exchange would be, not to transfer the bargain to another person willing to pay the same price, but to expose each party to the exchange to the risk of being obliged to enter into a contract quite different from what he intended. UDE RAM v. BAKH-SHI, 12 P.R. 1884. [F., 111 P.R. 1885; R., 29 P.R. 1893, 98 P.R. 1894, F.B.; D., 54 P.R. 1889.]

(146)—Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872), s. 12 cls. (c) and (d)—Claim for pre-emption—Plaintiff and vendee equally entitled—Absence of joint claim on part of all shareholders—Plaintiff's individual claim unsustainable.—In this suit for pre-emption both the lower Courts held that as the plaintiff and the vendee had equal rights in the putti in which the land sold was situate, the plaintiff, under cl. (c), s. 12, Act IV of 1872, was entitled to purchase the land jointly with the vendee. It appeared that there was not joint claim on the part of the share holders. The rest of the share holders had stood aside and the present claim was brought by one share holder only asserting his individual right, no claim having been brought by the share-holders jointly. Held under the circumstances, that the plaintiff's claim did not fall under cl. (c) but under cl. (d), giving a separate right to each landowner to accept an offer of sale, provided that no joint claim was made by the landowners. Consequently, the penultimate paragraph of s. 12 took effect and, as the vendor had elected to sell to defendant, plaintiff was not entitled to claim. BHAG v. MUHAMMAD YAR, 17 P. R. 1884. (94 P.R. 1877, 54 P.R. 1882, R.) [R., 69 P.R. 1898; D., 111 P. R. 1901=18 P.L.R. 1902.]

(147)—Sale and gift—Pre-emption.—Sales and gifts do not stand on the same footing. Because a man can gift away his land to his daughter to the prejudice of collaterals, it does not follow that he might dispose of it by sale. LALU v. MUSSAMMAT LAL BIBI, 114 P.R. 1884.

(148)—Purchase by pre-emptor from purchaser—Right of inferior pre-emptor.—Where a pre-emptor purchases the subject of pre-emption from the purchaser of the same who had purchased it from the owner, a pre-emptor with the inferior rights cannot enforce his right by suit against the said pre-emptor-purchaser on the ground that his

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

purchase was private. AMIRULLAH SHAH v. TABE HUSSEIN, 138 P.R. 1884. (106 P.R. 1880, D.) [R., 26 P.R. 1908, 124 P.R. 1907=48 P.W.R. 1907=3 P.L.R. 1907, 91 P.R. 1909, 90 P.R. 1909; F., 73 P.R. 1898.]

(149)—Right of mosque to claim pre-emption.—A mosque, as an institution has proprietary rights which it exercises through its guardians and as such it has a right to claim pre-emption on the ground of vicinage. SHANKAR DAS v. SAID AHMAD, 153 P.R. 1884. [R., 10 P.R. 1886, 42 P.R. 1903=89 P.L.R. 1903; Cited, 100 P.R. 1885.]

(150)—Bhular Jats of Kasur tahsil—Mortgage.—There is no right of pre-emption regarding mortgages among Bhular Jats of Kasur tahsil. NIHAL SINGH v. UTTAM CHAND, 20 P.R. 1885.

(151)—Next-door neighbour—Right to pre-empt—Sufficiency of ground—Onus.—A next-door neighbour has a right of pre-emption and he who asserts the contrary and pleads a special custom, must prove it. SHEIKH SHAHR YAR v. IMAM-UD-DIN, 33 P.R. 1885. [Cited, 83 P.R. 1888, 53 P.R. 1888; R., 7 P.R. 1907, 107 P.R. 1900.]

(152)—Coverture—Malik gabza—Custom—“Ek juddi.”—Where the plaintiff is a Mahomedan and vendor a Sikh, the plaintiff's family having been converted from Hinduism several generations back, the families being thus widely separated long ago, the plaintiff could not succeed as the “ek juddi” of the vendor. A malik gabza is for purposes of pre-emption a landholder under Act IV of 1872. DESU v. JOWALA, 13 P.R. 1885. (14 P.R. 1882, cited and F.; 56 P.R. 1882, R.)

(153)—Adjoining house owner—Right—Jalalpur.—There is a custom in Jalalpur, in Gujranwala District, by which an adjoining house owner has a right superior to that of others whose houses stand across the lane. THAKUR DAS v. DIWAN CHAND, 56 P.R. 1885. [R., 109 P.R. 1900.]

(154)—Wajib-ul-arz—Provision—Relations—Better right.—If there is a provision in the wajib-ul-arz that where a land is disposed of, it must be first offered to near relations, the latter will have a preferential right of pre-emption. NAJAF ALI v. KUTBU, 58 P.R. 1885. [Cited, 17 P.R. 1905; Overruled, 74 P.R. 1906]

(155)—“Sharkayan”—“Yak judi”—Proprietor and non-proprietor.—In the absence of any custom a sharer in a village has a right of pre-emption as against a non-proprietor. “Sharkayan” means sharers, proprietors in the village “Yak judi” means the same. DEVI DAS v. MOHKAM DIN, 69 P.R. 1885. (40 P. R. 1883, R.)

(156)—Proprietor of Dharmasalah—Right to pre-empt by—Drafting of a deed of sale by pre-emptor—No waiver.—The proprietors of a

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

dharmasalah are not prevented from claiming pre-emption. The mere fact of a deed of sale being drafted by the pre-emptor, a professional petition-writer would not amount to waiver of his rights. SHAH BODHRAJ v. SUNDAR SINGH, 100 P.R. 1885. (153 P.R. 1884, 47 P.R. 1873, 52 P.R. 1880, 8 P.R. 1882, 112 P.R. 1892, Cited.) [R., 1 O.C. 254.]

(157)—S. 9, Punjab Laws Act—Exchange—Right to pre-empt.—In the absence of a custom to the contrary, exchange does not give rise to pre-emption under s. 9, Punjab Laws Act. KHAIRULLA v. MIR HAMZA, 111 P.R. 1885. (157 P.R. 1883, Cited; 12 P.R. 1884, F.) [R., 29 P.R. 1893.]

(158)—Mohalla Dhilan, Peshawar—Custom of pre-emption—A resident of same village.—Under the custom among the residents of Mohalla Dhilan, Peshawar, a resident of the Mohalla has a preferential right of pre-emption over a purchaser residing in another district who is also a mortgagee of the house in question. GOBIND RAM v. SAYAD AHMAD, 10 P.R. 1886. (153 P.R. 1884, R.) [Cited, 29 P.R. 1888; R., 107 P.R. 1900, 68 P.R. 1906, 42 P.R. 1903=89 P.L.R. 1903.]

(159)—Pre-emption extending to part only—Claiming right to whole—Objection, when to be taken.—Where a plaintiff entitled to pre-empt in respect of a part only of the property claims pre-emption in respect of the whole transaction the defendant should urge his objection at the earliest opportunity. Else, the plaintiff will be allowed to succeed. WARIAM v. DESU, 64 P.R. 1886. (107 P.R. 1882, F.B., R.) [Not F., 89 P.R. 1905.]

(160)—Kucha Sathan, Lahore—Mortgage—Pre-emption.—Custom of pre-emption in favour of mortgages does not exist in Kucha Sathan, Lahore. LAKHU MISSAR v. NARAIN DAS, 72 P.R. 1886.

(161)—Gurudaspur—Vicinage—Right.—Vicinage is one of the chief grounds for pre-emption in Gurudaspur. RALLA RAM v. KALLAN KHAN, 108 P.R. 1886. (97 P.R. 1880, F.) [Cited, 83 P.R. 1888; R., 107 P.R. 1900, 109 P.R. 1900, 68 P.R. 1906, 47 P.R. 1907.]

(162)—Vicinage—Custom—Paniput—Preference amongst neighbours—In Paniput a custom of pre-emption resting upon vicinage exists. Under this custom a neighbour through whose gateway or over whose land the land sold is approached has a preference to one the back of whose house adjoins the land sold the approach being from a different side. MUHAMMAD SALAMAT-UL-LAH v. JALAL-UD-DIN, 24 P.R. 1887. [R., 1 O.C. 254, 71 P.R. 1905=9 P.L.R. 1905, 68 P.R. 1906, 47 P.R. 1907, 107 P.R. 1900; Not Appr., 17 P.R. 1903; Cited, 83 P.R. 1888.]

(163)—Co-sharer—Relation—Preference.—A co-sharer in a well to which the land in dispute is attached has a superior right of pre-emption to an owner in the vendor's village who is his relation. KAHAN SINGH v. BARA SINGH, 30 P.R. 1887. (103 P.R. 1885, R.) [R., 96 P.R. 1892.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(164)—Sale of "katras" in Naia Buzaar—Delhi—Custom.—A claim for pre-emption on the sale of a "Katra" by reason of the house being contiguous in front to part of the katra sold will fail if a local custom attaching a right of pre-emption to sales of "Katras" is not proved. NANNI MAL v. SHEO NATH, 64 P.R. 1887. [Diss, 42 P.R. 1903=89 P.L.R. 1903; R., 111 P.R. 1906, 120 P.R. 1906, 48 P.R. 1888, 17 P.R. 1895, 68 P.R. 1890, 116 P.R. 1908, 16 P.R. 1902=15 P.L.R. 1902; Expt., 108 P.R. 1895; Cited, 29 P.R. 1888.]

(165)—Jullunahur—Relationship—Neighbourhood—Reference.—Even a near collateral as such has no preferential or even equal right of pre-emption to that of a neighbour. SARBO-LAND KHAN v. ISMAIL, 53 P.R. 1888. (12 P.R. 1883, 33 P.R. 1885, R.)

(166)—Two suits for pre-emption—Vendee's status decided in one—His status in the later sale.—Where two suits for pre-emption by different persons were brought in respect in two sales to a person and both were tried together, in one suit the defendant was not able to maintain the status claimed by him; he was not allowed to show in the other suit that his status was at least equal to that of the claimant as the decision in the first suit had gone to the root of his status and the plaintiff was allowed to take advantage of the benefit of that decision. ZAHAR KHAN v. MUSTAJAB KHAN, 55 P.R. 1899. [R., 141 P.R. 1907=57 P.L.R. 1908=93 P.W.R. 1907, 93 P.L.R. 1902, F.B.]

(167)—Mortgage—Allegation that it is sale—Evidence—Proof.—A mortgage was made by 1st defendant in favour of defendants 2 and 3. The plaintiff brought a suit for pre-emption on the allegation that the transaction was really a sale and the mortgage was drawn to conceal the real nature of the transaction and to defeat his rights of pre-emption. It was admitted that pre-emption did not attach to mortgages. Held, when the terms of the document do not satisfy its being treated as a sale, the plaintiff can only succeed by showing that prior to the mortgage, a sale had already been made and on the date of mortgage the mortgagor had no right to deal with the property at all. CHOWDHRI ASA NAND v. MAMUN, 64 P.R. 1888.

(168)—Mooltan—Preference between front and back neighbours.—There is no custom giving the owner of the house in front a preference over the owner of the house at the back. As between two rival claimants, one claiming superior right must show that he is so entitled by custom; in the absence of any such proof the claims would be regarded as equal, even though there may be considerations of equity and convenience in the one case more than in the other. The procedure to be adopted in case of rival claimants explained. CHOWDHRI KHEM SINGH v. MUSSAMMAT TAJ BIBI, 83 P.R. 1888. (64 P.R. 1888, 97 P.R. 1880, 102 P.R. 1881, 33 P.R. 1885, 108 P.R. 1886, 24 P.R. 1887, R.) [Appr. & F., 109 P.R. 1900; R., 26 P.R. 1907, 42 P.R. 1906, 47 P.R. 1907, 68 P.R. 1906, 85 P.R. 1905=151 P.L.R. 1905, 88 P.R. 1908, 107 P.R. 1900; F., 20 P.R. 1908, 67 P.R. 1906; Cited, 8 P.R. 1904, 17 P.R. 1903, 43 P.R. 1903=92 P.L.R. 1903, 44 P.R. 1903=75 P.L.R. 1903, 192 P.R. 1888; Disc., 88 P.R. 1905=179 P.L.R. 1905.]

Pre-emption—continued.— 6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(169)—Right of a purchaser of a small site in the abadi—Meaning of "land holder" or "landowner" in s. 12, Punjab Laws Act.—A servant with a right of occupancy does not by the purchase of a small site in the abadi become one of the village proprietors or a landholder within the meaning of s. 12, Punjab Laws Act, so as to claim pre-emption. Under s. 12, those entitled to pre-emption are those proprietors, generally tribesmen forming the proprietary body or khewatdar, men entered in the revenue records as assessed with a quota of the revenue and jointly and severally responsible to Government for the whole. PHALLU v. MUKARRAB, 153 P.R. 1888. [F., 96 P.R. 1898.]

(170)—Ludhiana—Vicinage—Owner of the house adjoining at the back and one having a common lane with vendor—Preference.—There is no custom in Ludhiana by which an owner of a house opening into a lane, the private property of himself and the vendor, access to which place had been granted by the vendor to the vendee through his own house has a preferential claim to a person whose house adjoined the house sold at the back only. MUHAMMAD AZIM KHAN v. NABIR, 192 P.R. 1888. (83 P.R. 1888, R.) [R., 23 P.R. 1906; Cited, 17 P.R. 1903.]

(171)—Contact between to houses at the back—Owning house in the street—Preference.—There is no custom by which an owner of house in another street, whose contact with the house sold arose from their being back to back can be said to have a preferential claim to the vendee owning a house in the same street. JHANDU v. UMAR DIN, 17 P.R. 1889. [R., 12 P.R. 1904; D., 43 P.R. 1903=92 P.L.R. 1903.]

(172)—Mouza Jamramwala—Village.—Where both the vendee and the plaintiff are proprietors in Mauza Jamramwala in Mooltan, the plaintiff cannot be said to have a right of pre-emption because he owns lands adjoining the land sold unless and until a custom to that effect is proved to exist. SWAN MAL v. WASU RAM, 45 P.R. 1889. [F., 77 P.R. 1906.]

(173)—Mauza Gohana—Relationship and living in the same time, no grounds for pre-emption.—The fact that the plaintiff is a relative of the vendee or has a house in the same street or lane is no ground for claiming

Pre-emption—continued.— 6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

pre-emption. RUR SINGH v. TANSUKH RAI, 82 P.R. 1889. [D., 104 P.R. 1900; Cited, 43 P.R. 1903=92 P.L.R. 1903, 44 P.R. 1903=75 P.L.R. 1903.]

(174)—Owning land in shamilat and owning land in the same taraf.—In cases of pre-emption a person owning land in the same taraf in which the land sold was situated will be preferred to one who owns land in shamilat. BHAGAT HIBANAND v. LAL KHAN, 169 P.R. 1889.

(175)—House adjoining at the back but opening into another mohalla—Batala—Vicinage custom of pre-emption.—The custom of pre-emption by vicinages exists in Batala and an owner of a house adjoining the household at the back can claim pre-emption though it opened into a different mohalla. KARAM ILAHI v. ALI BAKHSH, 199 P.R. 1889. [Cited, 43 P.R. 1903=92 P.L.R. 1903.]

(176)—Mortgage—Allegation that it is sale—Right to prove—Claim for pre-emption.—Where a document purports to be a deed of gift or mortgage it is open to a person claiming pre-emption to prove that the transaction was in reality a sale and that the document was executed in order to conceal the real nature of the transaction and to defraud his rights of pre-emption. TARACHAND v. BALDEO, 117 P.R. 1890. [R., 78 P.R. 1904.]

(177)—Pre-emption—P.L. Act—Transferable right—Occupancy right—Perpetual lease—"Transferable" defined.—According to s. 10, P. Laws Act, the right of pre-emption will be presumed to exist in all village communities and to extend to all transferable rights of occupancy affecting such lands. This right applies to sales by occupancy tenants as well as to transactions under which proprietors create a right of occupancy in another for a consideration. A right of occupancy may be transferable either under a power to transfer given by the Tenancy Act or under agreement between landlord and tenant. Semble:—A perpetual lease does not give rise to a right of pre-emption merely on the ground that it amounts to a sale. NIHAL CHAND v. RAI SINGH, 43 P.R. 1892. [R., 8 O.C. 121; Cited., 136 P.R. 1907]

(178)—Bhainazdiki—Collateral's widow—Wajib-ul-arz—Property once forming a portion of joint property.—The widow of a deceased collateral does not come under the heading "bhai na-diki" who under the terms of the wajib-ul-arz are entitled to pre-emption. The circumstance that the property in question was a portion of what once formed a joint estate will not infer any prior right of pre-emption. BODI AND KALU v. MUSSAMMAT MAHTAB, 131 P.R. 1892. [R., 32 P.R. 1902=30 P.L.R. 1902, 44 P.R. 1900, 129 P.R. 1906.]

(179)—Relationship, no ground for claiming pre-emption.—Relationship to the vendor is no

Pre-emption—continued.— 6. — Right to pre-empt—continued.

ground for claiming a superior right of pre-emption in Mauza Bhopa Rai in Ludhiana District. GAJJAN v. BHOPA, 27 P.R. 1893. [Cited & F., 74 P.R. 1906; R., 44 P.R. 1907.]

(180)—“Thullas”—Subdivisions of the village—S. 12 (c) & (d) of Punjab Laws Act.—A person owning land in the same thulla in which the land sold was situate has a superior right of pre-emption to one not owning land in the same thulla but owning land in another thulla of the same patti, as “thullas” are subdivisions within the meaning of s. 12, cl. (c) & (d) of Punjab Laws Act. UTTAM v. BUTA, 69 P.R. 1893. (10 P.R. 1884, 44 P.R. 1892, R.) [Cited, 3 P.R. 1903=39 P.L.R. 1903.]

(181)—Non-proprietor—Right by vicinage—Onus.—Where a non-proprietary resident claims pre-emption of a house in the abadi on the ground of vicinage, he must prove affirmatively that he is so entitled by custom. FAKIR CHAND v. SANGAT SINGH, 85 P.R. 1893.

(182)—Land owners in patti and in thulla—Sub-divisions of a village.—Where a patti of a village is sub-divided into thullas, a thulla may be a sub-division of the village within the meaning of s. 12 (d) of Punjab Laws Act. SUDDA v. MAJJA SINGH, 76 P.R. 1894.

(183)—Size of property, nothing to do with right of pre-emption—Change of tawda into Katra or Serai—No plea.—The mere largeness in size of property in dispute or the smallness of the property owned by the plaintiff is not of itself a ground for refusing the right of pre-emption. In a suit for pre-emption, the plea that the property though originally tawda having a right of pre-emption attached to it has now been changed into Katra or Serai to which the right did not attach cannot prevail unless it is proved that there has been structural alteration to change it to a Katra and prolonged unmistakeable user of it as such. MUSSAMMAT NUR JAHAN v. AZIZ-UD-DIN, 108 P.R. 1895. [R., 2 P.R. 1903=53 P.L.R. 1903, 32 P.R. 1909, 120 P.R. 1906, 21 P.R. 1907, 96 P.R. 1910, 111 P.R. 1906.]

(184)—Construction of deed—Onus—Duty of Court.—Where a plaintiff sues for pre-emption on the ground that the transaction though a mortgage in form was in reality a sale, the Court must decide its real nature with all the available materials, and the onus of proving its real nature lies upon the plaintiff who must prove beyond any reasonable doubt that the transaction was intended to be other than what it purports to be. The circumstance that the conditions of the mortgage are so onerous as to exclude any possibility of redemption does not raise any presumption in plaintiff's favour. JAGDISH v. MAN SINGH, 100 P.R. 1895. [R., 78 P.R. 1904, 19 P.R. 1905=78 P.L.R. 1905; D., 145 P.R. 1906.]

(185)—“Shikmiwa Jaddi”—Proof by plaintiffs—Relationship.—Under the provisions of

Pre-emption—continued.— 6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

wajib-ul-arz of a village, “Shikmiwa jaddi” were entitled to pre-emption. The onus in such a case lies upon the plaintiffs to show that they were shikmi shariks as well as jaddis of the vendor. Persons related to the vendor and descended from a common ancestor, the land being ancestral, have a preferential right of pre-emption to other land owners in the village but not related to him. MOULVI ILAHI BAKSH v. KAKI, 87 P.R. 1895. [R., 12 P.R. 1908; F., 89 P.R. 1905, 44 P.R. 1900.]

(186)—Purchase by persons with equal and inferior rights of pre-emption—Suit by pre-emptor.—Where certain vendees with rights of pre-emption equal to the plaintiff's right joined with themselves certain others having inferior rights in purchasing an undivided share of a village, held that the Punjab Laws Act 1872, recognises no equal or superior rights in a pre-emptor joining with a stranger in a joint sale, the plaintiff's right was superior to that of the vendees collectively. A sale of an undivided share in which the only specification is as regards the proportions in which the general vendees should be regarded as joint owners is bad in its entirety. MURAD v. MINE KHAN, 94 P.R. 1895. [R., 7 O.C. 22, 6 P.R. 1909=7 P.W.R. 1909; F., 48 P.R. 1907, 100 P.R. 1900.]

(187)—Persons entitled to enforce a pre-emption—Widow—Reversioners—Motive immaterial.—The person who can exercise the rights of pre-emption is the holder of the land for the time being even if that person be a widow with a life-interest. The motives which may actuate a plaintiff to claim pre-emption are immaterial. AHSANULLA v. JOWAHIR LAL, 87 P.R. 1896. [Cited, 10 P.R. 1902=172 P.L.R. 1901.]

(188)—S. 12, Punjab Laws Act, 1872—Object of “Village Community” in s. 10.—Meaning of s. 12 of Punjab Laws Act applies to the whole village as well as to parts of them. Its object is to declare the precedence of pre-emptors inter se and not in any way to restrict their right to the pre-emption of the sales of parts of, and shares in, villages. The word “village community” in s. 10 not only includes members of the proprietary body but also those dwelling within the village limits and whose rights and duties are as clearly defined as those of the proprietors. In such a community, the right of pre-emption can be exercised by all the members referred to in s. 12 of Punjab Laws Act. HIRA LAL v. KHUDA BAKSH, 27 P.R. 1897. [R., 21 P.R. 1906.]

(189)—Notice of proposal to sell to pre-emptor—Right of pre-emptor—Effect of notice.—An owner of land gave notice to the pre-emptor of his intention to sell at a certain price. The pre-emptor refused to accept it at that price but tendered a price which he considered to be the market value. On this tender being rejected by the owner he brought a suit to enforce a sale at the value tendered by him. Held, no suit would lie, as there was no complete sale but merely a proposal liable to be revoked by the proposer at any time before acceptance. The effect of a notice of an owner's intention to sell is to reduce the period of limitation or to extinguish the pre-emptor's right if he refuses to buy at the stated price fixed in good faith but not to deprive himself of his right to realise for his property any price which the vendee is prepared in good faith to pay. DEWAN CHAND V. GHULAM HUSSAIN, 30 P. R. 1897.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(190)—Kinds of vicinage—Burden of proof.—Though vicinage confers a right of pre-emption there are different kinds of vicinage, one being superior to the other. A plaintiff who asserts that he has a superior vicinage, must prove his claim or allegation and the burden will in no way be shifted because the plaintiff denies the defendant's claim while the defendant admits the plaintiff's right but denies his superior right. NAWAB MUHAMMAD MUMTAZ ALI V. KHAN ALI, 36 P. R. 1897. [R., 47 P. R. 1907, 67 P. R. 1906; Cited, 43 P. R. 1903=92 P. L. R. 1903, 44 P. R. 1903=75 P. L. R. 1903, 17 P. R. 1903; D., 109 P. R. 1900.]

(191)—Saini and Jat proprietors—Sub-divisions—S. 12, P. L. Act.—Saini and Jat proprietors do not represent two distinct pattis or recognised sub-divisions within the meaning of s. 12, Punjab Laws Act, clauses (b) (c) & (d) of s. 12 in Punjab Laws Act, explained. BIJA V. BISHEN SINGH, 45 P. R. 1897.

(192)—Sale of adna rights to ala proprietor taluqdar—Claim of adna proprietor of another patti.—In cases of pre-emption for adna right in the patti, an adna proprietor of another patti will be preferred to a taluqdar whose sole interest in the village is the percentage on the income fixed as his due in the Settlement record. SETH LAKSHMI CHAND V. NAWAB HAFIZ MUHAMMAD, 72 P. R. 1897. [D., 40 P. R. 1904.]

(193)—Agreement to sell—Pre-emption—S. 51, T. P. Act, 1882.—A claim for pre-emption will not lie where there is only a contract to sell and not a sale. Under s. 51 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, a contract for sale of immoveable property does not of itself create any interest in or charge upon such property. SHANKER DAS V. KAILASH CHANDER, 65 P. R. 1898.

(194)—Sale to two co-sharers and a stranger—Subsequent acquisition of stranger's right by a third—Suit for pre-emption by a fourth.—Where two co-sharers and a stranger jointly purchased a property and the stranger's share was subsequently acquired by a third co-sharer a fourth co-sharer cannot succeed in a suit for pre-emption on the ground that at one stage a stranger had a share in the bargain and therefore the right of the three persons was vitiated. MUGHAL V. JALAL, 69 P. R. 1898. [R., 12 O. C. 229, 94 P. R. 1904=103 P. L. R. 1904; D., 111 P. R. 1901=18 P. L. R. 1902; Rel. on, 91 P. R. 1909.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(195)—Parties with equal rights—One of them purchasing from the vendee—Whether liable to be defeated by the other with equal rights.—Where one of two persons having equal rights of pre-emption manages to purchase the property from the vendee himself, and thus asserts his pre-emptive title, his bargain will be secured to him as against any one not having a superior right of pre-emption. MAHTAB-UD-DIN V. KARAM ILAHI, 73 P. R. 1898. [R., 5 N. L. R. 136, 12 O. C. 229, 26 P. R. 1908, 90 P. R. 1909, 91 P. R. 1909, 124 P. R. 1907=48 P. W. R. 1907=3 P. L. R. 1907; D., 43 P. R. 1903=92 P. L. R. 1903.]

(196)—Mortgage—Allegation that it is a sale—Ss. 92, 99, Indian Evidence Act, 1872.—In a case of pre-emption in which it is alleged that an alleged mortgage was really a sale, ss. 92 and 99 do not in any way prohibit the right of a third party to show that the contract in writing is not a real contract between them. It is not necessary in such cases that the deed should contain onerous conditions as the parties will be careful to conceal the real nature of the transaction, and as such conditions may betray their secret understanding. PARMANAND V. AIRAPAT RAM, 20 P. R. 1899. [R., 19 P. R. 1905=78 P. L. R. 1905; Rel. on, 145 P. R. 1906; Diss., 78 P. R. 1904.]

(197)—"Question of law"—Question of custom raised in appeal—Construction of document.—Where a deed on the face of it purports to be a mortgage and it is alleged that the transaction is really a sale the question that arises is not one of construction of the deed but an inference to be drawn from the deed and other materials as regards the intention of the parties to the transfer and this is a question of fact and not of law. A plea that a customary right of pre-emption attached to mortgages cannot be raised for the first time in appeal when it is opposed to the allegations in the plaint and the pleadings in the lower Court. BUDHA MAL V. GULAB, 36 P. R. 1899.

(198)—Pre-emption—Suit by a female holding land given to her by her father by way of gift—Shikmi sharik.—In this case the plaintiff was a married woman of the Arain caste of Lahore District, holding land granted to her by her father by way of gift, against the vendor who was her real brother. Held that her claim could not be enforced; a married woman holding land in virtue of a gift cannot exercise the rights of an ordinary full proprietor, so as to claim a right of pre-emption on the ground of being shikmi shikan and yak judde. MUSSAMMAT BEGAM V. KADIR BAKHSI, 13 P. L. R. 1900, Notes of judgments.

(199)—Co-sharer in a well—Preferential right—Major portion of land divided—The remainder whether joint property.—The mere fact that the plaintiff is a co-sharer in the well from which land in dispute is irrigated, is no ground for his claiming any superior right of pre-emption. Where land is divided as far as possible the remaining joint portion is a mere appendage or adjunct not coming under the meaning of "joint immoveable property" within the meaning of s. 12, Punjab Laws Act. SHAHU v. HAKU, 44 P.R. 1900. (87 P.R. 1895. 131 P.R. 1893, F.) [F., 89 P.R. 1905.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre empt—continued.

(200)—Son whether a co-sharer—Purchase by two brothers, one only having a right—S. 12, Punjab Laws Act, 1872.—A son as such is not a co sharer of his father within the meaning of s. 12, Punjab Laws Act, 1872. One brother joining with himself in a purchase another brother having no right of pre-emption places himself in no better position than the other. RUKAN DIN v. ILAM DIN, 100 P.R. 1900. (82 P.R. 1880, 10 P.R. 1884, 91 P.R. 1895, F.) [Cited, 133 P.R. 1907=84 P.W.R. 1907=88 P.L.R. 1908.]

(201)—Sameness of caste and neighbourhood—Degree of necessity for proof in cases of pre-emption.—In mohalla Bhaoran in Nakolar, there is no custom of pre-emption based on sameness of caste or vicinity. He who sets up such a custom must prove it. The right of pre-emption being a right of special kind having a tendency to transfer free disposition of property, must be clearly and unequivocally proved to exist before it can be enforced though considerations of equity, convenience, privacy, exclusion of strangers may under the principle of pre-emption. MELA RAM v. PREMA, 109 P.R. 1900. (83 P.R. 1888, 100 P.R. 1892, 17 P.R. 1895, 70 P.R. 1899, 56 P.R. 1885, 108 P.R. 1886, 17 P.R. 1889, R.; 68 P.R. 1890, 36 P.R. 1897, D.) [R., 71 P.R. 1905=129 P.L.R. 1905, 68 P.R. 1906, 47 P.R. 1907; F., 47 P.R. 1907; Cited, 17 P.R. 1903, 43 P.R. 1903=92 P.L.R. 1903.]

(202)—Pre-emption—Suit by a female holding land given to her by her father by way of gift—Shikmi Sarik.—In this case the plaintiff was a married woman of the Arain caste of Lahore District, holding land granted to her by her father by way of gift, against the vendor who was her real brother. Held, that her claim could not be enforced; a married woman holding land in virtue of a gift cannot exercise the rights of an ordinary full proprietor, so as to claim a right of pre-emption on the ground of being shikmi sharik and yak judde. MUSSAMMAT BEGAM v. KADIR BAKHSH, P.L.R. 1900, p. 184.

(203)—Pre-emption—Sale for a special object—Bona fide transaction.—Where land was bona fide sold for the purpose of erecting a dharamsala and the sale deed recited that the sale shall be set aside in case the purpose for which the land was sold, i.e., the erection of a dharamsala, was not carried out. Held, that the pre-emptor could not be allowed a decree for pre-emption. The Court observed "We are by no means prepared to say that if a vendee, especially anxious to secure certain property says your price is so much, but in order to obviate pre-emptive claim I am prepared bona fide to add a certain sum, and pay it bona fide as the price of any preference so that pre-emptive claims may be rendered less likely and actually does so, a pre-emptor would be entitled to oust the vendee for any less sum than that actually paid," and further "The right of pre-emption is one to be interpreted strictly. It is not one which gives a pre-emptor a right to force a transfer from a vendor on terms which are quite unacceptable to the vendor, and, in general, a pre-emptor must abide by the terms which have been bona fide offered to, and accepted by, the vendee who he wishes to oust. BALDEO DAS v. PIARE LAL, 27 P.L.R. 1901=24 P.R. 1901. [R., 109 P.R. 1901, 141 P.R. 1907=57 P.L.R. 1908=93 P.W.R. 1907; Not Appr., 33 P.R. 1910.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(204)—Pre-emption—Punjab Laws Act, 1872, s. 12—Punjab Tenancy Act, 1887, ss. 53, and 111—Sale of occupancy rights.—When the seller of occupancy rights is an old tenant who has full power of alienation under the wajib-ul-arz the operation of s. 53 of the Punjab Tenancy Act is excluded by s. 111, the entry in the wajib-ul-arz being tantamount to an agreement under s. 112. The last clause of s. 12 of the Punjab Laws Act only applies when s. 53 of the Tenancy Act is applicable, the first part being intended to save the rights of the landlord under the latter section. The rights of the two other classes only arise where the landlord refuses or neglects to exercise that right and on no other contingency. When the landlord cannot exercise the right, the rights of the other under the last clause of s. 12 of the Punjab Law Act do not come into existence or in other words, the whole clause is inoperative. The parties then are relegated to the position under the first part of s. 12, and possess rights of pre-emption in the order provided therein. SUNDAR MAL v. SAWAN SINGH, 146 P.L.R. 1901=87 P.R. 1901.

(205)—Pre-emption—Transfer of property in lieu of dower.—There is no right of pre-emption in respect of an ostensible sale of property by a husband to his wife in lieu of dower when the value of the property far exceeds the amount of dower the transaction being to a great extent a gift of the property transferred. MIR ZAMAN KHAN v. MUSSAMMAT GHULAM FATIMA, 145 P.L.R. 1901=88 P.R. 1901. (5 A. 65, Dist.) [R., 23 P.R. 1906; F., 86 P.R. 1902; Cited, 86 P.R. 1902.]

(206)—Pre-emption—Suit by the sister of the vendor—Shikmi Sharikhan and yak-jaddi—Arains of the Lahore District.—Held, that a married Arain woman, who has merely received a portion of her father's land as a gift, and not by succession, cannot be held to have a preferential right of pre-emption over another Arain proprietor in the village, on the ground that she comes within the term yak-jaddi shikmi sharikhan as regards her brother's property which that brother holds in right of succession. MUSSAMMAT BEGAM v. QADIR BAKHSI, 39 P.R. 1902.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(207)—Pre-emption—Right of re-purchase—Right of substitution.—The right of pre-emption is not a right of re-purchase, either from the vendor or from the vendee, involving any new contract of sale: But it is simply a right of substitution entitling the pre-emptor, by reason of a legal incident to which the sale itself was subject to stand in the shoes of the vendee in respect of all the rights and obligations arising from the sale under which he has derived his title. HAKAM SINGH v. INDAR, 49 P.L.R. 1902=46 P.R. 1902. [R., 25 P.R. 1908, 141 P.R. 1907=57 P.L.R. 1908=93 P.W.R. 1907, 106 P.R. 1907; Cited, 76 P.R. 1902=113 P.L.R. 1902.]

(208)—Custom—Pre-emption—Thoola Norsan, Panna Jaunpal, in Bhiwani, District Hissar, Punjab Laws Act, 1872, s. 11.—Found, that the custom of pre-emption was not proved to exist in Thoola Norsan, Panna Jaunpal in the town of Bhiwani. SIDHA v. PIRBHU LAL, 71 P.R. 1902. (16 P.R. 1902, R.)

(209)—Pre-emption—Assignment of immovable property by husband to wife in lieu of dower—Sale.—Held, that a transfer of immovable property by a husband to his wife in consideration of her dower must be regarded as a gift by the husband to the wife and not a sale subject to pre-emption. GHULAM RAZA v. SARDAR KHAN, 86 P.R. 1902. (88 P.R. 1901, F.)

(210)—Custom—Right to vicinage.—Case in which it was found that a right to pre-emption based on vicinage in Mohulla Mohilyan, a sub-division of the city of Lahore, was not established. GOKAL CHAND v. MOHAN LAL, 6 P.R. 1905=19 P.L.R. 1905. (189 P.R. 1882, 42 P.R. 1891, 3 P.R. 1893, 17 P.R. 1895, 83 P.R. 1901, 42 P.R. 1903, 44 P.R. 1903, 52 P.R. 1903, R.) [D., 6 P.R. 1907; R., 138 P.R. 1907.]

(211)—Sale by an agriculturist to an agriculturist—Right of pre-emption possessed by a co-sharer in the village but non-agriculturist—Effect of Punjab Alienation of Land Act on such right.—The plaintiffs were co-sharers in a land sold by the 1st defendant to the 2nd defendant, who was not a proprietor in the village in which the land was situated. Plaintiffs based their claim on the fact that the 2nd defendant was not a proprietor in the village. The defendants contended that they belonged to one of the agricultural tribes notified under the Punjab Alienation of Land Act and that, the plaintiffs not having belonged to any such tribe and not being agriculturists, were not competent to buy the property under the Act, though they were land-owners in the village. Held, reading together s. 3 (1), sub-s. 2 of the same section and s. 14 of the Punjab Alienation of Land Act, it was not competent for the 1st defendant who belonged to an agricultural tribe, to sell her land to the plaintiffs, non-agriculturists, without the Deputy Commissioner's sanction. If defendant could not sell, the result is the plaintiffs could not buy without such sanction not by virtue of any prohibition being imposed against their buying, but because of the sale to them being declared infructuous as a sale. The obligation to sell to the plaintiffs, which was imposed by the pre-emption law having been abrogated by the Alienation of Land Act, which prohibits such sale except on certain conditions which were not fulfilled in this case, the plaintiffs could not maintain the suit. PARMA NAND v. GHULAM FATIMA, 15 P.R. 1905=23 P.L.R. 1905. [F., 7 P.R. 1910.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(212)—Custom—Sale of occupancy and mukararidari rights—Right of co-sharer to pre-empt—Punjab Laws Act, s. 12.—Suit for pre-emption. Plaintiff was the brother and co-sharer of the vendor. The sale was of lands in two villages, P and D. The purchasers were recorded proprietors in village P, but not in village D. The price was fixed at a lump sum without distinction as to the amount charged on the land in each village separately. A part only of the holding in village P was held by the vendor and the plaintiff in occupancy right. In the remainder in that village and also in the village D, the status of the vendor and the plaintiff was that of mukararidars, a special tenure of the District of Rawalpindi. Held, as regards village P, that the sale having been made to the proprietors of the holding, who have a statutory right of purchase under chapter V of the Tenancy Act, cannot be contested in respect of the occupancy land by a co-sharer in the tenancy; while for the mukararidari portion, according to the custom proved in the case, the landlord has the first right of pre-emption. Plaintiff, therefore, failed as regards village P. Held, as regards village D, that plaintiff, having rights superior to that of an occupancy tenant, cannot, as a co-sharer with the vendor, be placed in a worse position than he would be under cl. (f) of s. 12 of the Punjab Laws Act read with last clause of that section and must be given a preferential right over outside vendees, who have no immediate connection with the holding. Plaintiff's claim was dismissed as far as it concerned village P and allowed as far as it concerned village D. GOUHRA v. HAR BHAI, 16 P. R. 1905=41 P.L.R. 1905. (10 P.R. 1896, Rev., R.)

(213)—Riwaj-i-am of Tuman Khosa—Right of pre-emption among collaterals—The nearer exclude the more remote.—The Riwaj-i-am of Tuman Khosa, where the land in dispute is situated, provided that the right of pre-emption first accrued to collaterals, then to sub-co-sharers, &c. In this case, the vendor, the vendee and the pre-emptors were all Hindus. It was contended for the defence that the Riwaj-i-am was not applicable to Hindus and that it was intended to apply only to Mahomedans. No custom excluding, from the provisions of the Riwaji-am, lands held by Hindus having been established, the contention was overruled. Plaintiffs were one degree more nearly related to the vendor than the vendee. Held, that, where collaterals have prior right of pre-emption, the nearer exclude the more remote. KHOTA v. ALU, 17 P.R. 1905 = 43 P.L.R. 1905. (58 P.R. 1885, 28 P.R. 1899, F.) [Overruled, 74 P.R. 1906.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(214)—Sale of shops in Darshani Darwazar in Amritsar.—Case in which it was held that a mortgage, which was alleged to be a sale in reality, was not proved. It was also held, in this case, that a custom as to pre-emption in respect of sale of shops on the ground of vicinage was not established, whether the subject of dispute in the case be held to be situated in Guru-ka-paza or Bazarmai-sewan or whether Darshani Darwaza be held to be a separate sub-division of Amritsar for purposes of s. 11 of the Punjab Laws Act. BISHEN SINGH v. MUSSAMMAT PARO, 19 P.R. 1905 = 78 P.L.R. 1905.

(215)—Custom — Sayads of Bal Sayadan, Rawalpindi District—Relations of vendor—Prior right to pre-empt.—Among the Saydas of Mauza Bal Sayadan in the Rawalpindi District, the first cousins of the vendor have, by custom, a right of pre-emption superior to that of a Khattee proprietor in the village. KARAM SHAH v. TARA SHAW, 87 P. R. 1905 = 43 P. L. R. 1906. (35 P. R. 1905, R.) [R., 44 P. R. 1907.]

(216)—Sale together of several properties—Right of pre-emption as to some only—Pre-emptor's right as to the others.—A pre-emptor cannot claim to acquire properties in respect of which he has no preferential right on the ground that they are included in the same bargain with lands as to which his right of pre-emption is undeniable. Of the properties comprised in the sale, he can only claim to acquire those over which he possesses the pre-emptor's preferential right of purchase. RAM RAKHA MAL v. DEVI DAS, 89 P. R. 1905. (87 P. R. 1895, 44 P. R. 1900, F.)

(217)—Sale by occupancy tenant of his mill on the site, right of pre-emption in favour of proprietor on.—The claim in this case was for possession by pre-emption of a watermill, on the sale of the same by its owner, who was an occupancy tenant on the site belonging to the claimant, a proprietor in the village. The vendee pleaded inter alia that the sale was of occupancy rights and there was no custom of pre-emption in regard to such rights and that, in any case, plaintiff's rights were not superior to his. The first Court held that the vendors had a transferable interest in the land, that both by law and by local custom, rights of pre-emption do arise in connection with the sales of mills (jandars) and of the occupancy rights, which the vendors enjoyed in the sites of the same, and that plaintiff was and the vendee was not a proprietor in the village and, therefore, plaintiff's right to purchase is the better one. The lower Appellate Court, however, dismissed the suit, accepting the appeal, holding that the property sold were the jandars and not the sites of the same and that no local custom has been proved to exist under which a right of pre-emption arises in connection with the sales of jandars. Held, reversing the decision of the lower appellate Court, upon the sale of the mill in question by its owner, a right of pre-emption must be presumed to arise, because the sale of the structure of the mill cannot be separated from the sale of the occupancy rights in the site. As regards the price to be paid, held, further that where the market value of the property sold is conspicuously below the price stated in the sale-deed and a large part of the consideration consists of old debts due to the vendee, the amount of the old debts cannot be taken to be the real value of that part of the consideration, such debts having to be valued as claims not as cash. HAIDER v. ISHWAR DAS, 22 P.R. 1906 = 115 P.L.R. 1906. (75 P.R. 1901, 77 P.R. 1901, R., 68 P. R. 1902, D.) [R., 27 P. R. 1907, 51 P.R. 1907.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(218)—Transfer of land for natural love and affection and for past services constitutes sale giving rise to the right of pre-emption.—A transfer of immovable property, where the transferor was the maternal uncle of the transferee and the consideration was found to be natural love and affection, past services, payment of part of a debt due by the transferor and a promise to pay the balance, was held to be a sale within s. 9 of the Punjab Laws Act so as to give rise to the right of pre-emption. The fact that part of the consideration was money paid and to be paid by the transferee for the use of the transferor, and the addition of past services and natural love and affection affects merely the question of the price at which the pre-emptor is to take. ALI BAKSH v. SOBHA SINGH, 23 P.R. 1906 = 107 P.L.R. 1906. (54 P. R. 1889, 188 P.R. 1889, 2 P.R. 1903, 11 A. 1, 23 M. 70, R.)

(219)—Sale of equity of redemption in favour of mortgage—Extinguishment of mortgage—Right of pre-emption is right of complete substitution.—In the absence of any intention to keep the mortgage security alive, the sale of equity of redemption to the mortgagee extinguishes the mortgage, and the person having right to claim property by right of pre-emption, on a sale of the property, is entitled to recover its possession on the sale of equity of redemption to the mortgage, when the intention to keep the mortgage-security alive is negatived. A right of pre-emption is not merely a right of re-purchase, but a right of complete substitution in the place of the vendee. A pre-emptor, by reason of pre-emptive right, is entitled not merely to have the sale transferred to him, but also to be vested with all benefits which legally flow from the sale. AHMAD SHAH v. WALIDAD KHAN, 83 P.L.R. 1906 = 98 P.R. 1906.

Pre-emption—continued.— 6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(220)—Right of, by reason of vicinage, with respect to mercantile property.—The point to be determined in this case was whether the custom of pre-emption obtained with respect to the property in question, which was essentially a block of shops or mercantile property on the whole. Held, it is a well recognised rule that, in the absence of a special custom to the contrary pre-emption does not extend to shops. (17 P. R. 1895, 58 P. R. 1900, F., 64 P. R. 1887, 108 P. R. 1895, 2 P. R. 1903, R.) and, the plaintiff, in this case, not having proved any special custom, the property in question, which was mercantile property on the whole, must be held to be not subject to pre-emption. The fact that some portion of the property consisted of residential quarters could not make any difference in the mercantile nature of it as a whole. BAGWAN v. HAR PRASAD, 111 P.R. 1906.

(221)—By right of vicinage, in respect of house property, whether obtains in Delhi—Pre-emption Act, 1905, s. 6.—The question really in issue between the parties to this suit was whether or not a custom to pre-empt by right of vicinage prevailed in Kucha Aqual Khan, Delhi, where the house in question was situate. Held, the plaintiff having succeeded in proving that the custom obtains generally in Delhi, he was entitled to claim that he has shown it to exist in the particular locality within Delhi, and, also, on a review of authorities and precedents, it was clear that such a custom obtained very generally in the City of Delhi, a Muhammadan City of Muhammadan origin. Held, further, that, for proving the existence of a custom of pre-emption within any specified area forming a sub-division, within the meaning of s. 6 of the Pre-emption Act of 1905, instances of its exercise within that area must be produced, but instances in other neighbouring sub-divisions, and in the city including the area are relevant and useful to strengthen the evidence of the existence of such custom. ABDULLA BEG v. WALAITI BEGUM, 120 P.R. 1906 = 55 P.L.R. 1907. (81 P.R. 1906, 64 P.R. 1887, 17 P.R. 1903, 108 P.R. 1895, R., 68 P.R. 1879, 21 P.R. 1900, D.) [R., 2 P. R. 1908, 35 P.R. 1908, 116 P.R. 1908.]

(222)—Sale by joint owner of his share—Subsequent "mortgage" of the remaining property by the other joint owner—Mortgage really a sale—Whether latter joint owner has right to pre-emption.—Where two persons were equal joint owners of a certain property, and one of them sold his share and, subsequently, the other alienated his share, under a transaction, which was alleged to be a mortgage, but was in reality a sale, and there were no circumstances contemplating redemption, the latter joint owner cannot afterwards sue the former for pre-emption, as the plaintiff (latter) is no longer a co-sharer at the date of suit. ANWAR HASAN v. UMATUL KARIM, 145 P.R. 1906 = 109 P.L.R. 1907. (100 P.R. 1895, 78 P.R. 1904, D.)

Pre-emption—continued.— 6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(223)—Simultaneous sale of two adjoining houses—Right of pre-emptor and vendee.—A purchase by a person of one of two adjoining houses cannot give him a right of pre-emption as regards the simultaneously purchased other house. Nor can he defeat the right of pre-emption of the next door neighbour of the second house. A person whose right of pre-emption extends over only a part of the property, which is a distinct part, could obtain a decree for that part. UTTAM CHAND v. LAHORI MAL, 112 P.R. 1907 = 75 P.W.R. 1907. [Appr., 90 P.R. 1909.]

(224)—Cause of action accruing in father's life-time—Son's right to claim on death of father—Voluntary transfers—Right of pre-emption over property previously sold.—A right to sue for pre-emption, which had accrued to a person in his life-time, passes, at his death, to his successors, on their inheriting his land. But a voluntary transfer will not pass a right of pre-emption as regards property previously sold. FAQIR ALI SHAH v. RAM KISHEN, 133 P.R. 1907, F.B. = 81 P.W.R. 1907 = 88 P.L.R. 1908. (49 P.R. 1901, 95 P.R. 1901, 7 A. 535, R.) [R., 91 P.R. 1909.]

(225.—Sale of agricultural land prior to 11th May, 1905—Right of vendee superior under the old Act but inferior under the new Act of pre-emption—Priorities under both Acts—Act IV of 1872, ss. 12 and 14—Act II of 1905, ss. 2, 3, 4, 11, 12 and 18—General Clauses Act, I of 1898, s. 4 (c).—On the 12th December, 1904, vendor, a Mahajan and not agriculturist, sold his half share in a joint khata to his first cousin. The new Pre-emption Act II of 1905 came into force on 11th May, 1905. The pre-emption suit was instituted on 16th March, 1906. Held by a majority of two Judges of the Full Bench of three, that the priorities given by s. 12 of the Punjab Pre-emption Act II of 1905 are applicable to a claim to the right of pre-emption with reference to a sale executed before the commencement of the Act. (22 P.R. 1908, 30 P.R. 1907, F.; 95 P.R. 1901, 32 P.R. 1902, 44 P.R. 1903, 87 P.R. 1906, 7 A. 535, F.B. 21 A. 374, R.) Held, also, that where the vendee had a superior right of pre-emption under the Punjab Laws Act IV of 1872, to the pre-emptor, the saving clause of s. 2(3) of Act II of 1905 protects him against that pre-emptor who has superior rights under the Act of 1905. SURTA v. FATEH CHAND, 18 P.W.R. 1908, F.B. = 17 P.R. 1908 = 153 P.L.R. 1908. [R., 74 P.R. 1909, Cited, 90 P.R. 1908.]

(226)—Pre-emptor entitled to purchase entire property—Right of such pre-emptor to purchase part of it—Plaint—Amendment—S. 13, Punjab Pre-emption Act.—Where a pre-emptor, having a right to purchase the entire property liable to pre-emption and being entitled to pre-empt under more than one clause of s. 13, Punjab Pre-emption Act, sues for pre-emption of property falling under one clause and omits to sue for other property falling under a different clause but included in the same sale, he offends against the vital canon of pre-emption law, which prescribes that he must acquire the entire bargain as far as his right extends, and he consequently loses his rights altogether. If, in such a case, in spite of the defendant's plea to the contrary that the plaintiff had not sued for all that he was entitled to pre-empt, he persists in his suit as laid, he cannot claim amendment of his plaint. BANARSI DAS v. HAJI ABDUL GHANI, 10 P.R. 1909=24 P.L.R. 1909=1 Ind. Cas. 397. (6 A. 423, 11 A. 108, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.

—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(227)—Custom—Pre-emption—Right by reason of relationship—(Act IV of 1872), s. 12 (a)—Punjab Pre-emption Act (II of 1905), ss. 28, 29—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), sch. II, arts. 10, 120.—The plaintiffs brought 15 suits of pre-emption on 18th April 1906 and claimed preferential right of pre-emption by reason of their relationship to the vendor. The sales, it was alleged, took place in all cases save one in December 1900, when mutation of names was effected in favour of the vendees. In one case mutation was not effected till February 1903. It was pleaded that the plaintiffs had no preferential right, and if they had, the suits were barred by limitation. Held, that the right of the plaintiffs, who were remote collaterals of the vendors, (9 to 11 degrees removed) to inherit the property within the meaning of s. 12 (a) of the Punjab Laws Act, must be enquired into. Held, also, that, as the plaintiffs had a right to sue before the commencement of the Punjab Pre-emption Act, 1905, within the meaning of s. 28, their suits could not be held time-barred under s. 29. The orders of mutation were passed in December 1900 and February 1903, but there was no finding whether the sales were effected at an earlier date. If the sales were effected before 11th May, 1899, that is, more than six years before the Pre-emption Act came into force, the suits had become time barred under art 120. Limitation Act, and plaintiffs could not avail themselves of the special extension of time for one year given by s. 28 of the Act. GUL MOHAMMAD v. SARDAR FAQUIR MUHAMMAD KHAN, 98 P.L.R. 1909=91 P.W.R. 1909. (143 P.R. 1907=135 P.L.R. 1908, F.; 22 P.R. 1903=122 P.L.R. 1903, Not F.; 17 P.R. 1903, F.B., 153 P.L.R. 1903, F.B., R.)

(228)—Pre-emption—Vendee acquiring equal status subsequent to the institution of the suit by the pre-emptor, but prior to the pre-emption decree, ineffectual.—Held, by the Full Bench (Rattigan, J., dissenting):—In a suit for pre-emption, based on the ground that at the date of sale the plaintiff pre-emptor was a proprietor in the village in which the property is situate, and the vendee was not, the vendee cannot, by becoming a proprietor in that village whether by gift or otherwise, after the date of the institution of the suit, but before the passing of the pre-emption decree, defeat the plaintiff's claim. (90 P.R. 1909, F.B., F.; 124 P.R. 1907, Diss.) Per Rattigan, J.—It is essential for a claimant for pre-emption to show that he possesses the right, to which he lays claim, up to the date of the decree. (25 A. 121, 26 A. 389, 124 P.R. 1907, F.) The following propositions are well established: (1) That the right of pre-emption is a right of a most exceptional and burdensome nature, and that, as it infringes upon the owner's ordinary rights of dealing with his property, it should not be decreed unless and until the claimant has conclusively established his right thereto; (2) that this so called right is not a right in property (jus in re aliena), but merely a right to acquire property in certain defined circumstances (jus ad rem acquirendum) (136 P.R. 1894, 95 P.R. 1901, 94 P.R. 1902, R.); (3) that the claimant for pre-emption has no right, title or interest in the property sought to be pre-empted, until he pays the amount which the Court decrees to be payable by him for its purchase. (4) That, at any time prior to decree, the claimant for pre-emption may lose his so-called right of pre-emption, either because he has himself parted with the property by reason of the possession of which he claimed that right, or because the original vendee has transferred the property claimed to a person, who has rights of pre-emption in respect thereof either equal to or superior to those of the claimant. (49 P.R. 1901, 95 P.R. 1901, 32 P.R. 1902, 26 P.R. 1908, R.) (5) That the right of pre-emption is in reality a right which the claimant has to substitute himself for the original vendee, and (6) that the right of pre-emption is a right to acquire property in preference to another person (S. 4, Punjab Pre-emption Act, 1905). DHANNA SINGH v. GURBAKSH SINGH, 91 P.R. 1909, F.B.

Pre-emption—continued.

—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(229)—Exchange of land, pending suit—Right of pre-emption possessed by person making the exchange, barred—Invalidity of exchange—Lis pendens.—A sold land to B. K. sued to pre-empt on 20th January, 1908. On 1-2-1908, C took the land in dispute in exchange for other land. C was impleaded as a defendant in K's suit. C had in himself a right of pre-emption superior to that of K, but allowed it to become barred even before he had taken the land in exchange. Held, that, under the circumstances, C's exchange was a voluntary one, and not a transaction in which he was seeking to enforce his right of pre-emption (76 P.R. 1898, Civ. D.) and that the exchange was invalid as offending the rule of Lis pendens. KARAM ALI v. SULTAN, 30 P.R. 1911.

(230)—Custom—Pre-emption—Houses—Towns Mohalla Acharjan in Gumti Bazar, Lahore City.—Held, that the plaintiff had failed to prove that the custom of pre-emption prevailed in Mohalla Acharjan which is part of the recognised sub-division of Bazar Gumti in

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

Lahore City. Held, also, that cases, in which vendees admit the existence of the custom of pre-emption, are as valuable as cases in which the Court finds the existence of the custom established. But between such cases and these cases in which the vendee, after denying the existence of the custom, eventually is induced to come to terms with the pre-emptor and to compromise the dispute, there is a very substantial distinction. MUSSAMMAT DURGA DEVI v. RAMZAN, 127 P.L.R. 1911.

(231)—Lis pendens—A person having equal or superior right to pre-emptor buying property during pendency of suit—Application of the doctrine of lis pendens—Punjab Pre-emption Act (II of 1905), s. 14, application of.—The doctrine of lis pendens does not apply to a case where a person having an equal or superior right to a plaintiff pre-emptor asserts that right out of Court, while the plaintiff's claim is pending in Court and the vendee-defendant resells the property to the former by a private sale in recognition of that right. S. 14 of the Punjab Pre-emption Act applies only to cases in which several pre-emptors in respect of one particular case are found by the Court to be equally entitled to the right of pre-emption. It does not apply to a case in which a pre-emptor is claiming to enforce his right of pre-emption by suit against an original vendee or a second vendee who has an equal right of pre-emption with such pre-emptor. A sold some land to B on 12th June 1906. B sold it to C on 17th June 1907. On 9th June 1908 D sued to pre-empt in sale in favour of C; on 11th June 1908 C resold the land to A in recognition of A's right of pre-emption. A and D had equal rights to pre-empt the sale to C. A was impleaded as defendant in D's suit. Held, (1) that, as A's right of pre-emption existed prior to the institution of D's suit, and as the resale in A's favour was effected in recognition of that right, the rule of lis pendens had no application (26 P.R. 1908 = 145 P.L.R. 1908, 7 P.R. 1910 = 49 P.L.R. 1910 = 5 Ind. Cas. 249, F.; 30 A. 467, Not F.) (2) That, as there was only one pre-emptor D before the Court, s. 14 of the Pre-emption Act did not apply. SUNDER SINGH v. SAJJAN SINGH, 164 P.L.R. 1911.

(232) — Village community, meaning of—Inhabited sites not necessary for existence of village community—Oudh Laws Act, ss. 7 and 8.—Per Piggott, A.J.C.—Held, that a village community under the Oudh Laws Act consists of the whole body of persons possessing rights as proprietors, under-proprietors or heritable lessees in the village lands, and that the existence of an inhabited site in the village is not necessary to the establishment thereof. Held further, that the exclusion laid down in s. 8 of the Oudh Laws Act applies to the situation of lands and not to the residence of the village community. Per Chamier, J.C.—Held, that all persons who have an interest in the village estates whether as proprietors or under-proprietors are members of the village community.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

Held further, that the existence of an inhabited site is not necessary for the establishment of a village community. Per Evans, A.J.C.—Held, that a village community presupposes the existence of some body of persons bound together by a tie of residence in the village. There can be no village community where not a single member of the community resides on the land with respect to which the right of pre-emption is claimed. Held also, that ss. 7 and 8 of the Oudh Laws Act are not exhaustive of all areas of land. RAM DAYAL v. CHAUDHRI MUHAMMAD ABDUL BASIT, 12 O.C. 1 = Ind. Cas. 7. (7 O.C. 74, 7 O.C. 275, 30, C. 635, 5 O.C. 266, R.) [F. & R., 13 O.C. 202.]

(233)—Right of pre-emption in grove when a seller has neither a proprietary nor under-proprietary interest in the land thereof—Act XVIII of 1876 (Oudh Laws Act).—A right of pre-emption, under the Oudh Laws Act, can be claimed only by a member of the proprietary or under proprietary body or by one of the holders of a heritable non-transferable lease: Held that a sale of his rights by one of the joint owners of scattered trees or of a grove (when the seller has neither a proprietary nor under-proprietary interest in the land thereof) does not give rise to a right of pre-emption under the Oudh Laws Act. RAMESHUR BAKHSH v. BAKHTA, 1 O.C. 284. [Cons., 4 O.C. 26; R., 13 O.C. 202.]

(234) — Mortgage, redemption of which unlikely—Sale.—In a suit for pre-emption the contention of the plaintiff was, that the mortgage of the property in suit executed by the mortgagors in favour of the mortgagees was intended to be a sale, but had been put in the form of a mortgage to defeat claims for pre-emption. The deed provided that the mortgage was not redeemable for 55 years, and then only if the mortgagors, on the expiration of the 54 years, gave notice in writing to the mortgagees of their desire to redeem, and, on the very day the term of 55 years expired, paid the mortgage money, and that if the mortgagors failed to give such notice, or, if having given such notice, they failed to pay the mortgage-money on such day, the mortgagors would not be entitled to redeem for a further term of 55 years. Held, that the fact, that the terms of the mortgage were such that redemption would be unlikely, could not alter the real nature of the transaction and convert what was, and what was intended to be, a mortgage, though one of which redemption was most unlikely, into a sale; and therefore the plaintiff's suit was not maintainable. DHAN SINGH v. BODH SINGH, 3 O.C. 213. [R., 9 O.C. 169.]

(235)—Fictitious sale-deed.—In a suit for pre-emption of an under-proprietary holding by the proprietor of the village, the finding of the Court of first appeal was that the deed of sale by the vendor passed no title to the vendee. Held, that the suit was not maintainable. MOHAMMAD IHTISHAM ALI v. MUSAMMAT MADHA, 3 O.C. 260.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(236)—Limited ownership.—Where a woman is in possession of a share in a village and can remain so only so long as she observes certain conditions, such possession does not give her such an interest in the share as to entitle her to enforce the right of pre-emption on the sale of another share of the village. BIBAN v. GOURI SHANKER, 3 O.C. 306.

(237)—Pre-emption, suit for—Hiba-bil-ewaz—Sale—Oudh Laws Act, (XVIII of 1876), chap. ii.—Held, that a hiba-bil-ewaz, when it purports to be a genuine exchange, is not a sale within the meaning given to the latter word in Act XVIII of 1876 and confers no right of pre-emption. RAJ KISHORE v. RAGHU NATH PERSHAD, 4 O.C. 169.

(238)—Pre-emption—Rival pre-emptors, suits between—Conditional decree for pre-emption to claimant with inferior rights—Pre-emption of part of property sold—wife, position of, in the order of relationship—Act XVIII of 1876, s. 9—Suit for immoveable property situate in different districts—Cause of action—Jurisdiction—Civil Procedure Code, s. 19.—Z and his wife executed two deeds of sale of certain villages in Kheri and Hardoi districts for certain sums of money. The plaintiff No. 1, cousin, and plaintiff No. 2, another wife of Z brought separate suits for pre-emption in the Court of the Subordinate Judge of Hardoi. The Subordinate Judge found that neither plaintiff was a co-sharer in the village in Hardoi district, but that he had jurisdiction to try the suits as to the land in Kheri under s. 19, Civil Procedure Code, as part of the property, the subject of the subject of the suit, was in the Hardoi district. He also found that plaintiffs were entitled to pre-empt the lands in the Hardoi district also, because they were included in the same deeds of sale, with lump sums as consideration, as the lands in the Kheri district, over which plaintiffs had pre-emptive rights. He also found that plaintiff No. 2 was not nearer in relationship to Z (within the meaning of s. 9, Act XVIII of 1876), than plaintiff No. 1. He gave plaintiff No. 1 a decree for pre-emption for all the lands specified in each deed on payment of the sums stated therein within a certain period. He gave a similar decree to plaintiff No. 2 to be operative only in the event of plaintiff No. 1 making default in payment within the stipulated time. Held, that the Subordinate Judge had jurisdiction to try the suits notwithstanding the finding that the plaintiffs had no pre-emptive rights in the land in the Hardoi district. His jurisdiction did not depend upon his finding as to the existence or otherwise of any of the causes of action stated in the plaint, but on the allegation made in the plaint as to the causes of action and subject matter of the suit. There must be prima facie a cause of action common to the portions of the property, the subject matter of the suit in both districts (or all the districts); the mere assertion of a claim respecting property in the district selected as the venue would not suffice, unless the claim arise out of the same cause of action (or cognate one which could legally be joined with it, as the claim to the property in the other district (or districts). Held that, when the plaintiff has a right of pre-emption as to a part only of the property conveyed by a deed, he can only obtain a decree for pre-emption of that part; but, when the consideration for the whole is a lump sum, he is entitled to such decree on payment of a proportionate part of the consideration. Held further, that plaintiff No. 2 as wife of one vendor and co-wife of the other did not come within the "order of relationship" referred to in s. 9, Act XVIII of 1876, which relates to consanguinity from a common stock. Held further, that in suits between rival pre-emptors the claimant with inferior right should be granted a decree conditional on the claimant with superior right failing to avail himself of his decree. KARAM HUSSAIN v. RAGHUBAR DAYAL, 4 O.C. 397. [R., 7 O.C. 6.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(239) — Pre-emption — Act XVIII of 1876 (Oudh Laws Act), chap. ii, ss. 7 and 9, cl. (3) — "Member of the village community" — Under-proprietor — "Hard case circular", decree for land passed under an under-proprietary decree — Financial Commissioner's Book Circular No. 4 of 1867.—The property to which a suit for pre-emption related was a mahal called patti sabal shah, and formed part of the estate of Ramnagar, which was under the superintendence of the Court of Wards. The Court of Wards sold the patti to R. The plaintiff sued the seller and the purchaser to enforce his right of pre-emption. The two points in dispute were, first, whether the land in the mahal owned by the plaintiff was owned by him as a proprietor or as an under proprietor; and secondly, whether, if the land was owned by him as an under-proprietor, he had a right of pre-emption. The land came into the possession of the plaintiff's predecessor in title in the following manner. He sued the proprietor of the Ramnagar estate for a sub-settlement of the village of which patti sabal shah formed part. The settlement Officer dismissed the suit but passed a decree in his favour for land yielding a profit of one-tenth of the nikasi of the patti. He appealed and the final order passed by the Financial Commissioner was: "There are no grounds for a second appeal in this case; but 15 per cent. sir rent-free under the 'Hard Case Rules' is decreed, etc." The predecessor in title of the plaintiff accordingly obtained the land now owned by the plaintiff. Held (per Spankie A.J.C. and Scott J.C.), that when under the 'Hard Case Circular' (the Financial Commissioner's Book Circular, No. 4 of 1867) sir-land was awarded the person to whom it was awarded acquired the same as an under-proprietor, and not as a proprietor, and that the plaintiff therefore owned the land in question as an under-proprietor and not as proprietor. Held, (per Spankie, A.J.C.) that the property sold being a proprietary tenure, the plaintiff was not, by reason that he had under-proprietary right in the mahal, a member of the village community within the meaning of cl. (3), s. 9, Act, XVIII of 1876, and was not entitled to pre-emption in respect of the land in suit. Held, (per Scott, J.C.) that the plaintiff was a member of the village community and, as such, had a right of pre-emption in respect of the land in suit under clause (3) s. 9 of Act XVIII of 1876. On a reference being made by the Court under s. 9, Oudh Courts Act (XIV of 1891) as amended by Act XVI of 1897 to the High Court of Judicature, N.W.P. Held that, under clause (3) of s. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act, 1876, a person holding an under-proprietary interest in a portion of a mahal sold by the Court of Wards on behalf of the proprietor of the mahal was entitled to pre-emption in respect of such mahal as against the purchaser. DRIGBIJAI SINGH v. COURT OF WARDS, RAMNAGAR ESTATE, DISTRICT GONDA AND RAM RUP, 5 O.C. 266. [Diss., 7 O.C. 1; Not F., 7 O.C. 19; Expressed, 7 O.C. 206; Rel. on, 7 O.C. 275; R., 9 O.C. 271, 10 O.C. 49, 12 O.C. 1, 13 O.C. 202.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(240)—Pre-emption, Suit for—Relationship of vendee and vendor, plea of—Oudh Laws Act, s. 9.—In a suit for pre-emption the plaintiff alleged that she, the vendor and the vendee held shares in the same mahal and that she and the vendee were both equally entitled to pre-empt. The vendee-defendant's answer was that he was related to the vendor and the plaintiff was not, and that therefore he the vendee had a preferential right of pre-emption. The vendor was the widow of one R whose father was a first cousin of the vendee. Held, that the vendee had no preferential right to pre-empt as against the plaintiff. The kind of relationship contemplated by s. 9, Oudh Laws Act of 1876 is consanguinity from a common stock. MUSAMMAT JAFRI BEGAM v. MUSAMMAT GULAB KUAR, 7 O.C. 6.

(241)—Pre-emption, suit for—Co-sharers in a grove, position of, after partition—Member of village community not residing in the village in which he has rights in land—Oudh Laws Act s. 9 cl. (5).—The plaintiff, the defendants and other persons jointly owned a grove; but there was a partition and the plaintiff acquired a distinct and separate part of the grove, and the defendants did the same. The defendants sold their share whereupon the plaintiff brought a suit for pre-emption, and alleged in his plaint that he wanted his right of pre-emption enforced because he had a share in the grove and the defendants also had a share in it which they had sold. The plaintiff did not reside in the village in which the grove was situated. Held, that the plaintiff and the defendants were not co-sharers in the grove at the time of the sale, but that the plaintiff was a member of the village community within the meaning of s. 9, cl. (4) of the Oudh Laws Act although he did not reside in the village to which the grove in suit belonged, and that he was entitled to a decree on that ground. SYED RASHID-UD-DIN v. WALI JAN BEG, 7 O.C. 19. [R., 7 O.C. 275, 10 O.C. 225].

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(242)—Pre-emption, suit for—Sale to co-sharer and stranger with specification in the deed of each Vendee's share in property sold.—C sold his share in a village to R a co-sharer and S a stranger. The deed of sale stated that the property was sold for Rs. 600 to R and S in equal shares. The plaintiff a co-sharer in the village claimed pre-emption against R and S. Held, that the shares of the vendees were specified in the sale-deed and that therefore the plaintiff was not entitled to a decree for pre-emption against R who was a co-sharer. WAJID KHAN v. RATAN, 7 O.C. 22. [F., 10 O.C. 225.]

(243)—Pre-emption, suit for—Sale deed relinquishing claim to property in return for benefit previously received from transferee—Oudh Laws Act, 1876, Chapter II.—B mortgaged certain lands with possession to N, father of the defendant No. 1 in 1856 for a certain sum of money and after B's death, H his widow sold it to N in April 1864 for Rs. 1,574-7-9 receiving Rs. 1,135-3-9 in cash, the balance being deducted on account of the mortgage money. H died in April 1900 and in January 1901 the second defendant who was B's cousin and the next reversioner executed a deed in favour of the first defendant, relinquishing all claims to the property in return for some benefits which H and himself had received from N and the first defendant. The plaintiff sued the defendants for pre-emption on the allegation that the deed of 1901 amounted to a sale of the property within the meaning of Chapter II of the Oudh Laws Act, 1876. Held, that the deed of January 1901 did not amount to a deed of sale within the meaning of Chapter II of the Oudh Laws Act, 1876. KALKA SINGH v. KUNWAR GAJRAJ SINGH, 7 O.C. 31.

(244)—Pre-emption, suit for—Sons not separately recorded as co-sharers claiming pre-emption in respect of property sold by their father.—R and four other co-sharers sold a certain property to B, a stranger and the appellant claimed pre-emption. He filed his suit on the 5th February 1902 and on the 6th February the respondents, sons of R but not separately recorded as co-sharers, also filed a suit claiming pre-emption in respect of the same property. The respondents were accordingly added as defendants in the appellant's suit and the appellant was added as a defendant in their suit. Held, that the respondents could not be treated as co-sharers and had no right of pre-emption as against the appellant. If the sale was a valid one then any interest they had in the property before the sale was lost to them on the sale taking place and they had no subsisting title at the date of the institution of the suit; while if they denied that their father had power to transfer their interest they were precluded from claiming pre-emption. RAM DAYAL v. BHAIJU LAL, 7 O.C. 61.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(245)—Pre-emption, Suit for—Hindu widow's right of pre-emption in respect of property held as widow's estate as well as under a will executed by her husband.—The plaintiff who was the widow of one brought a suit for pre-emption in respect of her husband's share in a village. The sale in dispute took place on the 15th October 1901 and P died in July 1902. The plaintiff held not merely the widow's estate in the property of P but also as a devisee under the will executed by him. Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to a decree for pre-emption. MUSAMMAT MUNA KUER v. ABDHUT SINGH, 7 O.C. 158.

(246)—Pre-emption, Suit for—Proprietor in one mahal to pre-empt land in another mahal when there has been perfect partition, right of—Act XVIII of 1876, s. 9.—That having regard to the provisions of s. 9 of Act XVIII of 1876, where there has been a perfect partition in a village, a proprietor in one mahal has a right to pre-empt property in another mahal as against a person who has nothing to do with the village. ALI RAZA KHAN v. GANGA DIN, 7 O.C. 206. [R., 7 O.C. 275.]

(247)—Pre-emption, Suit for—Perfect partition—Right of owner of one mahal to pre-empt as against vendee of another mahal—Member of village community—Residence in village—Oudh Laws Act, 1876, s. 9.—A village was by perfect partition divided into four mahals. One of these mahals was the property of B and was placed under the management of the Court of Wards which sold it to the respondents. Thereupon the appellant who was the owner of another mahal brought a suit for pre-emption. It was conceded on behalf of the appellant that he had no right of pre-emption unless he was a "member of the village community" within the meaning of s. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act. It was also admitted that the appellant did not reside in the village. Held, that in the village in suit there was only one village community, perfect partition notwithstanding; that residence in the village is not a necessary qualification for membership of a village community for the purposes of s. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act; and that the appellant was a member of the village community within the meaning of that section. NARENDRA BHADUR SINGH v. BALKARAN SINGH, 7 O.C. 275. [R., 12 O.C. 1, 13 O.C. 202.]

(248)—Pre-emption, Suit for—Owner of separate chak in mahal, right of, to pre-empt—Co-sharer of mahal—Non-resident co sharer—Oudh Laws Act, 1876, s. 9—Oudh Revenue Act (XVII of 1876), ss. 108 and 112, 121.—In a suit for pre-emption, there was no question about the relationship of the plaintiff, and the only dispute was whether his connection with the village in suit was such as to give him the right of pre-emption. The material facts were that he was owner of a chak of 33 acres in the village, and, by the settlement under which he held, he paid his share of the revenue through the lambardars of the village; but he did not reside in the village. Held, that the plaintiff was a co-sharer of the whole mahal in the sense of s. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act, 1876; and that having regard to ss. 108, 112 and 121 of Act XVII of 1876 (Oudh Land Revenue Act), the fact that the share of the plaintiff in the mahal consisted of a separate chak but did not make him the less a co-sharer in the sense of this Act, and the circumstance of his being non-resident did not make any difference. MUNNU LAL v. MAULVI SAIYID MUHAMMAD ISMAIL, 7 O.C. 284. [Rel. on, 10 O.C. 86; R., 10 O.C. 225.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(249)—Pre-emption, Suit for—Extension of time for payment of price by Court of appeal—Application by appellant for extension of time for payment of price—Appeal.—A plaintiff in a pre-emption case cannot merely by filing an appeal obtain extension of the time fixed for payment of the price. A Court of appeal has power to extend the time, but in practice it does not do so except for some special reason. An appellant in a pre-emption case who wishes to have the time for payment of the price extended is not bound to put in a separate written application to that effect but may make the request at the hearing. RAM DIAL v. MUSAMMAT JAFRI BEGAM, 7 O.C. 359.

(250)—Right of—Creation and sale of birt tenures—Oudh Laws' Act, s. 7.—A sale-deed, purporting to create and convey a birt tenure, was executed by defendant No. 1 to defendant No. 2. The sale was subject to the payment, annually, by the latter to the former, of 8 annas. Plaintiff claimed a right of pre-emption. Defendant No. 2 contended that the transaction did not amount to a sale of a transferable right, and therefore could not give rise to a right of pre-emption. It was, however, conceded by him that this deed conferred on him a permanent heritable and transferable right in the land subject only to the payment, annually, of eight annas to the vendor. Held, that, within the meaning of s. 7 of the Oudh Laws' Act, the transaction was a sale, notwithstanding the use of the word birt, the mere use of which word does not necessarily convert the transaction into one other than what it purports to be (i.e.) a sale. (6 I.A. 145, P.C., R.) Held, also, that s. 7 of the Act, applies to transactions by which proprietors create transferable rights of occupancy in another for a consideration. RAM FAQIR v. SHEO RATAN, 8 O.C. 121. (43 P.R. 1892, R.)

(251)—Pre-emptor, right of—Decree passed in favour of the vendee, right to execute by the pre-emptor—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 273.—One S K, a Zemindar of a certain village, brought a suit against the appellants for possession of a house and land situate in the village alleging them to be trespassers. During the pendency of the suit, S K. sold the village to A and A's name was entered on the record in place of S K. The decree for possession of the house and land was passed in favour of A. Before execution of the decree, the respondent brought a suit for pre-emption against A and got a decree. He then applied for execution of the decree passed in favour of A. It was contended on behalf of the appellants that the respondent had no right to execute the decree. Held, that the respondent could execute the decree passed in favour of A inasmuch as a pre-emptor stands in the shoes of the vendee in respect of all the rights and obligations arising from the sale, under which he has derived his title, and by reason of the sale and the decree for pre-emption he is the representative in interest of the original vendor. RAM RATAN v. JUGRAJ, 8 O.C. 186. (7 A. 775, F.B., R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(252)—Auction purchaser, right of to pre-empt property sold to another person prior to confirmation of sale—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 316.—On the 20th March, 1902, the plaintiff purchased at public auction a share in a certain village. His sale was not confirmed till the 26th April, 1902. In the interval, on March 26th, 1902, the defendant, K, purchased the said share, whereupon, the plaintiff brought a suit for pre-emption. Held, that the plaintiff had not acquired a perfected title by the confirmation of his sale and the grant of a sale certificate at the time the property in dispute changed hands and therefore had no right of pre-emption. LALA GAYA PARSHAD v. MISRA SIDH GOPAL, 8 O.C. 202. [R., 10 O.C. 273.]

(253)—Sale, when complete—Limitation—Cause of action—Agreement to purchase—Conditional sale, effect of.—A sale-deed was executed in favour of the appellant on the 4th February, 1897. On the 16th March, 1897, an agreement was entered into between the appellant and the vendors to the effect that, if the purchase money was paid back till the 11th May, 1903, the vendors would be entitled to get back their property. The money was not paid up by vendors till the date fixed by the agreement. On the 26th April, 1904, the present suit was instituted for pre-emption within one year from the date of the expiration of the period fixed in the agreement of March, 1897. The defendant contended that the suit was barred by limitation. The first Court dismissed the suit but the lower appellate Court held that the right of pre-emption did not attach to a conditional sale until it was rendered absolute by the entire cessation of all the rights on the part of the vendors and as this suit was brought within a year from the 11th May, 1903, it was not barred by limitation. On second appeal, it was held that the suit was barred by limitation, the cause of action having arisen on the date of the sale. The effect of the agreement of March, 1897, was not to make the completed sale incomplete but only to add a condition that, up to a certain time, the deed of sale, if so chosen by the vendors, could be revoked. The plaintiff ought to have brought his suit for pre-emption within a year after the contract of sale dated 4th February, 1897, and would have then taken the property subject to the vendee's liability to restore it to the vendors if, till May, 1903, the vendors wished to purchase it back. Held, further, that, if the effect of the agreement of March, 1897, could be supposed to make the sale, a mortgage by conditional sale, the plaintiff could not bring a suit for pre-emption until there had been a decree for foreclosure. DOCTOR SHIAM SABAL v. SHARAI BEG, 8 O.C. 275 (B.) (20 W.R. 216, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(254)—Proposal to sell—Oudh Laws Act, ss. 10 and 11.—A mere proposal to sell property does not entitle any one to claim pre-emption: but under the Oudh Laws Act there must be a complete contract for sale before a suit for pre-emption can be maintained. SHANKAR PARSHAD v. HAMID ALI KHAN, 9 O.C. 169 (B.) (3 O.C. 213, 2 O.C. 7, R.) [R., 10 O.C. 273; D., 13 O.C. 219.]

(255)—Perpetual lease, no suit for pre-emption in case of—Lease not a sale—Oudh Laws Act, s. 9.—Held, that no right of pre-emption can be claimed in respect of a perpetual lease, as such a lease is not a sale within the meaning of Oudh Laws Act. BABU BALDEO PRASAD v. SHEIKH ALI HUSAIN, 10 O.C. 348. (8 O.C. 21, D.)

(256)—Pre-emptor must show a valid title on date of decree—Imperfect partition, date of its effect so as to alter the relationship between the shareholders—Act III of 1901, s. 131—Oudh Laws Act, ss. 9 and 11.—Held, that the principle recognized by the Allahabad High Court can be applied to the statute law in Oudh and a plaintiff pre-emption is bound to show a valid title on the date the decree of the Court of first instance was passed. Where an imperfect partition had taken place between the co sharers and had been confirmed prior to the institution of the pre-emption suit, held, that the relationship between the shareholders of the village inter se was not, under s. 131 of U.P. Act III of 1901, altered, until it took effect on the 1st July following. AMIR HASAN v. MUSAMMAT SARDAR BEGAM AND OTHERS, 12 O.C. 229 = 3 Ind. Cas. 546. (20 A. 100, 21 A. 374, 21 A. 441, 25 A. 421, 26 A. 389, 11 O.C. 290, 69 P.R. 1898, 73 P.R. 1898, 49 P.R. 1901, R.)

(257)—Right of pre-emption, meaning of—Right of pre-emption, condition essential for enforcement of—Oudh Laws Act, s. 10, notice issued under—Tender made subsequent to notice, refusal of—Conditional agreement for sale, whether it gives right to sue for pre-emption—Oudh Laws Act, ss. 6, 9, 11, 12, and 13.—A right of pre-emption is a right to the benefit of a contract or a right of substitution entitling the pre-emptor, by reason of a legal incident to which the sale itself was subject, to stand in the shoes of the vendee in respect of all the rights and obligations arising from the sale under which he has derived his title. The right of pre-emption is not an absolute right to acquire immovable property, but only a relative right to acquire it in preference to all other persons, and in this respect it differs essentially from the right which has its origin in proposal and acceptance. In all cases a violation of the right is an essential condition to the bringing of a suit for enforcement of the right of pre-emption. Held, therefore, that a person being entitled to a right of pre-emption is not entitled to claim a decree merely on the ground that the owner of the property has issued a notice under s.10, Oudh Laws Act, and that a tender made subsequent to the receipt of notice has been refused. Where a conditional agreement for sale had been entered into, but had subsequently been superseded by agreement of the parties, held that it could not give the plaintiff a right to sue for pre-emption; for it could not be said that the agreement was evidence of a complete contract to sell. JAGAN NATH v. SHEO RATAN SINGH, 13 O.C. 219. = 7 Ind. Cas. 295.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(258)—Ancestral lands—Division and separation of shares amongst co-heirs—Relations to remote degree—There is no authority for holding that before a Burman can sell his property to others he is bound to offer it first to every one of his relations including those of remote degree. The plaintiff alleged that the lands belonged originally to the plaintiff's grandparents, who were also the great grandparents of the first and second defendants, but it also stated that upon the death of the plaintiff's grandmother over 40 years previously her six children had divided the ancestral property, and that the property, which was the subject-matter of the suit, fell to the share of the grandmother of the first and second defendants. The plaintiff claimed, notwithstanding the division and separation of shares amongst the children of his grandparents, that he was a co-heir with those defendants in respect of the land in suit, and that those defendants were under an obligation to offer the land to him for sale before selling it to strangers. Held that upon the division of the property amongst the children of the plaintiff's grand-parents, each child took the particular lot or lots which fell to him or her free from all obligation as regards pre-emption, and a fortiori the descendants of each child also took the lot or lots which devolved on them respectively free from such obligation. SHWE EIK KE v. THA HLA AUNG, 1 L.B.R. 144. [R., U.B.R. 1907, 2nd Qr., Buddhist law—Inheritance—Pre-emption 1; Diss., 14 Bur. L.R. 91.]

(259)—Enforcement of right of pre-emption between non-mahomedans.—The right of pre-emption is entirely a creature of the Mahomedan law. Though everybody is held to know the law the rule of pre-emption is neither a part of the law of the land nor a portion of the personal law which the Courts are bound to administer under the provisions of s. 5 of Act XX of 1875. As between the Mahomedans the rule is enforced. Similarly where a non-mahomedan purchases property clearly understanding that he does so subject to rule of pre-emption he is equitably bound by the rule. But the rule cannot apply in the case of the vast numbers of non-mahomedans who have never heard of such right. ABDUL RAZAK v. JAGOBA, 7 C.P.L.R. 117.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(260)—Re-sale by vendee to vendor, when could affect right of pre-emptor—Sale to stranger of a co-occupant's entire share, effect of.—In cases to which the Muhammadan law of pre-emption is applicable, it has been held, on the authority of the Hedaya, that, once the right of pre-emption had accrued, no subsequent dissolution of the contract, between the parties to it, could dissolve such right. (13 W. R. 332, R.; 20 A. 100, 21 A. 374, 21 A. 441, 23 A. 247, 26 A. 389, A.W.N. 1884, 169, R.) Further, apart from the Muhammadan Law, the power to defeat the rights of the pre-emptor lasts only up to the institution of the pre-emption suit and a fortiori does not last after the passing of the decree in the suit. So, on the passing of such a decree, the right under it cannot be defeated by any subsequent re-sale by vendee to vendor. Also, even before the institution of the suit, it would appear that a stranger-vendee of a co-occupant's entire share cannot defeat the pre-emptor's right by re-conveying the share to the vendor. GANPATSA MAHADASA v. JOOMABHAI, 2 N. L.R. 150. [F., 5 N.L.R. 136.]

(261)—Right of—Re-conveyance to vendor after suit for pre-emption—Whether defeats pre-emptor's right.—Held, that after institution of a suit for pre-emption, the vendee cannot defeat the pre-emptor's right by re-conveying to his vendor who has parted with the whole of his share. MT. RAJAI v. IRBHAN, 5 N.L.R. 136. (2 N.L.R. 150, F.; 5 A. 110, 7 A. 775, 28 A. 590, 20 A. 100, 23 A. 247, 21 A. 374, 21 A. 441, 26 A. 389, 31 A. 111, 30 A. 130, 30 A. 467, 3 A.L.J. 544, 6 B. H.C. 263, 26 C. 1, 26 C. 39, 6 M.H.C. 26, 21 M. 288, 24 M. 449, 8 C.P.L.R. 45, 11 C.P. L.R. 122, 62 P.R. 1879, 73 P.R. 1898, R.)

(262)—Pre-emption—Custom in Gurdaspur—Sale of house—Vicinage—Common wall.—The custom of pre-emption exists in Gurdaspur. Where two rival pre-emptors have adjoining houses, and one of them has a common wall which forms one of the walls of the house sold, and the other has not, the former has a right superior to the latter without any proof of custom on the point. KALAN KHAN v. RAM SURAN DAS, 97 P.R. 1880. [Rel. on, 108 P.R. 1886; D., 43 P.R. 1903=92 P.L.R. 1903, 71 P.R. 1905=129 P.L.R. 1905.]

(263)—Pre-emption by vicinage—Custom—Samrial, Sialkot tehsil.—In this suit for pre-emption on the ground of vicinage in respect of a house in the town of Samrial, it was found on the evidence that the plaintiff had failed to prove the existence of a custom that mere proximity gives a right of pre-emption. With reference to s. 11 of the Punjab Laws Act, in such cases, the existence of the right of pre-emption in the particular town must be shown, and it was a local custom which had to be looked to, to ascertain by whom and under what circumstances it could be exercised, and no plea of law and general custom alleged to give such right was therefore admissible. LABHU v. CHENDRA, 69 P.R. 1884. [R., 17 P.R. 1895.]

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(264)—Pre-emption—Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Onus of proof—Owner of isolated plots—Co-sharer.—A person claiming to be co-sharer by virtue of his holding two revenue fee plots situated in the same Khevat as that in which the property sold is situated, is not entitled to claim a right of pre-emption based upon custom, inasmuch as there is no community of interest between him and the vendor. The wajib-ul-arz is not the custom. It is merely a piece of evidence to be given due consideration to, in the course of the enquiry. The question is whether by production of the wajib-ul-arz in question, without the support of a single instance in which the right has been claimed or exercised, the plaintiff has discharged the onus of proving the existence of a custom of pre-emption giving him as a proprietor of an isolated plot a right to pre-empt. MAWASI v. MOOL CHAND, 9 A.L.J. 670=14 Ind. Cas. 278=34 A. 434.

(265)—Pre-emption—Sale of a house in the city—Subsequent sale—Suit to pre-empt the first sale—Consideration of the second sale greater than that of the first—Question of price.—A house in the City of Benares was sold for Rs. 1,150. The vendee resold it to the appellant for Rs. 4,000. The plaintiff brought a suit for pre-emption of the first sale offering to pay Rs. 1,150 the consideration of the first sale. Both the first and second vendees were made parties to the suit. The defence of the second vendee, inter alia, was that the plaintiff could not dispossess him without paying the amount that he had paid, viz., Rs. 4,000. Held that the second sale was subject to the right of pre-emption, and the pre-emptor was only bound to pre-empt the first sale, making the subsequent vendee a party to the suit so as to bind him by the proceedings. KHETAR CHANDRA BASU MALLICK v. NABINKALI DEVI, 11 A.L.J. 527=20 Ind. Cas. 424=35 A. 385. (32 A. 45, R.)

(260)—Ottidar's right of pre-emption—Limitation Act, 1908, art. 120.—The right of pre-emption, which an Ottidar has, depends entirely on the custom which prevails in the West Coast. The right of the Ottidar consists in a right to elect, when there has been an attempt on the part of the owner of the property to sell it to a third person, whether he will buy it for the same price as that offered by the third person or not. It is obvious that such a right can only be exercised when the Ottidar knows first of all that the property is sold or attempted to be sold to another person, and what the terms are on which it is so proposed to be sold. If he has no knowledge of either fact, he is not in a position to make any election. An Ottidar is entitled to have an opportunity given to him to make the election to which his right of pre-emption entitles him. The right to sue, therefore, does not arise until the Ottidar knows of the sale of the property and the terms of the sale. Art. 120, Limitation Act, applies and time would run only from the date of the Ottidar's knowledge of the sale. Art. 120, Limitation Act, does not make it a condition that the plaintiff should have knowledge of the fact which give rise to the cause of action, before time begins to run. But there can be no doubt that, if the nature of the right imports, as a necessary condition, knowledge of certain facts, then the right to sue cannot be said to arise in such a case unless the plaintiff had the necessary knowledge. P. MAMABI v. ACHARATH PARAKIT MALIGA PURAYIL CHEREYA KUNHIFEKKI HAZI, 12 M.L.T. 535=23 M.L.J. 607. (5 M. 1898, 7 M. 309, 13 M. 490, 15 M. 480, 20 M. 305, 24 M. 449, 29 M. 336, 30 M. 388, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(267)—Pre-emption—Paiki number or recognized division of survey number—Occupants or co-occupants—No right of pre-emption as between—Berar Land Revenue Code, ss. 4, 86, 105, 205—The words 'survey number' in s. 105—Meaning.—An occupant or co-occupant of a paiki number, i.e., a recognised division of a survey number, has no right of pre-emption over another paiki number in the same survey number. Under s. 86 of the Berar Land Revenue Code, a portion of survey number cannot be recognised as a recognised division of the survey number unless it is itself a holding. It follows that two holders in a recognised division of a survey number are co-occupants with reference to each other, but that an occupant or a co-occupant in a recognised division is not a co-occupant with reference to an occupant or co-occupant in another recognised division of the same survey number, for they do not hold in the same holding and therefore do not come within the definition of co-occupant with reference to each other. When there are recognised divisions of the survey number, the words 'survey number' in s. 105 mean one of such recognised divisions, since each such recognised division is a holding. MT. GANGU v. CHANDU, 9 N.L.R. 16=18 Ind. Cas. 862.

(268)—Pre-emption, Suit for—Contract of sale of property, existence of—Mortgage-deed with stringent terms no evidence of a transaction of sale.—What a plaintiff in a pre-emption suit has to make out is that there is in existence a contract for sale of property by virtue of which a third person, whose right to acquire the property is inferior to that of the plaintiff, has obtained a right to acquire. (9 O.C. 169, R.) Where the plaintiff sued to enforce his right of pre-emption, alleging that the transaction carried on between the defendants was in reality a sale and that the deed in question had been drawn up fraudulently in the form of a mortgage in order to conceal the real nature of the dealings between the parties and thereby to defeat the plaintiff's right of pre-emption, held, that, in the absence of all evidence explaining the nature of the transaction, a Court is not justified in finding that the mortgage-deed furnished evidence of a transaction of sale, merely because its terms were so stringent as to make it highly improbable that redemption would ever take place. BADRI SINGH v. CHANDIKA SINGH, 15 O.C. 1=14 Ind. Cas. 8. (3 O.C. 213, 145 P.R. 1906, 45 P.R. 1895, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(269)—Pre-emption — Pre-emptor not suing bona fide for herself—Maintainability of suit.—A pre-emption suit not instituted bona fide with the object of excluding a stranger from the village is not maintainable. MAHARANI v. RAM ADHAR, 13 Ind. Cas. 508. (21 C. 496, 21 I.A. 26, 9 O.C. 331, R.)

(270)—Sale by vendee to a person entitled to pre-empt—Suit to pre-empt the sale by vendee, maintainability of.—L sold his property to D on 5th of June, 1909. S had a right to pre-empt the property and was about to bring a suit for it, when, on the 4th of June, 1910, D, the vendee, re-sold the property to him. Thereupon A, who was related to D, brought a suit for pre-emption on the basis of the sale of 4th of June 1910, made by D in favour of S: Held, that the suit was maintainable. ADHARI DUBAIN v. SHEODIHAL PANDE, 13 Ind. Cas. 708. (7 A. 917, 25 A. 334, R.)

(271)—Pre-emption, right of — Sale—Permanent lease whether can be treated as sale—Lease, no pre-emption in the case of.—A deed of permanent lease which gives a right of permanent possession to the lessee in consideration of Rs. 150 as zar-i-peshgi and of an annual rent of Rs. 2, cannot be construed as a deed of sale. There can be no right of pre-emption in the case of a permanent lease. TRILOKI NATH v. SHEO MANGAL, 14 Ind. Cas. 717. (10 O.C. 348, F.)

(272)—Pre-emption — Co-sharer — Partition, effect of.—The sale in respect of which the present pre-emption suit was instituted took place on the 22nd of July, 1909. On the 21st June previously, partition had been made and confirmed with effect from the 1st of July, 1909. Under the partition, the plaintiff and the vendor were co-sharers in the same mahal and the vendee ceased to be co-sharer with the vendor. The wajib-ul-arz, which was prepared after the partition, was verified on the 2nd of August, 1909. Held that the plaintiff had a right to sue for pre-emption. NAND KISHORE SINGH v. RAM BIRICH RAI, 15 Ind. Cas. 704.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(273)—Re-sale of portion of property to person entitled to pre-empt—Suit to pre-empt the second sale, not maintainable.—A sold his zemindari to B, on the 5th of June, 1909. Before the limitation to bring a suit for pre-emption had expired, B, admitting the pre-emptive right of C, re-transferred a portion of the property to him and retained the rest for herself. D, who was a near co-sharer of B, the original vendee, brought a suit to pre-empt the portion of the property re-sold to C. Held, that the suit was not maintainable. SHEO DAYAL PANDE v. ADHARI DUBAIN, 16 Ind. Cas. 409.

(274)—Pre-emption—Oudh Laws Act (XVIII of 1876), ss. 9, 10 — Sale to co-sharer—Right of co-sharers inter se—Wajib-ul-arz — Custom—Process and history of development of custom—Statutory law regarding pre-emption.—The Wajib-ul-arz of the village provided:—"No sharer in the village can dispose of his share or any portion of it to any one who is not a co-sharer either by way of sale or mortgage, so long as any co-sharer is willing to accept a transfer of it in the same way." Held, (1) that, while the Wajib-ul-arz declared a right of pre-emption in favour of co-sharers as against a person outside the co-parcenary body, it did not declare at the same time that no such right existed in cases where one co-sharer sold to another and that, therefore, the wajib-ul-arz did not afford evidence of the existence of a custom in conflict with the statutory right of pre-emption between co-sharers; (2) that, in the absence of a well-established custom to regulate the rights of pre-emption of co-sharers inter se, the statutory provisions of the Oudh Laws Act stepped in, that s. 9 of the Act laid down a rule of preference to regulate the rights of co-sharers inter se, and that the language of s. 10 also indicated that the right of pre-emption could arise, not only on sales to persons outside the village community, but also on sales to the members of the same community; (3) that s. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act must be read along with s. 6 in order to arrive at a true notion of the extent of the right of pre-emption. The process and history of development of the custom and Statutory Law of Pre-emption in Oudh traced. SHEORATAN SINGH v. UJAG AR SINGH, 16 Ind. Cas. 800=15 O.C. 389.

(275)—Rishtadar karibi not co-owner with the vendor—No right to pre-empt.—The pre-emptive clause in the zamima khewat of a village ran as follows:—"When any sharer wishes to transfer his rights, he can transfer first to a near relative (rishtadar karibi), after him to a distant relative ristadar sardi, and after him to sharers in the village (shurkanden deh). In the event of those persons refusing, the transferor shall have power to sell or mortgage to whomsoever he pleases. Sharers (hissadaran) and sharers in the village (shurkain deh) shall be considered to have preference on condition that they are willing to pay the same price as a stranger is paying :—Held, that, under the above clause, a near relative, who was not a co-sharer of the vendor in the same mahal, had no right to pre-empt. MAHABIR PERSHAD v. RAM LOCHAN TEWARI, 17 Ind. Cas. 521.

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(276)—Pre-emption—Lis pendens—Benami—Sale in favor of wife—Fact alleged by one and not denied by the other.—Where a deed of sale is in a Hindu lady's favour, she is to be presumed the owner of the property sold to her thereunder, and the onus of proving that it is a benami transaction and the real owner is her husband lies on the person making the assertion, specially when the husband does not claim that property. A decree obtained, by the real owner of the pre-empted property, during the pendency of the pre-emption suit, cancelling the sale against the vendor and the vendee alone, which is based on the title acquired long before institution of the pre-emption suit, is good, and the rule of lis pendens does not apply in such a case. A party alleging a fact, which is neither denied nor expressly admitted by the opponent, is not bound to prove it. If a party repudiates his interest in the suit, the Court is bound to accept it. MUSSAMMAT DHAN DEVI v. BALMOKAND, 101 P.W.R. 1912=131 P.L.R. 1912=16 Ind. Cas. 122.

(277)—Decree for pre-emptor—Appeal by vendee—Transfer of property on basis of which pre-emption decreed subsequent to decree—Construction of deed—Sale or mortgage—Criteria—Evidence—Admissibility of oral evidence—Third party—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92, scope of—Punjab Pre-emption Act (II of 1905), s. 4.—Where after obtaining a decree for pre-emption and during the pendency of an appeal against the decree preferred by the vendee, a pre-emptor parts with the property, on the strength of which he was able to sue for pre-emption, the transfer does not disentitle the pre-emptor to the decree he has already obtained, and the vendee cannot ask the Appellate Court to take away from the pre-emptor the benefit of the decree on the ground of his subsequent transfer (91 P.R. 1909, F.B., 4 Ind. Cas. 337, 161 P.W.R. 1909, 148 P.L.R. 1909, R.) The prohibition in s. 92 of the Evidence Act against going behind a written deed applies only to parties to a deed and not to outsiders (117 P.R. 1890, F.B., 20 P.R. 1899, Rel. on.) In order to prove that an ostensible mortgage is really a sale, what has to be shown is (a) that there was a positive understanding between mortgagor and mortgagee that redemption would not be demanded, or (b) that the terms of the mortgage are such that redemption is a virtual impossibility. Onerous conditions in a mortgage are not in themselves sufficient to warrant the decision that it was really a sale. A mortgaged a building site to the nephew of her husband. The site was situated in a town in the heart of a flourishing canal colony where such property was likely in future to increase in value. The mortgage-money was not higher than the market-value of the site. The term of the mortgage was fifteen years. No interest was chargeable on the mortgage-money proper but the mortgagee was entitled to build on the site at will and to charge the expenditure, with 6 per cent. per annum interest, on the house: Held, that these circumstances were insufficient to prove that the transaction between the parties was a sale and not a mortgage. MEGHA RAM v. MAKHAN LAL, 13 Ind. Cas. 667=126 P.L.R. 1912=67 P.R. 1912=225 P.W.R. 1912. (100 P.R. 1895, 78 P.R. 1904, 19 P.R. 1905, 78 P.L.R. 1905, Rel. on.; 145 P.R. 1906, 109 P.L.R. 1907, 20 P.R. 1899, D.)

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—continued.

(278)—Punjab Pre-emption Act (II of 1905), ss. 12 (b), secondly 14—Pre-emptor and vendee equally related—Pre-emptor also co-sharer in holding—Preferential right—Dismissal of suit in case of equal right—Civ. Pro. Code (1908), s. 148—Extension of time—Pre-emption decree—Where both the pre-emptor and the vendee are agnates of the vendor, equally related to him, but the pre-emptor is also a co-sharer in the holding, a portion of which is sought to be pre-empted, the pre-emptor is entitled to a preferential right. When both the pre-emptor and the vendee have equal right of pre-emption, the suit of the pre-emptor must fail. Obiter dictum:—The purchase money due under a pre-emption decree was to be paid by 10th December. The money was remitted by money order on 5th December but was not paid by the post office until 6th January, 1912: Held, (1) that delay was not due to any fault of the decree-holder; (2) that the Court could extend the time under s. 148, Civ. Pro. Code. NABA v. PATHANA, 53 P.L.R. 1913=72 P.W.R. 1913=60 P.R. 1913=18 Ind. Cas. 86.

(279)—Sale—Transfer by virtue of compromise decree in pre-emption suit—Right of pre-emption does not accrue on such transfer.—A right of pre-emption does not arise upon a transfer effected by virtue of a compromise decree in a pre-emption suit. For the accrual of the right of pre-emption, there must be a person acquiring property by a contractual relation of sale or transfer. KHEMAN v. ALADAD, 74 P.W.R. 1913=18 Ind. Cas. 957=195 P.L.R. 1913. (7 A. 917=A.W.N. 1885, 295, 25 A. 334=A.W.N. 1903, 63=1 A.L.J. 247, F.)

(280)—Pre-emption—Exchange or sale—Question whether exchange or sale—Question of law—When amount of mortgage-charges to be paid by purchaser—No part of purchase-money—A small sum of money paid in a transaction of exchange—Merely adjusting factor does not alter nature of transaction.—Held, that, the question whether a particular transaction purporting to be an exchange of properties was in reality a sale amounts to a question of law, when the contention is that, in the determination of the question, the Court should have regard to the fact that, one of the properties dealt with being under mortgage, the transferee must be taken to have paid as part consideration to the transferor, or on his behalf to the mortgagee, the amount of the mortgage-charges. The amount which the purchaser of property will eventually have to pay in respect of mortgage-charges upon it cannot be said to form part of the purchase money, when such property is sold for a definite amount. In a transaction of exchange, the mere fact that one of the parties has in addition paid a small sum of money by way of adjusting the value cannot alter its nature. QAZI v. SHARFA, 100 P. W. R. 1913=199 P. L. R. 1913=19 Ind. Cas. 301. (97 P. R. 1900, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—6.—Right to pre-empt—concluded.

Co-sharer—Mahomedan parties to suit—Mahomedan, law—See U. P. ACT, XVIII OF 1876, s. 9, cls. (2), (3), 3 O. C. 110.

Usufructuary mortgage by tenant without landlord's consent—Right of landlord to sue for pre-emption. See C. P. ACT XVII OF 1889, s. 38, 9 C. P. L. R. 91.

See BUDDHIST LAW—GENERAL, L.B.R. 1872—1892, 76.

See CUSTOM, 3 Agra 138.

Rights of persons equally entitled to pre-empt—See DECREE—DECREE, FORM OF, 1 A. 291.

See DEED—CONSTRUCTION OF DEEDS, A.W.N. 1881, 6.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW, 98 P.R. 1868.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—CHAKDAR, 44 P.R. 1870.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 120, 30 P.R. 1893, 87 P.R. 1893, 25 P.R. 1899, 30 P. R. 1892, 11 P.R. 1893.

See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 20 A. 19, F. B.—A.W.N. 1897, 160.

See MORTGAGE—MISCELLANEOUS, U.B. R. 1897—1901, Vol. II, 511.

Existence of a right of—No defence to a suit for possession—See PLEADINGS, 27 A. 78.

Value of subject matter of suit for pre-emption—Form of appeal, when valuation by plaintiff determines the question of—Appeal—Jurisdiction—Civil Courts Act, s. 18—See VALUATION OF SUIT, 6 O.C. 255.

—7.—Subject of Pre-emption.

See PUNJAB ACT IV OF 1872.

(1)—Act XXIII of 1861, s. 14, claim under, by co-sharer in estate—Pre-emption—Rights of claimant.—Petitioner, who was a co-sharer in an estate, on an interest of another co-sharer being put up for sale in execution of a decree, came and claimed under s. 14 of Act XXIII of 1861 to be declared the purchaser of that interest. The Principal Sudder Ameen entertained the claim and substituted the petitioner for the actual purchaser. The High Court held that the Principal Sudder Ameen had no authority under s. 14 of the said Act XXIII of 1861 absolutely to substitute the petitioner for the actual purchaser of the interest sold. The party claiming pre-emption under the circumstances stated in the section should, like a claimant for pre-emption in any other case, be left to assert his right in a Civil Court. SYUD ABDOL JALEEL v. KALEE KOOMAR, DUTT, 6 W.R. Mis. 3.

Pre-emption—continued.—7.—Subject of pre-emption—continued.

(2)—Act I of 1841, s. 2—Pre-emption—Putte-daree tenure.—A right of pre-emption at auction-sale can arise even though the estate is not pure Putteedaree but only imperfect within the meaning of s. 2 of Act I of 1841. SHEIKH KADIR BUX v. RAM TAHUL BHAGUT, 3 N.W.P. 125.

(3)—Sale of confiscated property by Revenue authorities—Claim for pre-emption against purchaser.—A claim for pre-emption would not lie against the purchaser of confiscated property sold by the Revenue Authorities. MAHOMED VILLAYAT-OL-LAH KHAN v. AHMED HUSSUN KHAN, 3 Agra 70.

(4)—Wajib-ul-arz—Pre-emption—Government bound by conditions of Wajib-ul-arz.—The property of a convict was confiscated by Government and was sold to his mother. Held, (1) that the Government acquired the convict's share in the mouza in the same condition in which the latter held it before his conviction; and (2) that the plaintiff a co-sharer who claimed to pre-empt the sale was entitled to the right of pre-emption subject to the payment of the consideration paid by the vendee to Government. THE COLLECTOR OF FUTTAHPORE v. SYED YAD ALI, 1 Agra 88. [F., 1 N.W.P. 93; R., 28 A. 235=25 A.W.N. 259=2 A.L.J. 787.]

(5)—Kotee and golah—Proof of local usage and custom.—Exercise of the right of pre-emption was allowed in respect of a kotee and golah where it was proved that according to local usage and custom such properties were subject to pre-emption. KESHO RAI v. BINAYAK RAI, 3 Agra 179.

(6)—Properties with separate numbers in Collector's register—Effect—Pre-emption.—Where certain properties bore separate numbers in the rent-roll of the Collector, and were, therefore, separate estates in the legal sense of the word "estate" held that there was such a separation as would prevent a claim for pre-emption on the ground of co-parcenary. JOORAY SINGH v. TOOKUN SINGH, 14 W.R. 476. [D., 35 C. 575.]

(7)—Pre-emption—Claim to pre-empt one of the several properties sold—Decree for that property only.—Three villages were sold together by one sale-deed. The plaintiffs had pre-emptive right in respect of only one of them. Held, that the plaintiffs could not pre-empt the other two villages in which they had no interest. The fact that the sale was joint and that the properties and their prices were inseparable did not affect the matter. MUNSHI MAKUND SARUP v. MUSAMMAT SARVI BEGAM, 2 Ind. Cas. 65.

Pre-emption—continued.—7.—Subject of Pre-emption—continued.

(8)—Mesne profits—Claim due before date of pre-emption right—Subject of pre-emption.—A claim for mesne profits, due before the date on which the right to pre-emption arose, cannot form the subject of pre-emption. EMAMOOD-DEEN SOWDAGUR v. ABDOL SOBHAN, 7 W.R. 117. [R., 12 A. 234.]

(9)—Right of pre-emption, applicable only to sales—Lease in perpetuity, not a sale.—Pre-emption applies to sales only, and a lease in perpetuity, however small the reserved rent, is not a sale, and cannot therefore be the subject of pre-emption. The lower Appellate Court, in this case, had rightly treated the transaction between the parties as a lease, which it certainly was, an annual rent of one rupee being reserved, and the contention of the appellant that the transaction was really a sale was not upheld by the High Court. MOOROOLY RAM v. BABOO HUREE RAM, 8 W.R. 106. [F., 25 W.R. 43; R., 15 C. 184, 136 P.R. 1907.]

(10)—Wajib-ul-arz—Pre-emption—Alienation—Lease.—Where the right of pre-emption was claimed under a clause in the wajib-ul-arz which was to the effect that if any sharer wishes to transfer his share by sale or mortgage or in any other way, he should effect the same in favour of his co-sharers, etc., it was held that the meaning of the clause was to give the right of pre-emption, only when something in the nature of an alienation or transfer of proprietary right was intended and not merely on every occasion when a sharer might make a lease of his property even though the lease be for a term of 20 years. RAI MANICK CHUND v. RAI BISHAISHUR BUKSH SINGH, 2 Agra 99.

(11)—Wajib-ul-arz—Pre-emption—Transfer upon trust to pay debts of transferor out of profits—Alienation.—Where, by a deed of arrangement between the parties, certain shares in a mouzah were made over to a manager upon trust to pay out of the profits to the creditors of the transferors and the residue of the profits to the transferors, who bound themselves not to alienate the property so long as the debts remained unpaid, held that the deed did not operate to divest the property from the original holders and to vest it in the manager either by way of mortgage or otherwise, and that there was not such an alienation of the property which would confer on the plaintiff the right of pre-emption under the stipulation of the wajib-ul-arz. OUTAR SINGH v. MUSST. ABLAKHEE KOONWER, 2 Agra 328.

(12)—Wajib-ul-arz—Chuck tenure—Pre-emption—Alienation—Co-sharer.—Where the Wajib-

Pre-emption—continued.—7.—Subject of Pre-emption—continued.

ul-arz, to which the holder of a Chuck was not a party, provided for a preferential rights of purchase in favour of the co-sharers in the village on the occasion of the alienation of any share, and the plaintiff, one of the Zemindaree proprietors, claimed this preferential right with respect to a resumed muafee chuck which had been alienated by the holder thereof, it was held that such alienation was not an alienation of a share within the meaning of the wajib-ul-arz, that the holder of the chuck was not, by virtue of his tenure of the chuck, a co-sharer, that the co-sharers were the Zemindaree proprietors and that the tenure of the chuck would neither confer on its possessor a right of pre-emption, nor subject his estate to such a right in the event of alienation. SHEO LALL SAHOO v. SHEIK RUMZANEE, 2 Agra 35.

(13)—Exchange of share of one village with that of another—Pre-emption—Consideration.—R and others exchanged their share and their house in mouzah K for the share and house of S and another in mouzah G. Plaintiff who was a co-sharer in the former mouzah sued for pre-emption under the terms of the wajib-ul-arz. Held, that the transaction, being an exchange of property for property, was a sale, and that the right of pre-emption could only be claimed under the terms of the wajib-ul-arz in respect of land, but not of the house of the vendors; that the price payable by the pre-emptor to the vendee should be the estimated value, not of the property in suit, but of the property which was given in exchange for it. SEWA RAM v. RISAL CHOWDHRY, 1 Agra 144. [F., 1 N.W.P. 93.]

(14)—Wajib-ul-arz—Transfer under compromise of suit, whether amounts to sale.—Where the parties to a suit for pre-emption entered into a compromise by which the plaintiff pre-emptor relinquished his claim to a portion of the property in suit in favour of the vendee, and the latter admitted the plaintiff's claim to the remainder of the property, and a decree was passed in terms of the compromise, held, that the compromise and the decree passed thereon did not amount to a sale by the vendee to the plaintiff so as to entitle another co-sharer in the village to bring a suit for pre-emption against the plaintiff on the ground that he was a nearer co-sharer. HANUMAN RAI v. UDIT NARAIN RAI, 7 A. 917=A.W.N. 1885, 295.

(15)—Wajib-ul-arz—"Transfer"—"Sale."—An agreement by which one person agrees to transfer to another a portion of his share, for which he intends filing a suit in consideration of the latter supplying him with funds for its prosecution, operates to effect such transfer; and a subsequent compromise of the suit, which recites a certain portion only of the share originally intended, as having been transferred to the person supplying the funds, does not operate as a fresh transfer, but only as a re-adjustment of the share between the parties to the agreement. Consequently (where the wajib-ul-arz of the village granted a right of pre-emption to co-sharers in respect of a share which a sharer wished to transfer) a person who, subsequent to the agreement and before the compromise, has acquired the remaining portion of the property, the subject of suit, cannot claim to pre-empt from the transferor, the portion of the share ultimately transferred to him in virtue of the compromise, for, the transferor's title was complete by the original agreement, and the claimant was not a sharer at the time. LACHMI NARAIN v. MANOG DAT, 7 A. 291 = A.W.N. 1885, 47. [R., 43 P.R. 1900, 7 O.C. 158.]

Pre-emption—continued.—7.—Subject of Pre-emption—continued.

(16)—Wajib-ul-arz—Decree-holder purchasing at Court-auction—Re-sale to judgment-debtor before confirmation—Effect.—Where a decree-holder who has purchased the rights of the judgment-debtor in Court-auction in execution of his own decree, and has been put in possession thereof, re-sells the same to the judgment-debtor before the confirmation of sale on receiving the decree amount from him, there is no alienation in the case between the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor, such as is contemplated by the wajib-ul-arz in the provisions with respect to pre-emption. MAHOMED RAZA KHAN v. JAWAHIR SINGH, 2 Agra 1.

(17)—Muhammadan law — Pre-emption — Public road.—Certain zamindari property and two houses were sold. Plaintiff sued only to pre-empt the zamindari property. Defendant pleaded that plaintiff was entitled to pre-empt one house and his suit must be dismissed, inasmuch as he had not claimed pre-emption in respect of the said house. Both the vendor and the pre-emptor were co-sharers in the village, and the house in question was situate in the village and was connected with the house of the pre-emptor by a public thoroughfare. Held, that no right of pre-emption arose, as, without going into the question as to the rights of the zemindars in the soil of the land, it was clear that neither the vendor nor the pre-emptor has any right to close the road or to place any obstacle thereon. MIRZUNNISSA v. FAYAZ HUSAIN, 6 A.L.J. 539 = 5 M.L.T. 391 = 2 Ind. Cas. 468.

(18)—Pre-emption, suit for — Reversionary interest, sale of—Possibility of succession not a saleable interest—Persons having possibility of succession not co-sharers with those having similar possibility—Transfer of Property Act, s. 43—Indian Limitation Act, sch. II, art. 10.—A Hindu widow having sold to the defendant some land inherited from her husband, L.N. and the plaintiff as her husband's reversionary heirs sued her and the defendant for a declaration that the alienation would be invalid against them after the widow's death, and obtained a declaration to that effect. Subsequently on the 16th February 1897 L and N who were presumptively entitled to a half share in the land after the widow's death executed a deed in favour of the defendant and certain other persons in respect of that share. In the deed, they stated that they sold the half share which would devolve upon them upon the widow's death, that by virtue of the deed executed by the widow the vendee would continue in possession of the land sold by the widow, during the life-time of the widow, and that on her death they would acquire proprietary possession of the land under the present deed. The widow having died, the plaintiff on the 28th August 1898 instituted a suit against the defendant and others who were parties to the sale-deed of 16th February, 1897, claiming pre-emption of the half-share of L.N. Held, that the vendors had at the time of the execution of the sale-deed of 16th February 1897, no saleable interest in the property, that they sold a bare possibility of succession, that persons who had a bare possibility of succession were not co-sharers with others who had a similar possibility, and that s. 43 of the Transfer of Property Act did not apply. Held, further, that if the case could be regarded as one in which a widow had transferred her husband's property with the consent of the reversioners and a good title had passed at once to the defendant and a right of pre-emption accrued, the suit would be barred by limitation under art. 10, sch. ii, of the Indian Limitation Act. BHAIRON BAKHSH v. BALDEO SINGH, 7 O.C. 98. [R., 8 O.C. 349.]

Pre-emption—continued.—7.—Subject of Pre-emption—continued.

(19)—Right of pre-emption—Sale—Mortgage.—The right of pre-emption applies to permanent transfers of property, and not to cases of mortgages. Whether the right of pre-emption could be claimed at the process of foreclosure if foreclosure should result, was not decided in this case. GOLAB v. WUZEERA, 87 P.R. 1867. [R., 98 P.R. 1868.]

(20)—Hindu widow — Mortgage — How far binding upon husband's relatives—Nature of decree when mortgagor was alive—Pre-emption.—In a suit by the plaintiffs, reversioners to the estate of a Hindu widow, claiming pre-emption and cancellation of a mortgage executed by her, it was contended that though the plaintiffs' claim for pre-emption cannot lie, as the mortgage by the widow was not a permanent transfer, they were yet entitled to a decree that the mortgage executed by her was not binding upon them at least after her death. Held that, so long as the mortgagor was alive, the mortgage made by her was of her life-interest, and must be declared to be valid to that extent, but the reversioners might have a decree declaring their right to succeed to the properties after the death of the widow. MAN SINGH v. MT. DYDEE, 98 P.R. 1868. [F., 98 P.R. 1894.]

(21)—Claim to buy part only of property sold not maintainable.—Where the vendor and pre-emptor were in joint possession of three out of four parcels of land sold by the former and, as between the parties, the claim was not rested on the fact of joint possession as giving rise to the right, but on the general ground of relationship, the pre-emptor should not be allowed to pick and choose what he would take and what he would refuse out of the plots of ground for sale by one vendor under one contract, unless a state of circumstances showing it to be equitable were presented. MAHOMED DIN v. DINA, 11 P.R. 1874. [D., 107 P.R. 1882, F.B.]

Pre-emption—continued.—7.—Subject of Pre-emption—continued.

(22)—Non-transferable right of occupancy—Pre-emption.—No custom of pre-emption attaches to a non-transferable right of occupancy. RUKNA v. KANH SINGH, 179 P.R. 1888. (196 P.R. 1882, 120 P.R. 1883, Cited.) [D., 136 P.R. 1907.]

(23)—Mortgagee—Wajib-ul-arz—Hoshierpur tahsil.—Under the terms of the wajib-ul-arz of Hoshierpur tahsil, the right of pre-emption attaches to mortgages by a proprietor of every description without restriction. BULAND KHAN v. THAKUR DAS, 10 P.R. 1887. [R., 11 P.R. 1901=85 P.L.R. 1901; Rel. on, 46 P.R. 1903, Note.]

(24)—Wazirabad—Custom.—The custom of pre-emption exists in Mohalla Lakhian in Wazirabad. KISHEN GOPAL v. SUDH DAS, 105 P.R. 1887.

(25)—Guzar Talwar, Lahore—Custom.—The custom of pre-emption attaches to houses and shops in Guzar Talwar in Lahore. MIRZA AZAM BEG v. JAIDIAL, 48 P.R. 1888. [Disappr. 17 P.R. 1895.]

(26)—Mooltan—Custom—Payment by pre-emptor—mount.—The custom of pre-emption prevails in Mohalla Marochian in Mooltan. Where property is sold in auction and the auction purchaser re-sells it at an enhanced rate, the pre-emptor is not bound to pay the higher sum but only the amount paid by the auction purchaser. PANJU RAM v. MUSSAMMAT NIKI BAI, 165 P.R. 1888. [R., 93 P.R. 1902, F.B., 100 P.R. 1892; Disc. 57 P.R. 1906, 42 P.R. 1906.]

(27)—Suburbs of Delhi—Varieties of pre-emption.—Because custom in a sub-division allows pre-emption in the case of dwelling houses, it cannot be extended to cases of shops or big plots extending far and wide away from the property through which pre-emption is claimed. ANKAR LAL v. BAIJ NATH, 103 P.R. 1889.

(28)—Mohalla Sultan Ganj—Custom.—The right of pre-emption is enforced in Mohalla Sultan Ganj in the suburbs of Mooltan. Haji ALA DAD v. NUR MUSTAFA, 170 P.R. 1889. [R., 42 P.R. 1906, 100 P.R. 1892, 16 P.R. 1902=15 P.L.R. 1902; Cited, 17 P.R. 1895; Disc., 57 P.R. 1906.]

(29)—Custom of pre-emption—Gujarat.—The custom of pre-emption prevails in Khoja Mohalla in Gujarat. GANGA RAM v. GANDA MAL, 13 P.R. 1890.

Pre-emption—continued.—7.—Subject of Pre-emption—continued.

(30)—Pre-emption—Mooltan.—In Mohalla Bhabrianwalla in Mooltan, there is no custom of pre-emption in the case of mortgages. KARAM BAKHSH v. POHKAR DAS, 33 P.R. 180. [R., L.B.R. 1900–1902, 336 and 340.]

(31)—Cheniot, Jhang District—Shop—Pre-emption.—It lies upon the plaintiff to prove that the custom of pre-emption exists on Kasha Cheniot and that it exists in respect of shops. The fact that such custom exists in a certain locality is no evidence to show that it exists in respect of shops. CHAUDHRI NUR AHMAD v. GANGA RAM, 68 P.R. 1890. [R., 17 P.R. 1895; Cited, 17 P.R. 1895; D., 109 P.R. 1900.]

(32)—Buzar Sahsilwala—Suburb of Batalu—Custom.—Property situate in a bazar in a suburb of Batala must be regarded as being situated in a town. KISHAN DIAL v. ALI BAKSH, 87 P.R. 1890. [R., 7 O.C. 74, 42 P.R. 1906; Cited, 17 P.R. 1895, 90 P.R. 1907; F., 70 P.R. 1898.]

(33)—Entry in administrative paper—No evidence.—The entry of the rights of pre-emption in the village administration paper framed at first settlement is no evidence of the existence of the custom of pre-emption. JIWA v. MUSSAMMAT BHARI, 92 P.R. 1892. [R., 64 P.R. 1903=172 P.L.R. 1903.]

(34)—Mohalla Bhoori in Jagraon—Custom in one sub-division—No pre-sumption in others.—The custom of pre-emption does not exist in Mohalla Bhoori in Jagraon. The fact that the custom prevails in one sub-division of a town does not raise any presumption as to the existence of such in others. THAKUR DAS v. MUHAMMAD BAKSH, 100 P.R. 1892. [R. Appr. and F., 109 P.R. 1900; F., 86 P.R. 1901; R., 44 P.R. 1903=75 P.L.R. 1903.]

(35)—Sale of shops and houses—Right of pre-emption—Proof.—Under s. 11 of the Punjab Laws Act, in a pre-emptive suit, it is not sufficient to show that the custom exists in neighbouring mohallas of the town, nor is it sufficient in the case of shops to show that the right extended to houses. A shop in a bazaar cannot be pre-empted as a house merely because there is an upper storey to it which is used as a residence. RAMAN MAL v. BHAGAT RAM, 17 P.R. 1895. [F., 58 P.R. 1900, 86 P.R. 1901; Appr. & F., 109 P.R. 1900; R., 67 P.R. 1907=38 P.W.R. 1907, 16 P.R. 1902=15 P.L.R. 1902, 44 P.R. 1903=75 P.L.R. 1903, 42 P.R. 1903=89 P.L.R. 1903, 111 P.R. 1906, 96 P.R. 1910, 81 P.R. 1906, 6 P.R. 1905=19 P.L.R. 1905.]

(36)—Mohalla Bugh Shitab Rai in Rewari—Custom.—There is no custom of pre-emption in Mohalla Bugh Shitab Rai in Rewari. KHUSH-WAKT RAI v. RUP MAL, 17 P.R. 1896.

Pre-emption—continued.—7.—Subject of Pre-emption—continued.

(37)—“Village”—Presumption as to existence of pre-emption.—Though in the case of an ordinary village community, the presumption as to the existence of pre-emption is strong, it is not so in the case of a mere “paper” village created a few years back solely for administrative convenience and no such custom exists in Mahal Bhagat of Ludhiana. KADIR BAKHSH v. GHULAM, 74 P.R. 1897. [R., 21 P.R. 1906, 51 P.R. 1907.]

(38)—Land once agricultural but now urban—Rules.—Claim in respect of land once agricultural but now occupied by business premises or shops must be subject to urban rules. UMAR BAKHSH v. ABDUL KARIM, 70 P.R. 1898. [R., 42 P.R. 1906, 21 P.R. 1906.]

(39)—Custom—Ghosi Mohalla in Hansi—Burden of Proof.—There is no custom of pre-emption in Ghosi Mohalla in Rewari. In every case of pre-emption, the plaintiff must affirmatively prove the existence of the custom in the particular locality in which he claims pre-emption. SAUDAGAR MAL v. AMAN SINGH, 70 P.R. 1899.

(40)—Jahan Numan, Suburb of Delhi—Custom—Proof—Land assessed as garden land—Pre-emption.—Land situate in Jahan Numan, Suburb of Delhi and assessed as garden land could not be regarded as land of a “village community” within the meaning of s. 12 of Punjab Laws Act. A custom to be valid must have existed from a time “so long that the memory of men runneth not to the contrary” KARAM ILAHI v. BABUA MAL, 21 P. R. 1900. [R., 51 P. R. 1907, 21 P. R. 1906, 120 P. R. 1906; Cited., 90 P.R. 1907.]

(41)—Sale of shop—Pre-emption—Onus—Sufficiency of evidence—Katra Harsu Singh—There is no custom of pre-emption with regard to shops in Katra Harsu Singh in Amritsar. The fact that pre-emption exists with respect to houses in a certain Katra is no evidence to show that it exists in respect of shops nor is it sufficient evidence to show that the right of pre-emption exists in neighbouring katra or mohallas. NATHA SINGH v. BILLA SINGH, 58 P.R. 1900. [R., 16 P. R. 1902=15 P. L.R. 1902, 111 P. R. 1906, 113 P. R. 1906, 99 P. R. 1906, 140 P. R. 1906, 42 P. R. 1903=89 P. L. R. 1903.]

(42)—Village not held on ancestral shares—Relationship—Entry in Riwajiam.—The custom of pre-emption based on the ground of relationship does not exist in a village not held on ancestral shares and not divided into tolas or subdivisions nor is an entry in the Riwajiam is a sufficient or satisfactory evidence. ALLAH DITTA v. ALLAH BAKHSH, 89 P.R. 1900. [R., 48 P. R. 1909; Rel. on, 90 P. R. 1908.]

(43)—Baghkanpura in Lahore—Vicinage and relationship.—In Mauza Baghkanpura in Lahore, there is no custom of pre-emption of house property based on relationship or vicinity. TAJ DIN v. MUHAMMAD YASIN, 99 P.R. 1900. (54 P.R. 1884, Appr.) [R., 86 P.R. 1903=145 P.L.R. 1903.]

Pre-emption—continued.—7.—Subject of pre-emption—continued.

(44)—Custom—Vicinage—Mohalla Pirzadgun in Umballa—Onus.—There prevails in mohalla Pirzadgun in Umballa district a custom of pre-emption based on vicinage. If the defendant pleads that the vicinage is not sufficient to give right of pre-emption, the burden lies upon the defendant to prove the same. ALI MUHAMMAD v. KADIR BAKHSH, 107 P.R. 1900. (10 P.R. 1886, 108 P.R. 1886, 33 P.R. 1885, 24 P.R. 1887, 83 P.R. 1888, R.) [Doubted, 68 P.R. 1906; F., 47 P.R. 1907; R., 47 P.R. 1907; 71 P.R. 1905=129 P.L.R. 1905.]

(45)—Custom—Pre-emption—Pre-emption on sale of shop—Bazar Chauhatta Mufti Bakar, Lahore City—Punjab Laws Act, 1872, s. 11—Burden of proof.—Held, that plaintiff had failed to prove the existence of a custom of pre-emption in respect of sale of shops in Bazar Chauhatta Mufti Bakar of Lahore City. Held, also, that a barthak on the top of two shops does not alter the nature of the property, which property could not in consequence be considered a residential house. (The subject of guzars in Lahore city discussed). HAKIM RAI v. MUHAMMAD DIN, 83 P.R. 1901. [R., 16 P.R. 1902=15 P.L.R. 1902, 42 P.R. 1903=89 P.L.R. 1903, 6 P.R. 1905=19 P.L.R. 1905, 138 P.R. 1907.]

(46)—In the town of Nur-Mahal, Jullundur District, Punjab, on sale of house property—Proof of custom as to existence of.—The question for decision was, whether the right of pre-emption existed in the town of Nur-Mahal, in respect of sale of houses. Six cases were cited, in which the existence of the right in the town was either admitted or assumed. Held, the cases cited went no further than the Courts of first instance. Although this weakened the value of the judicial decision, it lent force to the argument that the existence of the custom was generally admitted. There was nothing to show that the admissions of the existence of the right in the cases cited were collusive or not due to the weight of public opinion that the right existed. The history of the town supported the view that pre-emption had been generally allowed. RAMJAS v. BURA MAL, 42 P.R. 1905=58 P.L.R. 1905. (16 P.R. 1902, 44 P.R. 1905, R.) [R., 96 P.R. 1910.]

(47)—Punjab Pre-emption Act II of 1905—Conditional sales of land under deeds of Baibil wafa, whether subject to pre-emption in case of agricultural lands.—The Punjab Pre-emption Act makes a distinction between mortgages by conditional sale of agricultural land and of other immoveable property, so far as regards their being subject to the exercise of the right of pre-emption. S. 4 of the Act limits the right of pre-emption to sales, in the case of agricultural land, and makes foreclosures also subject to pre-emption in the case of other properties. Conditional sales under deeds of Baibil wafas executed before Punjab Act II of 1905, relating to agricultural lands could not therefore be properly subject to pre-emption, it being necessary for the mortgagee in such cases to apply for foreclosure. RAM PERSHAD v. HIRA, 87 P.R. 1900=65 P.L.R. 1907. [Cited., 90 P.R. 1908; R., 17 P.R. 1908=18 P.W.R. 1908.]

Pre-emption—continued.—7.—Subject of Pre-emption—continued.

(48)—Right of, in regard to kothris attached to shops, obtaining in Katra Nihal Singh, Amritsar.—Suit to pre-empt, by right of vicinage, certain kothris attached to shops in the Amritsar city. The chief contest turned on whether the premises were in Katra Nihal Singh or not and as to that the plaintiff's allegation that they lay in Katra Nihal Singh was found correct. On the findings in various prior decisions and on the un rebutted evidence let in by the plaintiffs it was held that a custom of pre-emption, in regard to shops obtained, on the score of vicinage, in Bazar Papran, Katra Nihal Singh, where the shop's property in dispute lay. ATTAR SINGH v. SANT SINGH, 113 P.R. 1906=99 P.L.R. 1907, 58 P.R. 1900, R.) [Cited, 9 P.R. 1909, R., 13 P.R. 1907.]

(49).—Properties used as residence used for business also—Use for business purposes not to alter the character of the property—A suit for possession by pre-emption, of certain premises, in Delhi. The principal use to which the premises were put happened to be that of residence and it was held that, though business may be the object of such residence, the properties could not for that reason be deemed to have lost their character as residential properties and to have become mercantile property, entirely, for the purposes of pre-emption. Held further, that even if the property were shop property, properly so called, it could not be contended successfully that the right to pre-empt is not exercisable in the case of sales of shops at Delhi. NAWAL KESHORE v. AMIR KHAN, 122 P.R. 1906=80 P.L.R. 1907. (81 P.R. 1906, R.) [F., 147 P.R. 1908; R., 116 P.R. 1908.]

(50)—Immoveable property—Sale by Receiver of, under direction of Court in accordance with Civ. Pro. Code, Act XIV of 1882, s. 356—Nature—Exemption from pre-emption—Punjab Pre-emption Act, 1905, s. 3 (5).—Held, that a sale of immoveable property by a Receiver under "direction of the Court" under s. 356, Civ. Pro. Code, is a sale in execution of an order of a Civil Court within the terms of s. 3 (5) of the Punjab Pre-emption Act, and consequently not subject to pre-emption. PIARE LAL v. GANESHI LAL, 46 P.R. 1909=72 P.L.R. 1909=41 P.W.R. 1909=1 Ind. Cas. 474 (25 C. 757, F.B., 13 A. 224, F.B., 47 P.R. 1873, 78 P.R. 1881, 12 P.R. 1888, 84 P.R. 1901, F.B., 26 P.R. 1902, 33 C. 563, P.C., 43 P.R. 1894, 17 A. 238, R.).

Pre-emption—continued.—7.—Subject of Pre-emption—concluded.

(51)—Pre-emption—Property sold subject to mortgage—Redemption of mortgage by vendee—Pre-emptor Cannot claim to pre-empt equity of redemption only.—Where property subject to a mortgage has been sold and the vendee has redeemed the mortgage before the institution of a suit for pre-emption, the pre-emptor cannot claim to pre-empt only the equity of redemption. He must pay the whole amount of the purchase-money, including the mortgage money paid by the vendee, before he can be allowed to pre-empt the property. SHAHBAZ KHAN v. FAZAL DIN, 43 P.R. 1912=13 Ind. Cas. 430. (93 P.R. 1902, D.)

See SUITS VALUATION ACT, 1887, s. 3, 18 P.R. 1897.

—8.—Miscellaneous.

(1)—Suit for pre-emption—Practice—Assertion of grounds of contract and custom in same suit.—In this case, the High Court observed that the practice of the Courts has been to allow claims to pre-emption to be asserted on both grounds, viz., those of contract and custom in one and the same suit, and there could be no objection to it. NEHCHUL v. THAN SINGH, 2 N.W.P. 222.

(2)—Pre-emption, Custom of—Prevalent in town—Different persons owning upper and lower floors of some house—Owner of upper floor having right of way through another's house—Right of pre-emption on sale of upper floor.—Wherever the custom of pre-emption exists, in towns or amongst Hindus, it has been accepted, until the contrary be shown, that it is based upon the Mahomedan law of pre-emption. Where a person has the upper floor of a house with a way to it, through the house of a third party, the lower floor being the property of another person, and the owner of the upper floor sells it with its right of way, the owner of the house in which the way lies has, under the custom prevalent in the town in which the parties reside, a preferable right to the pre-emption in respect of the upper floor. GANESHI LALL v. LUCHMAN DASS, 5 N.W.P. 31.

(3)—Decree for possession obtained by pre-emptor right of, only to possession of proprietary right in Sir—Act XVIII of 1873, s. 7.—In this case, the decree-holder obtained as pre-emptor a decree for the possession of the proprietary right in the property which was conveyed by a sale-deed executed in the month of June 1874. The provisions of Act XVIII of 1873 were held to give him, as against the vendors, only the proprietary right in any land that happens to be sir in the sense of that term in the Act, and he cannot oust the vendors, although, under the old law, such a decree would have entitled him both as against the vendors and the vendee to possession of the sir and the ouster of the old proprietor. BALDEO PANDEY v. MUSAMMAT JHARI KUAR, 7 N.W.P. 334.

(4)—Pre-emption based on contract—Custom—A plaintiff, who fails in a suit for pre-emption based on the administration papers of the current settlement, cannot, in appeal, fall back on any condition of pre-emption entered in the previous administration paper, and claim the same relief on the basis of custom. An entry of the right of pre-emption in a former administration-paper would not necessarily establish, though it may be evidence towards such a custom. CHADAMI LAL v. MUHAMMAD BAKHSH, 1 A. 563. (1 B.L.R. S.N. 12=10 W.R. 189, 3 B.L.R. App. 42, R.) [Expl, 2 A. 876, F.B., 16 A. 40.]

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(5)—Pre-emption based on agreement—Custom set up in special appeal.—Where a suit to enforce a right of pre-emption, on the basis of an entry in the administration-paper as a matter of agreement and not of custom, has been tried and investigated; parties cannot be allowed on appeal to set up a custom. A claim based on the administration-paper does not exclude a claim under Mahomedan law. MARATIB ALI v. ABDUL HAKIM, 1 A. 567. (1 A. 563, R.)

(6)—Mortgage by conditional sale—Suit for pre-emption—Cause of action.—The cause of action for a suit for pre-emption in the case of a conditional sale, arises on foreclosure of the mortgage; and the mortgage is foreclosed when the year of grace has expired without the payment by the mortgagor of the mortgage amount. At the expiration of such period, the mortgagee acquires a proprietary title to the property. The pre-emptor need not wait till the mortgagee obtains physical possession of the property. HAZARI RAM v. SHANKAR DIAL, 3 A. 770 = A.W.N. 1881, 66. [R., 14 A. 405, F.B.]

(7)—Conditional decree—Finality of decree—Appeal.—A decree for pre-emption dated 28th September 1880, and drawn up in the terms of s. 114, Civ. Pro. Code, directed that the amount of purchase money should be paid into Court "within one month from the date the decree became final." It appeared that in consequence of delays in the preparation of copies of the decree and judgment which had been applied for by the defendants and the intervention of holidays, the period within which the defendant might have appealed expired on the 16th December 1880. Neither of the parties to the suit appealed from the decree. On the 16th December 1880, the defendants applied for execution of the decree for costs, on the ground that the plaintiff had failed to comply with the condition of the decree. On the same date, the plaintiff appeared in Court and expressed himself ready to comply with the conditions of the decree. Held that the decree in question not having been appealed against became final on the 29th October, 1880, and the plaintiff could not be allowed to comply with the conditions of the decree. DISA SINGH v. JUALA SINGH, A.W.N. 1881, 165.

(8)—Pre-emption—Sale consideration—Onus.—Where a pre-emptor alleged that the sale consideration was less than the amount mentioned in the sale-deed to the vendee, and the vendor produced, in order to substantiate his allegations, the sale-deed, an old bond which was discharged by the transaction, and one witness to prove cash payment, held that it rested with the pre-emptor to rebut the case which the defendant had established. The pre-emptor in effect averred that the bond and receipt were fictitious and imputed fraud to the defendant. It is for him to prove fraud, or at least to show facts sufficient to throw suspicion on the evidence of the appellants. ISRI RAI v. HANWANTA MISRAIN, A.W.N. 1882, 16.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(9)—Claiming one portion by inheritance and another by pre-emption—Right of inheritance found against—Suit, whether maintainable.—The plaintiff claimed a portion of the property in dispute as their own by right of inheritance, and the remainder by right of pre-emption. It was found that he had no right of inheritance in respect of any portion. Held that the whole suit must fail, as a suit for pre-emption could not be brought in respect of a portion of the property sold, and the plaintiff could not, in second appeal, after the grounds of his claim so as to claim the whole property by pre-emption. ARZANI BAKHSH v. SHERE ALI, A.W.N. 1882, 79.

(10)—Suit for pre-emption—Non-joinder of vendor—Objection in second appeal.—Where, in a suit for pre-emption, the objection was taken by the defendant (in this case, the mortgagee) for the first time in second appeal, that the mortgagor not having been impleaded as defendant, the suit was not maintainable, held, that, whether such omission renders a suit unmaintainable or not, as it had not prejudiced the mortgagee-defendant in this case, the objection coming at such a late stage of the case could not be allowed. HIRA LAL v. RAMJAS, 6 A. 57 = A.W.N. 1883, 206. [F., A.W.N. 1903, 239, 26 A. 549 = 24 A.W.N. 130 = 1 A.L.J. 278; R., 10 O.C. 49, F.B., 1 Ind. Cas. 130 = 9 C.L.J. 623, 6 A.L.J. 926.]

(11)—Sale to stranger—Resale to vendor—Right of co-sharer of vendor—Equity.—A co-sharer sold his property to a stranger in April, 1881 for Rs. 1,250. Two other co-sharers, A and B objected to the sale and claimed the share upon payment of Rs. 1,000. In 1882, the stranger sold the property to co-sharer A for the same sum of Rs. 1,250. Then the other co-sharer B sued to enforce his right of pre-emption against A. Held that the plaintiff was not entitled to obtain any portion of the share from the defendant because he did not take any steps to assert his claim to pre-emption till the defendant had obtained the recognition of hers under a private arrangement, and because he still asserted Rs. 1,000 to be the original purchase-money. But the Court gave the plaintiff a decree for a moiety of the share on the ground that he and the defendant had equal rights of pre-emption. The Court observed when passing the decree that such cases must more or less be determined upon principles of equity or good conscience. MUNNA LAL v. LAL BAHADUR, A.W.N. 1883, 219.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(12)—Pre-emption—Joint Hindu family—Co-sharer—Wajib-ul-arz.—In this case, the principle laid down in Janak Singh v. Ganga Bishan (4 A.W.N. 13) was followed. MAHADEO SINGH v. NANDA SINGH, A.W.N. 1884, 100. (A.W.N. 1884, 13, F.)

(13)—Contract—Transfer of land—Agreement by transferee that land shall not be saleable in execution of decree—Reservation by transferor of right of pre-emption.—A previous suit between the present plaintiff and one S, was adjusted, the former transferring to the latter certain lands with the stipulation that they should not be saleable in execution of decree at the instance of any creditor of S, and that the plaintiff should have a right of pre-emption at a certain price per bigha. One of the creditors of S attached these lands in execution of his decree. The plaintiff then brought the present suit against S and the attaching creditor for a declaration that the property was not saleable or at any rate for pre-emption. Held that the attaching creditor had a right to enforce his decree by legal process against the property of his judgment-debtor, and cannot be prevented from doing so by any stipulations made between the plaintiff and S, which can have no effect to stop the course of the law, nor could the right of pre-emption which the above said agreement had given to the plaintiff be extended to the case of auction-sales in execution of decrees, it being applicable only to the case of a private sale. MOTI LAL v. SADANAND, A.W.N. 1884, 121.

(14)—Suit for pre-emption—Defence that sale is ostensible—No estoppel—Costs granted to unsuccessful party.—In a suit for pre-emption based on the Mahomedan law, it was found that the vendor and vendee were father and son and that the sale-deed was only nominal in favour of the son, the real owner still being the vendor himself. Held that it was competent to the defendants to raise the defence that no sale had taken place out of which the plaintiff's claim for pre-emption could arise; and that, whatever estoppel there was as between the defendant-vendor and the defendant-vendee, there was none to debar the defendants from putting forward this plea against the maintenance of the suit. [R., 4 Ind. Cas. 488.] Although the plaintiff's case was dismissed, still costs were awarded to him, on the ground that he had been unnecessarily dragged into litigation. MAN SUR ALI v. HAIDAR HUSSAIN, A.W.N. 1884, 128.

(15)—Pre-emption—Conditional decree—Purchase-money—Costs.—Where a conditional decree in a pre-emption suit directed that the plaintiff should obtain possession with costs of suit on payment of the purchase-money within a fixed time, and that, on default of such payment, the suit should stand dismissed, the plaintiff could set off the costs awarded to him, and claim possession on payment of the purchase-money less such costs. ISHRI v. GOPAL SARAN, 6 A. 351=A.W.N. 1884, 25. (9 W.R. 230, 13 W.R. 106, 4 C. 742, R.) [F., 3 O.C. 323, 6 O.C. 23, 28 A. 676=3 A.L.J. 804=A.W.N. 1906, 198; Appr., 23 M. 121; R., 10 A. 389, 10 C.P.L.R. 83, 16 C.P.L.R. 73, 8 O.C. 57.]

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(16)—Pre-emption, Suit for—Valuation of suit—Jurisdiction—Mahomedan Law—Wajib-ul-arz—"Immediate demand"—Estoppel—Talab-i-musabat—Relinquishment of pre-emptive right when takes place.—The plaintiff R was a shareholder of a certain village, and held a decree against S who owned some share in the village. The plaintiff having taken out execution of his decree against S, the latter executed a sale-deed on 10th October 1880, conveying his share to his wife in lieu of Rs. 400 said to be the dower of the lady. The plaintiff subsequently attached the share so conveyed, and the wife's objections to the attachment being disallowed, she executed a deed of sale on 5th December, 1881, purporting to convey a portion of this share to the present defendant for Rs. 1,500, out of which the plaintiff's decree was satisfied. The present suit was by R to enforce his right of pre-emption under the terms of the wajib-ul-arz in respect of the sale of the 5th December, 1881, on the allegation that the price stated in the sale-deed was false, and the actual consideration was Rs. 750. The defendant-vendee contended that he himself being a sharer in the village, the plaintiff had no superior right of pre-emption; that Rs. 1,500 was the actual price paid; that the amount was in accordance with the market-value of the property; that the Court of first instance (Munsiff) had therefore no jurisdiction to try the suit; that the plaintiff had refused to purchase when the share was offered to him; and that the suit was instituted in collusion with the vendor. The lower Court, without considering the question of jurisdiction or determining the actual value or price of the share sold, dismissed the suit on the merits. Held (1) that the lower Court ought to have decided as to the value of the property in suit or the actual amount of the consideration under the sale-deed, as the whole case of the plaintiff was that the property was actually sold for half the amount, viz., Rs. 750, and that the property was really worth only the latter amount; and because as such, the question related to the merits as much as to the question of jurisdiction; (2) that the suit being based on the wajib-ul-arz and not on the general Mahomedan law, "immediate demand" was unnecessary; (3) that the offer made by the plaintiff to purchase the property from the wife and the refusal by her to sell, did not estop the plaintiff from maintaining the present suit, as the present claim related to the sale of 5th December, 1881, a transaction wholly independent of and irrespective of the antecedent offer and refusal;

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(4) and that the action of the plaintiff in realizing the money due on his decree against S did not preclude him from suing for pre-emption, because his acceptance of the money which the wife chose to pay did not involve any acquiescence in the sale. The case was accordingly remanded to the lower Court for disposal on the merits. The rule as to immediate demand (Talab-i-muasabat) as applied to the right of pre-emption, is one which exists in the Mahomedan law and is no doubt applicable to cases where the right is claimed solely as a rule of the personal law of the Mahomedans. But the ceremony of the "immediate demand" is not applicable to cases, like the present, in which the right of pre-emption is claimed entirely on the basis of the contract contained in the wajib-ul-arz. [R., 9 A. 513=7 A.W.N. 146.] It is a well-recognised rule of pre-emption that the right of pre-emption is not relinquished expressly or impliedly unless such relinquishment is made contemporaneously with, or subsequent to, the transfer which gave rise to the pre-emptive claim. RAMDIAL v. BUDH SEN, A.W.N. 1884, 123.

(17)—Pre-emption—Conditional decree—Finality of decree—Limitation Act, 1877, s. 5, sch. II, No. 156.—Where the decree in a pre-emption suit directed that the purchase-money should be paid in Court within a fixed time after the decree became final, and the period of limitation prescribed for an appeal from such decree expired on a holiday, the decree did not become final before the day the Court re-opened. RAMSAHAI v. GAYA, 7 A. 107=A.W.N. 1884, 224. (1 A. 132, F.) [R., 11 A. 346, 5 A.L.J. 136=A.W.N. 1908, 13.]

(18)—Whether right can be set up as a defence.—In a suit for possession by the vendee of the rights and interests of a co-sharer, another co-sharer, who is in possession, cannot plead his right of pre-emption in respect of such sale as a defence to the suit. AJUDHIA BAKHSH SINGH v. ARAB ALI KHAN, 7 A. 892=A.W.N. 1885, 291. [F. 27 A. 78=24 A.W.N. 165=1 A.L.J. 426; R., 26 A. 61, F.B.=A.W.N. 1903, 106; D., 13 M. 490.]

(19)—Ex parte decree foreclosure in favour of conditional vendee—Suit for pre-emption—Ex parte decree, set aside—Decree for redemption in favour of vendor—Pre-emption suit should be dismissed.—An ex parte decree for foreclosure was made in favour of the conditional vendee. The vendor applied to have the ex parte decree passed against him set aside and the case tried on the merits. While this application was pending, the plaintiff in this case, in January 1884, instituted the present suit for pre-emption against the conditional vendor and vendee, his cause of action being the ex parte decree of December 1882. In February 1884, an order was made setting aside the ex parte decree, and ultimately in April 1884, an ordinary decree was passed in the ordinary way in favour of the vendee. The decree was drawn upon the terms laid down by the Transfer of Property Act, and by it the vendor was allowed an opportunity of redeeming the property by payment within six-months of the amount of Rs. 577-5-7 and interest. As a matter of fact in July 1884, the sum was deposited by the conditional vendor in satisfaction of the amount due for redemption of the property conditionally sold. Held that the effect of the payment was to extinguish the decree and to leave the vendor in unincumbered proprietary possession of the estate, that the sale upon the basis of which the plaintiff had brought his suit therefore came to an end, that no sale had in fact taken place upon which his right of pre-emption arose, that, though in January 1884, when the plaintiff brought his suit for pre-emption, there was an ex parte decree, plaintiff must be taken to have known that the decree was capable of being set aside, that at the time he brought this suit there was an application pending in the Court in which he instituted it, for the setting aside of the ex parte decree, and that therefore the plaintiff's suit should be dismissed. KARAN SINGH v. GANESH RAM, A.W.N. 1886, 67.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(20)—Suit by rival pre-emptors—Alternative decree.—Where A and B sued separately to enforce their right of pre-emption in respect of the same property in a Court of first instance, which dismissed A's suit and decreed B's and on appeal by A, the appellate Court dismissed the appeal on the ground that B having been decreed a preferential right over A, nothing remained of the appeal to be decided, held that the appellate Court took an erroneous view of the appellant's rights and that it must have heard the appeal and given the appellant an alternative decree. LEKHRAJ SINGH v. SRIPAT DIAL, A.W.N. 1885, 329.

(21)—Decree for pre-emption—Civ. Pro. Code, s. 214—Effect of default of payment within time—Appeal—Execution of decree.—A decree for pre-emption was silent as to the effect, under s. 214 of the Civ. Pro. Code, of non-payment within the time fixed in the decree, and the execution of the same by the decree-holder, after the appeals by both parties were dismissed, was refused on the ground of failure of payment of the pre-emptive amount within time; but this order was reversed by the appellate Court. In second appeal, it was contended by the decree-holder that the decree was, in the absence of express provision as to the effect of non-payment, governed by the ordinary rule of limitation of three years, but it was held that such a result was not contemplated by the law and the order of the Court of first instance was upheld. CHIDDA v. IMDAD HUSAIN, A.W.N. 1888, 4. [Expl., 13 A. 189, F.B.; D., 13 A. 376, F.B.]

(22)—Suit for pre-emption—Defence of vendee being co-sharer—Judgment in former suit as to vendee's status—Evidence.—In a suit for pre-emption, the defendants contended that they were co-sharers according to the decision in a former case between the present plaintiff and some of the defendants in this suit, who were the mortgagees of the other defendants. This former suit had been first decreed in favour of the defendants-mortgagees in the original Court but was reversed in the first appellate Court, whose decree was in turn set aside by the High Court. The present suit was brought at the time when the decree of the lower Court in the former suit was reversed in the first appellate Court. It being contended by the plaintiff that the present suit having been brought at the time when the defendants-mortgagees had lost their status by the decision of the first appellate Court, the defendants could not raise the plea of being co-sharers. Held that the judgment of the first Court in the former litigation in favour of the defendants-mortgagees was itself sufficient evidence in this suit to declare them as co-sharers. AMMAN BIBI AND OTHERS v. MURARI DAS, A.W.N. 1888, 212.

Pre-emption—continued.—8—Miscellaneous—continued.

(23) — Amount paid by pre-emptor into Court and drawn by vendee — Amount reduced on appeal — Refund — Interest. — Where a pre-emptor paid the amount due under his decree into Court and appealed against the decree, and the appellate Court reduced the amount, held in a suit by the pre-emptor for refund of the difference in amount with interest, that plaintiff was entitled to the amount sued for with interest only from the date of refusal by the defendant to pay the amount on demand, as there was no contract between the parties to make interest payable by the vendee to the vendor, nor did the former hold the latter's money under circumstances from which a contract to pay interest should be implied. HATTI PRASAD v. CHATARPAL DUBEY, A.W.N. 1888, 287. [Diss., 18 A. 262 = 16 A.W.N. 42; R., 20 A. 430 = A.W.N. 1898, 100.]

(24) — Pre-emption—Wajib-ul-arz—Right of pre-emptor to exclude part of property sold from his claim on ground that vendor's title to such property is defective. — A person claiming pre-emption cannot, except under very special circumstances, exclude a portion of the property sold from his claim, and if he does so, on the ground, that the vendor's title is defective, he must prove conclusively that the vendor has no title to the portion which he seeks to exclude. DADRI PRASAD v. KHWAJA MUHAMMAD HUSEN, A.W.N. 1891, 44.

(25) — Pre-emption — Wajib-ul-arz — Village originally one divided into two mahals—Effect of partition. — Where the wajib-ul-arz of a village consisting of a single mahal contained the following provision, viz. — "Every co-sharer may transfer his property either wholly or in part having regard to the right of pre-emption bolehas haqq (shafa);" and the village was subsequently partitioned into two mahals; held that the partition of the village did not render the previously framed wajib-ul-arz inapplicable. ABBAS ALI v. GHULAM NABI, A.W.N. 1891, 137. (7 A. 772, A.W.N. 1889, 17, R.) [R., 22 A. 1, F.B. = 19 A.W.N. 111, 32 A. 265 = 7 A.L.J. 133 = 6 Ind. Cas. 17.]

Pre-emption—continued.—8—Miscellaneous—continued.

(26) — Holder of decree for pre-emption, suit not maintainable by, against judgment-debtor—Co-sharer for rents collected by, lambardar. — Plaintiff, a co-sharer in a village, had obtained a decree for pre-emption against the defendant, a vendee of a fractional share in the village from another co-sharer. Certain profits which had accrued due in respect of the plaintiff's pre-empted share happened to be collected by the lambardar of the village. The present suit instituted against the defendant for such profits, was held to be not maintainable on the ground that it cannot be said that rents received by a lambardar and not paid out by him are held under circumstances which would make a co-sharer liable for any misfeasance of the lambardar in the deposit on of such rents. There is no rule of law that an unsuccessful defendant in a suit is bound to act as the agent of the successful plaintiff to collect what the plaintiff may himself be entitled to collect. The present defendant was therefore under no obligation to have collected the profits in question on behalf of the plaintiff, the successful pre-emptor. Nor could it be said that the lambardar was such an agent of the co-sharers as to cause the possession of the profits by him to amount in law to such possession by the co-sharers themselves. SRI KISHEN LAL v. ATMA RAM, 19 A. 261, F.B. = A.W.N. 1897, 45.

(27) — Pre-emption—Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Rules of the board of Revenue for the settlement of the Gorakhpur and Basti districts (B.E.C. 8—1, s. 38). — Under the rules framed by the Board of Revenue for the settlement of Gorakhpur and Basti districts, a settlement officer is, with regard to mahals which belong to Muhammadan proprietors, not only authorized but required to record in the memorandum of village customs a note of any custom or constitution peculiar to the mahal, including a custom of pre-emption. RAMZAN CHAUDHRI v. ABDUL GHANI, A.W.N. 1901, 115.

(28) — Pre-emption on mortgage — Covenant in mortgage-deed who is entitled to—Mortgagee amount fraudulently over-stated — Claim of pre-emptor decreed for lower sum—Suit by mortgagees against mortgagor to recover difference. — Where there was a covenant in a mortgage-deed, to the effect that if the mortgage-money due to the mortgagees was in any way jeopardized, the mortgagees would be entitled to realise it with interest at 9 per cent. per annum, and such mortgage land was pre-empted afterwards, the covenant in the mortgage-deed was held to enure in favour of the pre-emptor who had stepped into the shoes of the mortgagee, and the mortgagee could not enforce it. Where the mortgagor and the mortgagee joined together in fraudulently representing that the consideration for the mortgage was Rs. 904, while in fact it was found to be only Rs. 525, and the mortgage was pre-empted by order of Court for the lower sum, held that the mortgagee was not entitled to recover the balance from the mortgagor, because he cannot be allowed to take advantage of his own wrong. BALBHADDAR NATH v. SHEODIHAL, 24 A. 514 = A.W.N. 1902, 149.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(29)—Assignment of mortgage-debt—Loss of right after decree—Pre-emption, suit for—Property coming into hands of co-sharer before institution of suit—Effect.—Where, according to the village wajib-ul-arz, only the transfer of the "haqqiyat" gives rise to a right of pre-emption, held, that an assignment to a stranger of a mortgage debt by a co-sharer mortgagee in possession, does not give rise to any pre-emptive right, as the mortgage debt is no part of the "haqqiyat." (20 A. 19, F.) [R., 90 P.R. 1909, F.B.=147 P.L.R. 1909=4 Ind. Cas. 179, A.W.N. 1907, 110.] Where whatever pre-emptive right the plaintiff pre-emptor may have possessed at the date of the institution of the suit, has continued to be possessed by him unimpaired at the date of the decree, held that the loss of that right at the date of the hearing of the appeal from the suit by the High Court, cannot defeat his claim for pre-emption. (21 A. 441, D.) [R., 11 O.C. 290, 12 O.C. 229=3 Ind. Cas. 546, 91 P.R. 1909, F.B.=148 P.L.R. 1901=161 P.W.R. 1909=4 Ind. Cas. 337, 31 A. 530=6 A.L.J. 99.] Where a share has, in violation of the provisions of the wajib-ul-arz, been sold to a stranger, if that share has found its way into the hands of a co-sharer whose rights of pre-emption as such are equal to those of the plaintiffs in a suit for pre-emption subsequently instituted, then the pre-emptor's suit will fail. BHAGWANDAS v. MOHAN LAL, 25 A. 421 = A.W.N. 1903, 82. (20 A. 100, R.) [F., 29 A. 125=3 A.L.J. 794 = A.W.N. 1907, 313; R., 134 P.W.R. 1908, 7 A.L.J. 77, 7 A.L.J. 344; D., 28 A. 642=3 A.L.J. 426 = A.W.N. 1906, 164, 4 A.L.J. 351.]

(30)—Pre-emption—Wajib ul-arz—Evidence—Act XIX of 1873, s. 91—Regulation VII of 1822, s. 9.—Held that previous to the coming into force of Act XIX of 1873, the record of a village custom entered in the village administration papers had not the same effect as evidence as that which was given to such record by s. 90 of Act XIX of 1873. KAMTA PRASAD v. CHATURBHUI SAHAI, A.W.N. 1904, 117. [Overruled, A.W.N. 1904, 128, 26 A. 549.]

(31)—Act XLV of 1860 (Indian Penal Code), ss. 417, 420—Cheating—Definition—Pre-emption—Failure to disclose existence of mortgage subsequent to purchase.—The vendee defendant in a suit for pre-emption compromised the suit, the plaintiff agreeing to pay a certain sum in cash and to discharge certain incumbrances on the property in suit. It was subsequently discovered that the vendee had, after his purchase but before suit, mortgaged the property which was the subject of the suit for pre-emption. Held that the vendee could not, on account merely of his omission to disclose the existence of this subsequent mortgage, be held guilty of the offence of cheating. GENDAN LAL v. ABDUL AZIZ KHAN, A.W.N. 1904, 265 = 27 A. 302.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(32)—Condition of wajib-ul-arz—Violation of—Pre-emption—Right of pre-emptor.—It is incumbent on any share-holder, who desires to alienate, to fulfil the conditions of the wajib-ul-arz and if he does not fulfil, then any other share-holder whose preferential rights are affected may call upon the Court to enforce compliance with the conditions broken. ABDOOLLAH KHAN v. AMEERUN, 1 Agra 274.

(33)—Suit for—Re-sale of property after the institution of suit, but before the service of summons—Second vendee impleaded in the suit—Issues raised and determined as to his rights—Pre-emptor estopped from raising the question of lis pendens.—After the institution of a suit for pre-emption, but before the service of summons, the property claimed by the plaintiff was re-sold to a third party. With the leave of the Court, the plaintiff amended his plaint and added the second vendee as a defendant, and inserted, in the body of the plaint, two paragraphs, in which he impeached the re-sale as being collusive and also set up his right of pre-emption as against the second vendee. The latter filed a written statement and contended that he had a preferential right to pre-empt and that the sale to him was genuine. On these points, issues were raised and were decided in plaintiff's favour by the lower appellate Court. Held, by the Full Bench, that, having regard to the fact that the plaintiff on his own invitation amended the plaint and added the second vendee as a party and caused the question, as to the second vendee's preferential rights to pre-empt, to be determined, he was estopped from raising the question of lis pendens as a bar to the defendant's (second vendee's) claim. MANPAL v. SAHIB RAM, A.W.N. 1905, 94 = 27 A. 544, F.B. = 2 A.L.J. 428. (23 A. 247, D.)

(34)—Decree—Mortgage—Costs—Set off.—A judgment, dated the 24th September, 1904, in favour of the pre-emptor under a foreclosure decree directed payment within two months of Rs. 2,100 together with the costs, if any, incurred by the purchaser in obtaining the order absolute. The corresponding decree contained the words "together with the costs of the purchaser in the foreclosure case, if any." The decree also awarded the plaintiffs a sum of Rs. 117-4-0, as costs. The Rs. 2,100, was paid within the time fixed. On the 24th February, 1905, the judgment-debtors claimed that they were entitled to be restored to possession and that the suit must be deemed to have been dismissed, inasmuch as the costs, amounting to Rs. 25-12-0, of the proceedings relative to the order absolute had not been deposited. Held, that the Rs. 117-4-0, could be set off against the Rs. 25-12-0; that the Rs. 2,100 deposited was therefore in excess of the actual sum payable under the decree and that the judgment-debtors' claim failed. PERMANAND RAOT v. GOBARDAN SAHAI, A.W.N. 1906, 198=3 A.L.J. 804=28 A. 676. (18 A. 223, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(35)—Vendee declaring sale fictitious—Decree by first Court declaring right of pre-emption—Right of appeal—Sufficient interest.—W obtains from the Court of first instance a decree declaring his right to pre-empt in regard to a sale deed, by which S purported to transfer lands and houses to his wife, N, in lieu of part of her dower. N's defence was that she and her husband were on bad terms and that the sale-deed was fictitious and intended to defraud her of her dower. N appealed and the lower appellate Court allowed the appeal, holding that the sale was fictitious. Held, that N had an interest entitling her to appeal. WASIUZ-ZAMAN v. NASIRAN BIBI, A.W.N. 1906, 160=3 A.L.J. 843. (6 N.W.P. 412, D.)

(36)—Mortgage—Unregistered deed—Sale of property hypothecated—Purchaser having notice of the mortgage—Property pre-empted by the defendant—Whether notice to pre-emptor necessary.—A right of pre-emption is not a right of re-purchase, but is simply a right entitling the pre-emptor to be substituted for the vendee as purchaser, and to stand in his shoes in respect of all the rights, and obligations arising from the sale under which he derives his title. He can only get what the vendee bargained for. S. 50 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) does not protect a purchaser who purchased with knowledge of an unregistered encumbrance. Where, therefore, a vendee purchases with notice of a prior unregistered encumbrance and the property is pre-empted, the pre-emptor takes subject to that mortgage even if the existence of that mortgage was concealed from him. TEJPAL v. GIRDHARI LAL, 5 A.L.J. 112=A.W.N. 1908, 42=3 M.L.T. 223=30 A. 130. [R., 5 N.L.R. 136, 1 Ind. Cas. 528, 32 A. 45=6 A.L.J. 966=3 Ind. Cas. 782.]

(37)—Refusal to purchase—Property offered to pre-emptor before completion of agreement with vendee.—Held that, in order to debar a person entitled to pre-empt a sale from exercising his right, an opportunity must be given to him to purchase when a definite agreement to purchase at a fixed price has been entered into with a stranger: it is not enough to offer the property to a person entitled to pre-empt before an agreement to sell has been entered into with a third party. MUNAWAR HUSAIN v. KHADIM ALI, A.W.N. 1908, 93=5 A.L.J. 331. (27 A. 670, F.)

(38)—Plaintiff dead—Representatives can carry on suit based on custom—Rule of Maho-

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

medan Law—Pre-emptor's right—Subsisting on date of decree—Second purchase by vendee—No suit for pre-emption—Vendee's title absolute—Burden of proof.—The representative of the pre-emptor in a suit based upon the wajib-ul-arz is a co-sharer and can carry on the suit which his predecessor in title instituted. The principle of Mahomedan Law does not apply to a case of pre-emption based on custom. A plaintiff claiming pre-emption is not entitled to a decree unless his right subsists upon the date of the decree. Where the vendees purchase a second share in the property and no suit for pre-emption is brought in respect of that share within one year, they are entitled to retain the share formerly purchased and in respect of which a suit for pre-emption had been instituted. It is for the plaintiff pre-emptor, to show that a suit for pre-emption in respect of the second purchase had been instituted. MALKHAN SINGH v. KASHI PRASAD, 5 A.L.J. 752.

(39)—Pre-emption—Vendee stranger at the date of sale—Subsequent acquisition of share by vendee—Cause of action.—In a suit for pre-emption, the crucial date for a pre-emptor to succeed is the date of the institution of the suit, and if he is able at that time to fulfil the conditions necessary to entitle him to a decree, a decree ought to be made in his favour. Hence, where a suit for pre-emption was dismissed for deficiency of Court-fees in both the Courts below, which decree was subsequently reversed by the High Court and the case remanded, and the vendee in the meantime acquired the status of a co-sharer, held, that the suit could not be dismissed, the pre-emptor having been entitled to a decree at the date of the institution of the suit. Held, further, that, even if the date of decree be looked to, that date must be when the decree ought to have been made in the plaintiff's favour, and not a later date. ROHAN SINGH v. BAHU LAL, 6 A.L.J. 699=3 Ind. Cas. 42=31 A. 530. [D., 7 A.L.J. 344.]

(40)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), ss. 44, 45—Misjoinder—Joining of vendor and vendee in a pre-emption suit—Several sales—Same vendee—Joining all causes of action in one suit—Effect of.—The vendors are not necessary parties to a suit for pre-emption. Claims for pre-emption in respect of more sales than one, by different vendors, can be joined together against the same vendee. Where, therefore, several vendors executed several sale-deeds in favour of the same vendee, and the pre-emptor brought one suit for pre-emption of all the sales, joining the vendors as defendants, held, that the suit was not bad for misjoinder of parties and causes of actions, the joining of the vendors being superfluous. HARBANS TEWARI v. TOTA SAHU, 6 A.L.J. 926=32 A. 14=3 Ind. Cas. 735=6 M.L.T. 300.

(41)—Pre-emption, suit for—Custom or contract—Partition of village—Separate wajib-ul-arz—Change in the language.—In the beginning

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

there was one village, which was subsequently formed into three mahals with a separate wajib-ul-arz for each, the pre-emptive clause in which conferred the right on (1) ek jaddi co-sharers, (2) other co-sharers, (3) co-sharer of the mahal, (4) strangers. Subsequently one of the three mahals was sub-divided and a separate wajib-ul-arz was framed for each mahal, of which the pre-emptive clause gave the right to (1) near relatives, co-sharers, of the zemindari, (2) owners of the mahal, (3) owners of other mahals, (4) strangers. Prior to the suit, another of the three original mahals was again sub-divided, but no wajib-ul-arz was prepared. Held that there was no custom of pre-emption but that the right was the creature of a contract which had expired with the settlement. PARAN SUKH v. SALIG RAM, 7 A.L.J. 314 = 5 Ind. Cas. 267 = 32 A. 261.

(42)—Pre-emption, suit for—Sale to stranger who before suit becomes co-sharer.—The defendants, vendees, in a suit for pre-emption, purchased certain shares in eight villages on June 11, 1907. They were then admittedly strangers. A suit to pre-empt that sale was instituted on October 5, 1907. Before this suit was instituted, namely, on August 21, 1907, the vendees purchased shares in five out of the eight villages. A suit to pre-empt this sale was brought and decreed. The pre-emptors however, failed to deposit the price within time and their suits stood dismissed. The defendants thus became, by virtue of their purchase, indefeasible owners and co-sharers. Held that they could not be ousted from the five villages purchased by them. MATHURA PRASAD v. USUF HUSAIN, 7 A.L.J. 344 = 6 Ind. Cas. 566.

(43)—Pre-emption—Price—Principle of settlement—Custom recorded—Reasonable or otherwise.—A wajib-ul-arz recorded that, in case there was a dispute between the vendor and the pre-emptor regarding the price, it will be settled on the basis of Rs. 200 a biswa. Held that the custom was not reasonable and could not be enforced. Held also that, there being no dispute as to the price between the vendor and the pre-emptor, the provisions of the wajib-ul-arz did not apply. MAHTAB RAM v. BHAWANI SINGH, 7 A.L.J. 504 = 6 Ind. Cas. 118.

(44)—Pre-emption—Mahomedan Law—Right of vicinage—One plot intervening—Right to pre-empt—Principle of pre-emption.—Plots 833, 834 and 836, which belonged to defendant No. 2, were sold to defendant No. 1. The plaintiff was the owner of plot No. 837 which adjoined a portion of No. 836. Held that the subject-matter of sale was a compact parcel of land adjoining the land of the plaintiff. Held further that, the subject-matter of sale being the entire parcel of land made up of three plots and this parcel adjoining the plaintiff's land, the plaintiff was entitled to pre-empt, by right of vicinage, the entire subject-matter, and not only a part. ABDUL SHAKUR v. ABDUL GHAFUR, 7 A.L.J. 641 = 6 Ind. Cas. 358.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(45)—Pre-emption — Purchase in execution by plaintiff—Suit in respect of sale of another share before confirmation of plaintiff's purchase—Hissedar—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 316—Act V of 1908, s. 65—Alteration in law.—Plaintiff purchased a share in a village in execution of a decree on 20th June. The sale was confirmed on 24th July. On 23rd July, defendant purchased another share in the same village. On a suit for pre-emption being brought by the plaintiff to pre-empt the latter share, held that the plaintiff did not become a hissedar of the mahal until the date when the sale became absolute, and his right to pre-empt could not arise until the sale had been confirmed in his favour. A Court acting under s. 316 does not guarantee title. All that it does is to convey the right, title and interest in the property of the parties to the suit before it. So far as the parties are concerned, it guarantees that the judgment-debtor shall not recover back the property sold, and that from the date entered in the certificate the purchaser becomes entitled to whatever interest the judgment-debtor was possessed of on the date of sale. S. 65 of Act V of 1908 has altered the law. HASSAN ALI v. MIAN JAN KHAN, 7 A.L.J. 893, = 7 Ind. Cas. 409.

(46)—Pre-emption — Joint purchase by two persons—Suit against both vendees — One of them not properly described—Addition of other purchaser as defendant after limitation—Suit barred.—M, on the 27th of February, 1909, instituted a suit against H and J, claiming to enforce a right of pre-emption in respect of the sale of property made to them jointly under an instrument of sale, dated the 3rd of April, 1908. It appeared that the name of one of the purchasers was S and not J, and on the 8th of April, 1909, S was made a defendant to the suit. Held, that S could not be deemed to have been a party to the suit prior to the 8th of April, 1909, and the suit as against him was barred by limitation. Held, further, that, as the sale was joint in favour of H and S, the suit was barred as against both. MAMRAJ SINGH v. HIRDAY RAM, 8 A.L.J. 814.

(47)—Pre-emption, suit for—Limitation of one year, when commences.—Plaintiff had originally sued under an alleged right of pre-emption, basing his claim on co-parcenership in the estate sold. He was not then in possession of the share of the estate his alleged title, to which formed the basis of his claim. He therefore subsequently sued for possession of his share in the estate, and having obtained a final decree, instituted the present suit claiming the right to pre-emption of the share purchased by the defendant many years before 1857. This the High Court held he was unable to do under the limitation provided by cl. 1 of s. 1 of Act XIV of 1859, according to which the suit must be brought within the period of one year from the time the purchaser has taken possession under the sale impeached. SHAH MOHSUN ALI v. NEKHNAM SINGH, 6 W.R. 131.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(48)—Suit for pre-emption—Limitation—Act IX of 1871.—The limitation laid down in sch. II of Act IX of 1871, art. 10, provides that the period of limitation will run adversely against a party suing to enforce a right of pre-emption from the time when the purchaser takes actual possession under the sale sought to be impeached, and the period is one year. The law does not lay down that a plaintiff claiming a right of pre-emption is bound, on hearing of a sale, to wait until the year has expired. NOZIBA KHATOON v. MAHOMED JOHUR, 25 W.R. 67.

(49)—Suit for pre-emption, valuation of—Bengal Civil Courts Act (VI of 1871), s. 20.—In a pre-emption suit, the subject-matter is the right of pre-emption, the value of which, and not that of the property itself, determines the question of jurisdiction under s. 20 of the Bengal Civil Courts Act. NAUN SINGH v. RASH BEHARI SINGH, 13 C. 255. [R., 6 O.C. 255.]

(50)—Covenant in deed of partition—Proper sale price, meaning of.—A right of pre-emption reserved in a partition deed is valid as between the co-owners themselves. The ekrarnamah contained the following clause:—Any one of the parties desirous of selling.....shall sell the same to the other party willing to buy the same at the proper sale price. Held, that the proper sale price would be the market value. KALIMUDDIN BHUYAN v. REAZUDDIN AHMED, 14 C.W.N. 295=10 C.L.J. 626.

(51)—Right of vendee to transfer property before pre-emption suit.—Before a suit for pre-emption is instituted, the vendee can deal with the property he has bought, in any way he likes. MOHAR BHAGAT v. KAMTA PRASHAD, 1 Ind. Cas. 528. (20 A. 100, 21 A. 374, F.B., F.; 23 A. 247, 30 A. 130, 7 A. 775, R.)

(52)—Pre-emption—Zamima khewat, entry in—Land, Government property at the time of entry—Entry neither evidence of custom nor of contract.—An entry as to pre-emption was made by the Settlement Officer in zamima khewat in 1884. At the time when this entry was made, no zamindari was in existence. Held, that the entry could neither be evidence of custom nor of contract. JAGMOHAN SINGH v. SARJU MAL, 3 Ind. Cas. 40.

(53)—Sale of sir land—Sir-holder not full owner of the plot—No right of pre-emption.—Where a sir-holder is a mere sir-holder and not the full owner of the plot or of a share thereof, no right of pre-emption arises on a sale of such sir. MATA DIN v. KASHI NATH, 3 Ind. Cas. 461. (12 A. 426, 28 A. 124, A.W.N. 1905, 219, 2 A.L.J. 612, A.W.N. 1888, 182, 7 A. 633, A.W.N. 1904, 118, A.W.N. 1884, 103, A.W.N. 1886, 144, 16 A. 412, R.)

(54)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act XIV of 1882), ss. 32, 34—Suit against a benamidar—Real owner made party—Nature of suit not changed

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

—Objection as to non-joinder after the first hearing—Earliest opportunity—Waiver—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 115—Estoppel—Intention an essential element—Benami purchase—Real owner not estopped against pre-emptor—Pre-emption.—H purchased a share in a village benami in the name of his wife S. H was a co-sharer in the village, but S was not. I instituted a pre-emption suit against S. S filed a written statement that she was not the real purchaser, it was her husband who had really purchased the property. On the same day H applied to be made a party and to put in a written statement to the effect that, as he was a co-sharer in the village, the plaintiff had no right to pre-empt. His application was granted. Held, that H was rightly made a party to the suit. When a suit is instituted, and the defence is that the defendant is a benamidar, the presence of the real owner before the Court becomes necessary in order to enable the Court effectually and completely to adjudicate upon and settle all the questions involved in the suit (2 A. 738, D.; 5 C.L.R. 102, 24 C. 34, R.) Where an objection as to non-joinder of parties does not exist at or before the first hearing, and is made at the earliest possible opportunity after it comes into existence, it cannot be said to have been waived within the spirit of s. 34, C.P.C., 1882. (5 B. 609, R.) In a pre-emption suit against a benami purchaser, the adding of the real purchaser as a party to the suit does not convert the suit from one character into another. In a pre-emption suit, the real purchaser is not estopped from setting up the fact of his being a co-sharer in the village as a defence to the suit, merely because he caused a benami purchase to be made in the name of his wife who was not a co-sharer in the village. In order to constitute an estoppel within the meaning of s. 115 of the Evidence Act, 1872, the intention of the person, against whom the estoppel is sought to be used, that his representation should be acted upon by the person to whom it is made, must be proved. SHEIK MUHAMAD ISMAIL v. SHEIK ABDUL GAFOOR, 4 Ind. Cas. 488. (11 B.L.R. 46, 18 W.R. 166, I.A. Sup. Vol. 40, 20 C. 296, 19 I.A. 203, A.W.N. 1884, 128, R.)

(55)—Muafi land—Custom of pre-emption prevailing among owners of khalsa land—Owner of khalsa land cannot pre-empt Muafi land.—A custom of pre-emption, which appertains to the khalsa land, does not give a co-sharer in the khalsa land, any right of pre-emption over a muafi land in which he has no interest. SANT BAKAS SINGH v. MUSSAMMAT DHANESH KORE, 6 Ind. Cas. 167.

(56)—Pre-emptor not entitled to mesne profits in execution of decree—Appeal—Decree—Civ. Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), ss. 2, 47.—An order, declaring that a decree-holder is entitled to get mesne profits from the judgment-debtor, is a decree within the meaning of s. 2 of Act V of 1908, and as such is appealable even before the exact sum to be paid to the former by the latter is ascertained. The question, whether mesne profits should be allowed to a plaintiff in a pre-emption case for the period between the institution of his suit and the final obtaining of his decree on appeal is not included in the words "relating to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree," and can be disposed of only by a separate suit. HOA RAM v. RANA PALEYA, 6 Ind. Cas. 648.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(57)—Pre-emption—Benami purchase—Suit against ostensible purchaser—Real purchaser not made party—Suit not maintainable.—B purchased a property in the name of his wife D. H. brought a suit for pre-emption against D, the ostensible purchaser and did not make B a party to the suit. If the suit had been brought against B, it would have been dismissed, as B was a co-sharer against whom H had no right of pre-emption. Held, under the circumstances, that the suit as brought against the ostensible purchaser was not maintainable. HARASARAN v. DILRAJI, 8 Ind. Cas. 527.

(58)—Pre-emption suit—Jurisdiction of Court to be decided by valuation of plaint and not by the amount mentioned in the sale deed.—In a pre-emption suit, the jurisdiction of the Court is to be decided by the valuation set forth by the plaintiff in the plaint, and not by the price set out in the sale deed upon which the suit for pre-emption is based. BABU BALDEO PRASAD v. HAR RATAN, 9 Ind. Cas. 414. (12 O.C. 31, 1 Ind. Cas. 687, Not F.; 6 O.C. 255, F.; 10 A. 524, 13 A. 320, 16 A. 286, Appr.)

(59)—Costs to be set off.—In a suit for pre-emption where the pre-emptor, obtaining a decree conditional on payment of a certain sum within a certain time, paid the amount within that period, but attached a part of the amount on account of costs due to him under that decree, held, that there is no specific provision in the Code of Civil Procedure applicable to the case, but that under the rule of justice, equity and good conscience, the decree-holder was entitled to an equitable set off. BALDEO PARSHAD v. BALDEO SINGH, 3 O.C. 323. [F., 6 O.C. 23.]

(60)—Pre-emption, suit for—Estoppel against right of pre-emption in absence of written notice of proposed sale to plaintiff.—In a suit for pre-emption the evidence of one of the defendants' witnesses K was to the effect that 20 days or a month before the execution of the sale-deed he met the plaintiff and told him that B was executing a sale-deed, that if the plaintiff wished to buy he should do so and that the plaintiff then said "you may get a sale executed, I do not wish to do so," the question was whether this evidence being accepted as true the plaintiff was estopped from claiming pre-emption. It was proved that K with whom the plaintiff conversed was not the accredited agent either of the vendors or of the vendee. The price at which the vendors proposed to sell was not mentioned to the plaintiff and in fact the name of only one of the vendors was mentioned. Held that the plaintiff was not estopped from claiming pre-emption. In a case for pre-emption although notice in writing is not given by the vendor the plaintiff may be estopped from claiming pre-emption if it is proved that the property was offered to him at a certain price, that he refused to purchase at that price and that he expressly consented to the purchase of the property by the defendant. BHAGWAT SINGH v. SAIYAD NAZIR HUSAIN, 5 O.C. 393. [R., 10 O.C. 257.]

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(61)—Pre-emption, suit for—Holders of separate holdings and paying rents separately—Co-sharers of mahal—Oudh Laws Act, s. 9, cls. (2) and (3).—In a suit for pre-emption it was common ground between the parties that the would-be pre-emptor, the vendor and the vendee were all members of the same "village community" within the meaning of cl. 3, s. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act, but the pre-emptor contended that they were also "co-sharers of the whole mahal" within the meaning of cl. 2 of that section. The village in which the land in suit was situated consisted of two proprietary mahals one of which was called mahal Madho Singh. In 1883 the parties to the suit and several other persons sued for under proprietary rights in mahal Madho Singh. The suit was settled by a compromise which was incorporated in the decree. Each of the then plaintiffs thereby obtained under-proprietary rights in separate and specific plots of land. It was admitted that each plaintiff obtained a separate holding and was responsible only for the rent payable in respect of that holding. The existence of one mahal only was disclosed by the evidence in the case and that was a mahal which was the property of the superior proprietor who had no co-sharers. Held, that the parties to the suit were not co-sharers in a tenure of any description but were the members of the same village community and as such were equally entitled to pre-emption. BADRI v. ABLA DIN, 5 O.C. 399.

(62)—Pre-emption, suit for—Oudh Laws Act, 1876, s. 8—Town, meaning of—Interpretation—Urban land included within the limits of a Municipality.—When a word is not expressly defined in an Act it must be read in its popular, natural, and ordinary sense unless there is reason upon the face of it to believe that it was not intended to bear that construction. The meaning of the word "town" in s. 8 of the Oudh Laws Act discussed. Held, that the question whether any particular piece of land is situated within a "town" or not depends on whether it is part of an urban area or not, and it is a question of fact which has nothing to do with the contingency of its being included within the limits of a Municipality for administrative purposes. JANKI PERSHAD v. SAHEB-UN-NISSA, 7 O.C. 74. [R., 12 O.C. 1.]

(63)—Pre-emption, suit for—Sale of property more than that entered in the notice—U.P. Act

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

XVIII of 1876, ss. 10 and 11.—The appellants purchased certain land and house property from the respondent's brother M. Previous to the sale M gave the respondent a notice under s. 10, Act XVIII of 1876, to the effect that he was going to sell his zamindari share for Rs. 6,865, excluding from the sale his dwelling-house and two orchards. The respondent refused to take the property at the price named and then his brother sold that property plus one of the orchards and his dwelling-house, etc. The respondent claimed pre-emption on the ground that the property sold was more than that entered in the notice. Held that the notice on the respondent was not a good notice and the respondent did not lose his right of pre-emption through s. 11, Act XVIII of 1876. NASILUL-RAHIMAN v. NAWAB ALI, 7 O.C. 237.

(64)—Consideration, suit for recovery of a portion of—Res Judicata—Fraud—Pre-emptor, rights and liabilities of—Vendor and vendee, relations of.—One P. J. executed a sale-deed in favour of the respondent for Rs. 2,500. A suit for pre-emption was brought, to which both P. J. and the respondent were parties. The pre-emptor claimed the property on payment of Rs. 1,400, which he alleged was the true consideration for sale. P. J. in her defence stated that the sum of Rs. 2,500 entered in the deed was the true consideration and that she had received the entire amount. The pre-emptor, however, got the decree on payment of Rs. 1,400 only. Subsequent to the decree, P. J. brought the present suit for recovery of Rs. 1,000 the balance of the consideration stated in in the deed after giving credit for Rs. 100, her share of expenses in the pre-emption case. Held, that the question what P. J. had received and what she was entitled to was res-judicata between her and the respondent. The finding in the pre-emption case that P. J. had received Rs. 1,400 which was the true consideration for the sale deed barred the present suit. Held, further, that after the decree in the pre-emption case, the pre-emptor became the purchaser and took over all the rights and liabilities of the vendor and the present suit brought by P. J. for recovery of a portion of the alleged consideration against the respondent was not maintainable. AGHA HOSSAIN v. WAZIR KHAN, 8 O.C. 283. [R. and Rel. on, 9 O.C. 308.]

(65)—Deed purporting to rectify some mistakes regarding members and plots of land sold under a previous deed, but stating no consideration for rectification, suit for pre-emption of new plots entered in—Limitation.—On the 5th June 1895, the vendor executed a deed of sale of certain plots of land in favour of the vendee. Certain numbers with areas were given as those of the plots sold. Subsequently, on the 18th July, 1902, the vendor executed another document, in which it was stated that a mistake had been made in the deed of 5th June, 1895, which did not contain the exact area and particulars of the land which had been actually sold and purported to give the actual numbers and areas. The plaintiff claimed the right of pre-emption in respect of the plots, which were entered in the latter document, but not referred to in the former. It was not stated that there was any consideration for the execution of the second document. Held, that the deed of 18th July, 1902, was not a sale-deed as it did not purport to transfer anything to the vendee for a price, and that the suit was barred by limitation. HARPAL SINGH v. BAJRANG BAHADUR, 8 O.C. 288.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(66)—Jurisdiction of sale officer to sell in contravention of the order passed by the Court executing the decree—Invalid sale in execution of decree—Sale in spite of the order staying the sale, effect of, on right of co-sharer to claim pre-emption.—The plaintiff claimed pre-emption on the ground that he was a co-sharer in the mahal, in which the share sold was situate. The defence was that the whole share of the plaintiff having been previously sold up, in execution of a decree against him, he was not a co-sharer and as such entitled to pre-empt. It was found that the officer conducting the sale had wrongly sold up the entire share of the plaintiff, in ignorance of an order of the Court executing the decree, staying the sale of the whole share and directing only a portion thereof to be sold. Held, that the sale of the entire share was invalid, the officer conducting the sale having no jurisdiction to sell in contravention of the order of the Court executing the decree and, therefore, the plaintiff was still a co-sharer in the mahal and, as such, entitled to claim pre-emption. RATAN SINGH v. DULAR SINGH, 9 O.C. 289. (12 A. 96, F., 21 A. 140, 21 C. 66, P.C., R.)

(67)—Property sold not in actual possession of vendors—Law suit, sale of a share in a—Sale for purposes of litigation—Oudh Laws Act (XVIII of 1876), Chapter II.—By a sale deed, the vendors purported to sell to the vendees a right to prosecute a law suit on their behalf in order to recover actual possession of the share inherited by them from their mother. A portion of the consideration money was paid in cash but the greater portion was left with the vendees to carry on litigation in different Courts between the vendors and one J who was in actual possession of the property. Held, that this being the case of a sale of property not in actual possession of the vendors, it was not such a sale of immovable property which could be the subject of pre-emption as contemplated in Chap II of the Oudh Laws Act. KHURSHAD ALI v. RASHID HUSAIN, 9 O.C. 331. (21 C. 496, 2 O.C. 9, 9 O.C. 86, R.). [R. and D., 10 O.C. 273.]

(68)—Suit for—Ostensible owner, decree for foreclosure, on a mortgage by—Transfer of Property Act, s. 41.—Held that, where a mortgagee foreclosed a share mortgaged to him by one who was merely an ostensible owner, a suit for pre-emption brought by a co-sharer against such a mortgagee could not be defeated on the ground that the mortgagor was not the real owner of the share mortgaged and that the mortgagee had succeeded only by availing himself of the provisions of s. 41 of the Transfer of Property Act. SITA RAM v. SHEO PRASAD, 11 O. C. 26.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(69)—Suit for—Limitation in suits based on foreclosure—Order absolute, time to begin from—Suits for pre-emption based on a foreclosure decree passed on a compromise, maintainability of—Oudh Laws Act, 1876, Chap. II—Limitation Act, 1877, sch. II, art. 120—Transfer of Property Act, ss. 86, 87 and 93.—Held, that pre-emption could be claimed in the case of a decree for foreclosure passed on a compromise, made in a suit, brought for sale of the mortgaged property on the basis of a simple mortgage. Held, further, that the limitation for a pre-emption suit brought on the basis of foreclosure decree is to be reckoned from the date when the decree is made absolute. ARJUN SINGH v. PANDIT IQBAL NARAIN, 10 O.C. 374. (14 A. 405, 24 A. 17, P.C., R.) [R., 12 O.C. 314.]

(70)—Pre-emption—Gazetted holiday, period fixed for payment expiring on—Delay due to official oversight—Question of compliance with the decree, right of appeal—Power of Court to extend period of payment—Appeal treated as revision—Civ. Pro. Code, ss. 214, 244 and 622.—Held, that, where the last day of the period fixed for payment into Court of the pre-emptive price expired on a Gazetted holiday, the payment could be made when the Court opened. (2 N.W.P. 112, 3 A. 850, R.) Held, further, that the rights of a decree-holder are not affected by a delay arising from official oversight. Held, also, that a question of payment or non-payment of pre-emptive price in compliance with a decree in the terms of s. 214, Civ. Pro. Code, is not a question of execution open to appeal under s. 244 of the Code (4 A. 420, R.). Held, also, that a High Court in revision has the power vested in a Court of appeal, to fix a fresh date for the deposit of the purchase-money. (2 A. 744, 13 A. 376, R.) The Court in this case treated the appeal before it as an application for revision, set aside the decree of the District Judge as without jurisdiction and substituted a similar order in the exercise of its revisional powers. GANGA DHAR v. ANRUDH SINGH, 11 O.C. 144.

(71)—Plaintiff's title at the time of institution of the suit—Title acquired by purchaser subsequent to the cause of action.—Held that the plaintiff in a pre-emption suit must be able to show a valid and subsisting title at the time when he brings his suit into Court. Held, further, that a purchaser may use a title acquired by him subsequently to the origin of the cause of action as a defence against a pre-emption suit instituted after his acquisition of the said title. TAHAWWAR KHAN v. MADHO RAM, 11 O.C. 290. (26 A. 389, R.) [R., 12 O.C. 229.]

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(72)—Plea that a sale was in reality a gift—Estoppel, belief in the representation necessary for.—Where it was contended that the parties to a sale-deed were estopped from proving as against the person suing for pre-emption, that the transaction was in reality different from what it appeared to be, held, that before the plea of estoppel could be maintained it must be proved that the plaintiff believed the representation and brought his suit in consequence of that belief. NAWAB BEGAM v. HAMID ALI, 11 O.C. 176. (1 O.C. 75, 20 C. 296, R.)

(73)—Valuation of suit for pre-emption where property of greater value than sale consideration.—Where pre-emption is claimed on payment of the sum stated as the consideration in the sale-deed, and it is at the same time stated that the value of the property is greater, the value of the suit should be measured by the consideration stated in the deed, which is prima facie the value of the pre-emptive right which the plaintiff asserts. KISHEN DAYAL v. RAJA-SINGH, 12 O.C. 31=1 Ind. Cas. 687. (6 O.C. 255, R.)

(74)—Decree of Settlement Court granting right of pre-emption—Oudh Laws Act, effect of, on previous settlement decrees—Oudh Laws Act, s. 9.—On 28th February, 1873, the Settlement Court on a dispute between A, the mother of the vendor-respondent, and B, the father of the rival pre-emptor respondent, held A entitled to the proprietary rights in dispute, but, at the same time, provided that B should have a hereditary right of pre-emption in respect of the said property. Held, that, since the enactment of the Oudh Laws Act, previous decrees of the settlement or other Courts cease to be of value as against members of the village community not parties thereto, unless they could be appealed to as evidence of custom. The statutory right of the appellant pre-emptor is, therefore, in no way affected by the older settlement decree to which he was not a party. GHARIP SAHEP v. DAYAL SINGH, 12 O.C. 220 (B.)=3 Ind. Cas. 665. (44 P.R. 1892, R.)

(75)—Pre-emption—Decree for foreclosure—Notice to persons having right of pre-emption, time for issuing—Oudh Laws Act, ss. 10 and 12.—Held, that a mortgagee, in order to safeguard himself against a future suit for pre-emption, must issue the notice referred to in s. 10 of the Oudh Laws Act, either at the time when he files his suit for foreclosure, or with such reasonable promptitude thereafter that the three months' grace allowed by s. 12 may expire before the decree absolute is passed. When such decree absolute has once been passed, without the persons possessing the right of pre-emption having been allowed the option given them by s. 12, there has been a completed transfer in violation of the said right of pre-emption, and a right to sue has accrued in favour of persons possessing such rights with effect from the date of the decree. RAM SAHAE v. TANKI PRASAD, 12 O.C. 314=4 Ind. Cas. 156. (10 O.C. 179, 10 O.C. 374, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(76)—Pre-emption—Sale in favour of one of several persons equally entitled to pre-empt—Pre-emption of part of the property sold—Oudh Laws Act, s. 9.—Held, that the last clause of s. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act is applicable, not only where there are persons equally entitled to buy a property and the property has been sold to a stranger or to a person whose right to acquire it is inferior to that of the persons who are equally entitled to pre-empt, but is applicable also to cases where two or more persons are equally entitled to buy the property and one or more of them has or have acquired it. Held further, that a person seeking pre-emption must sue to pre-empt all the property included in the conveyance of which he claims the benefit in respect of which his right of pre-emption exists, whether such right is a superior one giving him a preferential right of purchase or only an equal right to be exercised by the drawing of lots. Where several properties were conveyed under the same sale-deed and the plaintiff brought a suit for pre-emption in respect only of the properties in which he had a preferential right of purchase, but did not claim pre-emption of the properties in which he had an equal right of purchase with the vendee, held, that the suit must be dismissed. MAHABIR PRASAD v. RAM JIVAN LAL, 13 O.C. 260=8 Ind. Cas. 272.

(77)—Purchase by malguzar absolute occupancy holding subject to mortgage—Malguzar takes holding subject to mortgage.—When a malguzar buys by the exercise of his right of pre-emption an absolute occupancy holding which is subject to a mortgage he takes the holding subject to the mortgage. BANOABI v. UTTAMCHAND LAKHMICHAND, 1 C.P.L.R. 79. [R., 9 C.P.L.R. 30.]

(78)—Interest of co-occupant in survey number sold by auction to satisfy mortgage decree against it—Whether co-occupant can claim pre-emption regarding such property.—The plaintiff was joint sharer in certain survey numbers in Berar. His co-sharers mortgaged the fields (including his shares) and the mortgagees got a decree for sale of the mortgaged property, and brought it to sale. The plaintiff sued to enforce his right of pre-emption in respect of the shares, other than his own, which had been so sold by auction. Held, that the lower Court was right in holding that the suit did not lie, as it can lie only under Chapter XVIII of the Berar Land Revenue Code, since in Berar pre-emption is a right created by statute, and as it did not appear that any provisions of the Code were applicable to the present case. MAIDABI v. TEJABAI, 4 N.L.R. 138.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(79)—Registered occupant of holding in Berar—Relinquishment of holding, a surrender—Co-sharer's rights of pre-emption—Failure to exercise the right, effect of—Practice—Legal effect of a transaction ignored by the parties and the judges in lower Courts—Right of appellant to press the view in second appeal.—Held (1) The right of a registered occupant of a holding in Berar is a tenant-right, and not a proprietary one. (2) A relinquishment by the registered occupant amounts to a surrender and terminates the tenancy. (3) If a particular holding is relinquished by the registered occupant in favour of a specified person for valuable consideration, then the co-sharers will have their right of pre-emption, but if they fail to assert their right and to challenge the surrender, they cannot afterwards ignore the surrenders and treat as trespassers persons, who have come into possession in a manner expressly authorized by the law. (4) Where the legal effect of a transaction is a question of law, the fact that neither the appellants, their advisers in the lower Courts, nor the Courts themselves, took the right view of their effect, does not prevent that view being taken in second appeal. BALIRAM v. MAROTI, 6 N.L.R. 78=6 Ind. Cas. 824.

(80)—Co-occupant of land in Berar—Mortgagee acquiring full ownership of a share in land by foreclosure of his mortgage, position of—When a co-sharer loses his right of pre-emption.—A man, once a "co-occupant," remains such, until he is shown to have lost his right by the effect of limitation or otherwise. A mortgagee, who acquires full ownership of a share in a village by foreclosure of his mortgage, becomes a "co-sharer" with the persons holding the remaining share or shares. A co-occupant of a holding in Berar is, so long as his right to claim possession of his share of the land subsists, entitled to claim also the right of pre-emption under s. 205 of the Berar Land Revenue Code, though he may not be actually in possession of any part of the land and though the vendor and vendee may deny his title to a share in the land. TAPAJI v. SAYAJI, 6 N.L.R. 86=6 Ind. Cas. 930.

(81)—Mortgage, usufructuary—Right of redemption—Whether capable of physical possession—Suit for pre-emption—Limitation.—In the case of a usufructuary mortgage, the right of redemption is an incorporeal right which does not admit of physical possession (9 A. 234, R.). And for a suit for pre-emption, based on the sale of such right of redemption, time runs from the date of registration of the sale-deed. NGA SHEVE DO'K v. NGA NU, U.B.R. (1909), First Quarter, Limitation, 7.

(82)—Punjab Civil Code, s. 13, cl. 2—Pre-emption—Limitation—"Transaction."—The law of limitation applicable to a suit to enforce the right of pre-emption is contained in Punjab Civil Code, s. 13, cl. 2, which directs that when a sale by one of a joint community takes place without the option of purchase being given, any member of such community may, within 3 months from the date of the transaction, bring a suit for rescinding the same. Held, also that the contract of sale must be regarded as being "the transaction" from which limitation is to be computed. MEHTAB SINGH v. MUL SINGH, 22 P.R. 1870.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(83)—Pre-emption, Suit for—Limitation—Act XIV of 1859, s. 3.—The provision in s. 3 of Act XIV of 1859, does not apply to cases where, by the general law of limitation previously in force, a shorter period of limitation was fixed than that prescribed by the Act. Accordingly, suits for pre-emption must be regulated as to limitation by the provisions of Act XIV, and must be brought within one year from the date the purchaser took possession. GOORDIT SINGH v. MUSSUMAT JUSSEE, 27 P.R. 1870.

(84)—Pre-emption—Duty of vendor.—In this case, after completion of a sale, the plaintiff sued and obtained a decree for pre-emption. The original sale out of which the suit for pre-emption arose was completed and plaintiff's claim throughout had been for pre-emption. Held that it was not competent to the vendor to withdraw from the sale by way of defeating the pre-emptor's decree. The property had passed from the vendor to the vendee, and the effect of the decree was to transfer it from the vendee to the pre-emptor on his paying the price. Where a sale has been completed, the seller cannot withdraw from the sale. THURMAN SINGH v. JHABA MULL, 34 P.R. 1870.

(85)—Pre-emption — Limitation — Date of possession under contract of sale.—Where there was actual possession on the part of the purchaser when he paid the money under a sale, but he was afterwards dispossessed by the vendor and was obliged to go into Court and get a decree and obtain possession in execution of that decree, it was held that a suit by a third party to enforce his right of pre-emption against the vendor and vendee was barred by limitation, as it was not brought within one year from the date when the vendee took possession under the contract of sale. RAMSHOOKH v. NANO, 34 P.R. 1871.

(86)—Suit for pre-emption—Bona fide offer for price—Onus on pre-emptor refusing to buy, to prove want of good faith.—A person alleging rights of pre-emption cannot be permitted to upset a transaction (after rejecting an offer) unless he can show—the burden being on him—that the offer was not made in good faith. But he would sufficiently discharge this burden if he showed that the land was offered to him at one price, and then actually sold at another and a lower one; or, if he showed that the price at which the land was sold, though identical with that asked from him was a fictitious price, not representing the real value of the land. SHAMBU MAL v. JAMNA DAS, 38 P.R. 1875.

(87)—Pre-emption suit—Vendor whether necessary party.—Generally the vendor is not a necessary party in a suit for pre-emption; if the case could not be decided without his being made a party, then, he may be a necessary party. No hard and fast rule can be laid down and each case will depend upon its own circumstances. UDDHAM MAL v. GANDA MAL, 134 P.R. 1889. (80 P.R. 1888, F.; 7 A. 169, 775, 11 A. 164, R.) [R. & cited, 10 O.C. 49.]

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(88)—Right plaintiff joining with a wrong plaintiff—Effect on his rights.—Where two persons of which one had and the other had not a right of pre-emption jointly sue for pre-emption, the suit as regards the wrong one may be dismissed but not as against the other who has a right to maintain the suit alone in his own name after his co-plaintiff's name is struck off. SHARF v. PIR BAKHS, 83 P.R. 1893. (5 A. 197, Diss; 4 P.R. 1884, D.) [R., 94 P.R. 1895.]

(89)—Suit for pre-emption—Vendor's representatives suing vendee—Compromise—Pre-emptor added as defendant and then his name struck off—Legality.—While a suit for pre-emption was pending the vendor died, and his representatives brought a suit for cancellation of sale against vendees in which the pre-emptor was made a party. The plaintiffs and the vendees compromised the suit, and on the application of the former, the pre-emptor's name was struck off the record. Held, that the Court ought to have decided the question whether the pre-emptor was a necessary party and the order striking off his name was illegal. ILAH BAKSH v. MUSSAMMAT NISHABA BEGAM, 75 P.R. 1899.

(90)—Suit to enforce—Payment within time—Court-fee.—As a decree in a pre-emption suit is appealable within a prescribed period, the fact of non-payment of the amount within the time fixed by the Court when the appeal is presented would not make the decree null and void. Where the subject-matter of a suit is land, the value of suit for purposes of Court-fee is five times jumma value of the land in suit. HAZARI SINGH v. PIRAN, 92 P.R. 1900. [R., 48 P.R. 1906 = 104 P.L.R. 1906.]

(91)—Pre-emption—Cancellation of the sale in dispute—Striking off defendant's name after the first hearing—Material irregularity—Civ. Pro-Code, 1822, ss. 32 and 578.—Held, that the name of a defendant cannot be summarily struck off the record after issues have been framed and evidence has been tendered. When during the pendency of a suit for pre-emption, the vendor sued the vendees for cancellation of the sale in dispute and the pre-emptor's name was added as a defendant, held, it was irregular on the part of the Court to strike off his name after the first hearing and the irregularity affected the merits of the case. ILAH BAKSH v. MUSSAMMAT NOSHABA BEGAM, 15 P.L.R. 1900, Notes of Judgments.

(92)—Custom—Pre-emption—Mohalla Kaziwala, Dera Ismail Khan—Burden of proof.—Found, that plaintiff has failed to prove the existence of a custom of pre-emption in Mohalla Kazianwala, Dera Ismail Khan. In suits for pre-emption in respect of property situate in a town, where the custom is not universal, it is necessary for the plaintiff to prove that it exists in the particular mohalla in question or throughout some larger area of which it forms a part. TAGGA v. ALLAH BAKHSI, 69 P.R. 1901.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(93)—Pre-emption—Bona fide claim—Pre-emptor agreeing to transfer a share of the property. Held, that a suit for pre-emption is not liable to be dismissed merely by reason of the fact that the pre-emptor has entered into an agreement with third parties to give them a share in the property in suit, in the event of a decree being passed in his favour, on their paying a proportionate share of costs and purchase-money. JIVAN SINGH v. SHER SINGH, 172 P.L.R. 1901, = 10 P.R. 1902. (87 P.R. 1896 and 19 P.R. 1898, R.) [R., 34 P.R. 1903 = 64 P.L.R. 1903].

(94)—Custom—Pre-emption—Kasur, District Lahore—Village Community—Punjab Laws Act, 1872, ss. 10, 12.—The land in respect of which pre-emption was claimed was situated in Kasur, District Lahore. In the Settlement of 1856 Government was recorded as the proprietor of the whole village, which was leased to certain persons for the term of the settlement. At that time there were about 280 occupancy tenants whose possession extended over a hundred years. In the Settlement of 1874 plaintiff's father and others were declared by Government to be proprietors of the land in their possession. In the Settlement of 1892 the number of khatahs was increased from three in 1874 to seven, of which five belonged to the Pathans, one to the Government and one to the Khattris. The first Court found that these facts were sufficient to show that Kasur was a village community within the meaning of s. 10 of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872. The Divisional Judge disagreed with the finding of the first Court and dismissed the plaintiff's suit, on the ground that the custom of pre-emption could not be presumed to exist. Held that the numerous occupancy tenants who had held land in Kasur for long periods and the descendants of the grantees of 1874 formed a village community within the meaning of s. 10, cl. (a) of the Punjab Laws Act, the village having passed as regards the portion not held in proprietary rights by Government from a zemindari to a complete bhaichara tenure, and that therefore the right of pre-emption must be presumed to exist in the village as regards the portion not held in proprietary right by Government. GHULAM HUSSAIN KHAN v. SHEIKH FAZEL DIN, 40 P.R. 1902.

(95)—Pre-emption—Pre-emptor's liability—Payment of purchase-money into Court—Withdrawal by vendees.—Suit by incumbrancer for a declaration that the property which had been mortgaged to him by the vendee was subject to his mortgage. Where the holder of a decree for pre-emption duly deposited price in the

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

Court as directed, and obtained possession of the land in dispute and subsequent to the withdrawal of the money so paid in by the vendee, a suit was filed by a mortgagee for a declaration of his incumbrance made on the property by the vendee. Held, by a majority (Clark, C. J., dissenting), that as the pre-emption decree transfers to the pre-emptor the subject matter of sale as it subsists at the time of sale, the mortgage was not a valid charge against the land in the hands of the pre-emptor. BOGHA SINGH v. GURMUKH SINGH, 93 P.R. 1902, F.B. (68 P.R. 1897, 30 P.R. 1893, 55 P.R. 1899, 56 P.R. 1896, 7 A. 775, 12 A. 234, F.B., 9 A. 256, 21 P.R. 1902, 165 P.R. 1888, 67 P.R. 1881, 19 A. 256, 14 P.R. 1902, 32 P.R. 1902, R.) [R., 106 P.R. 1907, 141 P.R. 1907 = 57 P.L.R. 1908 = 93 P.W.R. 1907, 25 P.R. 1903.]

(96)—Pre-emption—Rival claimants—Each claimant made defendant in the other suit—Suits tried together but decided by separate decrees—Decree allowing pre-emption in one case only on condition of default by other pre-emptor—Finality of decree in superior pre-emptor's suit—Appeal by inferior pre-emptor in his own suit—Res judicata.—"T" instituted two suits for pre-emption with respect to two sales of land. Four days after, one "G" instituted two similar suits on the same sales. Eventually each pre-emptor was made a defendant in the other's suit. The Court framed similar issues and heard one set of witnesses in all four cases and disposed of all the cases by one judgment. "T" was held to have a preferential right to "G" and similar decrees were drawn in all the cases, by which "T" was directed to pay the price within a certain time, and on his default "G" was to get the property on payment of the prices within another fixed time. "G" appealed only in the two cases in which he was plaintiff. Held, that the omission to appeal against the decree of the rival claimant was a fatal defect, which having become final and binding, operated as res-judicata between the two pre-emptors. GURMUKH SINGH v. HARI CHAND, 8 P.R. 1904. (A.W.N. 1887, 301, 83 P.R. 1888, Cited.) [Overruled, 85 P.R. 1905 = 151 P.L.R. 1905.]

(97)—Pre-emptor—Fraudulent concealment of sale—Limitation Act, 1877, s. 18—Burden of proving when fraud first became known to the plaintiff.—Where an original transaction is tainted by fraud it lies on the party against whom fraud is found to prove that the want of knowledge was not caused by fraud or that the plaintiff had a clear and definite knowledge of the fraud for more than the period of limitation allowed. GORDHAN DAS v. AHMAD, 34 P.R. 1904. (12 P. R. 1898., Cited.)

(98)—Pre-emption—Sale by one traddadkar of his rights to proprietor—Suit by other traddadkar—of his rights to proprietor—wajib-ul-arz—Custom—Mauza Haveli Diwan, Jhang District.—A person holding as traddadkar certain land in the Jhang tahsil sold his rights to one of the proprietors in the joint holding. The plaintiff, a traddadkar with the same rights as the vendor, sued the vendee for pre-emption on the ground that, as traddadkar, he had a right to the pre-emption of the traddadkari land preferential to that of the vendee. Held, that as the traddadkari tenure in question conferred on the traddadkar full proprietary right to half of the land with half share in the well jointly with the original proprietors, the plaintiff's title was that of a co-sharer in joint holding with vendor and vendee, and that the burden of proving a special custom conferring on the plaintiff a superior right was on him. Held, further, that this burden had not been discharged. GANGA RAM v. WARYAM, 40 P. R. 1904. (72 P. R. 1897, 61 P. R. 1876, 67 P. R. 1874, Distgd.)

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(99)—Chaks not constituting villages, Presumption as to the existence of right of pre-emption upon sales of land in—The term village in Punjab Law's Act, meaning of.—The presumption under s. 10, Punjab Laws Act, in favour of the existence of a right of pre-emption upon sales of land in a chak cannot arise unless the chak constitutes a 'village' and the persons living in it and owning property in it can be called a 'village community.' A village or village community, under the above Act, cannot of course be restricted to mean only a village of one of the well-defined types e.g., zamindari, pattidari, bhayachara, etc., but this does not imply that, when the Government demarcates an area with the intention of perhaps some day making it a village, that area becomes a village immediately Government begins to allot lands in it. When Government finally settles it and draws up a separate record-of-rights for it, assessing the chak as an 'estate' to land revenue, it may become a village community; till then the chak is not a village nor is there any village community and there can be no presumption, therefore, in favour of the existence of the right of pre-emption in the area. RAM NARAIN SINGH v. SEWAK RAM, 21 P. R. 1906. (27 P. R. 1897, 66 P. R. 1903, 30 C. 635, R.) [R., 27 P. R. 1907, 89 P. R. 1910.]

(100)—Punjab Laws Act, 1872, s. 12 (b)—Meaning of expression 'order of relationship,' as referring to order of succession under customary law.—In this case, the question was referred to the Full Bench, whether the expression 'in the order of relationship' in s. 12 (b) of the Punjab Laws Act, should be interpreted literally or with reference to the meaning, it should bear in cases of succession to landed property, under the customary law of the Punjab; that is to say, whether the expression should be held equivalent 'to' in the order of succession' and to connote recognition of the right of, representation in calculations of relationship in cases of pre-emption and it was held, agreeing entirely with the judgment of the Division Bench, that the words really mean "in the order of succession" as heir. Such interpretation alone would accord with the law as it has prevailed among the agricultural population of the Punjab. In construing the expression 'in the order of relationship,' used in the above Act applicable to the Punjab, it must be borne in mind that, their degrees of propinquity to the same common ancestor, are regarded as of no moment and it is therefore no twisting of the meaning of the language to treat 'relationship' as not synonymous with 'propinquity' and 'order' with 'degree.' On the other hand, if the other and literal interpretation be adopted, it would result in the introducing of females (the wording not being 'agnatic relationship'), destroying the whole fabric of customary law relating to land-holding among agriculturists in Punjab and doing away with the very foundations of the law of pre-emption. KARIM BAKHSI v. JEHANDAD KHAN, 74 P. R. 1906 = 137 P. L. R. 1906. (52 P. R. 1896, 98 P. R. 1894 R.; 65 P. R. 1878, 117 P. R. 1882, Overruled.; 27 P. R. 1893, D.) [R., 29 P. R. 1908 = 71 P. W. R. 1907 = 61 P. L. R. 1907.]

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(101)—Suit for pre-emption in a bhayachara village on ground of relationship—Proof of special custom—Value of chakwar--wajib-ul-arz—Document containing custom of whole Tahsil tribe by tribe—Earlier and later wajib-ul-arz, conflict between—Ss. 31 (2) (b) and 44, Act XVII of 1887 (Punjab Land Revenue).—In a suit for pre-emption of land in a bhayachara village, the grounds being the agnatic relationship of the plaintiff to the vendor and his being a jaddi malik, whereas vendee is a malik by purchase, plaintiff, in order to prove that relationship helps him, should prove a special custom to that effect. The chakwar wajib-ul-arz is not, properly speaking, part of the settlement record, which is a village record, and, therefore, no presumption of correctness attaches to it under s. 44 of the Act. (87 P. R. 1905, R.) Even if it be taken to form part of the settlement record, the circumstance that it states the custom of pre-emption as tribal, whereas pre-emption is peculiarly a local custom, deprives the entry of all its presumptive value. (26 C. 81, P. C., R.) Where a village wajib-ul-arz, states no custom, but does not exclude it, the party alleging a special custom must prove it. A document, in which customs are stated for a whole Tashil, tribe by tribe, inasmuch as it does not deal with rights and liabilities "in an estate," cannot be said to fall within s. 31 (2), cl. (b). Having, therefore, no presumptive value, it only helps to prove them, and serves as a guide to enquiry, but actual instances of enforcements of the customs stated are necessary. The value of even a genuine wajib-ul-arz, favouring relatives in the matter of pre-emption and standing unsupported by actual proof of custom, followed by a later wajib-ul-arz, in which the "law" of Act IV of 1872 is stated to contain the rule of pre-emption, is so small as to be virtually nil. Technically, the value is not nil (52 P. R. 1896, 35 P. R. 1905, R.) but even negative indications, the other way, are sufficient to reduce its value to nothing. GULDAD KHAN v. GUL KHAN, 44 P.R. 1907=82 P.L.R. 1908=111 P.W.R. 1907. (27 P.R. 1893, 98 P.R. 1894, F.B., 52 P.R. 1896, 78 P.R. 1904, 35 P.R. 1905, 70 P.R. 1905, R.) [R., 73 P.R. 1908.]

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(102)—Purchaser having equal right to pre-empt with plaintiff joining in purchase with one having inferior right—Plaintiff's right of pre-emption.—Where a purchaser of land and houses, who has equal right of pre-emption with that of the plaintiff, joins with himself in the purchase a person who has an inferior right, the plaintiff is entitled to take over the whole bargain, the sale being one and indivisible. ACHHRU v. LABHU, 48 P.R. 1907=81 P.L.R. 1908=107 P.W.R. 1907, Sup. (10 P.R. 1884, 94 P.R. 1895, 66 P.R. 1896, F.; 19 A. 148, F.B., Diss.)

(103)—Price to be paid in pre-emption suits—Market value—Good faith.—Before a Court proceeds to assess market value in pre-emption cases and to call upon a plaintiff to pay that, it must satisfy itself that the price stated in the deed was not fixed in good faith. But, where the debt is genuine, though most of it is made up of interest, and the land, which is the subject of the suit, is not the vendor's only asset, and he is not insolvent, and there has been a sort of adjustment of value, in a manner to suit vendor and vendee, and not a wholesale wiping out of all vendor's liability to vendee, there is no pre-sumption as to the bad faith of the price fixed. AJUDHIA PERSHAD v. AHSANULLAH, 56 P.R. 1907=91 P.W.R. 1907=53 P.L.R. 1908 (75 P.R. 1901, 68 P.R. 1902, F.; 77 P.R. 1901, D.)

(104)—Vendee assigning the property before suit for pre-emption—Transferees not made parties—Fresh suit against transferees—Limitation Act, art. 10—Applicability.—A pre-emptor instituted a suit against the vendor and vendee for pre-emption and obtained a decree. Before the suit, the land had been assigned by the vendee to certain persons. Held, that the pre-emptor, in order to bind the transferees, should have impleaded them in the previous suit, or should institute a fresh suit. Such a suit against the transferees would be a pre-emption suit and should be brought within the period of limitation prescribed in art. 10 of the Limitation Act. RAUSHAN v. MAKHAN 106, P.R. 1907=75 P.L.R. 1908. (25 P.R. 1903, 93 P.R. 1902, 46 P.R. 1902, R.)

(105)—Personal covenant for title by vendor in favour of vendee—Right of pre-emptor to enforce the covenant.—A condition in a deed of sale, in which the vendor guarantees his title in the land, solely to the original vendee, and in which he agrees to compensate the vendee if disturbed, is purely a personal covenant by the vendor in favour of the vendee, and does not, therefore, enure for the benefit of the pre-emptor who succeeds in obtaining a decree for possession by pre-emption. SANDHE KHAN v. BHANA, 141 P.R. 1907=93 P.W.R. 1907=57 P.L.R. 1908. (30 P.R. 1893, 55 P.R. 1899, 46 P.R. 1902, 24 P.R. 1901, 93 P.R. 1902, 96 P.R. 1906, 8 A. 775, 8 A. 86, 3 A. 688, R.)

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(106)—Vendee's re-selling the property to one of the vendors before pre-emption suit—Right of pre-emptor, when the re-sale is to a third party having superior right and when it is in favour of the vendor himself.—Held, that, whenever a pre-emptor sues for pre-emption upon a sale, and it is found that before his suit the vendee has transferred the property to a third party, the test is whether the pre-emptor has a superior right of pre-emption in regard to the first sale as compared with the transferee, and that where it is re-conveyed to the original vendor, the pre-emptor must succeed as the former cannot have any right of pre-emption whatever in regard to the sale which he himself made. LACHHU v. MAHESHU, 134 P.W.R. 1908. (80 P.R. 1888, 62 P.R. 1879, 138 P.R. 1884, F.; 27 P.R. 1874, 69 P.R. 1898, 73 P.R. 1898, 93 P.R. 1902, 20 A. 100, 25 A. 421, R. & D.)

(107)—Rival claimants for pre-emption—Pre-emptive rights equal—Right of claimants suing subsequently to defeat claimant suing first by obtaining consent decree during pendency of the first suit—Limitation for suits against rival pre-emptor's—Limitation Act, Sch. II, Art. 120—Superior diligence, effect of.—Where a rival claimant of the right of pre-emption obtained a consent decree in a suit to which plaintiff, the first claimant, was not made a party, and the suit in which the rival claimant obtained the consent decree was instituted subsequently to the suit instituted by the plaintiff, the first claimant. Held, that, the plaintiff having first filed his suit and thus shown superior diligence, the fact that the rival claimant obtained the consent decree did not place the plaintiff in a worse position than that which he occupied when he filed this suit and that the plaintiff was entitled to a decree. Superior diligence in suing constitutes superior claim to pre-emption. (83 P.R. 1888, F.) Held, also, that art. 120 of the Limitation Act governed suits against rival pre-emptors impleaded after suit filed (11 P.R. 1893, F.) and that one pre-emptor may implead another as a co-defendant within the period prescribed by art. 120. RAM PARSHAD v. GANGA DATT, 20 P.R. 1908.

(108)—Vendees becoming by right of purchase landholders in village entitled to pre-empt. Other property in village purchased subsequently—Land bought first lost in suit by pre-emptor with superior right—Effect of decree in suit on vendees' position—Whether land subsequently purchased can be retained by such vendees.—Certain vendees became landholders in a village by reason of a purchase made by them on the 27th July, 1896. They also made a subsequent purchase in the village on the 8th November, 1900. The plaintiff brought a suit for pre-emption in respect of the sale of the 27th July, 1896, which was decreed on 8th January, 1904. The present suit was instituted by the plaintiff, on the 29th October, 1901, for pre-emption in respect of the sale of 8th November, 1900. Held that the effect of the pre-emption decree of 8—1—04 was to divest the present vendees of their alleged ownership of land under the sale of 27—7—1896 and to vest the same in the plaintiff pre-emptor as from the date of the said sale (30 P.R. 1893, note, F.; 46 P.R. 1902, 93 P.R. 1902, R.; 44 P.R. 1903, D.), that at the time of the sale in dispute the vendees were not landholders in the village in which the land was situate, and that consequently the plaintiff had a superior right of pre-emption. KEHR SINGH v. MAHMAN SINGH, 25 P.R. 1908=51 P.W.R. 1908=128 P.L.R. 1908. [R., 91 P.R. 1909.]

Pre-emption—continued.—8—Miscellaneous—continued.

(109)—Sale of property subject to pre-emption—Suits for pre-emption—Sale by original vendee during pendency of suits to pre-emptor having superior rights—Lis pendens—Applicability of doctrine.—A certain property subject to pre-emption was sold to M. After the sale, two persons claiming a right of pre-emption separately sued to enforce their rights. During the pendency of those suits, K, a person having a right of pre-emption superior to that of the two former pre-emptors, also brought a suit for pre-emption. His claim was admitted and a registered sale deed executed by M in his favour. K allowed his own suit to be dismissed in default and applied to be, and was, admitted as a defendant in the former two suits. The Lower Courts decreed against K on the ground that the sale to him was made pendente lite. Held that the doctrine of lis pendens cannot be called in to defeat the claims of another claimant whose right to pre-empt existed before the suits of the other claimants were filed (7 P.R. 1906, R.). A pre-emptor is in no worse position when asserting his right privately than when he asserts it by suit (138 P.R. 1884, 20 A. 100. 73 P.R. 1888, R.). In claims for pre-emption, the right of any particular claimant is not prejudiced, qua own right by the assertion by another claimant of his own pre-existing rights. The doctrine of lis pendens forbids the creation of new rights over property already the subject of suit pendente lite which are calculated to injure the rights of the claimant. It does not, and could not, apply to the assertion of rights which existed prior to the institution of the pending suit (c.). MAHMUD KHAN v. KHUDA BAKHSI, 26 P.R. 1908=39 P.W.R. 1908=145 P.L.R. 1908. [R., 91 P.R. 1909, 31 P.R. 1908, 7 P.R. 1909, 7 P.R. 1910; Expl., 7 P.R. 1910.]

(110)—Suit for Sale of a residential house in Mohalla Dassan, Delhi City—Custom of pre-emption—S. 11, Punjab Laws Act (1872).—In a suit for pre-emption in respect of the sale of a residential house situate in Mohalla Dassan, Delhi City, held, that the custom of pre-emption does exist in Mohalla Dassan, which is a portion of a sub-division which is called sometimes mohalla Billimarain. BHAGWANTI v. SOHAN LAL, 116 P.R. 1908. (64 P.R. 1887, 44 P.R. 1903, 88 P.R. 1905, 81 P.R. 1906, 120 P.R. 1906, 122 P.R. 1906, 75 P.L.R. 1906, Rel. on.)

Pre-emption—continued.—8—Miscellaneous—continued.

(111)—Custom—Pre-emption—Punjab Pre-emption Act (II of 1905), s. 28—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), sch. II, arts. 10, 120—Limitation—Oral sale of undivided share of land—Further appeal—Question raised for the first time on further appeal—Sale of land on Sidhani Canal leased by Government—Condition overriding provisions of Pre-emption Law.—On further appeal, it was contended (1) that the suit was barred by limitation as it was brought more than one year after the sale; (2) that the land was situated in an "estate" as defined in Act XVII of 1887; (3) that, according to clause XV of the original lease of the land by Government to the vendor, no right of pre-emption arose in respect of a sale of it. Held, (1) that, as an undivided share of joint property, viz., half a square of land, was sold, and as there was no registered sale deed, but merely an oral transfer with mutation, art. 10, Limitation Act, did not govern the case, and since the plaintiff's cause of action arose before the passing of the Punjab Pre-emption Act, and he brought his suit within a year of the passing of it, the suit was within time under s. 28 of the Act; (2) that it could not be urged for the first time on further appeal that the land in suit was an "estate" as defined in Act XVII of 1887; and (3) that, under the Punjab Pre-emption Act, the right of pre-emption arises in respect of all sales of agricultural land, and the plaintiff was not bound by the condition of the lease; for such condition cannot override the provisions of an Act of the Legislature. GHULAM SARWAR v. LAHI BAKHSI, 92 P.L.R. 1909=124 P.W.R. 1909.

(112)—Res judicata—Estoppel—Admission of, and decree against father binding on son, Pre-emption—Mortgage—Sale—Pre-emptor competent to prove a mortgage is a sale—S. 11 of Civ. Pro. Code, V of 1908—Indian Evidence Act, I of 1872, s. 92 (1).—Held, that, where a pre-emption suit has been decreed on the ground that an ostensible mortgage is in reality a sale, the decision is res judicata in a subsequent suit brought by the vendor's sons and nephews against the vendee or impugn the alienation, and that they are also estopped from urging against their father's own admission therein; and that they are not entitled to get the sale set aside, if nearly whole of the consideration is for necessity. Held, also, that under s. 92 of Act I of 1872 read with its proviso (i), it is open to a pre-emptor to show that a transaction is really one of sale and is fraudulently made to appear as one of mortgage. Found, that the terms of mortgage-deed in this case clearly indicate that a sale was intended from the very first by the parties thereto. ATRA v. BASANT SINGH, 157 P.W.R. 1909.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(113)—Sale of several houses adjoining one another, simultaneously—Right of pre-emption—Competency of vendee to set up legal rights with pre-emptor—Punjab Pre-emption Act (II of 1905), s. 13 (7)—“Adjacent”—Meaning of.—S, owner of house A, sued to pre-empt house B adjoining house A. House B, and the next adjoining house C were sold simultaneously under the same deed to the vendee. Held, by the Full Bench (Chevis, J., dissenting) that, when two houses which adjoin one another are sold jointly, the right of pre-emption of the owner of a house which adjoins only one of the two houses, extends only to that one of the houses, which adjoins it and not to both of the houses. Meaning of the word “adjacent” in the Punjab Pre-emption Act, 1905, s. 13, cl. 7, discussed. Held, by the Full Court (Robertson and Rattigan, JJ., dissenting) that, where, on a sale of two adjoining houses under the same deed simultaneously, the owner of the adjoining house sues for pre-emption in respect of one of the two houses sold, to which his right extends, the vendee cannot be heard to say that, by reason of his having, under the same sale deed, become owner of the other house, he stands on an equal footing with the plaintiff (both being owners of the adjoining houses), and that the plaintiff is not competent, therefore, to pre-empt the house adjoining his own. SANWAL DAS v. GUR PARSHAD, 90 P.R. 1909 (F.B.) = 159 P.W.R. 1909 = 4 Ind. Cas. 179 = 147 P.L.R. 1909. (25 A. 421, 26 A. 389, Diss.; 124 P.R. 1907; overruled, 112 P.R. 1907, Appr., 27 A. 670, 21 A. 374, R.) [R., 91 P.R. 1909]

(114)—Pre-emption—Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872)—Punjab Pre-emption Act (II of 1905)—Party not having right at the date of sale cannot subsequently maintain suit—Agricultural tribe—Lis Pendens.—K.D. sold his land to MBKB and A B brought suits for pre-emption. Pending these suits, M K filed another suit for pre-emption and afterwards took a sale-deed of the property from M B. Held that, inasmuch as K B, being a Kureshi, was not a member of a notified agricultural tribe under Act XIII of 1900 at the date of suit, cannot sue for pre-emption of agricultural land at all. Held also that the exclusion of persons, who are not members of agricultural tribes, from suing for pre-emption, is an absolute exclusion not depending on the pleadings of the defendants. (See s. 20, Act II of 1905, Punjab). Held further that as A B, was a landlord in the village, as also M K, both had equal rights and were entitled each to half. The fact that M K, was also a collateral of K D, will not help him, in the absence of a special custom, as pre-emption is a village custom, not a triable one, and the existence of a special custom of pre-emption in one village of Gujars is not even prima facie proof of its existence in another Gujar village. MUHAMMAD KHAN v. SARDAR AND OTHERS, 7 P.R. 1910 = 14 P.W.R. 1910 = 5 Ind. Cas. 249 = 49 P.L.R. 1910.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(115)—Civ. Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), s. 105 (2), O. 43, r. 1 (u)—Appeal—Remand—Power of Chief Court on appeal against order of remand—Waiver of right—Pre-emptor taking active part in negotiations for sale in favour of vendee.—The Chief Court is competent, on an appeal against an order of remand, to go into questions of fact decided by the lower appellate Court. When it was found that the pre-emptor had taken active part in the negotiations for sale that he brought his suit for pre-emption only about a week before the expiry of the period of limitation prescribed for the suit, and that he was present when mutation was effected in favour of the vendees and raised no objection: Held, that the pre-emptor must be deemed to have waived his right, and his suit must be dismissed. RAM RATTAN SHAH v. KIRPA RAM AND HIRA NAND, 86 P.L.R. 1910 = 8 Ind. Cas. 246.

(116)—Sale of land for purpose of constructing a church—No stipulation for avoidance of sale on default—Pre-emptor, whether bound to carry out purpose.—Where there has been a sale of a plot of land by J to N, and the sale-deed states that it is purchased by the latter for the purpose of erecting a Church or School, but there is no stipulation for avoidance of sale if no such building should be erected, held, the pre-emptor has a right to pre-empt without agreeing to erect a Church or School, but ignoring the expression in the deed of a sale of intention to build a Church or School. HAZARA SINGH v. GANDA, 33 P.R. 1910 = 52 P.W.R. 1910 = 6 Ind. Cas. 658 = 180 P.L.R. 1910.

(117)—Custom (Punjab)—Pre-emption—Existence of custom in Kunjah, Gujrat District—Value of precedents where claim is admitted on such questions—Building whether serai or not—Question of law—Occasional occupation by chance visitors—Effect—Appeal—S. 70 (1) (b), Punjab Courts Act.—A custom of pre-emption prevails in the town of Kunjah, Gujrat District. Precedents, where the custom was admitted or assumed, are not altogether valueless. The word serai is not defined in the Pre-emption Act. The question whether a certain building, on the facts found, is a serai or not, is one of law and of sufficient importance to justify the admission of appeal under s. 70 (1) (b), Punjab Courts Act, 1884. The mere fact that some of the rooms are rented out to more or less permanent tenants, and others to chance visitors occasionally, does not convert what was originally a tawela into a serai. FEROZE-UD-DIN v. RAHIM BAKH, 96 P.R. 1910 = 192 P.L.R. 1910 = 8 Ind. Cas. 356.

(118)—Pre-emption—Person entitled to ownership of property during another's life—Right to sue for pre-emption, whether exists—Pre-emptor suing for possession as mortgagee—Failure to set up right of pre-emption — Waiver—Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, s. 43 (=O. 2, r. 2, Civ. Pro. Code, 1908).—A person, who is the owner of a property only during the lifetime of another, has, as such owner, a right to sue for pre-emption during the lifetime of that person. Where a person, in a prior suit, sued for his mortgage rights over a property and kept back his right to sue for pre-emption of the equity of redemption: Held that there was no waiver of rights on his part and that s. 43, Civ. Pro. Code, 1882, had no bearing, as the cause of action in the suit for possession as mortgagee was manifestly different from that in the pre-emption suit. ROSHAN DIN v. KHUDA BAKSH, 99 P.R. 1910.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

(119)—Guardian and minor—Guardian transferring land of minor agreeing to give his own land if minor should object—Guardian compelled by suit to give his land—Pre-emption suit by sons of guardian not maintainable—Sale in execution of decree.—The guardian of a minor, when selling the share of the minor along with his in land held by him and the minor jointly, agreed that, if the minor should object, he would transfer to the vendee his other land equal to the share of the minor. The vendee afterwards obtained a decree to enforce the condition and obtained possession of land belonging to the guardian in execution of the decree. The sons of the guardian claimed the land by right of pre-emption. Held, that the claim was not valid, for there was no sale within the meaning of Pre-emption Act, and even if it was, it being a sale completed by the execution of a decree, was not subject to a claim for pre-emption. NAWAB v. JAWAYA, 203 P.L.R. 1910 = 8 Ind. Cas. 777.

(120)—Pre-emption—Estoppel—Vendee purchasing property at the request of the pre-emptor.—A pre-emptor is not entitled to claim property by right of pre-emption, when the vendee has purchased the same at the pre-emptor's request. CHAITU v. MUSSAMMAT NIAZ BEGAM, 203 P.L.R. 1910 = 8 Ind. Cas. 780.

(121)—Effect of not paying pre-emption money within the time allowed by the decree—Tender to Nazir after Court hours not sufficient—Incompetency of Court to extend time—S. 148, C.P.C., 1908—Ultra vires.—Held, that a pre-emption suit stands dismissed, if the pre-emptor fails, even by mistake, to deposit whole of the pre-emption money payable under the pre-emption decree into Court within its usual working hours on the day fixed for its payment by the said decree; and that neither the first nor the Appellate Court has power to extend the time—S. 148 of Act V of 1908 does not apply in such a case. A tender in whole or part of the pre-emption money to the Court Sheriff after its usual working time is not sufficient to save the decree. MUHAMMAD v. CHARAG, 140 P.W.R. 1910 = 8 Ind. Cas. 812 = 22 P.L.R. 1911.

(122)—Lis pendens—Sale by vendee to person having equal right with the pre-emptor on latter filing suit—Punjab Pre-emption Act (II of 1905), s. 14—Vendor's right to select pre-emptor.—Where, on a pre-emptor filing a suit for pre-emption, the vendee sells the property to a person who possesses equal right of pre-emption the doctrine of lis pendens does not apply, if the right of the subsequent vendee subsists at the date of sale to him, for no new right is created by the sale. In such cases the provisions of s. 14 of the Punjab Pre-emption Act may be used by the Court trying the case. KARAM ILAHI v. HIRA, 74 P.L.R. 1911. (26 P.R. 1908 = 145 P.L.R. 1908. F.; 29 A. 339, Not F.)

Pre-emption—continued.—8—Miscellaneous—continued.

(123)—Custom—Sindh Jats—Childless proprietor, sale of land by—Whether valid in presence of nephews—Pre-emption.—There is no custom among the Sindh Jats of Moga Tahsil, Firozpur District, prohibiting a childless proprietor from selling his land for a bona fide consideration, in the presence of male collaterals so nearly related to him as nephews, the only restrictions being those imposed by the law of pre-emption. NIHAL SINGH v. SAHIB SINGH, 77 P.R. 1880. [F., 107 P.R. 1885; Appl., 16 P.R. 1883, 120 P.R. 1886, 103 P.R. 1884; D., 137 P.R. 1884]

(124)—Right of pre-emption—Pre-emptor buying part of property from vendee—Rival claim to pre-empt whole property waiver—Priority.—The right of pre-emption is a right to take over a sale-bargain in its entirety, and if a pre-emptor suffers another person to purchase, and is content to accept a derivative title from him with respect to a portion only of the premises sold, being unwilling to buy the rest, he must be held to abide the consequence of losing even that portion, if another person, having a superior right to that of his vendor claims to assert his right to take over the original bargain as a whole; and the sub-purchaser bringing himself within the principle laid down in 48 P. R. 1878, must be held to be estopped from asserting the right he has once waived of acquiring the property sold, against another person whose claim to pre-emption, though inferior to his own, is still superior to that of the first purchaser. FATTEH CHAND v. NIHAL SINGH, 106 P. R. 1880. [F., 25 P. R. 1903 = 74 P.L.R. 1903; R., 107 P.R. 1882; D., 133 P. R. 1884; Cons., 69 P. R. 1898.]

(125)—Pre-emption—Mortgage by vendee after sale—Pre-emptor not bound by mortgage—Parties—Mortgagee not a necessary party in a pre-emption suit—Mortgagee bound by decree against vendee.—Held, that a pre-emptor is not bound to pay anything more than the amount which is fixed in a pre-emption decree as the price at which the sale took place. A pre-emptor is not bound by a mortgage effected by the original vendee after the sale. The mortgagee in such case must look to his mortgagor alone. Held, also, that such a mortgagee is not a necessary party in a suit for pre-emption. As he holds the property under the vendee he is bound by a decree for pre-emption

Pre-emption—continued.—8. —Miscellaneous—continued.

passed against the vendee. DEO RAJ v. GOVIND PARSHAD, 55 P.W.R. 1912=91 P.L.R. 1912=13 Ind. Cas. 647. (93 P.R. 1902, F.)

Effect of partition on the application of a vendee on the right of pre-emptor—See PUN. ACT IV OF 1872, s. 12 (a), 30 P.L.R. 1902=32 P.R. 1902.

Sub divisions of village—Zails of Pheru Shahr village in Ferozepur Tehsil—See PUN. ACT IV OF 1872, s. 12 (c), 142 P.L.R. 1905.

Vendee owning small bit of agricultural land used as building site—Whether confers right of pre-emption—See PUN. ACT IV OF 1872, ss. 12 and 15, 109 P.L.R. 1903=78 P.W.R. 1903.

See PUN. ACT XVI OF 1887, s. 53, 22 P.R. 1901.

Successful pre-emptor when becomes owner of pre-emption property—See PUN. ACT II OF 1905, ss. 11, 12 (c), thirdly 1, 20 (b), 1 Ind. Cas. 460=26 P.W.R. 1909.

Agricultural land given to daughter—Sale of such land by her descendant—Other of her descendants not claiming pre-emption of such land—Heirs of donor entitled to do so—See PUN. ACT II OF 1905, s. 12 (a), 131 P.R. 1908.

Suit for—Share in a law suit sold—Sale of a doubtful right—See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, 9 O.C. 86, B.

Suit for—See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, ss. 8, 9, 9 O.C. 211.

Against under-proprietor, proprietor's suit for—Under-proprietor not residing in the village—Residence in village—Village-community, member of—See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, s. 9, cl. 5, 9 O.C. 271, B.

Sale-deed executed before expiry of period fixed for tender—Effect on right of—See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, ss. 10, 11, 14 O.C. 1=9 Ind. Cas. 333.

Decree for, not prescribing payment into Court—Payment of purchase money out of Court—Validity—See U.P. ACT XVIII OF 1876, s. 15, 14 O.C. 85.

Exchange of parts of property liable to—During suit for—Binding nature of exchange on pre-emptors—See U.P. ACT III OF 1901, s. 233, 10 O.C. 363.

Order allowing mesne profits to pre-emptor—Decree—Appeal—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, ss. 2, 47, 144, 44 P.L.R. 1910.

Decree for—Money not deposited within time fixed—Obligation or liability incurred—No vested right in procedure—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XX, r. 14, 6 A.L.J. 647=3 Ind. Cas. 497.

Decree in pre-emption suit—Lower Court fixing price to be paid and allowing costs to be deducted—Payment of decree amount after deducting costs—Appellate Court raising the price to be paid and reversing order as to costs—Payment of difference without costs previously recovered, whether sufficient compliance with decree in appeal—See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XX, r. 14, 56 P.R. 1910=6 Ind. Cas. 954=133 P.L.R. 1910.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

See CIV. PRO. CODE, 1908, O. XXI, rr. 88, 90, 5 A. 42=A.W.N. 1882, 146.

See COMPROMISE—NON-PERFORMANCE OF, 44 P.R. 1875.

Suit for—In respect of a definite share in a Bhaiyachara village—Court-fees—See COURT-FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, sub.s. V, cl. (b), 3 A.L.J. 511=A.W.N. 1906, 195.

Suit for—Of land not paying Government revenue, valuation of—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, sub-ss. V, VI and 12, A.W.N. 1906, 66=3 A.L.J. 244=28 A. 411.

Suit for, on sale of equity of redemption—See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 7, para 6, 6 A.L.J. 905, F. B.=6 M.L.T. 311=3 Ind. Cas. 562=32 A. 19.

Custom of—Whether prevalent in Tarai-Ravi, Sub-division of Multan City—See CUSTOM, 42 P.R. 1906.

Pre-emptors—Consideration unreal and in fraud of—Sale—Effect—See CUSTOM—PUNJAB—ALIENATION, 27 P.R. 1909=46 P.L.R. 1909=33 P.W.R. 1909=1 Ind. Cas. 888.

Land pre-empted with money raised by mortgage of ancestral property is not ancestral—Right of reversioner—See CUSTOM—PUNJAB—INHERITANCE, 2 P.R. 1910=4 P.W.R. 1910=5 Ind. Cas. 232=156 P.L.R. 1910.

Custom of—By vicinage in respect of houses—See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—PRE-EMPTION, 75 P.L.R. 1906.

Custom of, by right of vicinage—See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—PRE-EMPTION, 38 P.R. 1906, 89 P.L.R. 1906.

Custom of—In relation to houses—Vicinage—Joint ownership—See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—PRE-EMPTION, 129 P.L.R. 1905=71 P.R. 1905.

Sale to a person not a co-sharer in the joint-holding—Sale by vendee to a co-sharer before suit—Rights of other co-sharers—See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—PRE-EMPTION, 47 P.L.R. 1905.

Custom of—In respect of house property in Katra Moti Ram in the city of Amritsar—See CUSTOMS—PUNJAB—PRE-EMPTION, 99 P.R. 1906=130 P.L.R. 1906.

Houses—Mohalla Mashad in Sonapat town in Delhi District—See CUSTOM—PUNJAB—PRE-EMPTION, 85 P.L.R. 1906.

See DECREE—DECREE, CONSTRUCTION OF, 1 A. 293.

Pre-emption—Sale to minor—Estoppel—See ESTOPPEL—ESTOPPEL BY DEEDS, 4 A. 37=A.W.N. 1881, 129.

Right of pre-emptor to let in evidence showing the real nature of the transaction—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss. 92, 99, 8 Ind. Cas. 501.

Pre-emption—continued.—8.—Miscellaneous—continued.

Suit for—Transaction, whether sale or mortgage—Transaction alleged to be controlled by some agreement—Agreement may be fraudulent and collusive—Effect—Extrinsic evidence—See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss. 92, 99, 4 N.L.R. 115.

Money borrowed by father for pre-empting—Liability of son—See HINDU LAW—DEBTS, 7 A.L.J. 1182=8 Ind. Cas. 836.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 22, 4 A. 145 = A.W.N. 1881, 153.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 4 A. 179=A.W.N. 1881, 176.

Suit for—Calculation of limitation—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 9 Ind. Cas. 309=9 M.L.T. 292=21 M.L.J. 454.

Suit for—Property in possession of tenant, whether capable of physical possession—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 10, 63 P.L.R. 1908, F.B.=1 P.W.R. 1908=49 P.R. 1908.

Property capable of physical possession—Applicability of art. 10—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 10, 120, A.W.N. 1905, 88=2 A.L.J. 350=27 A. 540.

Property transferred to pre-emptors having right inferior to plaintiff—Sale or substitution—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 10, 120, 86 P.L.R. 1905.

Suit for—In respect of a sale under a clause of conditional sale by foreclosure of a mortgage—Limitation—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 120, 112 P.L.R. 1906.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 120, 8 A. 54 = A.W.N. 1885, 330.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, arts. 120 and 10, 4 A. 218, F.B.=A.W.N. 1882, 28.

Pre-emption suits—Rival claimants—Execution of decree—Compromise—Appeal—See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, art. 182, 81 P.L.R. 1909=87 P.W.R. 1909=4 Ind. Cas. 629.

Mahomedan widow being in possession of her share recorded as in possession in lieu of dower, effect of, as regards—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE-EMPTION—NATURE AND EXTENT OF RIGHT, 2 A.L.J. 775.

Partner—Partition during pendency of suit for—Effect—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE-EMPTION—NATURE AND EXTENT OF RIGHT, 6 Ind. Cas. 426=7 A.L.J. 715=32 A. 566.

What words enough—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE-EMPTION—NECESSARY FORMALITIES, 6 A.L.J. 15=1 Ind. Cas. 85.

Necessity for making reference to the talab-i-mawasibat, when making the talab-i-istishhad the witness to both the demands being the same—See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE-EMPTION—NECESSARY FORMALITIES, 27 A. 160 = A.W.N. 1904, 201=1 A.L.J. 569.

Pre-emption—concluded.—8.—Miscellaneous—concluded.

Otti holder—Right of—See MALABAR LAW—MORTGAGE, 3 M. 74.

See MALABAR LAW—MORTGAGE, 7 M. 309.

Waiver of right of—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 9 M.L.T. 495.

Court's power to extend time fixed in decree in pre-emption cases—See MORTGAGE—GENERAL, 7 Ind. Cas. 36.

See MULTIFARIOUSNESS, 4 A. 163, 6 A. 106 = A.W.N. 1883, 229.

Pre-emption—Town—Village—Inconsistent pleadings—See PLEADINGS, 15 P.L.R. 1911 = 2 P.W.R. 1911=9 Ind. Cas. 36.

Pre-emptor must pre-empt the whole of the bargain between vendor and vendee or not at all—Must take pre-empted property subject to vendor's liability—See PRE-EMPTION—MISCELLANEOUS, 5 A.L.J. 112=A.W.N. 1908, 42=3 M.L.T. 223=30 A. 130.

Custom of pre-emption, recorded in wajib-ul-arz, in respect of the transfer of a haqiat of a hissedar applies only to co-parceners, and no claim can be maintained in respect of the sale of arazidari land—See PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE, 5 A.L.J. 447, F.B.=A.W.N. 1908, 195=4 M.L.T. 162=30 A. 479.

Agreement conferring right of—Agreement embodied in petition of compromise—Registration—See REGISTRATION, 13 O.C. 241.

Compromise recording contract of—Not embodied in decree—Not admissible without registration—See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, ss. 17, 49, 7 A.L.J. 206=32 A. 206=5 Ind. Cas. 234.

Pre-emption—Jirga - Resolution—See PUN. REG. IV OF 1887, 26 P.R. 1909=48 P.L.R. 1909=35 P.W.R. 1909=1 Ind. Cas. 877.

See RES JUDICATA—ADJUDICATION, 109 P.R. 1868, 48 P.R. 1871.

Decision in pre-emption suit that no real sale took place—Whether bars adjudication upon that point in subsequent suit by vendee for possession against vendor—See RES JUDICATA—CAUSE OF ACTION, 42 P.R. 1912.

See RE-TRIAL, A.W.N. 1881, 26.

See VALUATION OF SUITS, 54 P.R. 1878, F.B.

Decree against purchaser in suit by pre-emptor—Vendee's right and vendor's liability—Covenants by vendor—See VENDOR AND PURCHASER—GENERAL, 111 P.R. 1908.

Right to—Arises in respect of an exchange—See WAJIB-UL-ARZ, 6 A.L.J. 735=31 A. 539 = 3 Ind. Cas. 903.

Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation of document—Inconsistent clause to be rejected—See WAJIB-UL-ARZ, 6 A.L.J. 652=3 Ind. Cas. 496.

Pre-emption, Punjab. A. L. J. B.

See PUN. ACT II OF 1905.

END OF VOL. VII.

PRINTED AT THE LAW PRINTING HOUSE, MOUNT ROAD, MADRAS.

Acc No

Date 25.2.70.

S. N. DAR, B. A. LL. B.,
Vakil High Court,
SRINAGAR (Kashmir)

W. N. D. A. M. S. L. L. S. L.
V. K. H. H. S. L. L. S. L.
RINAGAR (Kashmir)

U. N. D. A. N. S. A. L. L. E. S.
VAKIL HUKUM GUYA
SINGAPORE (Kashmir)